Rotary Club Hears Volie Williams Jr. Discuss Legislation

At the present time, business, commercial and unimproved property is carrying an unfair share of the tax load, State Rep. Volie Williams Jr. told the Rotary Club today.

Gov. Collins recommends the creation of a tax commission whose duty it would be to establish a yardstick by which local tax assessors would assess property, he added.

"This would not remove home-land, but would assist materially in providing adequate monies to finance the cost of our ever-increasing school population."

Williams spoke at the club's weekly luncheon meeting at the Yacht Club.

He discussed legislation coming up this year, including constitutional, revisions and reappointment of representatives.

The five most populous counties, next 18 counties elect two and the 15 smallest, elect three representatives for each county. The remainder, one. On this basis, he said, 48 per cent of Florida's population receives only 20 per cent of representation.

Williams said he believed some consideration should be given to more even representation.

Williams spoke of the various appropriations with which he was not in agreement. He cited the appropriation of $550,000 for hog cholera serum as an example of funds that could be used for better purposes.

The people should come first, he declared in emphasizing the need for additional facilities for the insane and for the 366 children awaiting admission to the Farm colony.

He spoke briefly on the State Prison at Raiford where, he said, five prisoners are confined in a cell built to accommodate two. He said first offenders are thrown in with hardened criminals and, as a result, "come out of prison much worse than when they entered."

Pointing out that education takes 34 per cent of the state budget, Williams said that more authority should be given teachers to insure disciplinary measures.

"Parents are to blame for much of our juvenile delinquency," he said, "because of not giving teachers enough authority."

Williams criticized the $5,300,000 appropriation for text books. He said school buildings are needed worse.

Pioneer Night Set At Lake Mary Hall

The 30th annual Pioneer Night, sponsored by Frank Evans, will be held tomorrow at the Lake Mary Community Hall. The event will begin at 7:30 p. m.

County Judge Ernest Housholder will be the speaker. Judge Housholder spoke at the first Pioneer night in 1925.

Evans invited everyone over 60 to attend the gathering.

Prizes will be awarded to the couple married the longest, to the oldest man and the oldest woman.

Appearing on the program will be Janie Bennett, singer; Whittier's choral groups; The Danbury School of Dancing will present several numbers.

Evans said that everyone remembering will receive a badge which will entitle them to see the movie at the Ritz Theatre as the grand finale of the evening.

Dr. D. H. Mathers Sanford Delegate To St. Pete Parley

JACKSONVILLE, Dr. Daniel H. Mathers, of Sanford, will be the Seminole County Medical Society's official representative at the 81st annual meeting of the Florida Medical Association being held April 4-6 in St. Petersburg, Dr. Samuel M. Day, the Association's secretary-treasurer, announced today.

Dr. Mathers has been elected by members of the local medical society as a member of the Association's House of Delegates.

Dr. Day stated that Dr. Mathers together with representatives of the other 35 county medical societies determine the policies of the Association during a term of one year beginning in April. There are a total of 141 delegates. They convene once each year at the time of the annual meeting.

Various reports and recommendations prepared by committees appointed by the Association's president, Dr. Duncan T. McEwan, of Orlando, are to be presented to the delegates for their consideration. The action taken is reported by them to their county medical societies for the benefit of physicians who could not attend the session, Dr. Day pointed out.

In addition to sessions of the House of Delegates on April 5 and 6, the program for the annual meeting features 21 scientific addresses being presented by eminent authorities from Florida and throughout the country, Dr. Day stated.

The list of speakers includes Dr. Elmer Hess, Erie, Pa., president-elect of the American Medical Association; Dr. Alton Ochsner, founder of the Ochsner Clinic in New Orleans and Dr. Claude J. Hunt, a member of the Hunt Surgical Group of Kansas City, Mo.

Beginning April 2, medical and surgical specialists and physicians who engage in general practice attend annual meetings of the groups corresponding to their particular field.

All members of the Association are not expected to attend the meeting, Dr. Day stated. There are more than 2,600. Those who do attend will make arrangements so that their patients will have adequate medical care during their absence, he said.

City Commission To Discuss Policy Of Town's Services

The present policy of providing city services to outlying areas will be reconsidered by the City Commission at its regular meeting tonight. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

Under discussion will be fire and police protection, hydrants, and water, sewer and garbage services.

The Commission will award the bid on gasoline for the Police Department and will discuss a suggestion that the Civil Service Commission be increased from three to five members.

It will also consider the request of A. B. Peterson to purchase sufficient land from the city dump area south of 25th St. and west of U. S. Highway 17-92 to build a road to the Druid Park area.

Prayer will be led by the Rev. Chester Plank of the Geneva Hillcrest Church.

Plan Given By PAR

TAMPA — The difference between what Florida motorists pay in taxes and what they get in new roads "should shock us all" into support of the objectives of the Project Adequate Roads (PAR) committee of the Florida Highway Users Conference, William J. Barritt Jr., chairman, said yesterday.

The contrast was pointed up, he said, by the almost simultaneous release of figures on Federal collections of taxes from Florida highway users and the adoption of the Florida Road Board's annual budget.

Motorists and other highway users in Florida pay well over $150 million every year in all forms of motor vehicle and fuel taxes—but less than $100 million of their money goes to improve the roads on which they operate their vehicles, Barritt pointed out.

The Florida PAR committee, headed by Sydney O. Chase Jr. of Sanford, is proposing a two-point "more-roads-without-more taxes" program which includes:

1. Reducing to road-building purposes that portion of motor vehicle license tag money remaining after school building bond requirements are met. (This surplus tag money, which totalled about $19 million last year, now goes into the general revenue fund.)
2. Reorganizing the State Road Department to provide greater efficiency, with scientific sufficiency ratings as the basis for new construction and with staggered terms for board members to assure continuity of administration.

Chairman Chase has emphasized that this program would not effect present Constitutional allocations to schools and county governments, but would merely restore and surplus of taxpayers' paid taxes to the Road Department for primary road construction. Nearly 300 Florida organizations have endorsed this program for presentation to the Legislature, Chase added.

Dr. Jessop Tells Need of Prayer At Nazarene Morning Services

The need for private prayer was emphasized yesterday by Dr. Harry E. Jessop, president emeritus of the Chicago Evangelistic Institute.

Speaking at the morning service of the First Church of the Nazarene, he pointed out:

"When the door of your room is shut, it is not long before spiritual things begin to happen."

He cautioned against becoming so busy that time is not taken to get in touch with God.

"You have often heard the phrase: 'All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.' Well, all work and no prayer makes a Christian's soul dull."

Dr. Jessop built his sermon around the topic: "The Closed Door."

Emphasizing that the closed door is "one of the mightiest blessings," he said that it is possible, however, to close the door of your room and "leave the door of your soul wide open."

He said many persons close up their offices, but continue to carry on business in their souls. They wrestle with so many business problems, he said, that the door of the room "might as well be open."

He urged his listeners to "get alone and practice getting the spiritual door shut."

He admitted that it is often not easy to get alone because of the fact that the rooms of modern homes open into one another. He said, too, that someone is always "turning on the radio and it begins blaring away."

Citing the need for private devotion, he said it must be based on certainty of divine recognition and divine reward.

"When the door is shut," he said, "we become conscious of Jesus, the risen Lord."

Dr. Jessop also spoke at a special afternoon service at the church. Guest churches were Free Methodist Church of Sanford, the Wesleyan Methodist Church or Paola, and the Lake Mary Nazarene Church.

Dr. Jessop's topic was "Holiness in Action."

The Rev. Robert H. Spear Jr. is pastor of the church.

Jaycees Announce Plans To Conduct Teenage Road-e-o

Plans to conduct a Teen-Age Driving Road-e-o were announced by the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Road-e-o will consist of a written examination and a skill test involving driving through prescribed exercises such as parking, smooth stopping and others.

The local winner in this national Jaycee contest will receive a watch from West's Jewelers and will be eligible to compete in the state Road-e-o. State winners compete for $2,000 in scholarships in a national contest July 23-29 in Washington, D. C.

Hubert Ruller, local Jaycee president, said six sub-committees have been organized to carry out the various aspects of the program. "By emphasizing the rules of the road and the skills needed for safe driving, we intend to give local youths a chance to prove that some of America's best drivers are teen-agers," Ruller said.

Last year 250,000 teen-agers took part in Teen-Age Road-e-o in more than 1000 towns and cities. Sponsors of the National Teen-Age Road-e-o are the U. S. Jaycees, Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies and American Trucking Associations, Inc.

Cardoso Tells Of Strange Objects

Remember the flying saucers? The controversial subject was revived by Jose Cardoso Stetson University freshman, at Friday Tourist and Shuffleboard Club.

"Strange objects have been seen in the sky since Biblical days," Cardoso said. He cited "the burning chariot" and the other unexplainable things recorded in the Bible. Also the recording in the ship logs of "objects in the sky" through the ages up to 1955 stories have been told.

"What are flying saucers? Who knows? Maybe I won't be able to answer the question, but when I am through you might know just a little more of what the general public ought to know."

He commented that the information he was giving the club had to be cleared by the government.

He reported eight sightings on which to base the fact that there are flying saucers. "The sightings were made by responsible people," he said, "people who have jobs to do and are respectable citizens."

He went on to say that his own experiences in the Air Intelligence "have led me to believe that there are such things."

"In 1947 Kenneth Arnold, a captain flying over Washington, sighted nine round objects over Mt. Rainier," Cardoso said. "They were doing an estimated speed of 1,000 MPH."

By this time, he went on, "people were getting the 'Flying Saucer Scare'. Even the U. S. Air Force got interested when 'to my knowledge' the first tragedy occurred when Capt. Mantell, flying one of the first jets, reported an object of 'huge size' and followed it to his death at 20,000 feet up."

"In 1950 two reports were given by pilots and 19 passengers of a long cigar shaped object glowing purple all over and lit with-in which 'was coming at the plane, stopped suddenly and was flying with the plane instead of against it. It then took off in a burst of speed."

"The Naval Aircraft, called on the scene to investigate, could never get close enough to them to identify them."

Telephone Officials Confer Sessions Resume This Afternoon

ATLANTA (AP)—Southern Bell Telephone Co. workers in nine states struck today after more than eight months of negotiations failed to produce a new contract agreement.

A continuous 20-hour session between representatives of the company and the CIO Communication Workers' Council resumed at 7:30 a. m. to be resumed at 2 p. m. Both sides issued statements expressing hope that an early accord could be reached. There was no specific sign, though, that they were any nearer agreement than they were a day, week or month ago.

CWA leaders said that as far as they knew the walkout was approximately 100 per cent effective among the 50,000 employees eligible for union membership. The company reported that some workers remained on the job but gave no definite figures.

A company statement called the strike "a tragic thing" and said it had done all it could to prevent it, including "a most generous wage offer, plus many contract improvements." It reiterated that a settlement could be quickly arrived at if the union will accept a no-strike clause.

The CWA countered that the remaining differences "are several in number and vital in our ability to reach an accord in the very near future."

The union reported that at the request of the federal mediation service both sides had agreed not to discuss the issue in dispute in public statements. The mediators felt, said a union spokesman, that with this curb an agreement might more easily be reached.

The union offered to provide manpower for emergency service but Southern Bell rejected the offer. The company said there is no way to tell an emergency call from any other and that with such help as it may be able to command it will handle all "to the best of our ability."

Rev. Zimmerman Chosen To Attend Washington School

The Rev. H. Lyttleton Zimmerman pastor of Holy Cross Episcopal Church in Sanford has been chosen to attend the College of Preachers in Washington, D. C. as a Fellow.

The nomination of a priest to one of these Fellowships is at once a compliment, since the opportunity is offered only to men who, in previous visits to the College, have given evidence of marked ability and responsibility. It involves sacrifice, both personal and official; but to the parish and to the individual, it means an inestimable gain.

Father Zimmerman has been invited to attend in the town of Oct. 2 to Nov. 18 following the arrangement that allows men, who are invited to become Fellows of the College, to attend the fall, winter or spring terms.

To be chosen offers a priest a short period of intensive study, an opportunity for intellectual and spiritual renewal, further development of special gifts he may possess, attending lectures, reading, and the submitting of a short thesis on the subject he has chosen to study.

A letter to Father Zimmerman from Theodore G. Wachtel, warden of the college, stated:

"We hope most sincerely that you may be able to come to us. You may be sure that a warm and most cordial welcome awaits you at the College if you can arrange to come."

In an answering letter, Father Zimmerman replied: "Many thanks for the invitation—the privilege of which I am acutely aware. I cannot begin to tell you how grateful I am for this opportunity. . . . I am quite certain that I will be able to accept your invitation. . . ."

Breaking Charge Placed On Johnson

Robert Johnson, of West Cameron Ave., was placed in the County Jail last night on a charge of entering without breaking, the Sheriff's office reported.

The office said Johnson was arrested at the home of Mrs. Jack Hasty on Cameron Ave.

Mrs. Hasty said she found a Negro in the bedroom of her home. She said the man, who had entered the house through the back door, left by the same way when she asked "what he was doing."

Amateur Radiomen To Take Messages

Because of the current telephone strike, M. L. Hahorn Jr., emergency coordinator, announced today that the Sanford Amateur Radio Emergency Corp. will send any emergency messages in or out of the state.

Toll-A-Vision?

The Federal Communications Commission does not seem too happy about the fight brewing over toll television. The issues involved seem fairly clear. Zenith Radio Corporation, among others, has applied for authorization to install toll sets in private homes. Televiewers would pay a subscription fee to see special programs including sports events, plays and musical presentations. Advocates of this plan claim television is doomed to mediocrity as long as it is based on the economics of advertising. And with toll television special programs would be available for those who are willing to pay.

The FCC's position is that neither Zenith, nor any of the other private corporations who are eager to operate subscription television, have the right to profit from publicly owned airwaves by charging for receiving programs over those airways.

But FCC lacks enthusiasm for its stand, because public subsidy would clearly make possible finer entertainment. Toll television could make a revolutionary difference in our cultural life. But should we pay for this difference? Pay individually, that is—for all consumers pay plenty for all advertising, charged; the alteration is due to the hand of man. Restoring The Garden

So fertile was ancient Babylonia that trampling scented there the Garden of Eden. Now the land is desert, except for a narrow strip along its two rivers, the Euphrates and the Tigris. The climate has not terate system of irrigation canals. In the 18th century those ruthless invaders, the Mongols, overran the land and destroyed the canals. Since then the fertile soil has gone back to sand. Now there is hope for a change.

It has always been recognized that Iraq, Babylon's present name, needed only water to become a garden spot. An English engineer, Sir William Willcocks, half a century or more ago drafted plans for a new system of canals, but nothing was done by the region's then owners, the sluggish Turkish government.

Now Iraq is preparing a five-year plan for canals, dams, pumping stations, and drainage and de-silting works. These should restore the old agricultural prosperity, free the land from its present frequent disastrous floods, and make Iraq one of the world's great food producing centers.

It is to be hoped that no international crisis occurs to interfere with this splendid project.

Expensive Buzz

Fred Shoff, a 75 year old farmer of Vienna, Ohio, has done a pretty good job of keeping the crows out of his corn and the hawks from his chickens. On February 4, he thought he had done a pretty good job of keeping the jets out of his rooftop. He was awarded $9,000 for the awful buzz that goes on in his sky. Before a federal jury in Cleveland, he testified that the tomfoolery going on over his head was enough to make his farm home unlivable.

The Air Force jets fly within 25 feet above Mr. Shoff's house as they come in for a landing at the Youngstown Municipal Airport. The Air Force has offered to tone the jet whosh down to a glide and has filed a motion for a new trial in hope of avoiding the $9,000 court award.

The court knows how much land Mr. Shoff owns and they will not have to decide how much air above it is included in the deed, but they will have to decide how much buzz a man has to take.

Undramatic Accidents

A policeman's work must rank with the riskier occupations, which is a reason why it attracts many. It comes as a shock, therefore, to learn that, in Chicago's experience, more officers are hurt in such undramatic accidents as slipping off a curb than in revolver battles with bandits. Officials are trying to introduce safety education for policemen and firemen. In Detroit, where this was done, accidents in the police and fire department soon dropped 80 per cent.

This is in line with the familiar tales of explorer who come back unscathed from lion ventures, among savages, only to break and ankle by slipping on a bedroom floor.

Churchill Gives Best Summary

WASHINGTON (AP)—No one has summed up better the peril of mankind in the atomic age than Sir Winston Churchill, in a recent speech to the House of Commons on the terrors of the hydrogen bomb.

Churchill's own lifetime spans the transition from the old-fashioned soldier—who, on foot or on horseback, could try to kill only one or a few of the enemy at a time—to the soldier of today who can rain down death on millions from the sky.

Being a man of action and not finding it soon enough, there was a period in his early days when he thought it a "pity that it all had to be made believe" and that wars between nations had come to an end.

He had overestimated the ability of nations to settle things peacefully. He had his first military service, a dull one, with the British cavalry in India in 1903. He lived to have a hand in directing two world wars.

In World War II the weapons the antagonists produced—until the 1945 atomic bomb explosion—were the peak of all man's efforts to devise instruments for eliminating human beings.

In that half century between 1900 and 1945 Churchill saw weapons progress, if that's the right word, from rifle and cavalry to machine guns, tanks, bazookas and even planes that dropped conventional TNT on factories and battlefields.

India may have been dull for him in the 19th century. He didn't regard as dull the somber days of 1940 when the Germans had overrun Western Europe, were smashing Britain with their submarines, and threatened to invade the British Isles.

Knowing fully the power of the Nazi armament, Churchill looked across the English Channel and, undaunted, told his countrymen: "We shall defend our island. Whatever the cost may be, we shall fight on the beaches... in the fields... streets... hills; we shall never surrender."

That was 15 years ago.

Price Weakness Helps Allay Fears

NEW YORK (AP)—Price weakness in recent weeks in many commodities—chiefly those that are the raw material for future meals—is helping today to allay fears more inflation.

These fears have been expressed rather widely of late. And, interestingly enough, they have been based on the price rise in certain other commodities—chiefly the metals that are the raw materials for future industrial products—on the general anticipation of another round of rising wage rates. Copper, lead, zinc and aluminum prices have risen. So have the prices of some steel products and of iron ore and steel scrap.

Many causes are given. Strikes cut the supply of copper. The U. S. government strategic stockpile moved in to bolster the price of lead and zinc. Surprising demand, here and abroad, for steel, aluminum and copper pushed prices higher. Costs of producing, fabricating and distributing metal products continue to creep higher. Purchasing agents reversed them-

My New York

By MEL MEISER

NEW YORK—My personal theory is that there isn't a man alive who can pick out another guy who's attractive to women. You look around and you see some big, good-looking, obviously virile gent, loaded with charm and aplomb, and say "Now there's a citizen who must have the tomatoes queued up just waiting for a smile or a pat on the cheek!"

However, there's a charm boy sitting in an upstairs room at the Warrick hotel here right this minute, about whom I'd be willing to go out on a limb. His name is Louis l'Amour, he's a writer (movies, the 750,000-best seller "Hondo", the coming magazine serial, "The Burning Hills", etc.), and he looks like John Wayne, if old John could speak more than monosyllables. A girl named Julie Newman, who's in the musical "Silk Stockings", has got Louis. If she didn't likely there'd be rioting in 54th street among the shop girls. This gent really has it.

I was ever talking with Louis the other day, but with interests other than those of the shop girls. There aren't too many real pros in the writing dodge and it's always a pleasure, if you're in the industry, to meet one.

Louis writes for a living. It's that simple. He's sold more than 600 stories and articles, done scores of TV shows, had all those books published—and writes no less than four hours every day.

It all can't be Art, and perhaps some of it is. You would have to fault Louis there, if that's true. However, just for once I'd like to drag him down to the Village saloons where the long-haired, bearded ones sit back and say, "Now, I see my novel evolving this way..." I'd like to shove Louis out into the middle of the room and say, "Look—this is a real writer. Take a good look!"

I won't say Louis looks, (or sounds, with that name) like a real writer. We are a wan and bespectacled lot, narrow of shoulder and potted of abdomen. The cartoons you see about us are true. Louis is 6 feet 1, weighs 200 or 204 and fought 24 professional prize fights, winning 24 by knockouts.

Lou has passed for gold along the Agua Fria, worked as a tugboat deckhand, circled the world as an AB on a freighter, mixed in the Red Sea, and, as a tank destroyer officer, been in nearly every major action in Europe in World War II.

About 44.9 per cent of firms had telephone calls at the time of a survey last July.

Stepladder Is Good Investment

NEW YORK (AP)—If you want to invest your money in something that won't lose value, you might consider sinking it in stepladders. "For some reason a stepladder almost invariably brings as much at an auction as it would cost new at a hardware store," said G. Rando Gilbert, who once sold a rare 1853 penny for $2,500, to now handling the biggest auction of his career—sale of the $10,000,000 furniture and furnishings of the John Wannamaker department store.

He estimates the 40,000 items scattered through the 25 acres of floor space in the 14-story building at 4th and Broadway will go for about $400,000.

They range from an 1870 pipe organ, Gilbert is worried whether the pipe organ, which is larger than the average house, will fetch as high a price as the 1853 penny.

"It may even sell for less than it will cost to dismantle and reassemble it," he said.

There is more than a touch of sentimentality about the remaining of the old store, whose friendly, unshakable atmosphere had won it a special place in the hearts of hurried and hurried New Yorkers.

"I remember coming here as a small boy to shop with my mother when I still wore Buster Brown shoes," recalled Gilbert. "I shook hands with Mr. Wannamaker every body called him 'Uncle John,' and I know hundreds of customers by name."

But old stores now reign in the empty store where 7,000 people once worked. A few are still there to help and bring the 10-day auction now under way. "Some of the store people are among the bidders," said Gilbert. "A few executives want to buy their old desks—and swivel chairs. Some stenographers would like to bid for their typewriters. A barber is after the chair he used here for many, many years."

Among the items going under the hammer are 20 miles of carpeting, 24 miles of show cases, four complete restaurants, an ice cream factory 10 delivery trucks, hundreds of cash registers. There are also 14 lonely looking gilded angels, 25 tremendous antique tapestries, 400 mirrors, 7 huge stone busts of famous musicians, and a stuffed polar bear brought back by Adm. Byrd from an antarctic expedition, which Wannamaker's helped finance.

"The bidding will be hot for the trucks and the cash registers," said Gilbert, "but I'm afraid the price that the tapestries will fetch would break Uncle John's heart if he were alive. They have a tremendous historical value, but who has room to hang them today? The rug for the modern ranch home has done more than anything else to hurt the market in antiques."

"I could probably get a bid in two bid for a polar bear rug, but what will want a whole stuffed polar bear in her living room?"

After watching Gilbert auction off some tall fireproof armoire Christmas trees for $2.50 each, I wandered through the empty store's department. Before the last war Frances had let me explore there by buying a cover topcoat for $25, and afterward we had celebrated my dining upstairs.

We were short of money then, and it had been quite a spree for us. It gave me an odd feeling to realize I still have this old coat, and wear it on raw, wet winter days.

Stepping out of the old building that holds now only the echoes of happier times and bygone bargains, I felt almost as if I had attended the wake of a dead friend. For a good store, like a good person, does not die.

Numismatists

(and all Smaller Citizens)

The Indian Head penny was minted from 1857 to 1909. It's still worth only a penny to collectors. But that's a lot when the penny buys electricity—a month of electric shaves, for example.

"E pluribus unum" and Abraham Lincoln's picture appear on more than 15 billion pennies! Only one penny will pay for operating an electric shaver, shined a white tooth in the average Florida home.

The better "E" in the lower right margin indicates that this coin was minted in Denver, Colorado. Here in Florida this penny will provide many hours of high-quality music reproduction... electricity.

Whether you're a collector, a hobbyist, or just an average Florida citizen, when Buddy Klemm is on the job, your penny goes far. You'll be amazed at how little it costs to operate electric shavers, a good electric shaver, a good electric shaver... today's electric shavers will help you shave clean, closer, faster and safer. A modern electric shaver will deliver all the hot water you want—when you want it, when you want it.

Yes, in every room in your home, Sunshine Service Electric makes the big difference in modern living—and does it for pennies a day.

This Florida State penny of 1955 was the first to be minted in the present state. It is a collector's item. One penny will pay for operating an electric shaver, shined a white tooth in the average Florida home.

Cardoso

find out anything. There was no explanation.
"Now let us look at the five possible explanations for the flying saucer theory" he said.
(1) Hallucinations. We did not see them, they don't exist. That wouldn't hold. There are too many people as witnesses.
(2) Weather balloons. Might be it witnesses had not seen objects going against air currents instead of with them.
(3) Light Reflections. Definitely not since two radar screens can not pick up the same object at different angles.
(4) Maritime Crafts. That might hold if the fact didn't exist that an aircraft going at 18,000 miles a minute would burn up because of the air friction caused.
(5) Secret Weapons. I wish they were but no government would be stupid enough to fly one over the enemy territories.
"Now, said Cardoso, I shall give my own personal reason which I will read from the twenty-first chapter of Luke, verses 25 and 26."
"Men's hearts failing them for fear and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth. For the Powers of heaven shall be shaken."

Solo
Volusia County might claim I was a Seminole County spy. And you know what happens to spies.
But the Volusia County welcoming committee didn't even show up. They had expected me to land two hours later.
"Are you sure you didn't sneak a motor onto your boat?" one Volusia Countian asked me after ward.
"I got witnesses," I declared.
The witnesses and timekeepers were Don Howard and Ginger Jones. Photographers of my exploit were shot from the motorboat by Jack Sutherland, managing editor of The Herald.
Robson Sporting Goods went along with the stunt by providing my boat and the accompanying speedboat.
After it was all over, Higginbotham presented me with a handsome certificate of achievement on behalf of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.
The certificate testified that I had encouraged boating in Seminole County by "rowing a boat solo across Lake Monroe."

DOGGY WASH DAY TIPS
Advice to new puppy owners: A dog's first bath is important but should not be given until the animal is past the three month stage. Up to that time, a good daily brushing will keep him somewhat odor-free and presentable. Exercise care and patience during your dog's first soap-and-water bath. See that soda don't bother him around his face, and stuff his ears with cotton to protect them from trickling water.
