Lounging On The Job Brings Reprimands

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Two city employees with the Sanford Parks and Recreation Department's scenic improvement division were formally reprimanded earlier this month for lying down on the job in Centennial Park.

And, although parks director Jim Jernigan contends the men were on a break during the May 6 incident, letters of reprimand in their personnel files indicate they were not.

The reprimands state: "You were observed to be lying on the ground by the citizens of Sanford. You had already taken a break earlier that morning and this was not a break period.... This behavior will not be tolerated and if repeated will lead to further disciplinary action up to and including termination."

The reprimands are signed by scenic division supervisor Bill Nuckols and were placed in the employees' files on May 9. Jernigan reviews all such disciplinary documents, a parks and recreation administrative staff member said.

Jernigan, who left for a three-week vacation on Wednesday, acknowledged on Tuesday the men had been reprimanded for lying in the grass, although he said the incident occurred during an early morning work break.

Jernigan said the reprimands were deemed necessary "not because they were on a break; they're certainly entitled, but because of the way they were taking it. They were told very firmly the break should not have been taken lying in the grass."

The two cited laborers are part of a workforce that tends the city's parklands and greenbelts. They "were stretched out" in Centennial Park on the morning of May 6, according to scenic board member Lurleen Sweeting, who spotted the men while on her way to work.

When told Jernigan had said the men were on a break, Ms. Sweeting questioned: "If they were, why were there two other men nearby who appeared to be working?"

Ms. Sweeting said the prone men were wearing city uniforms, while the other two workers were not. The non-uniformed laborers "seemed to be working with plantings," Ms. Sweeting said.

Ms. Sweeting said the scene "certainly seemed highly improper," and that she reported it to Nuckols. Jernigan said Nuckols then came to him with the information and the employees were reprimanded.

Jernigan also said he was "infuriated" by the incident, which he said had occurred while the employees' field supervisor was away from Centennial Park getting supplies.

"I suppose when the cat's away, the mice will play," he said in reference to the lack of on-site supervision.

One of the reprimanded workers is 50 years old and has been with the city for seven years, the other is 35 years old and has been a city employee for 18 months, the files state.

The men were assigned to the parks department scenic division earlier this year, following the division's formation through a scenic improvement board recommendation.

"I know how hard we (the scenic board) have worked to get these people, and I'm very aware of all that should be done to beautify the city," Ms. Sweeting said. "I was definitely taken aback to see these workers lying in the park. I could hardly believe my eyes."

Seat Belt Bill To Graham

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Senate voted 22-17 Wednesday to require motor vehicle drivers and front seat passengers to wear seat belts and sent the bill to Gov. Bob Graham, who was expected to sign the measure.

Failure to comply with the bill's provisions after July 1 would bring a warning from police. Beginning Jan. 1, 1987, violators would be subject to $20 fines. The bill exempts school and commercial buses, farm vehicles, trucks larger than 5,000 pounds, newspaper delivery vehicles, and persons with a doctor's excuse.

Lawmen could only issue citations under the bill if they stopped a driver for some other infraction.

The senators first voted 24-15 in favor of the bill (CS-HB 40), which cleared the House May 19. Sen. Malcolm Beard, D-Seffner,

Awarded To Extend And Supplement Emergency Programs

United Way To Receive Federal Funds

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County has been awarded $40,000 in federal funds to supplement and extend emergency food and shelter programs in the county by the Emergency Food and Shelter National Board Program, according to United Way Executive Director Bob Walko.

The funds are part of the $70 million appropriated to the National Board under Public Law 99-160 for emergency food and shelter in areas of high need throughout the country.

Walko said a special local board is being set up by United Way for the purpose of allocating the funds to qualified non-profit organizations and public agencies operating in and/or providing services to residents of Seminole County.

Susan Moore, United Way executive committee member and chairman of the Social Services Programs Committee, has been named chairman of the local board. The board will also consist of representatives of social service agencies, Seminole County, the city of Sanford and a school social worker.

Interested private or public agencies may apply for a share of the funds no later than June 11. All funds must be spent by Sept. 15. The funds will be dispensed in two increments of $20,000 each.

Commission Authorizes Foreclosure Proceedings

By Sarah Fischer
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioners have authorized their attorney to begin foreclosure proceedings on property in east Seminole County, seeking to recover more than $22,000 in fines which have accumulated for code violations on the land.

The commission took the recommendation of the county code enforcement board, which last month said the county should initiate foreclosure proceedings against James E. Mullin.

Mullin has been charged with violating county codes by dumping scrap building material in a subdivision within 300 feet of an adjacent residence. The property is located on Raccoon Trail off Osceola Road.

The foreclosure is the first such action taken by the code board since it began enforcement actions three years ago. Foreclosure, or the forced sale of property, is the final step in code enforcement proceedings.

Mullin's case has been before the county since May, 1985. A lien on the property was filed last November. Mullin is facing a $100 per day fine.

County commissioners Tuesday expressed some concern that the county will not be able to collect the fines which have accumulated. The property has an estimated $20,000 mortgage. The county commissioners said, may not have first priority in foreclosure proceedings.

The property's mortgage holder is also expected to commence foreclosure proceedings against Mullin, who county officials said has apparently defaulted on his mortgage.

Because the lien only attaches to the property, the court could consider granting a deficiency judgement against Mullin. Through that route the county could seek satisfaction of the lien through Mullin's other holdings for any money not covered by the property sale, Deputy County Attorney Bob McMillan said.

The property's mortgage holder has indicated he would clean up the property if he takes over ownership. McMillan said compliance with county codes is the county land management division's main concern.

Although the outcome of the foreclosure proceedings remains up in the air, the county must proceed with the necessary action, he said.

County Code Inspector Irving Kaufman said numerous efforts to reach Mullin had been unsuccessful. Code board members said Mullin has never appeared before the board and has been uncooperative in complying with county codes.

Board member Hugh Harling had strong words for Mullin last month, urging the county to seek satisfaction of the lien through foreclosure or any other property he may possess.

City OKs Beer And Wine For Soup To Nuts Shop

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

A gourmet wine and cheese shop will open on First Street this month, following city commissioners' approval on Tuesday night for the take-out sale and on-site consumption of beer and wine at Soup to Nuts Gourmet and Catering.

The city Planning and Zoning Board voted 7-1 in support of the shop's selling alcoholic beverages earlier this month and forwarded its recommendation to commissioners. Commissioners approval was unanimous.

Soup to Nuts is one of the shops Sanford architect Gerald Gross is creating on First Street through the revitalization of two buildings just east of the Magnolia Mall. Gross said his First Street project also includes a gift to the city of a fountain for the mall.

Gross said he'll design the fountain and fund its construction through private contributions. Rich Food Plan owner, W.E. "Duke" Adamson, and Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith have already expressed interest in providing financial assistance.

City commissioners on Tuesday also addressed upgrading or radicating nine city structures by putting the property's owners on 90-day condemnation notice. The cited structures will have to come down unless they are brought to compliance with city building codes within three months, Sanford Engineering and Planning Director Bill Simmons said.

The listed structures are all vacant and have been victimized by fire, general deterioration, vandalism or a combination thereof, according to city Building Inspector Dan Florian.

The list's single family resi-

The Biggest Leap In 2 1/2 Years

Economic Indicators Show Big Jump

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's broadest gauge of future economic activity advanced a strong 1.5 percent in April, the biggest jump in 2 1/2 years, the Commerce Department said today.

The composite index of leading economic indicators rose to 179.2 last month, on a scale that began at 100 in 1967, the Bureau of Economic Analysis said in a report.

It was the largest month-to-month gain since October 1983 when the index also rose by 1.5 percent. It was last exceeded by a 1.9 percent advance in June of 1983. The surge caps a strong three months advance and kicks the index up 7.5 percent above the April 1985 level.

According to revised figures contained in the report, the index advanced by 0.8 percent in February and 0.9 percent in March, after falling 0.2 percent in January.

The index has moved up in 10 of the last 12 months.

Seven of the 11 indicators showed gains in April, led by a burst of growth in the money supply that added 0.49 percent to the index.

Stock prices, which led March advances with a revised 0.36 percent gain moved the index up 0.16 percent last month.

A change in outstanding credit patterns helped the index by 0.24 percent.

Among the most encouraging signs was a sharp turnaround in new orders for manufacturers consumers goods and materials. The indicators added 0.2 percent to the index last month after declines of 0.09 percent in February and 0.22 percent in March.

Recent gains in the economic barometer that seeks to forecast the nation's economic activity, three-to-six months in advance have been centered in the financial indicators.

Other advances for the month were net business formation, state unemployment insurance claims and building permits.

Among the decliners, the average workweek shrank, pulling back the index by 0.06 percent. Contracts and orders for plant equipment knocked it back 0.07 percent and sensitive materials prices were down 0.05 percent.

Vendor performance remained unchanged in April.

Soviets 'Overcautious' In Examining Chernobyl Victims

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet doctor said medical teams examined more than 1,000 people within 24 hours of the Chernobyl nuclear disaster, but an American surgeon who worked on the radiation victims said not that many were injured.

Dr. Angelina Guskova, a Soviet doctor who worked with a team of international specialists led by American bone-marrow specialist, Dr. Robert Gale, told a Soviet news agency Wednesday the 100 most serious cases were selected for treatment in Moscow.

"Within 24 hours, they selected the 100 most serious cases out of 1,000," Guskova told the Novosti news agency, implying 1,000 people may have been affected by radiation in the April 26 nuclear power plant disaster.

But in an interview with the evening Izvestia newspaper, Guskova said the medical teams "examined 1,000 people and conducted tests" on 1,000 more as a precaution. Not all those examined received treatment, she said.

She said in both interviews that up to 80 people remained in critical condition.

The official death toll from the Chernobyl accident stands at 19, but Gale said Wednesday the figure is "slightly higher."

Beirut Calms After 27 Killed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Intense fighting between rival forces tapered off to sniper fire in three Palestinian camps early today, after four days of fierce fighting in which 27 people were killed.

Banks in Beirut, meanwhile, called a one-day shutdown today to press for the release of 10 bank employees who were kidnapped during the past year in Moslem west Beirut. Residents of Christian east Beirut who work in the western sector often are vulnerable to abduction in Lebanon's ongoing civil war.

The sporadic sniper fire in and around the Sabra, Shatila and Burj Barajneh refugee camps continued after Shiite Moslem Amal militiamen pounded the shanty towns with rocket-propelled grenades and mortars in the fourth straight day of fighting Wednesday.

Palestinians retaliated by shelling nearby Shiite residential neighborhoods with mortars, police sources said.

The fighting centers around Amal opposition to control of the refugee camps and the surrounding areas by Palestinian guerrillas who have been trickling back to the region after being ousted during Israel's 1982 invasion.

House Panel To Marcos: Pay Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Deposed Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos and his party "abused the hospitality" of the U.S. government during their stay in Hawaii and should be billed for more than $200,000 in personal expenses, a House Armed Services Committee member says.

Rep. Dan Daniel, D-Va., chairman of the House subcommittee on readiness, released a summary of the nearly $860,000 it cost to get Marcos and his entourage out of Manila and put them up for a month at an Air Force base in Hawaii. It included $2,552 spent for shoes.

Imelda Marcos, who left thousands of shoes behind at the presidential palace, was not in on the footwear buying, the report said, though the Marcos children engaged in a spending spree at a post exchange.

"It understates the matter to say that these 'guests of the government' abused the hospitality of their hosts. They make The Man Who Came to Dinner look like a piker," Daniel said.

Polk Votes To Resume Polygraphs

BARTOW (UPI) — The Polk County School Board voted 3-2 Tuesday to bring back the lie detector test, which was banned last month in an administrative order by Superintendent of Schools John A. Stewart.

School board members voted to use the tests in disciplinary cases involving students in seventh grade and above. Parental consent will be required and members said the polygraph tests would not be the only factor used to judge guilt or innocence.

Stewart said at the time he ended the tests they didn't warrant the effort, the time, or the media attention they were getting.

Last year there were 45 students exonerated of wrongdoing through the use of the tests. Officials said 119 of them were administered.

The tests had been used in cases of theft, vandalism and changing grades, in addition to more minor offenses such as smuggling a Playboy magazine into class.

About 20 people spoke at a public hearing that preceded the vote, most of them in opposition.

"Don't allow Polk County to become labeled the Salem of the South," said Jo Misencik, the mother of a senior who took a polygraph test.

Steve Misencik said he was wrongly accused of changing a grade in a teacher's grade book and took the test. He said he was never told the results, but the charges were later dropped.

Wade Harris, 14, was accused of copying an explicit sex questionnaire and handing it out to other students. He denies the allegations, but after passing one lie detector test, he failed a second. Harris was suspended for two weeks.

"I think these people don't know they are not going by the Constitution, they shouldn't be school board members," Harris said.

Steven Forester of the American Civil Liberties Union said the organization was disappointed in the vote.

"What they are doing is saying, 'We have such a draconian, military-like system, we have to use this device despite its unreliability,'" Forester said.

The vote left procedures and other major decisions up to the superintendent. Stewart said he would have to think about the vote for a few days before deciding how to proceed and whether he can refuse. He said studies showing polygraph tests have high rates of error influenced his decision to end the tests in the first place.

County Seeks Expressway Funds

Seminole County will seek loan proposals for $4 million in financing for its east/west expressway extension project following a request by the local expressway authority.

County commissioners Tuesday authorized staff to negotiate financing with four local banks, including Barnett, Sun, Southeast and Atlantic, for the 2,000-foot extension of the expressway's northerly segment into Seminole County.

County Administrator Ken Hooper said the financing will probably be a five to seven-year loan, but the exact length of the loan and interest rates will be part of the negotiations.

The county has put the cost of right-of-way acquisition and construction for the project at $4 million. The county will use local option gas tax revenues as collateral for the loan.

The final financing plan will come before the Seminole County Expressway Authority for approval.

The 2,000-foot segment, which is the first part of the planned Seminole County expressway, is slated to extend north from County Road 428 to the Lake Jesup area, connecting the Orange County expressway with S.R. 46/46A.

Expressway Authority Chairman Fred Streetman said a bank loan is one method of financing the county is exploring for the project.

"We're at the stage now where we must begin to get all our ducks in a row and get the funding in place," Streetman said. "The extension is relatively eminent in terms of planning and is beginning to come to fruition."

The county is also working toward a cooperative agreement with the Orlando/Orange County Expressway Authority to share in construction and right-of-way costs, he said.

The local expressway authority is composed of the five county commissioners, plus representatives from Altamonte Springs and Sanford.

Lake Mary P&Z Recommends Against Shopping Complex

A proposed 83,000-square-foot shopping complex on a ten-acre site at the intersection of Lake Mary Blvd. and Longwood-Lake Mary Rd. was recommended for denial by Lake Mary's Planning and Zoning Board, during its regular meeting Tuesday night.

The applicant's request for conditional use of the property for the shopping complex was also denied.

Both decisions were made in split votes, and final action on the proposed project will be made by the Lake Mary city commission.

Board chairman Jim Talmadge and members Penny Gunn and Al Wichman voted for denial of the zoning change, while members Clay Simmons and John Percy voted in favor. Only Simmons voted against denying the conditional use request.

Traffic impact in the area was the biggest concern of the board, but Hugh Harling, the project's consulting engineers and planners, representing property owner Louise Teslo, contended traffic would be impacted least by a shopping complex. He said of the three choices for land use, which also included multiple family and professional office usage, the shopping complex would offer the least impact.

Harling said Lake Mary is "one of the fastest growing areas in the state. Every retailer knows growth generates the need for general services."

"It would be marketed as a neighborhood center," Harling said. He added that good anchor grocery stores for the project would be chains such as Goodings or Publix and that the roads impacted by the stores would be about 2.5 miles in radius.

Mrs. Gunn said, "The arguments for the project are good, but I have to answer to the people living in the city."

She pointed to potential noise and odor from such a project, as well as the impact on neighboring properties.

Talmadge said he would favor rezoning part, but not all of the requested property involved, due to traffic generated by the proposed shopping center.

Wichman pointed to other shopping centers already open in the Lake Mary Blvd. corridor which have vacant stores, and others planned for the area. Simmons said he favored the plan because it would "break up traffic."

"All professional office zoning (on the boulevard) will create massive rush hours," Simmons speculated. "It is suitable for their proposed use," he opined.

In other recommendations made by the board, approval was given to Kirby Swinehart of Phoenix Painting Company, 178 West Lakeview Ave., for conditional use of his home as the office for his business.

Swinehart discovered he needed a conditional home occupation permit when he submitted a bid to paint city hall, city manager Kathy Rice said. He has been in business since last fall.

Talmadge said he has driven by the Swinehart home frequently, and observed no sign of business at the site.

Conditions placed on Swinehart's home-office usage are that he be the only employee, there can be no visible storage of paint, or storage of flammable products on the site, no signs be erected at his home, no traffic be created at the home, and that the home be subject to inspection to see that conditions for the use as an office are being observed.

City commissioner Buzz Petros who attended the meeting said he saw home business occupational uses as "an encroachment into residential areas."

"I would like to see residential areas remain residential," Petros said, and suggested application fees be increased to pay for site inspectors.

Also approved was a request by Glenn Martin for rezoning of 41 acres within his Primera office/wellness center/hotel complex near the intersection of Interstate 4 and Lake Mary Blvd. The zoning change was from agricultural to professional office usage. The entire project encompasses 186 acres.

The request by Glenn Dobkin for conditional use for a home-office at 118 Pine Circle Drive, was postponed until June 24.

High Speed Rail Projects Depending On Florida

LAKE BUENA VISTA (UPI) — A high speed rail project that would link Florida's major international airports, tourist attractions and business districts will be the standard by which further American development of the system is judged, a top U.S. transit official said.

The idea for high speed rail service in Florida was born in 1981, when Gov. Bob Graham visited Japan and drove the Shinkansen train. Convinced the system might solve Florida's choking transportation problem, Graham formed the High Speed Rail Committee the following year with a $500,000 federal grant.

The 1984 Legislature passed the Florida High Speed Rail Transportation Commission Act, creating a state commission to work with the private sector to develop a for-profit high speed rail line in Florida.

The commission will issue by this fall requests for proposals from suppliers, developers and vendors, commission members said. Franchises are expected to be awarded by 1987, with construction in progress by 1995.

Priceless Treasure Landed

KEY WEST (UPI) — Waving a peanut butter jar filled with emeralds and bags of silver coins, divers brought treasure from a 17th century Spanish shipwreck back to shore to be cleaned, catalogued and evaluated.

The J. B. Magruder, one of the salvage vessels working for treasure hunter Mel Fisher's Treasure Salvors Inc., docked at the Truman Annex Wednesday. Aboard the boat was treasure from the wreck of the royal Spanish galleon Atocha which went down in a 1622 storm.

Armed guards kept a careful watch on spectators who cheered the divers waving their loot. One woman displayed a 40-foot gold chain she wore around herself.

Emeralds, more than 2,000 of them, gold, and pieces of eight were only part of the bounty divers found at the wreck site about 45 miles west of Key West.

Bountyhunters Found Guilty

TORONTO (UPI) — A Canadian jury Wednesday found a U.S. bounty hunter and bondsman guilty of kidnapping businessman Sidney Jaffe when they spirited him to Florida in 1981 to face charges of illegal land-sales practices.

Jaffe, 61, testified he was beaten and told he would be returned to Orlando "dead or alive" after failing to appear for trial.

Justice Frank Callaghan of the Ontario Supreme Court ordered Timm Johnsen, 43, an Orlando bounty hunter, and Daniel Kear, 37, a Fairfax, Va., bondsman, held in custody until sentencing June 9. Defense attorneys said they expected to appeal.

The men face a maximum sentence of life in prison.

Victim Raped As Daughter Watched

A Longwood man has been charged with a rape that reportedly occurred while the victim's 3-year-old daughter was present.

According to an arrest report, the man and the woman left their home to visit some of her friends in Sanford Tuesday night. When they left the friends, the man reportedly told the woman his car was having problems. He then told her he wanted to have sex with her and started to remove her clothes. The incident occurred around 3:30 a.m. Wednesday and the woman's girl was in the car's back seat.

She reported that she resisted him and feared for the safety of her girl. After the man raped her she managed to get out of the car with the child, went to a house, and called the sheriff's department.

Charged with sexual battery is Glenn Patrick Owens, 20, of 108 Des Pinar Lane. He was being held early Wednesday in the Seminole County jail.

CAR RAMMED
A Sanford woman was committed to a hospital and charged with driving while intoxicated after reportedly ramming a car then jumping from her vehicle while it was moving.

According to witness statements on an arrest report, a woman with the car rammed a southbound vehicle while on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Casselberry. The other driver tried to avoid the woman's car but it rammed him again and then made several other attempts to hit the car. The incident occurred Friday at 2:10 a.m. and reportedly forced several vehicles off the road.

According to the report, the woman's car then went into a 360 degree spin and then, while the car was moving, she jumped out. The woman, clad in a slip and panties, slammed into the road way injuring herself.

Witnesses said the woman got up, yelled "I'm going swimming at the beach," and some incoherent things and tried to run from the scene.

According to the report, it took several people to restrain her. She was transported to Florida Hospital — Altamonte where her injuries were treated and she was involuntarily committed. According to the report, it took several medical personnel and two officers to control the thrashing woman while being treated at the hospital.

Arrested and charged with reckless driving, driving with a revoked or suspended license and driving while intoxicated was Pamela Annise Bass, 37, of 280 Coachman Ct., Sanford.

charged with arson after a witness reportedly became afraid and allegedly told sheriff's investigators about the incident.

According to a sheriff's report, the woman initially told an officer investigating the 7:57 p.m. Friday fire that she visited a friend near her Scrub Oak Trail mobile home but didn't go there. Later she was talking with an unidentified man on a bicycle when she saw smoke, then flames where her trailer is located.

Later, however, she reportedly told an officer the same thing but added that a former boyfriend had threatened to cut the throats of her horses and burn her home.

An officer, however, was told the woman drove to the trailer before visiting a friend and a man who said he was scared said the woman rolled up newspapers at the trailer and set them afire. She reportedly told a witness not to talk.

Arrested and charged with arson was Katherine Moore Elaine Cameron, of 447 Terrace Dr., Oviedo.

PLANNED BURGLARY
A woman who reportedly arranged to have her home burglarized so she could collect insurance money had been charged with insurance fraud.

According to an arrest report, a woman agreed to pay a man $1,000 to take certain items from her home. She reportedly gave him a key to facilitate the removal. The man, according to the report, rented a vehicle and took the items. The woman reported that a burglary occurred at her home Feb. 25 and said $3,200 worth of items were taken. The report said she was paid $5,397.29 by her insurance company.

Police however, traced the rented van and the man said the woman asked him to take the items and paid him $700 after the fact. He said she also offered to pay him $700 more to keep quiet.

Arrested and charged with insurance fraud, grand theft and false report of a crime was Sherri M. Feinberg, 29, of 1163 Mapina Ct., Winter Springs. She was being held Tuesday on $1,000 bond.

CAR THEFT ARREST
A Detroit man found sleeping in the back seat of a car at an Interstate 4 rest stop has been arrested on several charges and is wanted for questioning by Daytona Beach police.

According to a sheriff's report, a deputy ran a check on the car and it was reported stolen. The incident occurred Wednesday at 3:53 a.m. at the westbound rest stop on I-4 near Longwood.

A man found sleeping in the back seat of the car was arrested. According to the report, the man had a loaded gun and was carrying several credit and identification cards belonging to others.

Charged with grand theft, carrying a concealed weapon and resisting arrest without violence was John Joseph Kovacs, 30. He was being held in lieu of $3,500 bond.

INMATES CHARGED WITH RIOT

Three inmates at the Seminole County jail involved in a May 17 melee in the jail have been charged with battery, resisting arrest with violence and rioting.

The charges stem from a fight that broke out when correction officers tried to move one inmate from one cell to another. The disturbance was calmed within about 15 minutes but four of the 12 guards who quelled the uprising received treatment of injuries needed in the fight.

The fight began, according to records, about one hour after inmate Kenneth McGill, 20, got word that the Florida Department of Corrections had ordered him to be isolated and to lose his telephone privileges as punishment for having allegedly damaged a jail telephone the previous week.

McGill, jailed on robbery and burglary charges, balked at the move and along with 10 other inmates allegedly made a plan for resistance before three guards came to move him.

McGill and his supporters, who were also allegedly led by Neal Rena Wellon, 20, and Vincent Leroy Ashley, 29, both of Sanford, had filled a 55-gallon garbage can with water and had attempted to block the entrance to the area.

The fight broke out when the guards tried to move McGill.

Charged with battery on a police officer, resisting arrest with violence and rioting or affray, were inmates Kenneth McGill, Neal Rena Wellon and Vincent Leroy Ashley.

Stolen were three wet suits valued at $350 each; a $140 wet suit and a $70 wet suit. Also missing is $270 worth of skiing equipment.

Who Buys Drugs, Jesse?

Jesse Helms promised to bring out some shocking details about Mexico in Senate hearings. And Helms has succeeded. A U.S. official testified that the governor of the Mexican state of Sonora grows poppies for heroin on his ranch and has a private army guarding his fields.

Mexican officials, according to the American, were so corrupt that they had to be presumed guilty of complicity with the pushers — a presumption the U.S. official, we would hope, would not make in a court of law in his own country. Members of the family of President Miguel de la Madrid may be involved in drug business. (As Billy Carter was an agent for Libya?)

This stuff plays well to Americans who may already harbor prejudices against Mexico and who, at any rate, don't want to look at the source of the drug problem.

It is not Mexico. Or Colombia. Or Bolivia. Or Pakistan. These countries — and other poor countries that would gladly take their place — are supplying billions of dollars of drugs, but the source of the drug problem is the good old United States of America, the land of apple pie, motherhood and the $5 PCP whack.

We have had supply-side economics. And now we have supply-side morality, which blames the suppliers of drugs for causing the addiction of the users.

By Helms' logic, the big tobacco farmers of his home state, who produce billions of dollars of a drug that causes heart attacks and cancer and kills millions of Americans, along with their lobbyists in Washington, should be considered guilty of pushing tobacco. But we don't see Helms carrying on an inquisition of the tobacco industry. No, he and that industry are the first to state the fact that adults choose to smoke cigarettes. It is their right. And, if by chance, they die of smoking, that is their right too.

This country with its rights and freedoms is not endangered by cigarettes — however much the health of individuals is endangered. This country is endangered by drugs. Millions of Americans have lost their personal freedom to barbiturates, narcotics and hallucinogens. A future historian may look back on this era and say it was not Vietnam or social welfare or the military-industrial complex which sapped the vital life of America. It was the physical and psychological dependence of Americans on drugs.

Drugs are a supply and demand problem. They are also a transportation problem. The drug smugglers have better planes. They have more desperate workers. And they have an unlimited amount of funds.

Congress may budget more to stop drug smuggling. But by the laws of supply and demand, a shortage will only raise the cost of drugs on the street — and raise the tax on consumption to the level at which the drug suppliers can buy better planes or hire more runners.

A federal judge whose own life is on the line in the judicial struggle against drug smugglers says that the ultimate solution is education. The first step in breaking a habit is to recognize that you are at fault and that only you can take responsibility to stop it.

Blaming it all on Mexico may play well in Washington. But, from our perspective, it smacks of scapegoating a poor neighbor. With Helms' inquisition over, a responsible senator should call hearings on the demand side of the drug equation — the millions of PCP-blooded Americans who buy drugs.

Harassed Await Ruling On Harassment

Is the Supreme Court going to OK the ostrich game in cases of sexual harassment? Will employers be able to bury their heads in the sand and say, "Sorry, we didn't know about the problem, so we can't be liable?"

Well, that's what the defense is hoping in the first sexual harassment case ever to go before the high court.

The key participant in the lawsuit is Mechelle Vinson, 31, former bank teller at a Washington, D.C., savings and loan company, who claims she was forced into a sexual relationship with her supervisor, the bank's branch manager. She submitted for four years, she says, because he threatened her life and her job if she didn't. She didn't report the situation to higher-ups, but quit the bank and got a lawyer.

When it rules on her case, the court will decide whether companies are responsible for harassment, even if senior management doesn't know about the situation.

Claudia Withers of the Women's Legal Defense Fund has said that if Vinson loses her case, other women will have a tougher time proving company liability and will probably be less likely to get financial compensation.

According to a recent article in Common Cause magazine: "Some lawyers and others worry that if the Supreme Court limits the employer's liability for sexual harassment, it could send a message to business that discrimination, whether in the form of harassment or inequities in pay and promotion, will be tolerated."

It is no secret that the Reagan administration and many of the nation's top employers are siding with the S&L. That is disappointing because, up to this point, women have been winning significant victories in the courtroom. Judges and juries have been sympathetic when complainants said their job performance was affected because they were propositioned, fondled or forced to endure lewd remarks at work. In recent years, a harassing "environment" has been condemned as forthrightly as the more blatant situations in which male bosses fired or demoted women employees for not granting sexual favors.

While requiring employees to report incidents of sexual harassment to management may seem a logical request, some women have seen that procedure backfire. A few have taken their outrage to court.

New Yorker Cecily Coleman was making $60,000 a year as an ABC-TV executive when she complained to the personnel department that an ABC vice president was annoying her with unwanted sexual advances. The result of telling? She was fired without notice. Understandably furious, she sued the network, and last July received an out-of-court settlement reportedly close to $500,000.

Another who reported and then lost her job is Elaine Montano, 29, one-time grocery chain clerk in Los Alamos, N.M. During two years at a Safeway store, the head clerk tried to kiss her and repeatedly asked her for dates, although she told him she was married. A stocker made physical advances, touching her breasts and thighs, and other men in supervisory or non-supervisory jobs made vulgar, sex-oriented jokes and gestures to her and other women employees.

Russian Language Lessons

WARSAW, Poland (NEA) — It may very well be the least-watched program on Poland's state-run television.

It is an instructional series on the Russian language and technically, it is very well done. From the few installments I caught on the hotel room set, I suspect in time I might be able to pick up some Russian even without the advantage of Polish as a starter.

But it is doubtful that its excellence is appreciated by very many Poles. There are several problems with the presentation.

For one thing, the lessons are structured like a play. The story line has to do with two friends, a Pole and a Russian, who visit Moscow together. That is not likely to grab Poles, whose feelings toward Russians have never been notably friendly and who would prefer to travel almost any place but Russia.

Further, the very fact that an effort is being made to teach Russian by television is an admission of academic failure.

Russian is compulsory in Polish schools. Every Polish student must take a minimum of three years. This has been going on for 40 years. By now, most Poles should have some competence in Russian.

They don't. Elizabeth F. is one good example of why not.

In the Polish equivalent of her third year of high school, she is an A-student and already preparing for university admission examinations.

Her ambition is to be an interpreter, preferably in an industry where she will assist visiting foreign technical personnel. She will need to be competent in several languages.

She already speaks virtually flawless English, a language she has been studying for four years. Next will be either German or Spanish, which she will begin when she enters the university.

Russian has no place in her career plans.

She studied it for the requisite three years and if pressed, she says, can express herself. But her interest was never in acquiring a command of the language, only in getting credit on her school record for the three years so that she could leave Russia behind.

Polish antipathy toward anything Russian is part of the reason, she admits. But the instruction itself was a turn off. It was heavy on the ideology. Lessons dealt with war and revolution, or revolution and war.

"How," she asks, "could I always be talking about revolution and war?"

World Bank Project Hurts African Wildlife

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — At the World Bank, nothing succeeds like failure. After two earlier disasters resulting from unwise development loans to Botswana, World Bank officials have decided to throw $17 million more at the problem. The bank's low-interest loan funds are mostly underwritten by U.S. taxpayers.

World Bank brass insist that their multimillion-dollar loans to Third World countries are now being made only after careful consideration of environmental issues. Critics vehemently disagree. Bruce Rich, a staff attorney at the Environmental Defense Fund, told our associate Donald Goldberg that "little has changed" in the three years since he and other critics began raising environmental concerns with bank officials.

The recently approved $17 million loan to Botswana for a project called Livestock III is a case in point. It threatens to destroy the

ROBERT WAGMAN

Basin Street Blues

NEW ORLEANS (NEA) — When people in New Orleans read the news reports coming out of Washington about how, economically, things have never been better, they must shake their heads. They know the hard truth: Few here can remember when times were so bad.

In Louisiana, Texas and Oklahoma, things are considerably worse today than they were at the height of the 1982 recession.

People in these parts, for one thing, are getting desperate.

The explanation for why things are so bad here is, ironically, the same as for why things are booming elsewhere: oil prices.

The oil industry is Louisiana's No. 1 industry, as it is in Texas and Oklahoma. As world oil prices have plummeted, domestic producers have simply shut their wells rather than continue producing at a loss.

In January 1985 there were 360 oil rigs operating off the Louisiana coast. At last count the number of operating rigs had fallen to 122, the lowest total since March 1973. And more rigs are being shut down almost every day.

If oil prices don't start to rise soon, one pessimistic forecast predicts, there may be fewer than 80 rigs left producing oil in the Gulf of Mexico by the end of the summer. The others will all be "shut in" waiting for prices to increase to profitable levels.

So far it has been the smaller companies and the independent producers who have been hardest hit. Many of these companies arrived late in the oil boom and were badly undercapitalized. But now the woes are spreading to the major producers, and they are beginning to radically scale back their operations also.

Layoffs are widespread. Unemployment in this region is skyrocketing, standing today at about 13.4 percent, the nation's highest. Last summer about 11,000 people in the New Orleans area were employed in the oil service industry. One estimate is that by the end of this summer almost half of these will be out of work.

Louisiana's economy reached its high point in 1981 when domestic oil was selling at above $30 a barrel. The state's per capita income stood at about 91 percent of the national average.

Today domestic oil is selling for $13 a barrel or below. Louisiana's per capita income has slipped to a 10-year low of about 80 percent of the national average and has not bottomed out yet. Some are predicting that per capita income may reach pre-oil boom levels when Louisiana per capita income was only about three quarters of the national average.

The budgets of states and cities are dependent upon taxes from the oil industry. More than any other state in the nation, Louisiana has been dependent upon gas and oil revenues and taxes. Twenty-three percent of the state budget was made up of oil and gas royalties, and those royalties and taxes have stopped flowing as the oil has stopped flowing.

Now Louisiana is all but broke.

SCIENCE WORLD

Birth Defect Fears

By Gayle Young
UPI Science Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — A woman, upon learning she is pregnant, tells her doctor she recently had a dental X-ray and asks about the risk of radiation-induced birth defects. The doctor advises her to consider an abortion.

"The chance of that small dose of radiation harming her baby was nil, especially since she had a lead shield on at the time it was taken," said Dr. Laurence Karp, director of obstetrics at Swedish Hospital Medical Center in Seattle.

The woman chose not to terminate the pregnancy, Karp said.

"Women know drugs and alcohol and X-rays affect pregnancy, but sometimes they are afraid when they shouldn't be," said Karp. "I find doctors advising abortions because they think, 'Better safe than sorry.' If for some reason the baby is born with a defect, they don't want to be liable."

The incidence of American babies born with drug- and alcohol-related damage is on the increase, according to the March of Dimes Foundation.

But doctors say most mothers fall into two groups — the educated women who are overly fearful about their pregnancies and uninformed women who are alcoholics and drug addicts.

"Drug usage in general is increasing," said Dr. Xylina D. Bean, professor of pediatrics at King Drew Medical Center in Los Angeles. "The peak ages for drug abuse are also the peak childbearing years."

"The children we see are addicted to drugs at birth," she said. "It's become a serious national problem." In 1985 alone her hospital noted a tenfold increase in the birth of cocaine-addicted babies.

But doctors say a glass of champagne or a dose of aspirin is not harmful to a developing baby.

"Women call us hysterical because they had three glasses of beer before they learned they were pregnant," said Karp, whose department is a referral center for high risk pregnancies. "They say, 'This is a wanted pregnancy but I don't want the baby if it's malformed.'"

According to a report from the March of Dimes, many drugs pose less of a risk to the developing fetus than the public realizes, including many antibiotics, decongestants, certain medications for high blood pressure, most painkillers and tranquilizers.

Drugs that may cause damage include megadoses of vitamin A, tobacco and anticonvulsants.

country's once-abundant wildlife, already suffering from a five-year drought in the Nevada-size southern African nation.

Next to diamonds, most of the desert country's income is from the export of beef to Europe. But overgrazing of the limited grasslands by beef cattle — encouraged by World Bank loans — has devastated much of Botswana's rangeland.

Documentary film maker Rick Lomba has recorded gruesome scenes of migratory antelope and wildebeest starving and dying of thirst while cattle consume the dwindling grass and water supplies. Workers are shown driving the desperate wildlife away from the water holes, while thousands of wildebeest carcasses pile up nearby. Lomba and others fear that Livestock III will intensify the cattle's destruction of the environment.

It's not that the World Bank's own experts didn't point out the dire results of Livestock I and II. A 1982 report, commissioned by the bank and written by two of its consultants, said the earlier projects had caused "such negative social effects as widening the income gap between rich and poor, permanently concentrating the country's land resources in the hands of a tiny percentage of its occupants, and depressing the already limited subsistence capabilities of its poorer citizens."

A further concern is that Livestock III will exacerbate the environmental problems by financing more rangeland fences, which keep wildlife from their traditional migratory routes and force them into a losing confrontation with the cattle. World Bank officials claim no more fences will be built, though the bank's own staff appraisal states that at least 130 fencing "packages" are planned.

With all these drawbacks, why did the U.S. Treasury representative at the World Bank vote for the loan? Rep. David Obey, D-Wis., asked that question, and was assured by Treasury Secretary James Baker that "the concerns had been sufficiently addressed."

But a State Department cable from the embassy in Botswana makes clear that the department and the Treasury ignored the advice of U.S. experts on the scene who had expressed a variety of concerns about the project.

"We are disappointed," the embassy cabled, "that our detailed comments ... were not taken into account in the (federal government's) review of the project, and that this matter came to our attention after the project was agreed upon."

Footnote: A World Bank spokesman said most of Botswana's wildlife problems were caused by the long drought, not solely the development loans. He said the new loan will ensure that cattle operations are well-controlled. An environmentalist has been hired for the project, the spokesman added.

Crystal Lake Flunks Tests

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Continued erratic bacteria levels in water samples taken from Crystal Lake in Lake Mary have prompted the city to order a second series of tests, which will start Monday.

The new tests will look for fecal coliform and fecal strep bacteria, which may indicate human or animal waste as the source of pollution.

Results from the final week of the first series of tests which concluded May 21, show that levels of bacteria in samples taken from the east beach water was rated as "unsatisfactory" two of the three days. Samples taken from the west beach were within the satisfactory range all three days.

Water was tested for total coliform bacteria, which indicates the possible presence of other disease carrying bacteria during May.

City officials were hopeful that bacteria levels from this month's tests would be satisfactory.

Swimming has not been permitted in the lake since November, when high bacteria levels were found. A leaking residential septic tank pipe was thought to be the source of contamination to the water, and that problem was quickly corrected.

Tests of the water was initially ordered during May, with hopes of reopening the lake for swimming by June 1, Lake Mary city manager Kathy Rice said earlier. An application for a swimming permit has been filed with the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services in Jacksonville.

"The west beach seems fine," Mrs. Rice said. "The trouble is at the east beach (where the bacteria levels) fluctuate."

"We'll run additional tests to determine what kind of bacteria we're dealing with," she continued. "The fluctuations are probably not due to people, but from animals, horses, or ducks. We hope it is, but we won't know until we get new test results."

Donna McCarter, of Teer Laboratories, Lake Mary, who is conducting the analysis of water samples said variations in weather, water flow, and sampling technique can affect bacteria counts. She said the new tests could also help determine whether contamination is coming from excessive run-off of ground water, or if there is a sanitary problem.

Russ Miller of the Seminole County Health Department said the new tests will determine if the contamination is from animal, fowl, or human waste. He said it may be possible for one beach to be opened for swimming, while the others remain closed, "but that would be up to the (HRS) Office of Licensure," he said.

The monthly allowable average total coliform bacteria count in the lake water for swimming is 1,000 per 100 milliliters of water sampled.

Here is a summary of May's weekly averages for tests conducted three times a day for three weeks:

- May 5-7: east beach, 1,282; west beach, 565.
- May 12-14: east beach, 1,632; west beach, 104.
- May 19-21: east beach, 1,648; west beach, 202.
- Final test period averages: east beach, 1,521; west beach, 291.

Knights Carve Up Ball Motor

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Wednesday night's game between Knights of Columbus and Ball Motor Line was more like a battle to see which team could beat itself the worse. The unfortunate winner of the battle was Ball Motor Line.

Knights of Columbus had just six hits in the game, but took advantage of 11 walks and four errors to claim a 12-8 victory in Sanford Junior League action at Chase Park.

The Knights improved to 8-6 with the win while Ball Motor Line fell to 1-12.

Knights of Columbus built up a 12-4 lead after two and a half innings, but had to survive some shaky play in the bottom of the third for the win.

The Knights scored three times in the top of the first with the first four hitters drawing walks and Derrek Fritton then drilled a three-run triple. Two errors led to a pair of runs in the second and the Knights scored seven times in the third, with Ron Cofield's two-run double leading the way.

Ball Motor Line, which had just one hit in the game, came back within 12-8 with four runs in the bottom of the third. Ball Motor had no hits in the inning but capitalized on four errors, five walks and two balks.

Knights of Columbus went through two pitchers in the inning before Anton Reid, KOC's fourth pitcher of the night, came on to ball the Knights out. Reid went on to strike out the side in the fourth to sew up the victory.

Tim Thomas had two of the six hits for the Knights while Erskine Howard, Cofield, Mike Taylor and Fritton had one each. David Roberts' two-run double in the bottom of the first was the only hit for Ball Motor Line.

KIWANIS SINKS ROTARY, 13-5

Julius Bennett tossed a four-hitter and ripped a pair of RBI doubles to lead Kiwanis to a 13-5 victory over Rotary in Wednesday's second game at Chase Park.

Kiwanis improved to 6-6 with the win and at the same time knocked Rotary further behind league-leading Moose. Rotary, 8-5, is now five games back of Moose.

Henry Williams had three of the four hits for Rotary, including a solo inside-the-park homer in the fifth. Bennett struck out six and walked five.

Kiwanis scored five times in the top of the first and never trailed the rest of the way. James Jackson's two-run double got the rally started and Bennett followed with an RBI double.

Kiwanis had 13 hits in the game led by Albert Anderson who was 3 for 5 with three runs scored. Eric Chapman, Bennett, Oscar Edwards and Terrence Brown had two hits apiece and J.J. Wiggins had one hit and scored three times.

ADCOCK BELTS ATLANTIC BANK

Tony Holly was 4 for 4 with a pair of homers to power Adcock Roofing to a 15-6 rout of Atlantic Bank in Sanford Little American League action Wednesday at Bay Avenue Field.

The win improved Adcock to 11-2 and it remains one game behind Cardinal Industries. Atlantic Bank, meanwhile, fell to 7-6 and five games back.

Holly led off the first inning with a single, drilled a two-run homer in the second, added a solo homer in the fourth and unloaded a two-run triple in the fifth. Corey Williams also homered for Adcock while Mike Maples and Al Holt added two hits each.

Maples was the winning pitcher for Adcock Roofing, allowing seven hits, striking out 15 and walking four.

Steven Lowry and Tyrone Williams had two hits each for Atlantic Bank while Neville Fuller added a two-run double.

SUN BANK NIPS FORD, 8-7

Sun Bank rallied for three runs in the bottom of the fifth inning and held on for an 8-7 victory in Sanford Little American League action Wednesday at Fort Mellon Park.

Sun Bank, which improved to 5-8, was held to four hits in the game by Seminole Ford's Andreas "House" Keys and Corey Redding but took advantage of eight walks, three in the fifth inning.

Seminole Ford, 2-11, managed just three hits off Tony Duncan who went the distance for Sun Bank, striking out 13 and walked four.

Tyrone Davis had two of the four hits for Sun Bank including a leadoff triple in the fifth. Damion McIntyre had a double in the second and Duncan singled in the first.

Jermaine Hartsfield had two of the three hits for Seminole Ford, drove in one run and scored two. Bill Kern's single was the only other hit for Ford.

In Wednesday's first game at Fort Mellon Park, Cardinal Industries won by forfeit over Seminole Petroleum. Cardinal ran its league-leading record to 12-1 while Petroleum fell to 2-11.

Stomach Ailment Limits Montreal Outfielder To Only 3 Times At-Bat

Sanford's Tim Raines, who had reached base in all 42 games for the Montreal Expos this year, had his reach streak snapped by LaMarr Hoyt and a stomach ailment Wednesday night as the Expos dropped a 10-1 decision to the San Diego Padres.

Raines, the Expos' leftfielder, was hitless in his first three at-bats before leaving the game due to an upset stomach. United Press International reported, Jim Wolford, his replacement in left field, batted twice more during the game.

"It was a stomach problem," a Montreal spokesman said. "It wasn't that serious but it was serious enough to take him out of the game."

In Montreal's first 42 games, Raines had reached base 84 times and at least once per game.

Along with Raines' upset stomach, the Expos' pitchers had an upsetting time with the

N.L. Baseball

Padres. Terry Kennedy hit a three-run homer and Jerry Royster added a two-run blast as the Padres dropped the Expos 5½ games behind N.L. East leader New York.

A crowd of 21,342, including the Stanley Cup Champion Canadiens, saw Kennedy slam a three-run homer off starter Floyd Youmans, 4-4. In the second inning to give the Padres a 3-0 lead. Steve Garvey led off the inning with a single and Graig Nettles walked before Kennedy unloaded his fourth home run of the year.

Hoyt, 2-1, scattered 10 hits, walked four and struck out three over 8 2-3 innings to get the victory. Lance McCullers came on to get the final out.

Bird Wins Third MVP

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston Celtics forward Larry Bird, named as the league's Most Valuable Player for the third consecutive year Wednesday, promised to work on his game in order to win the award an unprecedented fourth straight time.

Bird, a seven-year pro, joins former centers Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain as the only players to be named regular-season MVP three years in a row. "I think I can win this some more if I just go out and work hard this summer and come back in the right frame of mind," said Bird, who was among the league leaders in five statistical categories. "There's no question that next year, if I feel like I do right now, I can win it again."

Bird easily outdistanced forward Dominique Wilkins of Atlanta by receiving 765 of a possible 780 points. Bird received 73 of 78 first place votes in voting by media members around the league.

Seminoles Seek Offense, Again

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Seminole High, a football school built on defense and searching for an offense the past few years, will face the same situation tonight as it hosts Lake Howell, Oviedo and DeLand in the Spring Jamboree at Seminole High School.

Oviedo and DeLand will open the jamboree at 7:30 p.m. in the first quarter. Seminole and Lake Howell will battle in the second quarter. The losers play the third quarter and the winners come back for the fourth quarter.

Dave Mosure, beginning his second season as head coach, figured to have a high-powered offense to go with his usual tenacious defenders but two unfortunate happenings took that dimension away.

Sophomore quarterback Jeff Blake, touted a blue-chip college prospect in another year, suffered a broken leg when his motorcycle was struck by an automobile. He is lost for the fall, but hopes to return in 1987.

Freshman running back Jerod Jones, who had a superb first season with the frosh, was a victim of a late hit in last Friday's intrasquad game and suffered a broken foot.

Jerry Blankenship, a sophomore who quarterbacked the JV squad last year, replaces Blake. He is joined in the backfield by junior Dwayne Willis and sophomore Curtis Rudolph. Herb Hillery and Sonny Osborn, both juniors, and Walter Hopson, a sophomore, are the receivers.

Defensively, the Seminole will bank on sophomore Earnie Lewis, sophomore Steve Warren and junior Rick Kelly at linebackers. Keith Denton, Keith Redwine and Ardine Daniels make up the rugged front line.

"Defensively, we have more talent than any group since I've been here," Mosure said.

NOAA Radio Helps Angler Weather The Storms

Fishing is influenced by many factors, but one of the most dominant factors affecting fishing and fishing conditions is the weather. Poor weather probably wrecks more fishing trips than any other reason.

Many anglers have a casual attitude towards current weather conditions when they want to go fishing. They usually arise early in the morning and poke their heads out the door for a weather prognostication. If the wind is not blowing and the stars are shining, they immediately determine that it is going to be a beautiful day.

We have all been guilty of making our own weather forecasts, and we have all had high winds and other unpleasant weather conditions ruin fishing trips.

A glance out the door in the early morning hours tells us very little about what the weather is going to be like later in the day. Rarely does it rain in the morning, and the wind does not usually pick up until after daylight. The wind could be blowing a gale on the coast, and it could be relatively calm inland.

Fishermen could save a lot of time, energy, and money by paying more careful attention to weather conditions. Time is better spent at home than on the water during poor weather conditions such as high winds.

Many anglers depend upon the evening news to provide the weather forecast, while others are fortunate to have a continuous weather channel on cable television. In both cases, expectant fishermen must wait for the local forecast. Many times the marine forecast is not provided, and seasoned saltwater fishermen realize that the winds at the coast are usually higher than those inland.

It is critical for offshore anglers

Jim Shupe

GOING FISHING?

to have an accurate, current marine forecast. Nothing is worse than to get up early in the morning and drive all the way to the coast only to find high seas and sloppy conditions. Many times the marine forecast will change overnight, and anglers have no way of knowing until they arrive at the boat ramp.

A simple solution to this dilemma is the purchase of a National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) weather radio. The price for one of these radios is around $30 or $40. (The cost of one ruined fishing trip due to poor weather conditions.)

These radios transmit weather conditions 24 hours a day and provide a local, long range, and a marine forecast. The forecasts are updated every few hours, so a fisherman could awake at 4 a.m. and obtain a current weather/marine forecast.

Weather radios usually transmit from two stations — one from Orlando and one from Daytona Beach. Many of these units have the option to operate from batteries or from a 110 volt source.

With the flip of a switch, you can have a current weather forecast at any time of the day. You don't have to wait for the 6 p.m. news or for the local weather to show up on the weather channel.

Weather radios can be purchased at tackle shops and marine dealers. It would be one of the best investments you ever made, and it can save you from some uncomfortable days on the water.

We all want to derive as much enjoyment as possible from our fishing trips. Don't let poor weather conditions ruin a trip and waste your time and money. You owe it to yourself to obtain the most current, accurate weather forecast possible before you hook up your boat.

SHUPE'S SCOOP — Always attempt to get a current Marine forecast when you plan to go saltwater fishing. It is usually more windy on the coast and anglers should keep this in mind when planning and fishing trip.

WEEKEND FORECAST — Ron Rawlins from Highland Park Fish Camp reports that the best bass fishing is early in the morning and late in the afternoon. Look for schooling bass in Lake Woodruff. Bream are biting in Mud Lake and in Lake Woodruff. Dell Abernethy from Osceola Bridge said that bass fishing is good. Low water conditions make the fish easier to find. Areas with moving water seem to provide most of the action because bass are schooling on small menhaden and minnows. Bream are biting along the new bridge. Drop over and see Dell for current fishing information and supplies. He will do everything possible to see that you have a successful fishing trip.

Snook fishermen at Sebastian Inlet are getting in the last few days of snook fishing before the season closes in May for three months. The snook have been running from 12 to 18 pounds and have been hitting jigs and Maverick plugs. Large live shrimp and finger mullet are good baits for snook, redfish, and trout.

Captain Jack from Port Canaveral said that offshore fishing has been good with the recent calm weather. Many dolphin, wahoo, and blackfin tuna are being caught in 150 feet of water. Small artificials such as a Sea Witch and ballyhoos are producing the most fish.

Action in the Bony Line has been slow with dirty water. Flounder and bluefish are still active inside the Port. Trout and redfish are hitting in the Banana and Indian rivers. Topwater plugs and spoons are good baits for both trout and redfish. Grass flats are good this time of year and can provide some exciting action.

Fishermen at the New Smyrna Jetty are catching a lot of sheepshead. Live shrimp and fiddler crabs are the best baits. Drum, redfish, bluefish, and flounder are also being caught.

Miami Opposes Cowboys — FSU Draws Indiana State

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — Defending champion Miami (Fla.) returns to the College World Series this weekend along with two teams from last year's field and three first-time competitors.

Along with Miami, teams returning from 1985 are Big Eight champion Oklahoma State and Arizona of the Pacific-10 Conference, Louisiana State, Loyola Marymount and Indiana State are appearing in the final round for the first time. The eight-team field is rounded out by Maine and Florida State.

Oklahoma State coach Gary Ward, who is leading the Cowboys into the tournament for the sixth straight year, is in quest of his first championship. Last year, the Cowboys lost to Miami 2-1. The Hurricanes, 47-15, and Oklahoma State, 54-13, will play Saturday at 5:10 p.m. EDT.

"We have played well in Omaha, but have lost close games to teams that have done awfully well," Ward said. Miami returns three starters from last year's team while Oklahoma State will bring back four.

Florida State coach Mike Martin said his team talked about going to Omaha last year before losing in the regionals. So Martin decided to ban discussion of a World Series trip to Nebraska this year until after the Seminoles won the South II Regional in their home ballpark in Tallahassee.

"I was obsessed about going back," Martin said.

The Seminoles, 57-11, will play Indiana State, 48-19, in the nightcap Saturday.

The World Series opens Friday with LSU, 54-12, playing Loyola Marymount, 49-13, at 4:10 p.m. Arizona, 45-18, will meet Maine, 41-21, afterward.

Martin said he will start his ace, Mike Loynd, 19-1, against Indiana State. The junior right-hander needs one victory to tie the national collegiate season record set by Derek Tatsuno of Hawaii in 1979.

Baseball

Indiana State coach Bob Warn said pitching is the strength of his team. The Sycamores are led by senior right-hander Paul Quinzer, 13-4.

Though LSU and Loyola Marymount will be making their initial showings in the World Series, their coaches have been to Omaha as assistants.

LSU coach Skip Bertman reached the World Series five times (1978-82) as a member of Miami's staff. Loyola Marymount coach Dave Snow made the event in 1979 and 1984 as an assistant at Fullerton State.

The double elimination tournament will conclude with the national champion being crowned Sunday.

JUCO: BREVARD TUMBLES, 9-7
GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (UPI) — San Jacinto, Texas, remained the only unbeaten team in the 29th annual Junior College World Series Wednesday night, downing previously undefeated Brevard, Fla., 9-7.

San Jacinto will play Yavapai, Ariz., in a nightcap Thursday, while Brevard, of Melbourne, Fla., meets Brookdale, N.J., in an afternoon game. Earlier Wednesday, Brookdale eliminated Nassau, N.Y., 17-13.

Brevard took a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning on Billy Kull singled to score Laz Balsera, but San Jacinto came back in the top of the fifth to go on top 5-1. With the bases loaded and two outs, Jeff Miller singled to score two Texas runs and on the next pitch Tom McGee slammed a three-run homer.

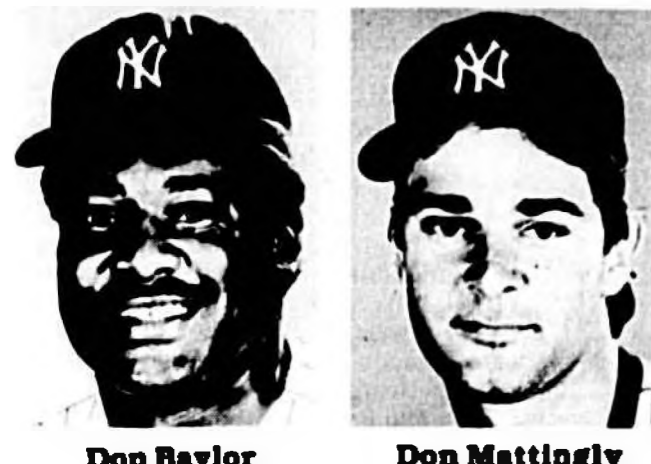

Brevard drew closer in the bottom of the eighth when Rob Stiegele doubled in Balsera and Stiegele scored on a single by Pat Harding. Doug Rogers came in to pitch for San Jacinto at that point and put out the fire by striking out Billy Kull and getting Mike Robinson to hit into a double play.

Rice, Baylor Batter Indians With 10 RBI

United Press International
Jim Rice and Don Baylor are forming a more powerful combination than the kind to which the Boston Red Sox are accustomed.

"I know I hit into a lot of double plays, but I think I make up for it with my runs batted in," said Rice, who has led the major leagues in grounding into double plays the past two years, including a record 36 in 1984. "Sooner or later, I make my critics eat their words."

Wednesday night in Cleveland, Rice provided his detractors with a feast, driving in five runs as the Red Sox pounded the Indians 13-7. Baylor, who has homered in four of his past six games, added four RBI to help Boston win its fourth straight and 10th in 11 games.

"Groundouts and strikeouts are part of a power-hitter's life," said Baylor, whose 10th homer, a three-run shot in the sixth, put Boston ahead to stay. "But driving in runs make up for that."

"I'm really enjoying myself with Boston. Coming to the Red Sox (from the New York Yankees for Mike Easler in the off-season) has renewed me. We have a good team."

Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd, 6-3, gave up seven hits, struck out three and walked one over seven innings to notch his fourth straight triumph. Steve Crawford pitched the eighth, and Bob Stanley the ninth. Don Schulze, 3-2, was the loser.

"We're on a wonderful roll," said Boston manager John McNamara, whose club leads the major leagues with 31 victories. "The key is not getting cocky. It's too soon to celebrate."

Cleveland got four homers, two by Mel Hall, in losing its fifth straight game. Brook Jacoby and Joe Carter also homered for Cleveland.

"I knew we'd start hitting tonight," said Cleveland Manager Pat Corrales. "I had a feeling about it."

"But our pitching's been awful. Schulze stopped throwing his slider, and that was it."

The Indians, 22-23, are below .500 for the first time this season since being 7-8 on April 25 and have lost 11 of their last 16 contests.

Baylor extended his American League record in the seventh when he was hit by a pitch for the 200th time in his career. Ron Hunt holds the major-league record with 243.

Rangers 6, White Sox 3
At Arlington, Texas, Steve Buechele hit a solo home run and Pete O'Brien added a two-run double during a four-run Ranger fifth. Ed Correa, 3-3, needed help from Mitch Williams, who earned his first save. Joe Cowley, 1-2, set a league record by striking out seven batters in a row to start the game.

Royals 4, Brewers 3
At Kansas City, Mo., pinch hitter Hal McRae bounced a single through a drawn-in infield to score Frank White with one out in the bottom of the ninth and give Kansas City its victory. Reliever Steve Farr improved to 3-1 by retiring all four batters he faced. The loss went to Mark Clark, 2-2.

Toronto 14, Minnesota 6
At Minneapolis, George Bell and Jesse Barfield each had solo homers. Tony Fernandez a two-run triple, and Lloyd Moseby a three-run double as Toronto ran up season highs for runs and hits. Jim Clancy, 5-3, scattered 11 hits, struck out six and walked two over seven innings. Bert Blyleven, 4-4, was the loser.

Orioles 9, A's 5
At Oakland, Calif., pinch hitter Jim Dwyer hit a three-run homer in the ninth inning to help the Orioles defeat the A's. Reliever Rich Bordi, 3-0, picked up the victory in relief while reliever Steve Ontiveros, 0-2, took the loss.

Tigers 4, Angels 1
At Anaheim, Calif., Dan Petry, 4-4, scattered five hits over eight innings and Lance Parrish, Harry Spilman and Lou Whitaker delivered RBI singles to help Detroit win its fourth straight. Eric King earned his first major league save. The loss went to Jim Slaton, 4-4. The Angels' Bobby Grich extended his hitting streak to 14 games.

Yankees 6, Mariners 5
At Seattle, Mike Easler and Rickey Henderson hit first-inning homers, and Don Mattingly added two solo shots for New York. Reliever Ed Whitson, 4-1, was the winner and Dave Righetti got his 11th save. Mike Morgan, 3-6, did not survive the first inning for the Mariners, who got two homers from Ken Phelps.

IN BRIEF

Another NFL Executive Denies Trying To Harm Fledgling USFL

NEW YORK (UPI) — A second NFL executive has taken the witness stand to say he and the NFL were not trying to harm the U.S. Football League, only trying to keep their own players in the competition against the fledgling league.

In an often-heated exchange with the USFL's attorney, NFL Management Council head Jack Donlan Wednesday said his suggestions might even have been considered helpful to the USFL, if they would stop spending "outrageous" amounts to sign college draft picks.

Donlan is the third witness — the second "hostile" witness from the NFL — called by the USFL to testify in its $1.5 billion antitrust suit against the NFL. The trial is in its third week in U.S. District Court in Manhattan. Donlan will be cross-examined today by the NFL's attorney.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle was questioned for more than five days earlier in the case.

As executive director of the Management Council, the NFL owners' labor negotiating arm, Donlan wrote one of the "smoking gun" memos the USFL has presented as evidence of the NFL's alleged attempts to wipe out its competition. He also arranged a 1984 seminar for NFL executives that included a presentation, "How to Conquer the USFL."

Shatto, Iatarola Lift Dodgers

Mitch Shatto tossed a two-hitter and Aaron "The Shiek" Iatarola drove in three runs as the Dodgers blanked the Astros, 3-0, in Altamonte Senior League action at Eastmonte Center.

Shatto, who faced just 26 batters in the game, struck out 10 in the end and walked just three to overshadow a strong pitching performance by the Astros' Eric Birle who scattered six hits, struck out eight and walked six.

Iatarola accounted for all three Dodgers runs as he ripped an RBI double to score Shane Stufflet in the first, belted a solo homer to center in the third and unloaded another solo shot to center in the fifth.

In another game, the Dodgers were powered by a 10-hit offensive attack which included four home runs in a 12-2 rout of the Yankees.

Jim Kremer and Scott "Petey" Rose both hit three run homers for the Dodgers while Iatarola and Stufflet hammered solo shots. Mark Kaiser homered for one of the Yankees' two runs.

Verplank 1 Of 3 Leaders At 68

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UPI) — Oklahoma State's All-American Scott Verplank fired a 4-under-par 68 Wednesday to share the first-round lead with Clemson's Brad Clark and Tim Straub of Wake Forest in the 89th Annual NCAA golf tournament.

"It wasn't close to being the best ball-striking round or best putting round I've ever had," said Verplank, a three-time All-American who has not yet captured medalist honors in an NCAA tournament. "But, well, a 68 is a 68."

But top-seeded Oklahoma State weighed in at No. 4 Wednesday, with a 289 team total at the 7,079-yard, par-72 Bermuda Run Country Club course.

Farmer's Double Keys Kiwanis

Kiwanis broke a 2-2 tie with five runs in the bottom of the third and went on to claim a 9-2 victory in Sanford Lassie League softball action Wednesday at Fort Mellon Field.

Latonya Farmer broke up the 2-2 tie with a two-run double that turned out to be the winning hit for Kiwanis. Nina Merthle then followed with another two-run double and she scored the fifth run of the inning on Mekla Styles' double.

Kiwanis, which now stands at 1-1, had nine hits in the game with Farmer, Merthle and Styles getting two each.

Optimist, 0-2, had 11 hits with Argle Walker and Christine Lewis leading the way with three hits apiece.

Arbour Becomes First Pink Slip

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — After the New York Islanders made their quickest exit from the Stanley Cup playoffs in 13 years this season, general manager Bill Torrey told his players there would be changes before next fall. Few thought those would begin behind the bench.

Al Arbour, who led the Islanders to four consecutive Stanley Cups from 1980-83, ended an era Wednesday when he resigned as coach after 13 seasons. Although no successor was named, Terry Simpson is the leading candidate to replace Arbour, according to a source in the Western Junior Hockey League.

Lady 'Canes Take 1-Stroke Edge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Miami (Fla.), happy to gain an invitation to the NCAA Women's Golf Championships, surprised the field by taking a one-shot lead Wednesday following the opening round at Ohio State's Scarlet Course.

Savages Remain Stumbling Block For 17-3 Renegades

The Fern Park Renegades have compiled an impressive 17-3 record in tournament play thus far. The only obstacle standing between the 'Gades and a perfect record, has been the Seminole Savages, Fern Park's Seminole County rival.

All three of the Renegades' losses were at the hands of the Savages who have eliminated the Fern Park entry from the past two tournaments.

This past weekend, the Renegades went through round robin play in the Melbourne Tournament with a 5-0 record. The 'Gades then drew a bye in the first round of single elimination play before bowing out to the Savages, 14-3, in the semifinals.

The Renegades return to tournament play this weekend at the Tampa Tournament.

The hitting of Leslie Barton was a big reason Fern Park was unbeaten in round robin play this past weekend. Barton, currently a Lake Howell High freshman, was 14 for 20 for the tournament with a .700 average.

Softball

Also carrying big sticks for the 'Gades were Tina Wilson (.647) and Kim Steinke (.636).

Fern Park opened the Melbourne tourney with a 27-0 rout of the Satellite Beach Mets in which Sanford's Bobbie Osborne and Steinke both hit home runs and Lake Brantley's Kristin Bates tossed a three-hitter.

Barton had her first of three consecutive three-hit games and Wilson added three hits as the Renegades downed the Melbourne Sharks, 10-7. Barton drilled a homer, triple and sacrifice fly and knocked in seven runs to power the 'Gades over the Jacksonville Fireballs, 13-6.

Barton and Marie Peters had three hits each as Fern Park downed Tampa Magle, 18-6 and the Renegades closed out round robin play with an 8-7 victory over the Savages as Brantley's Tracy Brandenburg and Wilson homered.

Familiar Foes: Rams, Pats Square Off Friday

By Scott Bender
Special To The Herald
Two teams which know each other inside and out and two teams which know nothing about each other will square off Friday at Lake Mary High School in the Rams' Spring Football Jamboree.

Admission is $3.
In the first half, beginning at 7:30 p.m., coach Bill Scott's Lyman Greyhounds tackle Haines City, a Class 3A powerhouse which always features a speedy backfield.

"We don't know a thing about them," Scott said. "We are just going to go out and run our offense."

In the second half, host Lake Mary takes on arch-rival Lake Brantley in a match-up which always proves interesting. Whenever the Rams and Patriots get together the intensity is fierce.

"We don't like them one bit," Almon, who once coached at Lake Mary, said. "This is quite a rivalry and we plan to do well on Friday."

Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson, who has established a winning tradition with the Rams in a very short time, said his team is also looking forward to the jamboree.

"We are very anxious to play," Nelson said. "We are all very glad that spring is coming to a close and we hope that we can end practice on a positive note."

Nelson said he was pleased with his club in last week's scrimmage. "Everything went according to plan," Nelson said. "We were hitting well and the enthusiasm was great. We also got everyone in the scrimmage which was good."

Although Nelson was pleased with the scrimmage, he said it is now a thing of the past. "It's forgotten," Nelson said. "Friday is when the real battle takes place. If we win that is great but if we lose we will just have to pull up our boots and hitch up our pants."

Nelson said the Rams don't have just one rival, but a schedule full of them. "Everyone is our arch-rival," he said. "We don't want to get too emotional for anyone."

Offensively, the Rams will not be outlandish. "We will just run basic stuff," Nelson said. On defense the Rams will give multiple looks.

Nelson said that two athletes have stepped forward and become leaders. Linbacker Matt Beck and quarterback Shane Letterio have taken over the leadership of the squad.

Nelson said that overall spring practice was a definite success. "We put a new offense in," Nelson added about the wishbone attack. "We also got a good look at what we can expect come fall."

Whereas Lake Mary returns several veteran standouts, the Patriots are a very young football team and second year coach Almon will be the first to admit just that.

"We are really young," Almon said. "But we have matured as a team this spring. We may be young and small but these kids have a heck of a lot of determination and want to win very badly. They are giving their all and that's all that I can ask for."

Almon said that he was pleased with the effort of his team in last week's scrimmage. "We were very aggressive," he said. "These kids love to hit and that is definitely going to help us."

Almon said two leaders have come forward for him, too. In quarterback Jason Lanham and tailback Johnny Griffin. "One of our problems last year (1-9) was that we didn't have any leaders," he said. "This season we will be relying on Jason and Johnny."

Almon said that he has been particularly happy with the play of Junior Chris Mull and sophomore Randy Green. "Chris and Randy are becoming very tough," Almon added. "They will be playing both offense and defense lines. They will have to have good games in order for us to do well."

Scott's Greyhounds, who return quarterbacks Darren Boyesen and John Burton, are also anxiously awaiting the jamboree. "The kids are really looking forward to it," Scott said. "We are hoping to put on a good show."

Scott said the defense and the offensive line had good scrimmages. "Our offense made some adjustments and played real well," Scott said. "Our entire defense had a good game."

The 'Hounds will be running the option this year and Scott said the main problem so far has been the timing. "Once we get out timing down we'll be alright," Scott added. "We need to make the right choice in the option."

Top French Seeds Romp

PARIS (UPI) — The top tennis players in the world have enjoyed early success in the $2.6 million French Open.

Wednesday, all 19 men's and women's seeds who took to the clay courts at Roland Garros Stadium won. After three days, only two men's seeds have been ousted: No. 6 Joakim Nystrom by Paul McNamee, and No. 16 Heinz Gunthardt by Damir Keretic.

Among the leading three women's players, top-seeded Martina Navratilova has dropped 10 games in two matches. However, No. 2 Chris Evert Lloyd has lost just four, and third-seeded rising star Steffi Graf of West Germany has lost three.

"I really haven't been tested yet here," said the 31-year-old Evert Lloyd, who is going for a record seventh French crown.

"The only way I can really tell about my current form is to play someone with a bit better game than I have so far."

No. 14 Andrea Temesvari of Hungary will face Mary Joe Fernandez of the United States in the first match today on the red-clay Center Court. That will be followed by second-seeded Mats Wilander of Sweden, the defending champion, meeting American Krickstein and 10th-seeded Thierry Tulasne of France playing Italian Claudio Panatta, whose older brother Adriano won the French a decade ago.

Evert Lloyd will play fellow American Anne Smith, and Wimbledon champion Boris Becker of West Germany will see his first action since gaining the second round with an opening-day victory Monday when he plays Bruno Oresar.

No. 4 Yannick Noah of France, the champion at Roland Garros three years ago, lost a second-set tiebreaker to Texan Sammy Giammalva before pulling out his Wednesday match 6-3, 6-7 (8-10), 6-4, 6-4.

Top-ranked Ivan Lendl routed Jakob Hlasek of Switzerland 6-3, 6-3, 6-3, and No. 9 Andres Gomez of Ecuador defeated Brazilian Nelson Aerts 6-1, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

IN BRIEF

Alleged Soviet SALT 2 Violations Leave Pact In Doubt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Accusations of Soviet treaty violations involving complex legal and technical questions are at the heart of President Reagan's decision to declare he no longer feels bound by the SALT 2 arms agreement.

The U.S. assertion that Moscow has not kept its obligations under SALT 2 and other agreements was not new. Nor, arms control advocates contend, are the issues as crystal clear as the administration might suggest.

Prodded by hardliners, the administration has assembled a large body of evidence to back charges of Soviet cheating and lay the groundwork for a final renunciation of SALT 2 if military or political circumstances warrant.

Reagan, citing "a general pattern of Soviet non-compliance," served notice Tuesday that SALT 2 no longer will dictate the structure of U.S. nuclear forces, while putting off a final break with the treaty until the end of the year.

Deaver Lobbying Questioned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An internal inquiry by the Office of the U.S. Trade Representative has disclosed former White House aide Michael Deaver and members of his lobbying firm failed to report some contacts with trade officials to the Justice Department, a spokesman says.

Some results of the trade agency's inquiry were disclosed a day after a special three-judge federal appeals court panel announced it had been asked to name an independent counsel to investigate Deaver's lobbying for foreign clients.

A report on the results of a preliminary FBI inquiry into Deaver's post-White House business activities, which the Justice Department submitted to the court in seeking appointment of an independent counsel, will remain sealed until the selection is made, a court official said.

Genetic Tests Offer Promise

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Dozens of biotechnology companies are developing tests to determine a person's inherited susceptibility to diseases and researchers are enthusiastic, and a bit apprehensive, about the tests' ramifications.

Scientists say heredity may be as important as life style in determining who gets sick. It already is known that many diseases, including major disorders such as many cancers and heart disease, have genetic factors.

He and other specialists said at a symposium Wednesday sponsored by the American Association for the Advancement of Science that the new tests could help people who are found to be susceptible to certain diseases choose occupations, places to live and life styles that are safest for them.

Rhode Island Chief Justice Resigns

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — State Supreme Court Chief Justice Joseph Bevilacqua's abrupt resignation ends a decade of controversy that culminated with a historic impeachment inquiry into his ties to reputed mobsters and alleged adultery.

Bevilacqua, 67, said Wednesday he will step down at the end of the judicial term on June 30, after 10 years as the state's top judge and one of Rhode Island's most colorful public officials.

The chief justice, who had vowed not to resign, was not immediately available for comment.

Anacin Pulled From Stores

AUSTIN, Texas (UPI) — Walgreen drugstores nationwide pulled Anacin-3 capsules from their shelves because of the cyanide-poisoning death of a chemistry student whose body was found next to an Anacin bottle with a tainted capsule.

But the Food and Drug Administration and the maker of the painkiller said Wednesday they had no evidence of a random killer and saw no reason to order a recall. Authorities said they were investigating the possibility of suicide.

and Sen. Curt Kiser, R-Palm Harbor, later changed their votes.

The bill would not match model mandatory seat belt legislation offered by the federal Department of Transportation. That department has promised to force automakers to install air bags in all vehicles unless states representing two-thirds of the nation's population pass seat belt laws that meet the guidelines by April 1, 1989.

The bill's proponents said they did not want to block the airbag rule.

"Seat belts save lives," said Sen. George Stewart, D-Orlando, the bill's sponsor. "They save lives if we have airbags. They save lives if we don't have airbags."

By some estimates, mandatory seat belt usage would have saved 400 lives and about $300 million in lost income, medical expenses and insurance claims from traffic accidents last year.

States Say They Will Fight Nuclear Waste Dump Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Officials in Nevada, Texas and Washington state, upset by President Reagan's designation of their states as likely hosts of the nation's first high-level nuclear waste dump, say they'll challenge the decision in court.

"It should come as no surprise to the federal government that we will see them at the courthouse as soon as possible," Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox said Wednesday, shortly after the administration announced three potential sites for the first dump and ruling out 20 others proposed for a second facility.

"This is proving to be the biggest railroad job ever perpetrated by the federal government upon this state, and I intend to fight it tooth and nail," he said.

The three sites under consideration for the first nuclear waste repository are in Yucca Mountain, Nevada; Deaf Smith County, Texas, and the Hanford Reservation in Washington state. Eliminated from consideration for the first dump were Davis Canyon, Utah, and Richton Dome, Miss.

"We have reached an important milestone and taken a significant step forward," Energy Secretary John Herrington told a news conference.

"This is not a popularity contest," he said, acknowledging opposition to the waste facility. "We're not looking for the popular way out."

Plans call for the three sites to be studied for six years to determine which is most suitable for use. The studies are expected to cost $780 million at Yucca Mountain, $650 million in Deaf Smith County and $970 million at Hanford, the Energy Department said.

The dump, which will hold as much as 70,000 metric tons of radioactive garbage from nuclear power facilities across the country, is expected to be large enough to handle all waste generated "for the foreseeable future," the department said. Initial estimates had forecast more waste and recommended the second dump.

The final site will be selected in 1994 from the three nominated sites, and the dump is scheduled to begin operating in 1998.

Because of progress in choosing the first nuclear waste site, Herrington said, "I have postponed indefinitely plans for any site-specific work related to a second repository."

Twenty sites in seven states — Maine, New Hampshire, Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Wisconsin and Minnesota — that had been under review as possible locations for the second dump are no longer under consideration, he said.

Officials from the three Western states on the list of finalists expressed near-unanimous disapproval of the decision.

Texas Gov. Mark White said the decision was a "terrible mistake," comparing it to the Chernobyl nuclear accident.

"We have just seen a terrible tragedy in Russia. The Soviet Union experienced a bitter mistake because it didn't make the right technological choice. This administration today made the same terrible mistake, choosing to ignore both scientific evidence and common sense in making a site selection for high-level nuclear waste," he said.

But Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce President Bill Harris said his organization will cooperate with the Energy Department.

"We're going to do everything we can to get every dime we can," Harris said. "The chamber of commerce has not taken a stand, but we will work with them in every way. I think it's very exciting."

Christine Gregoire, deputy attorney general for Washington, said, "We are not saying Hanford is not a site that ought to be considered. We are just saying they have not lived up to the technical requirements in reviewing it and researching it."

Nevada Attorney General Brian McKay filed suit Wednesday in the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on behalf of the state and its congressional delegation, accusing the Energy Department of keeping Nevada officials "in the dark" about its plans.

Dump Sites Removed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The following is a list of the 20 proposed sites for a second high-level nuclear waste dump that were removed from consideration Wednesday:

Lacs, Morrison and Sherburne counties, 397 square miles.

North Carolina — Buncombe, Haywood and Madison counties, 105 square miles.

Virginia — Bedford County, 209 square miles.

Virginia — Halifax and Pittsylvania counties, 307 square miles.

dences are located at 804 Bay Ave., 1120 Locust Ave., 308 E. 13th Street, 1109 French Ave., and 1212 W. 12th Street, Florian said.

Commissioners also voted 4-1 on Tuesday to accept an annexation petition from Tony Russt. The petition involves approximately five acres of unincorporated Seminole County land east of Mellonville Avenue that Russt is requesting become part of Sanford and receive municipal services.

Commissioner Dave Farr opposed the request, saying it might create "a finger of land" jutting into Seminole County.

The county has taken Sanford to court over an annexation that allegedly created a like land pattern, although the litigation involves approximately 2,200 acres. Since the county filed suit last fall to reacquire the contested area, city commissioners have attempted to avoid annexations that might be viewed as creating land patterns that jut into the county.

Farr compared Tuesday's annexation request to one commissioners recently refused because only one side of the petitioned land was contiguous to the city's border.

Farr suggested that Russt be asked to get nearby property owners to join his annexation petition to create a more contiguous parcel.

Commissioner John Mercer said although Farr "made a good point," commissioners should judge the annexation request on its financial merits.

"We've got to decide what's best for the citizens of Sanford," Mercer said. "And we'll be getting taxes from the (annexed) parcel."

"Granted, it's a 'finger,'" Mercer added, "but to me it isn't a significant one."

Gifts Given In Good Faith Deserve Proper Thank-You

DEAR ABBY: Last Christmas a man I thoroughly despise left a gaily wrapped gift of lingerie in my vehicle without my knowledge. I did not thank him because I knew to phone him would encourage him. During the holiday season, you stated in your column that a thank-you for a gift was not necessary because a gift is presented with no strings attached. I agreed with you wholeheartedly.

Recently, you stated: "There is no excuse for failure to acknowledge a gift, however useless." You are useless, and I'd thank you to keep your mouth shut while your brain is inoperable.

Dear Abby

JOYCE MAYFIELD, BELLE PLAINE, KAN.
P.S. You may use my name. It really is Joyce Mayfield.

DEAR MS. MAYFIELD: I do not recall ever having stated that a thank-you for a gift is not necessary. I have always stressed the importance of acknowledging gifts — and promptly, assuming, of course, that the gift was given in good faith. (Most gifts are.)

Had I been asked if a lady should acknowledge a "gaily wrapped gift of lingerie left in her vehicle by a man she thoroughly despises," my usual advice would not have applied.

DEAR ABBY: Help us, please. My husband and I own a business and employ 12 people. One of our employees — I'll call him Peter — lives with a woman I'll call Patricia. They're not married — they just live together.

Patricia has a daughter (I'll call Sue) who is being married this summer. I hardly know Patricia as I have seen her only a few times, and I have never met Sue.

My husband and I, and every one of our employees, have received an invitation to Sue's wedding. Today Patricia called and invited me to a bridal shower she is having for Sue. Then she asked me to call all the women who work for us as well as the wives and girlfriends of our male employees and invite them to the shower, too. I was shocked, but didn't know what to say at the time.

Abby, I would feel very uncomfortable inviting these people to a shower for someone I don't even know. Also, if a person is invited to a shower and doesn't go, does she have to send a gift?

And correct me if I am wrong, but aren't showers supposed to be given by friends — not relatives of the bride?

How should I handle this?

IN THE MIDDLE
DEAR IN: You are correct. Showers should be given by friends — not relatives. Simply tell Patricia that you would not feel comfortable inviting others to the shower she is giving for her daughter. Also, an invitation that has been declined does not require a gift. Gifts are always optional.

DEAR ABBY: I can't resist adding my two cents in answer to "Wedding Ruined," because a child's voice could be heard throughout the ceremony, and God forbid, was "forever recorded on the video."

Abby, since when is a child's voice an irritant. Couples today make such a production of their weddings, they lose sight of what it's all about.

My husband's brother and his fiance planned one such "production." On the eve of their wedding, the bride-to-be announced that our 3-week-old son would not be welcome at the wedding. The ensuing controversy led to the cancellation of the wedding.

JOANS.

DEAR JOAN: Some people welcome children everywhere and some do not. It's neither right nor wrong; it's a matter of personal preference.

Calling a wedding off on the eve before is costly, inconvenient and embarrassing, but if this could occur because the groom's brother and his wife were asked not to bring their 3-week-old child to the wedding, then perhaps it's just as well that the wedding was canceled.

Shaver May Be Cause Of Rash

DEAR DR. GOTT — My neck breaks out every time I shave. I've tried putting on lotion and baby powder. I've also tried steaming my face before shaving and using antiseptic skin cleaner afterwards. Nothing helps. Any suggestions?

Often, at stressful times, it is impossible for me to even whisper or swallow an aspirin. Why does this happen and what can be done about it?

DEAR DR. GOTT — You don't mention what you are shaving with. If you are using a blade, try switching to an electric razor.

DEAR READER — You appear to have a type of panic reaction that jams the neurological circuits to the muscles of your neck. A milder and more common form of this reaction can cause the familiar lump-in-the-throat feeling. Counseling can help you to reduce your anxiety.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm 39, weigh 128, smoke and am female. I've seen three doctors for a feeling of thickness and weakness that affects the left side of my body. The first doctor found no sign of neurological disease. The second, a neurosurgeon, told me to go home and "tell yourself the feeling isn't there — because it isn't." The third doctor found a higher-than-normal protein level in the blood, but isn't concerned. I'm very discouraged. What can I do to find the cause of this problem?

DEAR READER — Any doctor who tells you to "go home and tell yourself the feeling isn't there" obviously hasn't experienced your unpleasant symptoms. I think you should see a diagnostician in internal medicine. While you are waiting for an appointment, stop smoking; the cigarettes may be contributing to your difficulty.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am sure there are others in this predicament. How does one find a sensitive doctor? If I hear of one I want to try, he's not taking any more patients.

DEAR READER — There are sensitive doctors out there. For understandable reasons, they are busy. Keep trying to find one. The end result will be worth the effort. Good doctors who are limiting their practices can usually be convinced to take on "just one more" patient, particularly if the patient is sensitive, too.

DEAR DR. GOTT — When something serious happens, my vocal muscles just don't seem to cooperate and I can't scream.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
For those of you who are startled by the two-club cue-bid made by West, let me introduce you to the Michaels cue-bid, a tournament convention describing a weak distributional hand with both majors. Armed with that information, North bid two hearts, which said to partner: "I have a good hand, plus a heart stopper for no-trump purposes. Please bid on." West bid two spades at his next turn to indicate that he had more length and strength in that suit than in hearts. After North had cue-bid the heart suit once more, South, compelled to make a choice, tried three no-trump. Can you blame East for doubling?

The point of the deal is that the declarer, Michael Kamil, made a fine play at trick one. On West's lead of a low spade, East put up the queen and Kamil played low. When the spade was returned, West could win the ace and clear the suit, but declarer was in control. He could give up a club to East and make his nine tricks. What if East should shift to a heart after winning the queen of spades? South would win the king and immediately play back the king of spades. If West wins and plays another heart, declarer can hold up the ace for one round and then play ace and another club. East wins the king but has no more major suit cards to play, and the doubled contract makes.

On this last scenario, why wouldn't declarer come to his hand with the diamond ace to try the club finesse? If he tries that, he might be set if East simply refuses to take his club king until the fourth round, thus preventing declarer from getting back to his hand for the fifth club.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY

Be patient in the year ahead regarding your rewards and recognition. Nature may be a trifle tardy in getting started, but she will deliver as promised.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Financial fulfillment is likely to be in the offing for you today, but you're not apt to do as well where your social interests are concerned. Career advantages and problems in the year ahead are discussed in Gemini's Astro-Graph, Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Guard against tendencies today to repeat a mistake. Don't penalize yourself because of a poor memory.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your best interests won't be served today if you impose upon others to take care of important matters that you should be attending to yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your own judgment as well as your mate's judgment may find you a trifle today. Before making an important decision, consult a wise counselor.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Co-workers may find you a trifle difficult to get along with today. This is because you might interpret their suggestions as a form of criticism.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today either devote your full attention to business or your full attention to having fun, but don't try to do both. It's a mix that won't jell.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A compromise is called for today regarding an issue where you and your mate have taken opposing positions. If each gives a little, it can be remedied.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you react negatively to situations today, opportunities will slip past you. Come out from under that dark cloud into the sunshine.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Credit cards do not make a good substitute for cash today. If you haven't got the money in your purse or wallet, don't go into debt for momentary gratification.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A change of scenery will be good for you and your mate if you've been cloistered at home too much this week. Step out on the town.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The heavy hand of neglected duties could be weighing on your shoulders today. Respond to it even though you can't clear up everything at once.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Put sensible limits on what you intend to spend today for a good time. Unless you have proper guidelines, you will be extravagant.
