School Board Braces For Crowd At Tax Hike Hearing

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A standing-room only audience of protesting property owners is expected at the Seminole County School Board's 7:30 p.m. Wednesday public hearing on the proposed $97.7 million budget for the new fiscal year. The budget calls for a tax rate increase of $2.20 per $1,000 assessed valuation. The proposed tax rate is $8.28, up from the current year's $6.08, an increase of 36.2 percent.

Meanwhile, a Sanford Fire Department spokesman said today Sanford Fire Inspector Thomas Hickson will attend the meeting and enforce the city's fire code. The code says no more than 120 persons — 96 of them seated — are allowed in the school board meeting room at 1211 Mellonville Ave. City fire inspectors in the past have ordered persons over the limit to leave the meeting.

School Superintendent Robert Hughes said today if that situation occurs Wednesday night, he will seek a recess to move the public hearing to Seminole High School's auditorium. Some 600-700 persons can be seated there.

Art Grindle, a Seminole County businessman and unsuccessful candidate a year ago for the Florida Senate, has in advertisements urged property owners to attend the hearing to protest the increase in school taxes.

Two dollars of the proposed $2.20 per $1,000 increase is to be used to purchase a site, construct, and equip a new elementary school in the Tusawilla area.

Roger Harris, assistant superintendent for business and finance, said today the $2 per $1,000 tax increase for capital outlay will bring the county $4,993,000 in revenues earmarked for the school.

A portion of the tax increase will be used to construct and furnish exceptional child suites at Altamonte Elementary, Idylwild Elementary and Sterling Park Elementary.

The total tax package of $8.2781 is broken down thusly: required local effort (that amount the school board is required by the state to levy) $4.512, compared with $4.80 in the current year; discretionary (that amount necessary to pay for transportation and teacher salaries over the sum allotted by the state) $1.60, up from the current year's $1.09; debt service (paying off old bond issues) $1.17, compared with $1.19 currently; and $2 for the capital outlay program.

Harris said a new elementary school must be built in the Tusawilla area to handle the overflow of students from Red Bug, Sterling Park and Eastbrook elementary schools. He said Red Bug is under the threat of being forced into double sessions later this year. He said while the design capacity for Red Bug school is 653, the current enrollment is about 894.

A new elementary school in the Tusawilla area is called for under the five year plan for county schools approved earlier by the state.

While the $2 special levy is for one year only, Harris said today the chances are the school board will be forced to continue the levy next year because of the overcrowding being seen at Teague and Rock Lake middle schools. A new middle school must be built soon in the Longwood area, Harris said.

The five-year plan also calls for construction by 1984 of three other elementary schools east of Big Tree County Park, in the Longwood area and in the Wilson area of Sanford.

The proposed budget calls for the school board to receive in property tax revenues a total of $20,667,013 in the new fiscal year, (including the nearly $5 million from the new tax for school construction), up from $13,983,182 during the current year; $77,485,792.14 from other sources, up from the current year's $74,039,251.

The total proposed budget is $97,664,735.14, up from $88,022,433.28.

ROCKING THE BOAT

This 1979 Sea Ray 26-footer, above, valued at $30,000 was extensively damaged about 5 p.m. Monday when it flipped off its trailer at U.S. 17-92 and Lake Mary Boulevard in Sanford. Patrolman Darrell Presley said the boat was on the trailer being pulled by a truck driven southbound on 17-92 by C.B. Martin, 42, of Orlando, when the accident occurred. Martin had applied his truck's brakes to stop for a red light, but the slippery pavement caused the trailer and truck (shown below) to jackknife and a trailer tire to blow out, flipping the boat which landed on its side. Martin was alone in the truck and uninjured, Presley reported. No tickets were issued. Martin, president of Greer Electric Co., Rockledge, was heading home when the accident occurred. He said damage was extensive to the interior and exterior of the craft. Traffic was slowed for more than an hour at the intersection while police investigated and firemen hosed down the pavement where the overturned boat had spilled a large quantity of gasoline.

Iron Bridge Agreement May Be Near

There may be light at the end of the tunnel after all to save an interlocal agreement between Casselberry, Maitland, Winter Park, Winter Springs and Seminole County providing for sewer transmission line hook-ups to the Iron Bridge regional sewage treatment plant.

Casselberry, which had balked at the agreement due to a penalty clause for excess usage may sign the agreement tonight said Mayor Owen Sheppard.

An informal compromise was reached providing the city with some of the County's reserve capacity for 3 years.

Problems came two weeks ago when Casselberry, Winter Park and Seminole County all refused to sign the agreement in the "final hour" prior to a bond-validation hearing. The hearing was continued until Sept. 11.

In an informal meeting last week of the South Seminole-Orange County Wastewater Transmission Authority, officials met to iron out problems that have been plaguing reaching the agreement, Authority Executive Director Ernest "Pat" West said, Friday.

The Authority has been trying since April, 1979, to work out an agreement between the five entities to have an $8 million bond program validated to facilitate the hook-up to Iron Bridge. The Authority is scheduled to appear in Court Friday at 1 p.m. to request bond validation.

The Iron Bridge facility, owned and operated by Orlando, is located in Oviedo and has a capacity to treat 24 million gallons of wastewater a day, according to Raymond Hodell, the facility construction project coordinator.

"We've still got some problems but we were given some latitude," Sheppard said.

Casselberry's concern stems from the city's limited amount of sewer capacity and the agreement's penalty clause for excess usage. The city has already reached its 2.8 million-gallon-a-day capacity at the plant and is asking Seminole County for part of its reserve capacity.

According to Sheppard, if the agreement is signed without any adjustments to the penalty clause, Casselberry could be fined as much as one month's operation and maintenance costs for each day of excess use. The fine could reach $3,000 a day for Casselberry, Sheppard said.

"At the meeting last week it was decided that the penalty should be severe but it was informally agreed that we would be given a one year grace period before imposition of a fine," Sheppard said. "The one year grace period gives us time to adjust to any other problems that may come up, also."

Sheppard said that he will recommend Casselberry City Council members agree to the contract's stipulations at tonight's City Council meeting.

"I think Council will be receptive to the changes," Sheppard said. "We certainly don't want to be the one to hold up the validation."

Seminole County Administrator Roger Neiswender said he will recommend Seminole County commissioners approve a loan of 215,000 gallons of the county's reserve capacity to Casselberry for the next three years.

"They (Casselberry) have infiltration of rainwater into their lines and they need to correct it," Neiswender said. "Once it's corrected the problem should solve itself."

"If, when we get a copy of the revised draft, it is what we agreed to informally last week, I will recommend to the commissioners that they sign the agreement," Neiswender said.

A formal meeting of the Authority will be held Thursday Sept. 10, to compile all agreements and attend to any details that may arise prior to Friday's court hearing, Sheppard said. — TENI YARBOROUGH

For Fern Park

Fire Station Site Picked

Seminole County Commissioners voted 4-1 today to accept a lease proposal from Paulucci Enterprises for a new fire station site in the Fern Park area.

Commissioner Robert Feather cast the only dissenting vote. The 30-year lease of the parcel, fronting on U.S. 17-92, 200 feet north of South Street, calls for a fee of $1 annually. The parcel contains slightly less than one acre.

"The location is beneficial to us, but I don't think we should use taxpayers money to build public facilities on private property when the improvement will revert to the owner at the end of the lease," Feather said, explaining his vote.

The 30-year lease includes a 30-year option for renewal. At the end of the 60 years the improvement will become the property of Paulucci Enterprises.

"I think it's wonderful that Paulucci Enterprises would do this, but we don't own the property," said Feather.

Other sites considered were located off U.S. 17-92 and Lake of the Woods Boulevard and off State Road 436.

"We looked in the Fern Park area for several years to purchase property at a reasonable price, but we were unsuccessful," Feather said, adding the State Road 436 property was not acceptable because it is in a residential area.

"This site has a good access on the north, east, south and west sides of the property and it's in a good central location," said county Public Safety Director Gary Kaiser.

"Right now, there is a 45-year-old converted single family dwelling that is being used as a fire station at this site, but it is totally unacceptable," Kaiser said.

The county commission plans to demolish this house and build a new fire station — DARLENE JENNINGS

Graham On Buying Spree

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham launched a program today to buy up as much beachfront property as possible and stop the development of privately-owned beaches through tougher state coastal regulations.

"Floridians deserve to enjoy their beaches and we must move now before the coastline is obstructed by an impenetrable wall of construction," the governor said.

Graham said he will ask the Cabinet next Tuesday to join him in authorizing the issue of up to $200 million in bonds over the next couple of years, with the money going to buy beachfront property that is a prime target for developers.

Juvenile Arbitration: The Court Alternative

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer
First of Two Parts

Johnny is 15. According to his friends and family, he's not a bad kid and he's never had any trouble with the police. That is, until recently.

Johnny has been arrested for criminal mischief. Police reports show he and some friends were playing and in the course of their horseplay, Johnny knocked down Mr. Jones' mailbox.

If this hypothetical situation had arisen three years ago, Mr. Jones' only course of action would be to prosecute Johnny through the juvenile justice system.

However, since the inception of the Seminole County Juvenile Community Arbitration Program in October 1978 Mr. Jones and citizens like him have an alternative to court action.

According to Gayle Hair, manager of the arbitration program, the owner of the mailbox has every right to prosecute Johnny, but there is a way he can receive retribution for his loss, save time and court costs.

Through the arbitration program, Seminole County police officers who make arrests may recommend that instead of prosecuting the first-time juvenile offender in court for a misdemeanor offense, the incident be resolved through a juvenile arbitration hearing.

"Through the program the victim has his needs met because the child has to make retribution," Hair said. "Also, the child realizes he must take the responsibility for his action — not his parents, or anyone else — but him."

"It's a lot harder to have to sit there and talk in the hearing and have to face the person whose mailbox you knocked down than it is to go sit in court," Hair said. She added, however, the advantage of the hearing compared to the court is all parties decide on the final outcome, not just one person.

Hair said that the victim, offender, the offender's parent, the arbitrator and the police officer collaborate until they arrive at a "just sentence" for the offender.

"Surprisingly enough, when we ask the kids what punishment they think they should receive, they usually suggest harder punishments than do the parents, arbitrator or police officer," Hair said.

She said the punishment is made to fit the crime and "there are no standard punishments."

"What may be a fair price for one child to pay for his offense, may not be fair for another in a similar situation," Hair said.

The Juvenile Arbitration Program has successfully handled 1,092 cases from October, 1978 through June, 1981; 426 this year, Hair said. She anticipates that the program will handle approximately 140 more cases before the end of the year.

The program was designed, as a result of community interest, to alleviate the court burden for trying first-time juvenile offenders for misdemeanor offenses and to attempt to reduce juvenile delinquency in Seminole County.

"We don't necessarily try to rehabilitate the kids," Hair said. "We hope that happens but it isn't the primary focus."

Rehabilitation and a reduction of juvenile offenses appear to be the by-product of the program, however, Hair said.

"The recidivism rate for offenders during our first year is only 6 percent," she said. "We are pretty proud of that figure."

Also, she said, while the growth rate of the population in Seminole County has increased to 10 percent the juvenile delinquency rate has gone down.

"I feel that the arbitration program is getting the first time offender, turning him around and that's bringing it (the juvenile delinquency rate) down," she said.

According to Health and Rehabilitative Services statistics, the $26,000 program has cut the court caseload by one-third.

Also, Hair said cases referred to the juvenile arbitration program cost only $50 per case; whereas, the same case would cost approximately $1,000 if it went through the juvenile court system.

Tomorrow: What crimes fit the Juvenile Arbitration Program.

NATION IN BRIEF

Economy, Pentagon Await Reagan After Month Rest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — His month-long vacation over, President Reagan sought today to learn from the men who designed his economic program why the economy is resisting their promised recovery.

High interest rates, Wall Street complaints and a Pentagon budget fuss were on the agenda for the president's most important meeting since he returned from California last week.

Laying out the economic picture will be Treasury Secretary Donald Regan; budget chief David Stockman; Murray Weidenbaum, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, and Martin Anderson, the president's top domestic policy adviser.

Despite his optimistic remarks during the Labor Day weekend, Reagan's proposals to revitalize the economy have not yet produced the desired results. Interest rates remain high and the goal of a balanced budget by 1984 appears elusive.

In an effort to keep his budget-balancing pledge, the president has decided to trim the previously off-limits Defense Department bankroll.

A portfolio of Pentagon suggestions on how military spending could be cut without jeopardizing national security awaited Reagan when he returned Monday from a brief trip to New York.

"That's going to be my evening reading," he said on his return to the White House.

Philadelphia Teachers Picket

Philadelphia's 21,000 public school teachers vowed to strike today rather than accept the layoff of 3,500 school employees because of a budget deficit. Teachers in Boston face similar cutbacks but voted for two more weeks of negotiation rather than a strike.

The Philadelphia walkout, strikes elsewhere in Pennsylvania, New York and others in mostly small districts in Michigan, Illinois and Rhode Island kept about 250,000 students out of school today. About 22,800 teachers are involved.

Philadelphia teachers were supposed to attend the first of two teacher preparation days today in advance of Thursday's classes for 213,000 students, but planned to picket instead.

"The best we could hope for would be a strike of only several days," Philadelphia School Board President Arthur W. Thomas said Monday.

The walkout was prompted by a school board decision to fire 3,500 employees in order to meet a $223 million deficit and balance the budget for the 1981-82 academic year.

Weekend negotiations between the teachers' union and the district were fruitless and a Common Pleas court ruled last week the district was within its rights to lay off the employees, 1,300 of which are teachers, to balance the budget.

Prof. Picks Pageant Winner

DE KALB, Ill. (UPI) — The temptation was just too much for George Miller. He had to do it just one more time.

Miller, a Northern Illinois University professor and statistics whiz, has accurately predicted the winner of the Miss America pageant for the past two years with his own computer model.

Earlier this year he said he was going to give it up and quietly forget the whole thing for a while.

"I thought I'd sort of lay back and maybe sneak up again on them some time in the future," Miller was quoted as saying in a news release issued Monday.

But an unnamed East Coast reporter sent him the complete data on each of this year's contestants and Miller said he just had to run the figures through NIU's Amudahl 750V7A computer.

Miller's computer says the winner of the 1981 Miss America title will be Sheri Hyman of Texas City, Texas with odds of 6 to 1.

The runners-up to Miss Hyman are Miss Massachusetts with 8 to 1 odds; Miss Georgia with 9 to 1 odds and Misses Minnesota and Alabama both with 11 to 1 odds.

Telethon Raises $31 Million

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The 16th annual Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon raised nearly $31.5 million for the Muscular Dystrophy Association, surpassing the 1980 total by nearly $395,000.

Hosted by Lewis, Ed McMahon, Chad Everett and David Hartman, the telethon began Sunday night and ended Monday at 6:30 p.m. EDT.

In Los Angeles, officials said $1.6 million was raised in the 21½-hour show.

Rare Disease Kills Youth

MIAMI (UPI) — A 6-year-old Naranja Lakes boy died 13 hours after being stricken by an unusual contagious disease with symptoms as common as a fever and a headache.

Joel Adams Healty, 6, died Monday from Waterhouse-Friderichsen Syndrome, caused by meningococcus bacteria that spreads throughout the body's bloodstream, destroying vital adrenal glands and affecting blood coagulation.

"It's very frightening," said Dr. Charles Wetli, Dade County's deputy chief medical examiner. "Unless you get it at the beginning, death is rapid."

The meningococcus bacteria can cause either meningitis or the more deadly syndrome, Wetli said. When the latter occurs, the bacteria quickly spreads through the bloodstream and attacks the adrenal glands.

At least 5 percent of the population carries meningococcus bacteria in nasal passages or the throat, but doctors don't know why healthy people happen to be susceptible to the disease, Wetli said.

"When a kid starts getting a fever and then starts complaining of a headache, be suspicious," Wetli said. "At the first sign of a rash, you don't have a minute to lose. You've got to get that child to an emergency room — you've got to get him there fast."

Oviedo Council Election Today

Six Candidates Vie For Mayor, 2 Council Seats

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A steady flow of voters was going to the Oviedo City Hall polling place this morning to cast their ballots in the municipal election for a mayor and two councilmen.

City Clerk Nancy Cox has predicted 400 to 500 of the city's 1,309 qualified voters will choose three persons from among six candidates to serve in the offices for the next two years. Also included on the ballot is a charter question of whether or not the city should have a full-time mayor.

Candidates, according to Mrs. Cox, include: Kenneth P. Triplett and Robert W. Whittier for the mayor's office; Nita Rawlson and Ransford C. Pyle for city council group 1; and Frank Salzman and Donna Wilhelm-Hudson for council seat group 2.

Incumbent Mayor Tom Morgan, completing his first two-year term in office, is not seeking re-election. Triplett was police chief in Oviedo for 13 years prior to this resignation several months ago. Whittier is completing his first term on the city council. Salzman, a university of Central Florida (UCF) professor, is the incumbent while Mrs. Wilhelm-Hudson is an attorney. Mrs. Rawlson is employed in a local doctor's office and Pyle is a professor at UCF.

The polls will close at 7 p.m. today. The election will be officially canvassed by the city council at a special meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Sailor Wants To Hit 'High Seas' To Seize Smugglers In Old Tradition

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Randy Ludacer, a bearded weekend sailor with a few hardy men behind him, wants to resurrect the days of Jean Lafitte to turn the tide in the war on drug smugglers.

Ludacer, an attorney, has petitioned Congress to grant him the first "letter of marque and reprisal" issued since the War of 1812.

Thus he and his men, commissioned privateers, would roam the Caribbean — where centuries ago the Jolly Roger flew at the maintop of Blackbeard's or Morgan's corsairs — in search of drug-laden smugglers' ships.

He says such a force would be more effective than overburdened Coast Guard and Drug Enforcement Agency patrols.

"We could do it more efficiently for less money," he said Monday. "Don't you think the war on drugs would be more efficient if it were motivated by profits rather than pensions?"

"Sometimes the obvious solutions are overlooked because they haven't been used for a long time," he said. "It (privateering) seemed to be a viable alternative when the Constitution was written."

The 51-year-old Korean War veteran and handgun hobbyist said he doesn't envision himself at the helm of a pirate ship.

"I don't propose to be running around with a 45 and a cutlass," he said. "But I could put the components together."

He indicated he has lined up the nucleus of his privateer force — a buddy who participated in the 1960's Congo liberation movement, a few French Foreign Legion veterans, a former Green Beret soldier and other "cloak-and-dagger types, intelligence experts — people who rather enjoy risk-taking."

Article 1, Section 8 of the U.S. Constitution gives Congress the power "to declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal and make rules concerning captures on land and water."

Ludacer hasn't yet heard from Congress, he said.

Convenience Markets Expansion Opposed

They have tried before and lost. But a group of Winter Springs residents unhappy about the growing number of convenience stores in their city will try again tonight when they air their complaints before the city council.

A group of citizens mostly from the Sugar Creek, Forest Creek and Ranchland subdivisions plan to protest the proposed construction of a Shop & Go store on Hayes Road and a Citgo gas station between Fairfax and Devon avenues.

The city's board of adjustment approved plans for the businesses in July despite a petition signed by more than 150 residents opposing the construction.

The board's decision was appealed and councilmen will take up the issue at tonight's meeting, which begins in city hall on North Edgemon Avenue.

However, if past actions are any indication, the protestors will get little sympathy from the council. Twice in the past few months, councilmen have turned down requests to limit the number of convenience stores in the city, claiming to do so would interfere with the American system of free enterprise.

Those opposed to more convenience stores counter that there are already too many such businesses in Winter Springs, pointing to the five along a two-mile stretch of State Road 434 with a sixth scheduled to be built in the near future.

They also complain that so many stores tie up traffic along already-congested S.R. 434 and are "hangouts" for kids.

Also at tonight's meeting, councilmen are scheduled to review the city's tentative 1981-82 budget of $1.9 million. As proposed, next year's spending plan will require no tax increase. If the budget is approved, local residents will continue to pay the present rate of $2.05 per $1,000 of assessed property value.

University of Central Florida linebacker Billy Giovanetti (right) tunes UCF President Dr. Trevor Colbourn into the 1981 version of "Saturday Knights Live" via WUCF-FM (89.9). Colbourn is attending a "roast" for construction magnet Frank Hubbard and can't make all of the Knights opening game Saturday against Presbyterian College at 7 p.m. in the Tangerine Bowl. Giovanetti, who lives in Casselberry and played football at Lyman High School, and his UCF teammates obliged Colbourn with a transistor radio to keep him plugged into the action.

The Veteran 'Old Man' Giovanetti Looks For Return Of UCF Stardom

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Casselberry's Billy Giovanetti is just 19-years-old, but on the University of Central Florida gridiron he's looked upon as the "old man." The veteran, Giovanetti, who prepped at Lake Howell before moving to Lyman for an outstanding senior year, is doing his third tour of duty for the Knights' linebacking corps.

He started as a 17-year-old freshman and became an instant hit in more ways than one. He was a ferocious linebacker for the surprising Knights who went 6-2 in their initial year.

The 5-foot-11, 195-pounder was allowed to roam from his linebacking spot and made the best of it, splattering foes from sideline to sideline and leading UCF in tackles.

The following year, however, Giovanetti played like the aforementioned old man. "I did have a terrible year," lamented the easy-going junior about UCF's 4-4 year. "It seemed like I didn't have the competition at linebacker."

"I thrive on competition. Somebody pushing you always makes you a lot better," Giovanetti pointed out. Knight Coach Don Jonas, who was joined by former Lake Howell boss Sam

Knights

Weir this year as a co-coach, also saw the change in Giovanetti but likes to point to a change in defense instead of a change in Giovanetti.

"Billy had his greatest year the first year when we were in the 50 defense," said Jonas. "He was able to roam, fill the gaps and fill the holes."

"Last year we went with a split-4 defense and he was not able to roam as much and it hurt him. He didn't have the year he had the first year," agreed Jonas.

Jonas feels the switch back to the 52 defense should bring back the 1979 terror in Giovanetti. "We won't have him tied in the middle so much this year," assessed Jonas.

"It'll bring back the Billy Giovanetti we really know. He's a 100 percenter, a great athlete and leader. He's exactly what anybody would want from a linebacker," glowed Jonas.

Along with regaining his old form, Billy "Gio" feels the Knight defense will once again be a factor to be reckoned with. The defense returns six starters as does the offense. Eddie James is questionable at linebacker due to an injury. Former Lake Brantley linebacker Scott Redditt will take his spot.

Six players are in the running for the four spots in the UCF defensive backfield. At safety, Jeff Bolle, Glenn Whetpley and Doug Gatewood are fighting for the two spots.

At corner back, the battle is going on among Bruce Gordon, John Scargle and Ron Johnson, who is currently nursing a shoulder bruise and a hyperextended knee.

On the defensive line, the Knights two big studs — 6-foot-3, 255-pound Ed Gantner and 6-foot-3, 240-pound Mike Sommerfield — are returning for their senior years.

Lake Howell's Jim Bray, Lyman's Danny Allen and Winter Garden's Jim Heckman give the Knights depth at defensive end. St. Petersburg's Rick Maynard, a 6-foot-1, 220 pounder, holds down the noseguard position.

"The defensive line is really looking big," said Giovanetti about Maynard, Sommerfield and Gantner. "They're going to be taking care of us."

And if someone slips past that monstrous trio, guess who's going to be taking care of him?

Fouts' Aerial Display Dazzles Browns

By United Press International

The San Diego Chargers, showing they don't believe in tinkering with success, opened their 1981 season Monday night with the same dazzling aerial show that set records last year and it paid off with a 44-14 thrashing of the Cleveland Browns.

Dan Fouts threw three touchdowns and got a boost from his running game to complete the rout.

"Everything just fell into place, obviously," said San Diego Coach Don Coryell. "I can't recall another game where just about everything we did worked."

Pro Football

Fouts completed 19-of-25 passes for 300 yards. Counting the two playoff games at the end of last season, it was the fifth straight 300-yard game for the San Diego quarterback.

Along the way, Fouts broke a 17-year-old team record of 13 straight completions set by John Hadl in 1964. Fouts completed 15 in a row. Bert Jones of the Baltimore Colts had 17 in 1974, the NFL record.

Though he failed to score, Charlie Joiner caught six passes for 191 yards.

Houk Declares Tiger's Bite Real, Morris Chomps Red Sox, 3-1

By United Press International
Ralph Houk believes the Detroit Tigers' bite is real and Jack Morris is doing his best to get that message across to the rest of the American League.

Morris turned in his third consecutive strong pitching effort Monday night, tossing a two-hitter that carried the AL East Division-leading Tigers to a 3-1 triumph over the Boston Red Sox.

"I picked them to win after the strike," Houk, the former Tigers' skipper and currently the manager of the Red Sox, said.

And the Tigers are beginning to believe they can win the AL's second season.

"It's wonderful, we're in the race. There's a lot of excitement ..." said Morris. "Whether or not we're for real remains to be seen, but we believe in ourselves."

AL Baseball

— only the second hit given up by loser Bob Ojeda, 4-2 — and went to second when Tom Brookens grounded a 3-2 pitch to shortstop.

Whitaker brought roars from the crowd of 42,098 with his long fly ball that eluded centerfielder Rick Miller. Detroit made it 3-1 when Alan Trammell greeted reliever Bob Stanley with an infield hit to third.

Steve Kemp gave Detroit its first run in the second by leading off with his eighth home run of the season. Orioles 9, Indians 2

At Baltimore, Eddie Murray cracked four hits, including his second grand slam of the season, to power the Orioles to victory. Jim Palmer allowed just four hits over 7 1-3 innings to notch his first victory since Aug. 21.

Yankees 4, Brewers 2
Graig Nettles hit a pair of homers and Dave Winfield added a solo shot to spark the Yankees' to their fourth straight victory. Ron Guidry, 10-3, pitched 6 2-3 innings to notch his fifth victory without a loss during the second season.

Royals 7, Angels 1

At Kansas City, Willie Wilson rapped four singles, stole a base and scored two runs to pace the Royals and snap their three-game losing streak. It was the Angels' fourth straight defeat.

A's 2, Rangers 1

At Oakland, Calif., Mickey Klutts and Dwayne Murphy each singled home runs and Mike Norris pitched a seven-hitter for his 10th victory in leading the A's to victory.

Twins 4, Blue Jays 0

At Bloomington, Minn., John Castino knocked in two runs with a double and Darrell Jackson and Doug Corbett combined on an eight-hit as the Twins snapped a four-game losing streak.

Mariners 9, White Sox 5
At Chicago, Casey Parsons and Tom Paciorek homered in a five-run second inning and paced a 16-hit attack that helped the Mariners hand the White Sox their 10th loss in the last 11 games.

Pirates 5-5, Mets 1-4
At Pittsburgh, Steve Nicola and Willie Montanez hit solo homers to give the Pirates a victory in the opener. Omar Moreno went 3-for-6, scored twice and drove in the winning run to help Pittsburgh complete a sweep of the double-header.

At Philadelphia, Larry Parrish

drilled a two-run homer to highlight a four-run fourth and Tim Lincecum singled home the decisive run in the seventh.

Haines single kept alive a 12-game hitting streak for the ex-Sanford standout. He leads the major leagues with 67 stolen bases.

Expos 5, Phillies 4
At Philadelphia, Larry Parrish

NL Baseball

The St. Louis Cardinals released Bobby Bonds because he couldn't help them very much, but he's helping them less right now.

"The difference from this year and last year is I'm well," Bonds said Monday after hitting two home runs to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 10-0 victory over his ex-club. "I've always said if I'm healthy I can play. It's very difficult to play when you're injured."

Reds 8, Padres 7
At Cincinnati, Johnny Bench hit two home runs and drove in three runs to help the Reds overcome a loss to the Cincinnati Reds.

Conversion Process Makes Economical Biofuel

GAINESVILLE — Agricultural scientists have developed a new self-powering conversion process they say can economically make alcohol or methane fuel out of just about anything from cornstalks to sawdust.

The new process involves treating cellulose fibers in a special sequence using heat, pressure and certain chemicals. The fibers are converted into glucose (sugar) and lignin, a cellulose residue. The sugar can then be fermented into alcohol or methane gas. The lignin may be used to power the fermenting, distilling and drying operations, making the process energy self-sufficient. Process by-products may even be used to feed cows.

A patent has been applied for on the new process and a small-scale pilot plant is being planned to expand the research, according to Dr. Wayne Smith, Center of Biomass Energy Systems at the UF's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences (IFAS).

Research the last two years has centered on converting bagasse, or sugarcane plant waste material, into glucose. But, scientists say, they can now make a feedstock for producing alcohol or methane gas with this process from hay, cornstalks, woodchips, sawdust, even from old paper.

"We are now capable of converting any agricultural fiber into glucose at the rate of an 85 percent yield. This method may help provide Florida a substantial amount of liquid fuel at prices competitive with gasoline from crude oil," said Professor Ferdinand le Grand, a researcher in the IFAS Agronomy Department.

Another researcher on the project, Dr. Seymour Block of the Chemical Engineering Department, said the application of the new process would be especially significant to Florida which has such an abundance of agricultural waste material and other renewable resources. Estimate of waste in Florida indicate that nearly 50 million tons are available each year.

Labor Day Tragedy...

Teenager, 2-Year-Old Die On State Roads

By United Press International
The grim toll of Florida traffic deaths over the long Labor Day weekend continues to rise.
Early today, the Florida Highway Patrol had received reports of 25 fatalities on Florida roadways — just 10 short of the 35 people the patrol predicted would die during the 78 hours between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight today.
The latest deaths reported were those of a teenager who failed to see a car stop in front of him, swerved his car and rolled over twice on a median strip south of Lake Placid, and a 2-year-old boy killed while he was playing underneath a car in Leon County.

Martin G. Garbade, 17, of Felts, Fla., died on State Road 25, three miles south of Lake Placid, Monday evening when a car stopped in front of him and he swerved to avoid it, the patrol said.
Garbade's car ran onto the median and overturned twice.
Earlier, Edward James Miller, 2, of Tallahassee, was killed while playing underneath a car at the Lovewood Plantation, a private residence east of Miccosukee in Leon County.

The boy was playing underneath the car, hidden from view, when a man got in the driver's seat and pulled away without seeing the youngster, troopers said.
Two youngsters have died when cars hit their bicycles.
Alex Islas, 11, of Delray Beach, was struck by a car and killed Sunday while riding his bicycle.
Glenn Wayne Demuth, 18, of Pinellas Park, was riding his bicycle on the wrong side of the road when he was struck by a car, the patrol said.

Traffic Accidents Kill At Least 350 Nationwide

By United Press International
More than 350 people were killed in traffic accidents nationwide during the 3½-day Labor Day holiday but the death count was well below the 500 fatalities predicted by the National Safety Council.
A United Press International count showed 352 people were killed in traffic accidents nationwide from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday. Last year, 531 people died in traffic accidents during the weekend and 21,300 were seriously injured.
California reported 48 deaths, followed by Texas with 38, Florida with 24, Ohio and Illinois with 17 each, New York with 15, Wisconsin and Tennessee with 14 apiece, Alabama, Mississippi and North Carolina with 13 each, and Louisiana and Missouri with 12 each.
Six people were killed in a blazing head-on collision between two trucks Monday on a winding stretch of Idaho state highway, state police said.
An Idaho State Police spokesman said a pickup truck carrying five people collided with a large van-style truck on a highway linking Boise with northern Idaho. The crash sparked a fiery explosion that touched off a small range fire, officers said.

A family of six was killed when their car hurtled off a concrete ramp Sunday night into the dark waters of Lake Sardis in Mississippi.
The accident was not discovered until Monday morning when a fisherman found one of the bodies. The submerged car and five other bodies — none of them inside the car — were recovered later. All six reportedly drowned.
A speeding car ran a stop sign in north Louisiana Sunday, knocking a motor home into a pickup truck, killing one person.
In one of the worst traffic accidents of the weekend, five people died about 7 miles south of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., when two cars collided head-on early Saturday.
Two New York City residents were killed and five others were injured Monday in a one-car crash on the New York Thruway near Catskill. State police said the driver apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Michael Shea and Karen Sugarman, both 18, died in a one-car crash in their hometown of Norwood, Mass., early Sunday. Police said Shea apparently was speeding when the car hit a stone wall and an oak tree on Route 1A. A fake license plate on the car said: "Drive like hell, you'll get there."
In Chicago, Antonio Colon, 31, was killed early Monday when his motorcycle slammed into a fire truck that was headed to the scene of a fire. Colon was the third Illinois traffic death of the weekend involving a motorcycle.
At least 11 people were killed in four separate plane crashes.
Five were killed in the fiery crash of a small plane Monday near the Rattlesnake Range in central Wyoming. The only discernible remains were an adult's hand, a child's hand and smaller pieces of human flesh.
Four others were killed Friday in Kansas City, Kan. when the plane they were riding in apparently stalled and crashed while they were en route to their holiday vacation.

Traits Passed On 2 Generations In Rabbits To Mice Gene Transfer

ATHENS, Ohio (UPI) — Ohio University researchers today announced the successful transfer of genes from one animal species to another — from rabbits to mice to their offspring — in a history-making first that may soon result in better livestock and someday help man.
Dr. Thomas E. Wagner, a molecular geneticist, said the five-member research team had transferred genes from rabbits to mice, which were in turn passed to two generations of mice.
The technique, he said, could be used either to transfer a desired trait within the same animal species, or to transfer a gene from a different species to create genetically unique animals.
The research could have major implications for the agriculture animal industry in the next decade, Wagner said. "Application of this technique to animal breeding could dramatically shorten the time necessary to selectively breed species of animals with improved food-producing characteristics."

Genetic Engineering Inc. of Denver already holds a license agreement with the university for commercial use of the patent on such research.
The Washington Post today reported the university and Genetic Engineering are already working to produce what Wagner calls "three-parent cattle." These would be cattle with genes from an otherwise unrelated bull or cow to confer some valued quality, such as faster growth or more milk production.
In addition, Wagner said, the new method may someday help humans by allowing the transfer of genes to prevent a disease or correct a genetic defect.
During their research, scientists said they "micro-injected" 20,000 copies of a rabbit-blood protein gene into the male pronuclei of one-celled, fertilized mouse eggs.
(Pronuclei are sperm cells that have swollen in preparation for combining with female genetic material in eggs they have recently penetrated.)

Rabbit genes were injected into 312 mice embryos in this way, and the mice embryos were cultured in test tubes in the laboratory. Of those, 211 survived and were transferred to female mice, the scientists said.
These mothers produced 46 offspring, including five mice that contained the rabbit hemoglobin protein in their red blood cells.
These offspring also were mated and their offspring contained the rabbit protein, suggesting the artificially introduced rabbit gene had been inherited by the mice, researchers said.
The findings of the research, funded by Ohio University, will be published in the October issue of the Proceedings of the National Academy of Science. Other members of the team were Joseph D. Jollick, a microbial geneticist, and research associates David R. Scholl, Richard L. Hodinka and Janice A. Gault.

Wearable Art

Her Designs Star In Art Awards Fashion Show

By DEE GATRELL
Herald Correspondent

Geneva artist Cecil Herring has literally taken art from the walls. Her artistic endeavors have set the pace for high fashion.

"For many years my paintings and sculpture work hung on my walls and sat in my yard. I decided to combine my painting and sculpture by making wearable art," says Mrs. Cecil Herring, Geneva artist, creator of exotic jewelry and hand painted fabrics.

Cecil finds it stimulating to see art worn on the body instead of always hanging on the wall.

She displayed her variety of talents at the National Scholastic Art Awards Fashion Show, "From Cave Walls to Canvases" held at Robinson's Garden Room in Altamonte Springs.

Art slides were coordinated with clothing, to match the fabric of the slide. For example, ink drawings were matched with black and white clothing.

Pastels, colors and charcoal slides from the Degas period had clothing coordinated to match these colors. Models were Orange County art teachers. Co-chairmen were Jean Whitehead and Toria Hubbard.

Mrs. Herring's exotic jewelry was displayed not only in cases but by coordinating her jewelry, belts and hand-painted vests with the clothing worn by the models. One of the vests worn in the show was called "tiger rag" and displayed a gold tiger on the back.

Dr. Jane Rivell, Orange County Schools Program Coordinator for Art, took delight in appearing at the different tables wearing a Herring original — a black feather boa attached to a gold crown, draped over her black dress.

Energy seems to exude freely from this charming artist as she tells about her 700 square foot studio in Geneva where she creates her original sculpture and art works.

She lives on 10 acres and paints a picture of a yard filled with her sculpture work. Inside her studio, she proceeds to make her gold jewelry by using a process known as electroforming.

She says it is "very technical" and is an unusual medium. She also has one bedroom in her home for her design sewing. The patterns for her fabric art are cut from newspaper.

Cecil was wearing one of her original creations which she calls "shogun". It is a two-piece ensemble of various shades of purple. The jumpsuit is fashioned from a striped fabric with a long jacket lined with the same purple striped fabric as the jumpsuit.

She wore a long black-braided necklace enhanced with a bold gold metal design. Her fingers were covered with a variety of rings she had made. Cecil refers to her work as "one of a kind art pieces," whether it's jewelry, hand painted fabric or those elements combined.

Having studied under many known instructors, Cecil has taken classes in sculpture, painting, jewelry design and many technical fields such as welding, electroplating, and electroforming.

Whenever her work begins to close in on her Cecil says she leaves her studio and goes to Park Place, Lake Mary, where she sells real estate part time. "I get many of my ideas for my art by meeting people and by seeing their homes," says Cecil. She says she really enjoys the chance to mingle with people after being closed up for many long hours designing her art work.

Cecil has previously exhibited in art shows in New York. More recently she staged shows in Miami and Gainesville, and has exhibited in many art shows throughout Florida.

She will be displaying her work in the Festival of the Masters being held at Walt Disney Village, Nov. 13-15. This show is by invitation only and the artist has to have been a primary winner in at least one Florida show.

"My ultimate dream is to open a design studio in Central Florida — like a boutique," says Cecil.

Along with being creative and talented in fashion and jewelry designing, Cecil has other talents as well. Previously she was a photo-journalist for the Melbourne Times, Today News in Cocoa Beach and for Fairchild Publications Women's Wear Daily.

But after nine years, she says she decided to work at art full time.

Evening bag by Cecil Herring is 24k gold electroplate.

Cecil Herring models the "shogun" outfit and bold gold jewelry she designed.

Student Wants To Marry Teacher

DEAR ABBY: I'm 18, just graduated from high school, and for the last six months I've been dating a woman of 30. I would like nothing more than to marry her, but there are problems.

She teaches high school. (That's how we met — I was one of her students.) We started dating while her divorce was pending, but because of school-district policy, we couldn't go public with our affair. Only her sister, my family and one mutual friend (another woman teacher) know about us. After her divorce, she plans to move in with the mutual friend to avoid gossip. I offered to stop seeing her, but she refused.

She admitted that when we first started seeing each other she was only interested in sex and didn't intend to fall in love with me, but she couldn't help herself. If we get married, she could go on teaching and I could work part time and go to college. The only barrier we have is that she worries about what "society" will think because of the age difference, and because she's a school teacher and I'm a student. I don't care what anybody thinks. I've always been mature for my age and know we could be happy together. What do you think?

18 GOING ON 30
DEAR 18: I'm sure you could be happy together, but for how long? I recommend a long engagement. Very long. And if you still feel the same way about each other in two years, I'll buy the rice.

DEAR ABBY: Granted, western attire is the big fad now, but I think there's a time and place for everything. Lately I've seen men of all ages — bankers, salesmen, business executives, you name it — all wearing cowboy boots with business suits. I think they look ridiculous. I can see cowboy boots with jeans or western clothes, but to me, a man dressed in a business suit and cowboy boots looks dumb.

What are those idiots trying to prove? Send me your opinion.

PETE IN PA.
DEAR PETE: Cowboy boots with business suits are part of the culture in certain parts of the country. (Nevada, Texas, Colorado, Oklahoma.) I happen to think they look neat. And those who wear them say they're far more comfortable than regular shoes. Don't judge a man until you've walked 10 miles in his cowboy boots.

DEAR ABBY: Brian (not his real name) and I met when we were 15 and 14. We were "sweet" on each other throughout the summer, but went our separate ways later in the fall. We kept in touch for a while, but eventually we lost all contact. That was 12 years ago. I am 26 now, graduated from college, married and "Mama" to two young sons.

In our community newspaper, I read that Brian and his wife have moved into our neighborhood. Considering that we live in a large city, New Orleans, I was quite astonished that someone I knew years ago would end up in our neighborhood. My first impulse was to get in touch with Brian and rejoice at renewing an old friendship, then I wondered if it would be too forward, and possibly be looked upon as improper by his wife. I'd like to be hospitable, but don't want my actions to be misinterpreted. What would you do?

DIANA
DEAR DIANA: Since you now live in the same neighborhood, give it a little more time — you may run into each other. If you don't, I see no harm in writing a note to him and his wife welcoming them to the neighborhood, and inviting them to call you and your husband. After all, you were only "sweet" on each other for one summer when you were a couple of kids.

DEAR ABBY: My husband deserted me in Oklahoma 20 years ago. He went to Detroit and married another woman without even divorcing me. Twelve years later I was granted a divorce on the grounds of desertion. Well, Abby, in my religion I believe that we are still married in the eyes of God until death do us part, and I will not be free to marry again until he dies.

I don't even know whether he is living or dead, and I wonder if there is a way I can find out when he dies. We are both 43 years old.

MARRIED FOR LIFE
DEAR MARRIED: Get in touch with his nearest kin or a close relative. Even a close friend will do. Ask to be notified in the event of your ex-husband's death. And it wouldn't hurt to keep checking back with them at least once a year in case they forget.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (33 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 12800 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 8000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Wednesday, September 9, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY September 9, 1981
This coming year you should be able to find time to become involved in two social sports in which you've long been interested. Participation will produce fringe benefits.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
You might find much to criticize in certain individuals with whom you'll deal today, but you'd be wise to keep your observations to yourself.

Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph that begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Your way of doing things may be better than those of your peers today, but they might fail to follow your lead because of the way you present your case.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Usually you're pretty good at learning the hidden motives of others, but today you could read negative factors where none exist.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Sometimes you can spend a pretty penny on pleasurable pastimes and not regret it. However, today expensive diversions could cause remorse.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Take care in career situations today when dealing with people who have caused problems for you in the past. They may still try to take a few swipes at you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Instead of facing challenges today, you may be tempted to withdraw. This could prove self-defeating. Don't use your imagination negatively.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Sometimes it's best not to know a friend's deep, dark secrets. A pal may try to confide in you today something better left unsaid.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Goals important to you today may not be so to your associates. You could cause problems if you are too single-minded. Be careful.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Your productivity will be diminished today if you persist in working with methods that have failed thus far. Look for new approaches.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
This is not a good day to try to manage something complicated that you know little about for another. You may harm rather than help.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Skirt subjects today on which you and your mate take opposing views. A friendly discussion could turn into a heated debate.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
You might find much to criticize in certain individuals with whom you'll deal today, but you'd be wise to keep your observations to yourself.

Patient Questions Doctor's Advice

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — My doctor claims that he can tell me what my risk of having a heart attack or stroke is from his examination. He says that my cholesterol is high and my blood pressure is high. Actually, it is only 145 over 95 and I have read that isn't bad for a person my age. I'm 65.

He thinks I need to lose weight, but I also heard on TV that a recent study by the National Academy of Sciences said that diet didn't help in preventing heart disease and the American Heart Association was all wrong about this. If I were really overweight I wouldn't mind going on a diet, but I'm really not any heavier than most of the other men I know and they are not on a diet. What is your opinion of all this?

DEAR READER — My opinion is that you should follow your doctor's advice. You have managed to put together a lot of misinformation that can harm you.

First, your doctor is absolutely right in telling you that he can estimate your risk. And the risk factors are the best measurement of how much disease you have in your arteries.

A good study was done at the University of California, Davis School of Medicine, that helped to prove this point. The arteries to the heart were visualized with arteriograms and correlated with blood pressure, cigarette smoking, cholesterol levels and other risk factors. The individuals with the lowest risk factors had no significant evidence of disease in their arteries while the individuals with high risk factors did have.

The risk factors and what they mean are discussed in The Health Letter number 13-2, How to Measure Your Risk of Heart Disease, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. And there is other good news.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have learned that a lot of the younger folks are sleeping in the nude. While my granddaughter says it is natural and is a strong believer in doing things naturally, I think it could be harmful. I tried to tell her that it could cause acute inflammatory arthritis. Would you tell her so she will listen before it is too late.

DEAR READER — It may not be as natural as she thinks. Even the cavemen wore animal skins and you can bet they didn't take them off at night in the winter — at least for sleeping.

Actually, it all depends upon other factors. In the winter, warm bed clothes really help, particularly if the house temperature is lowered to save on heating bills. This is particularly important in older people who can gradually lose body heat and have a low temperature crisis that can be dangerous.

If the room is warm it is less important. Of course, warm bedding helps but if you stick out of the covers you can lose a lot of heat that way. Cold will not cause inflammatory arthritis but it can contribute to muscle spasms and muscle cramps.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sonsteg

The bidding in the box took place at table one in a Swiss team.

South's failure to use Blackwood was due to his dislike of his heart holding. He was certain that his partner held either two or three aces and didn't want to gamble on seven if North happened to hold three.

West led the 10 of spades after which the play proceeded quickly and unsuccessfully for South.

South won, drew trumps with two leads and led his deuce of hearts. The play had been fast, but West had been thinking right along and produced his three of hearts without a quiver.

South called for dummy's nine. This is the correct percentage play since it would be a winner if West had been dealt either king-10 or queen-10 of the suit, while the jack play would only succeed against the actual holding.

East returned the club jack. Clubs failed to break. There was no squeeze and South was down one.

The game was Swiss team as mentioned earlier. There was no swing. At table two, North jumped directly to three diamonds. South Blackwooded to seven. West opened the king of hearts and seven went down just one.
