

Congress Gets Facts, Figures On U.S. Defense

Interesting Information On Nation's Airfleet Disclosed

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16.—(AP)—Facts and figures about our new defense armament program, what direction it may take, what developments affect it, and time and cost are coming more and more to light as Congress digs deeper.

Here are some: Of the 2,000 or more fighting and bombing planes we now have, less than 900 are classed as late model effective. The rest already are obsolete—outdated. It will take close to two years to get delivery on an appreciable number of the 3,000 or more new fighting craft ordered, although deliveries of some can begin almost at once, as the factories are already under contract for certain types.

Full capacity of American factories is about 12,000 planes a year. With unlimited funds to buy the output of all factories, 25,000 could be delivered to the army the first year, 7,000 or 8,000 the second year, and the full 12,000 production the third year.

From General Arnold, Chief of the Army Air Corps:

"The pursuit plane has the shortest life of any plane due to the almost constant improvements in performance. The 300-mile plane of yesterday is almost obsolete today. We believe as a result of changes in design, methods of construction and materials that from now on until the next few years the life of the pursuit plane will not be much more than two years, four years at the maximum. The bomber plane has a life of from 4 to 6 years, maybe as much as 8 years. The life of an observation plane is about 8 years."

Overall costs of keeping up, operating and replacing the contemplated air fleet of 5,500 planes will be $23,000,000 a year. That is equal to half the cost of maintaining the whole Army at present.

The Army for many purposes is returning to liquid-cooled engines, as distinguished from the radial type air cooled. General Arnold explains:

"At the present time experience abroad with high-speed airplanes indicate that a liquid-cooled engine is the one that is so shaped that the designers are able to get the maximum speed."

Liquid-cooled (not with water, but special chemicals) engine can be fitted into the wings, reducing head resistance. Designers already see the practical limit of speed for present designs. It is something less than 600 miles an hour, 10 miles a minute. At 600 miles an hour the air is virtually a solid, say designers, so planes must be pointed or blided to cut through.

General Arnold: "Today Germany has something more than 50,000 young men who are going to flying schools for training."

By 1940 the Army hopes to get under the program, 3,400 pilots. At present the army has 1,758 regular army fliers and 975 reserve officer fliers.

The Army has about given up playing with diesel engines for airplanes, prefers gasoline motors. The diesel is still attractive to the Navy, which dikes carrying highly inflammable supplies of gasoline to sea. Diesels burn less inflammable fuel.

The Army is hunting, but has not yet found, a plastic which will permit it to "pour" its airplane bodies, like concrete, instead of the slower riveting and welding of aluminum and steel.

Belief is one of the principal tenets of the Craft and the Masonic Home here has been the means of meeting the needs of many orphan children of deceased members and of the aged destitute. Former Governor Gilchrist introduced a resolution in the 1902 meeting of the Grand Lodge urging that a home be built in this State. A fund was created and the present site was bought and officially opened on Apr. 7, 1910. The institution has grown from a site of five acres and one building to 15 acres and six buildings and now represents an investment of about $275,000.

MEDICAL SCIENCE peeks into the abdomen. Dr. John C. Ruddock, famed as the developer of this country of the peritoneoscope, a small telescope with an electric light on the end, demonstrated the instrument at the Grady Hospital, Atlanta, as a climax to the 10th annual Southeastern Surgical Congress. Dr. Ruddock, left, hand raised, is describing his findings as a visiting medical man peers into the instrument.

Grand Lodge Gives Facts On Masonic Children's Home In St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Mar. 16.—The Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of Florida has issued a booklet entitled "The Masonic Home of the State of Florida," whose purpose is to inform the membership and the public generally as to the physical properties, the activities, the guests who are receiving the benefit, and the needs of the institution.

The booklet contains 20 pages, and has a number of pictures of those who are being cared for by the fraternity, showing the aged and contentment and repose and the younger ones in their play, work, worship and vocational activities.

The reading material gives a brief history of Free masonry building with operative guilds who members built the great cathedrals of Europe. It traces and explains the change to symbolic Masonry as it is practiced today by more than 2,000,000 members in 16,000 lodges in the United States and by other millions in every other part of the world, except where suppressed by licitator's decree.

Relief is one of the principal tenets of the Craft and the Masonic Home here has been the means of meeting the needs of many orphan children of deceased members and of the aged destitute.

Law Violators Hailed Before Frank L. Miller

Paul Patrick, charged with damaging public property was granted a continuance and Thomas Stephenson appeared before Judge Frank L. Miller to answer charges of breaking the City ordinance forbidding the keeping of a goat within 100 feet of a residence in the city limits, during a regular municipal court session at the Police Station Monday afternoon. The case against Stephenson was dismissed.

It. H. Ashdown paid a $3.00 fine for speeding. The $10,000 bond posted by Robert Beatty, who was charged with drunkenness was forfeited for non-appearance.

Judge Miller ruled on 17 cases involving negroes. Heaviest sentence was drawn by Becher Thomas on a drunkenness count. He drew a $30 fine and a suspended sentence of 60 days.

The case against Willie Minick charged with being an inmate of a disorderly house was continued. George James booked for investigation was dismissed. Jacob Dargen, charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct was given 30 days on the disorderly conduct count and 15 days on the drunkenness charge.

Minnie Lee Chambers, charged with assault was granted a continuance by Judge Miller. The reckless driving charge against Katie Battles was dismissed.

R. V. White, charged with disorderly conduct, was given a continuance. Gus Johnson paid a $5 fine on a drunkenness count. Jack Bell was sentenced to 30 days for the same offense.

Eddie Timms, Willie Mae Cobb and Fred Bolton paid fines of $5 each on disorderly conduct charges. Foster Smith up on the same charges was granted a continuance. The case of John Simmons booked for investigation was continued. C. Burns Bloomfield charged with disorderly conduct and destroying property was given his choice of $5 fine or 15 days on each of the charges.

The disorderly conduct charge against Allen Chester was dismissed.

Board Continues Sales Campaign On Seeded Fruit

LAKELAND, Mar. 16.—The citrus commission's campaign to popularize seeded grapefruit continues at a fast pace and is bringing excellent results, according to a report just received from the commission's New York publicity office. This special consumer drive has been pushed in the newspapers and over the radio, stressing the health properties of grapefruit and the excellence of seeded fruit.

"The health benefits of seeded fruit have been tied in wherever possible with the national citrus sale, and has been read and heard by millions of housewives. Stories, pictures and recipes have been featured in metropolitan, suburban and country newspapers, while chain and independent radio stations have broadcast the story and offered the commission's recipe leaflets and health booklets. In response to these efforts, 16,000 mimeographed sales sheets were distributed to housewives, and approximately 5,000 copies of the health booklet were mailed.

Some large metropolitan newspapers contacted grapefruit recipe contests and news of these contests and the results were featured on the food pages of these papers for a week or more. Papers like the Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph, Washington Evening Star and Cleveland News reported in conducting the contests.

Special script material has been furnished to 300 radio stations and used by many of them in some instances as back-up throughout the east and into the middle west as far as Chicago.

The dissemination of the campaign, however, has been a barrage of citrus articles and photographs, stressing the health properties and above-par value of seeded grapefruit. These articles and photographs have gone out to many of our best newspapers in addition to being featured in the copy of our campaign in many of our other efforts and circulation in the past has been very successful.

The special promotional campaign has also been tied in closely with the commission's efforts in popularizing citrus fruit and juice as a nutritious and healthy food for all ages and other citrus all-

Egronomists Teach New Farm Wrinkle

JAMESTOWN, N. D. Mar. 16.—(AP)—The white collar agronomists who showed their dirt farmer cousins a new wrinkle in crop cultivation last summer are all set for the second phase of their experiment. The idea is to sow grains and grasses in rows either 12 or 24 inches apart to allow cultivation during the growing season. One hundred businessmen put $5 each into a pool to buy the machine needed for the cultivation. Leslie Gassal, president of the Jamestown 100 Men Agronomy Club, reports that last year's efforts showed a saving of seed, higher yield, and eradication of weeds.

He says this year's experiments may show conservation of moisture, increased yield from improved condition of the land, and elimination of black stem rust by better air circulation between rows. In 1938 three pecks of wheat seed to the acre produced a crop five bushels per acre greater than the average county yield, which was obtained from the normal planting of five to six pecks of seed, Gassal reports.

Florida will play host to liquidators of the country next week when the National Conference of State Liquor Administrators is held at the Miami Biltmore, Mar. 20, 21 and 22. Thomas W. Long, Florida Administrator, is chairman of the convention.

Pepper Pushes Grapefruit

Senator Pepper has recently been making some eloquent and impressive announcements on the floor of the Senate with regard to the importance of grapefruit in the war against colds and influenza. Inasmuch as the Senator speaks with authority on this subject, hailing as he does from a state abundantly supplied with grapefruit, his remarks carry special weight.

"At a time when we are devoting so much of our attention to the question of defense against the possibility of danger from abroad," he said, "I feel that we should not overlook a very real danger which appears to be rising in many localities within our borders."

Senator Pepper then reminded his colleagues of the spread of influenza epidemics throughout northern and middle western states following cold waves which brought snow and ice to large areas of our country. And he cited the testimonials of prominent medical experts who have said that Vitamin C, abundantly supplied by grapefruit, greatly increases one's resistance to such infections.

And in conclusion he declared, "There is much that can be done to combat this attack on the nation's health; namely, call upon the State of Florida for the grapefruit which science now recognizes as one of the best defenders against this enemy within our gates."

Senator Pepper was not merely advancing a sales talk when he spoke on the subject of grapefruit in the Senate. What he said was the truth and wise will be those northerners who heed his advice for there is nothing which will do more to ward off colds than quantities of grapefruit juice taken daily. However, the Senator's remarks will not hurt the grapefruit market, and for that, we in Florida can be doubly thankful.

Ten Years Ago

While the outlook for the immediate future may be filled with uncertainty and apprehension, and a prediction for the coming decade might not be an optimistic one, still it is worth remembering that whereas ten years ago the outlook was most cheerful, not to say downright jubilant, eventual developments showed how wrong the prognosticators could be. Those who today see only gloom ahead should remember how far they erred in 1929, and conclude they may be wrong again.

"Ten years ago today," the New York Herald Tribune recalls, "they were trading 3,330,000 shares on the New York Stock Exchange; and the session was, if anything, rather on the dull side—a moment of pause. February had been a big month; it had seen $688,000,000 of new issues floated; stock market trading had been heavier than in any previous February; call money had climbed from 7 percent at the beginning to 10 percent at the end, and, though the celebrated warning of the Federal Reserve Board early in the month had administered what seemed a drastic shaking out, the boom had picked up again within ten days. On March 2, the public, in pre-inaugural enthusiasm, had flocked back in for a 6,000,000-share day with values up one to twenty-five points. Later there had come a fairly heavy break, but now call money was easier and prices again reviving."

"M. Aristide Briand, in those days, was just securing French ratification of the Kellogg pact, and the biggest war in sight was only another revolution in Mexico. Business was humming with prosperity, Jimmy Walker was Mayor, the speakeasy flourished in the land and the town was happy. There was really nothing very much in the news to talk about, with the possible exception of the farmers' troubles—and then, farmers were always in trouble. Multi-joint and market tips monopolized every dinner-table conversation; stock dividends filled the air like snowflakes, and even so, the real thing had not yet come. For there was to be another big break in March—the 8,000,000-share day of March 26, with call money at 20 percent—and it was a terrifying experience. But Mr. Charles Mitchell, of the National City Bank, stepped into the breach (to a general applause marred only by Senator Carter Glass's crusty doubts), and the month ran out, with values higher than ever. The bull market was gathering for its spring."

That was ten years ago. Prosperity was at its highest peak. No, it did not reach its highest peak until the late summer of 1929, but still business was good in the Spring, and the experts were freely predicting a "new economic plateau" which was to maintain a permanently high level of prosperity. But that was ten years ago.

State Employment Service Open For Use By Employers "Over The Top" Is Slogan For Army Campaign

All Florida employers are urged by J. L. Burgess, Manager of the Florida State Employment Service office to use the State Employment Service offices and the efficient service whenever they are in need of employees, whether skilled or unskilled.

Pointing out that the Employment Service offers a catalogue and classified service of competent and tested workers Mr. Burgess said a highly trained personnel in his office stood ready to aid both employers and employees in Florida.

"Interviews in our office," Mr. Burgess said, "develop the job potentialities of each individual registering for work and classify them according to their ability in a particular line of work. The Employment Service does not attempt to dictate to an employer in hiring an employee, the applicant is sent to the employer on a strictly referral basis for the purpose of an interview and the employer determines whether or not the applicant is qualified for the position to be filled."

"In order that the employer may not be limited in his field of selection, three or more of the best qualified applicants for a position are referred to the employer by the Employment Service. This Service is not restricted to those unemployed persons who are eligible for employment in-

"Another case is that of a young boy far from home and penniless, hungry and jobless without shelter who entered the doors of the Salvation Army appealing for help. He was found to have a burning fever. Something must be done, it was done. A doctor was called and treatment prescribed, the young man was nursed, fed, doctored, and brought back to health by the special attention of The Salvation Army workers. Perhaps someone will remark, 'Just another boy strayed from home, but friends, he is some mother's boy.'"

"Is such service worthy as your support?" Mr. Matkins asked. "I feel sure the unanimous reply would be, 'yes.' Then let us give as much as possible when solicitors call during this appealing month of March."

WPA officials stated that two more projects for improvements in Sanford and Seminole County will be ready for submission to the district WPA office for routine approval within a short time. They include a project for improvement of the grounds surrounding the big tree at Lone-wood and a street improvement project sponsored by the City Commission. The project for cleaning up the grounds surrounding the "big tree" awaits only the signature of the County Commissioners, officials said.

Meanwhile work on projects now underway in the city and county are progressing as rapidly as possible, the officials said.

The project at the Sanford Country Club for cleaning out several ponds and making other improvements to the city's income course is mostly nearing completion. The project for improvement of several Sanford streets which also provided for the widening of sidewalks in the business district is also practically completed.

The Nipes Avenue project, one of the largest road improvement projects sponsored by the Board of County Commissioners through the Works Progress Administration, is also well underway and is expected to be completed within about six weeks.

In the Paola flood improvement project, the fill across a pond on the route has been nearly filled.

Through Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, Hitler issued a decree making the Bohemians and Moravians subject to Berlin but granting them a degree of self-government and cultural autonomy.

An appeal had come to him from Slovakia—which had declared its independence with his backing only last Tuesday—for his protection.

"In supreme confidence in you, the leader and Reichschancellor of the greater German Reich, the Slovak State places itself under your protection," said the message from Dr. Joseph Tiso, an ordained Catholic priest and pro-follower of Slovakia.

"The Slovak State begs you to take over this protection," Hitler curtly responded: "I acknowledge receipt of your telegram of yesterday and herewith take over protection of the Slovak State."

Then Hitler followed his troops out of Prague in the direction of Brno, 116 miles southwest of the capital of the dismembered Czech-Slovak republic.

Though their fighting cause seemingly was lost, Ukrainians and some Czech troops engaged the Hungarian army of occupation in a bitter battle in the snows of Carpatho-Ukraine near Chust, its capital.

"It is even more far-reaching than the Monroe Doctrine which applies literally only to European encroachments. In the Line Declaration the 21 independent American nations declare in writing, and over their signatures, that they will defend their institutions and territories against all foreign intervention. Nor do they stop there. In the same document they declare they will defend their institutions against 'any' activity that may threaten them."

Tomlinson said the importance of the document had been overlooked in this country, but it was complex "at this nation even its neighboring neighbors."

Three Kennels At Racing Plant Are Suspended

Doping Of Hounds Is Charged By State Racing Commission

Three kennels of greyhounds were suspended at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club yesterday by the Florida State Racing Commission and the trainers charged with using strychnine to stimulate their dogs.

The trainers were E. O. Edwards, Paul Austen and Kate Riley.

They all deny the charges emphatically.

They were notified that the Racing Commission had found traces of strychnine in the specimens of the urine of three greyhounds, one from each of the three kennels.

Before the start of each race the state inspectors take specimens from some of the entrants in the event, picking at random from the tight for the test.

Letters to the three kennels were returned from some of the entrants in the event, picking at random from the tight for the test.

Coach McLucas Is Again Re-elected To Post On FHAA

Mentors Vote To Lift Ban Against Spring Gridiron Training

Coach Leonard L. McLucas, head mentor at Seminole High School was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Florida High School Athletic Association at an annual reorganization meeting in Tampa yesterday during which the approximately 100 coaches and officials present voted to lift the ban on spring football practice sessions in member high schools.

Coaches from the larger high schools in the state had told the executive board that it was impossible to teach a large number of students for ball under the old setup. Without uniforms and equipment worth anything...

Upon the requests of coaches representing 40 schools, it was agreed to allow all students four years of participation in athletics. It was argued that the coaches of big schools didn't use their players more than three years, anyway, whereas the little schools need many of their players to pay.

Coaches found themselves in somewhat of a predicament when the question of carrying on the gridiron was brought up for discussion.

What they wanted to know constituted carrying? After a few other flimsy definitions had been offered, it was decided that in these days the gridiron was no place to worry over grammar.

Other changes adopted included:

- No student may represent his school after he has been in high school longer than eight semesters above the ninth grade.
- Five per cent of the gross receipts of all basketball tournaments and all district and state basketball tournaments shall be paid into the treasury of the A.H.S.A. Association.
- A.A.U. meets will not be sanctioned unless sponsored by some member high school and the Florida High School Athletic Association chapter chapters are entered.
- Hubert Houser of Leesville was elected president of the Florida Coaches Association.
- Ed P. Smith of Miami was vice president, Fred Taylor of Tampa, and...

Shadow Is Cast Over Rumania By German Swastika

Hitler Asks Economic Subjugation For Assurance Of Territorial Integrity

Lengthy Night Session Is Held

Little Nation Asked To Export Products Only To Germany

By Associated Press

Sweeping German economic proposals to Rumania cast the shadow of the Swastika far over southeastern Europe as the democracies bitterly condemned the Nazi conquest of Czechoslovakia in the strongest stamp they yet have made against Adolf Hitler since his race to power.

The Rumanian league spokesmen in London asserted his government had received Hitler's demands that it submit to complete economic subjugation by Germany in return for Nazi assurance of Rumanian territorial integrity.

Rumania would be expected to cease building up her industries and turn to agriculture. She would export exclusively to Germany her grain, oil, lumber, cattle and foodstuffs.

Confronted with this danger, King Carol of Rumania presided during the night at a lengthy session of the crown council and general staff in Bucharest. The Rumanian foreign minister, however, declared the German proposals to be "unacceptable and without effect."

Czech troops remaining in Slovakia, which seceded Tuesday from the now dead republic, were reported to have ceased resistance and most had surrendered their arms. They were reported willing to march for instructions from Prague.

Nazi troops avoided appearances in Rumanian and other public places in the Czech capital in anticipation that Germany's Nuremberg laws would be enforced.

Ballard Warns Against Change In County Tax

Says Revenue Diversification Must Be Met With Higher Taxes

Calling the structure of taxpayers to the probable submission of legislation, at the coming session of the State Legislature, which will of necessity raise taxes, and urging the State lawmakers to hold expenses and activities within the ability to pay with present millages, County Commissioner W. B. Ballard declared today in an interview with a Herald reporter that "it should be distinctly understood by taxpayers that any disturbance by the legislature of present allocations to counties of moneys derived from the three cents of the gas tax used for bond, retirement, would mean a corresponding increase in county millage to pay bond and interest."

"Thus for each cent taken from this fund," Mr. Ballard explained, "a ten-mill rate in millage would result."

The County Commissioner also pointed out the danger of taking away from the county moneys derived from the race tracks, amounting last year to approximately $20,000 for each county, a contingency which would result in "another probable raise of approximately 10 mills," Mr. Ballard continued by explaining that "should the state raise the state tax by a 5-8 mills, as the budget committee asks, it is easy to figure a millage for State and County taxes that would be all out of reason."

"One of our legislators," he said, "has been quoted as saying that increases in taxes will be necessary, because it is known that certain State departments are running short of moneys, and to this argument I would suggest that the State do as Seminole County is doing—when short of moneys, do without. We County Commissioners have been trying to find a way to buy a new tractor. We need one very badly, but as we haven't the moneys we will have to do without. We have had to turn down many requests for money for different purposes, many times being condemned for doing so. Many of our county departments will soon be known to be running short of moneys, but I believe that I voice the opinion of every member of our board that only direct necessity would cause us to increase in taxes. We are going to let the cloth fit the pattern." (Continued on Page Two)

Hitler Is Rapped By Teachers For Czech Annexation

Stand Of State Department Is Laudated In Resolution

TAMPA, Mar. 18. —(AP)—The Florida Education Association, counting more than 10,000 teachers in membership, sharply criticized today Adolf Hitler for his seizure of Bohemia and Moravia. The teachers adopted the resolution just before the ending of the annual convention.

The resolution rapped Hitler, praised the stand taken by the United States State Department and agreed with the sentiment expressed by Prime Minister Chamberlain of England.

Speaking ways out of a financial crisis of schools, the Florida Education Association recommended yesterday the appointment of a state tax commission to spend the next two years in finding a solution.

Supreme Court Shippers Ask Rules Eckerson Survey Before Contracts Void Canal Is Dug

Further Action Is Planned By Eckerson To Continue Plant's Operation

Vegetable Handlers Seek Comprehensive Study To Determine Water Supply Effect

"I do not intend to let the matter stand where it is," was the only comment of C. H. Eckerson, president of the Eckerson Fruit Canners, Inc., today on the Supreme Court's reversal of the order of Circuit Judge Millard B. Smith prohibiting the enforcement of the Grower's First Guaranty law against the contracts offered by the local canning plant to grapefruit producers.

Estimating that operations at the plant would be continued, Mr. Eckerson said that he would not be in a position to outline the further action of the canning company in defense of its grower contracts until their attorney, George A. DeCotte, had received a certified copy of the high tribunal's unanimous decision.

Pointing out that the contracts of his company, which were held inoperative in a decision last night by the Florida Supreme Court, contained features not provided for in the contracts of cooperative organizations which have not been questioned by the Agriculture Commission or the Citrus Commission, Mr. Eckerson declared that "our contract protected the growers against total losses for the fruit, and do guarantee a payment for the fruit with a possibility that a higher price will be paid, depending on the market price for the canned product."
