

Masonic Lodge Installs Officers Saturday Evening

OVIEDO—The city hall ceremonial building was beautifully decorated by Mrs. T. E. Partin and her committee Saturday evening for the annual open installation of the Masonic Lodge for the Oviedo Masonic Lodge No. 243, P.A.M. The Masonic motif was worked out in the decoration scheme.

J. B. Jones and his committee, Russell Noegel, Ben G. Walright, and Billy West had planned the chicken picnic supper preceding the installation. Mrs. E. G. Gill had prepared a delicious menu which the large group of Masons and visitors enjoyed.

A group of eight young ladies, Carole Alford, Jackie Penarize, Susanne Partin, Diane Aulia, Ann Hialek, Nancy Estes, Linda Harris and Ruby Lee Towell, the larger portion of them being Junior High age, did a wonderful job of serving the large group. Dressed in gaily colored evening dresses, they added to the beauty of the occasion.

In the kitchen, working with haste to feed their many friends, were J. B. Jones, Russell Noegel, Ben G. Walright, C. L. West, Billy West, Mrs. J. B. Jones, Mrs. Nettie P. Ragdale and Mrs. Ben G. Walright.

Others assisting on committees were Douglas Jackson, Mrs. C. L. West, Mrs. Pauline West, Mrs. Billy West, and Mrs. Roswell Noegel.

Following the delicious repast, the most worshipful grand master of Florida, Marcus Donaldson, of Tampa, proceeded with the installation.

Edward Miner, District deputy grand master of Apopka, was acting as Grand Marshall for the evening.

Robert Cameron, of Oviedo, was installed as worshipful master of the local lodge. Other officers duly installed included: Douglas Jackson, senior warden; Roy Alford, junior warden; Jim Partin, secretary; Roswell Noegel, junior deacon; C. L. West, treasurer; Floyd Land, secretary; John D. Thomas, chaplain; Tommy McLain, marshal; H. G. Thomas, senior steward; Ben G. Walright, junior steward; J. I. Malcolm, Tyler.

Three of the officers; namely, Floyd Land, C. L. West and Roswell Noegel, are of Orlando; two from Geneva, namely, J. D. Thomas and Tommy McLain; and one from Sanford, H. G. Thomas.

Following his installation, the new worshipful master made a short speech and introduced the members of his family present. A member of his family presented him with a sash.

He then introduced all dignitaries present for the occasion, including Marcus Donaldson, most worshipful grand master of Florida, of Tampa; L. M. Stephenson, Grand Marshall of Maitland; L. F. Chapman, grand orator of Orlando; and Edward Miner, district deputy grand master, of Apopka.

They, in turn, each made short talks, after which the newly installed officers were introduced. They also introduced members of their families present.

All worshipful masters, past worshipful masters of any Masonic Lodge were asked to rise and be introduced. They were there from many places throughout the United States. Also many members of this lodge living within a 200 mile radius had come for the installation ceremony.

All worthy matrons or past matrons of OES Chapters were introduced. They also came from many places. They matrons and past matrons and past patrons of Seminole Chapter No. 3, OES were introduced, many being present for the occasion.

Bob Cameron then thanked all who helped in making the occasion so successful.

Mrs. Marian B. Jones asked for permission to thank the members of the Masonic Lodges and Eastern Star Chapters for their many kind deeds to her and her family, on behalf of her husband and herself, during the past five and one-half months following the serious accident to their oldest son, Johnny Jones, who was injured in Gainesville, on July 25th. As many had been inquiring about him during the evening, she was pleased to tell of the progress he is now making.

The attendance was about 160, somewhat under that of the past two or three years. This was attributed to the fact that it was held on an off-night, also to the extremely cold weather.

Oviedo Quintet Slaughters Bunnel Cagers 54-17

Coach Miller's "A" string team slaughtered the Bunnel Quintet here last night in the Oviedo gymnasium by a score of 54-17 which increased the local lead games won to 7 against 3 losses.

Both sides missed some good chances of scoring at the beginning of the game. Bunnel made the first score on Jimmy Brookshire's foul just seconds after Jimmy Brookshire himself had missed his own opportunity to score on free shots.

This is unusual for Brookshire who is usually very accurate at the foul line.

Bunnel then made another field goal to increase their lead 4-0. Just as the cheer leaders and spectators began to get excited, Capt. Carl Fabry came through with a beautiful jump shot to put Oviedo in the scoring line. The score now being 4-3 in favor of Bunnel.

He followed this with another field goal tying the score 4-4. Bunnel quickly went ahead again with another field goal. Andy Duda tied the score again 4-6 with his field goal. Carl Fabry increased this lead by another two points.

This was the first time Oviedo led in the game. It was smooth sailing from then on.

Bunnel crept up on them again in the second half but never led any more. It was Carl Fabry and Mike Duda again making field goals that put Oviedo well out in front 12-8. Wallace Kelsey came in the game at this point for Jimmy Brookshire. Bunnel made another field goal and Andy Duda missed on free shots. But Bunnel made good on one of theirs. The score now stood 12-9 Oviedo.

Kelsey came through with a field goal to increase Oviedo's lead another two points. Andy Duda missed on free shots and Bunnel fouled Carl Fabry who made good one of the two shots making the score 15-9.

Bunnel made another field goal which brought them within four points of the Oviedo lead. Bunnel fouled Andy Duda again. He made good on the free shot to increase Oviedo's lead by one point. Bunnel again missed an opportunity for free shots.

Kelsey put some interest in the game at this point by sinking a beautiful long shot followed by Mike Duda's free shot. Starting almost at mid-court Kelsey sunk another long shot which made the score 21-11. From then on Coach Miller's boys were never threatened.

Oviedo's quintet were spectacular in their brilliant rebounding. Climax of the game, in the last quarter, was the 16 points made by Oviedo to the four tallied by Bunnel.

Coach Miller replaced Carl Fabry with Williams in the final quarter. Jimmy Brookshire made the final point by sinking a field goal to jail the score at 54-15.

In the preliminary game, the Oviedo B string defeated the Bunnel B string 25-18. The score by quarters: 8-1; 13-0; 20-14; and 25-18.

In three starts at the SOKC, Surprised has recorded a win and two seconds.

Fast-finishing Pats Shadow, with two wins and four seconds in eight starts, also rates among the favorites in the all-star field.

Inaugural winner Koocher, who boasts four victories in eight tries, and La Strich are among other dogs to watch in the five-sixteenths mile test.

Racing Secretary R. C. Williams has placed a strong field to run in the third annual Charity Handicap tomorrow night. It is the top race on the special benefit card slated at the Sanford-Oviedo track.

Frank Best and Mr. Texas loom as the probable favorites.

Ike Confident He's Able To Serve Remaining Years In White House

By MEREDITH SMITH
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower has come through the winter of his early years confident he is up to the burdens and tensions of his three remaining years in the White House. He would like, however, to get away from the bleak, damp chill of Washington for a few days of sun and gold. He was expected to do this at the first opportunity and not later than some time early next month.

The Chief Executive's three top priority messages to Congress have been completed. The State of the Union message and the budget have gone to Congress. His annual economic message is finished and will go to the House and Senate Monday.

A major farm message was to be dispatched to Capitol Hill today.

State Dinner Planned
Thus the most time-consuming tasks ahead of the President for the immediate future involve the state dinner of the 1958 White House social season which begins tonight with the vice president and cabinet as honor guests and will continue through Feb. 11.

Eisenhower was on close-at-hand display before an audience of 270 reporters Wednesday at his first news conference since last Oct. 30 and the first since his Nov. 25 mild stroke.

In this meeting he made it plain he has given no thought to resigning because of his past medical record and intends to continue the conduct of the presidency until his term expires Jan. 20, 1961. "I feel very well indeed," he told the reporters, "but... no one can tell what the physical future is."

"I am optimistic enough to say this—that as long as I am able, I am going to carry on just exactly as I have in the past, and with no thought of it. From there on, it is in the lap of the gods and that's that."

With reporters peering closely at every move of his hands, every slightest change of facial expression and listening as human stethoscopes to every tone and inflection of his voice, the President brushed aside suggestions from some quarters that he resign because of his health.

He said he had not considered resignation in connection with his November illness because the doctors told him he had suffered no damage "to whatever intellectual facilities I have."

"Any time that I believe or any group of doctors—eminent doctors—would say that I am not really up to doing my job, then I would personally, feeling as I do... I would have no recourse except to resign."

President Proposes 14-Point Farm Program

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower recommended to Congress today a farm program designed to take the government increasingly out of agriculture and put the farmer more on his own. His proposal called for lower price supports for major crops and dairy products, and for increased authority to set acreage allotments for cotton, wheat, rice, peanuts and tobacco.

It also asked for elimination of acreage allotments for corn, the Midwest big cash crop.

The President told Congress in a special message that the present farm program is "unrealistic and outmoded."

The president's 14-point program, if adopted, would reduce the government's role in agriculture, a step recommended by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, and give farmers more freedom to produce.

Covington Relires From 31 Years Of Postal Service

December 27th ended 31 years of postal service for long-time Sanford resident, E. A. Covington. Since coming here in 1926 Mr. Covington has made many friends and rates his patrons here at tops in any mail carriers book. Looking spry and healthy at the age of 59 he is looking forward to settling down and enjoying a long and happy life here in the community of Sanford.

Covington first started his government service at the young age of 19 when he joined the army during the first world war. He served at various points under the command of field general John J. Pershing and at the end of the war he entered Clemson College, just a few miles from his home. In 1921 he was graduated with honors and he moved to DeLand, Florida where he went to work for a citrus grower.

With times uncertain and shaky, Covington decided to apply for an appointment to the Post Office Department. On December 13, 1926 he received his appointment from President Calvin Coolidge and remained a city carrier there until 1940.

With the failing health of his aging mother, who was a resident of South Carolina, Covington transferred to the post office at (Continued on page 2)

Collins Says Canal Will Be Kept Under Review

Citizens protesting the "unfavorable" report submitted by the Army Corps of Engineers on the Sanford-Titusville Canal got another big boost today from Governor LeRoy Collins.

Gov. Collins, in a telegram to the Sanford Herald, said "I am sorry that the proposed Sanford-Titusville Canal was not found to be economically feasible at this time."

"I undoubtedly would be of great benefit to Florida, and I hope that at some early date conditions will develop under which this project will be feasible," the Governor said.

"I have taken up this matter with the Corps of Engineers and have been assured the project will be kept under continuing review," Governor Collins concluded.

In the meantime, members of the Florida Waterways Committee are waiting for copies of the Corps of Engineers' report which they can study and determine what steps should be taken.

John Krider, chairman of the Florida Waterways Committee, revealed that hundreds of telephone calls have been pouring into his Sanford office protesting the report and offering assistance.

"We will hold a meeting in Sanford as soon as we determine, from the reports, just what steps should be taken next," Krider said.

In the meantime, the number of protests continue to come in by mail and telephone.

The Mississippi Valley Association, Atlantic Gulf Intra-coastal Waterways Association are among those that will protest the "unfavorable" report on the Sanford-Titusville Canal.

Senator George Smathers, Senator Spessard Holland, Congressman A. S. "Syd" Herlong, and Congressman Charles E. Bennett have all gone on record protesting the report of the Army Corps of Engineers.

Krider, soon after the announcement of the "unfavorable" report stated that professional help would be needed to gather the necessary information and to appear before the Rivers and Harbors Board in Washington Feb. 10 at a hearing. Col. Herbert Gee of the firm of Gee and Jensen, West Palm Beach will possibly furnish the professional help needed for the hearing.

Doudney, Harper Re-Elected First Federal Directors

Members of the $7 million First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. yesterday re-elected S. F. Doudney and E. C. Harper Sr., directors for three year terms and immediately following, the officers were voted to succeed themselves for 1958. Doudney is one of the charter members of the 23-year-old thrift institution.

Pres. Howard Faville opened his report for the past year by saying "It has been a source of satisfaction to the directors of your association that in the past year substantial and important strength has been effected through increases in reserves, both in June and December and totaling $132,434.76. While all phases of the operation were on a satisfactory basis, the building of the reserve accounts till they now equal 10.6 per cent of savings outstanding is considered vitally important. It places First Federal in Sanford in an enviable position for the months to come and establishes us among the leaders of reserve ratios in the state."

The officer closed his comments saying "While the economic outlook for 1958 lacks the optimism that characterized the forecasters' opinions a year ago, and while the business of this state will be affected by the recent cold snaps, there are other factors that indicate a very satisfactory operation in 1958. We look forward to the prospect of making the next 12 months one of our best years."

Car, Oil Truck Collide; Damage Totals $1,000

The front end of a 1954 Ford automobile was completely smashed this morning when it came out Beardall Ave. and crashed into an oil truck.

Deputy Sheriff A. E. Evans, investigating the accident, said damage to the automobile is estimated at approximately $1,000. Damages to the truck were minor.

B. C. Steele, 39, teacher at Sanford Junior High School, apparently failed to stop when he came to Geneva Ave., traveling north on Beardall, to collide with a 1954 white gasoline truck driven by Lester L. Harrison, 44. The truck is owned by the Orlando Fuel and Heating Co.

The automobile, Deputy Sheriff Evans said, hit the tank of the truck first and then the rear wheel.

Charges will be filed, said Evans.

Kiwanians Learn Of Post Office Dept. Problems

Members of the Sanford Kiwanis Club yesterday learned of the many problems confronting the Post Office Department and the movement of mail.

Joel Field, local postmaster, assisted by Dick McLaulin, Harold Appleby and Clyde Piery presented the problems by interview, question, and moving picture.

Field explained that the National Association of Postmasters footed the bill in producing the film "Men, Mail and Machines."

Dick McLaulin explained, as he was being interviewed by Joel Field, that the post office department lost $62 million last year and would lose an estimated $705 million this year.

"Postage rates were last increased in 1932," he said. The President has asked six times in the last five years for a postage rate increase which can be done only by Congress, McLaulin pointed out.

On a question from Field, McLaulin explained that the Post Office Department hasn't broken even since the end of World War II.

As for the cost per person, Kiwanians learned, the increase would come to only 32c per year for each citizen. McLaulin said "Citizens are now paying 28c a year in taxes to support the post office department."

Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield, speaking in the film presentation said that the United States boasts of 1/16th of the world's population and produces 2/3 of the world's mail. "There were more than 40 billion pieces of mail last year," he said.

"We cancelled better than a half million stamps this Christmas season," McLaulin stated, "but we are using a stamp cancelling machine which was in the local post office in 1924 when I went to work there."

Sanford Atlantic Reelects Officers, Directors For '58

Officers and directors for 1958 of the Sanford Atlantic National Bank were reelected at its annual meeting.

J. W. Shands was reelected chairman of the board, R. J. Bauman, president, R. F. Mann, vice president; Bruce G. Padlock, vice president; R. W. Deane, cashier and O. C. McBride, assistant cashier.

Directors reelected for 1958 were: R. J. Bauman, George D. Bishop, L. I. Frazier, J. C. Hutchinson, R. F. Mann, H. B. Pope, J. W. Shands, H. E. Southward and George A. Speer Jr.

R. J. Bauman, president of the bank, reported that deposits for 1957 showed a gain of $1,170,259.78 over Dec. 1, 1956.

Almost a million dollars of the gain over the previous year, said Bauman, is in savings due to the increase in interest rate to 3 percent.

Bauman revealed, at the annual meeting, that the Sanford Atlantic National Bank had a net gain in accounts for 1957 of 680 new customers.

Installment loans showed a big increase over the previous year, the bank president said with the total for 1957 at $1,723,130.49. "We had a very healthy year in the installment loan department," Bauman said.

"We feel that the coming year of 1958 looks very good in all departments of the bank and our outlook is toward further growth in greater deposits and new accounts," Bauman stated.

Eastern Bankers Cautious On '58 Business Prospects

CHICAGO (UP)—Eastern bankers appeared to take a more cautious viewpoint of business prospects for 1958 than those in the West, according to a survey released Wednesday night.

The survey, conducted by the credit policy commission of the American Bankers Assn., showed that most bankers agreed the present business trend is downward but should improve.

The study showed that bankers were keeping a watchful eye on inventories, which currently range from moderately high to adequate.

A breakdown of the survey by Federal Reserve district showed: Richmond: Business and credit outlook good except in agriculture and coal mining, decline expected in industrial construction but upturn in public construction.

Atlanta: Inventory situation at all levels may be higher despite decline in Birmingham iron and steel industries.

5 Cars Involved In Wreck On Osteen Bridge

A five-car smash up at the Osteen Bridge, east of Sanford on State Road 415, interrupted the travels of a honeymooning couple and stopped three others temporarily, shortly after 6 o'clock last night.

Janet Cook Forbes, 39-year-old DeLand insurance agent and music teacher, traveling west on an apparent high rate of speed, failed to keep her car on the right hand side of the bridge road and smashed into four automobiles, one after the other, all traveling east.

Each car was sideswiped and could continue operating with the exception of the Negro woman's own car which went out of control and off the highway to crash into a fence.

The first car hit was that of David Robert Heilbrunn, 26, a bank cashier of New York City. He and his wife are on their honeymoon. His Ford automobile was damaged an estimated $250.

The second car sideswiped was a 1954 Hillman owned and driven by John Jawor of Daytona Beach. Damage to this car was estimated at $300.

Third car struck was a Plymouth sedan driven by John Lee Morgan of Castle Brewer Court, Sanford. Damage to his car was estimated at $100.

The fourth car involved in the smashup was a Pontiac driven by John B. Brown, a Longwood painter. Damage to his car was estimated at $300.

Florida Highway Patrolman Olla Garrett, investigating the accident, said charges of reckless driving would be placed against Janet Forbes. Damage to her car was estimated at $600.

Traffic at the Osteen Bridge temporarily came to a stop until cars involved in the accident could be moved.

Patrolman Garrett was assisted in the investigation by Deputy Sheriff A. E. Evans of the Seminole County Sheriff's office.

AFTER SMASHING INTO four automobiles, this car came to a stop at this point. Janet Cook Forbes, 39-year-old Negro woman of DeLand, crashed into the four cars as she came off the Osteen Bridge on State Road 415. (Staff Photo)

Initiation Day Rough For Three New Chiefs

It's been a rough day for three newly promoted chiefs of Heavy Attack Squadron Seven at the Sanford Naval Air Station.

B. J. Massey, P. W. Simpson, and B. B. Marshall were initiated by their fellow chiefs in a day-long event today which started off with being picked up on the base and hauled to the deputy officer's office in the "paddy" wagon and ended with a party staged by the three new chiefs at which they furnished refreshments and a buffet.

The initiation came to downtown Sanford at 10:15 this morning when the three newly-promoted men, dressed in huge chiefs' hats, slickers, false hair, and carrying yellow anchors, attempted to cash a check for ten cents at the Florida State Bank.

Bank officials, in on the initiation proceedings, attempted to charge the men 15c for cashing the check and when an argument ensued, were arrested by Sanford Police Sergeants Ben Butler and Leo Rock. The three Navy chiefs were taken to the Sanford jail and locked in a cell as a part of the initiation.

The three initiates were escorted this morning by Chief J. Q. Creamer, Chief R. F. Gorman, Chief B. F. Clark and Chief C. F. Fogg.

Chief Creamer said that following the downtown demonstration, the initiation would continue at the Sanford Naval Air Station throughout the morning and until the party gets underway at 2 o'clock.

The three "boot" chiefs furnished quite a number of laughs for local citizens as they went about the task of attempting to cash the check given to them and as they were shifted from one bank teller to another.

Escorts finally were able to have the men released this morning from the local jail to be taken back to SNAS for the initiation climax.

Bukur Receives Most Inter Club Visits

Peter Bukur, Sanford music instrument dealer and member of the Sanford Kiwanis Club, is sporting a brand new plaque presented to him yesterday "for going other places more than anybody else."

The Kiwanis Clubs schedule, within district areas, inter club visits. These meetings have become a part of the civic club's regular program.

Ed Kirchhoff, chairman of the Sanford Kiwanis Club's Inter Club Committee last year, told Kiwanis Club members yesterday that the local organization "stood out" at the mid-winter conference held in Jacksonville.

Bowing out as the chairman of the committee and taking over a district chairman, Kirchhoff presented the plaque to Bukur yesterday for the "most inter club visits." Bukur had visited 17 clubs during the year.

Said Kirchhoff of Bukur "he was so enthusiastic that he would go off by himself."

Peter Bukur is chairman of the interclub committee this year.

Check Writers Near Agreement On Emergency Money

By FRANK BLEASER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—House defense check writers were reported near agreement today on giving President Eisenhower about all of the $1,260,000,000 emergency missile money he wants.

One source hinted that the 12-man defense appropriations subcommittee might even recommend slightly more than the President asked, possibly by transferring funds from less essential uses. Both a high Navy official and Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, protested meanwhile that the administration had slashed their research fund requests.

Research Funds Cut
Waterman told a House government operations subcommittee that the Budget Bureau cut the foundation's basic research funds by 50 per cent this year and knocked 20 per cent off the amount asked for the next fiscal year.

Assistant Navy Secretary Garrison Norton, in censored testimony released by the Senate preparedness subcommittee, said the Navy didn't get all the research and development funds it should have in the President's 1958 budget. Norton disclosed a Nautilus-type atomic submarine would carry the 1,500-mile Polaris ballistic missile. He said priority development of the solid-fuel rocket was "eating into" other research areas of the Navy.

Missile Probe Continues
Three more missile manufacturers were called by the preparedness subcommittee. The House Armed Services Committee at the same time summoned the Defense Department missile chief William M. Holaday in the continuing two-pronged investigation of the nation's missile lag.

In other developments:
—The Air Force said it will set up its first training unit for B-47 missile interceptors today at Elgin Air Force Base, Fla.

—Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) told the House Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, who developed the atomic submarine, should be named boss of a new crash program to build a space ship.

—Edna Keisauer (D-Tenn.), a member of the preparedness subcommittee, proposed third annual Charity Handicaps that Col. John C. Nickerson Jr. be brought back from his Panama assignment "to the launching pads of the United States. A year's full use can be made of his knowledge on missiles. Nickerson was court-martialed and transferred out of missiles after he contested limitations on Army missile work.

CRASHES KILL 75
WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—Seventy-five U. S. Airmen were killed in aircraft crashes in Europe and North Africa last year, Air Force officials reported Tuesday. They said 38 of the victims were pilots and 37 were crewmen. Seventy-eight aircraft were destroyed.

REDS TRY YOUTH
VIENNA (AP)—Communist Hungary will try boys between the ages of 14 and 15 years as counter-revolutionaries, the Budapest newspaper Magyarorszag reports. It said the chief defendant at the trial would be barely over 14 years of age. And that the other defendants varied in age between 14 and 15.

DR. SAM HEDRICK

Short Course For Church Ushers To Be Conducted

GAINESVILLE — Dr. Sam Hedrick, professor of worship and practical theology at Boston University, will conduct a two-day short course for church ushers in Sanford on Sunday and Monday (Jan. 25-27).

Part of a series, the program is being offered by the General Extension Division of Florida in cooperation with the Seminole County and Sanford Ministerial Association and Sanford Kiwanis Club.

This is the sixth year such a series has been offered to Floridians. In addition to detailing the problems of ushering, topics to be covered include the organization of an usher staff, usher qualifications and functions. Emphasis will be placed on special services such as weddings and funerals.

Dr. Hedrick holds a master's degree from Boston University, and a doctor's degree from Baker University, Baldwin, Kan. He served for 12 years as a Methodist pastor in Kansas and Massachusetts, and in 1942 was named executive secretary of Kansas Methodist Conference's Board of Education.

During the same period he taught at Baker University. In 1948 he accepted his present position as director of supervised field work at Boston University's School of Theology.

Hedrick has acted as lecturer-consultant at many religious programs throughout the country, and he served in that capacity at last year's church ushers' camp at his parish church here locally at St. Paul's. His publications include two pamphlets, "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled" and "Treasures in Heaven," and articles in many educational and religious magazines.

The course will be held at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, 1101 South Park Avenue. There will be one two-hour session on both days the course is offered. The Sunday session will begin at 3 P. M., and Monday's will begin at 7:30 P. M. Registration may be made at the opening meeting.

After once living in Florida Covington knew that he and his family would return someday so the opportunity presented itself and he went to work at the Sanford PO in 1946. He relates that his eleven years here have been very pleasant and wonderful and he holds all his fellow employees as tops. Five Vestrymen Elected By Church At Yearly Meeting

Five vestrymen were elected last night at the yearly business meeting of the Holy Cross Episcopal Parish. Harry Canell, Ldr. Lewis Cobb, Edward LeCours, Joseph Nicholas and Bruce Paddock were chosen to fill vacancies caused by the expired terms of Gordon Bradley, Guy Allen, John Galloway and Henry Tammen.

Other vestrymen still in office are James Grant, B. L. Perkins Jr., M. L. Raborn Jr., Gordon Sweeney, Frank Mebane Jr., William Bush and Randall Chase.

The election was preceded by a delicious covered dish supper in the parish house. The Rev. John Thomas presented the annual parish reports. A sound film on the Russian Church was shown during the evening.

Castle Completes Intensive Course In Car Servicing

Wm. Spencer Castle, a member of the service staff of Heller Motors, completed an intensive course in advanced Oldsmobile servicing and maintenance techniques at the General Motors Training Center in Jacksonville. It was announced today by W. J. Buxton, Oldsmobile Division, General Service Manager.

Castle is one of thousands of Oldsmobile dealer service employees who have taken instruction under highly-skilled instructors trained at the Oldsmobile factory. "Their training is part of a vast program to maintain Oldsmobile dealer service departments at the highest possible level."

"Today's automobile engineering is too complex and improvement too rapid for any casual approach to service," Buxton said. "Thirty General Motors Training Centers throughout the U. S. help keep service employees of GM car and truck dealerships familiar with new mechanical features."

which is used by study promoters to high-pressure local residents into contributing. "A high percentage of the money collected," Krider stated, "goes right from the donor's checkbook into the promoters' and phonema's pockets. Some of these promoters who operate 'out-of-their-hair' pay their phone man as high as 15 percent commission on funds collected and add on at least an additional 15% for themselves. Since the unscrupulous promoter's primary interest is in his own golden harvest, his vehicle for fund raising, whether it be a show, a cookbook, a year book or what not, is frequently of very inferior quality and the resultant debacle and its attendant unpleasantness can be remembered for years."

"Unfortunately experiences with 'hit-and-run' fund raisers can easily be avoided," Krider added, "by following a few simple rules. Prospective donors can protect themselves by following the general policy of not giving to unknown solicitors in response to a telephone appeal. Printed or written details should be sought before any commitment is made."

"Community groups can avoid the questionable fund-raising 'pig motor,'" he continued, "by making inquiry of the Chamber of Commerce before any contract is signed. The Chamber is pledged to help protect the community and will gladly assist local groups in securing information on fund-raising organizations, and in reviewing their proposed appeals. Through its membership affiliation with the National Better Business Bureau, the Chamber is in position to secure factual reports on questionable solicitations."

"By checking with the Chamber in advance," Manager Krider concluded, "local groups can avoid tangle on this community."

Tom Tom Talk

Howdy friends—and freshmen. Here is another page in Seminole Hi's history especially for you. It's about you and yours.

Could it be true that Alva Collins has himself another girl? Good going, Janet Glenn!

We hear that Mike Tammy has snored a freshman girl. We won't give away her name, but we will say they make a cute couple. Why don't you date her more often, Mike?

Did you see Linda Cannon with Al Phelps during the holidays? He was home to have himself a good time, and we know they did. We know another senior girl who absolutely vows and vows that he's a dream. Janice, you still think so, don't you?

A select few were chosen to represent SIS in clinic in Tampa. These people are from the Glee Clubs and the Bands. We know they made us proud of them and did a fine job of representing us.

Seen in the halls constantly are Roger King and Judy Herron, along with Bonnie Russel and Rosemary Southward. But of course everybody knows they go steady—don't they?

What is wrong with you gals? Harold Frizzell is walking the halls with his class ring on his own finger. He is a real dream on the dance floor. Let's see some action, women!

Rick Erickson and Marion Ruth are still going steady. He has her ring on his finger where everyone can see it. Congratulations, Marion, on getting such a nice guy.

It seems to us that Billy Robinson and Ann Wolfe are seen a lot together. They even go to the drugstore after school together. Say, poehey, have any of you two mentioned going steady yet?

Are Shirley Morgan and Greg Walker still steady? We're pretty sure they are, but we wish someone would tell Richard Phagan.

Ray Hudson and that sweet kid from junior high are still dating. Hey, Ray, it's been said by many she's a living doll. Is she?

Wee Willie Down has been seen in the beauty parlor every night synchronized with Big Ben. An with Fritz. We hear Willie is be-

New Students

Our new student this week is Jack Urig. Jack moved to Sanford, over the holidays, from Jackson, Alabama, where he had been attending school as a junior at Jackson High School. He is, however, a native of New Jersey; his father is a chief in the Navy; this explains his moving around a lot. The family lived here in '54.

Jack is eighteen and a half, which explains why he likes our lunchroom music, dancing, rock and roll music by Elvis, Ivy League clothes, and girls. He definitely likes women and says "I'm available." He is for going steady 100 per cent because it means security. Gals, he has a red-and-black DeSota. Cherry Pie with cherry ice cream on top is his favorite food, anytime, anyplace. Jack collects stamps, plays tennis, and loves to eat. At Jackson High he played football, baseball, basketball and ran track. "The school spirit is wonderful here," Jack stated.

Welcome to Seminole High School, Jack Urig. We're mighty glad to have you here. You're sure to have a good time in Sanford.

Money

This article is about just what the title says it is, money. To be specific, it is about the money in the cafeteria.

As about everyone knows, the prices in the cafeteria have gone up. The prices as they stand now are:

|---|-----|
| PLATE LUNCH | 30c |
| 4 Meat, Two Veg. (ables or Salad) | |
| SANDWICHES | 20c |
| (Chicken Salad & Ham Salad) | |
| OTHERS | 15c |
| (Bologna, Spiced Ham Pimento Cheese etc.) | |

I, for one, wanted to know why the prices went up, and I found out that it's something like this. You see prices have gone up all over. Mrs. Hasty has to pay more for the supplies she gets, and since there are a lot more of us in school this year, they had to do something, or we just couldn't continue getting the same fine meals we get every day. They finally had to raise prices. Really though, it's not much of a raise and I don't think it will cause anybody to go without eating, for at least a while, anyway.

Once again, we would like to thank Mrs. Hasty for those good meals she and her staff put out every day. They surely are good and those cups of coffee and cocoa you put out sure hit the spot on these cold mornings.

Kids Corners Cops

First of all, let me get one thing straight: I'm neither pro nor con on the eradication of the teen-age "race". I'll admit I'm prejudiced—in both directions and I'll also admit that the following is an opinion, a biased opinion, which I myself believe that I'm not qualified to give, but I'll leave that up to you.

I have never been more ashamed of being a teen-ager; I'm perfectly willing to return to the cow-buys-and-spacemen stage if it means giving up my Little-Cesar friends. At least when I idolized Superman and Buck Rogers the badjies always lost. But nowadays, it seems that the kids on corners, cups come as a natural and even accepted conclusion.

I used to think that ALL teenagers were basically good; I've dropped from that ivory tower with a loud thud. Teen-agers ARE people; and therefore, teen-agers make mistakes. Okay, so teenagers make mistakes, so why blame anyone? If anyone is to blame, it's the kid on the corner, or the beerhall, or the harmless lakefront, who gets escorted to headquarters, not the rest of us. If John Doe does something he isn't supposed to, such as rob a filling station, who gets the headlines? Not John Doe; his name is neatly tucked under the folds of the juvenile court judge's official garb. No, the headline reads, "Teen-ager Robs Filling Station," "teen-ager" which may mean you or me. A small caption reads "name withheld," but as for you and me, we have to live down the bad name; whereas, John Doe is spending six "glorious" weeks at Marianna.

There is no reason in the world why kids, corners, and cops-in-that-order should present such an unspeakable sequence, not if you don't the cops (And by this I mean the parents who invariably

You know what I mean: someplace that can keep up out of places where we don't belong, someplace where we can have fun and still not look like a lingo-Falcoro bunch across from the East River having a stare-down, someplace where we can go whenever we want, someplace for "us."

Night here in Sanford, "we" need a place for "us", a place that "other people" don't run; a place that can prevent us from being ashamed of ourselves just because one juvenile delinquent, ONE out of 30 or 40 or 50 or 60 essentially "good" young men and women, made the headlines and not even his name went along with his crime. It's a paradox, but if you follow me, I'm ashamed of having to be ashamed of ourselves. But, enough for that; what we need is action—action from you students, action from you parents, action from you citizens. The only way to stop juvenile delinquency is to give it no reason to begin.

George Harriett—Retire (at 16).

Linda Cannon—Try to buy Elvis.

Gary Baker—Heh! Heh!

Marcel Elfried—Die of a heart attack!

Al Collins—Stay in bed all day.

Dave Stanley—Spend it.

Bonnie Stoffer—I'd move back up North.

John Miller—I'd take Sunny to the Imperial House.

Paggy Lundquist—Give it back, 'cause money can't buy everything.

L. C. Smith—I'd drop dead.

Jacqueline Herron—I'd build a new school and dedicate it to the class of '59.

Jeanie Womack—Take a plane back to Texas for a visit.

Jimmy Moys—Buy a '58 Chevrolet.

Nellie Mekens—Have a good time!

Sue Waters—Be a lady of leisure.

Richard Scott—No telling!

Recreation Problem

By Delores Bailey

I am speaking for the teenagers of Sanford when I say this: I want a recreational center in town where I can go after school every day.

Recently this issue was discussed in one of the classes at Seminole High School. The students versed the need of a recreational center in their town. We want a place of our own, solely for us, to which we can go after school and on weekends. I'm sure if we had such a place we would appreciate it to the fullest.

I, personally, know of no place in Sanford where a high school student can go and dance (if he wants), read a good book, or just lounge. Everyone wants a place where he can be among his friends and do exactly what he pleases.

The students are willing to help, form a committee, and find a place for themselves. This is the kind of enthusiasm the parents should want in their children. I know parents are willing to help high school teenagers find themselves a recreation center, a place where they can have wholesome fun.

Do you the students want a center? Do you the parents want a center where your children can go? Let's hear your opinion. Let's have a center in Sanford.

Judy Herron—Fix it so Roger wouldn't get mad at me all the time.

Eva Joe Wynne—I'd probably die of malnutrition.

Johnny Alred—Build a gym! (That's great!)

Skipper Palmer—Export some of those "little" freshmen.

Sidney Vhien—I'm not gonna say.

Jack Stotaky—I'd faint!

Angelo Compain—I'd buy Spanish.

Opinions Of The Supreme Court Reached By A Regular Method!

The winds of controversy have blown around the Supreme Court on a good many occasions since this government was established—the Dred Scott decision, which almost literally tore the country in two, being perhaps the outstanding example. The controversy has been intense again in the last year, as all readers of the news know. The decisions affecting communists and others have stirred up great debate and high passions on either side.

A revealing article on the Court has appeared in the New York Times Magazine, written by Anthony Lewis of the Times' Washington Bureau. He does not deal with the merits or demerits of the controversial decisions. His purpose is to help explain the mechanics of the Court's operation—for, as he says, "... the public has very little idea how the Supreme Court makes up its mind."

The first step is for the justices to decide whether to accept or to refuse a case. Some 1,500 petitions are filed with the Court each term—only a small percentage are heard. A great many are frivolous and can be at once dismissed. But in other instances there is wide disagreement among the members. It takes the votes of four justices to bring a case up for review and, when that is done, the Clerk sets a later date for oral argument.

Then the litigants in the case submit briefs and records. These may total thousands of pages. As Justice Jackson once said, so justice can go through more than a fraction of this matter. It is up to each justice to decide how much and what he will read, and how he will reach an opinion. Here Mr. Lewis makes an important observation: "... the way a justice of the Supreme Court reacts to a case depends, inevitably, to a large degree on the view of life and society that he has built up in a lifetime." One man, for instance, may abhor wire-tapping under any circumstance; another may see a need for it in certain instances.

The next step is to hear the oral arguments of the opposing attorneys. These are restricted to an hour or less for each side, but they are enormously important. Justice Harlan has said that they may "make the difference between winning and losing, no matter how good the briefs are." Then the justices discuss the cases in conference and a vote is taken. Finally, the writing of opinions is assigned to specific justices. Individual justices can, and frequently do, write additional opinions to express their own particular views.

It is the sources of these opinions that make the Supreme Court so different from other and lower courts—and which, no doubt, cause many a confusion in the minds of laymen. Mr. Lewis goes into this matter in detail. The decisions quoted legal precedents, but they are not restricted to them. As Mr. Lewis puts it: "... a Supreme Court opinion may quote Presidents as well as judges, Senators as well as statutes. It may find in the history of Greece aids to the temporary resolutions of the eternal struggle between freedom and order. It may derive lessons from the lengthy battle to establish legal guarantees to Great Britain. It may give weight to the views of economists, or the scholarly analyses in law reviews."

What it all amounts to is that the justices are individuals of widely varying backgrounds and attitudes, placed in positions of almost unlimited legal authority. Hence the difference—and hence the controversies and passions.

Stock Exchange Welcome Mat Out

The seed of modern industrial America took root many generations ago on a narrow little street, a few blocks long, bounded at one end by a famous church and on the other by a river. That street is Wall Street, which took its name from a brush fence designed to keep cows in and Indians out. It is along this street that one of the world's renowned market places is situated—the New York Stock Exchange.

The Exchange is almost as old as America. It was first organized in 1792. Without the facilities of such a market place the corporate idea of industrial development, which is the basis of our present-day democratic society, would never have come into being. One of the great tragedies of American history is that there has been so little understanding by so many people of the real meaning of the investor-owned American style corporation. It has evolved into an economic system that has become known as "people's capitalism." Had it existed in the days of Karl Marx the paths of Russia and the United States might never have followed divergent courses, for the simple reason that capitalism as practiced in this country today goes far beyond the wildest dreams of Marx to improve the lot of his fellow men.

One of the "musts" for a visitor to New York is the Exhibit Hall and Visitor's Gallery of the Stock Exchange—a million dollar educational project—which not only presents a dramatic and colorful story of the growth of American business through investment, but manages to impress upon the visitor the rich fruits that flow from a philosophy of life that permits the individual maximum economic and political liberty. The Stock Exchange exhibits represent the activities of millions of private citizens engaged in every conceivable activity.

Some 300,000 visitors tour the Stock Exchange annually—school teachers, children, businessmen and their wives, foreign dignitaries and, of course, the individual stockholders who own shares in the 1200 corporations listed on the "big board." The latter group totals nearly 10 million persons, two out of three of whom earn less than $7500 a year. This alone should give an inkling that "people's capitalism" in the United States is not just a catch phrase.

The significance of the educational effort extended by the Stock Exchange in behalf of the entire American community is beyond weighing. A visitor has the feeling that the welcome mat is out and the nation is invited to come calling.

SPEAKING OF SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH-I

Inside Washington

By HENRY CATRCART

Central Press Washington Writer
WASHINGTON — Opposition is rolling up to the plan of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to weave a tighter connection between the Free World's various defense organizations.

At least part of the opposition is quite simple—members of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and the Latin American Organization of American States feel they have a better chance of getting aid when they are considered apart from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization group—they fear that once they are linked up with NATO, they will be lost in the shuffle.

Another argument against the closer ties is that both the Latin American and Asian nations are fearful of the past colonial policies of many of the NATO countries. Furthermore, diplomats say, problems for the SEATO and OAS organizations are peculiar to their areas and should not be mixed in with the economic, political and defense problems of Europe.

The fourth big defense organization—the Baghdad Pact group—is neutral on the subject of being more closely aligned with NATO. These nations standing between Russia and the Arab states are already tied closely with both NATO and SEATO through joint memberships on the part of the United States, Britain and Pakistan.

BRUNDAGE FINISHED—Perceval F. Brundage has conceded defeat in his monumental battle with the budget and will retire around Feb. 1 as director of the powerful Bureau of the Budget.

Brundage, who was unable to hold government spending down to the target of $71 billion in the 1958 fiscal year despite drastic economy measures, is bitterly disappointed that President Eisenhower's 1959 budget will call for spending $74 billion, the largest in peacetime history.

The fact that he was overruled on some of his economy suggestions was the last straw for Brundage and he has lost intimates he is getting out quick.

SCIENCE PROGRAM—President Eisenhower's four-year, $1 billion federal program to step up

Although Dixie was the most famous of Confederate war songs, its writer, Daniel D. Emmett, was born in the north—Mt. Vernon, O.

CIVIL RIGHTS—Negro leaders in Washington feel that it is primarily the job of Negroes in the South to see to it that the most is made of the new "right to vote" law passed last year by Congress. Rather than seeking new legislation at this time to broaden civil rights, the Negro leaders are concentrating their efforts on seeing to it that southern Negroes get out the vote.

Clarence Mitchell, Washington director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, recently predicted that "after 1960," white and Negro congressmen from the south will "sit together on the platform" during Emancipation Day celebrations.

Mitchell also said United States lawmakers must choose between enacting laws to prevent a crisis such as that in Little Rock, Ark., over school integration and "fanning themselves in front of a time bomb."

Herlong Report

The first order of business for the Second Session of the 85th Congress was the joint session where we heard the President's State of the Union address. It was reassuring to us to know that he seemed in excellent health although in delivering the 43-minute speech he obviously tired toward the end. As in the case of any State of the Union address, it dealt mainly in generalities. Specific recommendations for definite legislation will come to the Congress in later messages which are not delivered in person.

There can be little quarrel with the over-all objectives called for in this message. He said what all of us have known for some time, that there were obviously too many interservice disputes and, in effect, that he was going to put an end to it. The general reaction to that expression on Capitol Hill was—as Commander-in-Chief, why hadn't he done it before?

He asked for an accelerated defense effort. I am sure Congress will go along with that, and certainly your Congressman will. He asked for strengthening of the Mutual Security Program and not greater stress on repayable loans and the use of private capital as a means of strengthening the ties of the free world. I think our Mutual Security Program can be strengthened considerably. There has been some question up to now as to whether there has been a mutual program or whether there has been any security in it. One of the things that will have to be done in this respect in my judgment is a re-evaluation of the type of personnel needed to put across this new program. I am afraid we have fallen short in this regard in the past. In other words, our representatives haven't availed themselves of the opportunity to make friends for the United States.

The President advocated extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Program for five years. This matter comes before my Committee. While I am in favor of the program I can state that there is considerable opposition to it in the Committee and mostly from the members of the President's own party. Right now it looks like I have the deciding

The President urged the Soviet Government to "cooperate in turning principle into practice by prompt and tangible actions that will break down the unnatural barriers that have broken the flow of thought and understanding between our people." That sounds very fine, but you and I know that the Russians are not going to pay much attention to what we ask them to do. It reminds me of the story of the sales manager for the dog food company who had all the finest qualities of their product—that they had the finest advertising program, they had the most beautiful containers, the finest quality meat, but that their sales were slipping and he wanted to know why. One of the salesmen came up with the answer in a convincing if not tactful reply when he said, "The only trouble with our dog food is that the dog-gummed dogs won't eat it." That's the way it is with the Russians. We can make the finest kind of proposals but up to now they haven't eaten them.

Letters To The Editor

Editor
The Sanford Herald
Sanford, Fla.

Dear Sir:
It's my turn now—and I hope that Mrs. Jane Fletcher will take her pen in hand once again as she did a few days ago—to answer this letter. Perhaps in this way we will be able to stimulate interest in the Mutual Concert Association.

It was not my intention to attack the Association as a group, or individually. Mrs. Fletcher seems to miss the entire point of the column. If there was one, as she infers, my intention was the mere comparison of enthusiasm for fame against obscurity, in Central Florida.

However, since we are in this argument, I shall attempt to defend myself and my beliefs to the best of my ability. If Mrs. Fletcher will check with the Association, she will find that I worked for the Mutual Concert Association for two years, both selling memberships and doing publicity. She will also find that every article written this year for the Association in the Sanford Herald was written by this reporter. And that were quite a few of them.

So, I am not guilty of negligence to the Association. It has been boosted equally as much as many other mutual enterprises. Since I have never had the specific job of publicity as I do with the High Fever Follies, naturally neither the material nor the necessity required by the other, has been available.

This is the first year that I have not bought a ticket—for two reasons—one, there is a ticket available to me as a member of the press, and two, my husband is in the Navy and gone most of the time. He is not here either to share the concerts with me or to sit with my children should I be unable to pay a sitter.

Thus, I do not feel that I should be unable to criticize the Association, which incidentally, I was not doing. Mrs. Fletcher states that the "series in Sanford take quite as much volunteer labor to promote as the price paid labor to promote Orlando attractions." Then, why don't we get as much volunteer labor as we need? Why should there only be a "dozen odd people" who promote the Mutual Concert Association? There is one answer. Others are not asked to help. There are many in this town who regularly attend the concert series who would be glad to assist. The Association keeps a tight rein on its helpers which it should not do. If this is to be truly a "mutual" venture, then let it be just that. Invite a general meeting of all those interested in seeing the concerts and see what the man in the audience has to say.

Furthermore, it should be the right of that same man in the audience to criticize the production. It does no good at all to white-wash every performance just because it happens to appear on a local stage. If every critic did this the boards all over the country would be playing to house packed with rats and spider webs.

Sanford is a growing town. Surely it can bring good performers to its residents without making them suffer intellectually or physically. Mrs. Fletcher has a point, although extremely obvious, that talent costs money and with little money one may have only so much. True. Then why not three GOOD performances instead of four mediocre ones?

The rest of the year looks pretty good to me, although I defend my right to say afterwards, whether it was in my opinion. Last year we had only one indifferent artist—there is nothing wrong with that.

Instead of becoming heated about the whole thing, why not make friends, work on more publicity and let the people have a choice? Most of the cards sent out to members for a vote went right where most cards go—in the waste basket. Get some spirit into the thing! Incidentally I did not see the performance I criticized so "hastily". Where did I get my opinions? From Mutual Concert Association members!

Sincerely,
Virginia Conn

Are your "Special" Salads getting Special Mayonnaise?

They're not... unless your mayonnaise contains special premium eggs.

You see, all mayonnaise is not the same. Mrs. Filbert's special recipe Mayonnaise brings you important extras. For example, the very finest eggs. (We pay a premium to get the best.)

Next, special seasoning blended from the heart of imported spices. Then real lemon juice, aged apple vinegar, and fresh-pressed salad oils go into Mrs. Filbert's.

You won't find these costly extras in ordinary mayonnaise. They're what make the different flavor developed by the Filbert family. That is why you'll like Mrs. Filbert's special recipe Mayonnaise.

Watch Posture While Doing Housework

Using your body correctly helps you to get your work done more efficiently. Industrial engineers and others have found this to be true in the factory as well as in the home, says Myrtle Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent.

Good posture in housework will help you to —
1. Eliminate fatigue.
2. Improve your looks.
3. Get rid of nervous tensions and irritability.
4. You can attain good posture in housework by —
1. Using your body correctly.
2. Having the correct working heights.
3. Using the correct tool.
4. Eating foods that build health muscle.

If when doing housework, you use your body correctly and take a few minutes to rest from time to time, you will be less tired. The United States Army has discovered by repeated tests that men can march better and hold up longer if they throw down their packs and rest ten minutes out of every hour. So the Army forces them to do just that. To rest often and rest before you get tired are as important to you, a homemaker, as they are to a soldier.

A social hour was enjoyed, during which refreshments were served to Mrs. Huntley, Mrs. Grantham, Mrs. Perry L. Stone, Mrs. Blanche Kuhn, Mrs. W. P. Yealey, and Miss Florence Bishop. Mrs. Kuhl has recently returned from West Virginia and was welcomed as a new circle member.

Roundup Of This Week's Good, Bad News On International Sheet

By CHARLES W. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

conference on cold war issues provided that Soviet leaders could convince him they were ready to negotiate in good faith.
Eisenhower made his proposals in reply to a letter which Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin had sent him last Dec. 10.
He called on Russia to help restore confidence by carrying out the promise it made at the 1955 summit meeting, in July, 1955, that Germany should be reunified through free elections.

As regards the new summit meeting which Russia has long sought, the President said it would be useful only if careful preparation gave promise of success.
First, he said, there must be exchanges through diplomatic channels. Then negotiations could be taken to the level of the foreign ministers of the countries concerned. Finally, if these negotiations proved fruitful, there would be the "summit" meeting.
To strengthen the position of the United States either as a cold war opponent of Russia or in negotiations with it, Eisenhower submitted to Congress a budget of $1,800,000,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Of this, $38,779,000,000 was earmarked for defense. Defense estimates called for big increases in spending in the nuclear missile field and for reductions in troop strength and conventional weapons.

French Premier Felix Gaillard, who took office last Nov. 5 as his country's 54th post-war premier, faced a series of votes of confidence in the National Assembly, the controlling house of parliament, at the new session.
The 1956 budget, a plan for home rule for Algeria and a proposal for constitutional reform which would make it harder for the Assembly to overthrow a government, were the chief issues. A defeat on any of them would mean Gaillard's resignation.
A government report issued in Washington estimated that countries of the Soviet bloc had promised loans and grants to free countries totaling $1,900,000,000 in the last 24 years.

The aid program, part of the attempt to infiltrate free countries, was extended to 11 countries — Afghanistan, Burma, Cambodia, Ceylon, India, Indonesia, Nepal, Egypt, Syria, Iceland and Yugoslavia.
The Soviet Russian defense ministry announced the appointment of Col. Gen. Filip I. Golikov as chief of the "main political administration" of the armed forces. Golikov succeeds Col. Gen. Alexei S. Zheleznov. Zheleznov's apparent dismissal, and Golikov's appointment, were not explained. But apparently they marked a new step in the campaign of Communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchev to strengthen party control over the armed forces.

Damage Toll High But No Injuries In Two Accidents

Two accidents in Sanford took a terrific toll in property damage. However, there were no injuries in either collision. One accident involved running a red light and the other leaving the scene of an accident.
At First St. and French Ave. Marilyn Steverson, 18-year-old high school student, skidded 60 feet attempting to stop as he ran a red light. A car driven by Miss Mary George collided with Steverson's car in the center of the stop-light intersection.
Damage to Miss George's car was estimated at $450 and the 1950 Ford driven by Steverson was a total loss. The accident occurred shortly after 7 o'clock.
A 1947 Oldsmobile, driven by Zak Pin and parked on Southwest Road near 13th St. was a total loss when it was struck from the rear by a car driven by Ruby Dixon, 22-year-old Negro of 10th St. and Jessamine Ave.
Damage to the Negro girl's car was estimated at $350.
Captain Arnold Williams of the Sanford Police Department, investigating both accidents, said Ruby Dixon would be charged with reckless driving, no driver's license, and leaving the scene of an accident.
He said that charges against Marilyn Steverson would be running a red light.
Property damage in the two accidents totaled $1,000.

Navy Elects Queen For High Fever Follies Contest

By VIRGINIA COHN
741 votes were cast by Navy men and their wives Wednesday when the Sanford Naval Air Station elected a Navy Queen to participate in the High Fever Follies. The Follies will be presented by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Seminole Memorial Hospital Feb. 13, 14, and 15 at Seminole High School.
Name of the Navy Queen will be revealed Jan. 27 at the Talent Party which will be held at the Mayfair Inn. The Navy Queen, who was required to be the wife of a Navy man, will take her place with contestants from outlying towns and Sanford Civic Clubs.
Voting will be done by putting pennies in a jar on a voting board which will be placed on the corner of Park and First St. in front of Roumiltz and Anderson's Drug Store.

Jaycee Week To Be Observed Jan. 19-26

The Sanford-Seminole County Chamber of Commerce clubs throughout the State will be holding special programs throughout the week to honor distinguished citizens, outstanding young farmers, and outstanding young men from their own ranks. Most clubs will kick off the week with "Go To Church Sunday" followed by special banquets and projects such as community improvements, safety programs, youth activities, and public health projects.
This nation-wide birthday of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce commences with the Ten Outstanding Young Men Congress, being held this year on Jan. 17-18 in Phoenix, Ariz.
"The occasion of our thirty eighth birthday," observed President Silver, "should be one for us to look back over our fine civic record, not to bask in glory, but to push on with renewed spirit and vigor towards still higher goals in our efforts to improve ourselves as citizens and the communities, State, and nation in which we live."

Benson Urges Prompt Approval Of Farm Plan

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson today asked Congress for prompt approval of the administration's plans to reduce the farmer's dependence on government.
He said he must be given "administrative discretion" to reduce price supports on basic crops.

The secretary launched his fight for the program before the Senate Agriculture Committee. The committee's chairman, Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.), already has said the program has "absolutely no chance" of congressional approval.

Old Biscuits
Congressional farm leaders have attacked the one-day-old program variously as "old biscuits hardly warmed up" and "the same old poison."

Demos Seek Speed Up In Nuclear Development

WASHINGTON (UP)—Democrats today shipped hard at the administration to get moving on a nuclear-powered space ship in the race to the moon and planets.

They also slammed an apparent case-up by President Eisenhower and officials toward swift reorganization of the Pentagon.

The move was led by Rep. Carl T. Durham (D-N.C.), committee chairman, Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) and Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) and Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.) as two Convair officials said the Air Force was considering a long-range outer space program. They said it was designed to put a manned satellite in orbit in five or six years and later send an atomic-powered rocket to Mars.

Proposed Moon Landing
They told the Senate preparedness subcommittee Thursday the program also called for a landing on the moon. They said the decision on a "go-ahead" was expected this month if the administration decided to okay it.

Mystery, Money To Be Featured At Event Monday

Mystery and money will feature the program to be presented at the meeting Monday night at the DeBarry Civic Center when members of the Woman's Club entertain their men-folks. A pot roast supper with all the "accessories" will be served at 6:30 o'clock, to be followed by a program of entertainment staged by Charlie Morrison, well-known Sanford "good-will ambassador."
Ernest Southward of the Southward Fruit Co. will give a demonstration of extra sensory perception during which, while blindfolded, he will endeavor to identify items held in the hands of members of the audience. Southward guarantees that he employs no confederates or "stoooges" or assistants of any kind. According to many who have witnessed his performance at the Sanford Junior High School and the Congregational Christian Church, it is most mystifying, since he claims no supernatural powers.
Community singing, always a popular feature with DeBarry folks, will be led by Morrison to be followed by a silver dollar quiz, during which shiny silver dollars ofered by the Florida State Bank will be awarded to the prize-winning contestants Robert "Bob" Carnie, owner of the Sanford Furniture Co. will act as piano accompanist for the occasion.
