Special meeting called

LONGWOOD — City Commissioners have scheduled a special meeting Monday night for the first reading of an amended ordinance establishing the police department in the city charter. The reading of the ordinance was delayed last week when Mayor Paul Lovestrand refused to allow commissioner Fred Pearl, who was out of town, to vote by telephone. The mayor walked out of the meeting after challenging the legality of what he claimed was an absentee vote. Commissioners Steve Miller, Rex Anderson and deputy mayor Harvey Smerlison voted to call a special meeting in order to avoid a legal challenge to any vote taken. The amended ordinance establishes the minimum number of police in the department. The meeting will be at 7 p.m. in City Hall.

Sanford receives Derby award

Sanford received an Outstanding Race City Community Program Award from the All American Soapbox Derby in Akron, Ohio Friday.

Sanford, which sponsors the Central Florida Soapbox Derby, is one of four soapbox derby franchises in Florida. There are 77 franchises worldwide.

Mike Kirby, director of the Sanford parks and recreation department, said all three division champions from the Sanford race drove well, but were eliminated in the first round of competition.

Representing Central Florida were: Scott Groux, master division; Gregory Herman, kit division and Geoffrey Strickland, stock division. "They all drove very well," Kirby said of the local champions from DeLand and Longwood, "but they got very tough draws. They had a good time though and that's what counts."

The three boys attended a week-long camp with other soapbox derby winners before Saturday's race.

The national winners in Saturday's race were: stock division, Owen Yuda, Harrisburg, Penn; kit division, Danielle Del Ferraro, Akron and master division, Dean Lutton, North Central Ohio.

Zoo receives grant

SANFORD — A visitor brochure and new signs are among the improvements in store for the Central Florida Zoological Park with a $50,000 grant from the Florida Arts Council.

The grant was the only one awarded to a Seminole County agency. The Florida Audubon Society sought $10,000 for a bird of prey environmental contamination program, but was not awarded a grant, according to information provided from the Division of Cultural Affairs.

A total of $2.7 million was issued under the Statewide Arts Grant Program, administered by the Department of State office. The grants are issued to cultural arts programs and science museums.

A total of 18 points were needed from FAC members to fund a grant request. The zoo received 22 of 25 potential points. Florida Audubon received 17.8 points.

Zoo spokesman Andrea Farmer said the money will be used to develop a guidebook for zoo visitors indicating the native Florida flora and fauna at the zoo property west of Sanford. The grant will also be used to extend the zoo's elevated boardwalks to the new Florida Trek and Butterfly Garden exhibits. The money will also be used to install animal species signs and educational signs.

County money stolen?

Discrepancy in child support payments; clerk fired

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County sheriff's detectives are investigating whether more than $14,000 in court filing fees have been stolen from the Domestic Relations Division by a former employee.

A tenured employee who received top performance ratings and commendations since she was hired nearly seven years ago was fired July 19 when she could not account for cash transaction discrepancies, said court clerk Maryanne Morse.

Sheriff Don Eslinger confirmed the matter is under investigation, but said he could not comment further until the investigation is completed.

The discrepancies were discovered July 16 when a man complained his cash child support payment had not been received by his estranged spouse, said Morse. The man produced a clerk's office receipt showing the payment had been made, she said. Morse said the payment records were checked, they found it had been marked "void," suggesting a refund or non-payment.

When Sophie Hunt, the clerk who handled the transaction, was questioned, she could offer no explanation for the voided payment, said Morse.

Black males get answers at summit

By KELLEY MITCHELL

SANFORD — One young African-American male says his life changed when he realized there had to be more to it than just running with a gang, but, he says, there are so many others lost in the system by peer pressure, lack of opportunity or economics.

"It took me five years to graduate from high school," said Anthony Burke of Sanford. "I was 21 years old — but I did it."

"When you're out there running with the homeboys doin' this and doin' that, you get wrapped up in it," he said. "I had to make a decision, was I going to stay on 13th Street or get a wife, job and a home."

"I started painting houses," said Burke. "The first house I did brought me $300 cash money and it felt good."

"A couple weeks later the lady whose house I painted called me and said her neighbor wanted me to paint her house, that house brought me $1,500 cash money," he said. "I had never seen that much money on the streets. Seeing those 15 Benjamin Franklins in my hand made me feel even better and now I'm here to tell you there is an alternative."

Anthony Burke was one of over 450 young African-Americans participating in the Survival of the African-American Male: Century 21 Summit at Seminole Community College on Thursday and Friday.

The summit addressed a number of issues that influence the young people, age 11-25. Nine workshops including issues from the lack of Afro-centric elements in the public school system to family structure, morals, social standards and values were offered with one very important twist — youth participation.

"We are not here to talk at you, we are here to talk to you," said Clyde Perry, human resource area manager for Siemen-Stromberg Carlson, and chairman of the organizing task force. "We want you to tell us the problems in your lives and what we can do to help."

There was no hesitation from the audience as many of the youths

Landmark court case celebrated

By SANDRA ELLIOTT

SANFORD — A party last week at the local public defender's office was complete with a cake and roses but it wasn't for a birthday or a retirement. The staff was celebrating the release from jail 30 years ago of a Florida man whose case helped create the public defender system.

The symbolic balanced scale of justice decorated the cake marking the release from jail August 5, 1963 of Clarence Earl Gideon.

In June 1961, Gideon was arrested and charged with breaking and entering a pool hall in the Florida Panhandle. At his trial two months later, SANFORD — An ambitious drive to bring a new cultural event to downtown Sanford has been launched by the First Street Gallery. Officials hope the event, scheduled for October 22, will be the first in a series.

"Pops on the Square," will be a concert featuring the Seminole Pops Orchestra. Arrangements are being made by Richard Ryan, chairman of the event and its fund-raising drive. Ryan serves on the gallery's board of directors.

Gator bites 10-year-old swimmer

TAMPA — A rescuer called a 10-year-old boy who was attacked by an alligator and survived "the bravest little kid I ever met."

Jonathan Wireman and three playmates saw an 8-foot alligator while swimming in the Tampa Bypass Canal, got out and threw rocks to scare the gator away before deciding it was safe to get back in.

Moments later, the alligator clamped its teeth on the boy's arm and jerked him around.

"He just started yelling and everybody just jumped out of the spot," a playmate said.

Jonathan ran out of the water without realizing what had happened and then noticed his arm was numb.

"I looked at it," he said Friday from his bed at Tampa General Hospital. "It was bleeding real bad. It had dirty holes in it. I started screaming."

The injured boy ran toward his family's trailer park, and neighbor Michael Lofley wrapped a sheet around the boy's arm and applied pressure while his wife telephoned for help.

Jonathan suffered a compound fracture and bone-deep tears in his left arm in the attack Thursday evening and was listed in fair condition Saturday at Tampa General, said nursing supervisor Jack McHale.

"He's the bravest little kid I ever met. He didn't even cry," said Lofley.

The Tampa boy is the eighth alligator bite victim reported in Florida this year. A 10-year-old boy was killed in June when he was bitten in the Loxahatchee River across the state in Palm Beach County.

Storm douses Trinidad

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad — Tropical Storm Bret brushed the coast of South America on Saturday after lashing Trinidad and Tobago with 50 mph winds and downpours.

There were no reports of serious casualties or damage on the two-island Caribbean nation off the coast of Venezuela. Army troops were in downtown Port of Spain, apparently to prevent looting.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami said a tropical storm warning was in effect along the coast of Venezuela and in Aruba, Bonaire and Curacao. Forecasters did not expect the winds to increase in strength.

Conditions were not favorable for the storm, meteorologists said Saturday.

In Venezuela, fishing boats stayed in port and beaches were empty. Flights to coastal areas such as Margarita Island and Puerto la Cruz were canceled.

Bret began thrashing Trinidad and Tobago before dawn, knocking out power for about 35,000 residents in the northeast villages of Balendra and Toco, electric company officials said.

2 arrested with Owens-Corning secrets

TAMPA — Two foreigners were arrested by the FBI Saturday at a Tampa hotel for allegedly stealing trade secrets worth $10 million from an Owens-Corning fiberglass plant in Belgium.

A French-speaking FBI agent posing as an Owens-Corning competitor interested in buying the documents stolen from a plant in Battice, Belgium, recovered them with the arrests, said spokesman Larry Curtin.

Marcel Pauly, 48, an Owens-Corning mechanic for 20 years and a French national, and Michel Russo, 34, an Italian private investigator born in Belgium, were arrested after discussing the papers and offering them for viewing, the FBI said.

The paperwork detailed the manufacturing process of fiberglass reinforcement for plastics used in automotive, electrical and appliance parts, Curtin said.

The FBI tracked the documents, which included secret formulas and research and development plans, as they traveled through Amsterdam and New York.

Both men were charged with interstate transportation of stolen property. If convicted, each faces up to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Cop cleared after running over kids

CRESTVIEW — Police have cleared an officer of wrongdoing for driving with his headlights off when he ran over five sleeping children, killing one, on a dark, dead-end road.

Tamara K. Bailey, 13, was killed and the other four youngsters were injured when they were hit by Officer Terry Selva's patrol car June 23 in this Florida Panhandle city.

"I see no improper, reckless or negligent actions by the officer," Police Chief David Carnahan said Friday.

The state attorney's office, however, also is reviewing the case, said a Florida Highway Patrol spokesman.

Although it is illegal to drive at night without headlights, neither the Crestview police nor state troopers, who conducted an initial investigation, cited Selva for a violation.

Police Sgt. Ken Bundrick, who conducted the department's investigation, said officers are trained to turn their lights off in accord with the Florida Police Standards handbook to avoid being detected by suspects when responding to reports of prowlers and crimes in progress.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Study targets older drivers Many with health risks still behind the wheel

By The Associated Press

CLEARWATER — Many older people keep driving when they know they have medical conditions that could impair their performance, a new study indicates.

Half of those with Parkinson's disease said they continued to drive, as did two-thirds of those who suffered a stroke in the past year or passed out, according to the Florida Geriatric Research Program in Clearwater and the University of Florida.

To Dr. William Hale, director of the geriatric program, the findings indicate doctors need to establish medical standards to advise older patients when it is time to stop driving.

Drivers were asked if they suffered from conditions that "would seem to preclude safe driving."

The study noted people with recent strokes, Parkinson's disease, hospitalization and some eye problems were more likely to quit driving than others.

People with bursts, irregular heartbeats and feet or legs that are prone to getting cold were more likely to get into traffic accidents, drivers said.

Study participants who said they used alcohol were more likely to continue driving than those who didn't.

When it came time to decide whether to stay on the road, older women are more inclined to stop driving than older men, the study found.

More than one-fifth of the women with a driver's license had stopped driving compared with just 10 percent of the men.

Legislators have been reluctant to set an arbitrary cutoff age for driver's licenses because of the vagaries of aging. In Florida, older drivers are the focus of a tip program about bad drivers.

Hale said he believes the government eventually might require extra scrutiny for older drivers with medical problems that could lead to accidents.

The study was financed by the American Automobile Association's Foundation for Traffic Safety.

Breathing problems point to sick buildings

By PAT LEISNER Associated Press Writer

BARTOW — When Jackie Young began to wheeze, cough and sniffle, she never suspected a building could be to blame.

"At first I said, 'C'mon, no building is going to make you sick,'" said Mrs. Young who worked at Polk County Courthouse for five years.

For nearly three of those years, she battled bouts of coughing, fatigue, shortness of breath, colds and lung problems.

As others came down with similar symptoms, suspicion turned from flu bugs and allergies to the state-of-the-art structure where they all worked.

The courthouse, a $37 million showplace when it opened in this Central Florida citrus heartland in 1987, is vacant today, draped in scaffolding and a maze of lawsuits.

A physician who treated Mrs. Young and analyzed data from nearly 1,000 workers found a 12-fold increase in the risk of respiratory ailments and sick leave four times greater than among workers at other area buildings.

Studies done by Dr. Joseph Jarvis of the National Jewish Center for Immunology and Respiratory Medicine at Denver suggest sick building syndrome, where workers in modern office buildings experience respiratory problems on the job, but no specific illness can be identified.

"I believe the health effects are real," said Jarvis, who saw 37 Polk workers. "It could be difficult to get a handle on. There's no one unifying concept of what causes it or what would cure it."

Symptoms include headaches, eye, nose throat or skin irritation, lung problems,

When we were told it was the building we thought that was crazy.

-Stephanie Wilson

coughing, chest tightness, nausea, fatigue, lack of concentration.

Causes can be due to inadequate ventilation, chemical contaminants such as pesticides, cleaners, paints, furniture and carpets, or biological contaminants such as molds, mildew or fungus that thrive in high humidity.

Workers are affected in different ways and in varying degrees. Symptoms usually dissipate when the person is away from the building.

Mrs. Young, a deputy clerk, went to seven doctors, used up her sick leave, was on allergy shots, was off six weeks and spent it sleeping. Coughing spells began to bring up blood. Sneezing punctured an ear drum.

"Doctors found four molds and fungus in my lungs. I'm out of the building a year and it has not subsided yet," said the 49-year-old mother of four who had no history of these problems.

"When we were told it was the building we thought that was crazy," added Stephanie Wilson, another deputy clerk who experienced headaches, eye irritations and respiratory problems. "We thought we were passing germs back and forth."

Linda Davis, a data entry computer operator, was besieged with colds. But her condition cleared as soon as she was transferred to a building across the street.

To the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency the problems are part of indoor air pollution. It's not like secondhand tobacco smoke, radon gas or asbestos where health symptoms can be traced to a single cause.

"We don't see sick building syndrome," said Bob Axelrad, the agency's indoor air director. "The EPA is reluctant to label anything a sick building. There are problems in buildings."

There is no national standard for indoor air. The EPA has no building investigative unit and no indoor regulatory authority.

"Experts even within the medical community are vividly divided over whether sick building syndrome exists," said Randy Oliver, county engineer overseeing courthouse repairs. "It's going to be the vogue of the 90s."

The concept of sick building syndrome has roots in the oil crisis. In 1973 construction standards were changed to seal structures for energy efficiency. More mechanical ventilation was used for heating and cooling. There were fewer open windows. The outer shell or building envelope was made airtight.

But not until recent years was it thought that buildings could be making people sick.

"The Polk County Courthouse was an example of everything that could go wrong did," said Oliver. He sums it up this way: "poor design, atrocious construction and virtually no inspection. ... Simply, the roof leaked, the walls leaked and the air conditioner didn't work."

"Florida has more problems because we experience such high heat and humidity," he said.

POLICE BRIEFS

Brick thrown at house

James Calvin Anderson, 35, 1419 S. Bell St., Sanford, was charged with domestic violence by Sanford Police on Thursday.

Police said he and his father were involved in a verbal altercation when he went out of the house and threw a brick through a window. He threatened to return and break another window and kick in the door, police said.

A short time later, he threw another brick through another window, they said.

Police said he was arrested a short distance away as he was walking down the street.

He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $1,000 bond.

Retail theft alleged

James Earl Hill, 25, who gave deputies no local address, was charged with retail theft by Seminole County sheriff's deputies on Thursday.

Deputies said he was observed by security at Kmart on 17-92 taking a fishing reel and concealing it under his shirt and inside his pants. They said they also saw him take a pair of sandals from the shoe department and put them in a bag he was carrying.

They said he then left the store without paying for the items.

He was stopped in the parking lot, taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $100 bond.

Woman charged with battering man

Sophla Denise Murkey, 202415 W. 18th St., Sanford, was charged with two counts of aggravated battery by Seminole County sheriff's deputies on Thursday.

Deputies said they arrived at her home and were told by her boyfriend that she had struck him twice in the back of the hand with a broom handle and that she had threatened him with a meat cleaver. They said he told them that this was not the first time such an incident had occurred.

She was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $4,000 bond.

Warrant arrests

● Roger Earl Ruess, 42, 111 Valley Court, Longwood, was charged in connection with a Seminole County warrant for grand theft. He turned himself in to deputies at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where he was held on $5,000 bond.

● Virgil Lee Hinkle, 21, 5455 S. Orange Blvd., Sanford, was charged in connection with a Seminole County warrant for escape. He was located at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where he was held without bond on this charge.

Incidents reported to the sheriff's office

● A Wimbeldon Drive resident in Lake Mary reported that someone had poured an unidentified green liquid on his cars. He said they had also poured the same liquid inside one of the cars.

● A Midway Avenue woman reported that someone entered her yard and stole a lawn mower from the storage shed.

● A man living on Burrows Lane in Sanford, reported that his 1972 Pontiac Catalina had been stolen from his front yard. He said the car had been unlocked, but that the keys were not in it at the time.

● A Grantline Drive resident reported that he and a Sanford woman had been involved in a verbal argument when he said they battered each other repeatedly.

He said both had been drinking and neither wished to press charges.

Deputies said the woman kept passing out and refused treatment. She was turned over to her husband.

● A Lake Mary woman reported that a man she met at Pleasure Island has continually called her, followed her and appeared at her home despite her requests that he not do so.

Teacher to bring special program into classroom

By VICKI DeBORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Sharon Patterson said she believes that if young people had more to do, they would be less likely to get into trouble.

Patterson, who is working on her doctoral degree in child advocacy through a non-traditional program at Nova University, spent about a week in Washington, D.C. this summer studying the roles of lawmakers, professionals and parents in the assistance of children.

Most programs available to help children keep away from the criminal life, she said, are geared at teens.

"That's important," she noted, "but I think we need to start working with them at a much younger age."

She said that she studied a program that deals with the relationship between teens and crime. The program, called "Teens, Crime and the Community," stresses things teens can do to stem the tide of crime in their neighborhoods and schools.

"I believe it is a very fine program," Patterson, who is a teacher at Midway Elementary School in Sanford, said. "I know that it can be used very effectively with teens, but I believe that I can use it right now in my classroom as well."

Patterson said that she doesn't know if she will always work with elementary age children, but she believes the work she did this summer will better prepare her to work with all ages of children.

"Right now, teens are twice as likely to experience violent crime than adults," she said. "More often than not it is crime that will be committed by another teen. We have to start teaching them alternatives before they get to be teens."

During the upcoming school year, Patterson hopes to work with her students on creating public service announcements and posters to put in the community about ways to avoid the criminal life.

"It's very exciting," Patterson said. "I believe it will be beneficial to both the students and to the community."

She also hopes to get parents more involved in their children's education at the elementary level, so that families will learn to work together as a team on the children's education.

"It's very important," she said, "to get everyone involved."

She has told people that I am pregnant which would be a neat trick since I am a virgin.

I don't know why she is like this. We have a nice home and a loving mother.

Sometimes I think I should start some nasty rumor about her and give her a taste of her own medicine.

FED UP, SANFORD

DEAR FED UP: Forget about that idea.

Don't stoop to her level by starting rumors about her. She needs help and damaging her reputation with false stories is not the way to do that.

She probably will not seek counseling on her own, but you might want to suggest it to her.

Do not let her see that what she says upsets you. People like your sister thrive on upsetting others and causing them pain. Don't let her know that she has succeeded. Often, that is the easiest way to defuse the situation.

When you hear her making rude comments about your mother, be sure to tell her that she should show your mother more respect. Be prepared that she will probably lash out at you for that, but you should let her know how you feel.

DEAR TEENA: I don't think I'm going to be accepted at any college.

That wouldn't be so bad except that my parents have worked my whole life so that I can go to college and have all the things that they never had and that I can be well-educated.

I want to go to college now, but it seems pretty hopeless. I guess I should have tried harder, but what can I do now?

I never really thought much about it until now and so my grades are only OK.

I'll be a senior next year. Do you think it's too late for me?

I'd hate to disappoint my parents, but I don't know what to do.

NOT COLLEGE-BOUND (?), SANFORD

DEAR NOT: Don't give up yet.

If your grades are "only OK" you may not get into Harvard or Yale, but you'll certainly have a chance at getting into a state college or even a community college.

And since your senior year is still ahead of you, you still have time to pull your grades up a bit.

Work hard at your school work. Start applying now to colleges.

At most community colleges the only entrance requirement is a high school diploma (or equivalent). Two years at a community college might give you a chance to pull your grades up even more and then you can transfer to another institution. ... maybe one of the more prestigious schools.

For goodness sake, don't think it is too late.

Just keep working hard. Things will work out.

DEAR TEENA: What should I do with about my friend who dresses like a real geek.

He's a nice enough guy, but he looks so dopey in his baggy pants and button-down shirt with pens stuck in the pocket. He looks like my dad. That's pretty bad for a 14-year-old.

I'm not saying he should go out and get all new clothes, but he looks like such a geek, he's never going to get a date or be accepted by other guys looking like that. It may get to the point where I can't be seen with him because he's so geeky because I might ruin my reputation. It's not that bad yet, but I would like to help him.

What should I do?

CONCERNED BUDDY
DEAR CONCERNED: If you feel the need to change your friend's appearance, maybe you should suggest a shopping trip together. You could pick out your back to school clothes and see if he'd like to get similar things.

Don't abandon him for the way that he dresses, though.

Appearances are not what you should base your friendships on. Is he nice? Do you have things in common? Do you have fun when you hang out together? Those are the kinds of things you should use to decide on who you want as a friend.

If being seen with your friend may "ruin" your reputation, you're "reputation" is either poor as it is or you're letting the wrong people decide your fate.

Stick by your friend and don't worry about what other people think about his style of dress.

Open houses planned for those heading back to school soon

SANFORD — Schools are gearing up for the start of classes on Aug. 23 and they want to be sure that students and parents are as prepared as the teachers and administrators when classes get underway.

"Orientations and open houses are designed to make sure that everyone has their supply lists, is familiar with the school and knows their schedule before classes start," explained Nancy McNamara, director of elementary education. "I think they're essential for everyone."

Students at schools on the modified school calendar (year 'round school) had open houses earlier in the summer before their classes began.

Each school sets up its own open house and decides what information and assistance their student and parent population will need.

"It varies from school to school," McNamara said.

In addition some schools will divide open houses according to grade level, others will divide them alphabetically.

The schedule for orientations and open houses is as follows:

Altamonte Elementary School, Altamonte Springs Kindergarten: Thursday, Aug. 19, 6:30 p.m.; Entire school: Friday, Aug. 20, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Bear Lake Elementary School, Apopka Friday, Aug. 20, 1 to 3 p.m. (The supply lists are available in the office.)

Expand your brain to a new dimension.
Take heed to the spoken word,
And don't end up a drop-out nerd.
Read those books and do that math.

Singing cowboy Gene Autry rode his trusty steed through scores of movies in the 1930s, '40s and early '50s before becoming a fixture on the small screen. He eventually gave up his gun duels for boardroom lusses, becoming one of the richest tycoons in California, with an empire that included a string of television and radio stations, a hotel chain and his own baseball team, the California Angels.

- Which singing cowboy took vocal duties on the theme song from the 1952 western movie classic "High Noon"?
- Which singing cowboy was born Leonard Slye in Cincinnati?
- The star of it's own spin-off TV series, what was the name of Gene Autry's famous horse?

IN BRIEF

Volunteers needed for Perinatal Program

The Children's Home Society Perinatal Program provides an opportunity for caring committed women to work one-on-one with first time pregnant teenagers and young moms under the age of 25 who live in Seminole County.

Volunteers are trained to work with pregnant teens to provide emotional and practical support in preparing for the birth of their baby. Through ongoing services provided by the volunteer and program staff, the teens have a better chance of completing their education, raising healthy babies and becoming productive and self supporting members of society.

Persons interested in volunteering should call the Perinatal Program Office at 830-8774 for details of the next training session.

Health concerns of menopause

Menopause is part of the natural progression of life, very simply, it is the permanent cessation of the menstrual cycle which signals the end of a woman's child bearing years. When a woman enters this segment of her life, her ovaries stop producing significant amounts of two important hormones known as estrogen and progesterone.

The average age for menopause in the United States is 51. The age at which menopause occurs is genetically predetermined, but cigarette smoking has been associated with an earlier menopause.

Frequently patients ask, "Am I menopausal?" If I see a patient who is 45 years or older, who has stopped having periods for six to 12 months, it usually means that menopause has been reached. However, many women begin to experience symptoms associated with menopause prior to this, with periods becoming irregular rather than stopping all at once. Other symptoms commonly associated with menopause include "hot flashes" and "night sweats."

These symptoms will often awaken women at night resulting in daytime sleepiness, fatigue and irritability.

The lack of estrogen associated with menopause may cause the lining of the vagina to become atrophic and dry. This condition may cause pain during intercourse as well as vaginal itching and burning. Changes in the urinary system which coincide with the vaginal atrophy may produce burning upon urination, bladder control problems, and urinary frequency.

Most of the unpleasant side effects of menopause can be eliminated or greatly reduced by estrogen replacement.

One of the most serious side effects associated with decreased levels of estrogen is osteoporosis. Osteoporosis is a condition characterized by a reduction in the quantity of bone mass which increases the risk of debilitating fractures such as hip and spinal compression fractures. According to recent medical studies, 75 percent or more of the bone loss which occurs in women during the first 20 years after menopause is attributable to decreased levels of estrogen rather than to age itself. Even though calcium deficiency contributes to bone loss, calcium supplementation alone is not enough to prevent osteoporosis in estrogen deficient women.

Most of the unpleasant side effects of menopause can be eliminated or greatly reduced by estrogen replacement. In the past, fear of increased risk of cancer of the endometrium, the inner layer of the uterus, made patients reluctant to initiate estrogen replacement therapy.

However, recent studies have shown that combining estrogen replacement with progestin (a hormone similar to progesterone) eliminates this increased risk. There is no convincing scientific evidence at this time that estrogen replacement therapy after menopause significantly increases the risk of breast cancer. In addition, estrogen replacement seems to reduce the incidence of coronary heart disease in postmenopausal women.

Not all menopausal women require hormonal replacement, and a few contraindications do exist. As with any other medication, the need for this type of therapy must be individualized.

I usually explain to my patients that if they maintain a positive attitude and promote a healthy lifestyle which includes eating a balanced diet, regular exercise, tobacco avoidance and reduction of alcohol and caffeine intake, they can expect an active and very satisfying life, long after menopause. After all menopause is just a transition — not the end of the world.

Ozone alert? Breathe carefully

By IRA DREYFUSS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Bad air is bad news to exercisers. When summer heat cooks smog into an ozone stew, athletes should think about cutting back and maybe staying inside, experts say.

Ozone is a form of oxygen that develops when hydrocarbons from car and industry emissions mix in summer heat and sunlight. It's chemically similar to the atmospheric ozone layer which filters skin-damaging ultraviolet radiation from sunlight. But there's a difference — that layer is 15 miles up, safely out of breathing range.

The pollution-caused ozone gets created close to home — within your breathing range. And as an irritant to airways and lungs, it can make breathing more difficult, said Dr. Henry Fishman, a clinical assistant professor of allergy and immunology at Georgetown and George Washington universities. High summer humidity can make things even worse, because moisture in the air traps ozone, according to Dr. William Eschenbacher, an associate professor of medicine at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Ozone typically peaks in late afternoon, after cars and businesses have had time to spew pollution and the sun has had opportunity to cook it, Eschen-bacher said. The federal government considers ozone to be unhealthy when an hour's readings average 120 parts per billion. That's 120 molecules of ozone in one billion molecules of air in general.

But unhealthy is a relative term. Exercisers with lung problems such as asthma are at special risk and could wind up in an emergency room if they exercise outdoors when the ozone level is high, said Eschenbacher, medical director of Respiratory Care Services at The Methodist Hospital in Houston.

Because ozone irritates the nerve fibers along the respiratory tract, people may notice a sore throat, coughing or chest discomfort, Eschenbacher said. Some athletes with lung problems can have trouble breathing. Asthmatics may need to increase their medication, Fishman said.

Florida's lawmakers as split as House, Senate on tax bill

By KAREN TESTA
Associated Press Writer

President Clinton's deficit-reduction plan, which won approval by one vote Friday night in the Senate, will cause Americans to lose faith in their government, said Sen. Connie Mack. "The American people have every right to be afraid of their government if today's laws punish yesterday's actions," said the Republican senator from Cape Coral, who vehemently opposed the retroactive taxes in the Clinton budget. The plan passed the Senate with a tie-breaking vote from Vice President Al Gore. But the decisive vote came from Sen. Bob Kerrey, D-Neb., the last senator to make up his mind. He declared he "could not and would not cast a vote that would bring down" the administration. The bill, which claimed deficit savings of $496 billion over five years, cleared the House on a 218-216 vote Thursday night. But Rep. Corrine Brown, D-Jacksonville, said the plan will reduce the "towering national debt" and keep further generations from being stuck with the bill. She voted for the plan Thursday night.

"This is an excellent blueprint to jumpstart our economy and move our nation forward," she said. Rep. Heana Ros-Lehtinen, R-Miami, said the plan was a "job killer" with a tax increase designed to hurt everyone. "Including car drivers, Social Security recipients, veterans, and virtually anyone who breathes." "The 1990 plan was a failure and the 1993 deal stinks just as much," she said. Miami tax attorney Frank T. Adams, who has studied Clinton's package, said the wealthy are not the only ones who would feel the implications of retroactive taxation. "It is not just the person earning over $180,000 per year that is affected," he said in a release Friday. "It is time for everyone to wake up — this legislation affects all of us." However, Sen. Bob Graham, D-Florida, said he was pleased with the package because it met three basic criteria: to reduce the deficit, to treat all Americans equally, and to help create jobs. "We will all make some contribution toward the President's plan," he said. "America will be stronger and more competitive in the world."

Getting an 'early' start

High schools can begin pigskin practice Monday

By TONY DeSORMIER
 Herald Sports Editor

SANFORD — If it seems like the high school football season came early this year, it's only because it has.

It used to be that high schools couldn't begin football practice before Aug. 15. This year, in attempt to decrease the overlap between fall and winter sports, the Florida High School Activities Association moved the fall schedule ahead one week.

As a result, the schools can begin practice tomorrow, Aug. 9. And in Seminole County, at least three of the six schools will.

According to first-year coach Ernie MacPherson, the Seminole Fighting Seminoles will conduct their first practice on Monday morning at 8 a.m. MacPherson said that the Tribe will go through two sessions between 8 a.m. and noon, each lasting about an hour and 45 minutes.

"Once we have them out there, we want to keep them out there," said MacPherson.

Seminole will follow that schedule all next week. The following week, when the teachers are scheduled to return to duty to prepare for the new year, the Seminoles will practice between 3 and 5:30 p.m.

Larry Baker, in his second year as the Lyman head coach, said the Greyhounds will practice two times a day everyday next week. The first session each day will be between 6:30 and 8 a.m. The time of the second session is a little less definite.

"We're going to try 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Monday," said Baker. "If the heat is too much, we may make an adjustment to 6-to-8 p.m."

The second week, the Greyhounds will go to one-a-day practices beginning at 4 p.m.

Oviedo also will take advantage of the early starting date. Coach Jack Blanton having scheduled workouts from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. every day this week. The following week, Blanton said the Lions will workout between 3 and 5:30 p.m.

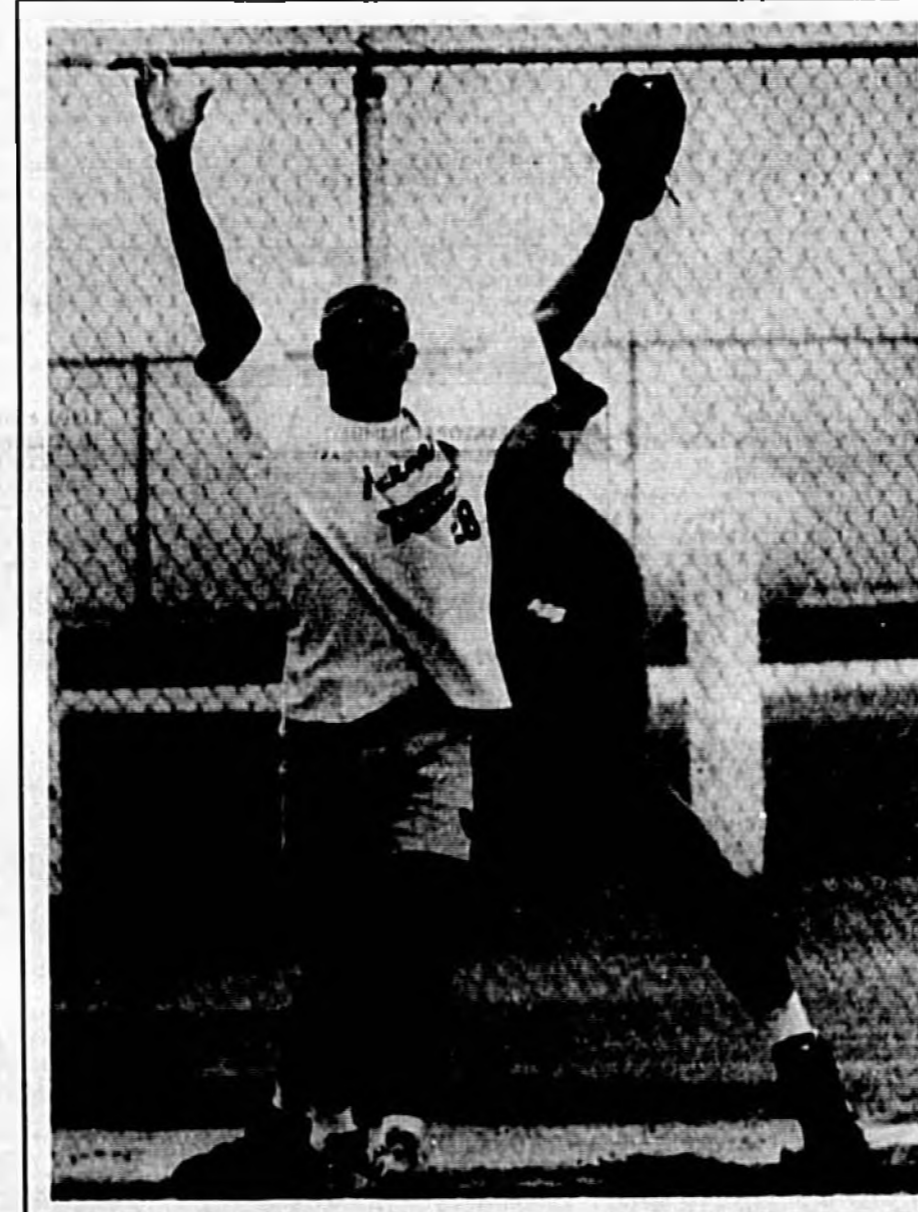

While they won't start practicing until Wednesday, Aug. 11, Lake Brantley coach Fred Almon will have the Patriots busy on Monday and Tuesday.

"We'll be conducting physicals on Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 9 and 10, beginning at 3 p.m. in the training room," said Almon. "We'll

It's going to be a long week for most of Seminole County's high school football players, with schools allowed to begin practicing tomorrow. While that may seem early, the fall jamboree is less than three weeks away.

He's what?

Mike Edwards (No. 28), third baseman for the Monroe Harbour Marina Mariners, expresses his shock at the call on this close play at third base during the Mariners' game with ABB Power for the Sanford Recreation Department Tuesday Men's Softball League championship. Every close call was closely scrutinized by both teams as they battled to the final out, ABB Power rallying for four runs in the bottom of the seventh to pull out an 18-17 win.

In regular league play, Chuck Baker turned in the best individual performance of the week for the men, rolling a near-perfect 277 high individual game score in the Odd Balls League. The best series of the week for the men was posted by Pete Campbell, who constructed a 629, which was also came in the Odd Balls League. Barb Richards came up with the highest series total among the women, putting together a 553 series in the Odd Balls League. Debbie Settle was a close second with a 551 series in the Wednesday Match Point League. Settle also had the highest single game score of the week with a 245, which was better than a 239 by Rhonda Kennedy, a 223 by Margo Butler and a 221 by Linda Stafford.

In the men's division, Pat Johnson parlayed a high game of 220 into the week's high series of 609.

Johnson's score was 51 pins better than the 558 turned in by Joe Macon and 79 pins higher than Ed Jackson's 530.

Macon was also second to Johnson in highest game score with a 204. Ron Stafford rolled the third highest game with a 196.

In the women's division, Linda Stafford came out on top of an extremely tight three-way battle with Dory Jackson and Donna Lepore for the high series of the week.

SANFORD — Are you and your significant other looking for something to do on Saturday nights?

Later this month — on Aug. 28, to be exact — the Lake Mary Pub and Playtime Darts will join forces to offer a Couples Dart Tournament. The tournament will be a monthly event, scheduled for the last Saturday in each month.

The entry fee is $5 per person ($10 per couple). Play is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m.

HOT SHOTS

Donnie Tomlinson had a huge week, collecting six wins, three hat tricks, and an eight-throw dart out for Bamboo Cafe's Bad Company in Men's A League play.

Otis Gasser pulled double duty, posting five wins and throwing a hat trick (all double bulls) in Men's B League action for Lake Mary Pub's Pub Pounders and notching four wins and a hat trick for the Family Feud in the Mixed B League.

Also making this week's Hot Shot list were Austin Pash of Bamboo Cafe's The Family and Jay Norris of De Bassholes out of Lee's Halftime Pub, who both had four wins and a bull.

Among the women, Dianne Haggerty totalled six wins for Bone Yard-sponsored Traction in Ladies League play while Ginger Amberg shot a ton 80 to

Sims' injury tempers thrill of Dolphin victory

Associated Press

DAVIE — Dolphins coach Don Shula's enthusiasm for exhibition play by his top draft picks Saturday was tempered by the uncertain playing status of offensive guard Keith Sims.

He suffered a knee injury in the third quarter of Friday's 28-27 victory over the Atlanta Falcons.

"There was a lot of pleased about. The play of our veterans and rookies showed they will add to us offensively and defensively," said Shula. "We're just hoping the injury to Keith Sims is not serious enough to knock him out of there for any length of time."

Magnetic resonance imaging Saturday revealed no ligament damage to the fourth-year guard's left knee. Sims, who signed a three-year, $4.2 million contract before training camp, is listed as "day-to-day."

First round pick O.J. McDuffie paid dividends with a 90-yard touchdown kickoff return giving Miami a 21-17 lead midway in the second quarter. He finished with three returns for 137 yards and two punt returns for 14 yards and caught a 12-yard pass.

Terry Kirby, a third-rounder from Virginia, returned two kicks for 49 yards and rushed for 65 yards on 10 carries, including a 4-yard touchdown to give Miami a 28-20 lead with 3:55 remaining.

Their work "looks like it's going to bring a new dimension to our team," Shula said. "Everything I've seen of Kirby has been a plus. He's a big, strong runningback who looks like he can take you on and move the pile. Also, he's got great vision and makes the right cuts."

Miami's offensive line, which allowed a sack, is in disrepair mostly due to injury and may see some changes.

"The offensive line has got some question marks there, and we'd like to start putting people in those situations and give them the opportunity," Shula said.

Returning center Jeff Uhlenhake is recovering from offseason knee surgery.

Eddie Blake, a second-year guard from Auburn, has yet to take a snap in a regular season game. After switching from defensive tackle to right guard, the 300-pound Blake sprained a knee. He's expected back next week.

Newcomer Ron Heller at right tackle is learning a new system, and Bert Weidner, who is filling in for Blake, injured his neck early in the game.

NOTES: Veteran receiver Tony Martin caught a 36-yard pass from Marino but later strained a hamstring and will be out two to three weeks. Linebacker John Offerdahl (torn bicep) and defensive tackle Larry Webster (shoulder) return to practice Monday. Defensive end David Griggs (knee) is still two weeks away. Miami's lone holdout, running back Bobby Humphrey, visited teammates and Shula Friday evening. "He indicated that things would be resolved in the very near future."

Nature walk in woods exciting, peaceful

Editor's note: This is one part of a series profiling day trips from Seminole County that you and your family can take.

By JOHN A. KUMISKI
Herald Correspondent

"Log alert! Log alert!" Our oldest son, Maxx, age 4, announced a downed tree across the hiking trail. One of our boys' favorite parts of our walking is clambering over these blowdowns. Maxx and Alex both make sure we know when a tree is down. They always enjoy the walks we take on the hiking trails at Wekiwa Springs State Park.

Meandering through the state park, almost 19 miles of well-maintained hiking trails beckon the walker. Colored blazes on trees help keep even the most directionally impaired from getting confused as to their whereabouts. And since there are several different cross trails, trip length can be tailored to suit everyone from the casual walker to the dedicated outdoor enthusiast.

The hike we typically take is a loop of just over three miles, starting and ending at the parking lot by Sand Lake. Although Alex still must be carried for part of this trip, Maxx started walking the entire length himself while he was still three. Stronians is not the best description of this particular walk.

The trail cuts through some wild scenery. The walker gets to see many different types of typical Florida plant communities, including pine-palm to flatwoods and scrub oak forest. Wild grape vines, sand palms, live oaks, and of course slash and sand pines and saw palmettos are just a few of the types of plants you can see here.

Where there are wild plant communities, there are wild animals.

Plants and animals native to Florida abound at the Wekiwa Springs State Park.

At a glance

For those who are truly dedicated walkers, there are primitive campsites in the park's further reaches. All necessities must be carried in by backpack and all trash should, of course, be carried back out.

Anyone intending to hike in the park should ask for a trail map at the entrance station. If you would like to get more information about the trails or other recreational opportunities in the park, call the Ranger Station at the park. The number is 884-2009. Have a nice trip!

The largest herbivore in the park is the white-tailed deer. While it would be rash to guarantee that anyone JoAnne Peagler finds peace and cultural harmony surrounded by Indian artifacts.

Immersed in Indian culture

By ED KORGAN
Herald Correspondent

The study of the American Indian provides mental relaxation for one Seminole County woman.

JoAnne Peagler, an Oviedo resident, has devoted much of her time the past five years to the study of the American Indian and their customs and culture. She became interested when as a Boy Scout mother she had been introduced to many of the ways of the Indians through the Campouts, Scout shows and jamborees she and her family have attended throughout central Florida.

She remembers her giant leap into the hobby like it was yesterday. "We went to a scout show in Winter Park. The scouts were into Indian lore and it was just a terrific show. They had the tips (actual Indian spelling for the Plains Indians' home) and did a lot of the native dances. It was so

Mary Kay consultants converge on Dallas

Sanford's Mary Kay consultants June McFadden, Marie DeV Vaughn, Mary Ann Duxbury, Debbie

Veino and Debra Leahy attended the company's 30th anniversary celebration in Dallas.

Never underestimate the power of a woman. When women put their heads together in a huddle, watch out.

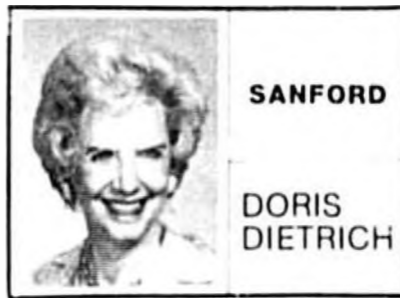

Several Sanford women were gathered in Dallas, when about 30,000 women from around the world pooled their assets and came up with a quarter of a million dollars for cancer research.

The women were attending the 30th anniversary celebration of Mary Kay Cosmetics in Dallas, which was held in four sections during the month.

According to June McFadden, a Mary Kay consultant for seven years who is working her way up the success ladder, the seminar was wonderful.

Mary Ann Duxbury, also a consultant, said the seminar was wonderful, fabulous, what else can I say? Mary Ann was so impressed that she added, "I'm excited and raring to go. I'm going for Mary Kay directorship this year along with my gourmet coffee business."

Community invited to revival

The Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance of Seminole County Inc. will conduct their first city-wide revival of Sanford and vicinity. The community of churches are invited to fellowship throughout the week of Aug. 9-13. At the New Mt. Calvary Missionary Baptist Church, W. 12th St. and Pecan Ave. The services begin at 7 p.m. nightly with the Rev. James T. Blount, an evangelist from St. Luke AME Church, Tampa delivering the message. The music of the week will be under the direction of Sister Mary Liggon Debose and Vernon Jones, founders and directors of the Sanford Community Workshop Choir. Also, various choirs from throughout the city will join in this community-wide Christian fellowship revival.

Come and enjoy the preaching of the gospel of Jesus. Enjoy a united worship experience, the dynamic movement of God with gospel music ministry. Witness His blessing, Sanford, in a mighty way, witness for Christ. Hear the word and listen to the musical talents of Sanford. Bring a Christian, bring the lost to Christ, come and receive your blessing spiritually.

From Monday, Aug. 9 to Friday, Aug. 13, Evangelist James T. Blount, the Rev. Bobby J. Player and New Mt. Calvary Missionary Baptist Church will host the city-wide revival. For further information, call Pastor Player at 322-5224.

Anniversary noted

Morning Glory Baptist Pulpit Board will celebrate their anniversary this afternoon at 3 p.m. Ermar Cooper, president, announces that the worship service will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Harry D. Rucker, pastor of First Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church. The Rev. Andrew Evan is pastor.

Retirement celebration

Irma Copper, Helen Morris and Willie Jones recently returned from Quitman, Ga. where they attended the retirement celebration banquet held in honor of Irman's brother, Willie James "Cat" Jones, the first black police officer for the city of Quitman and the first black Brooks County deputy. He has retired after 25 years of service. "Cat" as he is affectionately called by his sister, Irma, is often a visitor in Sanford to see his family.

Family reunites

The third annual Joe-Golden-DeSue family reunion was held at the Golden's home place in Osteen. The celebration began on July 24 with the group of family members gathering for the noon prayer fellowship. Family member Deacon James Joe came from the north area of Gainesville, Deacon Leroy Joe from the south area of Bartow, and the oldest member attending from the West was Maxwell Howard of Apopka. From the East was Deacon Leslie Golden of Osteen. The afternoon of prayer and fellowship gave family members the opportunity to become better acquainted with one another. The eldest of the Joe family spoke words of encouragement to all.

The couple who has been married the longest was Leroy and Annie Joe of Bartow. Youngest family member was Joshua Darling. The family fellowship continued with plenty of fun, food and games. Saturday evening the group enjoyed an old fashioned fish fry. Sunday morning was Christian fellowship hour where family members joined Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Golden at the St. John Metropolitan Baptist Church where the Rev. Robert Doctor brought the message of the morning. This fellowship helped to strengthen the family more and they vowed to return next year to renew their Christian love and fellowship.

The last meal of the 1993 reunion was held in the banquet room of Duffs and the closing fellowship prayer was given by Deacon James Joe and words of appreciation and encouragement by Helen James. The planning committee of Maxine Alexander, Grace Worthy, Helen James and Elizabeth Jordan bid all a safe return to their homes in Rochester, N.Y., Gainesville, Titusville, Bartow, Orlando, Apopka, DeLand, Sanford and Osteen.

Birthday greetings

Happy Birthday Karri Jennings, George Jennings, Jr. and George Jennings Sr.

Go, carts!

Two Sanford teens dream of race cars careening around hairpin turns as they push carts manned by their younger buddies, Greg Cauthen, 13, tries to come from behind with Scott Grinnell, 10, in tow, while Chris Grinnell, 13, edges ahead with Quinton Rumph, 10, cheering him on.

Others from Sanford attending the celebration were Debbie Veino, Deborah Leahy and Marie DeV Vaughn along with others.

Amaranth meeting

June McFadden was elected Grand Associate Conductress of the Order of the Amaranth, Florida, in May. She has departed for Kenner, La., where she will attend her first official Amaranth meeting in this capacity.

On the road again

Doris and Al Duxbury have returned after a month on the road in their motor home. "We really enjoyed it," Doris said.

En route to San Antonio, they stopped in Berclair, Texas to visit a former Sanfordite, Lois Jalliet.

Then, it was on to San Antonio where they attended the Imperial Session of the International Shriners' convention. En route from Texas to Missouri, they stopped at Hot Springs, Ark. where they visited the famous Bath House Row where such notables as Al Capone got away from it all.

Their next week was spent at Branson, Mo., where "we saw all those fabulous shows," according to Doris. She said the rumor mill reported that Branson was not as crowded as last year which could be attributed to the economy and the area flooding.

She added there were empty spaces at the campgrounds and that their campground manager arranged tickets for all the shows. Her favorite, she said, was the talented Japanese entertainer, Shoji Tabuchi, and his show. "He had the best variety," Doris added.

She mentioned that all the stars were very gracious about coming into the audience and signing autographs. Naturally, they plugged the adjoining gift shops.

Among the other shows the Duxburys saw were: Mel Tillis, Mickey Gilley, Boxcar Willie, Wayne Newton and Ray Stevens.

Following Branson, Doris and Al ventured on to Silver Dollar City which was "very interesting." The city depicted the "good old days of yesteryear" including vaudeville-style shows, Doris said.

After Silver Dollar City came Eureka Springs and then the best part of the trip — home for the retired teachers.

Happy birthday

Helen Constantine was honored by friends at a luncheon on July 15 at the East Ocean in Sanford. Helen was celebrating her birthday, but the exact one was not mentioned.

Helen received a money corsage fashioned by Mona Bridges, and after the luncheon, all sang the "Happy Birthday" song and were served birthday cake.

Helen is employed by the Seminole County School Board as cafeteria manager at Bear Lake Elementary School.

Helping Helen celebrate were: Mona Bridges, Amelia LeFils, Ann Hoohehan, Margaret Parrish, Mary Ellen Rowe, Casey Sherrard and Bert Keller, all from Sanford, and Ann Hoohehan's grandson, Nicholas Guadagno of Vero Beach.

Switzerland visitor

Gay Waller of Lusanne,

Switzerland, is visiting her mother, Dot Waller, sister Sherra Jones, and brothers, Steve and Jerry, and their families.

It's good to get back to her roots, but Gay loves the Alpine country and the all-year outdoor activities available there. She has lived in Switzerland for 13 years, where she is employed as a dental hygienist at Lusanne, a French-speaking district.

Gay returns to Sanford annually to visit. Previously, she has been certain about not returning to make her home here. But now she is not so sure. Maybe, she has a permanent work visa in Switzerland which requires a 12-year work period. However, she is still an American citizen since Switzerland citizenship is by birthright only.

She expects to return to Switzerland Aug. 17. In the meantime she is having a wonderful vacation according to Dot. The family is together a lot and Gay and friends from her high school days have had several outings including the beach.

Gay is a 1972 graduate of Seminole High School and attended the University of Central Florida followed by graduating from the Dental Hygiene School in Savannah, Ga.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Sunday, Aug. 8, 1993
In the year ahead you're likely to be more ambitious and persistent than you were last year. These emphasized qualities will contribute to your success in achieving objectives you establish for yourself.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) An acquaintance might seek your help today for a purely selfish purpose. You'll be cognizant of his/her underlying motives, yet you may still comply. Leo, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, N.Y. 10163. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The concept you'll have for achieving a critical objective is likely to be superior to the ideas of persons with whom you'll be involved. However, it will take guts to buck the majority.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Base an important decision today upon factors that are right and proper instead of merely making concessions to appease an associate.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you're contracted to perform work or service for another today, it's best to put your terms in writing instead of just making a verbal agreement.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This could be an enjoyable day with a close friend, provided you don't ask probing questions he/she may be reluctant to answer. You'll be told only what your pal wants you to know.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Enjoy yourself today, but treat with respect things which deserve to be taken seriously. This is especially true in involvements or endeavors where frivolity might hurt another.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Try not to be an "I told you so" today if a companion makes a mistake regarding something about which you warned him/her. A lecture from you at this time won't go over well.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Aug. 9, 1993
In the year ahead you might be luckier than usual in enterprises or endeavors that have slight elements of chance. You won't be a foolish risk taker, you will instead be a bold entrepreneur.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) An opportunity might arise today that will enable you to be of assistance to someone you know can help you at a future date, yet you'll not assist for this selfish reason.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your powers of observation are quite keen today and you might be able to spot errors in the ways others do things. You'll know how to correct them without appearing to be a know-it-all.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) In a joint endeavor today, it might be wise for you to assume the principle role rather than leave it to someone else. You could be quite lucky in matters you direct.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Much can be accomplished today if you show a willingness to cooperate with persons with whom you're involved. They'll pull for you if you'll pull for them.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Before performing a service for another today, get a firm commitment regarding your remuneration. If you like the size of the reward, you'll do a better job.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Instinctively you're likely to treat everyone you encounter today as an equal. Since most of these individuals hold you in high esteem, they'll appreciate the compliment.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is a good day to complete tasks or assignments you know you should have attended to but have been neglecting. You'll take real pride in your accomplishments.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Try to spend time today with someone you love but haven't seen much of lately. It could prove or direct should turn out profitable for you today. Those in which you're involved that are managed by others might not do as well.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) When managing those in your charge today, be firm but fair and don't keep altering or modifying your directives. You'll not earn respect if you're ambivalent.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It could prove wise today to keep your financial or business affairs as confidential as possible. Leaks on your behalf might be detrimental to your position.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Usually you're a rather generous and giving individual, but today you might become stingy over insignificant things. Don't treat pennies as though they are pounds.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you expect others to believe in you today, you must first believe in yourself. Unfortunately, you might be rather easy to read if you pretend to be something you're not.
prove to be a happy event for both parties.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Generous behavior you display toward others today could take a peculiar twist and turn out to be of greater benefit to you in the long run. It pays to be a giver.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The principle reason your words carry more weight than usual today is because you'll be talking straight from your heart. What you say will have a ring of sincerity and compassion.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your probabilities for a breakthrough are very good today pertaining to something on which you've been secretly working. Continue to keep this matter confidential.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) You might find yourself in a position today where you can help guide a friend through an awkward maze. Don't wait to be asked if you see your pal making avoidable mistakes. (C)1993, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder
As I may have mentioned in the past, defense is the hardest part of the game. One way to make it easier would be to place mirrors behind your partner. However, most opponents don't countenance such behavior. Nevertheless, if you keep track of the tricks won and lost, the cards played and the high-card points produced, you should be able to find the right answer. Yet now and then a nigh-impossible deal will come along — like today's.
North's three hearts was a limit raise, showing about 11 points in support of hearts and at least four trumps. South wisely passed.
West led the spade eight: a happy choice. East won with the queen, cashed the spade ace and led the spade seven, which West ruffed. What should West lead now?
It is traditional in this situation for East to make a suit-preference signal. By leading his highest spot-card he asks for the higher-ranking side suit to be returned. Here, therefore, West switched to the diamond four.
Declarer won in hand with the king, unblocked the club king, played a diamond to dummy's ace and cashed the club ace, discarding the spade jack. Only then did South play a trump. East won with the ace and led his last spade, but declarer ruffed high, drew West's last trump and claimed.
East started to say something, but West beat him to the punch. "Sorry, partner, I see that returning a trump at trick four defeats the contract. But when Hy Lavnthal invented the suit-preference signal, he didn't allow for this situation. Let's get on with the next deal."
Quite right too!

IN BRIEF

CONSTRUCTION

Local company named authorized builder

Aagaard-Barbin Construction Co. of Sanford, located at 2619-B S. French Avenue, has been appointed authorized builder for American Buildings Company.

The announcement was made last week by Joel Voelkert, vice president of sales at American.

American Buildings Company is considered one of the largest manufacturers of metal building systems in the world. It has constantly been rated high in the industry for manufacturing and engineering quality standards.

Dennis Aagaard, president of Aagaard-Barbin in Sanford said through the authorization, his firm will be representing American in Seminole County as well as the surrounding trade areas.

Aagaard-Barbin Construction's general contracting capabilities include design/build services, backed by over 20 years of construction experience.

Voelkert explained, "According to the Metal Building Manufacturers' Association, metal buildings account for more than half of all low-rise, non-residential construction done in the United States today."

He added, "Primary end use applications include shopping centers, free standing commercial business, office complexes, manufacturing and distribution facilities, and churches."

REAL ESTATE

Home sales soar in second quarter

State sales of single-family existing homes rose 15.37 percent in the second quarter of 1993 compared to the second quarter of 1992 according to the Florida Association of Realtors, (FAR).

"I've worked in real estate for 23 years and this is the first time I've seen interest rates make such a positive impact on what people can afford. It's amazing that many first-time homebuyers are finding mortgage rates equal to what their parents first paid," said FAR President Dale G. Jundt.

The Ocala Metropolitan Statistical Area, (MSA) recorded the most impressive second-quarter gain of 52.84 percent, an increase of 1,303 home sales for a total of 3,769 sold in the Ocala area.

The Orlando MSA, which includes Seminole County, showed an increase of 14.06 percent in single-family existing home sales between the two second-quarters. The total number of home sales in the Orlando MSA during the second quarter of 1993 was listed at 26,079.

EDUCATION

SCC offers management program

A Management Program will be offered this fall through the Open Campus of Seminole Community College. The program, co-sponsored by the American Management Association, was established to bring excellent training programs to businesses in the community. The program is aimed at enhancing management skills, and helping people climb the corporate ladder.

Courses offered this fall include communication skills for more effective management, stress management techniques for the inevitable work-related stress, and time management strategies for improved productivity.

A total of six courses are required to complete the certificate program, and there is no time limit for completion.

For registration, contact the Main Campus of SCC, at 100 Weldon Blvd., Sanford.

For additional information regarding the courses, phone 323-1450, ext. 703.

Students earn school scholarships

Three local high school graduates have been featured in the latest edition of Florida Food Dealer magazine. They were part of a group of 31 scholarship recipients, throughout the state, RGAF, the Retail Grocers Assoc. of Florida, granted each of them a $500 scholarship.

• Benjamin J. Tabor of Sanford, is a graduate of Seminole High School where he was 16th in a class of 300. He is attending the University of Central Florida as a computer science major. He is employed with Goodings Supermarkets in Winter Park.

• Brian J. Cross of Longwood, will be attending Furman University in Greenville, S.C. A graduate of Lake Brantley High School, he plans to major in business administration. His father, James Cross, works for BDO Siedman, in Orlando.

• Lisa K. Donaldson, of Oviedo, is a Winter Park High School graduate. She will be attending the University of Florida where she will major in optometry. Her father, Charles Donaldson, works for Miller Enterprises in Crescent City.

Patriotic theme abounds at new Riverboat Willie's

SANFORD — A new restaurant is preparing to begin operation in Sanford. Riverboat Willie's, is located at 2565 French Avenue.

The building, approximately 17 years old, was originally Sambos. Most recently, it was Patsio's restaurant.

Riverboat Willie's is owned by Joseph Whitaker of Apopka. "This will be our third restaurant," he commented. "We have one in Ocala, and one in New Smyrna Beach."

He explained, "The Ocala restaurant was recently awarded a certificate for being the best place to eat in value and quality, for $7.95 and under."

The New Smyrna Beach restaurant has been awarded the city's beautification award.

The restaurant is decorated in red, white and blue colors. "We are very patriotic," Whitaker said, "and we want everyone to join us in honoring our nation through this color combination."

"Our aim is to follow examples set by other successful businesses," he said. "We believe in the volume concept, that we can best serve the people by volume selling at low prices, rather than offering high prices for our food."

As an example, he listed, "A prime rib or fresh seafood dinner, with soup, salad, vegetable, rolls, a choice of potatoes, and dessert, will be offered as a Sunday special for only $5.95.

"Our main meals will be seafood," he said, "but we also have prime rib and steak. For the seafood, people will have their choice of blackened, fried, grilled or broiled. And they will have a choice because we won't give people what they may not want."

Whitaker said he believes in hiring local staff members and becoming involved in local activities in the cities served by his restaurants. When the doors open, he plans to have between 35 and 40 employees. Hours of operation will be 6 a.m. until 10 p.m., seven days a week.

"I know our Sunday meals will be one of the favorites," Whitaker said. "In our other restaurants, we are drawing in between 400 and 500 people for Sunday dinners."

"One thing I would like to comment on," Whitaker said, "is the help and cooperation I have received from the city in getting our restaurant re-modeled and ready for operation. Everyone, especially Gary Wynn and the building department, has been extremely helpful."

Whitaker has also gone before the Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission and City Commission, requesting a license to serve alcoholic beverages.

Riverboat Willie's is expected to open for business on Monday, August 16.

Scures to head Security National

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Michael Scures is the new president of Security National Bank in Sanford. Scures takes over the position held by J. Todd Williams, who was president since the bank began operations one year ago at 201 N. Park Avenue.

Williams has been transferred to the Matland facility, where he is involved in lending and marketing for the organization.

Scures, 37, lives with his wife and three sons in Goldenrod. He was transferred to Sanford from the Altamonte Springs office.

He has been in banking since 1979, and is enthusiastic about his new position. "Sanford is certainly an exciting place to be," he said, "and I know I am going to enjoy being here. For that matter," he added, "I am already happy about it."

Regarding upcoming goals for Security National in Sanford he said, "We have experienced a tremendous growth since we opened one year ago, and my plans call on a continuation of our aims to be the premier locally-owned commercial bank in the area."

Security National Bank is located at 201 N. Park Avenue in Sanford.

Oviedo kids to test toys

OVIEDO — When a business magazine plans to identify the "Toy of the Year," (TOY) it takes the product directly to the users. Kids will determine what the magazine endorses.

FamilyFun magazine has contracted with a group of children at Oviedo KinderCare. The youngsters will be involved in a three-week toy-testing operation.

Oviedo has been selected as one of only eight test sites across the nation, where kids will be selecting their favorite toys. Nationally, over 700 children will be involved with an estimated 28,000 of play-testing.

The choices, determined by votes from Oviedo and children elsewhere in the nation, will be compiled and named in its November publication
