Sanford boy dies after being struck by car

A 19-month-old Sanford boy was killed after being struck by a car outside his home on Sunday.

James Watson, 65, was pulling out of his home at 1911 W. 16th Street in Sanford at about 3:33 p.m. Sunday when he struck 19-month-old Tyrel Demon Scott, according to police.

Tyrel, who lived at the same residence as Watson, was playing in an area between the curb and the sidewalk at the time.

Watson had been parked on the right of way between the roadway and fenced yard of the residence when the vehicle pulled forward, striking the child.

Tyrel was airlifted to Orlando Regional Medical Center, and died an hour after the accident.

The Sanford Police Department has not filed criminal charges, although an investigation is ongoing.

Sanford OKs Westlake project

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — In what homeowners along South Sanford Avenue say is a sign that their rural lifestyles are disappearing, the Sanford City Commission on Monday approved the rezoning of 71 acres of property that will bring 245 new homes to the area.

The 71-acre property located at 4045 South Sanford Avenue was rezoned from agricultural to planned development on High-density development will ruin rural character neighbors say

Monday by the City Commission, paving the way for the Westlake Plantation single-family residential development.

Many of the residents opposed to the Westlake Plantations development live in the Suburban Estates subdivision, which is zoned for one home per acre.

The 71 acres of Westlake Plantations was rezoned to planned-development zoning, which allows up to four units per acre, from the rural one unit per acre zoning. The 245 home development presented to the commission has a gross density of 3.66 units per acre.

"We want higher value homes like these in Sanford," said City Commissioner Whitey Eckstein. "I am convinced, personally, that homes in Suburban Estates will not decrease in value."

The Westlake Plantation homes will be valued at $130,000 to $150,000, according to developer Michael Murray, CEO of Golden Florida Management.

The smallest lot size will be 50-by-100 square feet, while the largest lot size will See Project, Page 5A

Dreaming of Christmas

Kristi Lommerse and her 7-week-old son Steven wait for the parade in downtown Sanford. Though Steven managed to catch a few winks, the sirens from emergency vehicles soon signaled the start of the parade and the end of Steven's nap. Approximately 7,000 community residents packed both sides of First Street Saturday morning for the annual Christmas Parade.

Commission tables contract decision

SANFORD — Sanford is asking Seminole County for assistance in operating a program that provides home energy assistance to the needy.

The Sanford City Commission on Monday tabled approval of an agreement with the state to execute the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) for the 2000-2001 fiscal year. Charles Rowe, director of the city's Community Development Department, will ask the county to participate in the program.

The agreement with the state will be considered by the City Commission again on Dec. 27.

The program serves residents across Seminole County, although data from the Community Development Department indicates half of the people participating in the program live in Sanford.

Sanford Mayor Larry Dale spoke in opposition to signing the current agreement with the state in April. He also opposed the new contract on Monday, saying that too much staff time is devoted to operating the program.

"I still have a problem with us funding a county program," Dale said. "It is a county program, and the county should be funding it."

Out of 1,244 clients served by the program since the current contract was signed April 13, 55 percent or 689 clients were Sanford residents.

Lake Mary students taste sweet success

By Michelle Jerla
Managing Editor

A high school auditorium is not the usual meeting place for a corporation's annual stockholder and board meeting.

But it's exactly where the top executives of Lake Mary High School's Econo-Cone gathered Monday to provide financial information to the company's supporters.

Econo-Cone, which increased its stock value by 213 percent within a nine-week period, is the product of Anna Vanlandingham's 12th-grade senior economics class. The business was created as part of Central Florida's Junior Achievement Applied Economics Program.

"It is a wonderful program for students," Vanlandingham said. "It's a fun way to learn economics."

Vanlandingham said the program was incorporated into her daily lesson plan throughout the semester, beginning with the students' decision on what item to produce.

"Originally, the class had a hard time deciding what product to choose," Vanlandingham said. "At first, a lot of them wanted to make tapes or CDs, but it would have been expensive and taken too much time."

"It was a real learning experience for them — deciding what product to make," she added. "It's not as easy as it seems."

It might not have been easy, but during Monday's meeting, the class gathered to announce the success and popularity of the Econo-Cone.

Through market research and polls, the business determined what food product was in demand at the high school, See Students, Page 5A

Police search for mail thieves

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

Authorities in Seminole and Orange counties are continuing to respond to reports of mail being stolen out of residential mail boxes.

During the weekend in the Chuluota area, there were more reports of missing or stolen mail.

The latest incident occurred in the Picket Downs area, near Chuluota, on Saturday and Sunday. Two residents reported finding mail removed from their mailboxes and letters scattered on the street.

Last week, there were reports of mail thefts in the Bear Lake and Lake Mary areas of Seminole County. There were also reports of mail theft in Orange County.

"In most cases, it appears the suspects are targeting outgoing mail placed for the mail carrier to pick up," said Steve Olson, spokesman for the Seminole County Sheriff's Office.

Residents in the Lake Mary and Apopka areas reported at least 10 incidents of mail being stolen out of their mailboxes last week.

"It appears they are looking for letters with money or something of value in them and then discarding the rest," Olson said.

On Friday, Lake Mary residents reported three incidents of mail being stolen from mailboxes in front of private homes.

Friday's thefts were similar to reports from at least seven victims who had material stolen out of mailboxes on Wednesday in the Bear Lake area near Apopka, investigators said.

The thefts on Friday occurred in the Osprey Landing area, the Hunter's Trail area, and in another area off Markham Woods Road.

Three suspects were seen in the area. They may be in their teens and were possibly in a black Saturn, investigators said.

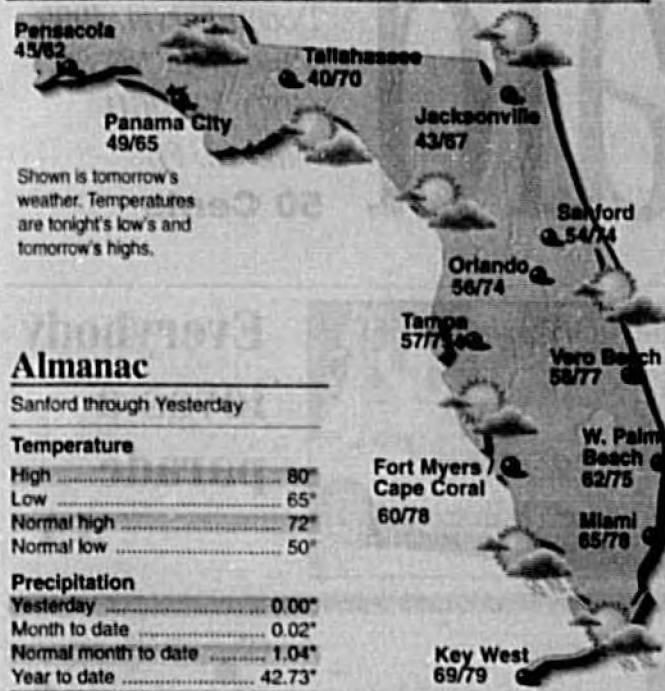

Meanwhile, Seminole County Sheriff's Deputies in the Bear Lake area are continuing to look into thefts of mail on

The end is not near - here's why

Today, someone asked me if there would be a Year 2000. As it looks now we are in for a year which will be known as 2000. One of the reasons for this divination is that at 8 p.m. on Jan. 4, 2000, Virginia Tech must play Florida State in the Sugar Bowl. Earth shall not pass away before this football game is played.

It is so important that Mr. B. Bowden of Tallahassee won't have anyone — and that means Anyone — interfering. Mr. F. Beamer of Blacksburg, Va., also is eager to see the light of day on Jan. 4. He's promised Blacksburg a 4th to remember.

classes at FSU, he dabbled on the football field. Tallahassee didn't have a Dillard's when Reynolds was in school. The new McDonald's was then the place to be on Saturday night.

Consider that Homer Hickam graduated from Virginia Tech. He was making rockets about the time Burt Reynolds learned to read Playboy. Hickam wrote "Rocket Boys." By now, Burt Reynolds probably knows the same letters for Rocket Boys form October Sky.

You're probably wondering how I've accumulated so much knowledge about Virginia Tech. I'm not a rocket scientist. I'm a simple man. "Simpleton" some have called me until they realized some of what I had to say actually made sense.

Here's a little secret: I've been to Blacksburg on numerous occasions. It's so close to West Virginia that it's Almost Heaven. My son Jason met his wife Angela at Virginia Tech. They were married in the school chapel. You talk about real Hookies.

Russ White

That's a neat nickname, Hookies. Tech used to be the Fighting Gobblers but the students wanted something cerebral. These are smart kids — engineers, rocket scientists, Hookies. Did I tell you Tech kids introduced Mountain Dew?

Now, let's get to the point of all this. Long before any of us could have dreamed how important Jan. 4 would be to the world, our Lake Mary friend and neighbor Lee Corso predicted a Florida State-Virginia Tech college football championship game.

Lee Corso, bless him, is a Florida State graduate. He was the school's football hero when Burt Reynolds was carrying a water bucket. Lee Corso looks like more of a movie star than Reynolds. Those who see him on ESPN say he's a dead ringer for Mel Brooks.

I haven't heard Lee make a prediction on the big game.

Here's mine: The Hookies will win by 20 or more points. Probably 30.

Hold on, don't act as if it's the end of the world.

Russ White's column appears Tuesday through Sunday in the Seminole Herald.

Econo-Cone President Angie Kamm said. Two items ranked highest — ice cream and cupcakes.

So, the students decided to combine the two and created the Econo-Cone, which is an ice cream cone filled with cupcake batter and topped with icing.

Econo-Cone employees made the confections at home and sold them at different times throughout the school day. The group also created television commercials and flyers to promote its new product.

"My favorite place to put flyers was in the bathroom stalls," Econo-Cone Vice President of Marketing Ivy Womick said. "People had no choice but to read them."

Advertising paid off for the group.

After expenses, which included a $25 start-up kit, insurance, taxes and wages, Econo-Cone's net profit was $359.53. Of the 692 cones produced during a five-day period in November, 591 were sold. The left-over cones were donated to Lake Mary High School's special education program.

"It was a success," Vanlandingham said. "And, this is a standard level class, which is why this really was a phenomenal program."

Junior Achievement volunteer John Morse of Ford Motor Co. guided the students during the company's nine-week run, Vanlandingham said. He ventured into the class each week to assist the 12th-graders during their first endeavor into the business world.

"He did an outstanding job relating business examples to the students' company," Vanlandingham.

According to the Lake Mary teacher, volunteering for Junior Achievement also gives adults an avenue for relating to teenagers.

"It is a very positive way to be around young people," Vanlandingham said. "Each semester, the Junior Achievement consultant leaves a lasting impression on at least one student."

"What's wrong with the city providing services to city residents," said Commissioner Velma Williams. "These programs provide benefits to people who need it."

The city's current contract expires March 31, 2000.

If the contract is not executed prior to Jan. 1, 2000, it may be July 1, 2000, before the contract would begin, leaving the city with a three-month lapse in LIHEAP funding.

The new LIHEAP contract would provide for 100 percent of the salary for the city's outreach specialist and 40 percent of the contract coordinator's salary.

The contract would provide $45,141 in home energy benefits, $65,000 in crisis benefits and $2,875 in weather related supply shortage benefits to eligible households.

Clients may receive home energy assistance once every 12 months and crisis assistance once per season during the winter and summer. Weather related assistance is also made when the state declares a weather related emergency.

Wednesday from several subdivisions.

Investigators describe the suspects as two Hispanic males driving a black, older model Ford, perhaps an E.X.P.

It also appears the thieves struck the Thompson Road area in Orange County near Apopka. In that case, witnesses describe the same type of vehicle, with the possible exception that it might be a Toyota, investigators said.

Some victims reported that checks were stolen and others recovered all of the items, said Steve Olson, a spokesman for the Seminole County Sheriff's Office.

"Residents are asked to be on the lookout for any suspicious activity," Olson said.

be 75-by-157 square feet, not including 25 feet of buffering. The minimum size of the homes allowed by the city will be 1,700 square feet.

This is a scene that has become common in Seminole County, as rural homeowners near South Sanford Avenue say their tranquil way of life will be disturbed by the 245-home development.

"Too many houses out there are going to ruin what we have," said Laverne Cox, who lives on a 7-acre property near the Westlake Plantation development.

The property will contain 245 lots for Westlake Plantation and 17 lots for the second phase of Rose Hill. The site fronts Sanford Avenue, Pine Way and a closed portion of Mellonville Avenue.

Residents opposing the development said they live on lots that are 2.5 acres or larger. They argue only a development of 200 homes or less on the 71-acre property would be compatible with their community.

"We simply want something that is more consistent with the area," said Kathleen Clark who lives on South Sanford Avenue. "This density is much too high. We are very concerned with this many homes going into a wet, environmentally sensitive area."

City officials said steps will be taken to alleviate residents' concerns about flooding.

The residents also said they were concerned the development could decrease the value of their homes, cause traffic congestion particularly at the corner of Sanford Avenue and East Lake Mary Boulevard, and disturb their rural lifestyles.

"You're going to ruin the area just for the sake of development," Julie Swift, whose property is located near the newly approved development, told the City Commission.

A letter from Seminole County recommended the installation of a turn lane at the corner of Sanford Avenue and East Lake Mary Boulevard. Murray said his company would contribute to paying for the turn lane.

"We've given one compromise after another, including walls and buffers," Murray said.

The site is currently vacant. Rose Hill, a single family subdivision approved for 67 units at 10 units per acre, is located north of the site. Golden Florida Management also owns Rose Hill.

The final site may be reduced to 242 homes. The commission is requiring that a pool and clubhouse be built on three lots currently plotted as home sites, rather than detracting from the 14.7 acres of designated park area.

"We know that we are not going to stay rural out there forever," said homeowner Susan Bandon.

In addition to the rezoning, the site has also been annexed into the city from unincorporated Seminole County.

Commissioner A.A. "Mac" McClanahan provided the lone vote against the rezoning. McClanahan has consistently said he believes the zoning is too dense.

Manatees on move; seasonal speed zones are in effect

OCALA - With the onset of Autumn temperatures, Florida's waters cool down and manatees begin to move to the warmer water of springs and power plants.

Boaters should be aware that many County waterways have seasonal speed zones from November 15 through March 31. The speed zones reflect the seasonal migration of manatees. Manatees prefer water temperatures above 68 degrees F. Manatees exposed to colder temperatures for prolonged periods can become sick or even die.

Manatee Awareness Guidelines for Boaters to Follow:

- Stay in marked channels.
- Wear polarized sunglasses while boating.
- Abide by the posted speed zones.
- Pole, paddle or use trolling motors when over shallow seagrass beds.

Manatees tend to travel to the same areas each winter and know where warm water sites are located. If you boat near any of these manatee congregation spots or in known manatee travel routes, please slow down to the appropriate speed for the area you travel.

Scan the water near or in front of your boat for any swirls that look like a huge footprint, a repetitive line of half moon swirls, a mud trail or any breaking of the surface by a snout or a tail.

If you see a manatee, give it plenty of room. The manatee may not be alone—it may have a calf or be traveling with other manatees that are close by.

As with other wild animals passive observation is encouraged. Please do not give food or water or attempt to touch a manatee. Repeated human contact with wild animals often contributes to the animal's death.

If you would like to see manatees, you are encouraged to visit places where manatees are in captivity for rehabilitation purposes. Several oceanaria facilities around the state have manatee exhibits.

When you are out on the waterways and you see an injured, dead, orphaned or tagged manatee, or one that is being harassed, call in a report to the Florida Marine Enforcement Office on VHF Channel 16 or by mobile phone at *FWC. The Resource Protection Hotline number is 1800-DIAL-FMP (1-800-342-5367).

A Marine Enforcement Officer will assist with the rescue or recovery or provide the appropriate follow-through with your report. If you can locate the injured or orphaned animal again, stay nearby and report its location and direction of travel. The more information you can provide, the better chance there is that an injured or orphaned manatee

OCALA - After getting off to a rocky start on a tough nine-game road trip, the Seminole Community College women's basketball team has bounced back in fine fashion, winning its last five in a row.

The most recent two wins came this weekend in the Central Florida Community College Classic in Ocala, where the Raiders edged Cincinnati State College, 85-80, on Friday and crushing North Florida Community College from Madison, 99-49, on Saturday.

SCC, which is now 10-2 on the season, will conclude the long road trip with games at Brevard Community College (Cocoa, Tuesday, Dec. 14, 6 p.m.) and St. Petersburg Community College (Friday, Dec. 17, 6 p.m.) before returning home to host Broward Community College from Ft. Lauderdale at the SCC Health and Physical Education Center on Sunday, December 19th at 2 p.m. Admission is free.

The Raiders trailed Cincinnati State 41-36 at halftime, but outscored CSC 49-39 in the second half to record the victory.

Freshman guard/forward Shaketa "Kiki" Kindred had her best game as a Raider, netting a team-high 22 points on 7-of-14 shooting from the floor and 8-of-11 from the free throw line.

Sophomore point guard Kecia Smith had a big game in front of the home folks, she prepped at Ocala's Forest High School, scoring 14 points.

Also scoring in double figures and having good all-around games were sophomore guard Mevett Wooley (13 points, seven assists), sophomore forward Kasia Tuure (13 points, 12 rebounds, six blocked shots) and 6-foot-9 freshman Suzanna Gyarfas (13 points, seven blocked shots).

Other contributors for SCC were freshman guard Yamil Cordero (six points) and sophomore center Shernel Donovan (two points).

Mandy Thompson scored a game-high 29 points for Cincinnati State (7-2), while Sharon Bell (19), Leah Donaldson (18) and Jennifer Brown (11) also scored in double figures.

The Raiders had little trouble on Saturday, getting out of the gates fast and taking a 58-26 halftime lead over North Florida Community College behind 16 first half points from Gyarfas, who also had seven rebounds and two blocked shots.

Smith, who had nine points in the first half, popped in eight more in the second half to finish with a game-high 17 points. The sophomore also added four rebounds, three assists and five steals to her totals.

Others scoring in double figures were Cordero (12 points, two assists, three steals), Wooley (12 points, four rebounds, four assists, two steals) and sophomore for-

Blake has Bengals on a roll

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

CINCINNATI - If the Cincinnati Bengals don't want Jeff Blake anymore, someone in the National Football League surely does.

While being proclaimed the starting quarterback, the Seminole High School graduate was still given a slap in the face as the Bengals bypassed a chance to draft Ricky Williams or a much-needed offensive lineman or a defensive player in favor of an unproven quarterback, Akili Smith.

And after Cincinnati started slowly and Blake suffered a wrist injury, Smith was given the starting job.

But as has been his been his make-up his entire career, the Sanford native refused to give up and fought hard to reclaim his spot in the starting line-up.

And having been returned to the starting line-up, Blake has the Bengals, who have the worst record in the 1990's of all NFL squads, on a roll, leading them to their third straight victory on Sunday, a 44-28 thumping of the Cleveland Browns in their final game at Cinergy Field.

Next season, Cincinnati will move into the new Paul Brown Stadium just down the street.

This time Blake also got to show that he could lead a team to victory without having to rely solely on his tremendous throwing arm, only throwing one touchdown pass, a 52-yard bomb to Darnay Scott, after the Bengals had built a 37-21 advantage.

Running back Corey Dillon was the star on this day, scoring three touchdowns and rushing for 192 yards on 28 carries as Cincinnati improved to 4-10 on the season.

Blake finished the day 11-for-22 passing for 176 yards and no interceptions and also carried the ball four times for 28 yards.

Last Sunday (Dec. 5th) Blake tied his career high, throwing four touchdown passes as the Bengals outscored the San Francisco 49ers, 44-30, the most points scored by Cincinnati in 10 years and breaking an 11-game home losing streak. It was also the first back-to-back wins for the Bengals since 1997.

Against the 49ers, Blake was 21-for-30 passing for 334 yards with no interceptions and 18 yards on three carries.

In this week's action involving Florida teams: Mike Hollis kicked a 23-yard field goal with three-seconds left as the Jacksonville Jaguars came back from a 14-0 first quarter deficit to defeat the Denver Broncos, 27-24, in a driving rainstorm at Alltel Stadium Monday night. The victory was the 10th straight for the Jaguars, who improved their league-beat record to 12-1, and gave Jacksonville a perfect 5-0 record on Monday Night Football.

Shaun King continued to prove himself to Tampa Bay fans and the NFL as the rookie from Tulane, out of St. Petersburg, threw three touchdown passes, including a game-winning 22-

HOROSCOPES

Your Birthday
Wednesday, Dec. 15, 1999
 Should you be subjected to some changes you don't anticipate in the year ahead, don't let them stifle your forward motion. You can control the circumstances with a little ingenuity.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
 So long as everything goes your way today, you'll be a rather pleasant person to be around. Your disposition could suddenly change, however, should a problem arise. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 Even if you get the opportunity to get in a few licks about someone who has caused you frustrations recently, try to keep your comments to yourself. You could regret it later if you don't.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
 If you aren't doing too good a job handling your own dollars, don't volunteer to manage the resources of another today. Put your own affairs in order first.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
 Much depends upon your tactics and procedures today if you are to achieve several key objectives today. If your plans are poorly constructed, the end results will reflect this.
ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 There's a good chance you might not be too good at keeping secrets today, so be cognizant of this fact should someone begin to question you in areas that are off limits.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 It's unlike you to be an impractical, wishful thinker, yet today your desire for everything and everybody to be beautiful and wonderful could lead you down the garden path.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 Don't put yourself in a position today where you have to depend upon unenthused cohorts, especially if your support base has been a trifle fragile lately. They'll let you down.
CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 Try not to make a big fuss over little things you find annoying today. Once

Pandora's box is opened, it might be difficult for you to take back what you say or do.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 People who like you are concerned about your needs, but this is not the day to put their loyalty to a test. They may not be able to comply with your demands due to those of their own.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 Size up situations realistically today and don't be naive where the odds are concerned. You may not be in as strong a bargaining position as you'd like to lead yourself to believe.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
 Should someone attempt to boss you around today, you're likely to respond in an angry manner that is unlike you. Chances are you'll only be good at issuing orders, not taking them.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
 Make the necessary time needed to carefully evaluate merchandise you need to purchase today. If you're a hasty, impulsive shopper, you'll not get good mileage from your dollars.

Win at Bridge

One man against seven machines

By Phillip Alder
 On Sept. 3 and 4 in London, Zia Mahmood competed in a bridge tournament with and against seven computers. There were several hundred spectators, and play was broadcast on the Internet. Instead of holding a round robin of seven matches, which might let one competitor gain a big lead, they kept going until one person or machine had won 10 matches. After 15 rounds, Zia sneaked home, with four machines (Blue Chip and Oxford Bridge from England, Q-Plus from Germany, and Saitek from Hong Kong) tied in second place. Sixth was Meadowlark from the United States; seventh was Microbridge from Japan; and last was the pre-tournament favorite, GIB from the United States. Despite its finish, GIB won the prize for this best-played deal. Especially at the prevailing vulnerability, a human South would have gone for the penalty in three hearts doubled, yet it should be only 200. And at the other table, Micro Bridge did pass, although East had opened with a cautious two hearts. That contract should make, but the machine mistimed the play and went one down. After winning the heart queen with its ace, GIB played the diamond six to dummy's queen, then finessed the club 10. West, Saitek, exited with the spade queen to dummy's king. GIB played a spade to its eight. West took the jack and ace, then led its last spade to dummy's 10. Declarer crossed to its club ace, then successfully ran the diamond nine. (If West covers with the jack, the contract fails.) Now GIB exited with a club, endplaying West to lead from J-7-5 of diamonds into dummy's A-K-8.

Doctor Gott

Don't let fear prevent you from walking

DEAR DR. GOTT: I live a retirement life in the Northeast. My major exercise is walking. Now, with the threat of Lyme disease, I've considered giving up this activity. I'd like to get the vaccine, but it's not recommended for people over 70. What can I do?
 DEAR READER: Unlike the young, as we get older we sometimes feel intimidated by the reality of life. I urge you not to give in to the threat of Lyme disease and to continue walking.
 First, some precautions: Experts advise that when walking in woods, fields or high grass, it is prudent to dress appropriately, in long pants (if necessary, tucked into socks). At the end of each day, perform a tick-check, which is much easier with a partner. You should examine your body for ticks and remove any you find, whether they are simply crawling or have become imbedded. Also, some folks feel safer applying a tick-repellent spray to clothing before going on a walk.

 Second, do consider the Lyme vaccine. Although it has not been tested in people older than 70 or younger than 15, there is no reason why you shouldn't receive it. Once you complete the series of three injections, you should be 80 percent protected against Lyme.
 The important issue here is that you should resist narrowing your life choices out of fear. With a reasonable preventive strategy — perhaps including the Lyme vaccine — you ought to be able to continue to enjoy walking and working out-of-doors.
 DEAR DR. GOTT: Following surgery four years ago, I developed a blood clot in my leg that was treated for six months with Coumadin. I completely recovered. Now, however, for the past few months I've noticed that one calf is tender and larger than the other. When I asked my doctor about this, he seemed unconcerned. Can you shed light on this problem?

 DEAR READER: Your doctor is in error. The presence of calf swelling and tenderness — especially with your history of a previous blood clot — should have set off alarm bells. This condition, called deep venous thrombosis, is a common consequence of surgery (because post-op patients are relatively inactive); nonetheless, DVT can often affect people who are active and otherwise healthy. DVT is dangerous. Blood clots that form in the leg veins can break off and be carried to the lungs (pulmonary embolism) where they lead to difficulty breathing, even death. Fortunately, there is an inexpensive, painless and safe test to diagnose this condition, and I'm surprised that your doctor failed to order it as a matter of course. It is called Doppler ultrasound. Using a special transducer, a technician examines the deep veins in your legs with high-pitched sound energy. Blood clots are usually easy to see with this technique.

Life Style

Don't be a Scrooge; take time to find the right tree

Finding the right Christmas tree for your house is something you can enjoy every year. There is nothing like the smell of a pine tree inside your house. Even if you have one of those artificial trees that you can use every year, there is no substitute for a living Christmas tree.

What tree should I buy? There are many types of trees that are available for your particular taste and budget. In general, the Christmas tree should be cone-shaped, have an attractive green color, and a dense growth, with little empty spaces. The most popular trees are scotch and white pines and Douglas and Balsam Fir. Whatever you prefer, just make sure you buy a tree that is fresh — the more recent the tree has been cut, the better. The longer they stay on display, the more likely the tree will not make it until Christmas.

Florida's warm weather will dry up a pine tree very quickly and the needles will start dropping very soon after you buy your tree. It may be so severe you may have to buy a second tree before Christmas.

Living trees need water. In order to avoid your Christmas tree drying up too soon, keep the tree in water.

Buy a stand that holds enough water to keep your tree watered for a long time. But, the most important thing that you need to do when you bring your tree home is to cut the stem at least one-half inch or more above the original cut to expose the water-conducting tissues of the stem to enable the tree to take up water.

If the tree runs out of water, a seal will form on the cut surface of the trunk and it will not be able to take up water anymore, even if you add water later. It will be very difficult to make another cut to the trunk once it is decorated and in place.

The trees can take up a lot of water per day. Make sure there is ample supply of water in the stand's container.

Christmas Tree Farms

A fun way to buy your Christmas tree is to go to a Christmas tree farm, where you can select and cut your own tree. Most farms will provide you with saws for cutting down your tree, but make sure before you go. Be prepared to do some exercise, wear work clothing and you may need your old shoes to move around the place.

Buying and Caring for the Tree

Select a tree that keeps the needles longer, such as Douglas Fir or Scotch Pine.

Buy the freshest tree you can find and avoid any trees with brown needles.

Bounce the butt of the tree on the ground, if many needles fall, do not buy that tree.

The bottom of the tree stump should have a moist and sticky sap, not hard or dry.

Cut the bottom of the tree stump an inch or two diagonally for better water uptake.

Place the tree in water and keep the water level by checking it every day.

It may be useful to add a floral preservative to the water to keep the tree fresh longer.

The tree should be placed far away from heating units, vents or fans that will dry out the tree.

Make sure that all the wiring of your Christmas tree lights are in good working conditions.

Do not overload lighting circuits.

Never use open flames near the tree.

There are flame retardant sprays for Christmas trees — you may want to use one this year.

Never leave your home or go to sleep with the tree lights on.

Friend's candor opens bride's eyes to potential big mistake

DEAR ABBY: I disagree emphatically with your responses to Father Francesco of Newark and to "Worried About My Friend," who was concerned that her friend was entering into a bad marriage and did not want to be in the wedding.

Fifteen years ago last week, I was in that same predicament.

Wedding invitations had been sent; the arrangements had been made.

Two weeks before the wedding, a friend pulled me aside and told me to think hard about my decision and search my heart to be sure this was right for me. My friend reminded me that I had invited only people I cared about — and who cared about me — to the wedding, and should I realize the wedding would be a mistake, they would support me.

I canceled the wedding. Friends and family who had made nonrefundable reservations came anyway and were there to support me on what would have been my wedding day.

The experience made me realize that I lacked the tools to make a good choice for a lifelong mate. I got some help, and have been married 10 years to a wonderful man. If most brides won't listen — so what? The friend just might save one life — and you don't know unless you try.

GRATEFUL FOR MY FRIENDS

DEAR GRATEFUL: I've received quite a scolding from readers who agree with you and Father Francesco and say I've missed the boat. I'm inclined to agree. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I've been down this road, and "Worried About My Friend" should know it's never too late. Not all brides are so hypnotized by wedding bells they don't comprehend their own situation, even as they shove aside inner fears and don a happy face.

When confronted, I had already spent days smiling for the world and nights sobbing alone in a locked bathroom. Thankfully, my sister and father invited me to a pre-wedding lunch and showed me a clipping from your column. The article contained "15 Reasons to Leave Your Lover," signs of an abusive mate. My fiancé exhibited 11 of those red flags. Two weeks before my wedding, and with the support of family, friends and your column, I called it off.

Please tell your readers not to underestimate the power of friendship and love. When we fail to speak out against something we know is wrong, we unwittingly condone it.

HAWKEYE GAL IN S.F.

DEAR HAWKEYE GAL: I know you're right. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: A long time ago, one of my best friends was engaged. Her gown was hanging in the closet when I found out her fiancé had been sleeping with someone else. I knew I could lose a very good friend by speaking up, but I also knew I couldn't live with myself if I said nothing. I told her. The wedding was canceled. Her wedding dress was sold and the invitations were thrown in the trash. However, all the bridesmaids were there to support her through her tears, and she later met a wonderful, faithful man to whom she's been married for more than 10 years.

I'D DO IT AGAIN, CORVALLIS, ORE.

DEAR I'D DO IT AGAIN: You did the right thing. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I'm one of your male readers. A friend of mine once went through with the wedding because the hall had been paid for by his fiancée's father, and "if I called it off, he would kill me."

Today he is homeless and his wife is raising three children on her own.

NEIL FROM NEW HAMPSHIRE

DEAR NEIL: The lesson may be, "When in doubt, say 'I don't think so' instead of 'I do.'"
