Morris' MQ Ranch Opens Yesterday

The MQ Ranch, owned and operated by the Herman E. Morris Group, opened yesterday with another record attendance.

The first day of the camp will be filled with girls coming from all over the state of Florida.

Following this week the camp will be populated with boys from not only Florida but the other of states and even foreign countries.

The MQ Ranch is proud of their hands and ranch families, Herman E. Morris, head of the camp, said.

Plans, trains and buses bringing boys and girls from distant parts were met and transported to the MQ Ranch for a Grand Round Up at the Ranch once again.

"The MQ Ranch," said Morris, "is a real cattle working ranch near Ocala in Volusia County. The ranch covers some 5,000 acres of high ridge land and native growth—a typical Florida outback."

Boys and girls will have the exceptional opportunity of living, learning and vacationing on real operating ranch, he said.

E. H. Cordell, Jr. Receives Bachelor of Science Degree

NEWYORK, N.Y.—Henry H. Cordell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Cordell of Sanford received his bachelor of science degree today at the 10th commencement exercises of the University of the South.

He was among the nearly 120 members graduating class from the University's College of Arts and Sciences and School of Theology.

Cordell finished his work at Sanford in February and was graduated in absentia. He majored in history. At Sanford he had been a member of the Order of Government, student governing body, and of Delta Tau Delta social fraternity.

Degrees were awarded by Dr. Edward McCrady, Sanford's vice-chancellor and president. The commencement address was given by Roger M. Blough of New York City, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation. Baccalaureate speaker was the Rt. Rev. Thomas George Vernon Inman, Anglican bishop of Natal, South Africa.

Commencement 1958 climaxed the University of the South's centennial, celebrated during the 197-18 academic year. The university, popularly called Sewanee, is owned by 12 Episcopal dioceses in 12 Southern states.

Lutheran Hour Will Be Heard Here Over WIOD

The Lutheran Hour, heard throughout the world, and broadcast in 25 languages and 67 countries, will be heard in Sanford over Radio Station WIOD, according to an announcement made by the Supervisory Committee of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, here.

The half-hour broadcast is scheduled to start next Sunday at 1 p. m., said Joe Senkark who arranged the broadcast for the committee.

Heard weekly, the broadcast features Dr. Oswald Hoffmann, Lutheran Hour speaker and the Lutheran Hour Chorus of St. Louis Concordia Seminary.

"Bringing Christ to the Nations" is the theme of the Lutheran Hour which will soon have its own chapel-recording studio being erected as a permanent memorial dedicated to the glory of God in living memory of Dr. Walter A. Meier, first Lutheran Hour speaker.

The Lutheran Hour is heard by more people over the entire world than any other radio broadcast.

Senkark said that the broadcast over WIOD for the Sanford area will be heard every Sunday at the same hour.

Rev. Tuhy Speaks At St. Luke's Graduation Friday

SLAVIA—At a special church service held Friday June 6 the Eighth Grade Commencement of St. Luke's Christian Day School took place. The Rev. Stephen M. Tuhy delivered the address using Ephesians 5:18 as the text. He told the graduates the road from now on would be rough, but they should have no fear but to do the will of the Lord who would guide them. E. L. Bellhorn, principal, awarded the diplomas. Eleanor Duda and Naomi Tuhy received the award, given by Pastor Tuhy, for the highest achievement made in Christian Doctrine.

Immediately following the service a reception was held in the school auditorium. The class presented its program in skit form, depicting the various activities in the future. Refreshments were served from tables artistically decorated with the class colors of silver and blue. Members of the class include: Loy Gladwell, Eleanor Duda, Sandra Ecker, Gertrude Le Casin, Patricia Miller, Sylvia Miller, Jerry Ostley and Naomi Tuhy. The reception committee chairman was Mrs. Geo. Jakubec, Jr. assisted by Mmes. P. Lukas, A. Duda, Weaver, Byers, Courier, O'Neal and Dawson.

British Premier Urges Closer Economic Ties

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan warned today against Uncle Sam's tightening his purse strings too sharply in the economic war with Russia.

Macmillan, delivering the commencement address at Johns Hopkins University, compared the capitalist system to a game.

Macmillan, accompanied by President Eisenhower, flew to the Johns Hopkins campus by helicopter directly from the White House lawn.

Agreement On Gas Co. Franchise Near

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners and A. H. Gaede, head of the Sanford Gas Company, were nearer agreement on a franchise last night than at any other time during negotiations.

Commissioner A. L. Wilson suggested Mr. Gaede knows what he wants and City Attorney William C. Hutchison knows what the city wants—why not let them get together and come up with a franchise that would be agreeable to everyone.

The move was approved following a discussion of more than an hour which covered sections of a proposed franchise disagreeable to the Sanford Gas Company and proposals by the Sanford Gas Company which did not meet with the approval of commissioners.

Commissioner Robert S. Brown contended that a franchise which extends for more than 20 years "becomes obsolete."

DeBary Club Stages Carnival To Boost Playground Fund

The DeBary "playground fund" received a big boost as citizens of the community turned out en masse to enjoy the first annual carnival staged by the DeBary Lions Club.

In cooperation with other civic groups and organizations of the community, the DeBary Lions Club held the carnival Saturday from 3 to 10 p. m.

The Home Demonstration Club of DeBary provided the children with a cake walk, grab bags, and music to dance to.

The ladies of the WSCS of the Community Methodist Church catered at the food table with Mrs. (Continued on Page 8)

Biggest Summer Tourist Season Seen This Year

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Budget Director Harry Smith predicts this will be the biggest summer tourist season in Florida history. And he said the state is depending heavily on the extra taxes a record influx of tourists would bring.

Smith, whose job is to advise state officials on how to balance the budget when tax money lags, said he just returned from a swing through south Florida and found the tourist situation much improved.

He said many hotels are booked to capacity for the next few months with conventions.

Acting on Smith's estimate that income might run 90 million dollars under authorized in four states, compares with 637,095 in New England, 265,111 in the middle Atlantic states and 69,825 in the north central states.

These figures were based on the 1937 level, the department said. Merrill C. Loton, department field manager, said they represent a big gain for the South—83 per cent—while New England declined 72 per cent and the middle Atlantic states 69 per cent since World War I.

In the number of spinners, North Carolina was third in the nation with 163,790, Georgia, fourth with 128,868; South Carolina 81,156 and Tennessee, 23,008. Massachusetts still leads in the South with 213,822 and Rhode Island in second with 188,338, the report showed.

South Is Nearing Lead In Woolen, Yarn Production

ATLANTA (UPI)—Woolen and worsted yarn production in Georgia, Tennessee and the Carolina states soon will give the South national leadership in that industry matching its present cotton textile lead.

The U. S. Commerce Department said the South's 460,168 woolen and worsted yarn spindles, concentrated mainly in four states, compares with 637,095 in New England, 265,111 in the middle Atlantic states and 69,825 in the north central states.

Seven Polio Cases Reported In State

JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—The state Health Board reports that the number of polio cases in Florida is running ahead of the 1937 total for the first time this year.

Seven cases were reported last week, pushing the figure to 48 cases combined with 42 for the same period in 1937.

One case was reported in Broward and two each in Dade, Palm Beach and Polk counties. None of the patients were reported to have taken anti-polio Salk vaccine.

Will Rogers Jr. To Attend Citrus Mutual Meeting

LAKELAND—Will Rogers Jr., famous son of a famous father, will attend Florida Citrus Mutual's 10th Anniversary meeting in Nora Mayo Auditorium of the Florida Citrus Building, Winter Haven, June 11, Robert W. Rutledge, Mutual General Manager, announced today.

Rutledge said Rogers will speak in a program scheduled to begin shortly after the doors open at 11 a. m. He will also be present at the birthday luncheon in the big auditorium which more than 8,000 Florida citrus growers are expected to attend.

Rogers, well known radio and TV personality, movie star, former newspaper publisher and former congressman from California, has written Rutledge that he "will be glad to help with the serving of the luncheon" in addition to appearing on the formal program. Rogers has been described as being as much like his beloved father as anyone could be. He was born in New York City while his father was appearing in the Ziegfeld "Follies" and he has lived in Oklahoma and Arkansas, besides California.

After Rogers' graduation from Stanford University, he edited and published a weekly newspaper for 18 years in Beverly Hills. His election to the U. S. House of Representatives was interrupted by a call from the Army.

Although he was allowed to serve in Congress, where he made an outstanding record, he resigned in 1944 to re-enter the army and fought in many of the major battles of World War II in France, Germany and Belgium. He subsequently was awarded the Purple Heart.

In 1931 Rogers played the part of his father in the movie, "The Story of Will Rogers". This role led to other acting chores both in films and radio and on television. For a while he was the host on the TV "Good Morning" show.

In announcing Rogers' appearance at the big anniversary meeting, Rutledge said: "We believe Will Rogers Jr. is one of America's outstanding personalities and we are honored that he had accepted our invitation to be with us at our 10th anniversary meeting."

Saturday, Mrs. James M. Thompson and Mrs. A. E. Crocker were hostesses for a "come as you are breakfast" at the home of Mrs. Thompson. Mrs. Cliff Nelson won the prize for being "not the best dressed". Others enjoying the occasion were Mrs. Ruby Linden, Mrs. Billy Norden, Mrs. Phyllis Rugestein, Mrs. Bonnie Harvey, Mrs. Dean Alexander, Mrs. Tommy, Mrs. Richard Keogh, Mrs. Elizabeth, Mrs. Evelyn Thompson, Mrs. Maxine Hopkins, and the hostesses.

Wednesday, Mrs. Robert Lanford and Mrs. Bonnie Harvey entertained the home room chairman and workers of the Lake Mary School with a covered dish luncheon at their homes on Lake Mary. Swimming was enjoyed and luncheon was served on the spacious lawn. Enjoying the day of rest were Jean Benson, Phyllis Rugestein, Etta Jane Keogh, Lenora Green, Harriet Nixon, Rosa Steiner, Ginny Nelson, Billie Norden, Dean Alexander, Martha Mitchell and Julie Scott.

Thursday morning at 10 o'clock the same group, plus Mrs. Ida Keogh and Mrs. F. E. Donaldson, gathered at the lake front home of Phyllis Rugestein for a farewell coffee honoring Bonnie Harvey who will leave within the next few days to make her home in St. Petersburg. Jean Benson and Etta

Jane Keogh are co-hostesses with Mrs. Rugestein.

Friday morning, Phyllis Mitchell and Keith Keogh were among those graduating from the Holy Cross Parish Day School Kindergarten. The children had their final program in the church under the direction of Mrs. M. St. John, the teacher. I don't believe Keith and Phyllis will be more thrilled when they graduate from high school. Attending the graduation from Lake Mary were H. M. Gleason, Mrs. Ida Keogh, Mrs. Phil Mitchell, Kathy Willard, Gail Smith, Colin Keogh and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keogh.

Mrs. Etta Flanders, Hollis, N. H., left Thursday after spending a week visiting old friends in this area.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"To be sure that the Lord is in the land, it is not to our credit."

Practical Wisdom, Rewards, Make Tax Cut Choice An Uneasy Road

The administration decision not to cut taxes at this time, a choice well supported by conservative leaders, reflects two chief concerns as to the country's economic future.

One is that the nation is close to the bottom of its business decline and soon will have to face a recession without the stimulus of a tax cut.

This judgement must underlie the decision, because otherwise the determination to employ neither a reduction in taxes nor a heavy public works program could be interpreted as a policy of tolerance for continuing sagging business.

The second is that a substantial cut would evidently so enlarge the prospective federal deficit as to raise considerable doubts of renewed inflation. Reinforcing this fear is the fact that despite the drop in the economy, living costs have gone on soaring to new highs.

In other words, President Eisenhower and those within his official family who support this decision against a cut have made a choice for what they hope will be a "natural" recovery. They are concerned that artificial stimuli may produce another disease worse than the current down-trend in some areas.

They take the risk that the natural adjustment they favor may be terribly painful for some few millions of Americans, that it may come more slowly than they hope.

If that should be the history of the coming months, the political consequences to the administration and its party could be severe. But if Mr. Eisenhower and his supporting advisors have guessed right and an upturn does soon begin, they may be hailed for their economic wisdom and rewarded at the polls.

At this moment of decision, there should be no argument that a "no tax cut" verdict represents callous indifference to the plight of the unemployed or all the other millions affected by the slump.

Inflation can be just as damaging to people in the mass as unemployment. It is just as inhuman in its results.

Crucial questions of balance are involved here. Any leader trying to find the right course may prove wrong. But we should not pretend that the choice is easy. There are pitfalls on all sides.

"As The Twig Is Bent...."

An editorial which appeared in the columns of the Golden, Colorado "Outlook", sums up the juvenile traffic situation so well, it is being reprinted here in its entirety. It is well worth the time of parents, especially, to read it and digest it.

"It's hard to understand how parents can expect their youngsters to have any respect for traffic laws by the time the youth reach driving age. Widespread parental disregard for those necessary regulations can be directly blamed for some of the irresponsibility that gets young drivers into trouble. It's a wonder that any considerable number of young drivers have any regard at all for the law.

"Recently we've taken note of these acts of grownups who have children with them:

"A woman pedestrian looks up and down the street and sees no automobile approaching nearby, grabs her little boy's hand, says, 'Come on, let's hurry,' and rushes across the street against the red light.

"A man driving an automobile, a small boy in the front seat beside him, slows down slightly at a stop sign, then drives right through the intersection without stopping.

"A woman in a station wagon, the back seats full of youngsters, cuts across traffic in an illegal left turn without stopping.

"A pedestrian pushing an infant stroller jaywalks across a busy downtown thoroughfare. He is accompanied by a woman leading a small boy by the hand.

"A young boy boasts about his dad, who 'always goes 80 miles an hour' on the highway.

"A car occupied by what is obviously a family on a Sunday outing—man, woman, and several children—roars out across the yellow line to pass another car on a hill and narrowly misses a collision. The whole family is laughing about it.

"A man argues nastily with a traffic policeman giving him a ticket while a small boy in the car observes.

"These are not unusual, infrequent instances. They happen every day. You've seen some of them. Some among us have been guilty parties.

Yet adults raise a big fuss over teenagers who seem to show no respect for traffic laws.

"Who's to blame—teenagers or adults? Much of a youngster's education comes from following his elders' example. The example set by a great many adult drivers is dangerous as well as shameful. Until irresponsible adults mend their ways on the public streets and highways, they have little reason to complain about the habits of some of the youthful drivers.

"We marvel that many youngsters are law abiding drivers in spite of the bad examples they encounter on all sides. Probably school driving courses, 'hot rod' clubs with safety programs, and an inborn sense of fair play have opened the eyes of many young drivers in spite of parental examples."

LATE SPRING THAW

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay
The one man who probably knows more about snakes and reptiles than any other living individual Ross Allen of Silver Springs, is constantly seeking more knowledge on a subject that brings a shudder to most of us.

No one really knows how many people are bitten by snakes indirectly to Ross Allen. For many years he has supplied snake venom to our leading pharmaceutical houses for making anti-venom snake bite kits. The knowledge he has gained over the years concerning snakes and their habits has been passed on to such organizations as the Boy Scouts, sportsmen's groups and others. Inquiries come to him from all over the world and are patiently and authentically answered.

In an effort to learn when, and how people are bitten by snakes, Ross subscribed to several dependable clipping services, instructing them to provide him with original clippings of stories about people being bitten by snakes. These clips came from all over the country and Ross sent inquiries to the individual bitten, to the hospital or to the doctor requesting their cooperation in supplying information.

He finally received and carefully analyzed over 600 such reports and now he can tell you the type of people who are bitten, how they reacted and can intelligently advise folks as to danger spots and advise the careless or uninitiated when and where to be on guard and alert to avoid snakebites.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES E. MOCCASIN
UPI Foreign News Analyst
The United States appears to be in an increasingly strong position in the cold war with Soviet Russia.

There has been a radical alteration in the relative situation of the two great powers in the last eight months.

It was eight months ago when Russia shocked the Western world by democratizing, in launching the first earth satellite, its progress in the field of nuclear weapons.

The Soviet government took advantage of its success by launching a cold war offensive. Nikolai A. Bulganin, then Premier, and Nikita S. Khrushchev, his successor, started bombarding the Western allies with demands for an immediate summit conference of heads of government and at the same time start threatening allied nations in Europe and Asia that they would be destroyed if they permitted es-establishment of American nuclear weapons bases on their territory. Now the United States has launched its own satellites.

Improved Soviet Proposals
And Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, at times standing almost alone, has resisted all demands from both the Russian and the allied side that the United States be rushed into a summit conference that might turn into a mere sounding board for Communist propaganda.

The United States has rejected also Russia's demand that—having completed a big series of nuclear weapons tests itself—President Eisenhower agree to an unconditional suspension of its own tests.

Now Russia has agreed to technical talks aimed at providing, as part of any mutual suspension of tests, a control system that would prevent cheating.

The present government has shown some disposition, at least, to negotiate on a business basis for a real summit conference at which agreement on big world issues might be possible.

Khrushchev is making a strong bid for an immense increase in trade with the United States—and has implicitly admitted Russia's economic weakness by asking for credits to finance its purchases.

Dulles himself gave a most encouraging picture of the change in the cold war situation when he testified last Friday before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Dulles emphasized the inherent strength of the allied free world and the essential weakness of the Communist world.

Despotisms always seem stronger than democracies, he said, improved navigation, imposition of discipline on their people.

"The fact is," Dulles continued, "that the despotisms are always weaker than they appear, and the democracies are usually stronger than they seem."

Full Control Of Air Traffic Decade Away

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series on air safety written for United Press International. Today, Lt. Gen. Edward R. Quonon, Ret. head of the President's Airways Modernization Board, tells what his agency is doing to insure greater safety.

By ELWOOD R. QUESADA
Written for UPI
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Complete, positive control of air traffic is a decade away.

This is the blunt fact that must be faced by all concerned with air safety.

Because not enough has been done in the past, the future has caught up with us before we are ready. Problems that have been in the making for 20 years are not going to be solved overnight.

The Airways Modernization Board (AMB) marks the first attempt in aviation history to coordinate, under one roof, all the research and development activity devoted to air traffic control.

For the first time, we are tapping a tremendous backlog of technical and scientific ability and applying it to the problem. And, for the first time, we actually have defined the problem to be solved.

AMB has given the highest priority to these various facets of air traffic control:

1. Development of the data-processing system, which in fact represents replacement of the outmoded hand-to-hand movement of vital air traffic data with a more automatic, efficient and faster system. Plans for flights will be fed into electronic computers. A more automated technique must replace the present system in which human controllers must continually keep track of aircraft locations and predict conflicts from handwritten information on crude slips of paper mounted on racks in front of the controller.

2. Development of an automatic communications system between aircraft and the ground. This will eliminate much of the time-consuming voice communications between controller and pilot.

3. Perfection of three-dimensional radar for more accurate, reliable and wider area surveillance of aircraft, particularly in the crucial high-density areas near airports.

4. Improvement of airports themselves, which are a vastly underrated bottleneck in the total system. This means better runway lighting, more efficient high-speed turnoffs to taxiways, and improved location of runways. Specific progress has been made in this field. New York City officials are already putting to practical use AMB airport findings in planning expansion Airport facilities as follows:

5. Development of the data-processing system, which in fact represents replacement of the outmoded hand-to-hand movement of

6. Anticollision and proximity warning devices. This is a highly

Girl Scout Troop No. 214 Holds Annual Court Of Awards, Dinner

LAKE MARY — A most successful year for the Lake Mary Girl Scout Troop 214 came to an end last week at the annual court of awards and dinner held at the Community Presbyterian Church. This troop under the direction of its leader, Mrs. Eileen Laisy, and assistant leader, Mrs. Donald Coleman, was organized three months ago. Since then the troop has had many projects which included: taking Easter cards and flowers to shut-ins, cleaning up the cemetery, and attending the camp-o-ree. During the three-month period eight girls were invested bringing the total membership up to 22.

At the court of awards Jodie Tomblar and Carol Ann Schimming were awarded their first class badges. Mrs. Laisy stated at the dinner which followed the awards that she was pleased about the first year's activities and that she was certain that next year would bring great things from the troop.

Laurel heavy-hull socks were made side out to loosen and wash away perspiration absorbed by the surface next to the skin. Both heavy knits and cotton socks should be hung by the toes and pulled lengthwise while damp. This makes them fit ankles and legs.

Students, Teachers Fete Murrays With Farewell Party Last Week

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Murray were honored with a farewell party by the teachers and students of Seminole County Vocational School, last Wednesday.

The school was beautifully decorated for the occasion with artistic arrangements of spring flowers. A charming center piece decorated every table. Presiding at the serving table were Mrs. Lydia Watt, hostess, and Miss Mary George, co-hostess.

Refreshments consisted of cake, ice cream, coffee, mixed nuts, and chocolate mints. Assisting with the serving were Linda Arch-Susan Castaneda, Dorothy Bess, Delores Gast, and Frances Hill. Phil Meeks, an instructor at the school, made the presentation of the school gift to Mr. Murray. In a few, well-chosen words, he expressed the deep regret everyone felt at Mr. Murray's leaving, and the best wishes for his future success. Mrs. Murray was presented with a white carnation corsage. Fred Murray has been connected with the Seminole county school system in a supervisory capacity for the past nine years. His first position was with the veteran's training program. In 1924 he became director of adult and vocational education. He has worked untiringly for this program, always taking into consideration the students' needs and interests.

Miss McInnis Feted At Tea

Miss Caroline McInnis, July bride-elect, was honored yesterday afternoon at a tea given by the faculty of the Southside Primary School.

The event was held at the home of Mrs. G. W. Morgan, 435 Sumner Ave. Mrs. Morgan was in charge of the flower arrangements and had placed white carnations in the center of the table. Chrysanthemums, daisies and lilies were used throughout the party rooms. Mrs. Nancy Brock poured the punch which was served along with party sandwiches, cookies, nuts and minis. The honoree was presented with silver in her chosen pattern. Guests at the tea were Miss McInnis, her mother, Mrs. A. G. McInnis and the members of the Southside faculty.

Other officers installed were Mr. William Johnson, vice-president; Mrs. Emil Schulz, secretary; Mrs. Eugene Flint, treasurer. Mrs. Robert Drayton served as Sgt.-at-arms and Mrs. Bedford Marshall participated as chaplain. Board members installed for the forthcoming term were: Mrs. John Beddard, Mrs. Jack Hippo, Mrs. William Holcomb, Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. Rex King, and Mrs. John White.

OES Introduces Two New Members

Seminole Chapter No. 2 OES met at the Masonic Hall Thursday evening with 40 members and 11 visitors present. Two recently affiliated members, Mrs. Virginia A. Bill and Mrs. Mary E. Schuennemann, were introduced and given a cordial welcome. Mrs. Virginia Anderson and her committee used pink and blue artificial flowers arranged in tall baskets to effectively decorate the Chapter room for the meeting. In honor of the flag day numerous tiny flags were also displayed. A little lemon juice added to water in which rice is cooked will keep the grains separated. It will not add a tart flavor. English muffins.

Mrs. Williams Makes Scrapbook

At the final business meeting and luncheon of the year for the Sanford Woman's Club Mrs. Fred T. Williams, historian, presented a scrapbook she had made for the club using newspaper clippings on the group's activities. The scrapbook was placed on the president's table, for display. Mrs. Williams has been appointed as historian for the club again next year. Other appointments will be announced later.

Sanford Scouts Tell Of Full Week

The Girl Scouts of Troop 204 enjoyed a campout last weekend at Camp Ticochee near Barberville. Their days activities included swimming, hiking, treasure hunts, campcraft, and cooking their meals over an open fire. At night the scouts slept soundly in pup tents. Even the rainy weather did not dampen the girls' enthusiasm for out-door life. A grand time was had by all with the only sad moment being the hour for returning home. Those present were Linda Stapler, Mary Jean Turner, Vicki Boyd, Sue Orsano, Peggy Bower, Susan Perkins, Janie White, Marcia Lippincott, Rowena Van Pelt, Scottie McClellan, Mary Sue Pope, Lyndna Bedenbaugh, and Carrie Burholder. Accompanying the girls were their leader, Miss Frances Cobb, Mrs. R. A. Cobb and Mrs. P. R. Stephenson. Court of Awards was held this past week at Sanlando Springs for Girl Scouts. The scouts accompanied by their parents spent a pleasant afternoon swimming and enjoyed a picnic supper, before the ceremony. Girl Scout pins were awarded to Rowena Van Pelt, Vicki Boyd, and Mary Pope, Linda Stapler, Mary Turner, Vicki Boyd, Sue Orsano, Peggy Bower, Susan Perkins, Janie White, Marcia Lippincott, Rowena Van Pelt, Scottie McClellan, Mary Sue Pope, Lyndna Bedenbaugh, and Carrie Burholder. The Backyard Camper awards were earned by Linda Stapler, Mary Turner, Sue Orsano, Vicki Boyd, Peggy Bower, Janie White, Scottie McClellan, and Betty Turner, received Second Class awards.

Best-Moon Wedding Date Set June 21

LAKE MARY — The wedding of Miss Peggy Best, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Best of Lake Mary, and Mr. Clyde Basso Moon of Oviedo will be an event of June 21 at 3 p. m. No invitations are being sent, but all friends of the couple are invited to attend the wedding at the First Baptist Church of Sanford and the reception which will follow in the education building.

A. Gillyard Given Birthday Surprise

Saturday night Mrs. Maude Gillyard, Mrs. George Benton and Mrs. Reggie Mosby, honored S/Sgt. Alvin W. Gillyard with a surprise birthday party. Several games were enjoyed by the guests and Mr. Gillyard received many lovely gifts. S/Sgt. Gillyard, serving with the U.S. Air Force, leaves today for Germany. His wife, Lorraine, and son, Glenn, will join him overseas in a few weeks. The family plans to be stationed there for approximately three years.

Workshop Plans Revealed For 18th

The Home Demonstration Office announced recently that it is providing a work shop entitled "Cleaning Sewing Machines" on June 18. Everyone interested in taking part in this workshop should meet at the Home Demonstration Center at 401 E. 25th St. The cleaning will be done between 9 and 9 p. m. Bring your own machine; any make or model that has not been cleaned in the last two years will do. Also bring the following cleaning equipment: Newsprint, clean soft cloth (men's undershirts are best), two small pie pans, and one pint of mineral spirits. Miss Myrtle Wilson promises the usual successful results. Are you interested in counting the calories you eat? If so, you can get a helpful booklet on this subject by contacting the Home Demonstration Office in the Court house.

Ike Plays Golf Like He Soldiered

Editor's note — Ed Dudley knows President Eisenhower's golf game better than anyone else. He was head pro at the Augusta National Golf Course and was working on Mr. Eisenhower's game before and after he began taking his military vacations there. He has played some rounds with him that anyone...

By ED DUDLEY

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — President Eisenhower plays golf just exactly like he soldiered.

He's mighty good when the chips are down.
So it would be interesting to see Mr. Eisenhower play Mr. Harold Macmillan while the British prime minister is in Washington. Macmillan, too, as far as our country is concerned, because there's nothing like a round of golf to bring two men together.

AIMING AT FIVE By Alan Mavor

BEN HOGAN WILL BE TRYING FOR A RECORD SIX WIN IN THE U.S. OPEN AT TULSA, JUNE 18-19.

CUBS RECALL CATCHER
CHICAGO (UPI) — Night hander Johnny Briggs, with the club at the start of the season, joined the Chicago Cubs yesterday after being recalled from the Fort Worth, Tex., farm club in the Texas League. Briggs compiled a 21 win-loss record with the Cubs and in his two most recent starts struck out a total of 20 batters.

The New York state division of Veterans Affairs was created in 1945. Since then it has handled more than 10 million requests for counseling.

I understand that Mr. Macmillan shot an 81 on the par 36 mountain course at Glenageary recently. That's pretty good golf for a man who doesn't get to play too often. But the gets down around that figure on par 72 courses when he's playing with any kind of frequency and, while the President should have about a 36 handicap, he'll give anybody a battle who shoots in the low 80's. That's because he likes competition.

Having More Fun
I played with Ike recently at Burning Tree, near Washington, and I'll have to admit that his game isn't as sharp as it was before his heart attack.

But he's having more fun out of it.
Back a ways he was really a fierce competitor. Just like the rest of us, he'd get awful sore when he missed a shot. He'd get so 'hot' you could see him steaming, even though he never said very much. And he played so fast he plumb wore me out.

But now he has relaxed a lot more and takes the game more in stride. The President still "burns" when he misses a shot real bad but instead of boiling he'll shake his head and say, "I should do better than that" or "now I know I'm good enough to hit that shot."

He is pretty good, too.

Reading The Green
We can nudge that drive out there on an average of 210 yards and when he gets a hold of one he'll send it out 300 yards or so. If the President has any particular weakness, it is in "reading" the greens. On a course which he plays frequently, he naturally becomes accustomed to the way the greens break. But on a strange course he has difficulty figuring them.

But don't sell him short. He's quite serious on the course and plans his shots with great care. There isn't too much conversation which would shatter concentration although you can tell he is enjoying the day, the game and the championship.

Today's Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALTY
United Press International
TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — There is an old story about the Texan who visited Fort Knox, where all the bullion is buried, and was told that there was enough gold under the Kentucky soil to build a wall six feet high clear around the Lone Star State.

The Texan, completely unimpressed, yawned and observed: "Tell 'em to build it, and if I like it I'll buy it."

That's one of the more or less standard gags about the attitude of Texans. They made no hidden skeletons of their feeling that the most anemic sons of Sam Houston stand seven feet tall and can whip a grizzly in straight falls before breakfast.

But here in oil-rich Oklahoma they regard those Texans as mid-gols on relief.

Oklahoma Gives Its Views
They walk more softly, these Oklahomans who are playing host to the U. S. Open golf championship starting Thursday, but they figure they make just as deep an imprint. Troy Gordon, who writes a column for the Tulsa Daily World, summed it up when he was asked whether Texas was a state of mind.

"Yes," he replied, "the state of unconconsciousness."
As one who has been privileged to visit both Texas and Oklahoma, I must attest that the people who brought the old Indian territory into the nation in 1907 have come a far place. Even Texas didn't match some of the things Tulsa has offered.

In this golf-happy town, even the taxis are Cadillac's — and air conditioned, pardon, if you don't mind. They're all next year's models, too.
"We've got more Cadillac per capita than any other state — including Texas," said one, "and we also have more millionaires per capita than those folks in the desert just south of here."

Club Is An Example
Tulsa's Southern Hills country club, where Dick Meyer will attempt to defend his U. S. Open championship in the tournament which will have single rounds Thursday and Friday and two Saturday, is a pretty fair testimonial to the Croesus character of Oklahoma.

Southern Hills is a 25,000,000 plant on a 300-acre tract of choice real estate valued at $5,000,000. That puts the whole gold-plated property at an estimated value in the neighborhood of $5,800,000, which must be a neighborhood exclusive enough even for Texans.

It was only 25 years ago that the rolling, timbered land was exactly as it had been for hundreds of years under the Creek nation, long before the times of Wyatt Earp. But fast-forward to Billy the Kid — real or believed. At that time, in 1910, there was a teenage triangle in which one youngster was killed. The citizens decided that what they needed was a family recreation center, and one wealthy resident donated the land. Southern Hills was born.

IRISH WIN
NEW YORK (UPI) — An overflow crowd of 8,000 at Gaelic Park Sunday saw the visiting Louth All-Ireland soccer football champions score a 2-7 10 points to 1-8 11 points victory over a New York selected team after New York had beaten Kilkenny in a hurling game, 22-10.

THOUSANDS STILL NEED YOUR HELP...

JULY 4TH, INDEPENDENCE DAY, has been designated National Baseball Polio Day when all segments of the baseball world — professional and amateur — will participate to aid the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in its final conquest of polio and the extermination of various virus diseases. All baseball fans are urged to help by attending games.

National Baseball Polio Day July 4

Snead Heading For National Open Thursday

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) Samuel Jackson Snead, who has waged a fruitless search since 1927 for the one big golf crown that has eluded him—the National Open—had a victory springboard today to carry him into the 1935 edition starting at Tulsa's Southern Hills Thursday.

The 42-year-old West Virginia hillbilly who came down into the later days in 1926 and had been a headline ever since with his picture swing and winning golf, successfully defending his Dallas Open title Sunday, but had to curl in a 15-foot downhill putt on the first extra hole of a four-way sudden death playoff to turn the trick.

He finished with an eight-under-par 272 with a 35-34-36 final round to finish in a deadlock with Julius Boros of Mid Pine, N. C., Julius Player of South Africa and rookie John McMullin of Fair Oaks, Calif., who blew the tournament on the final five holes when the pressure finally caught up with him.

The $5,000 first money ran Snead's official PGA winnings to an all-time record $329,000 and gave him his 100th tournament victory.

Snead still hasn't got his putting game back in the groove that will be necessary to take the big one later this week. He missed enough short putts to have won here hands down. His long ones were dropping easily enough, but the short ones rimmed the cup or broke off to one side.

ORIOLES SIGN THREE
BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles have signed three players—19-year-old pitcher Herman Starrett of Statesville, N. C., second baseman Derris N. Bradshaw of Wilmington, N. C., and outfielder Charles Weston of Culver City, Calif. — to minor league contracts. Starrett goes to Aberdeen, N. D., of the Class C Northern League while the other two go to Bluefield, W. Va., of the all-rookie Appalachian League.

The second annual National Baseball Polio Day, endorsed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower, will be held on July 4th, Independence Day, with all baseball groups throughout the country — professional, semi-pro and amateur — contributing in a combined effort for the benefit of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Last year and again this year the American Legion Junior and Senior baseball teams were the first to join in the concerted effort to wipe out polio. Lou Brisley, former star southpaw pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics and Cleveland Indians and now Commissioner of American Legion Baseball, has revealed that more than 12,000 teams from his group will participate in the Independence Day games.

In addition to the American Legion, the P-O-N-Y League, Major and Minor Leagues and many Babe Ruth and Little Leagues will participate in the drive.

Last year, over $60,000 was raised for the polio fund.

R. Ray Batters Own Water Ski Jumping Record
NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Florida schoolboy Roger Ray bettered his own national junior boys world's water ski jumping record Sunday by some eight feet at the New Orleans Open Water Ski Tournament.

The 17-year-old Winter Haven youth soared 107 1/2 feet, topping his old mark of 99 1/2 feet.

PATTY TAKES TITLE
OSLO (UPI) — Buddy Patty of Los Angeles and Paris outlasted Jaroslav Drobný of Egypt in a match lasting more than three hours to win his second title in the open Norwegian tennis championships. The scores were 6-3, 3-6, 1-4, 11-13, 5-4. Patty and Drobný won the men's doubles title on Saturday.

The New WAYNE D. OVERHOLSER Thriller THE LONE DEPUTY

CHAPTER 21
PRICE REGAN holstered his gun and ran to where Barney De Long stood, forefinger pointing into the willows. He saw Rose then, as motionless as if she were frozen, facing him as she squatted precariously on the bank of the stream, both hands holding to the base of two willows. She looked at him, blinking. She was wearing a nightgown and it had been ripped by the brush in half a dozen places.

"Come out of there, Rose," Price ordered. "We're not going to hurt you."
But she squatted there, bare feet in the mud, staring at him with blank eyes as if she had never seen him before. He started to reach for her arm and then dropped his hand, realizing that if she released her hold on the willow she'd fall into the river and drown.

He turned his head to De Long. "Move downstream a little. If she falls, maybe you can grab her." He looked at Rose again, edging forward. "I'm Price Regan, the deputy. You remember me, Rose. I'm here to get the men who killed Walt."
"Walt?" she repeated the name as if it stirred her memory. He came forward again, right hand close to her left arm. "Come on, Rose. Nobody's going to hurt you. We're here to help you."

His words were beginning to get through to her. Then terror was in her again and she screamed. "They're going to kill me! You're going to give me to them!"
He grabbed her wrist just in time. She let go and slid toward the water. "Give me a hand, De Long!" Price shouted. "Hurry! Price had both hands on her wrist, muscles standing out in hard knots as he fought the river, and for a terrible moment he thought the current was going to tear her from his grip. Then De Long was stooping beside Price, helping him, and together they pulled her out of the water and through the mud between the willows to dry ground.

They got her feet under her, but she lacked the will or the strength to stand. They practically carried her around the store to her cabin. Only her head and arms had stayed out of the water, and she was shaking violently from fear of the chill from being in the cold water, or both.

She didn't resist. She didn't try to talk. She just went along, her head wobbling from one side to the other, and when they put her on the bed, she was little more than an inert mass smeared with mud.
"Get into the store and fetch a bottle of whiskey," Price said. "We've got to bring her out of this."
De Long obeyed. Price pumped a pan of water at the sink in the corner of the room and, grabbing a towel from a nail behind the stove, dipped one end into the water and washed her face and arms and feet.

"Can you get up and dress, Rose?" Price asked. "You're soaking wet. You've got to get that nightgown off of you." "You won't let them have me!" she asked, her eyes on him in that expressionless dead-fish stare that frightened him.

"You're safe, Rose. I won't let them have you. Can you tell me who it was?"
"Don't let them get me," she begged. "Please! Don't let them get me."
"I won't let them get you, Rose. You're safe."
De Long came in with the whiskey and would have left if Price hadn't said, "Stay here, Barney. It's your job to watch her. I want to hear it."

"Ain't she a mess?" De Long muttered.
Price slid an arm under her head and, hitting it, put the bottle to her lips and tilted it. She took a long drink and choked. He gave her another drink and let her head drop back to the pillow.
"For a long time she stared at him, then she said, 'You're Regan, ain't you?'"
"That's right." He took her hand that was nearest to him. "You're safe now. You're all right."
"Ain't could have killed you." "Maybe, but that's past. What we want to do is to get the men who killed him."
"For a moment he thought he'd made a mistake mentioning the name of his dead father. He raised up, a crazy violence coming into her eyes. Then she dropped back, shivering. "Yeah, we've gotta get them dirty killers."
"You feel like getting dressed yet?" he asked.

"Don't make no difference." "Yes, it makes a lot of difference. You're going to send you to town and you can take the stage to Rawlins in the morning. You'll be safe there."
She rubbed her face with both hands. "Rawlins? I'd be safe there, wouldn't I? Walt's dead, ain't he?"
"Yes. Now will you get dressed?"
"All right," she said listlessly. She got up, graying a moment before the dress came off her. Price and De Long turned to the door. She said, in the same listless tone, "I'm going to Rawlins."
She finished dressing and sat down in front of the mirror that hung on the wall and began to brush her hair. De Long grimaced. He said, in a low tone, "Ain't she a mess? What'll my wife say when I tell her about this?"
"Don't tell her, Barney. You take Rose to the hotel as soon as you get to town and see she gets a room. I can't go back to town now, but I'll be there tonight. I don't want her running around the streets and I don't want anybody getting into her room and killing her."

"You don't think that would happen?" De Long demanded. "Anything can happen now. I'd be just as glad to get somebody to stay with her. Laura, maybe." "Barney Madden wouldn't stand for it."
"I guess he wouldn't. Well, Jean Potter then. And you tell Barry that Cole Weston is in a pile of trouble, and Barry's going to be in the same trouble if he don't make a quick move." "I'll tell him, but he won't like it," De Long said.

Price walked to where Rose sat in front of the mirror. He said, "Can you tell me what happened?"
She gave him a sidelong glance, her eyes fixed with staring. "Did something happen?"
"Who killed Walt?"
"I'm going to Rawlins," Price said. "I'm going to Rawlins." "I'm going to Rawlins," Price said. "I'm going to Rawlins." "I'm going to Rawlins," Price said. "I'm going to Rawlins."

Whatever Happened To GIL CRUTER
High jumper Gil Cruter of the University of Colorado once held the world indoor record at 6 feet, 8-7 inches — for a few hours.

Cruter set the mark in a 1936 dual meet against Colorado A and M. But another jumper, in another part of the country, surpassed that before the night was over. Cruter also set a record of 6-9 1/4 in the 1938 NCAA track and field championships at Minnesota.

It still stands as a record for Colorado athletes though no longer the NCAA standard. Whatever happened to Gil Cruter? He now is head track coach at Denver's Manual High. In 1930, Manual won the Colorado state high school championship.

THE CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes but also a courteous acknowledgment of the services and kindnesses of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIUM" NOTICE

It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memorium" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real solace therein. Preservation of selection of a suitable verse brings back to them tender, pleasant recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes
That start
What memory plays an old tune
On the heart."

Most frequently an In Memorium is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which it is felt are appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among other significant occasions chosen.

If you are hesitant to express your tender thoughts in poetic form, you may avail yourself of the Herald's collection of original verses. These express in poetic beauty the emotions of the heart-strings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.

Cards of Thanks and In Memorium notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.

 SWANSON, Va. (UPI)—Milo W. Barney, 66, retiring as trustee of the U.S. Forest Service, was named to the post for 25 years. First elected to public office in 1938, Barney said, "never pay attention to criticism unless it has some basis."

MAVY SUNDAY TRAFFIC on State Road 415 traveling west was the primary cause of this property damage estimated at $450. Driver of this car, attempted to swerve around another making a left turn into Beardall Ave. and crashed into a car in front (Staff Photo)

Attendance Good At Nazarene Bible School

Vacation Bible School at the Church of the Nazarene is in the midst of its second week. Capable attendance has been enjoyed each week since its beginning on Monday, June 3. This is the third year Bible school has been held at night, according to the Rev. R. H. Cooper Jr., pastor of the church. The hours are from 6:30 to 9 p. m.

Mrs. Ruth Carter, director of the school, announces that tonight the 8:30 to 9 assembly time program consists of a well-planned "surprise" program. Wednesday night's program is in charge of L. W. Duane Fessenden who will demonstrate spiritual truths with chemicals. Thursday night will be an evangelistic service geared to the children and presented by the pastor in cooperation with the Junior Department in charge of Mrs. Wray Butcher. All of the children are eagerly looking forward to Friday night which closes the Bible school with a planned party. Open house to the parents will be observed this Sunday morning

DeBarry

 Ed McCarthy and her committee serving hot and cold foods, coffee, ice cream and dessert.

Cold drinks for the occasion were sold by the Chamber of Commerce with General Newton and Sam Faron kept busy opening the "pop" bottles for the thirsty ones.

The VFW with their "dog booth" orange juice and dart game were able to keep the children amused. There was a "white elephant" table to help the DeBarry Cancer Unit, and games were operated by the DeBarry Fire Department Auxiliary with Mrs. Harry Schob chairman in charge.

The Lions Club had a "Dunk-A-Lion" booth with Darwin Bruce being dunked in water each time an expert hit the "spot". Jack Jackson took the "wet seal" during the evening hours.

during the 9:45 a. m. to 10:45 Sunday school hour. The Junior choir will sing in the morning worship hour in observance of Father's Day. Details of this "open house" and demonstration time will be announced later in the week.

For all of those who crossed the Plaza at DeBarry, William Williams acting deputy took into custody and placed them in "stocks". The ladies were required to bail their husbands out and the men their wives.

It was a day to help swell the playground fund and from all reports "everyone enjoyed the fun."

Harold Jenkins was overall chairman of the event for the DeBarry Lions Club.

Foreign Aid Cut—Congressional sentiment is rising for a deeper than-expected cut in this year's foreign aid bill. The House already has adopted an authorization bill slashing $68 million from President Eisenhower's recommendations, and the Senate is contemplating much deeper cuts—more than a half billion dollars.

Under congressional procedure, Congress is now considering the "authorization" bill, which will represent the maximum that Congress will be able to appropriate. Historically, Congress never has authorized the full amount it has authorized. Therefore, the prospect is that the administration request will finally emerge some 20 to 30 per cent smaller.

Congress is also being asked to approve a $600 million long-range loan program, but this project is not included in the present bill.

Alaskan Statehood—House action in approving the Alaskan statehood bill represents a long stride toward bringing a 49th state into the union, and eventually a 50th—Hawaii.

The House has been the principal roadblock to approval for many years. The Senate has approved the measure before, and is expected to do so again in the current session of Congress. The only remaining danger is that opponents of the measure will attempt to attach statehood for Hawaii to the bill. Opponents to statehood for Hawaii and Alaska, voting together, have sufficient strength to defeat the measure. However, neither faction has a majority if only one territory is considered at a time.

Alaskan statehood, if it comes to pass, will open up an era of expansion and development of the territory, as it has historically for other American territories upon receiving statehood and, in these perilous times, it may eventually provide a much stronger bulwark against the Russian Arctic aerial attack route to United States targets.

National Chaplain Installs Local FRA Officers

Carl S. Carlson, National Chaplain, Fleet Reserve Association, visited Sanford last Friday night to install the officers of the Sanford Branch of the Association.

Prior to the installation ceremonies that took place at the CFO Club Ballroom on the Naval Air Station, an informal dinner was held at the Lake Monroe Inn honoring the visiting official.

Included in the program for the evening was an address by Capt. J. H. Reedy, Commander Heavy Attack Wing One, who appeared as guest speaker for the occasion.

Officers installed during the ceremonies were John Beddard as president; William Johnson, first vice president; Richard Tice, second vice president; Don Merritt, secretary-treasurer; and a board of directors composed of Verlin Arnett, Luther Barnes, Eugene Flint, James McClure, Bob Meyers, Gerald Myers, Harold Sundvall and James Scott.

Other guests included Capt. and Mrs. L. A. Artbur, Capt. and Mrs. R. E. Buttman, Mrs. Betty, Cdr. and Mrs. B. C. Knight, Cdr. and Mrs. E. B. Bowers, Cdr. and Mrs. C. F. Prossard, Cdr. Joe Tully, Chaplain Fuller and Mrs. Rachel Hopkins, regional vice president of the ladies auxiliary of the Fleet Reserve Association.

After the program was concluded a buffet luncheon was served to the members and guests followed by dancing to the music of David Mathis and his string band.

Glass Installation At Center Insured

The $10,000 glass installation at the Sanford Civic Center is now insured.

Approval to insure the huge area of glass on two sides of the auditorium came Monday night when the Board of Sanford City Commissioners was advised that only a binder was in effect at the time.

The entire insurance program for the Sanford Civic Center was approved at the Monday night session. It includes fire and liability coverage.

Old Band Uniforms Shipped To Alaska

Old uniforms belonging to the Seminole High School Band were shipped today to Haines, Alaska.

After new uniforms were purchased by the HHS band, Bandmaster Ernest Cowley advertised 80 used uniforms in a national band newspaper. School officials in six states responded and a sample was sent to each.

The Haines Alaska School was the first to offer to purchase the uniforms and will pay $400 for the 60 uniforms.

Bandmaster Cowley reported that the amount would be paid for future purchase of additional uniforms and uniform replacements.

7th Lawless Wildfire Reported Last Night

LONGWOOD—Late last night the seventh lawless wildfire within the week occurred just off State Road 434, one mile north of Goldenrod. Although the fire had apparently started well after sundown while the air was still and dew was falling, "it burned intensely," according to the rangers at the scene.

The fire was discovered by Donald Checko of Goldenrod, who telephoned the Florida Forest Service at Longwood. George Otto the dispatcher there, radioed for crews to locate the fire. Within a short time Ranger Robert Leverett and ranger John Partin Jr. with his assistant "Shorty" McDowell arrived with two water trucks. Through the swift action of all concerned the fire was contained to one acre of woodland.

Ranger Leverett said, "The fire was probably started by unlawful trash burning or careless smoking habits. All the recent fires have been started that way."

Ranger Arnold Wessel, who reported the fire to The Sanford Herald said, "The extreme dry condition of our woodlands at this time present a very serious fire hazard. The only way to put a stop to the wildfires is that every resident of the county make a special effort to be careful with any fire at all times. Seminole County has the second-worst wildfire record in the state, he said. All the fires so far this year have been caused by people's carelessness or negligence and all were therefore preventable."

Wessel concluded by urging "Everyone in the county must do whatever he can, if we are to prevent the costly repeated burning of our diminishing woodlands."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House overwhelmingly approved today President Eisenhower's request for an unprecedented five-year extension of the reciprocal trade program with power to cut U. S. tariffs 25 per cent.

The controversial measure slid through the House with surprising ease. Subjected to strong pressure from the administration and leaders of both parties, the House rejected on a 334 to 167 non-record vote a substitute measure offered by protectionists. This was sponsored by Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.).

The House then rejected on a 368 to 146 roll call vote a motion by Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) to kill the measure by sending it back to committee.

The measure now goes to the Senate where it faces a tougher test. Protectionist sentiment is stronger in the Senate and there will be no limits on the amendments that can be offered.

Yoes of the measure operated under severe handicaps in the House. They had agreed in advance to a self-imposed gag-rule which permitted them to offer only one over-all substitute for the administration bill.

The climactic vote came after a last-minute flurry of debate during which Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich.) accused the administration of buying votes for the bill through its announcement Tuesday of a new copper-buying program.

Simpson's proposals would have stripped the President of any power to overturn the tariff commission when it recommends higher tariffs or other restrictions against foreign imports competing with domestic products.

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (UPI)—An attractive blonde drowned herself in a reservoir after a troubled romance with a surgeon who is the father of six children, police reported today.

The body of Mrs. Eleanor Sasseville, 36, was found early today by Dr. Stephen J. Starr after she disappeared from a restaurant rendezvous.

Police Chief Edward T. McCarthy said he was convinced the Worcester office worker committed suicide.

The death of Mrs. Sasseville, who lived apart from her husband, unveiled a clandestine romance that had been going on between her and the doctor for three years, police said.

The couple met for about two hours Tuesday night at a restaurant, police said. Mrs. Sasseville had a beer and Starr had a highball.

At one point, police said, Mrs. Sasseville excused herself to go to the ladies room and did not return to her table.

Starr then hunted nightlong for her, checking her home and various eating places here and in Worcester, about 30 miles away. Finally, acting on a taxicab driver's tip, he searched the banks of the reservoir and found her fully clad body, face down, in water about four feet from the tree-edged shore.

No charges were filed against Starr, who was described as in a "state of shock." He was taken to a state mental hospital "for his own protection," police said.

TEACHERS WANTED SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI)—The Springfield school system is seeking 200 new teachers for the term starting next September.

Supt. T. Joseph McCook told a Parent-Teachers Association meeting that qualifications for teachers are high in Springfield and "that reduces our chances of getting teachers."

House Trailer Question Comes Up Before Board

"If you want to stop it — stop it — if you don't let it stay there," was the advice City Attorney William C. Hutchison Jr. gave members of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners Monday night, when the question of trailers being used within the city without permits.

One complaint of a house trailer being used within the city limits was discussed while the question of a truck with a house built on the back and came under scrutiny.

The City Attorney cited the City Ordinance prohibiting the use of house trailers within the city.

Commissioners instructed Captain Arnold Williams of the Sanford Police Department to carry out the intent of the ordinance.

Several unsightly locations were called to the attention of commissioners with possible violation of building codes as well as creating fire hazards in closely populated areas.

Sanford Fire Chief Mack N. Cleveland Sr. was instructed to inspect the areas with possible elimination of the hazards and unsightly appearances.

Commissioner A. L. Wilson suggested that the city "institute a general cleanup campaign all over the city."

The local agent pointed out that "I recognize the fact that the percentage of growth in Seminole County Schools is comparable to that in Brevard County."

"The additional mileage would not necessarily remain or stay on," Gunby said and explained that "next year your assessed valuation may go up and the capital outlay fund may go up to the point where you don't have to have additional mileage."

"The theory is," he said, "if you're going to have something you have to pay for it."

R. T. Milwee, Seminole County Superintendent of Public Instruction, told the board that "the survey in April of this year indicates that there will be a growth of more than a thousand children in Seminole County Schools."

Prior to approval, Senator Douglas Stenstrom told the Board of Education that "this board has two responsibilities: (1) present a program of adequate schools to the county, and (2) explain it to the people."

He said "There's no reason to be pessimistic when the people of this county voted 18 to 1 in favor of the bond issue in the last election. It is an indication that the people of this county are interested in their schools."

W. A. Patrick, member of the Board of Education, said "We're going to win this election."

House Trailer Question Comes Up Before Board

Following approval by the State Department of Education, a resolution will be proposed calling for the bond election on Sept. 9.

Fiscal agent for the local school board, Kirk Gunby of DeLand, explained to members of the Board of Education meeting this morning, every detail of the proposed school bond issue of $3,200,000.

The resolution sets out a 14-point program calling for a new Senior High School at Sanford, a Junior High School and renovations to the present Seminole High School plant, Lyman School at Longwood, Lake Mary School, Oviedo School, a new elementary school in Southwest Seminole County, a new elementary school at Casselberry, Crooms Junior-Senior High School, Midway Elementary School, Rosewood School at Altamonte Springs, Oviedo Elementary School, alterations, renovations and additions to Sanford Grammar School, Southside School, Westside School, Geneva School, Lake Monroe School, and Wilson School at Paula.

The resolution also calls for the purchase of two new Junior High School sites. The repayment schedule, set up for the bond issue, calls for an annual payment of $220,000.05, said Gunby and is proposed for 20 years at a 3 1/4 per cent interest.

Gunby pointed out that additional mileage necessary for the bonds was kept at the lowest possible figure. However, he pointed out that it would be necessary to ask for 1 1/4 mills even though "I did not take into consideration your growth and increase improvement funds and did not take into consideration the possible new assessments."

M. Crandall Named Local USO Chairman

Mervin Crandall, prominent Sanford banker and manager of the Naval Air Station bank facility, was named chairman of the USO at a meeting held yesterday.

Crandall will be chairman of the operating committee of the USO-YWCA operation here which is part of the Eastern Florida Multiple Community designation.

Crandall's appointment was officially announced by the USO Division of the National Board of the YWCA, represented by Miss Ella Turner.

The new chairman is active in military circles, was a United States Marine for four years and "knows first hand what the USO means to a serviceman."

Crandall is active in civic affairs, is a member of the Sanford Kiwanis Club, the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, and other groups in the community.

A meeting of the Steering Committee has been called for this afternoon at 4 o'clock at which time a committee will be organized to carry on the operation here.

Serving with Crandall will be John Krider, Harold Kastner, the Rev. Perry Stone, Lee Samuels and Chaplain William Fuller of the Naval Air Station.

Miss Nan Myers, director of the Eastern Florida MCD will also attend the meeting with Miss Turner.

Max Myers said that the USO is open from 7 to 11 p. m. every Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday and is staffed by members of the local women's clubs and church groups.

Miss Turner, after a survey of the facilities here, said "The USO is a member of the United Fund and is supported by the public. You have attractive buildings here and a tremendous program of which everyone should be proud."

On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays swimming instructions will be given at the pool until noon.

On Tuesdays from 9 a. m. until noon instructions in various phases of music will be conducted by Mrs. Arletta Coberly, while Thursdays at the same hours classes in arts and crafts will be directed by Mrs. Lucille Snyder. These will be held at the Oviedo School.

Afternoon sessions in recreation will be held from 2 to 5 p. m. at the school also.

Boys recreations will be under the direction of Coach Mikler assisted by Jimmy Brookshire, a senior, at the Oviedo High School. The girls' recreation will also be directed by Coach Mikler, assisted by Miss Nancy Myers, a senior at Florida Southern.

Services of another young collegiate, Miss Kay Estes, a sophomore at Florida Southern, have also been volunteered for the program.

Participants in the recreation program will be responsible for transportation.

One night a week entertainment for the teenagers, as heretofore, are the tentative plans for this year.

The Oviedo P.T.A. Saint Luke's Christian Day School P.T.A. the Oviedo Woman's Club and the Town Council of Oviedo provide the funds for the program.

Anyone who is interested in tennis, golf, or any other sport not offered by the Oviedo Recreation program are welcome to attend the Sanford Recreation program, provided they furnish their own transportation.

This program has been a huge success in the years they have conducted it, and Mikler states he hopes this year's to be even better.

In addition to these youngsters at the pool on the stated days, Mr. Priest will also have a bus load or two of children from Titusville several days each week. For the past several years Titusville has enjoyed the use of the pool and facilities of the park here for their summer recreation program. They have been a welcome addition.

A busy summer's forsook for Mr. and Mrs. Priest.

Long-Time Friend Shoots Senator After Election Win

BENNETTSVILLE, S. C. (UPI)—State Sen. Paul A. Wallace was shot to death Tuesday night in the sheriff's office at the county courthouse just as his victory in the state Democratic primary was assured.

The killer was County Court Clerk Henry A. Rogers, 63, a long-time friend and business associate of Wallace.

Wallace, 56, a farmer and veteran state senator, was sitting in a chair in the small private office of the sheriff on the ground floor of the Marlboro County courthouse when the quiet court clerk entered.

Rogers was hardly noticed as he walked into the office crowded with well-wishers. He stopped about four feet from Wallace, pulled out a .33 caliber pistol and fired five times.

Wallace slid from his chair to the floor, mortally wounded. He had been struck by all five bullets.

The sheriff and several others recovering from their initial shock, leaped to disarm Rogers who offered no resistance and made no attempt to escape.

Friends and acquaintances of both men could offer no explanation for the shooting. They said the two men had been alone friends and had had extensive business dealings with each other.

Wallace died at the Marlboro County general hospital 60 minutes after the shooting.

Board Cancels Kitchen 'Gadget' Order For Center

Anyone slated for KP duty for any event at the Sanford Civic Center is warned not to volunteer "too far in advance."

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners, Monday night, canceled an order for a large mixer and potato peeler.

The two "gadgets" won't be used more than once or twice a year at the most, officials declared.

Cost of the two items that were originally planned for the kitchen was announced as $1,100.

In the place of the two items for the Sanford Civic Center kitchen, commissioners approved the purchase of furniture for the new Fire Department on French Ave.

Funds for the furniture purchase will be transferred from the Civic Center.

Items to be purchased include a stove, refrigerator, a table and chair set, two beds, a desk, a table desk, two desk chairs, a file cabinet, a water cooler, six straight chairs, lounge chair and a radio.

Cost of the furniture items was estimated at $1,328.

Quick-Striking Twister Leaves 14 Dead In Path

EL DORADO, Kan. (UPI)—A quick-striking twister that sounded "like a thousand jet planes" roared down Tornado Alley Tuesday carving a path of death and destruction.

Fourteen persons were killed, authorities said.

Their bodies were taken from a temporary morgue, set up in the I-I Club building in this southern Kansas town, to its two mortuaries. Authorities said at least 30 persons were injured.

Property damage was not fully assessed but was expected to total in the millions. At least 150 homes were completely demolished.

It was the most damaging twister since 1933 when 90 persons were killed at Udall, some 25 miles southwest of here.

Tuesday's tornado swirled in from the west shortly before dusk, flattening an area three blocks wide for a length of one mile. Most of the area was composed of middle class residential homes.

Judy Higgins, 20, a Kansas State College student home on vacation, said the noise was "like a thousand jet planes coming in at tree-top level. It was light . . . then the funnel spread out, and suddenly it was black, awfully black."

The cord said hall as large as golf balls accompanied the twister which she compared in form to "an upside down elephant's trunk."

Through the night, National Guardsmen, firemen, police and Air Force Base sifted through demolished homes searching for dead or injured.
