County official: London trip was on agenda

By RUSS WHITE Herald Staff Writer

Seminole SANFORD County Commissioner Dick Van Der Welde and County Clerk of the Court Maryanne Morse both refuse to back off from a dispute concerning his costs for a trip to Europe last August.

Morse said again on Tuesday that the Board of County Commissioners authorized Van Der Weide's business trip to the Netherlands but did not approve a three-day visit to London. She also says Van Der Weide failed to produce re-ceipts for his $50-a-day meal allowance.

"Until I hear otherwise, I can not accept his expenses for the London trip," Morse said. "It's a matter of ethical standards." Morse said the board of commissioners could solve some of the dispute by retroactively approving Van Der Weide's London trip. The board meets on Tuesday, Jan. 14.

"She's looking for a way out," Van Der Weide said. "It's done with; a matter of record. The London trip was part of the plan. Everyone knew it. Mary-Morse could have anne checked it but refuses to because she enjoys playing God aimighty."

Tempers flare over name of airport

By MARIA OREM Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Tempers flared Tuesday as airport authority board members once again decided to table the issue on whether to change the name of the Orlando Sanford Airport.

Though not on the agenda, the question on the name came up when board member Duke Adamson tried to introduce Phil Overton, managing director of Leisure Travel, which books about 20 percent of the flights arriving from England.

With all the noise and dis-sension regarding the name change, which has also traveled across the Atlantic, Adamson said it was important for the board to hear how the British felt.

Board chairman Sandra Olenn declined the request saying she wanted to postpone discussion until the marketing firm, hired through the recent joint agreement between the airport and the Greater Orlando Airport Authority, makes its presentation to the board.

"When this becomes an agenda item, then you can bring it up," Glenn said.

"I disagree because I requested the item be on the agenda and it was removed a few days before the meeting." Adamson said, adding that he was not calling for a vote.

Adamson said he wanted to act in the airport's best interest and was trying to be hospitable to a large customer.

"He's not our customer," Glenn said. "He is a customer of OSI and they are our customer."

Glenn said as chairman it was her prerogative to add or remove items from the agenda.

Board member Ken Wright said he was fed up with the media's attempt to create an image of dissension regarding the name of the airport. "I don't know of any dissension."

Board member Lon Howell said he was concerned that through what has appeared in the newspapers, Adamson was trying to sell the existing name and cause dissension. Howell later made the motion to change the name of the airport to Sanford Orlando International Airport. However, he withdrew the motion after airport attorney Steve Coover questioned whether Howell could act as a board member before Jan. H.

By city charter, Howell, who served on the Sanford Commission, must wait a year before his term begins on the airport authority. Mayor Larry Dale told Coover that according to the charter. Howell was eligible immediately.

Wright said before a deci-sion is made there should be planning and discussion also involving the City of Sanford and he did not appreciate "some guy trying to lecture me on something like this." Wright

LAKE MARY - There was no shortage of smiling faces or plaid during a preview Tuesday of some of the events that will be held Jan. 17 during the Central Florida Scottish Highland Games.

Representatives of the Scottish American Society of Central Florida shared culture, tradition, food and drink during a demonstration at the Bistro Cappuccino. Athletes, dancers, pipers and drummers set the pace as spectators participated in a hagis ceremony and whiskey nosing.

"It's called the water of life," said Ben Scott of the traditional drink of Scotland. "The word whiskey, he explained is derived from the Gaelic word for water."

Scott, a spokesman for the Scottish Games and author of the Bit of Thistle, the Scottish society's newsletter, said his group expects to see about 10,000 visitors this year at the games. About 1,500 people from all over the

This is going to speed things up for the officers because everything can be done at the scene," Nichols said.

Legibility of the police reports is also greatly improved by using the laptops, Nichols said. A laser printer will generate the reports, the format of which is the same as those used currently at the station, he said. Nichols said his department is also waiting to see what type of software state law enforcement agencies will be two sessions. Officers will take the computers on the road to write reports and check drivers' information.

Police officers will be required to input information onto a form that will appear on the computer screen. For now, the software is limited to the reports, however Nichols said the police department will be searching for software that will allow additional functions such as drivers' license and arrest and warrant searches.

"Everyone is biting at the bit to get these on the road," he said. We're ready to push this on to the street.

country will be participating in the scheduled events, he said. Longtime Sanford resident and former Seminole County School Board member Al Keeth performed the hagis ceremony as he recited a piece by poet Robert Burns. Hagis, the na-tional food of Scotland, is a mixture of liver and other ingredients which are packed into a bag and then boiled. Choosing to forsake the traditional bag, which is a sheep's stomach, the cook used a small burlap bag.

In its 21st year, the games were held in Orlando until three years ago when the event moved to Seminole County. "We wooed them here," said

Jack Wert, executive director of the Seminole County Tourist Development Commission. The event is important to the eco and heritage tourism in the county."

In addition to the competitions in bagpiping, drumming and dancing, there will be live jousting with real weapons and the Field of Bannockburn. which is a re-creation of Scottish history from the 13th century.

said did not appreciate Adamson's unwittingly attempting to cause dissension for personal reasons.

"Let me talk plainly because we're talking around this," Wright said.

"That is just not true," Adamson said. There is no private agenda here...I'm not a developer, I have nothing to gain. I have a personal belief this is the proper name for the future of the airport. I've been on this board for seven years...I don't do anything unwittingly." As a board member, Adamson and, he had the right to speak and voice his opinions. "I don't mind standing out in the storm," he aild. "I enjoy it." Overton, who flew into Sanford from England over the holidays, spake to the board during the public input session. He told board members that he was in town for other business, however, if the name thange had come up he was Dressed in his signature kilt, Chip Crawford, who will be portraying Wallace, said he travels to shows around the country because he enjoys it and also because he is Scottish. Crawford is also related to William Wallace.

Athletic competitions will include the caber toss where an 18-foot wooden pole, similar in size to a telephone pole and weighing close to 130 pounds is thrown, the hammer toss and the stone throw. In addition to the feats of strength. there will be sheep herding, a hagis toss, and a parade.

determine if it was counterfeit. The victim spread $2,000 in cash on the table. McDonough said Murrell and his accomplice began scooping up the money just as the victim's daughter came home and realized what was happening. The pair ran from the house and reportedly got into a car with Harrison.

A group of Midway citizens chased the suspects, appre-hending Murrell on Center Street. The citizens handcuffed him to a fence post with his own handcuffs and beat him. When Seminole County sheriff's deputies arrived, Murrell's suit was shredded and he had severe facial injuries. A group of citizens had Harrison in custody. The female accomplice is still being sought.

Anne Morrison, chieftain of the Morrison clan. is charged with drumming up membership and keeping the Scottish heritage alive.

By encouraging clans, which are families, Morrison said it keeps people together and involved in the culture. Her group also promotes scholarships to encourage participation by the youth 'so they can carry on when we are gone."

We all have roots and this allows us to get together." she said.

The event will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Seminole Greyhound Park in Casselberry. For more information and tickets, call 426-SCOT or 1-800-800-7832.

and Economic Development Planner John Jones, Van Der Weide produced a day-by-day, hour-by hour appointment summary of the August trip.

Clearly, his itinerary included a train trip from Rotterdam to London on Thursday. Aug. 21. He had a 4 p.m. meeting at the U.S. Embassy Commercial Services Agency. Topics discussed included services available to Seminole companies. "I was given an itinerary and I followed it," Van Der Weide said. "London was part of it."

"Everyone in the county knows he went to London on a pleasure trip with his wife. Judy," Morse said. "And I still sister. It doesn't add up." The purpose of Van Der Weide's European trip was to establish direct contacts with government and business leaders who can support and influence increased trade and investment between the Central Florida Region, Seminole County, and the City of Rotterdam, Netherlands, Wicklow County, Ireland and London.

The sad thing about this whole episode is the fact the economic development pro-

"Was I authorized to go to London? I certainly was," Van Der Weide said."

Was I authorized to receive the $50 a day in meals? I certainly was.

"I didn't set up the criteria. It was done in advance. The whole hansle is nothing but the elements of political shets fre ever experienced. It's a politi-ch hatchet job by Maryanne Morse and (Deputy Clerki Bob Lewis. They're both trying to play God."

Van Der Weide said he has done no wrong. "If anyone wants to check, they'll see that I don't charge for mileage when I inspect sites in county business. I'm not out to pick up any extra bucks."

Veterans Day: More than a day off

AARP welcomes pharmacist speaker

DEAR ABBY: Another Veterans Day has come and gone, but if the response of America's business community was any indication, you never would have known it. I am not talking about not celebrating it as a holiday; I recognize in the business environment we have today that often isn't possible. I'm talking about a complete lack of recognition. I work at a major credit card company, and it didn't even acknowledge Veterans Day or Memorial Day.

Abby, your column is read by everyone, including our business leaders. Please remind them that these two days are sacred and should be recognized within the workplace, regardless of whether they give their employees the day off or not. All they need to do in put out a short memo reminding everyone of what these days stand for. 1 don't feel this is too much to ask of our business leaders - to simply honor those who have served and especially those who have fallen.

MIKE SMITH, WILMINGTON, DEL. P.S.; Yes, I am a veteran: Active, Reserve and Desert Storm. DEAR MIKE: Though it's well is certainly worth space in my column. The people of this country owe a great debt to the men and women who have served us so courageously and so well. At the very least, their sacrifice should be acknowledged in some way or other than a 15-hour sale. ...

after Veterana Day, your letter

DEAR ABBY: You did it again you passed on another lie: that 4,000 women are killed by their spouses each year. This lie emanated from Rep. Eva Clayton, D-N.C.

The FBI Uniform Crime Statistics, compiled from law enforcement reports from around the U.S., puts the number between 1,200 and 1,400.

One simply cannot rely on information provided by battered women's shelters or feminists; they have the bad habit of making up figures in order to facilitate the notion. that women are victims and men are the major abusers. They have done this again and again, and if you unwillingly aid and abet these liars, that makes you a liar, too.

I ask you to make a written apology to your readers for willfully passing out erroneous information and denigrating men.

JASON LARIX, MISSOULA, MONT.

DEAR JASON: The figures I printed came from the National Center for Violence Prevention, St. Louis, Mo. They claim that the 4,000 figure is conservative. (Not all murders are necessarily recorded as homicides - some might be classified as "hunting accidents," "boating accidents" or "cause of death ... undetermined.") The true number may never be known. However, I will stand corrected if I hear from other reliable sources.

I have never knowingly lied to my readers. If I have man mistake, I correct it at the first opportunity. Taking a stand against battering (which is an issue that crosses gender lines) is not about women conspiring against and/or denigrating men.

The majority of men are as concerned about battering and vie-lence as I am. You obviously full to see the importance of addressing and intervening in this societal epidemic. As the old song goes, "How many deaths will it take 'til they know, that too many people have died?" Think about it.

Tardiness turns bowler into heroine

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS _ There are many bowlers on bowling teams throughout Seminole County

Through a very simple yet special act, one Lake Brantley bowler set herself apart from the rest

Natalie Johnson, a freshman at the Altamonte Springs school, simply went to bowling practice one day and became a local hero.

"I only did what I thought was right and was trained to do in a first aid class,' Johnson said. "I stood there for a moment and then just ran over. I didn't even think about it. I just did it."

Johnson is referring to an incident that occurred while she was at bowling practice.

She was a little late for practice, so Johnson and about five of her teammates stayed after to get in the games they had missed. There was a birthday party at the other end of the bowling alley for a five year old little boy. Suddenly, Johnson realized that the mother of the boy was screaming for help. After a moments pause, Johnson rushed over to the party and found the little boy choking.

Without a second thought, she grabbed the boy, performed the Heimlich Maneuver.

"It took about five or six tries and finally I was able to dislodge a butterscotch candy that the boy was choking on.' Johnson explained. "Once he was all right, his mother grabbed me and told me how thankful she was. I only did what I had been taught to do. I never really thought I would ever have to use it, though."

Luckily for the little boy, Johnson took up bowling when she was in the fifth grade. That year she maintained a 91 average, which is yery good for a first year bowler. She was always interested in bowling because her father bowled. Johnson also always wanted to be on the high school team.

"It has been so much fun being on the team," Johnson said. "I have made so many new friends

Lyman can't handle Lake Mary's pressure as girls improve to 19-0

LAKE MARY _ Despite a strong effort, the Ly-man girls' basketball team learned a tough leason last night.

It's hard to win if you don't have the ball. In its 69-37 Seminole Athletic Conference and Class 6A-District 3 defeat last night at the hands of the Lake Mary Rams, Lyman had the ball taken away from them consistently in the first quarter.

"Lake Mary came out with a little more intensity than we did," Lyman coach Bruce Bonaventure said. "It took a lot of energy for us to get back in the game and by the third quarter we didn't have much left. It's hard to keep up that pace for a long period of time."

Lake Mary shot out to a quick 10-0 lead in the first quarter. Lauren Bradley took the opportunity to display some power by taking a charge and then all but punishing Lyman's Kim Gant for stealing the ball from her teammate Stephanie Dale.

At the end of the period, Lake Mary was on top, 12-4, and it appeared that the number one team in the state was going to post yet another blow out. Within three minutes of the second quarter, the Lady Rams had added 11 unanswered points.

Lyman, however, would not go away without a fight.

The Lady Greyhounds put together a wellplanned comeback, including three straight three-pointers, two by Meghanne Hickey and one by Xiomora Cruz. Cruz hit one more before the half and suddenly the Rams were only leading 34-24 as they entered the locker room.

'I made some substitution mistakes in the second quarter," Lake Mary coach Carl Brown explained. "I take full responsibility. I didn't correct the changes quickly enough and a very good Lyman team capitalized on the opportunity.

WINTER PARK _ A mark of a good team is one that knows it can win.

That almost got the Oviedu girls basketball team in trouble last night but the Lady Lions pulled out a 57-38 win over Lake Howell in a Seminole Athletic Conference matchup last night. Ovledo tipped its record to 16-4 with the win but they came out flat and sputtered offensively. It was nearly five minutes into the game before anyone scored and Oviedo and plan on staying on the team as long as they'll have me."

Johnson hopes that what she did will teach people not to be afraid to help if they know how.

She wants everyone to know that no matter what, they should at least offer to do whatever they can.

"I was really suprised that I was the only one who reacted," Johnson recalled. "Everyone else just stood there. The boy's mother attempted to help her son, but she was afraid she would hurt him.

in fact, knowing the importance of learning first aid has become evident to Johnson twice in the past few weeks.

Just before the incident at the bowling alley, a friend of Johnson's mother died because he choked to death while he was alone.

Johnson said that while taking the "Safe Sitter" class two years ago, she was also taught how to do the Heimlich Maneuver when alone by using a chair.

"I really realise now how important it is for everyone to learn basic first aid." Johnson said. "You never know when you will need it."

There is at least one family that is very glad that Johnson took the class.

And very glad that she is on the Lake Brantley bowling team.

ollensive leader Mary Lou Johnston didn't score until early in the second quarter.

"These kids know what they're capable of," said Oviedo coach Tom Bieri. "Sometimes it's okay to be average but sometimes they expect to win. They have to realize they are here to play 32 minutes."

More and more this season, Oviedo has been playing a team game. As the season got underway, Johnston was lighting up the acoreboard, twice over 40 points, but the Lady Lions suffered some early losses. Biert said the entire team has been making it work lately and the improved teamwork is the key to Oviedo's success.

Don't call the rest of the team a supporting cast. It takes more than Johnston to fuel the Lady Li-00.5.

"We can do even better," said Katie McCown who went down in the second half with an injured ankle but returned later. "Mary Lou deserves all the attention she gets but she also gets the ball to the rest of us. Were a team."

Kelly Brock agreed. Lake Howell was all over her tonight so we knew what we had to do," said Brock who had 23 points two nights ago. "It inspires us when they come out to stop her because we know how much confidence she has in the rest of us."

That's how Oviedo came out last night. While Johnston was shut down early, Brock (10 points) picked up some of the alack as Oviedo recovered from a 10-4 deficit to run off a 16-0 run in the accond quarter. Shakira Hunt had four during the run and Johnston found

LAKE MARY _ Something very special and rare happened last night at Lake Mary High School's Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

During half-time at the soccer game, two former players had their numbers retired.

Lake Mary graduates Greg Velho and Jody DeBruin were honored by having their raimbers retired by the school and will be the first inductees to the new Lake Mary Wall of Fame.

"Greg and Jody are two guys who truly show what being the elite of soccer is all about," said Lake Mary soccer coach Larry McCorkle. "And not just on the field, but in every facet of their lives. They stood so high while they were here that they made everyone else around them better. This is very exciting for them and the school. I am very proud of them."

Both players have gone on to become leaders on their college teams as well.

Velho is a junior at the University of Notre Dame and has one season left to improve his already impressive numbers.

'I'm glad that I still have my senior year ahead of me," Velho said. "I have had a taste of the real world and I'm not ready for it yet. I'm looking forward to playing another year."

DeBruin is one year ahead of Velho and a senior at Clemson University. Although he hasn't committed to anything yet, his chances of playing on a professional team next year are very good.

"I definitely want to keep playing soccer." DeBruin said. "I'm not ready to hand up my boots yet. There are drafts coming up and there are a lot of professional teams. I would really like to play on one of them next year. We'll see how it goes."

Both players were honored by the retiring of their numbers and felt that this was something they would always cherish.

"This is truly a great honor," Velho said. "Jody and 1 have been great friends since high school and receiving this with him makes it even more special. This is really great now and knowing that I can come back here in ten years and know that this will always be here for me to remember is truly wonderful."

"I'm still amazed that this is happening." DeBruin added. "This is the first time that any player in any sport has had their number retired at Lake Mary High School. I really want to thank the program."

Both players gave everything they had to Lake Mary soccer and last night they got a little back from the school they will always remember.

DEAR READER: Take him to the doctor for an examination. Gynecomastia (enlarged breasts) is common in boys at early adolescence and is caused by increasing levels of hormones. If your child is otherwise normal, I urge you to consider breastreduction surgery. Growing up is tough enough without the stigma of gynecomastia in young men. The surgery should solve the problem and
