> Ready! Yes that one word expresses our preparations for this annual event of unusual interest.

Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock the doors of the Yowell-Drew Co. will open on the greatest anniversary celebration in the thirty-two years of progressive growth that the store has enjoyed. It is the Anniversary Sale that Orlando, Orange County and all Central Florida have been looking forward to begin.

Months and months ago we laid our preliminary plans. Then the entire force of this organization was given the plans and the diligent work to accumulate the merchandise started.

We have selected, tested and examined every offering in this sale as it had to measure up to the exacting standards of quality that have been the bulwark of this store through its years of growth. Not only did the merchandise have to measure up to our standards of quality but it had to be priced at the lowest possible figure at which goods of this character could be offered to our discriminating patrons.

It is with confidence and enthusiasm that we can tell our patrons today that the savings are of outstanding importance.

The mail order house takes the farmer's cash and buys nothing from him.

The buyer knows the local dealer, and doesn't know the mail order people.

Buying locally, he doesn't have to pay in advance. of delivery.

When local business men make profit from local consumers, they use the money to benefit their own community. Mail order money leaves the community

Buying locally, the buyer knows what he is getting and can remedy matters easily if there is any mistake.

Patronizing local merchants, he finds that because he treated them fairly when he had money, they will treat him well when he has a run of hard luck

Between buyer and muil order house, relations are purely commercial and impersonal. When buying and selling is done naturally at home, the whole community functions as one business family, with all working together for the common good, whether they realize it or not.

The Atlantic Coast Line has under construction In Florida the fellowing projects:

The Perry-Monticello cut-off, that will open a new through rail route between Central Florida and the West Coast to the Middle West. It will be ready for freight traffic early in 1927.

A line from Immokalee to Deep Lake that will give through rail service to Everglades;

Sixty miles of double track between Trilby and Richland, about 40 miles of which have been completed and placed in service;

The largest locomotive repair shops under one Foot on the Atlantic Coast Loor, at Tampat.

New shops for converge regard at St. Petersbury, Ocala, and Dunnetion.

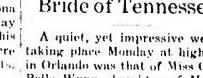

The Tampa Southern, a subsidiary, is building a line from Sarasota to Fort Ogden.

The Fort Myers Southern, another subsidiary, is building from Fort Myers to Marco. This line has been completed as far as Naples and train service will be inaugurated to that point this fall.

Construction has been authorized of a line from Thonotosassa to Richland that will provide a new short route between Tampa and Jacksonville.

Scores of other improvements throughout the State are in progress.
