Raise Is Proposed For Forestry Board

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—A $35 monthly raise for each of its 650 employees is being proposed by the Florida Board of Forestry to combat a heavy turnover in personnel.

The board voted Wednesday to include the raise, totaling about $280,000 a year, in its budget requests to the 1957 Legislature.

State Forester C. H. Coulter said the personnel turnover last year was 34 per cent.

Particularly needy, he said, are assistant rangers who work 6 1/2 days a week during the fire season and are subject to night call on a $175 basic monthly salary.

Coulter reported the board's three nurseries this year are producing 117 million pine seedlings—far above last year's record 53 million—and have orders for 140 million.

He recommended funds to establish a fourth nursery and the board voted to conduct a quick survey for one in South Florida.

WORK DELAYED ON SUNSHINE STATE PARKWAY

MIAMI (AP)—Work on the Miami to Fort Pierce toll road has fallen behind expectations and opening of the 108-mile Sunshine State Parkway may be delayed as much as 30 days past Jan. 1, R. N. Bergendoff, consulting engineer, says.

He explained that the delay was caused by a steel strike and rainy weather.

All but two of the 88 bridges are completed, only a mile of grading remains, 68 miles of the base is completed and 32 miles of the surfacing is being laid.

Register-Exercise Privilege, Obligation To Vote Nov. 6

Hundreds of millions who belong to the family of man are excluded from the far more select family of those who have an effective voice in their government. In many parts of the world, this privilege has never been known. In other parts of the world, the privilege has been lost.

The reason for the loss of a voice in government differs from country to country. They are too many and varied to be enumerated here. It can be fairly said, however, that indifference is a poison which weakens and may eventually destroy this noble privilege won by blood and sacrifice.

For this reason, it is important that American citizens look at both sides of their precious coin that says: Good for one vote. The inscription on one face of this coin might read, "It is your privilege to spend this." The inscription on the other side might read, "It is your obligation to spend this."

So this is a reminder. You can't vote on November 6 unless you are registered. And you won't be exercising your privilege and obligation unless you vote.

The office of the Supervisor of Registration for Seminole County will be open from 9 to 5 today, tomorrow, and Saturday.

Don't sit back and hope you have an opportunity to register — do something about it. It's the vote that is counted — not the hopes.

Estimated Spendings, Income

A short time ago the federal government released revised estimates of spending and receipts for the fiscal year that will end next June.

This states that both the spending and the receipts will be some $4 billion greater than was anticipated last January. There will be some small surplus. But, it is obvious, that surplus is not the result of any real economy movement in government. It is, instead, the result of the fact that extraordinarily high business activity has produced extraordinarily high tax income and other revenue.

As of now, the prospects for future reduction in government costs—and for tax reduction — are exceedingly dim. Indeed, many believe that we are likely to have bigger budgets still, no matter which party is given power in November.

Yet there is one way the cost of government can be substantially reduced, and the Treasury can also obtain huge sums of money in addition to regular revenues, without in any way imperiling or even changing any legitimate function of government. That is by getting government out of activities — most of which incur heavy losses — that are in the domain of commercial business.

A salient example here is government power plants and systems — the field in which government business spending has been heaviest, and the field in which the socialists and their followers have worked hardest. Government power is tax-free. It is also tax-subsidized. It is a constant, heavy drain on the Treasury, which means every taxpayer. And it is an entirely needless drain. For, beyond argument, the independent utility industry has proven that it can and will undertake any needed project, do it with private savings and investments — and pay heavy taxes in the bargain. It would take time to sell off the government plants. Meanwhile, the taxpayers could be given another boon, by putting these systems on the same basis of operation as private enterprise.

In other words, make them pay their own way — including their fair share of taxes. That would mean more money in the pockets of us all.

Paper Grows With Community

Some of the biggest jobs are done in a quiet matter-of-fact way. As a result, comparatively few of us know the magnitude of the achievement.

Take "National Newspaper Week" for instance.

The annual observance brings to the forefront the part your local newspaper plays in the building of a city, in the welfare of its community, in the expansion program of the area which it serves, in the social life of our town, and in the economic health of the community.

The knowledge, the spirit, the drive, and the desire which is built into the very heart of your newspaper has in some way made possible, through the creating of a "community goal", many of the achievements that have become a reality.

"National Newspaper Week" has vividly portrayed the fact that your newspaper is vitally interested in building, expanding, creating growth, and inspiring loyalty within the community where it is published.

Your newspaper grows as the community expands. The greater the goals which are created within its circulation area and the community it serves, the greater the planning for a bigger and better newspaper.

This has already started within the organization of The Sanford Herald, with additional planning to meet the needs of the biggest growth Sanford and Seminole County have ever experienced.

It isn't often that a newspaper "blows its own horn"—but more often—the quiet, planned and matter-of-fact way, in working in and for the community it serves, is found.

Coal Plants Giving Atom Race

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — The drive to make atomic-powered electric plants as cheap to operate as those powered by coal is running up against a new challenge today.

Scientists are trying just as hard to make coal-powered plants more efficient and less costly—and thus stretching out the cost gap between the conventional generator and the nuclear one of the future.

Some corporations are developing split personalities in tackling the problem. They are spending millions in an effort to build a research drive in nuclear science, less costly atomic power plant, at the same time they are driving to make coal fired power plants more efficient.

Atomic electricity competitive with coal will be realized in other lands before it is in the United States where most areas are rich in cheap conventional fuels. The British hope to get atomic power as cheap as power from coal within five years. The goal in the United States is now 10 years.

Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, says that thanks to the present "a major break-through, putting us at or near the goal, could come with some suddenness."

And Willis Gale, chairman of Commonwealth Edison of Chicago, says this nation must strive to hold its lead in technological development rather than strain to attain fixed goals of kilowatt capacity by stepping up building of atomic plants of current design.

Edison Electric Institute has a group of six utility executives alerted to keep abreast of the progress in making nuclear power plants competitive.

Traffic Choking American Cities

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — What can be done to keep traffic from choking to death the centers of America's big cities?

Victor Gruen, a distinguished architect, has a simple but revolutionary solution—ban all automobiles from downtown areas and restore the streets to the pedestrians. Gruen predicts this will happen by the end of the century.

"I predict that by the year 2,000, and maybe a little before," he said, "it will be considered just as foolish to take vehicles into the interiors of business centers as we feel today it's peculiar to drive a truck into a living room."

"A city of a million people has a population of 200,000 automobiles. They crowd humans off the street.

"Cars need 20 times as much space as people do, and their birthrate is higher. The time seems not far off when, unless countermeasures are taken, people would be better off to move out and leave the cities to the mechanical monsters."

Gruen, designer of Northland at Detroit, one of the world's largest shopping centers, has been retained by the Greater Fort Worth Planning Committee to redesign the entire downtown area of that city for the next 15 years.

One of his projected ideas: Public service and delivery traffic in the 200-acre business district underground and banning passenger vehicles from surface areas.

Pedestrians would have the streets entirely to themselves except for slow-moving electric shuttle cars for the ill, the crippled—and the downright lazy.

Sounds like a jaywalker's heaven. The heart of the city would be converted into a pleasant business and recreation area with plenty of trees, fountains, gardens and arcades. One fashionable street in the shopping center would be roofed over and completely air-conditioned.

Buses would penetrate into the pedestrian paradise at three points. No building in the business center would be more than a six-minute walk to a ring of 10,000-car garages that would also serve as heliports for flying commuters.

The cost of such a civic change-over would, of course, be fantastic. But Gruen optimistically believes the increase of land values would reduce the outlay, says if large cities don't adopt some such measures soon they face actual traffic strangulation.

"Take Fort Worth as an example," he said. "If traffic continues to increase at its present rate and only piecemeal efforts are made to handle it, the city somehow would have to provide 16 million square feet of surface streets by 1970, compared with 5 million square feet today. Big as Texas is, there just isn't that much room in downtown Fort Worth without knocking down half its buildings."

"Most of America's other large cities are in the same plight. They'll have to take drastic steps soon to survive."

The idea of auto-free streets sounds wonderful to us career pedestrians. But will the motorists regard it as sporting? For them it might take all the fun out of driving.

Three Youngsters Spend Chilly Night On Deserted Beach

CLEARWATER — Two boys and a girl spent a chilly night on a deserted beach while their parents spent a frantic night searching and wondering if they had been drowned.

The youngsters were Christopher Berner, 11; Robert Lambert, 11, and his sister, Gayle Lambert, 9. With them was Christopher's dog Sarge.

Saturday afternoon the trio had found a rowboat without oars, pushed it into St. Joseph's Sound, poled it with sticks for a while and then found themselves so far out the sticks wouldn't reach bottom. They drifted helplessly across the five miles to Sand Key where about dark they beached the boat on a desolate stretch of beach and decided to spend the night.

Soon after daylight a coast guard helicopter found them, a little cold, a little scared and very hungry.

Candidates Have 5 Weeks To Go

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The first month of the presidential campaign is over and the candidates have a little over five weeks to go. How has it been so far?

Differ from 1952. That's for sure. Four years ago the presidential race smoked with emotion. If there's fire in this campaign, it's still in the basement.

And the candidates—of the four only Democratic vice presidential candidate Estes Kefauver was not running in 1952—are making a different kind of campaign.

In 1952—with the country jittery and tired of the war in Korea, divided over Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and stirred up over things in Washington — the Republicans made these their three main issues: The war in Korea and foreign policy in general; corruption in government; and Communism-in-government.

Those issues were the kind which made old friends fight and neighbors argue in public. But the war is over now. McCarthy has faded. There have been no real scandals. Talk about Communists in government, long overplayed by the Republicans, has died down.

Now the Democrats—Adlai Stevenson and Kefauver—are hanging away at the Republican for-

Women Don't Need To Act Like Men In Business Field

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

I agree with Mrs. Florence Beebe Anderson a mechanical design engineer from Chicago, that it's time for women to stop beating the drums for "equal rights" and "equal recognition in business" and make use of what they have.

"After all," says Mrs. Anderson, "we've had recognition as women since Eve first offered Adam the apple."

Women do not need to try to act like men during business hours, as Mrs. Anderson points out. If most business women, secretaries and professional women would just be themselves from 9 to 5, things would be much better for everybody concerned.

Flattery is just as effective in the business world as it is in social contacts says Mrs. Anderson. Every woman knows that flattery succeeds far better than nagging to achieve a desired objective with husband or boyfriend. The same thing is true of the boss.

For instance, if you want a raise, she advises, don't start complaining about how you can't afford a new pair of nylon hose, have to go without lunches and haven't had your hair done in three weeks. Don't keep reminding the boss that you're doing twice as much work as you're paid for. This will only put him on the defensive.

Instead tell him how fortunate you are to have such a brilliant and understanding employer, who understands the necessity of keeping up appearances in the business world. Tell him how you'd hate to work for an old fog who didn't appreciate the importance of such things as hairdos and nylons. Tell him you admire the way he handled that big deal the other day, and how glad you were to be able to produce the right file at the right time.

The woman who understands human relations is the one who is going to get ahead in the business world, she says.

Domestic Servant Is Disappearing

NEW YORK — Lo, the vanishing servant!

A study published Monday says the domestic servant is swiftly disappearing from the nation's labor force. There were 94 servants for every 1,000 persons in the early 1900s; today there are only 34 per 1,000.

Prof. George J. Stigler of Columbia University, author of the study, says the sharp decrease is due to greater education, lowered rate of immigration, progressive equalization of income and simplification of household tasks.

U of M Coach Has Trouble Building Defense For Passer

CORAL GABLES.—The biggest task in preparing the University of Miami football team for its contest with the Hurricanes on Friday night is the building of a defense for the brilliant passer in the East, Billy Donlan.

This came Donlan came near knocking the Hurricanes last year with his deadly kick aerial bombs and reports coming this way say the brilliant passer is greater than ever.

Some say Donlan is as great a passer as any aerial artist in pro football today. Mike Horvath tabbed him as "All-American."

Miami with its giant team last year, could not stop Donlan's passing and it's questionable whether the Hurricanes will be able to contain him Friday night in the Orange Bowl. As yet Miami's pass defense has not been tested. South Florida last week chose to pass against the Hurricanes despite the fact that they ran into trouble when they attempted to penetrate the U-M line on running plays.

Donlan also has a brilliant passer at left halfback, Captain Henry Sullivan who does a great job in hearing while on the field.

"Donlan and Sullivan won't be used for an hour," Gustafson said. "And we're certain of one thing, Boston College will be throwing that football all over the field Friday night. They did it last year and almost attained success," Gus said.

With prospects of another tough game on Friday night in the Orange Bowl, indications are that another crowd of more than 40,000 will see the Hurricanes battle Boston College Friday.

Captain Don Bosseler, U-M all-American fullback candidate who was named to lead the Hurricanes to victory over South Carolina and will be ready to go at top speed Friday night. Trainer Dave Wilkerson, who will start in a backfield, John Bookman at left halfback, John Bookman at left halfback and the elusive Sam Scarsochia at quarterback.

The starting Miami line will be the same as started against South Carolina. If U-M goes on offense at the start of the ball game, Mike Hudock will open at center, Sam Scarsochia will be the starting man at the pivot spot.

Boston College will fly into Miami early in the afternoon and will go to the Orange Bowl for a workout. The team then will quarter at the Sea Isles Hotel at Miami Beach.

By whipping South Carolina 14-6 in their opener, the University of Miami Hurricanes gave Coach Andy Gustafson his 50th coaching victory at Miami. Gus has suffered 29 defeats and only once has he been tied.

Simpson Leading Players in 'Yards Gained Rushing'
GAINESVILLE.—Halfback Jackie Simpson has resumed a role of last season by leading all University of Florida football players in the important "yards gained rushing" department through the Gators' first two games.

The 11 runs from scrimmage Simpson has gained 103 yards for the highly impressive average of 9.3 yards per carry.

Seminole JVs Stomp DeLand 20-0

The scrappy Sanford Seminoles JVs capitalized on an opening play fumble returned a punt 23 yards, scorching the sidelines for a 60 yard scoring run, and repelled three Bulldog threats to roll over the DeLand Bulldogs JVs 20-0.

On the first play of the ball game the Bulldogs fumbled, and Seminoles JV Jimmy Peterson pounced on it at the DeLand 13 yard line. Five plays later Rick Erickson, featherweight quarterback for the Seminoles JVs, scored from 1 yard out on a quarterback sneak. Then Erickson made a roll-out, sweep around left end and added the point after touchdown to put the JVs out front 7-0.

After the return kickoff, the Bulldog offense bogged down from the ferocious pounding handed out by Seminoles JVs and they were forced to kick. Once the ball got in their hands, the Seminoles were on the march again. Al Collins was the spark of the drive, as he took a handoff from alternate quarterback Cecil Dandridge on his own 40 yard line and raced to the DeLand 13 before the Bulldog safety man pulled him down. The Seminoles took to the air and DeLand's Nickie McMillam stepped in front of a Sanford aerial.

McMillam intercepted the Seminoles pass on his own 13 yard line and returned it to his own 22, and the Bulldogs were on the move. They found a weak spot over the Sanford guard posts and raked up 74 yards through the line before the Seminoles dug in enough to stall the Bulldog offensive machine on their own 4 yard line. It was the deepest penetration of the game for the DeLand eleven.

The warrior JVs were unable to move the ball and attempted to punt, but it was partially blocked and rolled out of bounds on the 22. DeLand took to the air in an ineffective attempt to push a score across, and the half ended with the Seminoles out front by a slim 7-0 margin.

The third stanza was a see-saw battle of offensive maneuvering, with the Seminoles JVs repelling two serious Bulldog threats. But the little Seminoles came to life in the final stanza.

Again little Al Collins sparked the Sanford attack. In the early minutes of the fourth quarter the DeLand JVs got off a high punt, and Collins, the receiver was well covered by two junior Bulldogs. He gathered in the punt and shook off both would-be-tacklers, ploughed through the defensive lineup and raced down the field. On the fifteen yard strip he was hit by a DeLander, but shook him off. Finally, on the DeLand 6 yard line a Bulldog hauled him down from behind. The crowd cheered little Collins after he had turned in 15 yards to the Bulldog 40. On the next play Yeackle took a handoff from Dandridge and cut to the sidelines for a spectacular 60 yard TD run. The attempted conversion was no good.

The little JVs turned in a proud performance. "We were right," Dick Silvers exclaimed, "we have

Stotsky Definitely Out For Apopka Game

The Sanford Seminoles suffered their most serious setback of the season yesterday when it was learned that Jack Stotsky was definitely out for the Apopka game. Last week Stotsky suffered a minor laceration of his left leg, and it became infected. That, coupled with a virus attack, sent him home for a few days.

Yesterday his doctor revealed that complications had set in and his infected leg would keep him home definitely one week, and maybe two or three. He may have to have the infected area lanced for further treatment.

More discouraging news came from the sidelines as Phil Byrd was still unable to see action yesterday. Head coach Bill Fleming said that Byrd would not see action before the Apopka game but there was some hope that he could see action at that time. Monday Byrd received a cut above the left eye and the stitches have not been removed as yet.

Joe Russel has returned to the playing field, however, and he will sound the scoring punch.

The Sanford Seminoles JVs were outwitted and outmanned, but the fighting spirit paid off. Every member of the team played, and the JVs brought home a win from Memorial Stadium.
