House Group Votes 26 Percent Cut In Marshall Aid Fund

Law Says Money May Be Spent In 1 Year; Committee Says It Must Go 15 Months

WASHINGTON, June 3, (AP)—A 25 percent cut in funds for the Marshall Plan and other foreign aid programs was voted today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The committee sent to the House floor for probably hot debate tomorrow a $6,043,710,228 global assistance measure.

This is a reduction of only $490,000,000, or 7.5 percent, in the amount Congress itself authorized and President Truman asked.

But the effect is a one-quarter slash for this reason: The authorization law provided that the money could be spent during 12 months. But the committee said the cash it is willing to put up must be stretched out over 15 months.

Slightly more than $5,000,000,000 of the total asked had been budgeted for use during the 12 months ending next Apr. 3, or at the rate of $417,000,000 per month.

The committee trimmed that total to $4,663,000,000 for 15 months, a spending rate of $311,000,000 monthly.

Other funds in the bill were cut $150,000,000 with the money to be spent during a 12-month period as originally planned.

In explaining the cuts and (Continued on Page Two)

U. S. Denies Soviet Charge Of Fighter Molesting Plane

BERLIN, June 3, (AP)—U. S. authorities denied today a Russian charge that an American fighter plane molested a Soviet plane near the Berlin-Zurich route.

The Russians said the incident occurred over their occupation zone Apr. 28. They called it a "violation of flight safety laws."

Lieut. General M. I. Dravtsev, Soviet deputy military governor, protested to American officials.

Col. General W. E. Hall, chief of the U. S. military government Armed Forces Division, said the Russian allegation is "completely false."

He said there are radar records to prove it.

Hall said the Russian pilot was guilty of dangerous flying and that he "turned into" the American fighter. Hall gave this version of the incident.

The Russians obtained U. S. authorization to fly over the U. S. zone to Zurich. One of their C-47 planes returning to Berlin flew off its course southwest of Hof, in the U. S. zone near the Russian zone border. The plane was detected by radar and an American fighter was sent aloft to identify it.

"The Soviet plane then turned into the American fighter," Hall said. "There was no dangerous flying except by the Russian C-47. We have a radar track on the incident which substantiates the report of the fighter pilot."

Post Office Receipts Show Large Increase

The average daily receipts for the Sanford Post Office increased 11.99 percent for the months of April and May of this year over the same period last year, it was revealed today by Joel Field, postmaster.

Last year the receipts for the two months were $160,900, and this year they increased to $181,612.95 for an increase of $85,245.

Mr. Field said the office received a daily increase of 3,311 pieces to be cancelled for an increase of 35.67 percent over the same period last year.

Receipts for the period for 1948 was $67,743.76 as compared to $32,718.12 for 1947.

Senate Debate Begins On Five Year Draft Bill

Lodge Says Drafting Men For Armed Forces Will Not Insure U. S. Safety

WASHINGTON, June 3, (AP)—Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) said today drafting men for the Armed Forces will not by itself insure this country's safety. He said it must be one step in a broad program.

Lodge spoke as the Senate opened debate on a five year peace time draft to bring the regular services and reserves up to strength.

Senator Gurney (R-S.D.), chairman of the Armed Services Committee, previously had described the plan as "the premium of our peace insurance policy."

Lodge said he was glad that Gurney did not stop to the tactics of calling some enemy by name to conjure up support for the bill.

He said the measure must be just one portion of a carefully plotted program because "armament will not stop Communism."

"I hope that this bill is not just a flash in the pan — that it is not something we are going to pass because we are angry or because we are frightened."

Meanwhile Senator Millikin (R-Colo.) said Secretary of State Marshall takes the same attitude toward Congress as he would toward a soldier "who fails to put the proper polish on his boots."

The finance committee chairman said Marshall, former army chief of staff, has "grown into a habit of delivering ultimatums to Congress."

The Colorado senator's remarks came during Senate Finance Committee hearings on the House-passed bill to extend the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act one year beyond June 12, with changes in the law.

President Truman and Marshall want a three-year extension without change. Marshall said recently it would be better to let the act expire than to enact the House bill.

Arthur Besse, representing the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, referred to Marshall's statement in testifying today in favor of the House bill.

RUSSIAN DUCHESS

LIVERPOOL, England, June 3, (AP)—Grand Duchess Olga Alexandrovna of Russia, is en route to Ontario to buy a dairy farm.

ISRAELI RECOGNITION

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 3, (AP)—Hungary recognized Israel today. She was the tenth nation to do so.

The United States, Russia, Guatemala, Poland, Yugoslavia, Uruguay, Czechoslovakia, Nicaragua and South Africa previously recognized the new Jewish state.

A considerable number of Hungarian Jews are expected to apply for visas when peace is restored in Palestine.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

HARRY E. McCOLLUM, field representative, Rural Electrification Administration (REA) of Washington, D. C., who has been making a preliminary survey in east Seminole county and the Lake Harney area with the object of forming an Electric Co-operative Association, today invited Seminole county residents who would be interested in such a project to communicate with him. Mr. McCollum said he will go over the territory for a further survey in the near future.

Memorial Day Disaster

Top Red Cross executives here said today "few, if any" of the war housing projects' 18,700 residents were lost when a strike cracked and Columbia waters swamped the city that had been Oregon's second largest. Known dead so far, excluding Vancouver, total 23.

Federal and state agencies have coordinated plans and their massive reconstructive weight has turned to the task of rehabilitation for some 59,000 persons and repairing damage running into untold millions—perhaps $100,000,000.

Snarled communications and disrupted transportation are slowly being restored. Refugees are being sheltered and fed. Contributions of clothing from the more fortunate are pouring in.

The time of greatest suffering is over in the Portland area—the hardest hit. Over 500,000 people—until the new great mounting upriver plagues down through the rock walls of the mid-Columbia gorge.

Seminole Truck, Tractor Company Will Officially Open Tomorrow

The Seminole Truck and Tractor Company will hold its official opening tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night at its newly constructed building at Eleventh Street and French Avenue. Open house will be held between the hours of 3:30 o'clock and 9:30 o'clock.

Lee Wilson, manager of the firm, said today that in his opinion the building is the most up-to-date structure of its kind in Central Florida. Billy Ray will be assistant manager and in charge of the parts department. Carl McWhorter is a staff of trained mechanics. At present there are three mechanics on duty, and three additional men will be employed within six weeks.

The building is made of concrete and steel construction on a cement floor. Work was started on Jan. 5 by Riley L. Hogan, general contractor of Winter Park. With 10,800 feet of floor space, the building has a show room 30 feet deep and 60 feet wide, office and parts department of 30 feet by 60 feet and a repair department with 30 feet by 60 feet. There is also a mezzanine floor of 30 feet by 60 feet.

The shop is large, light and airy with three sets of doors on opposite sides of the structure, designed so that heavy machinery or trucks will be able to enter on one side and leave on the other without removing the trailers. A chain hoist on a track can be moved from one side of the shop to the other in order to decrease time required to repair trucks or farm implements.

Many Sanford concerns assisted in the construction of the modern building. Among those assisting were the St. Johns Electric Company, Senkarik Paint and Glass Company, Chapman and Perold, concrete and concrete blocks, United Lumber company and Hill Lumber and Supply, M. J. M. Co., plumbing; Powell's office Supply Company, and Akers Automotive Supply, shop equipment and supplies.

Among other concerns assisting in the completion of the structure were: Orlan's Office Supply Company, Florida Business Supply Company, Faulkners, Florida Steel (Continued on Page Three)

Lewis Foes Seek Pension Strike Ban, Union Curbs

GAINES SAYS WALKOUTS ENDANGERING HEALTH SHOULD BE LIMITED

WASHINGTON, June 3, (AP)—Top coal industry opponents of John L. Lewis asked Congress today to curb labor union powers and to outlaw pension strikes.

L. Liberate Gaines, president of the National Coal Association, told the Senate-House Committee on management-labor relations that strikes which endanger public health, safety and economy should be limited.

"This limitation upon the unregulated power to strike should be provided by amendment of the anti-labor acts so as to leave unions subject to the consequences of those statutes where they undertake strikes which paralyze the public economy or otherwise impair the public health or safety of any substantial area," Gaines said in his prepared testimony.

He said strikes to enforce pension plans — like the six-week stoppage of the soft coal mines in March and April — should be made illegal.

"Even if the acceptance of management of such plans is not in fact coerced by the threat of a strike," (Continued on Page Two)

Jaycees Praised For County Work At Noon Meeting

"If there is anything we want done around Sanford, it seems as if all we have to do is to tell the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, and we get results," John Ivey, president of the Seminole County Club, told the organization at its noon meeting at the Tourist Center today.

"We have been trying for several years to get a junior golf tournament underway, and this year the Jaycees took the project and completed it very successfully," he added.

Several of the Sanford boys have natural ability, and we need these fellows to come out to the club to play golf, in order to continue interest in the sport in the city and county," he declared.

Bobby Shuman, winner of the championship flight in the First Annual Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament, was at the meeting and presented a trophy by H. F. Gaines, sports committee chairman of the Jaycees.

P. R. Bach was presented a cup for winning the first flight and Ronald Sorna was given three golf balls for being runner-up in the first flight. Bobby Axt, who was not present, was runner-up (Continued on Page Two)

The closed season on salt water trout started May 20 and will end at midnight June 19. No other salt water fish are included in the ban.

Board Says Europe's Recovery May Need Polish Entry To ERP

GENEVA, Switzerland, June 3, (AP)—Europe's economy may require back door admission of Poland and other East-European nations to the benefits of the Marshall Plan, officials of the Economic Commission for Europe said today.

The officials were disturbed by the news that France and Italy had rejected certain allocations of coal from Poland because of lack of dollars to pay for it. They said the European economy may suffer a severe setback unless Marshall Plan nations are authorized to use dollars for purchases in the Soviet sphere of influence.

The difficulties of East-West trade in Europe have arisen first in the case of Polish coal, the officials said, but probably soon will involve other materials and other countries of Eastern Europe.

At the recent session of the Economic Commission's coal allocation committee, Poland offered some 500,000 metric tons of steam coal for sale in the third quarter of 1948. She asked payment in hard currency.

This offer consisted of "fluid" coal, which is not contracted for under existing trade agreements and could be allocated by the committee according to national requirements.

Poland is supplying an additional 8,760,000 tons of coal to (Continued on Page Three)

House Passes 3 Billion Navy Defense Bill

Measure Carries Fund To Start Work On 65,000-Ton Super Aircraft Carrier

WASHINGTON, June 3, (AP)—A $3,686,713,200 Navy appropriation bill for the new fiscal year beginning July 1, was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate.

Passage was by a vote of 310-196,672,550 the money voted by the House for defense in a 24 hour period. Yesterday it sent the Senate a $6,509,949,000 money bill for the Army and the Air Force.

Congress previously had voted approximately $3,900,000,000 for aircraft procurement.

Both the Army and the Navy bills were passed in the form recommended by the appropriations committee, which had cut budget estimates for the armed services by approximately $800,000,000.

The Navy bill carries funds to start work on a 65,000-ton super aircraft carrier, to be the largest in the world, and to build Naval and Marine corps unimpaired personnel to 557,000. The Army plans to have a peak strength of 1,250,000 during the coming fiscal year.

Passage of the defense money bills leaves the way clear for House debate tomorrow on a $6,043,710,228 bill financing the foreign aid program until June 30, 1949.

The Navy money bill passed without any controversy.

Rep. Thomas (D-Tex.) urged its approval, saying Russia has built a fleet of 250 submarines. These include, he said, 50 of the advanced Schnorkel type developed by Germany during the war.

Schnorkel submarines are equipped with a special breathing device which permits them to stay submerged longer than ordinary submarine craft. Also, they are capable of greater underwater speed.

Rep. Hinchey (R-Calif.) raised the issue of objection to the bill. He said he doesn't believe Congress should vote money now for the Navy to start building the super carrier.

The Navy ultimately plans to have four of these huge vessels, Hinchey said. They may cost as much as $200,000,000 each, and will require large numbers of auxiliary ships to protect them.

National defense chiefs have not worked out the Navy's role in strategic air warfare, Hinchey said, and the Navy should not proceed with the huge carrier until the joint chiefs have finished their work. There is a possibility that use of such a carrier would overlap responsibility already given to the Air Force, he added.

Special Primary To Be Held Tomorrow

A special primary election for the Democratic Party will be held tomorrow to decide the Democratic candidate for the June 10 of the Supreme Court of Florida, and will require large numbers of auxiliary ships to protect them.

National defense chiefs have not worked out the Navy's role in strategic air warfare, Hinchey said, and the Navy should not proceed with the huge carrier until the joint chiefs have finished their work. There is a possibility that use of such a carrier would overlap responsibility already given to the Air Force, he added.

DIES IN FIRE

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, June 3, (AP)—Clarence Whitt, 60, of Durham, N. C., perished today in flames which consumed a trailer. The pet dog of a friend on whose property the trailer was parked also died in the fire. The flames were fed by several cans of paint stored in the trailer. Cause of the blaze could not be determined.

Whitehall Says Steps Are Taken To Control Cyprus Riots

CAIRO, June 3, (AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte, the United Nations Palestine mediator, announced today he will make a flying trip to Amman, Tel Aviv and Beirut and return here tomorrow.

The Swedish count has been charged with fixing the hour at which Arabs and Jews shall cease firing in the Holy Land, under a four-week truce plan of the U. N. Security Council.

CAIRO, June 3, (AP)—Jewish forces battling to regain the lost impetus of their attack into the Arab triangle in north central Palestine have occupied several more outposts at the approaches to Jericho, Israeli headquarters announced today.

On the Palestine coast, Israeli and Egyptian forces battled near Isdud, 25 miles south of Tel Aviv, headquarters said. No details were given.

Arab planes bombed the Tel Aviv area again today.

The Jews said they lost the initiative of the offensive yesterday morning when they mistakenly ordered a cease fire on the assumption that the United Nations Security Council had directed.

As the UN mediator set about the task of fixing a date for the start of a four-week truce, King Farouk of Egypt rebuffed the vow of King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan that the Arab nations "will never under any circumstances accept a Jewish state."

Jewish Abdullah's ministry of defense announced to Amman that (Continued on Page Two)

He was born Apr. 19, 1924 in Paola, where he lived until his life and he joined the Marines.

Rep. I. R. Bushon will officiate at the ceremonies and the Campbell Lumber American Legion Post of Sanford will conduct military services at the grave.

Thomas was a member of the Catholic church of Paola.

In addition to his mother, surviving include a sister, Mrs. Russell Blackwell of Paola and four brothers, Robert and James Thomas of Paola, Lester Thomas of Forest City and William Thomas of Sanford.

Funeral arrangements will be in charge of the Erickson Funeral Home.

2 Railroad Groups Will Meet To Talk Over Pay Demands

CLEVELAND, June 3, (AP)—Two wage and rule committees of two railroad brotherhoods will meet in Chicago June 14 to consider pay demands on the national carriers.

The announcement came today from an official of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, one of the unions involved. The other organization represented will be the order of railroad conductors.

The official, declining use of his name, said a committee of from 12 to 15 would confer for a day or two on pay increase proposals and new changes in working rules.

Then, he said, the heads of the individual railroads would be notified as to the committee's conclusions. Both A. F. Whitney, head of the trainmen, and Harry Franke, head of the conductors, will attend, he said.

Those two unions have not been involved in the current rail controversy over wages and working rules.

Jap Black Market In Rayon Is Broken Up

TOYOYO, June 3, (AP)—A Japanese black market ring that handled $50,000,000 worth of rayon through forging U. S. military government certificates has been broken up by an American sergeant and a Japanese attorney, Japanese news dispatches said today.

Three Japanese textile companies were fined 2,500,000 yen ($50,000) and nine employees sentenced to prison by a Japanese court at Kanazawa.

Roy Ichikawa, Albuquerque, N. M., civilian employe of the U. S. Army, was sentenced in a separate court martial proceeding to three and a half years imprisonment at hard labor.

Credited with breaking the case by 10 months' investigation over a Japanese attorney and Staff Sgt. Clyde Mackaman, San Francisco.

spread out the spending period, the committee said the program contemplated "will not permit the expenditure of more funds than has been provided on an intelligent basis" before July 1, 1949.

There appeared to be little doubt that the House would follow the recommendation of the committee and vote the fund cut.

Lewis sent no reply to the committee's invitation to appear along with the industry representatives.

On another aspect of the tangled coal situation, Justice T. Alan Goldborough took on the role of umpire between Lewis and the Southern Coal Producers Association.

Augmenting Gaines' testimony before the Hall committee, Pursey Johnston, attorney for the National Coal Association, said the congressional policy which sanctioned industry-wide bargaining in the coal industry "guarantees a public crisis at least biennially."

Eight major or national strikes in the past six years should be enough, Johnston said. Under the Taft-Hartley Act, Johnston argued, "even where the court judicially finds that public disaster is involved, the best break the public gets is an 80-day stay and a warning that the 30 divisions of mine workers are mobilizing for the attack."

He was referring to the Taft-Hartley Law provisions for injunction and fact finding which in ordinary disputes would delay a walkout at least 80 days.

France and her sister democracies have been afraid that the United States might not support or support them in event of trouble with a rehabilitated Germany--or with Russia.

Some observers have felt that the Western European countries were thinking too much in terms of self-aid. The Marshall Plan, while providing vast assistance to Europe, aims at the organization of a strong Western European union, which militarily and economically will be able to restore the balance of power between Russia and Western Europe.

America thus far has withheld military commitments to Western Europe. However, France and the other European democracies apparently have quieted their fears by analysis of Uncle Sam's activities. The costly Marshall Plan speaks of determination; there are American troops in Germany, and obviously they would fight if attacked; and meaning the United States itself is rearming heavily.

Thus we finally get an accord which, if ratified by the government, will re-establish Western Germany and presumably create a provisional government.

HOLLYWOOD June 3 (AP)—Joel McCrea, the California cowboy, is shaping his career as a specialist in movie Westerns. And not only because he loves the smell of fresh air and sage brush. In an expansive mood, he expanded his film theories.

That's why I've been doing Westerns and will continue to do them. The essence of a Western is plot. So I'm sure I've at least got a firm foundation for my films.
Joel Cited another reason why he is hewing to horse opera: He has reached a point, he said, "where it is more profitable for producers to hire him for comedies or dramas, the success of which is not as certain and sure-fire as Westerns. You must admit the guy is frank."

Why should you hire me? he asked. "For one thing, money they can get stars like Greg Peck or Dana Andrews, who draw just as well at the box-office. My Westerns make money, and I get the price I ask for—so I'm happy.
"it'd like to make a good comedy, but it's hard to assemble the topflight production teams that made great films like 'More of the Merrier' and 'Palm Beach Story.'"

Joel is that rarity among film stars (or anybody in Hollywood)—a native Californian who really earned spending money during his Hollywood high school days by trapping in Laurel Canyon, now a smart residential area.
"The hills were full of game, just a short hike from Hollywood Boulevard," he said to a number of the animals and send the pelts to Chicago.
He also remembers working summers as a mule team driver for a lively stable on the now-famed Sunset Strip. "If I'd had $500, I could have bought the stable property," he mused. "Bing Crosby bought the property a few years ago—a bargain at $40,000."

Sights and sounds on the Hollywood beat ... Virginia Mayo getting her "Jones Beach" tan the easy way—out of a sunbath ... Republican Robert Montgomery dining Governor Earl Warren ... Margaret O'Brien answering what she'd like to do now that she's back from her European jaunt: "I'd like to take a nap."

Edward Everett Horton stopping the "Naughty Marietta" show nightly with his version of "I'm Calling In Love With Someone" ... Hollywood talking about the unsensational business of "The Iron Curtain" ... Bonja Hania deling spins and leans on a 10230-foot lee patch for "Countess of Monte Cristo" ... Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., looking like Harpo Marx after falling through a plaster ceiling for "The O'Flynn" ... William Holden sporting a sport-cut hat for "Hearsey" ... Bob Hope going on with the show despite a painfully aching back ... Rudy Vallee wandering around a darkened sound stage sporting dark glasses.

Flood Threat

Even veteran U. S. River Forecaster Elmer Fisher wouldn't make a prediction.
But if the new crest rises as high as the one now running out to sea, this was his grim warning: "Portland and Vancouver, look out!"
Portland and Vancouver—across the Columbia—are at the confluence of the great river and the Willamette, biggest stream arising in Oregon.
One thing was sure—the weather here is against the flood-weary people.

European Recovery

Commission officials said such a development would throw out of gear the planned requirements of the nations receiving American aid, as the European Recovery Program was built on the premise that trade between Eastern and Western Europe would continue and would itself contribute to European recovery.
One senior official of the commission said the problem required an immediate decision by the Economic Cooperation Administration of Paul Hoffman. He said Hoffman recently authorized small purchases of Polish coal for dollars by Austria, and that similar authorization was necessary for other Marshall Plan nations.

"Otherwise," he declared, "Western Europe may well continue to depend on American aid forever."

Meet The Candidates

By W. A. WELLS

AP SCHEDULES
SACRAMENTO, Calif.—Earl Warren the man and Earl Warren the politician are one and the same person in the minds of most Californians.

This trait of being himself may help to explain the hold he has had on the affections of the citizenry for so many years.

It is the basis for their acceptance of his hearty handclasp, his engaging smile and his unassuming cordiality as real—not just a vote-seeker's stock in trade.

He has a faculty for putting you at ease. You leave his presence feeling he was glad to make your acquaintance; that he was interested in your problems; that he and you have mutual interests.

If you know Earl Warren 25 years ago when he was attorney of Alameda county—just across the bay from San Francisco—you know him today. And the chances are he knows you. Then you may have met him greeting old acquaintances and making new ones but, inevitably, drawing them out of themselves with eager questioning; swapping experiences.

The 58-year-old Warren is still at it. Nobody has kept track of the hundreds of thousands of miles he has wandered about the state. He unquestionably is the "travelingest" governor California ever had. Wherever he goes he talks with as many people as possible. He is a tireless asker of questions.

His eagerness to learn how the wheel revolves as he rose from a legislative committee clerkship to governor—and the state's favorite son candidate for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination—doubtless contributed to his success as an administrator.

His method when confronted with a troublesome problem is to ferret out experts in that field. Then he constitutes them into a committee or commission to ascertain the facts.

Almost invariably he follows the counsel of such a group. He did this in recommending increases in old age assistance payments. His legislative recommendation for tax reduction totaling $541,000,000 in six years was based on the findings of a study group.

The Warren administration's capital labor policies came out of conferences and consultations with representatives of the two groups, the latter chiefly American Federation of Labor.

The fact-finding technique was employed on a glorified scale in a campaign against what he termed "organized or commercialized crime."

California's favorite son emerged slowly but solidly as a national political figure.

Though he announced early in the year that he wanted to be President, he declined to campaign outside his state for the nomination.

What the blond, broad-shouldered candidate had done first was to wade into the preponderant Democratic registration in a bid for the governorship in 1942. He won as a Republican with 52,000 votes to spare. Four years later, he received both major party nominations at the primary election, sweeping back into office with the present majority ever accorded a California chief executive.

In between these campaigns, Warren gained his first real party recognition nationally. Close keynote speaker at the 1944 republican convention, he had a chance to be Gov. Tom Dewey's presidential running mate. He turned it down. It was his job, he said, to finish out his term in California. He stamped the mildest for the Dewey ticket.

In a 1948 Lincoln Day address, Warren declared the Republican party should be the party of the poor and rich alike. Lincoln, he remarked, "would not prevent people from acquiring wealth through honest effort. All he asked was that the rules be fair. He spoke not for a class but as a leader of all classes."

The governor supported the doctrine of free enterprise—he could give Horatio Alger a few pointers on how to get along in the world—but believed it should benefit the people as a whole.

Politically, Warren has been described variously—ranging from right to extreme left. Many southerners look on him as a middle of the roader. Neither the AFL or CIO endorsed his original candidacy for governor. The AFL supported his reelection campaign, however, satisfied with his first term labor record.

In his first term, Warren put through his state tax reduction program, increased old age aid from $40 to $50 monthly, obtained the largest expenditure program in California's history, coordinated state defense activities, and provided for post-war development.

Later accomplishments included the reorganization of the state prison system, a $2,800,000,000 long-range highway development and continuance of the $26,000,000 a year tax reduction schedule. He failed to swing the legislature over to his public health insurance program.

Warren shunned public statements on national and international issues until after he agreed to seek the presidency. He endorsed universal military training as necessary under existing conditions; urged a strong Navy; and favored U. S. aid to war-stricken countries.

In his teens Warren worked as a call boy—rousing railroad workers for their shifts. He sold newspapers. He played clarinet in local orchestras to pick up extra money.

His family background was plain, middle class. His father Mathias was a railroad man. Earl was born in Los Angeles March 19, 1891, he worked his way through the University of California (1912) and its law school (1914).

Warren was an Army lieutenant in World War I but didn't get overseas.

Two early incidents may have influenced his career as a law prosecutor. As a boy in Baker's field, he saw a gun fight in which singer Lawrence Tibbett's father was killed. Later his own father was beaten fatally by a robber; the slayer was never caught.

In his three terms as Alameda county district attorney and his four years (1938-42) as California's attorney general, Warren won a name for hard-driving prosecution of bootleggers, gamblers and the ku klux klan.

Warren is a past grand master of the masons in California. He was married in 1925 to Nina Palmquist Meyer, a widow. They have six children—five of their own and Mrs. Warren's son, James, whom the governor adopted.

Indian Tribes Show Up Weather Forecaster

RIVERSIDE, Calif. June 3 (AP)—Indian tribes in the vast expanse of Riverside county have some sort of word about wet weather in Southern California. They're moving to high ground. It was a dry winter. Rainfall was far below normal.

California highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies report that today the Cahuilla Indians near Agnadage, the Soboba Indians near San Jacinto and the Agua Caliente Indians near Palm Springs all are preparing for an expected deluge.

Tribal medicine men have predicted continuous rain lasting from 10 days to six weeks. They put out the wet news two weeks ago.

And the rain has started. Riverside county got 30 inch of precipitation in the last two days, the heaviest on record for so late in the season.

The Indians must know something because the government forecaster said it was going to be a nice, warm stretch over the Memorial Day week-end, and instead, the Heavens let loose and are still at it.

HONOLULU—The Navy's Pacific Island trading posts have made a half million dollars in its first five months—enough to pay back what the company borrowed to go into business.

Jan. 1. Officials of the corporation, the Island Trading Co., credit the record high price of copra. They deal with the Trust Territory of the Pacific, an area of 2,000,000 square miles including the Marshall, Caroline and Marianas. "Actually, the Island Trading Co. is a non

General Craigie Of Air Force Believes In Showing Might

WASHINGTON June 3 (AP)—An air force general believes that in a cold war, as in poker, it sometimes pays to advertise your hand.

Let a potential enemy know you can call his bluff, he advised congress in published hearings, but make sure you have plenty to call it with.

Without naming names but obviously referring to Russia, Maj. General L. C. Craigie said one of this country's possible enemies will be able before long to bomb U. S. cities.

Craigie, director of Air Force Research and Development recalled that he once had said "a nation could endanger this country simply by concentrating on development of new weapons. He added:

"Intelligence flowing in since that statement was made has indicated that new weapons are being exploited to the utmost in other parts of the world, and the efforts have borne fruit which places considerable doubt on any contention that we are substantially ahead in the race."

Craigie testified before the House Appropriations Committee on the Air Force money bill for the year beginning July 2. The hearings were made public as the committee approved the bill, including $831,736,000 for the Air Force.

The most important single problem for research and development of war's end," Craigie continued.

"The Germans were also well advanced in radar, and therefore we must assume that he is well equipped with efficient warning devices. Thus, he is moving rapidly into a position where he can reach our cities with his bombers and then retire behind an adequate defensive system.

"Our task is plain. We must be able to retaliate so swiftly and so devastatingly that he cannot dare to strike."

Craigie said other nations are certain to develop atomic bombs "or another weapon equally as absolute."

"Our course," he said, "must be to maintain such progress on new developments that we are known to be superior."

6-Nation Conclave On West Germany's Reaches Agreement

LONDON June 3 (AP)—A six-nation conference on Western Germany's political and economic future reported official agreement on recommendations covering the whole field.

That was the heart of an 80-word communique summing up the results of six weeks of talks which brought together high-ranking diplomats, financial and industrial experts from the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

It mentioned directly none of the major accomplishments of the talks—among them the recommendation to establish a separate Western Germany early next year, plans for creating an international control board over the Ruhr's key minerals, or long range methods for preventing re-birth of German aggression.

But it did say that a report on its recommendations will shortly be made public. Diplomatic officials here said this probably would not come before another two weeks—after the recommendations have been reviewed in detail by the governments concerned.

The text of the communique: "The informal discussions on Germany between representatives of the United States, the United Kingdom, France and the three Benelux countries, which began in London on 23rd February and which, after a recess beginning on 6th March, were resumed on 20th April, have resulted in agreed recommendations over the whole field.

1) Open interference by Soviet officers to enforce Russian policies, on the lowest levels of German governmental machinery.

(2) Pressure through the Soviet-sponsored, Communist-dominated Socialist Unity Party (SED) and its block committees, which defame and intimidate opponents.

(3) Soviet control of newspapers with heavy censorship of the eastern-zone press and seizure of publications from the United States and British zones.

(4) Dismissal of political opponents as "unacceptable" to the Soviet military administration.

(5) Economic pressure, including withholding raw materials from non-Communist manufacturers.

British Military Report Says Reds Dominate Zone Ruthlessly

BERLIN June 3 (AP)—An official report of the British military government said yesterday the Russian occupation zone is a police state where "Soviet ruthlessness" has eliminated virtually all political opposition.

The report said so hopeless has become the position of Germans opposing Russian policies there is "apprehension that nothing short of force will improve conditions."

This report, issued to the allied and German press, was the most devastating ever made here by one occupying power in criticism of another. It followed by less than a week a British attack in Berlin's allied Kommandatura on economic conditions in the Soviet zone.

The British exposes apparently were designed to take the steam out of Communists' efforts to extend their influence through such means as a currency "plebiscite" for German unification.

The British said that after eliminating the Social Democratic Party in their zone the Russians had reduced the two remaining non-Communist parties (Liberal Democrats and Christian Democrats) to stooges.

"Organized opposition to the Soviet plans has been virtually eliminated and opposition by individuals has become increasingly dangerous," the report said.

"Any isolated cases of resistance which now occur are almost invariably followed by the arrest or flight of the persons responsible for them."

The British said some oppositionists who escape to Berlin or Western Germany have given no real proof of secret-police torture.

The memorandum listed these Russian pressure methods to get subservience: (1) Open interference by Soviet officers to enforce Russian policies, on the lowest levels of German governmental machinery.

(2) Pressure through the Soviet-sponsored, Communist-dominated Socialist Unity Party (SED) and its block committees, which defame and intimidate opponents.

(3) Soviet control of newspapers with heavy censorship of the eastern-zone press and seizure of publications from the United States and British zones.

(4) Dismissal of political opponents as "unacceptable" to the Soviet military administration.

(5) Economic pressure, including withholding raw materials from non-Communist manufacturers.

(6) Indirect pressure of espionage, "which seems to be something of a phobia with the Soviet military administration."

(7) An informer system involving "Soviet black-mail."

(8) The MVD (secret police), which has instituted "Gestapo conditions."

The British report said these methods had reduced German parliamentary government in the east to a farce. It noted that those who refuse to follow the Communist line are called reactionaries and Fascists.

Smoot-Hawley Law, Reciprocal Trade Act Are Explained

By ROBERT E. GEIGER WASHINGTON—The term "reciprocal trade" will be in the headlines for the next few weeks. That's because the Reciprocal Trade Act passed by a Democratic Congress in 1934 and renewed by later Congresses will expire June 12 unless the present Republican Congress extends it.

This act has an important bearing on United States business, manufacturing and farming. If it is not extended the "platform" upon which the U. S. has been conducting much of its international trade collapses.

Here's the background: In 1930 a Smoot-Hawley law passed the United States Congress. It set up some of the highest tariffs in U. S. history. This law said to foreign nations: You will have to pay this government a certain price to bring certain products into the United States for sale.

The effect of this was to increase the price the U. S. public paid for some imported goods. This protected United States citizens who had the same kind of goods to sell but wanted higher prices than foreigners asked in this country.

After we did this other nations wanted to sell them. This increased the prices the public in foreign countries had to pay for American goods. Thus, fewer American goods were exported.

The 1934 Democratic Congress changed our system. This was during the depression when the government wanted to start world trade going again. The Democrats set up reciprocal trade agreements. Under this plan, one country would lower its tariff on goods from another country if that country would lower its tariff on goods from the first country.

That Congress set up the act. This is considered unlikely. 2. That the act will be extended, but nobody knows for how long.

President Truman has recommended three years. The Republicans have proposed to extend it only one year, so Congress then may investigate the situation more thoroughly. 3. That the act may be extended but important changes will be made.

A trade conference was held in Geneva last summer. Twenty-three countries, including the U. S., attended. They worked out a number of agreements. The United States already had proposed a permanent international trade organization (ITO) under the United Nations. Fifty-four nations met in Havana, Cuba, in a conference that lasted from the fall of 1947 until March 1948. They signed an agreement to set up the ITO. But this organization won't exist until Congress and the other nations ratify the agreement and Congress don't act on it until 1949.

Watson Says Large Faction Threatens His Defeat Friday

By ASSOCIATED PRESS Attorney General Tom Watson last night charged that "certain organized factions are threatening to turn out in large numbers to defeat me Friday" in the runoff race for the Supreme Court with Justice T. Frank Hobson.

Justice Hobson also is filling the vacancy created by retirement of Justice Rivers Buford but the appointment is not until January.

Watson said the factions' opposition was not because of personal enmity but due to political maneuvering. It is not that they consider me unimpeachable, but because they have been unable to control me and to dominate my official actions during the eight years I have served Florida as attorney general.

He said during the Friday night news broadcast he heard there is only one way to win the political principle of the support and opposition of each candidate presents a picture of a "fighting" candidate.

Hobson combined the efforts of his 30-year-old father, retired Baptist minister, and Robert J. Phipps, of Orlando, president of the Florida State Bar association in a bid to win the nomination.

Governor Caldwell Is Inclined To Check State Building Plans

WASHINGTON June 3 (AP)—Governor Caldwell is inclined to put the brakes on the multi-million dollar state building program.

He said the cabinet Tuesday he "contemplated" there is inadequate need of any new state buildings that will cost which money has been released.

His statement came during a session at which numerous requests were made for new buildings.

They included a new $2,160,000 state tuberculosis sanatorium in the Black Mountain area of a hospital in Florida and $6,774,000 worth of buildings at various other higher education institutions.

His statement was released for any other building, a round-robin survey of general financial affairs of the state developed.

Congressman C. M. Gay produced an estimate that the state general fund will have a balance of $10,000,000 when Governor Caldwell takes office in January.

However, budget Director Homestead said the state is a "cash-strapped" state in its contribution to the teachers' retirement fund.

The governor said he never had had of that before.

Later in the day he returned to the subject.

That afternoon came as some-thing of a shock to me when I learned that he had com-mended the state school Supt. Colin Engle-wood and the retirement fund ob-ligation, wasn't really as serious as it might appear.

He explained that although he and the state's teachers would like to see the retirement fund tiled it would be a matter of investing money in bonds when the state needs many things worse.

English said there is some doubt that the state's contribu-tion of seven percent of each teacher's salary to the retirement fund is too high. That is the figure on which Graham based his report of a $9,800,000 unpaid obligation running back to 1939, he said.

U. S. POSTS WASHINGTON June 3 (AP)—President Truman yesterday nomi-nated Robert A. Bergson of Mas-sachusetts to be an assistant at-torney general. The President also named to the Senate the nomi-nation of E. R. Rusk Huddle, to be United States representative on the United Nations Council's Kash-mir Commission. Huddle is Ameri-can ambassador to Burma. He will serve in the UN post while continuing his assignment as am-bassador.

SHANGHAI June 3 (AP)—The toll of dead and maiming in Friday's train accident on the Nan-king railway was 113, Central News Agency said today.

Cause of the accident has not been announced officially. Central news reported originally it was an explosion of a lamp oil. It was later dispatched, however, quoted physicians as saying burns suffered by passengers were inflicted by explosives.
