Wide receiver saves the day

SANFORD — This player of the week caught five passes for 121 yards, threw a seven yard touchdown pass, ran the ball twice for eight yards and punted four times for a 37-yard average as Seminole High School senior wide receiver Henry Williams brought the Fighting Seminoles from behind to defeat the Lyman Greyhounds 36-20 last Friday night. ##### Justices discretion questioned

TALLAHASSEE — The seven Supreme Court justices have gleaned $4,915 from the "discretionary fund" to fly first-class, and their employees have joined softball and basketball leagues at taxpayer expense using the $5,000-a-year allotment. See Page 3A

Cruise deemed success

SANFORD — Sunday's annual fundraising cruise on the St. Johns River sponsored by the St. Lucia Festival and Sanford Historical Downtown Waterfront Association was termed a huge success by Chris Cranias, vice president of the association.

A record 380 persons from all over Central Florida turned out for the cruise aboard the Grand Romance riverboat Sunday evening, almost 150 more than last year.

"We're estimating that we made about $5,200 this year," Cranias said. "Half will go to the St. Lucia Festival fund, and the other half will go to us."

The Sanford Historical Downtown Waterfront association plans to use its portion of the profits to purchase holiday decorations and lights for the downtown area.

Hussein labeled a crude dude

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — Motorists along I-196 just west of Grand Rapids have been confronted with a startling sight lately: a huge billboard depicting Iraqi President Saddam Hussein.

On either side of Saddam's familiar face are the words "Crude Dude." And just to make sure the pun is clear, thick, black liquid that looks like oil seems to drip from the word "Crude."

The billboard is the latest work of Mark Heckman, a 27-year-old Grand Rapids artist.

Later this week, with television crews in tow, Heckman will have the Saddam poster removed and laid on the ground. Then, flying overhead in a helicopter, he'll drop balloons filled with red, white and blue paint on the picture. He then plans to re-post the besmirched billboard for all to see.

Without the aid of a single government grant, he has created 17 billboard posters in the past eight years. One of his favorites featured 2,001 painted condoms glued to a billboard also bearing the word "AIDS."

Out with the convent look

HUNTINGTON, Ind. — Physical beauty — even with some help — is no sin, according to Sister Beatrice Lorenz, whose new calling after 50 years visiting the sick and teaching religion is cosmetology.

The Roman Catholic nun last month finished two years of training at the Trend School of Beauty in Riverton, Wyo., and now plans to cut, wash and style hair at the Our Lady of Victory Missionary Sisters convent in Huntington. Her clientele will include retired nuns, the convent's administrators and visitors.

Born in Minneapolis, Sister Bea entered the Indiana mission in 1940 and served in many states.

She said she would continue "primarily in a life of prayer," but believes her new skills fit her life's dedication, because, "if people look good, they feel good."

SANFORD — The post of Seminole County Sheriff John Polk, who is suffering from complications related to double heart bypass surgery in November, is the center of a rumor mill fed by lawmen who want to be sheriff.

Polk, 58, who has just returned home following his latest hospitalization, has not indicated he intends to step aside before completing his sixth four-year term.

Nevertheless, his illness and the controversy over whether he will return to duty is creating uncertainty within the department. Some of Polk's top staff, in appointed positions, including captains who

Former city commissioner back in jail

By SUSAN LOREN

LAKE MARY — Former Lake Mary City Commissioner Colin Robert Keogh, 34, of Maitland, is back in the Seminole County jail, accused of violation of probation for theft of funds.

Keogh allegedly was in violation of his five-years probation June 29 when he was arrested in Orange County for assignment to commit prostitution. He was arrested in an Orange County sheriff's sting after being accused of trying to buy sexual favors from a police decoy posing as a prostitute, arrest records show. A violation of probation warrant was issued for Keogh by Circuit Judge Robert McGregor Sept. 11.

Keogh is also accused of violating probation by failing to repay more than $2,000 to the Lake Mary Cemetery Association. Keogh was convicted of grand theft of funds from that group and served one year in the Seminole County jail for that crime in 1986. He was also ordered to repay $21,628 to the association as part of his punishment.

The warrant said Keogh hasn't made a payment of $451 per month since August of this year.

He was arrested at home by Seminole County sheriff's deputy Bruce Bowden at about 6 a.m. Monday and jailed without bond.

Keogh was a one-term city commissioner who served Lake Mary in 1984 and 1985.

He entered a no contest plea to the grand theft charge in connection with the cemetery case.

SANFORD — Helen Greenspun, of Longwood, who lived through terrible persecution as a young Polish Jew in German concentration camps during World War II, said that with God's help, she has always been a survivor.

Yesterday morning, she spoke about her experiences during that time with a group of about 100 eighth graders at Lakeview Middle School, 100 Lakeview Drive, Sanford.

Ann Sando, who teaches American history, said she and the rest of her teaching team incorporated the Holocaust into their plans.

Leffler returns to work amid angry protests

About 25 protesters yesterday marched in front of the county courthouse.

By SUSAN LOREN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — With about 25 protesters marching outside the Seminole County Courthouse Monday, Chief Circuit Judge O.H. Eaton Jr. said, "I'm through with that. That deal is over with as far as I'm concerned."

Eaton was referring to the picketer's presence to protest the return to the bench Monday of Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler, who is the center of controversy for letting a rapist go free, because of his negative personal perception of the victim in the case.

Late in the afternoon Leffler stirred more controversy by pushing away a camera of a WESH Channel 2 news crew waiting for him to exit a hearing room. Leffler later apologized to reporter Dave McDaniel and cameraman Tom Costanza, agreeing there had been a misunderstanding.

McDaniel said Leffler wasn't expecting to see the television crew, which had permission from a courthouse bailiff to wait for the judge. "It's very clear to me it was a misunderstanding," McDaniel said. "It was an honest mistake." McDaniel said he was acting as a pool reporter for several TV stations and decided not to use the footage shot during the incident. Other area stations chose to air the material, but reported the incident was a mistake.

The controversial sentence of probation for the admitted rapist that has brought a flurry of protest, was made Sept. 20, along with Leffler's negative comments about the victim. The protests of Leffler's actions include a letter from Gov. Bob Martinez demanding Leffler's resignation. Leffler,

Crawford vows consumer enforcement

TALLAHASSEE — Senate President Bob Crawford promised tough enforcement Monday of a new product safety law that lets the state force a recall of hazardous consumer goods.

The Democratic nominee for agriculture commissioner set up a line of infant products for a news conference in front of the office he is seeking. Crawford said federal rules for recalling unsafe car seats, cribs and other child products operate too slowly and can only be triggered by a consumer complaint.

Under a new state law, Crawford said, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services will be able to initiate complaints. If elected, Crawford said he would take manufacturers to court to stop the sale of defective consumer products.

Crawford said the new law requires all court records on hazardous-product suits to be open to the public. Previously, he said, court settlements have often sealed records and forbidden both sides to disclose details of a product defect.

Nuclear plant employees used drugs

CRYSTAL RIVER — Six employees at Florida Power Corp.'s nuclear power plant tested positive for drug or alcohol use during the first six months of random testing, federal records show.

Two employees who tested positive for marijuana were fired, while the four who exceeded the .04 percent blood-alcohol guideline were suspended without pay for the rest of the day, said Mark Jacobs, spokesman for the utility headquartered in St. Petersburg.

Of those who tested positive, four were employed by contractors, including one of the marijuana users, he said. The drug-testing program is mandated by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

The six were among 985 Florida Power employees and contract workers who were randomly selected for testing from Jan. 3 to June 30, he said.

None of the workers who failed the drug or alcohol test operated the nuclear power generator, Jacobs said. The six people were laborers or administrative workers.

Ban on grouper postponed

ST. PETERSBURG — A plan to ban commercial grouper fishing in the Gulf of Mexico beginning in October has been scuttled at least for another month, a marine official said Monday.

The ban will not take effect until commercial fishers have reached the 9.2-million-pound quota for shallow-water grouper established this year, said Robert Sadler, fishery management specialist with the National Marine Fisheries Service in St. Petersburg.

Bans on commercial fishing are also planned for deep-water grouper and red snapper once they reach their quotas of 1.8-million and 9.1-million pounds respectively, he said.

Officials have not ruled out a ban starting Nov. 1 on commercial shallow-water grouper fishing, Sadler said. Commercial fishing for red snapper and deep-water grouper also might take effect in December.

Any fishing bans would be lifted at the end of the year, and would not affect recreational or sport fishing, he said.

State gets grant to insure needy

TALLAHASSEE — Florida has received a $7 million federal grant to provide free or low-cost health insurance to more than 4,700 needy children.

The state departments of Insurance and Health and Rehabilitative Services are promoting the pilot program in cooperation with Healthy Kids Corp., which was established by the 1980 Legislature to provide health care to poor children.

Using the federal grant, private donations and state appropriations, they will establish a demonstration project to subsidize health insurance premiums for school children whose family income is below 185 percent of the federal poverty level.

Children in the pilot program will receive regular health checkups, tests and immunizations. The income levels used to determine eligibility will be the same as those used in the national school lunch program. Children who receive free lunches would be eligible for the free insurance.

Escaped convict acquitted of rape

BRADENTON — Escaped convict Gilbert Stevens Diamond, who claimed the woman whose home he broke into had sex willingly, was found guilty of burglary but was acquitted of rape.

The jury found Diamond, 31, guilty of only a misdemeanor assault charge and acquitted him of three counts of armed sexual battery Monday. Diamond also was convicted of armed burglary and escape.

His lawyer had argued that the 48-year-old woman was living out a sexual fantasy and consented to have sex with Diamond after he entered her unlocked Bradenton home in the early morning hours of Dec. 17.

Justices, employees enjoy perks

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Supreme Court justices have flown first class, and their employees have joined softball and basketball leagues at taxpayer expense using a $5,000-a-year "discretionary fund," a published report said Monday.

The seven justices gleaned $4,915 from the fund from July 1989 to June 1990. So far this year they've spent $3,327. The Tampa Tribune reported.

The discretionary fund, which is similar to the governor's $30,000 fund, has been replenished every year since its creation a decade ago to send justices to out-of-state conferences. It is part of the court's $10 million budget.

Some court expenditures, such as the softball and basketball fees, have been questioned by the office of Comptroller Gerald Lewis, whose spokesman said they appear unrelated to the court's official duties.

"Frankly, there are expenditures we would probably object to if we had a chance," spokesman Terry McElroy said. The comptroller lost power to regulate judicial spending last October, when he lost a court case over a Lakeland judge's furniture purchases.

Almost all of the Supreme Court discretionary spending in the last year was approved when Raymond Ehrlich was chief justice.

Ehrlich, who is retiring in January, was succeeded in the top seat in July by Leander Shaw. However, $3,225 spent last month was approved in advance by Ehrlich to outfit a court cafeteria.

Martinez says advertising isn't negative

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Bob Martinez said Monday his reelection advertising — including a radio spot accusing Buddy Mackay of saying that creationists "would believe the earth is flat" — is an accurate presentation of issues, rather than negative attacks.

The governor said his current television ads, which say Democratic nominee Lawton Chiles voted for congressional pay raises while trying to limit Social Security cost of living adjustments, are also accurate.

Martinez said "there is nothing negative" about presenting carefully selected portions of an opponent's voting record and leaving out other parts, provided the parts presented are true.

In his own TV ads, Chiles currently features several newspaper editorials criticizing Martinez for distorting the former U.S. Senator's record on taxation, federal spending and Social Security. The Chiles ad warns viewers not to be misled by "negative" tactics.

Longwood unveils $3.2 million city hall complex for resident perusal

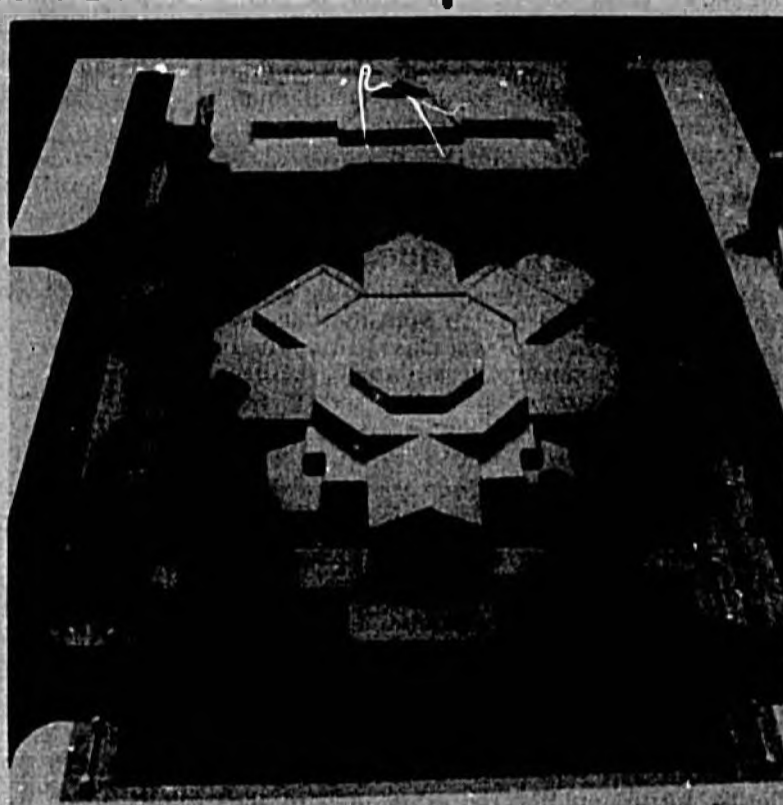

By NICK PEPINIAU
Herald staff writer

LONGWOOD — City officials were shown what the proposed $3.2 million government complex might look like last night, following the receipt of a table-top model of the new city hall and community building.

"This isn't necessarily what it will end up to be," said Mike Abels, city administrator. "It's a starting point from where we'll be able to expand and come up with the final plans."

The overall proposal involves three structures: the city hall, the community building and the fire station. The architectural designs of all three will be in keeping with the historical aspects of their locations within the downtown redevelopment area.

The $1,977 million city hall is depicted as having two stories, with a rotunda in the middle. The first drawings of the structure included a dome at the top but this has already been eliminated in favor of sky lights at the top to provide daylight into the middle of the rotunda.

A model of the proposed city hall has been unveiled.

City office areas will be on both floors. "Offices and departments visited frequently by our citizens will be on the lower floor," Abels said, "and departments that don't have heavy people traffic will go on the second floor."

The city commission chambers will be large and contain comfortable and adequate seating for the growing number of citizens who attend the meetings.

Abels said the overall city hall will probably contain between 16,500 to 18,000 square feet of space.

That portion of Wilma Avenue between the present city hall and community building will be closed to vehicular traffic and be converted to a civic plaza.

The creation of the new community building is still up in the air. "The city may have a developer build it and lease it to us," Abels said, "or we may build it and lease spaces in it."

The community building will also be a two-story structure, but the exact utilization of the 7,500 square feet of floor space remains to be decided, Abels said. "Right now, we're looking at having our recreation complex in the upper floor and leasing out the lower level for retail shops, the kind that we might call boutiques."

The community building will also have a covered parking area on the lower level.

The design for the $340,000 fire station alterations would provide firemen with a much larger facility while retaining the historical atmosphere of the overall building.

"We have our work cut out for us," Abels said. "We'll be visiting a number of places including Lake Mary where they've recently built new city halls, and our Administrative Assistant Jim Coleman has put fliers out at grocery stores and other places in the city with questionnaires regarding what people would like to have in our community building."

Two town meetings have been set for Tuesday, Oct. 16 and Wednesday Oct. 24 at the city commission chambers at city hall.

Malfunction didn't cause escalator deaths, police say

United Press International

MIAMI — An escalator accident that killed one woman and injured five other elderly Cubans at Miami International Airport was not the result of a mechanical problem, police said Monday.

"They pretty much have decided that nothing was wrong with the escalator. It has been classified as an accidental death," said Metro-Dade Police Detective George Reyes.

The accident occurred Sunday as a senior citizens arriving from Cuba rushed up the crowded escalator to meet relatives. Police said someone fell, starting a chain reaction.

"It basically caused them to go down like dominoes," said Metro Police Lt. Bernardo Bestard.

Several people were trampled as they attempted to escape.

Bartola Agripina Acosta-Pereda, 75, was crushed to death and died at the scene. A medical examiner's report by Dr. Arthur Copeland listed the cause of death Monday as "multiple injuries."

Most of her injuries appeared to be caused when other passengers fell on her. It was unclear which passenger started the chain reaction or what caused the fall, said Metro-Dade detective Ralph Fernandez said.

The five injured passengers were treated at Jackson Memorial Hospital. They included Acosta-Pereda's husband, Juan Romero, 87, who suffered a broken ankle.

The passengers had just arrived from Havana aboard an Eastern Airlines plane chartered by ABC Tours. About 400 relatives, many of whom had not seen their family members in decades, were waiting with cameras and video recorders.

Navigation satellite placed in orbit

United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL — A $30 million Delta 2 rocket successfully boosted an ultra-precise $65 million military navigation satellite into orbit Monday, the ninth in a global network that is proving especially useful in the Persian Gulf.

The 126-foot, blue-and-white Delta 2 rocket roared to life with a burst of flame at 5:56 p.m. EDT and smoothly lifted off from launch pad 17 at the Cape Canaveral Air Force Station, thrilling thousands of area commuters and tourists who lined local beaches and highways to watch the fiery ascent.

"It's beautiful, really beautiful!" said Jan Pokol, watching the launch from a beachfront boardwalk in Cocoa Beach.

Kalle Hartsock (l), 8, and Michael Hartsock, 9, use binoculars to watch for the Delta 2 rocket launch from their 2018 Elizabeth Court home in Sanford. They are the children of Steve and Lori Hartsock.

Suspect accused in attacks

SANFORD — A man, who allegedly hit a woman in the head with a beer bottle and kicked and robbed a man who came to her aid, has been arrested by Sanford police.

Virgil Keith Heas, 28, 91 Master's Cove, Sanford, was arrested at home at 12:55 a.m. Monday, following the 12:23 a.m. incident in the parking lot of the 7-Eleven, 1201 S. Park Ave.

Police said Heas allegedly threw a bottle of beer and hit Erika Powonaki, 19, in the head. She suffered a cut and Donald A. Ernst, 22, tried to intervene. Ernst told police he was kicked in the head by Heas several times and robbed of $300. Heas is charged with aggravated battery, battery and robbery.

Accident spurs fight

LAKE MARY — A man who allegedly grabbed the driver of another car after both subjects' vehicles were in an accident on Interstate 4, Lake Mary, has been arrested by Lake Mary police.

Deputy promotions announced

SANFORD — Four Seminole County sheriff's deputies have been promoted to the rank of sergeant. The deputies are Willie Chandler, James Gibson, David Smith and Larry Zumbrum.

All except Gibson will be assigned as a third sergeant on patrol shifts, upping the number of sergeants from two per shift. Gibson is assigned to the City County Investigative Bureau.

School Resource Officer Sgt. Dale Wagner now has only administrative duties, with deputy Brent Davison taking Wagner's former SRO assignment at Lake Brantley High School. Deputy Brian Marcum has been assigned from patrol to take Davison's place as SRO at Teague Middle School.

Longwood approves police, fire union salary contract

By MIKE PFEIFFER
Herald staff writer

LONGWOOD — The city commission last night adjusted the salary ranges for Longwood police officers, sergeants and lieutenants, in order to bring them into alignment with salaries paid to city firefighters.

The move was part of the city's ratification of a contract with the International Union of Operating Engineers and International Association of Fire Fighters.

In presenting the 100-page ratification document to the commission, City Administrator Mike Abels said it was "the result of two month's work between the city and representatives of the two organizations." He said it was an excellent document and that both the union and association were pleased with its contents.

Although a 5 percent cap is placed on annual salary range adjustments the ranges can be adjusted on an annual basis.

SANFORD — Martha Yancey, who has served as chairman of the city Scenic Improvement Board for the past four years, said she will resign from that post, at the conclusion of this Wednesday's board meeting.

Yancey, who is running for Sanford city commissioner, District 3, said, "I'm going to drop all of my connections so I can devote the entire time to my campaign."

As for the leadership of the SIB, she said she had been on the board for 15 years and had chaired the organization for the past four. "There are a lot of people who might have some fresh new ideas, and I definitely want the organization to benefit from that."

Before she officially announces the resignation, however, Yancey will preside over the regular meeting of the SIB, which will discuss a number of area beautification and improvement projects.

"We have received the Victorian-type street lights that will be put up in Park on Park," she said. "They've been rewired and painted, and I've learned from (city Parks Director) Jim Jernigan that we can expect to see them put up within a week or so."

There is also a matter of moving 10 crape myrtle trees from the downtown area to make room for the planting of 20 oak trees. "Tony Rusni has raised the money to put the oak trees downtown," Yancey said, "and we'll be moving the crape myrtles out." Most of them will end up being re-planted near the Sanford Civic Center during a $7,800 landscaping project that will also be discussed at Wednesday's meeting.

One final concept she is excited about involves a Yellow Ribbon Society project, which will involve the placement of possibly 1,000 yellow ribbons around the city in honor of U.S. forces serving in the Persian Gulf area.

Your paycheck doesn't do this.

Why should your electric bill?

It's tough to budget for your electric bill when it fluctuates from one month to the next.

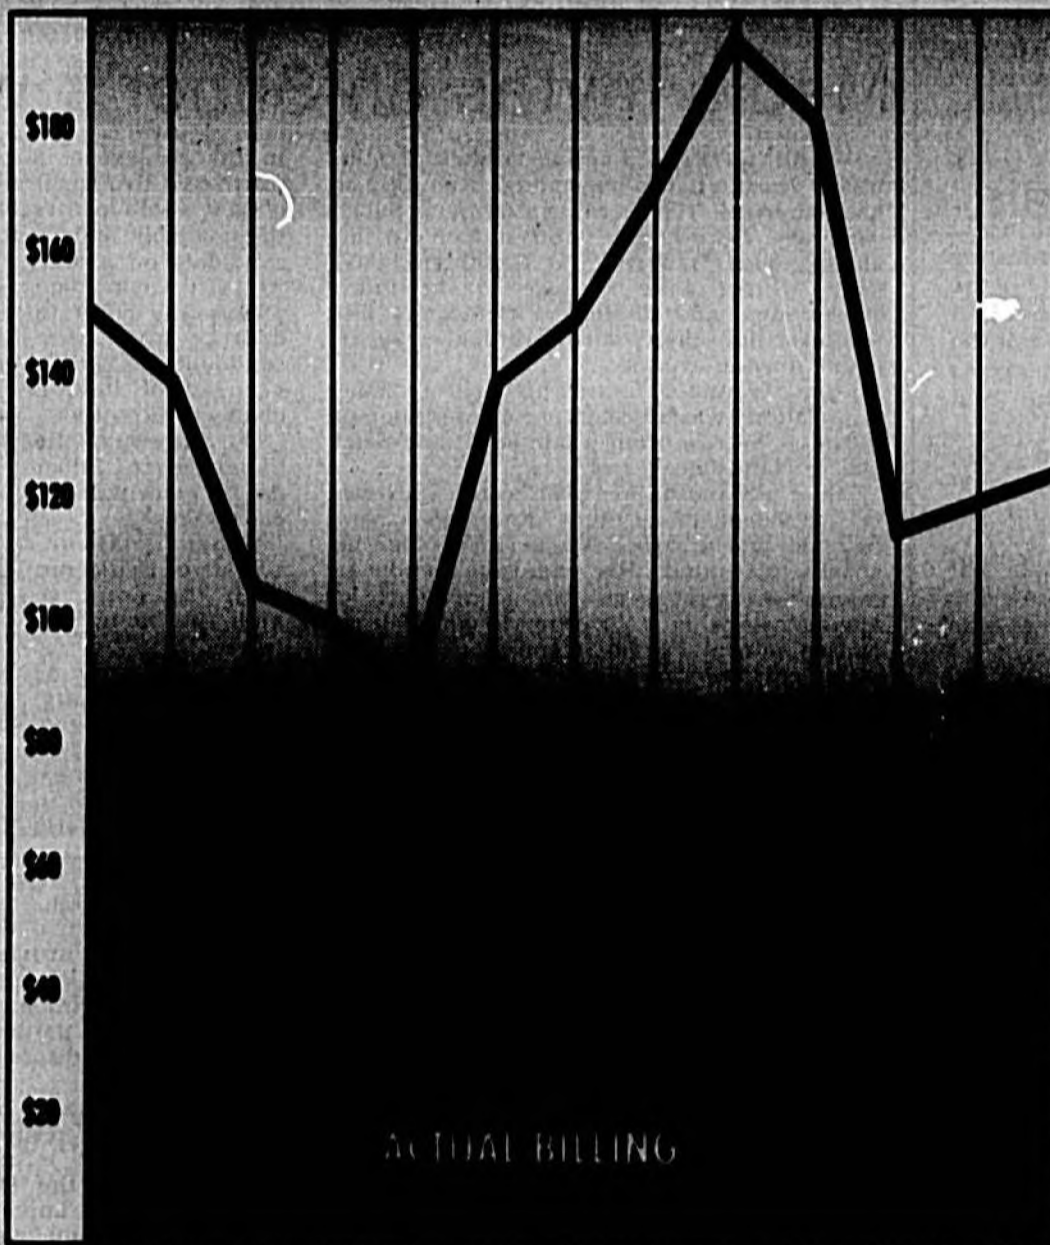

Up in summer and winter, due to increased air conditioning and heating usage. Down again in spring and fall.

Up, down, up, down. If only it could be more predictable. Well, FPL has created an optional billing plan to level out those peaks and valleys, and you can find out about it in your October FPL bill.

It's called "Budget Billing" and it's a sensible alternative that allows you to pay roughly the same amount for energy costs each month.

With Budget Billing you end up paying a little less during peak periods, and a little more during off-peak months.

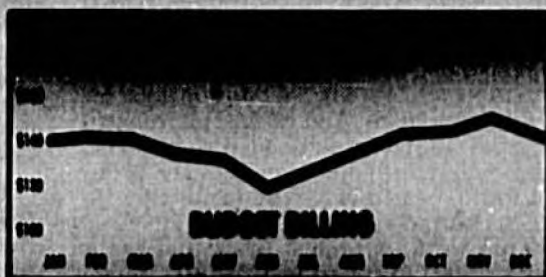

But over the course of the year, your total energy costs remain the same.

To get a detailed explanation of what Budget Billing can mean to you, and to see if you qualify, take a look at the special insert included with your October bill.

Signing up is easy. Just pay the "Budget Billing Amount" on your October bill and you'll be enrolled automatically. While Budget Billing can't help you conserve energy, it can make your electric bill as predictable as your paycheck.

predictable as your paycheck.

Israeli spy agent's book raises issues

There are two extremely repugnant aspects of the controversy over a new book that discloses activities of the Israeli intelligence service, the Mossad. The first is the reasoning behind a judge's order that temporarily blocked U.S. publication of the book; the second is the nature of the disclosures themselves.

According to the book, written by a former Mossad agent, Israel had information about terrorist plans to use a Mercedes truck for an attack in Lebanon before such a truck was used in a 1983 bombing that killed 241 U.S. Marines and sailors at the Beirut airport. But Israel gave only "vague" warnings to the Americans because it wanted to damage U.S. relations with Arab countries, the book says. It also says the Mossad spied on Americans, even members of Congress.

Israel sought to prevent the book's publication, claiming that it would risk Israeli lives. Initially, a New York judge agreed. But he did so on the basis of an unsupported assertion. In a free society, the constitutional right of free expression is vital; it must not be denied on the basis of a mere claim that someone might be harmed. Such assertions must be proved by facts and weighed against the harm that court-imposed censorship inflicts on the flow of information. Fortunately, an appeals court recognized those obvious truths and promptly lifted the lower court's ruling.

Significantly, neither the Israeli embassy in Washington nor court papers filed by Israel denied the authenticity of the claims in the book.

The book's disclosures are both provocative and sad. One expects an adversary to snoop on Americans. For Israel to do so is not only an unfriendly act, but an ungrateful one. It is particularly appalling when the targets of such covert action are those who give Israel billions of aid dollars every year.

If the book's allegations are true, then Israel did something even worse when it failed to give a timely warning of a terrorist attack: it put American lives in danger. Israel is entitled to an espionage agency, and is entitled to a secure existence. But it cannot spy on Americans and risk their lives while claiming to be a reliable ally.

South will rise again

When the International Olympic Committee announced which city would be host to the 1996 summer Olympic Games, cheers went up in Athens, Athens, Georgia, that is, not the Athens that invented this venerable sports tradition in 776 B.C. and held the first modern games in 1896.

Alas for the Greeks, the presumed front-runners, Atlanta, an upstart American city, came from behind and beat Athens for the right to hold the 1996 Olympics.

The response from Greece, which felt Athens was the obvious place to celebrate the centennial of the modern Olympics was anything but sportsmanlike.

"We have sent the torch away 25 times in 100 years," fumed Greek Prime Minister Constantine Mitsotakis. "We were only asking for it once."

In today's sports world, history and tradition can take a back seat to good p.r.

Atlanta's steamy, sweltering summer weather probably won't be a winner with some competitors. But they don't get to choose Olympic cities. The Olympic Committee does. Like a fine athlete, Atlanta knew how to hustle, how to outpace other contenders and dazzle committee members.

The Olympic flame will burn in the United States again in 1996, for only the fourth time this century. American sports lovers have Atlanta to thank.

Liberals split on the Middle East

Amid all the merriment about the sharp division among conservatives over American policy in the Middle East, let's pause for a moment to note that the left is every bit as sharply divided as the right. For left-liberals of course, the paradigmatic war, against which all others are to be measured and which they must, if possible, be sculpted to resemble, is Vietnam.

A war for obscure and, if possible, discreditable objectives, waged in a distant and unfamiliar part of the globe, inspiring (with the media's crucial help) growing popular resistance here at home, and culminating in a withdrawal that can be hailed as a "defeat" for the United States, is the left's idea of a really peachy war. So when George Bush responded to Saddam Hussein's occupation of Kuwait by sending large American military contingents to the Middle East to defend Saudi Arabia and blockade Iraq into disorganizing its conquest, a good many American left-liberals got their Vietnam protest clothes out of the closet and began practicing clenched-fist salutes before the mirror for the benefit of the TV cameras they were sure would soon be focusing on them again.

The Nation magazine promptly denounced Mr. Bush's policy. Ramsey Clark announced the formation of a broad coalition of the usual suspects to resist it. Retired grand marshals of 1970s protest parades began dreaming of the marches they would soon be leading on Washington. But a funny thing happened on the way to the protest rally. What might be called "the establishment liberals" — the less extreme liberals, who eventually allowed themselves to be coopted by the Vietnam protesters, and whose support was instrumental in bringing about the debacle that ultimately occurred — aren't signing on this time.

Circumstances, you see, alter cases. To many left-liberals, the differences may seem trivial. But to anyone not simply dedicated to humiliating and defeating the United States in any military confrontation in any quarter of the globe, the Middle East is a far different kettle of fish than Vietnam. For one thing, as already discussed in this space, Middle Eastern oil is absolutely indispensable to the economies of Japan and Western Europe. Its monopolization by a fanatic Arab dictator, to be used for his own unpredictable ends, would be a geopolitical disaster of the first magnitude. For another, dominance of the Middle East by Saddam Hussein would almost certainly force Israel to wage a desperate war for its own survival. And while this would be undecidable enough in its own right, probably entailing the use of Israel's nuclear arsenal, the very possibility of such a struggle sharply modifies the attitude of many American liberals toward events in the Middle East.

In the first place, American Jewish support for the survival of Israel is a political fact of the very first importance. In the second, the major American media may be willing to criticize Israel sharply when they believe it is wrong (as in its 1982 invasion of southern Lebanon), but they will be its staunchest friends when its very survival is at stake. The U.S. deployment in Saudi Arabia directly serves Israel's highest strategic purposes, foreshadowing as it does the probable destruction of Israel's worst enemy.

Media myths on Silber's wounds

WASHINGTON — Journalists often are the last to learn what is happening, even after it has happened. The morning after John Silber won the Democratic nomination to be Massachusetts' governor, the Washington Post said, "Silber gave a voice to the more conservative and disaffected Democrats but wounded himself repeatedly through a series of intemperate remarks...."

Right. Wounded himself to victory. "Self-immolation" was a Boston press description of Silber as he rose from a late start, and died last, to a landslide victory.

Silber, 63 and on leave as Boston University's president, has a mind full of sandpaper opinions and a barbed tongue with which he speaks his mind. His campaign produced many "Silber shockers," statements (such as Massachusetts is a "welfare magnet") that caused pursed lips in liberal circles. These statements also caused a lot of voting levers to be pulled by people who don't know that their opinions are shocking (and "intemperate").

The most interesting "shocker" was his advocacy of genocide, his call for the elderly to get on with dying so government can get on with balancing the budget. Of course he said no such thing, but a lot of people had fun pretending he did.

During a discussion of health-care financing and terminal illness Silber said, "Shakespeare was right when he said 'Ripeness is all.' When you've had a long life and you're ripe, then it's time to go." His quotation from "King Lear" occurred in the context of basic life issues:

In Massachusetts $380,000 or more may be spent on futile medical procedures for someone terminally ill, yet there is insufficient money for detoxification of pregnant women addicted to cocaine or alcohol. (The public cost per affected child: more than $600,000, before kindergarten.) Four children are contracting polio, whooping cough and measles because there is not enough money for inoculations.

Perhaps, said Silber, society's resources are not being allocated properly, particularly because the low-income elderly might use less of society's finite resources devoted to heroic measures for the terminally ill and more to eyeglasses, hearing aids, dentures and prescription drugs. Silber's opponent said: "Silber wants to ration health care for the elderly."

Silber responded that medical care is always rationed, to some extent, by limitations on resources and by price. And when children are dying of preventable childhood diseases two miles from where millions of dollars are being spent on futile measures for the terminally ill, that, too, is a form of rationing.

Silber's problem, if such it is, is that he, a former professor of philosophy, has the habits of a professor. "Typically, I put forward a statement for examination and then develop evidence and argument toward a conclusion.

In the context of a political campaign, I've discovered that the first thing one says — and often it is said to attract attention — is taken as the sound bite and the definitive position of the candidate on a subject. If the candidate makes any effort to enlarge upon that sound bite, he is then accused of having changed his position.

By the way, the "intemperate" Silber got 55 percent of the elderly vote.

Silber is a conservative Democrat. Both the adjective and the noun are correct.

As a Democrat he believes in strong, interventionist government. In the context of the enveloping urban crisis, he particularly favors early intervention in the lives of poor children.

As a conservative he is offended by the policies and vanities that have made Massachusetts a byword for mismanagement. And the intervention he favors — as with public education, particularly for the poor — is a conservative's response to the breakdown of civility and order.

But the importance of his candidacy is not just that he is resuscitating an honorable persuasion that is no longer adequately represented in the Democratic Party. His candidacy also is important in vindicating the practicality of campaigning with edge, bite and mind.

The effort to enforce boldness in general, and especially liberal consensus in particular, achieved its greatest success with the Senate's rejection of Robert Berk, a former professor with temperamental as well as ideological similarities to Silber. The recent confirmation hearings for Judge Souter were instructive about the consequences of blandification. Souter, a complex and intellectually subtle man, strove to seem less so than he is, in order that he more closely resemble the members of the Judiciary Committee. Very prudent.

The uncomprehending media are convinced that Silber was "wounded" by the attributes that helped him win. The media probably are unaware that they are making an ideological pronouncement when they describe Silber's (and, it seems the voters') ideas as "intemperate."

Silber has a mind full of sandpaper opinions.

Noriega trial could reveal U.S. secrets

WASHINGTON — Prosecutors in the drug trial of former Panamanian dictator Manuel Noriega are lining up potential witnesses to testify against him. Their testimony could leave the public gaping in disbelief about what Noriega allegedly got away with while under the protective wing of the United States government.

But what you won't hear during the trial is even worse. Sources in Panama tell us that the prosecution is being very picky about who it puts on the witness stand. Our associate Dean Boyd has learned that many potential witnesses with intimate knowledge of the dictator's dirty work are not on the list to testify. Their stories could embarrass the United States and shed light on intelligence operations that the government would rather keep in the dark.

For example, don't look for Maj. Felipe Camargo on the stand. He was a ranking member of Noriega's intelligence force and today is in jail in Panama awaiting trial on 18 counts of brutality. A former schoolmate of Camargo's told us that several months ago an intermediary for Camargo asked him to put Camargo in touch with U.S. authorities.

Evidently Camargo hoped to cut a deal to testify against Noriega in return for a lighter sentence for himself, although plea-bargaining is not allowed in Panama. Camargo is one of the few people in Panama who could talk about one of the key assertions in the Noriega case — that Cuban leader Fidel Castro mediated a drug dispute between Noriega and the Medellin drug cartel of Colombia in 1984.

"Noriega would be very worried if Camargo testified," a leading Panamanian journalist told us. Nevertheless, the Justice Department has given Camargo the cold shoulder. Why? Michael O'Keefe, a Miami lawyer representing a client who was indicted along with Noriega, told us that the prosecutors "won't touch anyone that smacks of intelligence." Camargo has extensive ties to Cuban intelligence and also reportedly knows about Noriega's cozy relationship with the Central Intelligence Agency. Another man who won't be called to testify against Noriega is Mike Harari, a former Israeli intelligence agent.

As a "businessman" in Panama, Harari forged ties with the CIA and probably knows more about Noriega's alleged crimes than anyone else, including information about drugs used as barter in the Nicaraguan contra re-supply operation. Harari was in Panama at the time of the U.S. invasion last December, but soon after, turned up safely in Israel. Informed sources in Panama told us that U.S. intelligence agents shipped Harari to Israel to get him out of the picture.

The Bush administration is doing everything it can to stay away from "people who know about contra drug connections," according to another Miami lawyer, John Mattes. Mattes represents a drug trafficker who has already told a Senate subcommittee some details about the contra-drug connection. Today, most of Noriega's closest officers are in jail in Panama with a wealth of information in their heads. But sources in Panama told us those officers have been given only token debriefings by U.S. authorities. Rodrigo Miranda, a former Panamanian special prosecutor, told us that several of the men could give "very explosive" testimony.

A former Drug Enforcement Administration agent agreed that there are many Panamanians with dirt on Noriega. But, he said, "The people they really don't want on the stand are the U.S. officials who knew what Noriega was up to for all these years and let it slide."

The prosecution is being very picky about who it puts on the witness stand.

WORLD BRIEFS

Gulf deal may be taking shape

UNITED NATIONS — The beginning of a possible deal to end the Persian Gulf crisis emerged in President Bush's speech to the United Nations General Assembly.

The diplomatic "pathway" — to use the latest State Department buzz word — emerged first on Aug. 12 in a speech by Saddam in which he said he would pull his forces out of Kuwait if Israeli occupation in the West Bank and Gaza and the Syrian occupation of the Bekaa Valley of Lebanon would end. Within hours, the proposal was rejected by the White House and the State Department.

But the spark of that idea emerged again last week on Sept. 24 when Mitterrand talked to the General Assembly and suggested that Saddam could emerge from this crisis as a hero if the settlement of the gulf crisis could be used to solve larger problems in the Middle East.

Markets rally on deficit pact

NEW YORK — Wall Street economists had only faint praise for the deficit-reduction deal struck by White House and congressional negotiators, but acknowledged that it was a positive prescription for ailing U.S. financial markets.

Stock and bond markets rallied on the budget deal, which pledged to cut federal spending by $500 billion over five years. Cuts in fiscal 1991 were set at $40 billion.

SOFTBALL

Mice scrap scrappers

CASSELBERRY — Oviedo's Boardroom Mice women's softball team pulled off a major win Monday night as the Mice downed one of the better teams in Florida, the Scrappers, 5-3 in Women's Class "C" League action at Red Bug Park.

The league leading Scrappers had just returned from the Class "C" National Tournament in Arizona and are a veteran team that has been good year in and year out.

The win was the Mice's third straight and pulls the team to within a half game of the league lead.

Pitcher Connie Thomas was again the story of the game as she gave up only seven hits and walked only one while not allowing an earned run for the third straight game.

She got outstanding defensive support as outfielders Kim Newton and Jackie Suggs combined for nine put outs and the trio of shortstop Theresa Walburger, second baseman Jackie Jankowiak and first baseman Stephanie Nelson turned two double plays and committed just one error in 17 chances.

A three run top of the sixth inning by the Mice proved to be the difference in the game. With two out Terri Mann, Karen Kohs, Thomas, Walburger, Mary Shelton and Suggs all had consecutive singles to score the runs.

The Mice outhit the Scrappers 15-7 as Mann led the way with a 3-for-3 night. Jankowiak, Thomas, Walburger and Suggs had two hits each. One of Jankowiak's hits was an RBI triple.

Next Monday the Boardroom Mice will play Thursday's starting at 7:30 p.m.

From staff reports

SANFORD — Winning pitcher Dave Blackwell drove in a pair of runs with a first inning single as Auto Body Centers won their fourth straight game 6-2 over the McClanahan Law Offices A's in Sanford Recreation Department Monday Night Fall Slowpitch Softball League action at Chase Park.

In the other games, Tim Raines Connection continued to pound the ball as they crushed the Buschwackers 17-1 and the Regulators won their first game of the season with an 8-4 triumph over the Wrecking Crew.

Auto Body Centers leads the league with a 4-0 record followed by TRC (3-1), the A's (2-2) and the other three teams all at 1-3.

Next week Auto Body Centers plays the Regulators at 8:30 p.m., the Wrecking Crew faces TRC at 7:30 p.m. and the A's take on the Buschwackers at 8:30 p.m.

Auto Body Centers scored all of their runs in the first two innings, two in each of the first and second innings, and then survived two bases loaded situations to stop the A's, despite being outhit 11-10.

Raines drives in five runs

United Press International

MONTREAL — Sanford's Tim Raines knocked in four of his career-high five runs with a grand slam Monday night, lifting the Montreal Expos to a 15-9 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Raines, a 1977 graduate of Seminole High, attributed his success to his return to the leadoff spot after batting third and fourth for much of the season.

"I think for my first seven seasons I proved that as a leadoff man I could drive in runs," Raines said. "The team was not able to get a power hitting left-handed bat, so consequently I was moved to third and fourth position."

"I've proven I can be one of the best leadoff men in baseball."

Tim Burke, 3-3, picked up the victory in relief. Mike Perez, 1-1, was the loser.

"What a bizarre game," Expos Manager Buck Rodgers said. "It seems like we haven't seen 15 runs altogether in the past month. It was nice to see the guys swinging the bat well like this before the season is over. Hopefully it will carry over in our final two games."

Trailing 4-0, the Expos scored seven runs in the fifth inning, sending 11 batters to the plate. Pinch hitter Mike Aldrete walked with the bases loaded to bring in a run. Raines followed with a sacrifice fly and Dave Martinez, a Lake Howell graduate, hit an RBI double. Tim Wallach went to third on an error by third baseman Todd Zeile and a throwing error by Gilkey in left field, allowing Martinez and Aldrete to score. Larry Walker brought home the seventh run with a single.

Montreal added another seven runs in their half of the seventh on RBI singles by Galarraga and Nelson Santovenia, an RBI walk to Otis Nixon and Raines' fifth career grand slam.

SANFORD HERALD PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Seminole receiver shows versatility

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald sports writer

SANFORD — Seminole High School senior wide receiver Henry Williams caught five passes for 121 yards, threw a seven yard touchdown pass, ran the ball twice for eight yards and punted four times for a 37-yard average as the Fighting Seminoles came from behind to defeat the Lyman Greyhounds 36-20 last Friday night.

For his efforts Williams has been chosen the Sanford Herald Player of the Week.

This was the second week in a row that Williams had excelled as he caught two touchdown passes and ran for another score against Titusville last week.

Last year Williams, who is also one of the best hurdlers in the state, led Seminole in rushing but has made the transition from running back to wide receiver a successful one as he has teamed up with quarterback Kerry Wiggins to become one of the most potent offensive threats in the state.

His play of late has put him into the lead in the county in reception yardage with 154 yards on eight catches. He is also second in the county in punting with a 39.2 yard per kick average.

Editor's note: Seminole's Henry Williams had an outstanding all-around performance on Friday, throwing a touchdown pass and catching five passes for 121 yards to be named this week's Sanford Herald player of the week.

Other players who were considered were:

•Oviedo's Ervin Alexander, who rushed for 94 yards, caught a pass for nine yards and scored both of his teams' touchdowns in a victory over DeLand.

•Lake Brantley's J.D. Russell, who completed 8 of 18 passes for 104 yards and one touchdown.

•Lake Mary's Chris Haney, who rushed for 83 yards and caught three passes for 10 more.

•Lyman's Cedric Boney, who rushed for 124 yards and scored two touchdowns.

•Lake Howell's Marquette Smith, who rushed for 241 yards (218 in the first half) and three touchdowns.

Henry Williams

He is just one of the reasons Seminole is ranked sixth in this week's Class 4A state poll and look to be a definite threat for post season play and possible state honors.

Seminole will play one of its toughest games this week when it travels to Titusville to take on the number eight state ranked War Eagles of Astronaut High School Friday night.

Rams rout Bulldogs claim 50th win

From staff reports

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary boys power volleyball team won its 50th game in the short two-and-a-half year history of the program with a 15-4, 15-4 shellacking of DeLand Monday night.

The win improves the Rams to 14-1 on the season and 7-0 in the Seminole Athletic Conference. Lake Mary will host Seminole Wednesday in a SAC match with the junior varsity playing at 6:30 p.m. and the varsity at 7:30 p.m.

"We've played a lot of volleyball in the last week," said Lake Mary coach Bill Whalen. "We just came off winning the Oviedo tournament over the weekend. It's nice to have a match where everyone gets to play a lot."

Whalen went with his first string in the first game then turned the game over to the second string, which includes four juniors, and they completed the blowout.

Matt Demery was the big gun in the first game as he served the last five points to serve the game out and had seven service winners for the game.

Jason Mau also had a big serving day winning the first five serves of the first game and the last six serves of the second game. All told he had 12 service winners for the day.

Lake Mary got great balance as seven players had kills and four players came up with blocks.

Matt McDonald led the Rams in kills with three and also had two spikes and one block. Others with multiple kills were John Brown, Brett Marshall, Mau and Chris Parrillo with two each.

Thursday will be a big day for Lake Mary as it will be Parents Night and Senior Night. This will be the last opportunity this year to see the boys and girls varsity teams playing on the same night.

The girls junior varsity and varsity will host Seminole starting at 6 p.m. while the varsity boys only will play Orlando Boone afterwards. The Lake Mary Marionettes Dance Team will perform between matches.

Seminole boys topple Lake Brantley

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Seminole High School won its second match of the season Monday as the Fighting Seminoles came from one game down to beat the Patriots on their home court.

Seminole dropped the first game 15-10 but came back to post 15-1, 15-12 triumphs to take the match.

Advise daughter to 'just say no'

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a beautiful baby girl. Naturally I want to do the best job possible of raising her to be a fine girl and woman. There is one question in my mind.

At some time in her life, I will have to sit down and talk to her about the importance of staying away from drugs. I need to know if I should ever use myself and my own experiences as an example. Abby, I have experimented with a variety of drugs and have learned firsthand how devastating they can be.

What influence do you think it would have on my daughter if she knew? Do you think she would be more determined never to use drugs? I have been "clean" for a number of years now, but I was heavily into drugs as a teen-ager. How much should I tell her?

SERIOUS IN SARATOGA
DEAR SERIOUS: Yours is a very intelligent question. I would not recommend using yourself as an "example." Your daughter might believe that because you have experimented with drugs and were able to rehabilitate yourself, it might justify her going that route.

If she asks you if you have ever experimented with drugs, don't lie; but don't volunteer your own experiences as a deterrent. It could backfire.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me how long a married couple can correctly take to thank their friends and family for a wedding gift? A friend of mine who is supposed to be very knowledgeable on matters of etiquette said that a couple can take one year to send their thank-you notes for wedding gifts and still be considered within the range of good manners. She said, ideally, they should acknowledge their gifts as soon as possible — perhaps within a month after returning from their honeymoon, but they should do it within a year in which to do it.

If you confirm that a year is acceptable, then I will not complain.

STILL WAITING
IN WHITTIER, CALIF.

DEAR STILL WAITING: A year? Outrageous — unless the lucky honeymooners were able to take six months off to go around the world. Well-mannered newlyweds will have their wedding gifts acknowledged anywhere from one to three months after they return from their honeymoon, depending on the number of gifts there were to acknowledge.

DEAR ABBY: I clipped this item from the death notices of my local newspaper:

"The family of ( ) requests that in lieu of flowers, donations be made to help defray funeral expenses. Please send donations to ( )."

Abby, in my opinion, that request is the height of tackiness. What do you and your readers think?

SAN ANTONIO READER
DEAR READER: I think that request is the height of sadness. I do not consider a plea for help to defray funeral expenses "tacky." Being poor is no disgrace.

Cholesterol drug has side effects

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm currently on Lopid for a high cholesterol problem. I've read that the medication can have risks and side effects, but I don't know what they are. Can you enlighten me?

DEAR READER: Lopid (gemfibrosil) is a drug that lowers blood fats by increasing the speed by which the liver excretes them. Lopid is particularly effective in reducing triglycerides, a blood fat that is believed to be less important than cholesterol in causing arteriosclerotic blockage. Patients taking Lopid will usually exhibit lower cholesterol levels, too, but there are more effective drugs, such as Questran and Mevacor, for this purpose.

Lopid should not be given to patients with liver disease or gallbladder problems. The drug's major side effects are abdominal pain, nausea, diarrhea and gas. Occasionally, patients may experience rash, headache, dizziness, muscle pain, anemia and insomnia.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a longtime newaman plagued since the summer of 1985 with macular degeneration. While there's been considerable research in the field, there apparently is no cure. Do you know of any potentially encouraging developments in the United States or abroad that might lead to the restoration of vision lost to macular degeneration?

DEAR READER: No, I don't. Macular degeneration, a leading cause of partial blindness in the elderly, is a condition marked by shrinkage and wasting of the part of the retina that enables us to see details (central vision). Patients with this affliction usually have peripheral vision. They can see out of "the corner" of their eyes, but they can't see straight ahead. The cause is unknown. There is no generally satisfactory treatment.

By James Jacoby

The four-diamond bid by East was a two-edged sword. It would either get West off to the right lead or result in a good sacrifice for non-vulnerable East. It certainly did not deter South from driving to slam. Obviously declarer would have preferred that his partner's strength be in the spade suit (dummy's king of diamonds was a wasted card). But all of us have been in worse contracts than a slam apparently dependent upon a successful finesse in the trump suit. However, here the layout of the cards offered a lesson in psychology. Suppose East wins the opening diamond lead and returns a low diamond. South will ruff and West will discard. What will that tell declarer about the location of the king of spades? It will become child's play for South to play a spade to dummy's ace, dropping East's king and scoring up the slam. So what can poor East do about this? East must create an illusion. If he wins the opening lead with the jack of diamonds, for instance, and then returns a heart, declarer may well believe that East made a lead-directing four-diamond bid on only a five-card suit and that West was leading from 9-8-2 of diamonds. In this event, South will dutifully take his finesse in trumps (the right percentage play) and will go down. It helps for South to know the style of his East opponent. If East is known to be a conservative player who would never come in at the four-level with only a five-card suit, then South should figure out what the defender's game is and drop the lone spade king.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Oct. 2, 1990

Under most conditions you function extremely well in partnership arrangements, but in the year ahead some of your greatest successes are likely to be achieved independently of others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In order to appear another today, you might feel compelled to make a promise you know you will not be able to keep. Unfortunately this tactic will only make matters worse. Libra, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) This is one of those days when the spirit might be willing while the flesh is weak. Your power to rationalize your way out of not doing it may be much more formidable than your good intentions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Within a group with whom you'll socialize today there may be someone in particular you're anxious to impress. The best way to do it is to be yourself; the worst way is to be pretentious.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Deep down you might not be as sure of yourself today as you would like associates to think. These feelings may induce you to do something by way of foolish bravado which could affect your image.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Consider carefully today the terms in which you express yourself in verbal or written statements. Questionable comments could be grossly misinterpreted to your detriment.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It is not a good policy at this time to spend in advance funds you hope to be receiving shortly. If your schedule is disrupted, it could put you in a tight pinch down the line.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) People you are especially fond of might be the very ones who let you down today. Their reasons will be difficult to comprehend, even when explanations are offered.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) There is a possibility you might become involved in some type of clandestine misadventure today. What appears intriguing romantically could end up as a heart-ache later.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try not to overwhelm your social calendar at this time. Instead of attempting to meet all of your obligations in one fell swoop, take into consideration there might be too many accounts to settle.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll be aware of your ambitious objectives today, but your motivation might not be strong enough to successfully fuel your intentions. Half-hearted efforts won't cut it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be extremely careful today that you do not treat your peers in a condescending manner. They will resent it if they sense you feel you are just a little bit better than they are.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Commercial conditions could be a trifle more complex for you than they initially appear. Don't try to handle serious business matters without first doing your homework.
