Casselberry OKs Council Of Cities

By KATHY NIBLACK
 CASSELLBERRY — The City Council last night adopted a resolution indicating its intent to join and help organize the CALNO Council of Municipal Governments. The CALNO council, which becomes official on July 1, will consist of representatives from Casselberry, Altamonte Springs, Longwood and North Orlando. The Casselberry resolution indicates that the purpose of the council will be "to seek solutions to mutual challenges of growth" and to "develop policies and plans common and regional in nature."
 Casselberry's representative to the council will be the mayor or the acting mayor. The council will be set up for an initial term of one year, with renewal following that year automatic without subsequent resolutions.
 In action taken at a work session following last night's regular meeting, the council heard Mayor Curtis Blue's recommendation of Rocky Rasooli as new chief of the Volunteer Fire Department.
 Councilman William Grier, citing recent evidence of dissonance within the department, suggested it might be wise to let the volunteers vote by secret ballot "on the man under whom they'd rather serve."
 Mayor Blue, in reply to this, stated he had given this idea careful consideration but had decided against it. "The citizens of Casselberry elected me a year ago to take care of administrative duties," he said. "These include appointments. I've come to the conclusion that as long as I'm mayor, I'm going to run the office of mayor. I'm going to appoint the individual who I feel is the best qualified."
 He continued, "The chief should not just be a 'house man' or a 'good time Joe,' he should be an administrator. I stand behind my proposal."
 Councilman Harry Sambrook, in supporting the mayor's recommendation of Rasooli, said, "I've seen Rasooli take command. I've seen the men rally around him." The mayor's recommendation will be considered in the regular council meeting next Monday night.
 The mayor asked that the consideration of a recommendation for city judge be postponed until he has further time to consider the considerable number of recommendations he has received for the post.

 Two days ago I had a mild argument with a friend... he said that motorcycles were safer than cars. I disagreed. No one was a wabber in that argument. Yesterday I had the grim task of photographing an accident.
 It was an accident that took the life of a 16-year-old youth. The same one that I had conversed with as we were playing a pinball machine only 24 hours earlier.
 The tragic part of the story is, he stood on firm belief that motorcycles were safer than cars, and then lost his life while driving a car.
 The truth of the matter is, no means of transportation is safe anymore... and it's getting worse. The roads are not safe to travel. They were not built to handle the capacity of traffic that travels on them everyday, and as the opening of Walt Disney World nears, it is going to get much worse.
 The Florida Highway Patrol is aware of the growing problem as they have recently placed several new troopers in the area. The troopers have recently got new cars and, of course, they are all equipped with radar. The radar device that might save your life, even if it does cost you a few dollars.
 Instead of cursing the officer when he stops to issue you a citation for excessive speed, you should say "thanks." He's only doing his job, and in the process may save your life, or the life of another person's using the public highways.
 I really think many more people should get a chance to see the facts of driving in 1971. But then again, most people would just take a look and say, "That will never happen to me."

 Seminole High School Boosters will have to be satisfied with only $5,000 allotted in this year's school budget and earmarked for additional portable bleacher seats at Sanford Municipal Stadium.
 The Boosters Club has approached the board several times asking for action to increase the stadium seating capacity and make other alterations to improve the field, making it acceptable to teams who must travel here for home games with the Seminoles.
 The apparent indication following action Monday afternoon by the school budget committee, which studied the boosters request for an estimated $80,000 for a general up-lifting and renovation of the former city baseball stadium, now in the final year of a two-year lease to the School Board for use by Seminole High School's football team.

Law Permits Port To Aid Industry

The Seminole County Port Authority (SCOPA) now has an industrial function. This was disclosed to SCOPA members at Monday night's monthly meeting by William Hutchison, SCOPA attorney, who disclosed the state Legislature had passed a modification to the port act, which will allow the authority to issue industrial revenue bonds to aid financing of industry wanting to locate in the county.
 This was brought on a disclosure from James Ryan, SCOPA administrator, that "we are close to an arrangement where we can do an industrial revenue bond for an industry wanting to come into the county."
 The projected industry would mean the addition of some 150 new jobs for the facility, which would locate at the port property.
 In discussing another industrial prospect, Ryan disclosed that Industrial Contracting Company, which is now headquartered at Fort Lauderdale, had approached him about moving its heavy equipment operation, including dredging, to the Port of Sanford.
 Ryan said this would mean from 25 to 30 new jobs, but necessarily be local since the firm did contracting work all over the state, but "their families would live here," he added.
 Sidney Villes Jr., SCOPA member and county commissioner, cautioned that heavy equipment firms sometimes have unsteady conditions in the area of their location and he warned Ryan to first check out the firm's Fort Lauderdale layout before entering into an agreement.
 "We are trying now to keep a good image at the industrial side," Villes added.
 On another matter, Ryan disclosed he had been successful in hiring a custodian at the port, but said there was a problem finding someone who would work for the low $7 weekly salary set up for hiring.

Buie Opposes Redding As Seminole Principal

By BILL SCOTT
 Preliminary indications that School Supt. John Orange will attempt to name an Orange County educator to replace promoted Richard Barnett as principal at Seminole High School at tonight's School Board meeting, already has drawn fire from one county board member.
 A. P. Buie, one of two Democrats on the five member board, in a memorandum to Angel and other board members, said he would oppose the appointment of Jack Redding, now employed by Orange County as director of that county's adult education program, after he had advised Buie of his plans and invited the board member to meet Redding at a June 18, 4 p.m. meeting.
 Buie said he would like it a matter of record that "I oppose the nomination of this man for the principalship or any occupation in Seminole County and that I have litigation pending in which he is a defendant."
 Buie further advised Angel he intends to prefer professional Practice Commission action against Redding as quickly as his (Buie's) legal action is terminated.
 Referring back to the recent activities at Seminole High School, regarding racial unrest, Buie praised the manner in which Barnett handled the situation but cautioned, "I can tell you without fear of being too far from the mark, that if Redding were principal there would have been greater problems to contend with."
 Buie said he felt that Redding is not capable of the kind of judgment necessary for a principal to run a school.
 "When one considers that racial situation will be endemic at Seminole High School for more than a year to come, the situation becomes explosive," Buie added.
 The School Board meets at 7:30 tonight at Lyman High School.

Natural Causes

Results of an autopsy performed Monday on the body of a 21-year-old Sanford man disclosed he died of natural causes. This was announced today by Det. Sgt. Roy Williams, who investigated the death of Amos Lee Hill, after the man was found dead in his William Clark Courts apartment.
 Last night the village council voted to take back the equipment against the measure was Winston Hart. He said that he believes it is necessary as more money could be provided to the fire department by increasing the amount the city gives the department for each house. The village had paid 20 cents monthly per house for fire protection and Hart had suggested an increase to 30 or 60 cents per house.
 After the vote authorizing the takeover of the equipment, the question arose about insurance for the equipment and compensation insurance for the firemen. The council voted to authorize Mayor Granville Brown to negotiate a policy covering the trucks and equipment only.
 Village Attorney Thom a Freeman advised the council that it could not legally pay the premium on a compensation policy for the firemen since they are part of a separate entity. He said the council could authorize an outright grant to the fire department corporation which it could use to pay for insurance. No action was taken on the matter since compensation policy that is in effect does not expire until Nov. 1.
 The matter of ways to provide funds to the fire department had been the topic of discussion at the past several council meetings. The council is concerned with how much it would cost to operate the fire department, no matter who had control of the equipment.
 Last night Councilman Herbert Fox reported to the council that the operation expenses for the calendar year of 1970 had been $1,125. He reported that to date this year the expenses of the fire department had been $484.11, exclusive of the $500 allocated by the council for a new pump for one of the trucks. Fox said there are approximately $437 in fixed expenses to be paid yet this calendar year.
 Fox estimated the expense of the fire department for the coming year as $2,300. He said that he based this amount on the expenses of the past years and the anticipated growth of the coming year. He added that this figure did not include the cost of any additional trucks or a station on Tuacawilla Road which has been proposed.

Boston Globe Quotes Pentagon 'Secret':

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Globe printed today what it said were excerpts from a Pentagon study on the Vietnam war. It includes a report on a high-level meeting at which a top U. S. officer demanded that commanders be given the freedom to use tactical nuclear weapons in Vietnam.

The report, taken from the 47-volume Pentagon study of the war, said that at a meeting of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Honolulu in June 1964 Adm. Harry D. Felt, then commander of the Pacific Forces, demanded the option to use nuclear weapons "as had been assumed under various plans."

There was no mention of the various plans.

The Globe is the third U.S. newspaper to publish excerpts from the massive Pentagon study detailing American involvement in Vietnam.

Also present at the JCS Honolulu meeting were Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Ambassador to Hanoi Gen. Curtis LeMay, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, and John McCona, director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The discussion about the use of nuclear weapons in Vietnam arose, the Globe said, on the question of whether the Chinese Communist forces would enter the war.

"Secretary McNamara then went on to say that the possibility of major ground action also led to a series of questions of having to use nuclear weapons at some point," the Globe quoted the report.

"Admiral Felt responded emphatically that there was no possible way to hold off the Communists on the ground without the use of tactical nuclear weapons and that it was essential that the commanders be given the freedom to use these as had been assumed under various plans," the report said.

The Globe said discussion included the "desirability of obtaining a congressional resolution prior to wide U.S. action."

"Lodge felt it would not be necessary. But Defense Secretary McNamara, Rusk and CIA director McCona all argued in favor of the resolution," the Globe said.

Other excerpts in the Globe include a report on the 1968 Tet Offensive by Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, an early Vietnamization plan by President Johnson as a result of that offensive, and three cables from Gen. Taylor to President Kennedy in which the general recommended the deployment of 8,000 ground combat troops to Vietnam.

The Globe said it was making the report for the first time in the role of the Kennedy administration in the escalation of the war.

"As early as May 11, 1961, President Kennedy," the article said, "had approved programs for covert action which had been recommended by a Vietnam Task Force."

Court Considers Publications

NEW YORK (AP) — With all eight judges sitting because of the "extraordinary importance" of the issue, the federal appeals court here today considers the government's move to halt The New York Times publication of classified Pentagon papers.

A judge panel from the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals extended a restraining order against The Times today to allow the full court to hear what the newspaper called "a unique case in the history of the nation."

Circuit Judge Henry J. Friendly said that all the members had conferred by telephone over the weekend and were "in accord in their belief that this appeal raised questions of such extraordinary importance that it should be heard by all the judges."

The Times printed three installments of a series based on the Pentagon's 47-volume study of the origins and escalation of the Vietnam war, but the series was halted a week ago by the restraining order pending the outcome of the government suit.

Last Saturday, U.S. District Court Judge Murray J. Gurstein turned down the government's request for a preliminary injunction barring The Times from publishing further articles based on the classified documents but the government appealed to the circuit court.

The Washington order suspended a ruling by U.S. Dist. Judge Gerhard A. Gesell that the Post could go ahead with its series. Gesell said the government had failed to prove publication would lead to a compromise of military plans or a compromise of intelligence operations.

The Post abided by the order. It was the second time the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia ruled against the Times.

Artillery Base Is Attacked

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces, repulsed in an early morning ground attack, hit a besieged South Vietnamese artillery base just south of the demilitarized zone with a heavy mortar barrage Monday night.

Field reports said more than 300 mortar rounds hit Firebase Fuller, stop an 1,800-foot mountain four miles south of the DMZ. A spokesman said casualties among the defenders were light, with none killed.

Two American bases along the southern edge of the buffer zone also came under attack, but no casualties were reported.

The attacks resulted from a dry season buildup of North Vietnamese forces just south of the DMZ that Vietnamese officials at Firebase Fuller say had come later than usual this year because of the disruptive effect on the enemy of the South Vietnamese invasion of Laos last February.

In a dispatch from Saigon, Sun correspondent Michael Parks said copies of the accounts which appeared in recent editions of the Washington Post and the New York Times were not widely available until Monday, more than a week after the first article appeared.

"If the American people believe they were tricked into sending troops here, it will be nearly impossible for President Nixon to keep any sort of residual force," warned a Vietnamese cabinet official, according to the Sun.

Doctor Testifies At Trial

By MARION BETHLEA
Are you familiar with the battered child syndrome... do you believe she was a victim... do you believe this resulted in her death?

Dr. James McMillan, pediatrician at Orlando Naval Hospital, gave an affirmative answer to all of the above questions by Assistant State Attorney David Porter at the trial of Ronald Powers, charged with second degree murder in the death of his two-year-old stepdaughter, Lana Bennett.

The trial is entering the second day before a five-man women jury. In testimony on March 17, Dr. Powers, wife, Charlene, who entered a guilty plea to manslaughter, there were few spectators in court. However, one noteworthy spectator was attorney Clark Jennings, who defended Mrs. Powers, until he was dismissed in the closing moments before her plea.

Powers listened to the testimony impassively, resting his head upon his hand. He occasionally glanced at his father-in-law, sitting amidst the spectators, and at the window of the courtroom where Mrs. Powers was watching the proceedings.

Mrs. Powers is expected to be called as a state witness.

Dr. McMillan testified in direct examination that Lana was admitted to the hospital on six separate occasions during 1967, 1968, 1969, until her death the following February. On the first admission, he said, she displayed swollen feet and had bruises upon her buttocks.

BLACK AND BLUE

The doctor continued that on Aug. 31, and readmitted on Aug. 12, this time with her feet again black and blue and swollen. He said that at the time he was told that the child had "been involved with thorns in the yard."

The child was discharged on Aug. 27, and readmitted on Aug. 29, with the same problem with her feet. She was discharged on Sept. 24, readmitted Sept. 24, this time with a swollen scalp and a bruise upon her right cheek.

Tests taken upon the little girl disclosed no abnormalities of a medical nature, the doctor testified. He continued, "We were of the opinion that someone was battering the child." The mother was advised of this opinion and it was suggested that the child be kept clear of her home environment.

Following the child's discharge on Sept. 30, she was readmitted Oct. 3 with a red and swollen scalp, and swelling behind her ear which the doctor described as "traumatic bruises."

On Oct. 21, he said, she was

WASHINGTON POST

WASHINGTON (AP) — An appeals court again has stopped The Washington Post from printing further disclosure of a once-secret Pentagon study and set a hearing on the matter today before all nine judges of the court.

The Washington order suspended a ruling by U.S. Dist. Judge Gerhard A. Gesell that the Post could go ahead with its series. Gesell said the government had failed to prove publication would lead to a compromise of military plans or a compromise of intelligence operations.

The Post abided by the order. It was the second time the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia ruled against the Times.

BALTIMORE SUN

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Newspaper reports on the recent Pentagon study on U.S. military involvement in Southeast Asia have caused South Vietnamese officials to fear an accelerated withdrawal of American support, the Baltimore Sun reported today.

In a dispatch from Saigon, Sun correspondent Michael Parks said copies of the accounts which appeared in recent editions of the Washington Post and the New York Times were not widely available until Monday, more than a week after the first article appeared.

"If the American people believe they were tricked into sending troops here, it will be nearly impossible for President Nixon to keep any sort of residual force," warned a Vietnamese cabinet official, according to the Sun.

Council Seeking Bans

By KATHY NIBLACK

CASSELBERRY—There will be no rock festivals or bottle clubs in Casselberry if the city council succeeds in adopting the two ordinances it considered in work session last night.

A proposed bottle club ordinance, similar to that which has been adopted by the county, will strictly control and hopefully eliminate these establishments within the city limits. Councilman Bill Gray expressed his opinion that this ordinance "will be effective."

The proposed rock festival ordinance, modeled after the one now existing in Orange County, would make it improbable that such an event would be organized in the city. The ordinance includes such requirements as a $300,000 liability insurance fee and a $500 per day permit fee.

Council chairman Edith Duerr expressed her concern that promoters might possibly seek to hold a rock festival in the Seminole Downs racetrack clubhouse, since the proposed ordinance is concerned only with festivals held in open spaces.

She was advised by attorney Ned Julian, filling in for vacationing city attorney Ken McClinton, that the ordinance would be possibly not hold up in court if it is extended to include festivals held in enclosed places. The ordinance will be prepared in form for a city ordinance, and will be considered at the next regular council meeting.

Also discussed at last night's meeting was a request by North Orlando to use Casselberry's jail facilities. Council Chairman Duerr suggested that Police Chief Karcher study a recently prepared agreement with Altamonte Springs (which that city never entered into) to see if this agreement could be fitted to the North Orlando situation. In this agreement, North Orlando would be responsible for transportation and insurance for each prisoner, and would have to pay for each prisoner.

Councilman John Leighty informed the council that he had talked with the police chief at North Orlando, and has been told that the number of prisoners involved would not exceed five per month, and would probably be less.

Chief Karcher expressed his desire to work this out for the mutual agreement of both cities. He will look into the proposed agreement and discuss the matter again with the council at a later date. Casselberry is presently dispatching for North Orlando, and Mayor Elow reports this has been "no undue taxation upon our dispatchers."

In further action at last night's work session, the council discussed a proposed ordinance concerning the distribution of littering materials, a resolution concerning the TOPICS program, and a proposed pension plan for city employees.

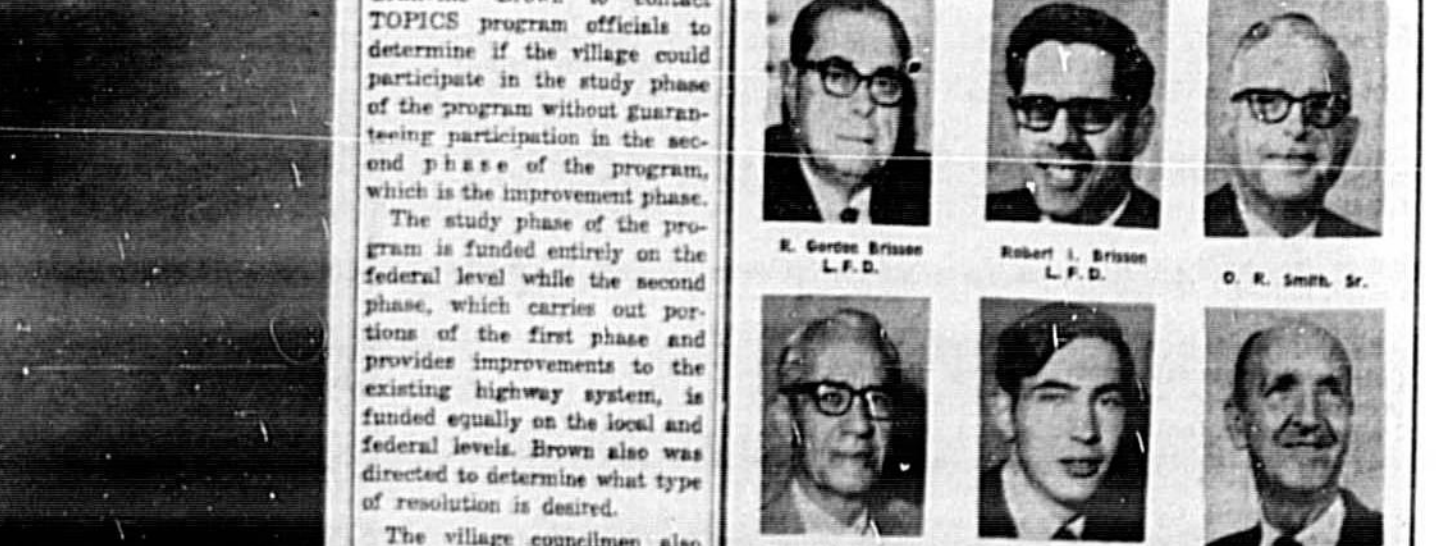

Village Halts Action Pending Research

NORTH ORLANDO—Action was delayed on the proposed annexation of the north-of-way of SR 436 by the Village of North Orlando. The Village Council last night elected to delay any action on the matter to allow Village Attorney Thomas Freeman more time to research the matter.

Also last night, the village councilmen directed Mayor Granville Brown to contact TOPICS program officials to determine if the village could participate in the study phase of the program without guaranteeing participation in the second phase of the program, which is the improvement phase and provides improvements to the existing highway system. It is funded equally on the local and federal levels. Brown also was directed to determine what type of resolution is desired.

The village councilmen also took under advisement a request by Chief of Police Walter Batchelor to acquire a traffic control radar device on a lease-purchase basis. Batchelor said that due to the short distance on most of the streets in the village it is difficult to obtain a good "clock" on speeding motorists. The chief said that the proposed $25 monthly payments would be reduced if the cities of Longwood, Altamonte

To Juveniles

Jails Are 'Closed'

MIAMI (AP) — A Florida appeals court has ruled that juveniles suspected of crimes may not be taken to jails for questioning but instead must be turned over to the nearest juvenile court "without delay."

The three-judge Third District Court of Appeals announced its ruling in overturning the conviction of a 16-year-old Miami youth who confessed to robbery charges after two hours of questioning by Dade County public safety officers.

Identified in the appeals court decision as "A. J. A., a child," the boy was arrested July 17, 1970. At the boy's trial, Juvenile Court Judge Dixie Chastain admitted the confession into evidence.

Chastain denied motions by the defense counsel to suppress the confession, and the boy was sentenced to an indeterminate term in the county youth hall.

"The purpose of this directive is that a juvenile, presumably inexperienced in the ways of crime, should not be subjected to the intimidating influences of an adult police station or jail," the appeals court said.

The court ordered a new trial for the youth.

Jax Blacks Seek To Oust Deputy

By F. T. MACEVELY

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — With street rioting apparently at an end, at least temporarily, black leaders are concentrating on efforts to put unshariffed D. K. Brown out of his job.

"Basically he doesn't relate to the black community," said James Washington, president of the National Association of Colored People's Jacksonville branch. "D. K. Brown fails to understand the kind of law enforcement that will serve both black and white."

Brown said he doesn't understand this. He thought he was working toward better race relations.

"We've got forward looking programs in human relations," the Duval County lawman said. "They don't quite get the job done yet, but we've moved a long way."

Chief Karcher expressed his agreement. Brown took early retirement at age 33 three years ago. He has been No. 2 man in the consolidated Jacksonville

Capitol Doors 'Open'

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — President Nixon said Monday the White House door "is always open" to Frank E. Fitzsimmons, who stepped into the presidency of the giant Teamsters' Union after imprisonment of James H. Hoffa resigned.

The union's executive board Sunday night accepted a written resignation from Hoffa, who has been in federal prison on a jury tampering conviction since March 1967.

Earlier this month Hoffa announced he would not run for reelection and would back Fitzsimmons, then vice president of the 2,000,000 member union.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Hoffa's name was never mentioned by Nixon or anyone else.

Ziegler quoted Nixon as saying: "If you have legislative matters you want to discuss with us, just let us know. We may differ on legislative proposals but... when it comes

Barge Canal Debated

River Dammed, Damned

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Conservationists Monday attacked the contents of the Cross-Florida Barge Canal, but pro-construction forces took action they hope will keep the controversial ditch in shape for eventual revival.

At an Orlando meeting conducted by the U.S. Forest Service, anti-barge canal speakers urged that the federal government immediately implement a proposal to lower the Rodman Reservoir by five feet.

The conservationists said lowering the level of the pool from 18 feet to 13 feet would prevent hundreds of hardwood trees from drowning.

The Rodman Pool, created when part of the Oklawaha River was dammed during the construction of the 108-mile, Jacksonville-to-Yankeetown canal, was dammed in a different way by ecologists.

The conservationists say the pool is a snag-infested blight on the Oklawaha Valley. The forestry officials to include the Oklawaha in the national scenic rivers program and prevent its exploitation by those people who want to see the canal completed.

At an earlier meeting in Jacksonville, the Florida Canal Authority voted to fight the lowering of the Rodman Pool and continue its fight to reactivate canal construction, which was halted by order of President

Bold Legislative Action On Billboards Due

Apparent willingness of the State Legislature to side-step the critical issue of billboard control is something which the voters, taxpayers-public—should understand and make their wishes known to the legislature, still in session.

This surely sounds like good common sense. Ride down I-4 from Sanford to Orlando and the spillage of the beauty which used to be a true Floridian scene of groves, woods, field and swamps greets the eyes.

Industrial Waste

Industrial waste discharges throughout the land have until July 1 to file applications with the Army Corps of Engineers for permits to discharge into navigable streams.

Rules for establishing a nation-wide federal permit program to regulate discharges into navigable streams have just been released. It marks the beginning of a coordinated program of water quality enforcement under the Federal Refuse Act of 1899.

Under the regulations just announced, permits are required for existing and future industrial waste discharges. Applications must be filed by July 1 for existing discharges and 120 days before new discharges can be started.

These federal regulations are noted here as matters of timely interest, especially to affected industries or navigable streams within our borders. And the fact that municipalities on such streams are not affected by these regulations is noted.

Search, Seizure Restrictions Tightened

By BARRY SCHWED
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court in a tough 5-4 decision by Justice Potter Stewart...

art has tightened restrictions on searches, indicating perhaps a difficult time for the Nixon administration's wiretap policies.

A government appeal seeking the unrestricted right to wiretap persons it sees as domestic subversives was granted review Monday shortly before Stewart's ruling cut down the murder conviction of a New Hampshire man.

The Fourth Amendment and its guarantee against unreasonable searches and seizures is central to both cases.

Stewart said Edward H. Coolidge Jr. was entitled to a new trial in the slaying of 14-year-old Pamela Mason of Manchester, N.H., because police had not obtained a warrant from a neutral magistrate to vacuum the suspect's car for evidence.

A SLIGHT CASE OF SPECIAL PLEADING seems to be in the making in this confrontation between McCook, Neb., patrolman Laura McConnell and one "Cookie," a bulidog, also of McCook, whose owner and chauffeur is Mrs. William Stewart. For the record, neither Mrs. Stewart nor "Cookie" lost a license.

U. S. To Revive Fight On Smoking

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission plans soon to revive its seven-year-old fight to require cigarette makers to say in advertising that smoking is harmful to health.

The expected approach this time is a complaint against manufacturers charging that failure to warn of smoking's health hazards in cigarette ads is deceptive. Warnings already are required by law on cigarette packs.

A formal announcement of the proposed complaint is expected after July 1, when a congressional ban on health warning regulation by the FTC expires.

The FTC, which has backed health warnings in cigarette advertising since the 1964 report by the U.S. Surgeon General linking cigarette smoking and lung cancer, has been frustrated at every turn by Congress.

An FTC spokesman said Monday the agency's staff has recommended a plan of attack, but wouldn't say publicly what it is. Congress has forbidden the FTC to make any industry-wide cigarette advertising rule without giving it six months notice.

Maurita Ann Norris, Barry W. Barks Exchange Vows In Double Ring Rites

Miss Maurita Ann Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Norris, Orlando, and Barry Wayne Barks, son of Dr. and Mrs. Orville L. Barks, Sanford, were united in Holy Matrimony June 12 at 5:30 p.m. at First United Methodist Church, Sanford.

The church was decorated with triangular arrangements of white mums, carnations and baby's breath placed on pedestals, brass candelabra with white satin ribbon and magnolia leaves.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length gown of elegantly designed candlelight peau de soie and jeweled scalloped Chantilly lace in an "A" line Empire silhouette. It featured a bodice of lace with a satin neckline and long pointed sleeves. The full scalloped and lace bordered attached chapel length train swept from the Empire back with self button and loop closing.

Her chapel length mantilla edged with matching lace was held by a tall tulle crown and she carried a cascading bouquet of Tiera roses, stephanotis and baby's breath with removable corsage.

The groom is a faculty member of the Seminole County School System.

Other out-of-town guests included Mrs. C. E. Murphy, Columbus, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Craig, Nancy and Kathy Craig, Columbus, S. C.; Dr. and Mrs. Guy Dillard Jr., and family, West Palm Beach and Dr. and Mrs. Durham Young, Leesburg.

Miss Yvonne Chapoff was complimented with a recent graduation tea given by her three college roommates at the John E. Bolton home, 1202 Forest Drive, Sanford. Miss Chapoff was graduated from Seminole Junior College, June 18, and hostesses for the tea were the Misses Betty Coale, Debbie Schneider and Kaycee Greif.

The party area was decorated with arrangements of white glads in tall crystal vases and white daisies in complexes and low containers.

Couple Married 25 Years

The reception was held on Sunday, June 6, at the Gammethaler home on Marty Boulevard in Forest City.

Mrs. Gammethaler, guested the estimated 150 guests wearing the dress she had worn for her wedding 25 years ago. Softly glowing candles illuminated the entire house, including the reception table decorated with all-white appointments and pink floral arrangements. A lovely wedding cake was the center of attraction on the table.

YOU MIGHT SAY she has a head for music. A mini-skirted musician made good use of her guitar case when an unexpected shower drenched a Rome street.

KNEE DEEP in OUTDOORS by BILL VINCENT JR.

Fishing enthusiasts have had a good week of fishing in Lake Jessup. Since the middle of last week the beam and blue gills have been biting live worms and some cut bait. The best fishing has been around the shore line and in the grassy areas with a cane pole, and light line, and a worm. This is the best way to catch a good mess of beam and blue gills.

District Three Title On Line Tonight

One More Game For Seminole Champs

By HERRY CUSH Herald Sports Writer. Someone had better tell Jack Prosser, Ford of the Seminole Little League that the games are supposed to get together as they go deeper into the District Three Tournament.

Judging from last night's game, the Jack Prosser crew does not know that, as they ripped apart Audubon's entry in the District Three Tourney, Palmer Electric, by a unbelievable 18-1 count last night at Datsun Field in Pinecastle.

Plan Your College Wardrobe Around Fabrics From Milady's

By CHARNER LEONE
"It's going to be a groovy season in fabrics!" said Caroline Holzelaw. And she's the lady who should know—the attractive proprietress of the Milady Shoppe of fine fabrics in Sanford.
The fabrics are fabulous. And just perfect for the fashion-conscious young ladies who are about to enter the fall scene on a college campus. These are the gals who need and demand quality fabrics. "I spend my time making it, it had better last!" with features their mothers just wished for—wear and wrinkle proof, wash and wear fabrics that are always neat.
Caroline and her husband, Dick, have a well rounded stock that will make any seamstress rich to get her sewing machine. There are beautiful textured polyester in the Navaho acrylic sweater knits. There are feeds, stripes and solids that are coordinated to give you an "expandable" wardrobe for all seasons.
And there are quilted fabrics that will be adorable when transformed by imaginative young ladies into coordinating hot pants and skirts (mini or maxi).
"We have suedes and the washable bonded acrylic sutting materials coming in soon," added Caroline. She literally showed as she listed the wonderful delightful fabrics she is stocking.
Caroline loves to sew. And she likes to help others who sew—she would like to sew. She's full of creative ideas on coordinating fabrics, and is up on all of the latest ideas on styles.
Home sewing has become a fashionable hobby. And with the price tags you see nowadays, it's little wonder that more women are sewing their own clothing.
And there is such a marvelous feeling of accomplishment when you accept a compliment on an outfit you've made yourself.
Besides—it's fun to sew!
Caroline and Dick (he's the famous bass baritone Richard Westworth) founded the Milady Shoppe in 1962. In that period they have become well acquainted with the desires of the people they serve. They know that the quality fabrics and trims they offer are always in demand.
"We feel that if you put your time into making something you want it to look good and last a long time," said Caroline earnestly. "That's why we always stress quality."
The Holzelaws have an impressive array of trims. You're not likely to find the equal of it anywhere in Central Florida.
There are all kinds of trims from cotton trims to glittering evening trims. They are chosen to coordinate perfectly with the fabrics sold at Milady's Shoppe.
For your convenience the Milady Shoppe will accept Master Charge and BankAmericard.

World's Smallest Calculator At George Stuart's, Orlando

At George Stuart, Inc., Florida's largest business supply department store, the world's smallest electronic calculator has captured customer enthusiasm. It is an electronic calculating gadget. It is made by Sharp Electronics and designated ELSI-8.
George Stuart Sr., president and executive officer, describes this miniature calculator as a "star performer" in sales. So intensive is the demand for this product that the initial factory order had to be repeated almost as soon as the instrument appeared on the counters in the machine department.
Stuart describes the ELSI-8 as "packing a punch as powerful as machines three times its size — and cost." It sells for $345 including carrying case, battery and recharge. Without the carrying case it sells for $259.
The ELSI-8 is just 3 1/2 by 5 1/2 inches, weighing only 26 ounces. It multiplies, subtracts, adds, and does mixed and exponent calculation. It gives credit balances and miscellaneous, has floating decimal and underflow system that guarantees no mistakes.
This calculated intelligence is proved by a built-in rechargeable battery. Completely portable, it was created to go everywhere... in coat pocket, briefcase, or in its own carrying case.
ELSI-8 operates on triacs, planes, buses and in cars. It can be used at conventions, sales meetings, warehouse or field trips, wherever there is figuring to be done on the spot.
The ELSI-8 (Extra Large Scale Integrated) circuitry are the heart and brains of this dependable computer. These are the same kind of circuits that NASA uses to send men to the moon.
The small size and price of the ELSI-8 has opened up a vast new market — the garage, hobby, farmer, plumber, carpenter, doctor, lawyer, teacher — and many more find this convenient miniature calculator a time and money saver.

Wallace Sends Message To Sanford

The Florida American Party executive committee, at Holiday Inn in Sanford Saturday, was addressed by Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, over a telephone hook-up. Governor Wallace reiterated his position of "keeping his options open" regarding the 1972 campaign, and that more detailed reports on this will be forthcoming after the press of state business subsides. Specific points the Governor discussed were his court suits to be brought against the tax exempt foundations and suits to be brought to reopen schools that have been arbitrarily closed in Alabama, as well as in Sanford and other parts of Florida. He also stated that the one man — one vote concept being enforced by the Supreme Court should be enforced by the United Nations as well, and if not, he is in favor of removing the United Nations from the United States. Regarding the economic conditions of the country today, the Governor stated that the income tax structure must be changed to remove the inequities imposed upon the "Hard Hat," the working man, the small business man, the farmer, and the professional man who make up the backbone of American society, and to shift this tax burden to the tax-free foundations.

Wallace Sends Message To Sanford

Postmaster W. T. McCauston said most of the checks were from the U.S. Treasury Department state welfare, retirement and insurance firms. They included one welfare check for a blind woman and an insurance check used to support seven children. The checks can be easily identified, said the postmaster. Ernest Baker, 78, remembers the day, May 20, 1920, when a tornado hovered over the city and then struck in half to damage surrounding areas. "I was on the third floor of the then Land Office Building," Baker said. "Since my desk faced the north, I just picked up my camera and took the picture. I sent the picture to The New York Times and they published it on their front page."

Robbing The Blind

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP) — In recent months more than $5,000 in checks have been stolen from mail boxes in this area. They included one welfare check for a blind woman and an insurance check used to support seven children. The checks can be easily identified, said the postmaster. Ernest Baker, 78, remembers the day, May 20, 1920, when a tornado hovered over the city and then struck in half to damage surrounding areas. "I was on the third floor of the then Land Office Building," Baker said. "Since my desk faced the north, I just picked up my camera and took the picture. I sent the picture to The New York Times and they published it on their front page."

When you turn your clothes into any cleaner up there, they're bound to come back shrunken... (must be something in the water). And talkin' about the water, they have a funny way of dispensin' it. They put it into a brown bottle and put a cap on it... and if you drink enough of the stuff, another miracle takes place. I went up there with a comfortable 36-inch waist-line and am now a "blotted" 40. They're very "spirited" up there too, 'cause they put name onto each of the bottles and call it Old Reading (beer). It was always an accepted fact that the Dutch people really know how to cook food. And like a fool, I just couldn't say "No" when it was offered to me. (Anybody want to join me on a sure-cure low-calorie, high-protein diet?) These same Dutch people have a unique way of twistin' a sentence. But even with all of their "mistakes," the message comes through loud and clear. Like... "Ve get too soon Old, Un too late Schmartz," and again on the subject of food they say, "Kissin' wears out Cookin' do!"... on marriage, "Better it is to single live than to the wife the briches give!" Whenever you or I read a brief vacation, we usually have some choice thoughts on the matter. But, if they'd want to say the vacation is over, it would come out, "Hiss off is all!" The purpose of this abbreviated Northern Journey really was to attend the wedding of a niece. And if all of the rolls of film came out, you'll be treated to a pictorial review of an honest-to-goodness Ukrainian wedding. None other like it, believe me. There were over 800 invited guests... the fun really starts on Friday evening (sorta to loosen up the elbow for the serious business ahead of you) and then the marriage takes place Saturday morning... reception officially at 5 on Saturday... and it doesn't end until sometime late on Sunday. Hopefully, I was in focus on some of those shots and I'll be able to share the sights with you. All those dreams... all those "hobbies" you've been seeing... all those places where you had so much fun... all of those now have new splendor and suddenly, you're made aware that time really and truly waits for no man.

So, OK... who's the wise guy already?
Spent a couple of days visiting in Pennsylvania... was making my return "approach" to Sanford via Interstate 4 (from Deltona-way), and what do I see... I mean right in the median strip where absolutely "nulin" is supposed to be?
One of those portable "out-houses"... and worse yet, a sign on it saying, "Welcome Back, John!"
Oh, funny... really, really funny!
I do have an "exclusive" for you, though... if you're planning on visiting that Pennsylvania-Van-Dutch country... BE CAREFUL!

School Board Split Orange Savant Hired

By BILL SCOTT
Amid the tumult and furor vent by a number of persons opposed to the naming of an Orange County educator to the vacant Seminole High School principal's post, the School Board Tuesday night named Jack Lee Redding as replacement for Richard Barnett at the helm of the Sanford High School. With only four of the five board members present and one of those abstaining, the board approved the recommendation of Supt. John Atchard that Redding, present Orange County adult education director, be named to replace Barnett, who was recently promoted to head the county's student studies. Board member Stuart Culpepper was absent from the session, held at Lyman High School, but A. P. Bule, Ray Slaton, Jean Bryant and A. F. Keith, were present and voting — all except Bule, who announced he was abstaining from casting a ballot either for or against Redding. Bule let his wishes be known before Tuesday night's voting, when he circulated a memo to Angel and other board members, explaining his opposition to Redding's appointment, based on a possible deterioration of a racial situation at Seminole High School. Bule also advised he has litigation pending which involves Redding. Tuesday night, Bule, in explaining to the Press his abstention on voting, said it was because of coming legal confrontation. Besides Bule, three were others, mostly blacks, opposed to Redding's selection. Several members of the advisory committee to administer $80,000 in federal desegregation funds argued that William Daugherty, Seminole assistant principal, be named instead of Redding. The bi-racial group interested in the county's school integration dilemma, was present at least, in part, and Ruth Higgins, said she had been told Daugherty was first selected for the position. Angel argued that the bi-racial group is not attached to the School Board in making decisions affecting personnel selection. It was stressed that the committee's function is to serve as a watchdog over the expenditure of federal funds to aid integration. Bule moved to supersede the previous action which picked Redding and nominated Daugherty to the post. His motion died for lack of a second and the long-haired board member gathered his papers and walked silently out of the meeting room and into the night. Another personnel appointment also drew some comment from the gathering, when the board approved the transfer of Richard Evans, recently named as Crooms principal, in a switch from Seminole High, was moved back to Seminole as an assistant principal. In questioning the return of Evans, Slaton elicited the disclosure that Stuart Gatchell, school personnel director, that Evans does not desire the return to Seminole High but will go. Replacing Evans as Crooms will be William Ashley, present Seminole High assistant principal. This brought a question from Rev. John Connelly, advisory committee member, who wondered why Evans was not given a principal post at one of the county schools, since Angel implied the black education is doing a "good job." There was no direct answer to the minister's query.

Grand Jury Probe Bid

By LARRY NEELY
A grand jury investigation into the operations of Tri-State Billboards has been requested by the Seminole County Commission. The commissioners unanimously yesterday requested State Attorney Abbott Herring to bring the matter before the grand jury during its present session. The action was prompted by a report by County Zoning Director Robert Brown concerning the operations of the outdoor advertising firm. Brown reported he had contacted the Secretary of State's office in Tallahassee and was informed Tri-State is not registered with the state of Florida as is required by state statutes. Brown said he asked for confirmation that it is a violation and had been informed it is. He said he was also advised the state would take no action in the matter and any action taken would have to be a civil case filed by the county or other local governmental agency. At that point Commission chairman Greg Drummond asked County Attorney Harold Johnson for an explanation. Johnson said he does not know why the action has to be initiated at the local level. The county attorney was then directed to get a clarification from State Attorney General Robert Shevin on the matter. Brown further reported he had checked the county tax collector's records and found that Tri-State does not have a valid state or county occupational license. The zoning director added there is no record of an occupational license having been issued to a representative of Tri-State. The grand jury probe will be in addition to a civil suit filed in 1967. Guilty Of Robbery

WASHINGTON — Twenty years ago, when the boss was on the other foot, Richard M. Nixon accused the Truman administration of holding back classified documents for political reasons. (Page 1B)

TALLAHASSEE — Some $89.7 million in House-passed tax proposals is slated for Senate action today — the last major unresolved issue of the 1971 Legislature. (Page 5A)
WEATHER — Yesterday's high 91 low 73. Partly cloudy through Thursday with chance of thundershowers. Highs around 90. Low tonight in the 70s. Warm, pleasant weather stretched across most of the nation today as spotty thundershower activity dwindled overnight.
Charges of assault with intent to commit murder were dropped. Both men are remanded to the custody of the sheriff.
Two others, John Ashford and Jesse James Jones, entered guilty pleas on Monday at the trial. Ashford pleaded guilty to attempted robbery and Jones to attempted grand larceny, both lesser offenses. Present investigations were ordered by Circuit Judge Roger Dykes.
Ashford testified against Campbell and Griffin holding a gun on Wheatland and maintained that he did not intend to rob the store and was unaware of the incident until he witnessed Campbell and Griffin when he went to the police station to report the wrecked car as stolen, and Campbell and Griffin were wounded in the fray and treated at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Social Security Analysis

WASHINGTON (AP) — This example of how the House-passed Social Security bill might affect retirement prospects was compiled by Social Security statisticians. The example is for a man who will retire in January 1985 at the age of 65, and his wife of the same age. He is assumed to be earning at the median point of the Social Security-covered wage scale. The example takes into account the automatic cost-of-living increases provided in the bill, so it involves estimates of future inflation and also of average wage increases.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today he will make available to Congress the full 11-volume of a Pentagon study of U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war, which has been under "Top Secret" classification.
