Rep. McCollum Believes

Lawmakers' Pay Hike Attempt 'Will Be Stopped'

BILL McCOLLUM

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The possible pay raise members of the U.S. House of Representatives and the U.S. Senate could receive if action isn't taken to stop it "has been blown out of proportion" in the opinion of U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Altamonte Springs.

"I'm very much opposed to a pay raise. It would be very inappropriate in a time of recession," said McCollum, the 38-year-old congressman, recently re-elected by a landslide.

"I'm quite confident it is going to be stopped."

Unless the two Houses take action by Dec. 17, the members of the bodies will receive a 27 percent pay raise from $60,662 to $77,100.

But McCollum said he expects a new "continuing resolution" on the budget will be passed by Dec. 16, 17 or 18 to tack a freeze on congressional salaries, in line with the continuing pattern since 1979.

"Congress has had to act each year to stop the pay raise from going into effect. It didn't come up prior to the election," it's way late in passing the bill, appropriating funding for the 1983 fiscal year which began Oct. 1," he said.

"What will happen is that some of the appropriations will not be agreed upon during the three-week period prior to the Congress won't take action to stop the pay raise. "I've heard no sentiment for taking it," he said.

He said that he expects the Congress to recess before Dec. 23 and most likely the target date will be Dec. 18.

Several issues of major import will likely come before the Congress during the three-week "lame duck" session prior to newly elected congressmen taking office, he said.

"The biggest thing is defense spending," McCollum said, adding the questions of whether the MX missile program will survive and whether House Speaker "Tip" O'Neill will allow the House to take up the immigration bill remain.

The immigration bill imposes sanctions on employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens and provides a speedup process on political asylum.

"The agenda keeps getting more crowded, with the budget competing with other things," he said, such as the highway jobs bill and the speed up in the third year tax cut proposed by President Reagan. "I don't think the speedup of the tax cut will make it," he said.

McCollum expects to be reassigned to the Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs Committee and the Judiciary Committee. "I'm also asking for Way and Means Committee."

McCollum said he stands a better chance of getting that assignment than a freshman congressman.

After his campaign for re-election and his win by a landslide, McCollum and his family took a break and went to the North Carolina mountains. He's ready to go back to work now.

he noted.

"We must go back to Washington next Monday and face the fact that we have not passed a regular appropriations bill to deal with government departments.

Christmas adjournment, and the Congress will likely pass another continuing resolution to expire probably next summer," he said.

McCollum said he can't imagine that

Brantley Aims To Plug Drug Cases Loophole

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Drug-traffickers who hope to escape prosecution on a legal technicality may soon find that loophole closed.

Florida's drug-trafficking law has, to date, been challenged in 58 of the state's 67 counties — including Seminole County — concerning its constitutionality, according to state Rep. Bobby Brantley (R-Longwood).

"The most recent challenges to the law came in Seminole County with one judge upholding the constitutionality of the law and another rejecting it," Brantley said. "I'm seeing this happen all over the state and it really concerns me."

Brantley met with Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor, who recently upheld the constitutionality of the law, and said he has "begun setting the wheels in motion to get a new law drafted for consideration at the April session of the Legislature if necessary." Brantley added that he plans to talk with Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr., who ruled the law unconstitutional here, about that decision soon.

"I'm not finding fault with either decision or judge about this," Brantley said. "I'm just trying to find out why they ruled as they did, if we're going to see more of this down the road and what can we, as legislators, do to correct it."

McGregor denied a lawyer's request Nov. 18 to have the drug law thrown out in the case against Mark Anthony Williams, 22, of 2919 Autumnwood Trail in Forest City.

Williams' lawyer had asked McGregor to declare the drug-trafficking law unconstitutional, saying the law was never passed by the state Legislature. The lawyer argued the lawmakers failed to read the law three times by title, as required and, therefore, failed to have a two-thirds vote needed to pass the bill into law.

McGregor disagreed.

Following McGregor's denial of the motion, Williams pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of possession of more than 20 grams of marijuana and could face up to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine, prosecutors said.

Prosecutors added they agreed to allow Williams' plea after receiving expert testimony that less than 100 pounds of marijuana was exchanged in the April 5 drug deal between undercover agents and Williams and that, as a result, their case for a drug-trafficking conviction was weakened.

Meanwhile, state prosecutors are appealing a ruling by Mize in another drug-trafficking case in which the judge dismissed charges against Jeffrey Laine Lynn, 30, and Lester Conrad Bridgman, 23, both of Orlando, saying the law is unconstitutional.

Prosecutors said they have not yet received word from the Fifth District Court of Appeals in Daytona Beach concerning their appeal.

The two men were arrested June 21 in the Live Oak Center parking lot off U.S. Highway 17-92 in Casselberry after agents said they purchased $2,000 worth of cocaine from them.

Lynn was charged with possession, delivery and trafficking cocaine. Bridgman was charged with three counts of possession, delivery and trafficking cocaine, agents said.

Lynn and Bridgman's lawyers used the same argument that Williams' lawyer used

Death Toll One Killed In Seminole; 9 In State

Florida's Thanksgiving death toll has climbed to nine with a traffic fatality occurring in Seminole County less than four hours after the holiday officially began at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

A 23-year-old Georgia man, whose identity has not been released pending notification of his family, was killed when a car struck him as he was standing in the southbound lane of Interstate 4, just two-tenths of a mile south of State Road 436 at 9:40 p.m. Wednesday, Florida Highway Patrol officers said.

James Timlin, 34, of Altamonte Springs, told troopers he turned his Chevrolet Suburban off of State Road 436 onto the southbound exit to Interstate 4 and struck the man, whom he said was standing in the traffic lane.

Troopers said little else is known about the accident or why the man was in the roadway and that their investigation is continuing. No charges were filed against Timlin, troopers said.

The fatality brings the number of traffic-related deaths in Seminole County this year to 34, troopers said.

Meanwhile, the state holiday death toll continues to climb toward the estimated 41 deaths. Nine people died on Florida's highways within the first 38 hours of the Thanksgiving weekend which will officially end at midnight Sunday, troopers said.

The first reported traffic death during the holiday, which lasts from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday, was that of Nancy Peterson Trader, 49, of West Palm Beach.

Janet Morrow Loeb, 25, of Dallas, was killed when her vehicle was struck by another car at a stop sign in rural Collier County early Thursday.

Keith Neal Hockett, 21, of Tallahassee, lost control of his motorcycle at an intersection north of Tallahassee Thursday evening.

Kenneth Eugene Lowe, 19, of Greenacres City was killed when he stopped his car along the Florida Turnpike about seven miles north of the Jupiter exit. He was standing on the shoulder Wednesday night when a car struck him from behind.

Virginia Zang, 32, of Fort Lauderdale, was northbound on State Road 9 Broward County Thursday morning when a southbound vehicle crossed the median and struck her car head-on, killing her.

In Crystal River, two women in the same car died when they were pulling onto U.S. 19 early Thursday. Another vehicle coming down the road struck the left side of the car occupied by 37-year-old Earnestine Ingram Newton of Crystal River and 23-year-old Sandra Knox of Homosassa Springs.

White House Considering Jobs Package, New Taxes

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — The Reagan administration is considering a package of proposals to ease unemployment that includes a tax on jobless benefits and a reduced minimum wage for teenage workers.

The measures would be presented to the 98th session of Congress which convenes in January, and be a major push to resolve what was a key issue in last month's congressional elections — more than 11 million jobless Americans.

The reduced minimum wage, now at $3.35 an hour, White House officials believe, would encourage employers to hire more teenagers.

Administration officials estimate the jobless benefits tax would raise nearly $2 billion in revenue that could then be used to fund training and other job-related programs.

Prior to leaving for Brazil on Tuesday, Reagan is expected to present an abbreviated legislative agenda to the lame-duck session that will include a five-cent increase in the gasoline tax estimated to raise $5.5 billion for a highway and bridge repair program that would create as many as 320,000 jobs.

Klan To March On D.C.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Ku Klux Klan, the white supremacist group that rose from the ashes of the Civil War, is preparing to hold its first major rally in the nation's capital in more than a half a century.

An estimated 200 Klansmen are expected to don white hoods and robes Saturday and march about a mile from Capitol Hill to the White House. At the same time, an anti-KKK demonstration is to be held at a nearby park.

City and federal officials have taken precautionary measures in an effort to maintain peace, including assigning riot-equipped policemen to monitor the activities. Police are expected to outnumber Klansmen by a better than 10-to-one margin.

Stanley McCollum, director of the national office of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan in Tusculum, Ala., said the Klansmen decided on a Washington march "because that's where all our problems are coming from... with the illegal aliens and all. You've got to start at the source."

12 Die In Holiday Fires

United Press International

At least 12 people were killed in fires across the nation on Thanksgiving Day. A fire engulfed an abandoned department store and a bank headquarters in the heart of Minneapolis, threatening nearby skyscrapers as it burned out of control early today.

A faulty fireplace was suspected of causing a blaze that killed a doctor and three members of his family in Clinton, Iowa. Dr. Ahmed Taha, 38; his wife, Jeanette, 30; and their sons, Magle, 4, and Alsam, 2, died of smoke inhalation, authorities said.

Neighbor Jerry Baker said his wife smelled smoke, then saw the glare of the fire reflecting on the windows. "I called the Police Department and came over to try and get somebody up," Baker said. "But the whole downstairs was just on fire. The windows were starting to crack and were hot at that time."

At least 12 firefighters suffered minor injuries in the Minneapolis fire, mostly smoke inhalation stemming from exhaustion as they battled the blaze which started with a late afternoon explosion on a top floor of a five-story abandoned Donaldson's department store.

and vice chairman of the Council Of Business Organizations at UCF.

If elected, Miss Stern said she would act as a channel for the needs and wants of the people of Lake Mary within the scope of the legal parameters.

"Having no special vested interest, I feel I can be their voice on the council," she said.

Running for the office because she said, "There's a need for a change for the citizens of Lake Mary." Miss Stern sees the major problems facing the city in 1983 as proper planning for growth, the city's water system and support services in the police and fire departments.

He holds a bachelor's degree in economics from Long Island University and a master's degree from the University of Central Florida. He has also done some graduate work in governmental accounting.

Duryea and his wife, Mary, have two sons, Jonathan, 6, and Carey, 4.

The treasurer of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, Duryea says, if elected, he hopes to systemize the city's long range planning and define responsibilities for city employees. The city's major problem is that growth is coming too fast for the city's present comprehensive plan, Duryea said.

Lytle and his wife, Brenda, have two children, Chaz, 2, and Kaylie, 5.

Lytle graduated from Seminole High School and attended the University of Florida. He served six years in the U.S. Army and served on the city's Planning and Zoning Commission.

Lytle's priorities, if elected, are to provide a better life for all who live within the city and to provide more recreation for the youth of the community.

Major problems in Lytle's view are: road conditions, safety, planned growth and the environment.

"I love my city and want to be involved," Lytle said.

Seat 1 on the Lake Mary City Council has drawn four candidates for the Dec. 7 election. Clockwise from top left are George Duryea, Susan Stern, and Charles Lytle. Barbara Ball was not available for a photograph.

Ms. Baker is not a licensed lawyer, Beckwith said.

"She did my (divorce) papers and she did the papers for my daughter in Longwood," Ms. Baker said. Ms. Baker said that even though her daughter decided not to go through with the divorce, "She still had to pay $180."

Ms. Baker said Ms. Knight also "hand-wrote" instructions for her telling Ms. Baker exactly what to say to Davis during the proceedings. Those notes have been turned over to prosecutors.

Douglas Huth, State Attorney's Office Consumer Fraud Division investigator, said a handwriting analysis of the handwritten notes indicates that Ms. Knight was the author of the courtroom instructions and that the evidence "supports her arrest."

Ms. Baker also said she and her daughter, Mary Daugherty, were offered $50 cash by Ms. Knight to destroy the handwritten notes and disavow their claims. While Ms. Baker did not accept the money, Ms. Daugherty said she took the money because, "I figured she took enough money from Momma and she owed us something."

Ms. Daugherty turned the $50 over to Huth, along with a piece of paper allegedly torn from Ms. Knight's personal check, bearing her unlisted home telephone number.

"We were supposed to call her at home that night and let her know that the courtroom instructions on the two papers had been destroyed," Ms. Daugherty said.

Instead, Ms. Daugherty took the money and telephone number to the Evening Herald to report the incident and later to the state attorney's office. — TENI YARBOROUGH

Enzyme Saves Lives Of Heart Attack Victims

BOSTON (UPI) — Quick intravenous injection of an enzyme that helps dissolve blood clots can save lives in 25 percent of heart-attack cases and may keep the survivors alive longer, medical researchers said today.

A review of a decade of studies around the world showed that feeding the enzyme streptokinase into a vein with a needle is safer and simpler than the increasingly common practice of feeding the drug through a tiny plastic tube directly to the clot, the doctors reported.

The findings were published in the New England Journal of Medicine.

Heart attacks, which strike hundreds of thousands of Americans annually, are usually the result of a blood clot stuck in a narrowed artery that interrupts flow of blood to the heart. Death can result if the heart muscle is deprived of blood for too long.

Streptokinase starts a process that dissolves clots in the coronary artery, thereby restoring the muscle's blood supply.

Streptokinase treatment improved long-term survival rates for heart-attack victims as well as cutting initial mortality rate 20 to 25 percent, the study said.

Longwood Crash Victim Burned To Death

By TENI YARBOROUGH
 Herald Staff Writer

An autopsy report has revealed that one of two men killed in a two-vehicle crash in Longwood Wednesday burned to death.

Marvin Loumar Zipperer, 34, of Orlando, died as a result of fourth-degree burns after the cab of his Gustafson's Farms milk truck burst into flames following a two-vehicle crash at U.S. Highway 17-92 and State Road 434, at about 4:55 a.m., according to Dr. G.V. Garay, Seminole County Medical Examiner.

Garay added that Dennis Casey Stever, 27, of 680 Ft. Rose Drive, Winter Springs, who was the driver of the Pontiac Lemans which was involved in the crash, was killed by a broken neck and brain hemorrhage resulted.

Longwood police said their probe of the fatal crash will continue and that they should complete their investigation within two or three weeks.

Police said their preliminary investigation has shown that the milk truck was traveling south on U.S. 17-92 when it collided with the Pontiac, which was eastbound on 434. Police said there was no evidence of skid marks, adding that both vehicles collided at full speed.

Longwood police Chief Greg Manning said his officers pulled Stever from his burning vehicle, but were unable to revive him. Attempts were also made to rescue Zipperer from the burning truck, but officers could not save him because of the flames and heat, Manning said.

The crash tied up traffic on the highways for about six hours before the truck could be loaded on a flat-bed trailer and towed away. Police said the truck's front axle was completely severed from the cab and was perched atop the hood and windshield of Stever's vehicle.

A Seminole County sheriff's report said John Elijah, a cook at the Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant on State Road 436 and Interstate 4, pursued a man who had held up the restaurant into the parking lot of the Altamonte Mall.

Elijah told deputies that as he walked up to a brown station wagon in the lot, he saw the man crouched behind the car pointing a gun at him. The man pulled the trigger and Elijah heard a click. The gunman warned Elijah to get out of there and the cook ran away.

The man had entered the restaurant at about 11:45 p.m. and after discussing a possible job, pulled a pistol out of his pocket and demanded all the bills in the cash register, the report said. After being given an undisclosed amount of money, he fled.

Health Food Stores Look Out For Poisoned Pollen

MIAMI (UPI)— More than 8,000 pounds of stolen honeybee pollen that may have been mixed with deadly wolfbane could soon appear for sale at area health food stores, Dade County health officials fear.

Some $60,000 worth of tainted pollen, a substance acclaimed by health enthusiasts for its nutritional value, was stolen from a tiny Miami factory last week.

Another 6 pounds of pollen, spiked with wolfbane and used as rat poison at the factory, also was stolen and, because some of the containers were left behind, police said Wednesday they fear it had been mixed in with the pure pollen.

HRS Workers To Lose Jobs

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — More than 700 positions could be sliced from the Florida Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services in order to comply with a mandatory 2.5 percent cutback ordered by Gov. Bob Graham and the cabinet to trim the state budget.

Graham and the Cabinet are scheduled Monday to consider a plan by the department to comply with the 2.5 percent budget reduction, an across the board cut ordered Nov. 16. The cuts are part of a $293-million reduction in spending in the state's 1982-83 budget.

The budget slashes, which follow a similar 2 percent cut ordered in August, were made necessary by lower-than-expected sales tax collections resulting from the current economic slowdown.

HRS officials plan to eliminate 734 positions. Since more than half of the positions already are vacant, about 300 HRS employees would lose their jobs by Dec. 15, HRS spokeswoman Lucy Kalogera said.

More Computerization To Cost Seminole $155,000

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Adhering to the philosophy that you have to spend money to save money, Seminole County commissioners have approved a plan to upgrade the county's data processing capability.

The plan calls for the addition of 10 new jobs, the upgrading of three more and the reclassification of three others in computer services, planning and library services.

The total cost of the project will be around $155,000 for the remainder of fiscal 1982-83. About $77,000 of that will come from delaying the purchase of additional equipment budgeted for this year.

The decision to increase the staffing for data processing is seen by commissioners as a commitment to computerizing county records and information. The county has purchased an IBM System 38 computer, which expands the capabilities for compiling and using information. But because of difficulties in hiring staff on a contract basis, many functions which county officials had hoped to put in the computer bank have been delayed.

And that is delaying the county's ability to cut costs, county Administrator Neiswender said. Department heads have refrained from filling vacant positions because they were assured by commissioners that the computer would save time and allow them to reduce their staffs.

Assistant Administrator Jim Easton said Pasco County has $800,000 in its budget for data processing and employs 24 people. Seminole County budgets less than $200,000 for computer operations and has four full-time workers in that area.

"We can't give you better information to analyze without further computerization," Neiswender said.

He explained it will be easier to make planning decisions by computer analyzing possible changes. "We have never had the tools to analyze the what-ifs."

Commissioner Robert Sturm endorsed the plan. "The board is at a crossroad. One of the best cost-savers of the next 10 years is computerization," he said.

Neiswender said the cost of the plan is high, but the inability to computerize is a lot more expensive.

"There are drainage problems you don't see. There are transportation problems you don't see. They're all piling up," he said.

Easton added that the county's auditors have predicted the development process (land management and building divisions) will "grind to a halt" within the next five to eight months unless a computer system is developed.

The philosophy of the new plan, Computer

Services Director Jack Harward said, is to train the new staff members to work with each of the departments in developing programs for those departments.

Commissioners agreed to discuss the funding of the plan on Dec. 6. The proposal submitted this week by the Office of Management and Budget calls for $35,000 of the total $155,000 price tag being allocated through an increase in building and zoning fees.

Neiswender supported the increase, which would be on a percentage basis rather than a flat fee. The reasoning being that the building and zoning application process is the only opportunity to gather data on construction in the county. Since the developers also use that information, he said they should pay for it.

But several commissioners expressed reservations about that plan and delayed a decision on funding until next month.

Bulgarian Jailed In Plot To Assassinate The Pope

ROME (UPI) — Italian police today held a Bulgarian airline employee on charges of taking part in the 1981 assassination attempt against Pope John Paul II, fueling theories the KGB was behind the attack.

Sergel Ivanov Antonov, 35, who worked for the Bulgarian airline in Rome for four years, was picked up in his Rome office Thursday.

Police said he was arrested on charges of "active complicity" in the shooting of the pope by Turkish terrorist Mehmet Ali Agca on May 13, 1981 in St. Peter's Square in Rome.

Police would not give any details of the charges but a judicial source said Antonov gave Agca "more than moral support," indicating the Bulgarian either helped plan the attack or helped Agca escape.

Egypt Pushes Israel On PLO

DAMASCUS, Syria (UPI) — Yasser Arafat ended an eight-hour meeting with Palestine Liberation Organization leaders early today on U.S. Middle East peace initiatives amid signs of Syrian displeasure.

Egypt's President Hosni Mubarak called on the PLO to unilaterally recognize Israel to open the way for direct talks with the United States.

The long-awaited meeting to discuss President Reagan's Middle East peace plan was greeted coolly by Syria, which for years has been one of the PLO's main supporters.

and Mize granted their motions," prosecutor Alan Robinson said.

Robinson said the state appealed the ruling because, "If we had refuted on a simple drug possession charge, we would be conceding with Mize that the law is unconstitutional and would, therefore, not be able to use the trafficking statute again."

In his order, Mize said he based his decision on "transcripts of the proceedings of the House on April 6, 1979, and May 26, 1980, which clearly reveal the Legislature failed to take the two-thirds vote necessary to permit the bill to be read three times... Further, the title to the act was not read prior to its passage."

"It disturbs me that we are getting so many interpretations from judges throughout the state on this law, two of them in one county just weeks apart," Brantley said.

"When you look at the state Constitution, you have to look at the whole thing and not just one part of it in a vacuum," he continued. "I think he (Mize) stretched it to the extreme letter of the Constitution as he should. I can understand why he ruled as he did. But the House has long since followed the rule that if no one objects to the passage of a bill, which has been read in open session by the clerk until the gavel sounds and the speaker feel everyone is familiar with the particular bill being voted on, it is automatically considered passed by two-thirds majority. All it would take is one person to say 'I object,' let's have a roll-call vote, and there would be one. However, no one objected to this law's passage. And it was the consensus of the Legislature and the House speaker that the bill passed."

"I'd just about stake my life on it that if we went back and polled each and every member of the Legislature at that time... no one would object to its passage he said."

Brantley said the Legislature took action in its Nov. 16 organization session to "adopt new rules and clarify the drug law, giving the judges something to hang their hats on."

"It's very obvious to me, though, that this move by defense lawyers to challenge the drug-trafficking law's constitutionality is nothing more than an organized effort to shoot the law down," Brantley said.

"Another thing that should be considered here and is particularly frightening to me is if the State Supreme Court rules that the Legislature did not, in fact, pass this drug law because of the method used under the House rule, does that mean that thousands of other laws passed in similar fashion will also be thrown out?" he asked. "This is really a major issue. I just can't imagine the volume of law that could be affected by this. It's almost inconceivable. I don't know what could be done about it if it comes to that."

THANKS, GIRLS

A Spirit Of Giving On Thanksgiving

United Press International

Americans upheld tradition on a Thanksgiving Day of parades, family gatherings and rampant overeating but they also created new ones in a spirit of generosity during hard economic times.

The Inland Steel Co. of Chicago usually sets aside about $40,000 each year for the company's Christmas party, but high unemployment that caused the layoff of 5,000 employees created a new practice this year.

"We decided a party wouldn't put food on the table," said spokesman Ron Pyke. Instead, the company spent the money to buy food baskets for laid-off workers, some of whom have been out of work for a year.

In Midland, Pa., the prospect of a bleak Thanksgiving was dispelled for townspeople and laid-off steelworkers who may get a chance to return to work at the closed Crucible specialty steel plant because of a purchase agreement with the Dallas-based LTV Corp.

"I'm sure everything will taste better today because of it," said borough secretary Edward Cilli.

In East Peoria, Ill., the Springfield Road Baptist Church began a new program, sending invitations to more than 250 needy families for a free sit-down Thanksgiving dinner.

"The church is prepared for at least 800 people, but invitations were sent to those we knew were needy," said Diane Johnson, an organizer of the dinner.

An old hand at holding free dinners, Ismet "Mat" Deletoglu held his seventh annual food giveaway at his French Port restaurant in Chicago. About 1,500 people were expected to go by before the food ran out.

Deletoglu, 39, a Turkish immigrant, said he began the holiday feast because he was "a lonely and poor man" when he came to this country.

"Now, I don't forget it," the restaurateur said.

Hundreds of holiday tables were set at the Chicago Salvation Army Freedom Center for the more than 1,000 people expected to visit the center for dinner.

"Many people have missed a number of meals," spokesman Walter McClintock said. "We want to serve them."

Food fests for the needy were reported from New York to San Francisco to Washington, D.C.

But for most Americans, Thanksgiving Day 1982 provided the traditional fare: parades, turkey dinners, an afternoon of football and friendship shared with neighbors and relatives.

In Plymouth, Mass., modern-day Pilgrims sat down at dinner to recreate the first Thanksgiving of 1621.

Thousands of spectators bundled up against brisk winds and 34-degree temperatures in New York to cheer the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade.

The 56th annual spectacle, telecast to an estimated 80 million viewers, was led by 50 clowns carrying brightly colored balloons along the 2-mile route.

The Volunteers of America at New York's Bowery Tabernacle served its 87th Thanksgiving dinner to more than 1,500 people and in Washington, D.C., the House of Imogene, a shelter for battered and abused people, sponsored a dinner for 250 homeless.

In Sacramento, Calif., mercenary Gary Acker, 28, sat down to his first traditional Thanksgiving dinner in 6½ years. Released last week from a prison in Angola, he said turkey was much better than the rhinoceros meat he was served on special occasions while a prisoner.

But in Nowata, Okla., there were some pretty unhappy cooks. The Public Service Co. cut electric power to about 500 homes when a utility pole was knocked down about 1 p.m. Thursday — right in the middle of turkey-roasting time for many households.

Trailer Condemnation Sparks Investigation

A Forest City man has asked Seminole County officials to investigate the actions of building officials who removed condemnation signs placed on a residence by a county inspector.

William Ashworth, 1012 W. Lake Brantley Road, said today he has been assured by County Attorney Nikki Clayton that a probe into the actions by building official D.W. Flippen and his assistant Douglas Kerr will begin Monday.

Ashworth said he and several other neighborhood residents plan to discuss the incident at the Dec. 7 county commissioners' meeting. Ashworth said at 10 a.m. on Nov. 15, building inspector Tony Fakes placed three condemnation signs on a converted mobile home, stating that the property was unfit for habitation. The trailer was next door to Ashworth's home.

At 4:30 p.m. the same day, Flippen and Kerr visited the property and removed the signs, Ashworth said.

Kerr said he and Flippen removed the signs because Fakes did not get their permission to inspect the property, adding that most inspectors check with their supervisors before going out to look at the property.

Ashworth said the trailer, located adjacent to his property since 1956 is unsafe for habitation because it has only one entrance and has exposed wires leading from the building.

A family moved into the trailer shortly after the signs were taken down, Ashworth said.

Ashworth wrote a letter outlining the complaint against Flippen and Kerr and gave copies to the two building officials, Ms. Clayton, Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff and the State Attorney's office.

Afterwards Ashworth said Fakes visited his home to ask him to withdraw the complaint. Ashworth said Fakes told him he would be fired if Ashworth didn't drop the complaint.

Ashworth refused and today said he will file a lawsuit if Fakes' inspection is not allowed to stand.

Kerr has offered to inspect the interior of the trailer on Tuesday, but Ashworth said he wants to hire an independent expert to accompany Kerr.

"I insist Kerr not be allowed to inspect alone," Ashworth said. — MICHAEL BEHA

Courts Are Cluttered With Suits, Suits, And More Suits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Chicago Bears' fan filed suit against the perennial loser, accusing the club of falsely billing itself as a professional football team.

A 9-year-old Indiana girl brought suit against the makers of Crackerjacks because her box of candy didn't contain the promised toy.

And Illinois Supreme Court Justice Thomas Kluczynski and his wife Melanie sued Delta Airlines for being bumped from an overbooked flight.

What many in the legal system see as frivolous lawsuits are on the rise, clogging overloaded courts.

"Everything has turned into a lawsuit," said Joy Chapper of the American Bar Association's commission to study court costs and delays.

"People have unrealistic expectations of what a court can do," she said. "There's no legal remedy for every wrong."

Ironically, however, Ms. Chapper said, the increasing number of offbeat suits also show "the faith people have in the court system."

The suit by the Chicago Bear fan hasn't yet come to court. The one against Crackerjacks was dropped after the company wrote a letter of apology to the disappointed youngster, along with a toy.

The suit by the Kluczynskis went to court and the jury awarded the bumped couple $208,000.

This new wave of lawsuits have no age minimums.

In Seattle, a 2-year-old boy was sued for running his tricycle into a neighbor's sports car. The owner filed a $200 suit in Small Claims Court for what was described as a "pimple" on the Porsche door.

The car owner was last reported thinking of taking the case to federal court, but may have been dissuaded by the judge's remark, "this should have never been filed in the first place."

Some suits have a touch of the mystic. A San Francisco police officer said he was the victim of King Tut's curse because he suffered a mild stroke while guarding the Egyptian monarch's gold mask during an exhibit.

Mexico's Dire Straits

Mexico's lame duck president, Jose Lopez Portillo, has bitten some hard economic bullets this year. Two currency devaluations, a sharp cut in government subsidies for consumer staples, and an admission that Mexico could not meet scheduled payments on its huge foreign debts added up to a searing indictment of the Mexican government's past economic policies.

In September, however, Lopez Portillo began acting like a man more interested in finding scapegoats than in accepting responsibility for his own government's waste, extravagance, and folly. All Mexican banks were nationalized and an economy heavily dependent on foreign trade was shackled with largely counterproductive currency controls.

In an address before the U.N. General Assembly on Oct. 2, the Mexican president blamed his country's sinking economy on the "greed" of international bankers and the developed industrial nations. And he hinted that the Mexican government might repudiate its entire $60 billion foreign debt if the foreign bankers did not cooperate in rescheduling debt payments.

This was precisely the sort of reckless rhetoric least likely to restore international confidence in Mexico's economy. What investor or banker would want to send good money after bad into a country whose president was threatening debt repudiation?

Worse yet, Lopez Portillo seemed to be staking out a political and economic position that would preclude a bail-out loan from the International Monetary Fund. Without an IMF rescue, the Mexican government appeared to be headed for bankruptcy.

Viewed against this alarming backdrop, the recent announcement that Mexico and the IMF had reached tentative agreement on terms for a loan package of up to $4.65 billion should be prompting sighs of relief.

The loans, which would constitute the second-largest bailout in IMF history, would presumably enable Mexico to avoid defaulting on its foreign debts. Avoiding that calamity would also save the international banking system, and many U.S. banks as well, from a major crisis.

Mexico will reportedly pay only 6.6 percent interest on the first $1.3 billion installment of the IMF loans. But the political and budgetary costs imposed on Mexico as a condition of the bail-out are enormous.

The Mexican government has committed itself to cut its immense budget deficit from an amount equal to 16.5 percent of Mexico's gross national product this year to 8.5 percent next year, 5.5 percent in 1984, and no more than 3.5 percent in 1985. By comparison, this year's U.S. budget deficit of $110 billion represents only 3 percent of GNP.

This austerity will require further steep cuts in government subsidies for basic foodstuffs and other consumer staples. It will preclude the kinds of wage hikes workers in Mexico's bloated public sector would need to keep pace with their country's current hyper-inflation.

All this, combined with Mexico's sagging growth rate and burgeoning labor force, is bound to trigger some degree of social unrest. Mexico's political stability will be tested as never before since the revolution of 1911.

But it is a measure of Mexico's dire financial straits that these risks cannot be avoided if the country is to be pulled back from the brink of economic collapse. By agreeing to the IMF's bitter medicine, Lopez Portillo has at least restored a modicum of confidence in Mexico's prospects for ultimate recovery.

That should ease slightly the staggering burden that President-elect Miguel de la Madrid will inherit when he takes office Dec. 1. It is a gross understatement to say that de la Madrid will need all the help he can get.

Rick Perez of Sanford has been chosen one of the top 10 finalists in the Six Flags Hall of Fame 20th Century-Fox Screen Test.

Copies of Perez's screen test and nine other finalists, have been forwarded to 20th Century-Fox in Los Angeles, Ca., for final judging of the best screen test. Top executives and producers at the studio will announce the winner Dec. 8 in Orlando.

In agreement with Fox officials at the opening this summer (June 25, 1982) of the screen test theatre at Orlando's Stars Hall of Fame, twice yearly one winner receives an all-expenses paid trip to Hollywood, California to participate in an actual 20th Century-Fox television show or movie production.

Rick Perez is one of more than 8,000 attraction guests who have taken the screen test at Stars Hall of Fame in the last six months. Participants in the screen test at Stars Hall of Fame take center stage on the sets of Fox's M-A-S-H, "9 to 5" and "Author! Author!" They are rehearsed by the show's director before a live audience, with all the action recorded on video tape by the theatre cameramen.

This marks the first time a winner will be chosen since the screen test was introduced at Stars.

Another finalist is Dan Dillon, of Orlando.

Congratulations, Rick. I'll be rooting for you in spite of the fact that I lost out on my big chance. After inviting me to take the Dolly Parton role in the "9 to 5" movie skit when 20th Century Fox premiered the new screen test attraction, I blew my big chance for stardom when they canceled the test.

Oh, well, Rick, to show there's no hard feelings, as we say in show biz, "break a leg."

"The Campbells are Coming" this weekend and the Stuarts, McTavishes, and McDonalds, too. In fact good Scots from all the clans will be shaking the mothballs out of their tartans and kilts to celebrate St. Andrew's Feast Day in honor of Scotland's patron saint. Nov. 30 is the date of St. Andrew's martyrdom in 60 A.D. St. Andrew's Day events here have grown into a week of activities, many of which are open to the public.

Holy Cross Episcopal Church in Sanford will hold its annual Kirkin' o' the Tartans this Sunday at the 10 a.m. service, followed by a luncheon and program. At 11 a.m. Sunday, a similar service will be held at the Knowles Memorial Chapel at Rollins College in Winter Park. Members of various clans bring or wear the clan their tartan for the blessing of the clan.

The St. Andrew's Society of Winter Park will present a St. Andrew's Day Parade and Tattoo Saturday. Pipe bands, brass bands, the Navy Flag Team Highland Dancers and Scottish clans will march down Park Avenue, Winter Park at 10 a.m. The elite Old Guard Fife and Drum Corps is scheduled to lead the parade wearing the uniform of the Continental Army. Following the parade there will be entertainment in Central Park from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. The Tattoo featuring massed bands, dancers, the Old Guard, and military drill teams will take place at 5 p.m. at Showalter Field. A dinner dance will be held at 8 p.m. at Maitland Civic Center.

The Soviet Status

NEW YORK (NEA) — Casting about for something to say about the late Leonid Brezhnev that would be both diplomatic and true, President Reagan hit exactly the right note in his message of condolences to the first vice president of the Soviet Union: Mr. Brezhnev, Reagan said, "was one of the world's most important figures for nearly two decades."

That he was. And as a result of his efforts the Soviet economy is in worse shape than ever, scores of millions of people in half a dozen countries have lost their freedom, and nuclear war is appreciably closer than before. Few men have ever more richly deserved to die.

And yet, so prolific of evil is the system over which Brezhnev presided that his successors may prove even worse. Andropov, his immediate replacement as Communist Party boss, has served as, roughly, the Soviet equivalent of J. Edgar Hoover, with certain Russian refinements it is better not to go into too closely. His colleagues (and rivals) are cut from the same coarse cloth. Whichever of them finally consolidates a grip on power, the world can expect the Soviet Union to arm itself more heavily still, and to extend its domination wherever opportunity affords.

There is something almost awesome about the way in which the enormous power wielded by the rulers of the Soviet Union is transferred from one autocrat to another. Here is a technologically advanced society of 267 million people, the great majority of them Caucasians well within the intellectual traditions of the Western world. Yet the people of this enormous country will have no more to do with choosing its next leader than you or I. There will be a series of muffled and perhaps deadly disputes among the 12 voting members of the Politburo, and then the new despot will be unveiled, and Soviet society will close ranks behind him. Within a matter of days, little girls will be presenting him with bouquets of flowers, huge photographs of him will dominate the public squares of every Soviet city, and the state television network will be singing his praises.

Of course, there is always the possibility of a hitch. One or more of the handful of men in Moscow who really count may oppose the decision of the rest. In that case, matters will be settled by finding out who controls the guns, out of which (as Chairman Mao observed) political power in a Communist society grows. But the tiny clique that has ruled the Soviet Union for two-thirds of a century almost surely knows that its collective survival depends on not washing in public any more of its dirty linen that absolutely necessary. These men must hang together, to borrow Benjamin Franklin's wisecrack, or they will all hang separately.

Conversely, however, it is precisely to such disputes among the top Soviet leaders that the rest of the world (including the people of the U.S.S.R.) must look for hope that this malignant regime can ultimately be toppled. A war would simply be too costly, even if it could technically be "won." But, even without war, nothing human lasts forever. Soviet society is simply too incongruent with the realities of human nature and the laws of economics to survive indefinitely. Already it is dependent for rain on the capitalist societies it professes to scorn.

Security Effort Risked Top Secrets

WASHINGTON — The recent conviction of Geoffrey Prime, a British communications specialist who passed secret information to the Kremlin, has made our own intelligence agencies understandably nervous. But the case of Ed Weimer, a 15-year employee of the super-secret National Security Agency, suggests that the government may be expending its efforts in the wrong direction.

While on a secret mission to Vietnam in 1974, Weimer met and fell in love with a Vietnamese woman. His NSA bosses, fearful that Weimer's fiancée might be a spy, immediately ordered him home.

So far, so good. It's understandable that a hush-hush agency like the NSA would worry about the romantic liaison of one of its employees.

But the NSA went beyond the call of duty to protect Weimer from himself. The agency thwarted every effort he made to have his fiancée evacuated from Vietnam and join him in the United States, where she would be harmless even if she were indeed a communist agent — which Weimer stoutly denies.

Eventually, Weimer's fiancée managed to escape from Vietnam to France. When she was safely out of her homeland, Weimer filed suit against the NSA for damage to his career. He had been forced out of the intelligence agency because of his persistence in trying to rescue the woman he loved.

While gathering evidence for his lawsuit, Weimer found that U.S. intelligence agencies had helped smuggle friends of CIA and other NSA agents out of Vietnam. He also uncovered serious security violations by NSA officials.

When he tried to prosecute his case against the NSA, Weimer concluded that agency officials were far more interested in covering up their actions than in rectifying his shabby treatment — or protecting security.

One trick the agency resorted to was stamping "Top Secret" on any documents that would prove embarrassing to the NSA. Its attorneys also succeeded in having the entire case put under court seal, thereby preventing any public scrutiny of Weimer's charges.

What really appalled Weimer, though, was that the NSA gave him his security file, which contained confidential information about his career. With millions of dollars' worth of super-sophisticated intelligence devices at their disposal, NSA officials used a simple crayon to cross through some of the material.

My associate Donald Goldberg has seen the file. Clearly visible were the names of more than a dozen NSA agents who have served in sensitive positions abroad and a description of an extremely sensitive intelligence-gathering technique used by the agency.

Such disclosure would be a serious breach of national security.

Weimer also charges he was routinely shown highly classified NSA documents for which he had not been given a security clearance. In other words, the intelligence agency gave secret information to an employee it apparently feared had been compromised by his personal attachment to a foreigner the agency thought might be a spy.

In a further irony, Weimer's legal case was dismissed by a federal judge because he didn't file the suit within the statute of limitations. The reason he didn't file, of course, was that he was afraid the communist government of Vietnam would retaliate against the fiancée of an American spy. By being a good soldier and by trying to protect his fiancée, Weimer has wound up without a legal leg to stand on.

Crime Victimizes All Of Us

Here come the crime statistics again.

And, as usual, they are grim. Last year, almost 25 million American households were criminally victimized—property stolen, members assaulted.

Simple assault (defined as an attack without a weapon that results in a minor injury) was by far the most common reported crime, affecting about half the households. But "high-concern crime"—burglary, robbery, aggravated assault (attack with a weapon or assault that results in serious injury), rape—also hit an alarming percentage.

It's all in a report from the Justice Department's Bureau of Justice Statistics, "Households Touched by Crime—1981," the latest in a crime-measurement series based on interviews with thousands of individual Americans.

And it's mostly bad news. Statistically, the reporters observe, U.S. families are more likely to have a member attacked in a serious violent crime than to experience an auto accident or a residential fire. They are more likely to be robbed than to have a member stricken by cancer or heart disease.

Crime, the findings also show, is discriminatory. "high-concern" crimes are more common among black than white households and in urban rather than suburban or rural environments. But economically, there is a high degree of equality—crime hits all households of similar income levels at about the same percentage.

Sobering, even frightening. But there's more to the crime story.

And that is, as the bureau's statisticians note, that the 25 million criminally affected households in 1981 represent 30 percent of the U.S. total, about the same as 1980 and a slight decline from previous years. In 1975, crime touched 32 percent of all households.

In short, crime is indeed a serious national problem. The incidence is high in all categories, disturbingly higher than in Western Europe and Japan.

But the crime rate is not zooming dizzily upward year by year, as another study of the subject, the highly publicized and equally questionable Uniform Crime Index issued annually by the FBI, would suggest. Crime in the United States in reality is relatively static, a continuing rather than a growing problem.

"Touched by Crime" is based on findings of the National Crime Survey which, since 1973, has conducted twice-yearly interviews in 60,000 households numbering some 132,000 persons.

A previous report drawn from the same surveys, "Criminal Victimization in the U.S., 1979-80 Changes, 1973-80 Trends," came to a similar conclusion—that the crime rate is constant, not climbing. Increases in simple assaults (11.1 percent) and household larceny (18.3 percent) during the surveyed period were balanced by declines in aggravated assault (8.5 percent) and auto theft (12.3 percent).

Crime more than touches Americans. It victimizes us with a heavy hand.

The reality of crime in America is both less dramatic and more demanding.

Rogers Contract Tops

Singers Have Millionaire Club

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Kenny Rogers, who holds perhaps the most lucrative recording contract ever signed in the music business, was one of five artists who sold more than 5 million records last year.

Rogers, first a rock artist and now a pop-country singer, tops the list of the music industry's elite, followed by REO Speedwagon, ACDC, Styx, Neil Diamond and Journey.

It's easy to understand why the silver-bearded singer recently signed a contract worth a reported $20 million to $30 million. When albums are listing at $8.99, selling 5 million albums translates to $45 million in cash to be split among the singer, writer, publisher, record company and other interests.

According to the Recording Industry Association of America, which keeps track of record sales, 34 artists sold more than 2 million albums or tapes in 1981, 55 sold between 1 million to 2 million and 103 sold between 500,000 and 1 million records. Some members of music's millionaires club were new, others were holdovers from the 1960s.

Only a few of the top 34 — Rogers, Willie Nelson, the Oak Ridge Boys and the Statler Brothers — are country-flavored artists. Country music accounts for only 13 percent of 1981's total record sales. Hard and soft rock take 50 percent of the pie, disco and R&B another 15 percent, jazz has 5 percent and adult and classical each account for 3 percent.

The Beatles, although they broke up a decade ago, managed to sell 4 million records. So did their arch rival, Mick Jagger's Rolling Stones, who have been together for two decades. Their latest album, "Tattoo You," sold more than 2 million copies in four months.

Barbra Streisand and Pat Benatar were the women among that set, rounded out by the rock group Foreigner.

A couple of songs helped two country acts break into the big time as far as record sales are concerned. Selling 3 million records was nothing new to Nelson, buoyed by the song "On the Road Again." The song "Elvira" crossed over into the pop market and gave the Oak Ridge Boys the kind of popularity that only record sales will buy.

Sign Up (Card) For Marines

Y106 of Altamonte Springs, Emery Worldwide and the Fun Machine Amusement Parlors of Central Florida are going to send a little bit of home to our Marines in Beirut, Lebanon.

Y106 is asking listeners to stop by any of the Central Florida Fun Machine locations and sign a giant Christmas card. The card will accompany an arcade style Pac-Man machine that'll be a Christmas present from the people of Central Florida.

Emery Worldwide will ship it to Beirut for Christmas. The machine will be set for free plays, so we won't have to send the Marines quarters.

The kick-off was Monday with Casselberry city officials signing the giant card at the Seminole Plaza Casselberry location of the Fun Machine.

Sometime soon on a date to be determined there will be a special signing ceremony at the Orlando City Commission Chambers, with the city officials signing the giant Christmas card.

On Friday night, Dec. 17, at 9:30 p.m., there will be a special send-off ceremony at Orlando International Airport with the officials of all parties involved and a shiny Emery Worldwide Aircraft in the background. At 10:15 that evening, both giant Christmas cards and the Pac-Man machine will be loaded on to the aircraft and on to Beirut!

Minister Will Talk At Christian Crusade

Dr. Russell F. Blowers, senior minister of the 91st St. Christian Church in Indianapolis, Ind. for the past 30 years, will address the Ministers' Prayer Breakfast for the Central Florida Billy Graham Crusade, Thursday, December 2, at 8 a.m. at the College Park Baptist Church, 1914 Edgewater Drive, Orlando.

"As Crusade Director in Indianapolis," said Elwyn E. Cutler, who holds a similar position for the upcoming Crusade in Orlando's Tangerine Bowl, April 10-17, 1983, "I worked with Dr. Blowers very closely and commend him to you as one of the truly great Christian ministers of our time."

"I have met no other person whose joy and enthusiasm for Christ is more contagious," Cutler added, "and I know of no one more uniquely fitted to

'fire-up' the ministers and leaders of the Central Florida area for the great Crusade which will soon be upon us."

Dr. Blowers served as prayer chairman of the first Graham Crusade in Indianapolis more than 20 years ago, and as general chairman of the 1980 Graham Crusade in the Indiana City. He is a graduate of Ohio University and Christian Theological Seminary. During his three decades of ministry at the Indianapolis Church, he has seen the membership increase from 85 to more than 2,000.

The Reverend Clarence Yates, pastor of the Pine Castle United Methodist Church serves as chairman of the Crusade Ministers' Committee which is sponsoring the Prayer Breakfast. More than 300 Central Florida clergy are expected to attend.

Jesus '83 Scheduled

Harry Thomas, founder of Come Alive! Ministries, has announced that the Jesus '83 will be held March 24-26 at the Central Florida Fairgrounds in Orlando. This will be the 8th annual Jesus, festival, a weekend of camping and Christian fellowship, to be held in Orlando. Those over 15-years-old who would like to serve on the staff may write to Jesus '83 Staff, Box 7286A, Orlando FL, 32854 for an application.

Among the 17 musical groups scheduled to perform will be The Imperials, Silverwind, and Jessy Dixon. Josh McDowell, Larry Tomczack, Rosey Grier and Anthony Campolo will be among the speakers.

Week Of Prayer Set

First Baptist Church, Sanford, will observe the week of prayer for Foreign Missions and the Lottie Moon Christmas Offering for Foreign Missions, Sunday through Dec. 5. The church's goal is $4,000.

The Woman's Missionary Union of First Baptist Church will participate in the following week of prayer activities: Monday will be the week of prayer mission emphasis and covered-dish luncheon at the home of Mrs. Mae Grier. On Thursday the women will attend the "Foreign Mission Study Book Review" at Central Baptist Church followed on Thursday with session at the home of Mrs. Lillie Britt.

Raiders Look For 2nd Tourney Title Tonight Against Florida Junior

The Raiders of Seminole Community College will try to get back on the winning track tonight in the Brevard CC Holiday Tournament in Cocoa. SCC's first foe will be Florida Junior College tonight at 7. Other teams in the two-day tourney include Valencia CC and host Brevard CC.

SCC, 2-1, is coming off its first loss of the season which was suffered at Palm Beach on Tuesday night. Although they shot under 50 percent in the first half, the Raiders took a 12-point halftime lead as Palm Beach shot just 36 percent and committed 19 turnovers. Delvin Everett's 14 points, eight for eight from the free throw line, ignited SCC in the opening half.

Before the second half started, SCC took a 44-30 lead on two free throws by Hicky Sutton after Palm Beach's coach, Bill Hodges, was slapped with a technical at the end of the first half.

That seemed to be the turning point for the Pacers of Palm Beach. As soon as the second half started Palm Beach used a hard-pressing defense all over the floor and got its fast-break going well.

It didn't take long for Palm Beach to get back in the game and then pull away. Behind Danny Sheldon's 20 second-half points, most on the end of fast-breaks, Palm Beach outscored the Raiders, 60-29 in the second half for a 90-71 victory.

J.C. Basketball

Palm Beach's tough defensive play and devastating fast-break weren't the only things that led to SCC's loss of a 14 point lead. The Raiders put a few nails in its own coffin with 24 second-half turnovers.

Assistant coach Terry Woods and head coach Bill Payne discussed after the game that slowing the ball down when they had the big lead could have kept Palm Beach from coming back. It would have taken some intensity out of the Pacers' defense and slowed down the fast-break offense. It's an alternative for the Raiders to look at if the same situation arises again.

Everett wound up the night with 20 points to lead SCC. Sheldon led all scorers with 30 points. Everett had been averaging 15.5 points per game going into Tuesday night's contest.

Rudy Kuiper, the Raiders 6-10 center, was averaging 17.5 points per game after the first two games. He scored 12 against Palm Beach. Luis Phelps, 6-6 forward, had a two-game average of 13.5 points per game, he scored only six Tuesday night. And point guard Keith Whitney, who came in with a 12.5 average, did not score.

The Raiders hope to put two halves of solid basketball together tonight and will try to cut down on mistakes against Florida Junior College.

Cowboys Chew Up Browns

As usual, Thanksgiving Day meant a feast for the Dallas Cowboys.

Dallas ran its Thanksgiving record to 11-3-1 Thursday with a 31-14 rout of the Cleveland Browns in Irvin, Texas. The victory left Dallas at 3-1 with five games remaining in the strike-shortened season.

"I'm proud of the way we could come back (after playing last Sunday) and be as sharp as we were against a good football team," said Dallas' Coach Tom Landry. "It happened to be our day."

In the other NFL Thanksgiving game, Lawrence Taylor returned an interception 97 yards for a touchdown to lead the New York Giants to a 13-6 triumph over the Detroit Lions. It was the Giants' first win this season after three losses.

The Cowboys had their usual standouts. Danny White threw two touchdown passes, Tony Dorsett ran for two more and the defense eventually drove Cleveland quarterback Brian Sipe to the sidelines.

Dallas, which rolled up 496 yards total offense, put the game away by scoring on five straight possessions, the first two of those scores set up by interceptions from safety Michael Downs and middle linebacker Bob Breunig.

"We played well on offense, defense and in the special teams," Landry said.

Cleveland, 2-2, came into the game having given up fewer points — 38 — than any other NFL team. But White threw for more than 200 yards, Dorsett rushed for more than 100 and the Cowboys gained 300 yards in the second and third quarters.

Sipe, meanwhile, could complete just 11 passes in 23 attempts for 85 yards. He was sacked three times for 28 yards in losses, intercepted three times and finally replaced in the final quarter by Paul McDonald. Trailing 31-0, Cleveland finally scored on McDonald's 18-yard TD pass to Dino Hall in the fourth quarter.

In Pontiac, Mich., the Giants struggled all day on offense but got the boost they needed from Taylor, who stepped in front of Gary Danielson's pass to running back Horace King and took it into the end zone midway through the fourth quarter.

"When Detroit lined up for the play, I recognized what they were doing," said Taylor, who did not start because of a knee injury. "Before the strike, Green Bay had run the identical play against me and beat me for a touchdown. This time I knew I had to force the ball as far outside as I could so that I could move in for the interception."

"When I caught the ball I didn't look at anything but the sideline stripes. I've never run that far for a touchdown in my life."

Even with the injury, Taylor resembled the linebacker that savaged NFL offenses last year as a rookie.

"This game reminded me of the Giants of last year," New York Coach Ray Perkins said. "Our defense is our key...."

Taylor's TD snapped a 6-6 tie, forged when Detroit's Eddie Murray and New York's Joe Danelo each kicked two field goals.

All-American Hosts Bowls

The All-American Football Conference will host a series of bowl games this weekend at Lake Brantley High School. There will be four games (9 and 11 a.m., 1 and 3 p.m.) on both Friday and Saturday in divisions from Junior Pee Wees to Jr. Bantams.

The Rebel Jr. Pee Wees host Orange Park Friday at 11 a.m. and the Pee Wees follow at 1 p.m. against Mount Holly, North Carolina. The feature game will be played at 3 p.m. with the Midget Rebels going against the Maryland State Midget Champions. The Maryland Vikings boast an 11-0 record and have two outstanding running backs in James Dutton and Reno Brooks.

The Midget Rebels will be out to avenge its first loss of the season at the hands of the powerful Venice Vikings, a 21-6 setback suffered at Venice.

The Rebels other teams also lost to Venice, who has built a Pop Warner football powerhouse over the past few years. The Jr. Midgets dropped a 28-6 decision, the Pee Wees lost 18-0 and the Jr. Pee Wees were handed a 38-7 setback.

This weekend's games will be the final home performance of the Rebels. The Midget and Jr. Midget Rebels are preparing for an excursion to Jacksonville to compete in the Pop Warner State Championships.

Lyman, Howell-Oviedo Games Highlight Football Weekend

By SAM COOK

Herald Sports Editor

VERO BEACH — There is nothing complex about Vero Beach's football philosophy. All coach Billy Livings wants to do is ram the ball down the opposition's throat with running backs Tony Barber and Reggie Jones.

He'll try to do that tonight at 8 when the Lyman Greyhounds take on the Indians for the Region 4A-5 championship. Vero Beach is the defending 4A champion and the Indians want very much to defend their title.

They have a habit of making Seminole County teams their first victim. Two years ago, Vero Beach tripped coach Sam Weir's Lake Howell Silver Hawks for the title. Just a year ago, the Indians roughed up Seminole before adding four more wins for the championship.

"We don't have one standout player," said Livings Tuesday morning. "What we have is a bunch of guys who like to play football and do it well as a team."

While Livings tries to play down any star role, 1,000-yard rushers don't come around that often. Barber, a shifty tailback, zipped his way for 1,076 yards and 11 touchdowns as the Indians went 6-4 during the regular season.

Jones, his partner in the backfield, rolled for 506 yards and nine touchdowns. Barber averaged almost eight yards a carry while Barber picked up a little over five on each try.

Vero Beach doesn't put the ball in the air too often, but senior quarterback Todd Fennell threw for six touchdowns and 756 yards.

Although Vero Beach has an edge in rushing (over 1,500 yards by two of its backs to 947 by Vince Presley and Theo Jones), Lyman has an edge in the passing department.

Quarterback Jerry Axley put some good numbers on the board during Lyman's 7-3 season. Axley hit 78 of 171 attempts for 1,146 yards and nine TDs. The senior slinger connected on 46 percent of his throws.

Wide receiver Todd Marriott was Axley's favorite target. The sure-handed senior grabbed 24 passes for an 18-yard-per-gain average. Robert "Tootie" Quisenberry caught 11 passes for almost 16 yards a catch. Willis Perry nabbed 18 before breaking his collarbone against Seminole on Nov. 5.

In other weekend football action, Lake Howell and Oviedo renew a rivalry which has been dormant for two years when they get together for Saturday's Rotary Bowl at Lyman High School. Kickoff is 8 p.m.

The Lions are one of the hottest teams in the area, running off six straight victories and finishing the season with a 7-3 mark.

"They're a good football team, there's no doubt about that," said Lake Howell coach Mike Bisceglia. "We've got to stop those two running backs (Barry Williams and J.W. Yarborough) to beat them."

Yarborough, like Williams, a junior, rushed for 844 yards in 139 attempts for a 6.1 average. Williams rambled for 820 yards in 155 tries. Williams ran for eight touchdowns while Yarborough collected six.

Oviedo's passing is not as strong as its running," continued Bisceglia. "But they are very aggressive."

The most aggressive is linebacker Tommy Johnson who led the Lions with 62 tackles and 28 assists. "He's a blue-chipper," said Bisceglia. "And he can really get after you."

Oviedo coach Jack Blanton is the first to agree about his 6-2½, 195-pounder, but he also points to the steady improvement of Kevin Yentz as one of the prime reasons for the Lions' winning streak.

"The last six games, Yentz has been awesome," said Blanton about his tenacious junior. "He's gotten a lot stronger and bigger in a month and a half."

Lake Howell, meanwhile, finished 6-4 in Bisceglia's second year. The Silver Hawks also have some fine juniors and figure to make a run at the conference and district titles next year.

Saturday, however, Bisceglia hopes his juniors play like seniors, especially quarterback Troy Quackenbush.

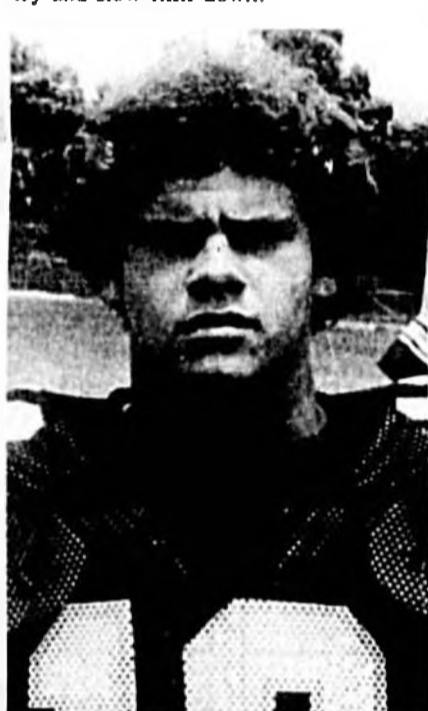

"We're going to throw the ball more," said Bisceglia. "I feel our passing game is really coming along. We hit 15 of 25 passes against Boone (34-30 win) for 220 yards."

Quackenbush sometimes shares time with fellow junior Darin Slack at the quarterback slot. Slack hit 23 of 58 passes this year for 300 yards. "Quack" was 47 for 83 for 615 yards.

Also in the Hawk backfield is another talented junior, fullback Jay Robey. The 6-0, 185-pounder became the first Silver Hawk in the school's history to go over 1,000 yards when he churned out 197 against Boone. He finished with 1,003 yards.

Blanton saw the Boone game film and came away impressed. "Goodness gracious, Robey just ran over those boys," he exclaimed. "We'll just have to let Tommy (Johnson) go after him and try and slow him down."

Cornerman Has His Work Cut Out For Him

HOUSTON (UPI) — Eddie Allano has his job cut out for him tonight.

Allano, who has spent 40 years in boxing, will be in Randy Cobb's corner when the 26-year-old Abilene, Texas native challenges World Boxing Council champion Larry Holmes in a nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) bout from the Astrodome.

Cobb, ranked fifth by the WBC, is not given much chance of handing Holmes his first loss in 41 fights. His brawling style of taking two punches to deliver one and his tendency to bleed will probably make Allano, one of boxing's top cut men, the busiest man in Houston outside of the two fighters.

Allano said too much is being made of Cobb's proneness to cuts, but conceded his style can make a cut man want to hang up his bottle of adrenalin.

"There is too much emphasis on him being cut-prone," said the 63-year-old Allano.

"(Trainer George) Benton has adjusted Randy's style to prevent that," Allano added. "He's not going straight to Holmes. He'll have to keep Holmes off-balance. It's going to be a brawl, a war, but I'll be there to do my job."

And so will Holmes. The 33-year-old champion has defended his title 12 times, with only Trevor Berbick taking him the distance, in April, 1981. Holmes has not fought since stopping Gerry Cooney in their multimillion-dollar showdown in June, a bout in which he dominated the 6-foot-6 slugger.

Cobb will have a 16½-pound weight advantage over Holmes. The challenger Thursday weighed in at 234½, compared to Holmes' 217½.

Greyhounds take on Vero Beach tonight at 8 in Vero Beach for the Region 4A-5 championship.

IN BRIEF

Holloway Receives Acclaim After 9 Years Of Scrambling

TORONTO (UPI) — It took nine years, but Con-dredge Holloway finally scrambled right to the top. The agile quarterback, whose small stature and propensity for injury have plagued him since his senior days at Tennessee, won the Schenley award Thursday night as the outstanding player in the Canadian Football League.

He cried when his name was called in a nationally televised ceremony before a crowd of about 5,000 at one of Toronto's posh hotels. Though his sprint tactics have brought him several good seasons during his eight years in the CFL, he has never been in the awards circle and last year his career itself was in doubt. "This is fantastic, to have had a chance to address the Canadian people, to have my father and my mother and my sister here with me," he said.

The last time he was up for any sport of post-season glitter was nine years ago when he placed fifth in the voting for the Heisman Trophy after a season in which he battled a knee injury.

On Sunday he leads the Argos into the Grey Cup against the Edmonton Eskimos.

"This is the finest thing that has happened in my career — that is up until tonight. A victory in the Grey Cup Sunday will top this."

Holloway, a 28-year-old native of Huntsville, Ala., beat Edmonton's wide-receiver Tom Scott in the voting by the Football Reporters of Canada, to become the first Argonaut to win the Schenley since Bill Symons in 1958.

Ashe Goes With McEnroe

GRENOBLE, France (UPI) — The United States' chances of beating France in the Davis Cup tennis finals will begin and end with John McEnroe.

U.S. captain Arthur Ashe has picked McEnroe to play the opening match against Yannick Noah today, and he also will conclude the five-match series with a singles match against Henri Leconte Sunday.

McEnroe is playing in his fourth Davis Cup final and has won 21 consecutive matches. The United States is the defending champion and is favored to beat France.

Ashe called Thursday's draw "the best possible" for both the expected 13,000 fans and his U.S. squad.

"I wanted John to play first and last," Ashe said.

"That's what he's doing (so) it's the best possible draw for us."

A victory for McEnroe would open the way for an American whitewash of France, making its first Davis Cup appearance in 49 years. Noah returned to his hotel immediately after the draw to prepare for the match, scheduled to start at 8:30 a.m. EST today.

The second singles match pits American Gene Mayer against Leconte. Peter Fleming will partner with McEnroe in Saturday's doubles against Noah and Leconte, and the reverse singles wrap up the competition Sunday, with McEnroe facing Leconte in the final match.

Kings Knock Off Rockets

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Rockets had the opportunities and still lost although the opposing coach thought they should have won.

"If the Rockets had shot the ball well, they could have had us by as many as 20 points," Kansas City Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons said after the Kings dined the Rockets, 88-79, in the only Thursday night NBA game. "I sympathize with their coaching staff." Houston shot only 35 percent from the field, scoring a total of 31 points in second and third periods.

"We just had too many turnovers and no baskets in the middle of the game," said Houston Coach Del Harris, whose team fell to 1-12. "Nobody could hit tonight. We got good shots. It's frustrating because this is a game we could have won."

The Kings' Eddie Johnson scored 19 points and added 8 rebounds to make sure Houston could not overcome its shooting deficiencies.

"Eddie Johnson was off in the first half," said Fitzsimmons. "He was only 1-for-5 from the field and didn't get a rebound. But he sure kept coming in the second half."

"The coach has been on me to keep playing the entire game and to stay with it no matter what the score is," said Johnson. "We've added confidence in ourselves for such a young team and we think we can overtake San Antonio over the whole season."

The Kings took the lead late in the second period on an 18-5 scoring spurt and raised their record to 7-3. The surprising Kings are in first place in the NBA's Midwest Division.

Nebraska Battles Oklahoma

United Press International
When Nebraska and Oklahoma square off in Lincoln, Neb. today, it literally will be a run to the Orange Bowl. For No. 3 Nebraska and No. 9 Oklahoma — the top two rushing teams in the nation — it will be the ninth straight year and 18th time in the last 21 seasons that their meeting will decide the Big Eight championship and the host team berth in the Jan. 1 Orange Bowl.

Both Big Eight powers are riding seven-game winning streaks and the team that makes it eight straight will face No. 6 Louisiana State, 8-1-1, on New Year's Day. The loser will probably go to the Fiesta Bowl, where Arizona State or Washington will supply the opposition.

Coach Tom Osborne is worried about a key injury to back Mark Rozier, third in the nation with 1,482 yards, who has a bad knee and probably won't start.

"Mike will need to be 100 percent to be effective against Oklahoma," Osborne said. "... I imagine he'll try to play. But I don't know how much he'll be able to do."

Oklahoma has won nine of the last 11 meetings between the two, but Nebraska scored a 37-14 victory last year.

Islanders Tie Bruins, 1-1

United Press International
The three-time Stanley Cup champion New York Islanders will take points any way they can get them right now. And if that means registering 1-1 ties on 70-foot slapshots with 3:43 left to play, so be it.

The Islanders gained such a tie in Boston Thursday, with Mike Bossy beating Bruins' goal-tender Pete Peeters on the glove side. Bryan Trottier recorded his 500th NHL assist on the play, but New York still has won only three times in its last 13 games.

Walker Will Edge Elway For Heisman

NEW YORK (UPI) — Georgia's Herschel Walker and Stanford's John Elway are the two front-runners for football's Heisman Trophy. One or the other figures to win it, and even without seeing the ballots, I'd have to say it'll be Walker.

That brings us to Eric Dickerson, the big ground-eating running back from Southern Methodist.

Most likely, he'll wind up third in the voting. That's partly because he didn't get anywhere near the exposure or publicity Walker and Elway did and anyone who tells you the Heisman Award isn't one big popularity contest is simply trying to lead you down a path.

Certainly, football ability has something to do with who finishes first and who doesn't get any votes at all, but you're never going to become the chosen if somebody isn't out beating the drums for you.

I like what Penn State's Joe Paterno has to say about the award.

"Does it stand for a guy who runs 9 million yards but is a bum, or does it stand for somebody all of us can identify with, somebody who stands above the crowd?" he asks.

Whenever he talks about the award, he generally gets around to the word "character," and if those doing the balloting were basing votes on that alone, it might easily turn out to be a three-way dead heat.

For pure character, Eric Dickerson is right up there with Walker and Elway, both of whom have more than plenty.

Dickerson's mother, Viola, can be justly proud of how she raised the only son she has, and the enormous pride she has in him comes right through merely by the way she speaks about him. "Many people tell me what a good player he is, and that makes me happy," she told me from her home in Sealy, Tex., "but it makes me even happier when they say what a fine, honest person he is. That's what I tried to teach him to be."

Eric Dickerson and John Elway were brought to New York the other day by Eastman Kodak, which sponsors the American Football Coaches Association All-America team both were named to this year, and Elway naturally drew most of the attention for a couple of reasons.

Everyone wanted to talk either baseball or music appreciation to him.

They wanted to know whether he's going to play baseball with the Yankees or football in the NFL. They also were curious about his impressions of Stanford's marching band after the part it played in last Saturday's 25-20 defeat at the hands of California. The Cardinals' loss resulted from the final play of the game in which the Golden Bears converted five laterals into a touchdown while members of the Stanford band, thinking the game already was over, were using the field to leave the stadium.

While most of the media clustered around Elway, Dickerson stayed quietly on the side without showing the slightest impatience. After all, he had led SMU to 10 straight victories before the Mustangs were tied by Arkansas, 17-17, in their season finale and averaged 147 yards a game and seven yards per carry while rushing for 1,617 yards and scoring 17 touchdowns.

"I've seen Herschel (Walker) play on films and I saw John (Elway) play against Ohio State on TV and I was impressed," Dickerson said. "By both, I was very impressed. Naturally, I'd like to win the Heisman, but to me, it's not everything. A national championship would mean a lot more."

The Mustangs rank fourth nationally and still have an outside shot at finishing No. 1.

Dickerson had 10 100-yard games as a junior in 1981 but he never received much recognition for it.

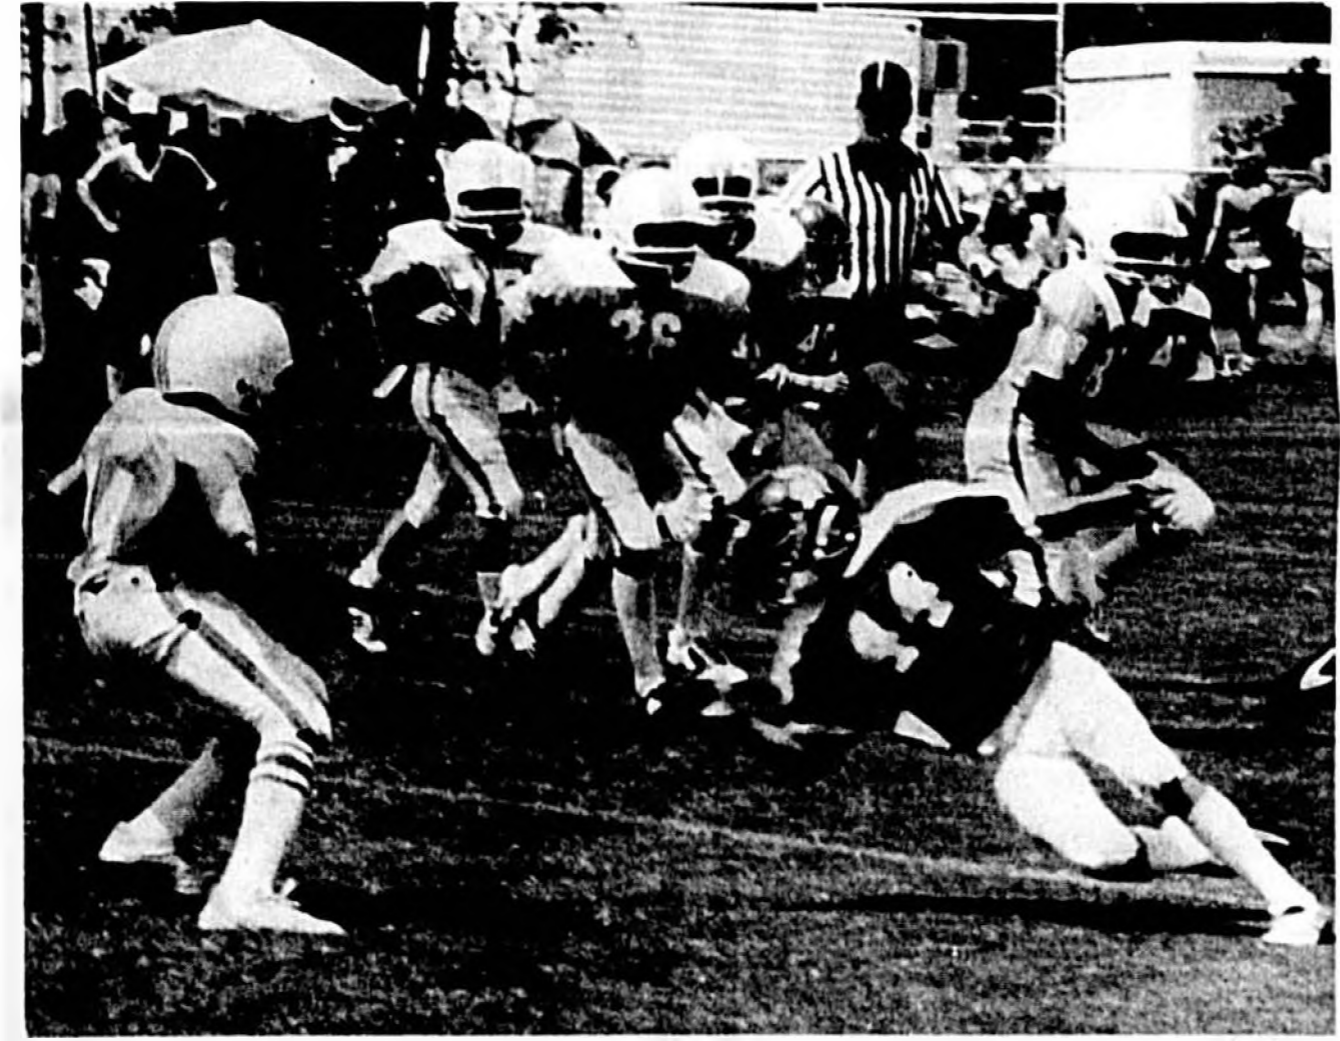

"That was because we were on probation," he said. "... We weren't on TV. Last year, we were 10 and 1, but we had no exposure."

The 23-year-old Dickerson wants to play pro football, preferably for Tampa Bay or Miami, and then go into broadcasting.

"Most people don't realize how much of a beating you take playing football," he said. "Midway during this past season, I was so tired, I was about to go crazy."

When he was a lot younger, Dickerson was a pretty good baseball player. He was no Elway, whom the Yankees hope will choose baseball over football, but he was a much better than average center fielder.

"My mother wanted me to play baseball," he revealed. "The reason I stopped was because it was a boring game. It took too long for things to happen. The money isn't boring, though."

Bowl-Bound Vanderbilt, Tennessee Battle For Volunteer Bragging Rights

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — There's more at stake than Volunteer State bragging rights when Tennessee invades Vanderbilt Saturday in a battle between a couple of bowl-bound Southeastern Conference teams.

For Vanderbilt, the name of the game is getting respect after a one-sided rivalry over the past two decades.

Vanderbilt has beaten Tennessee twice and tied once since 1960. The other 19 meetings have resulted in Volunteer victories.

Both teams will be in good physical condition for the game which both coaches concede is ultra important to them.

Vandy, 7-3, is headed for the Hall of Fame Bowl in Birmingham against Air Force while the Vols, 6-3-1, take on Iowa in the Peach in Atlanta. Both games are on Dec. 31.

"Tennessee and Vanderbilt. That's the real bowl," said Vanderbilt coach George MacIntyre.

Tennessee coach Johnny Majors put the rivalry this way.

"There are certain games that always mean something special to you, and the Tennessee-Vanderbilt game has always been that kind of game to me."

Both teams have explosive offenses. The Commodores are led by Whit Taylor, a quarterback who holds all the meaningful career passing records for his school.

College Football

Last year, when Vandy lost 38-34 in an outstanding game at Knoxville, Taylor tossed for 484 yards.

"I played one of my best games but all those statistics were overshadowed by the loss," Taylor said.

Taylor's primary target this year has been tight end Allama Matthews, who has set an SEC record for touchdown receptions and can still build on that standard.

Matthews has caught 59 passes for 773 yards and 14 touchdowns this year and leads the SEC. Taylor leads the league in pass completions, pass attempts, passing yardage, touchdown passes and total offense.

He's completed 204 of 364 passes for 2,090 yards and 19 touchdowns.

Tennessee quarterback Alan Cockrell has been improving steadily for the Vols and MacIntyre said the sophomore has the fastest receivers in college football to throw to, including Mike Miller and Willie Gault.

Both teams have displayed excellent kicking games this year with Tennessee's Fuad Revelz having an incredible season.

Revelz, a native of Colombia, comes into the game with a streak of 14 consecutive field goals. He has kicked 28 this year, eight of which have been longer than 50 yards. He set a new Southeastern Conference record with a 60-yarder against Georgia-Tech earlier this year.

Tickets, observers say, have not been so scarce for a Tennessee-Vanderbilt game in about 15 years.

Whoever loses Saturday will look back in 1983 and use Saturday's game as incentive. That's the kind of game that's expected.

The two big games on the weekend schedule will be Friday's Penn St.-Pitt and Nebraska-Oklahoma battles.

Penn State holds a 40-38-3 edge in the series that dates back to 1893. The Nittany Lions won last year's game, 48-14, but Pitt has won two of the last three contests.

A chance to be the host team in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Night is the prize that awaits the winner of the Oklahoma-Nebraska game. It marks the ninth year in a row an Oklahoma-Nebraska game will decide the Big Eight championship.

No. 9 Oklahoma has won nine of the last 11 games played between the two teams but the third-ranked Cornhuskers were 37-14 winners last year.

In the key games on Saturday's schedule, Georgia entertains state rival Georgia Tech and Arizona plays host to Arizona State.

Gardening

Winter Is Best Season To Plant Trees And Shrubs

With winter fast approaching, it soon will be time for major tree and shrub planting and transplanting. There are several advantages in planting during November and the winter, instead of waiting until spring. The plants are not actively growing during this time and less apt to be injured by shock from planting. Too, the weather and moisture during the winter season is very conducive to good plant adjustment as well as good working weather for the gardener.

Desmond Hastings

Urban Horticulturist
333-2500
EXT. 181

Research shows that roots of plants continue to grow and to develop during mild winter days, even though foliage does not.

You will find also that your nurseryman has a good stock of plants during the fall and winter, and too, he can give you more time and attention during this season, whereas he cannot during the rush of spring.

The success of your landscape will depend greatly on your ability to select plants which will fit your particular landscape need and situation.

Trees are always a must in most landscapes whether their purpose is for shade, windbreaks, food, setting or atmosphere, to add color and beauty with bloom and foliage, or to add esthetic and real estate value to the property.

The ideal landscape tree does not exist. Trees which have desirable features also have those that are undesirable. A tree may have beautiful flowers in the spring, followed by undesirable fruit or seed pods in the fall. If a tree is a fast grower, it may also be brittle and short-lived.

All trees have advantages and disadvantages, thus your selection must be carefully considered. Points for consideration in choosing the proper tree should include the following:

(1) Be sure the tree you choose will fit your landscape need. For example, fast growing for quick shade, broad and spreading for shade, dense for a windbreak or for screening or attractive blooms for an accent.

(2) Know the tree you select and its growth requirements. Know the tree's ultimate size and plant accordingly. Does the tree require special soil (dogwood and redbud require acid soil)? Does the tree have serious insects and diseases and will require routine maintenance?

(3) Be sure the tree is tolerant of your local weather conditions. Will it tolerate Florida's summer heat, or is it too tender for Northern and Central Florida's winters?

(4) Do you want an evergreen or deciduous tree? Deciduous shade trees are recommended as they allow the desirable sun when void of leaves in the winter, whereas an evergreen tree may be desirable for screening.

(5) Consider overhead lines, underground waterlines, septic tanks, etc., as well as walks, drives and paved surfaces which may be damaged by tree roots.

(6) Know the tolerance of the tree to salt spray. The southern magnolia, cajeput-tree and the live oak are a few among the group of trees tolerant of salt spray.

(7) Lastly, obtain a quality tree from a reliable nurseryman, and plant it in a carefully prepared spot, following good horticultural practices as to proper soil, location, exposure, watering, and spraying, so that your investment in the tree is not lost through carelessness and lack of planning and know how.

Florida Cooperative Extension Service programs are open to all regardless of race, color, sex or national origin.

MOMMA Is For Mistresses

DEAR ABBY: There are "anonymous" groups for alcoholics, gamblers, overeaters, etc. I propose yet another — Mistresses of Married Men Anonymous (MOMMA).

Only a woman who has suffered the tortures of being in love with a married man can help another woman survive this living hell.

My lover was 44 and separated from his wife when we met. No one ever told me that a 40-year-old woman could fall so hopelessly in love as to make the passions of a teen-ager look like child's play. The late dates, the stolen hours, the afternoon meetings, the phone calls, the broken promises, the fake names, the endless waiting, the tears, the threats, the confrontations — I've been through it all.

But there were some lovely times. The long drives to out-of-the-way places, the mini-honeymoons, the plans for "some day," the little gifts I couldn't say were gifts.

Then came the guilt, the anger, the desperation, the ultimatums — trying to forget with other men, the alcohol to numb the pain, the drugs, the pills, the prayers — the thoughts of self-destruction.

Have I missed anything, girls? I'm far from recovered, but I'm still alive and I intend to stay that way. My heart still skips a beat when I see a car that looks like his, or hear a song that stirs up memories.

I've moved, changed jobs and have an unlisted phone number. I'm determined not to look back. If I sound as though I'm still hurting, I am. But the pain is duller. Sign me

GOINGSANE

DEAR GOING SANE: There is nothing new under the sun. A "Mistresses of Married Men Anonymous" was formed a few years ago, but if there are any active chapters today, I am not aware of them. MOMMAS, if you're alive and kicking, let me hear from you.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter recently had her first baby. I was appalled to learn that her husband had taken pictures of her during her labor, actually delivering a baby boy! Is nothing sacred anymore?

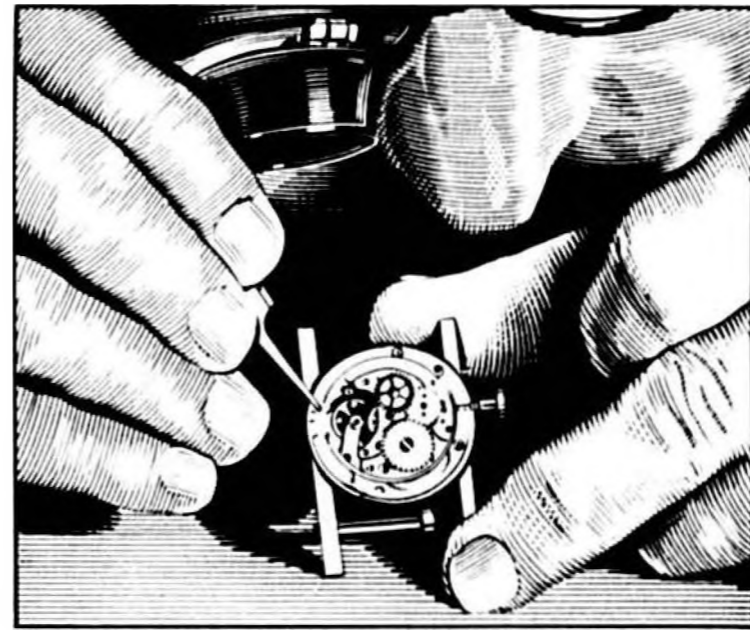

I found it extremely difficult to look at the pictures of my daughter in labor, experiencing intense pain. And the pictures of the baby in various stages of being born were sickening!

Please don't tell me that an unwashed baby, still attached to the mother by an umbilical cord, is a "beautiful sight." What are your thoughts? NEWGRANDMA

DEAR NEW GRANDMA: My thoughts are the same as your thoughts. However, if the pictures were taken with the knowledge and approval of the new mama, it's strictly the business of the parents. Now let's hope that when the new baby grows up, he doesn't sue his parents for having violated his privacy.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BORED STIFF IN PITTSBURGH: Keep busy. The man who rows the boat seldom has time to rock it!

Noise In The Ear Demands Exam

DEAR DR. LAMB — Can you tell me how to get rid of ear noise? It sounds like a wind storm all the time, even when I'm sleeping. If for some reason I wake up at night it's there. Sometimes it sounds like a jet taking off. Other times it is so loud I think others can hear it. I can't hear anything because of it.

I have to work around people and I just can't hear them. Sometimes I make believe I hear them when really I don't. If anyone comes up to my back they have to touch me before I know they are there.

I can't afford to go to the doctor right now. Please tell me what to do as I am going out of my mind with this racket. It's been going on for five weeks now and I can't stand it. I'm 48 years old.

DEAR READER — You will have to have an examination to have any chance of finding out what is causing your problem. It could be wax in your ear. Even various medicines, including aspirin, can cause ear noises. All of these, including damage from noise exposure, will have to be considered.

There are many cases of tinnitus, the name for ear noises, that remain unexplained. And the problem is rather common. Anxiety and tension usually make the problem worse or at least more noticeable to a person.

Your hearing loss is of interest. It may be part of the total problem as with fluid accumulation or inflammation in your ear. Or if you have an underlying reason for loss of hearing, the hearing loss may make you more susceptible to ear noises.

It works like this. If you can't hear other sounds the noises in your ears and circulation have no competition and you hear internal sounds much more clearly. In these cases a properly selected hearing aid may help. In a few cases a small tumor can be the cause of the noise.

A calorie is a calorie is a calorie, morning, noon and night. Your sister may be heavier because other things affect fat deposits. That includes level of physical activity and a person's metabolism. And you may not be right that she only eats as much as you do.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL
For Saturday, November 27, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY
November 27, 1982
If you have some special talent, such as artistic, writing or musical ability, take steps to develop it this coming year. Proper use of your gifts could lead to a bright future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
It's important to keep a tight reign on your purse today, or your expenditures could get out of hand. Put a limit on your spending and stick to it. New predictions for the year following your birthday are now ready. Send $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic combinations and compatibilities for all signs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Try to keep outsiders out of family affairs today. Their input could create unnecessary problems. This may be especially true where relatives are concerned.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Be philosophical in your dealings today. There's a chance you might take seriously things others say which would normally never bother you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Timing is very important today. If you press too hard to get something where the conditions are not right, you could go backward instead of forward.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Even though your way of doing things today may be better than that of your peers, you might have difficulty convincing them. Be prepared to make concessions.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Unless you plan your moves carefully today there's a possibility you'll make things harder for yourself than they should be.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Something could develop today where you may feel impelled to side with one friend against another. Instead of taking a position, try to be the arbitrator.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Do nothing which could alienate you from others today in trying to reach your objectives or fulfill your ambitions. Be tactful.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
If you encounter someone today who holds strong views opposed to yours, try to skirt the issues which could fan flames.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Normally you are rather cautious in financial areas, but today the opposite could be true. Subdue extravagant urges. Take care to protect your resources.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
If you and your mate have a misunderstanding today, it's best that neither of you bring it up in front of others. Settle things behind closed doors.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You're not likely to work too well today if you have to operate under last-minute pressure. Don't let what needs doing gather dust and pile up on you.

WIN AT BRIDGE

weak even for a major jump overall and its major effect was to keep North and South out of an impossible three no-trump.

They barely got to five diamonds, but they did get there. East won his ace of spades over dummy's king and continued the suit.

South ruffed and quickly played the ace and king of trumps and ace-king-queen of hearts. Then he led a third trump.

East was in with the queen. He had learned at some stage of his bridge career that you shouldn't give declarer a ruff and discard. He also knew that South had no hearts or spades so that a heart of spade lead would give that dreaded ruff and discard.

So East led the four of clubs. South played the nine and brought in the whole club suit.

East should have counted South's complete hand. He had shown exactly one spade, three hearts and five diamonds leaving him with four clubs. East could then give the ruff and discard safely and the defense would score a club trick and a profit.

Sausage Delicious Solution For A Yule Buffet Variety

Salami-Pasta Salad, left, brimming with Holiday color, will brighten yuletide buffets. And, to add a European touch to Holiday fare, make a Puszta Ring, Hungarian style, in a casserole, right.

It's that time of year again — time for enjoying good food and drink with friends and relatives.

Easy to prepare, economical sausage as the main ingredient in holiday meal planning will give you more time with guests and less time in the kitchen. Sausage is the delicious solution to preparation of an endless variety of meals and snacks in short order.

Salami-Pasta Salad, brimming with holiday color, will brighten yuletide buffets. And, to add a European touch to holiday fare, make a Puszta Ring Hungarian style in a casserole.

SALAMI-PASTA SALAD

- 6 ounces sliced salami
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon leaf basil
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
- 2 cups broccoli flowerets
- 1/2 pound pasta, cooked and drained
- 1 cup cherry tomatoes, halved
- 1 small red onion, thinly sliced
- Leaf lettuce
- Grated Parmesan cheese

In a skillet, heat oil over medium heat. Add garlic, seasonings and broccoli. Sauté broccoli until tender-crisp, about 4 minutes. Remove from heat. Cut salami slices into quarters and toss with broccoli mixture, pasta, tomatoes and onion. Chill well. Serve on a bed of lettuce and top with grated Parmesan cheese, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

PUSZTA RING

- 1 pound ring bologna or smoked sausage or summer sausage
- 2 small tomatoes
- 1 zucchini (6 to 8 inches long)
- 3/4 cup shredded brick or muenster cheese
- 1/2 cup chopped sweet pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 1/2 teaspoon salt or garlic salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

Slash bologna at 1-inch intervals, cutting almost through. Place in shallow casserole or deep-dish pie plate. Thinly slice tomato and zucchini. Fill slashes in bologna with alternating slices of tomato and zucchini.

Chop remaining tomato and zucchini. Mix with cheese, chopped onion and pepper. Stir in seasonings. Turn mixture into center of bologna ring.

Bake at 400 degrees F. for 30 to 35 minutes, until vegetables are tender-crisp. Serve with rice or noodles, if desired. Makes 4-6 servings.

Try Peanut Pizzaz In Holiday Treats

During the holidays, people all over the world spend time in their kitchens stirring up batches of their favorite holiday treats. The Swedish bake spritz cookies; the Italians specialize in tortoni; the French make Buche de Noel and the Germans are famous for their streudel.

Americans have specialties too — like fruitcake, ribbon candy and divinity. But, this year, why not add some peanut pizzaz to holiday baked goods because they are family favorites and taste particularly good when combined with chocolate or caramel.

Instead of making the traditional sugar cookie — try the following recipe for Peanut Dip Tops. These rich peanut butter cookies have a thin layer of chocolate spread on top and are sprinkled with chopped peanuts.

After adding this recipe to your holiday repertoire, it will surely become a family favorite.

PEANUTDIPTOPS

- 1/2 cup butter, softened
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1/4 cup creamy peanut butter
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 4 ounces semi-sweet chocolate, melted
- 1/4 cup chopped peanuts

Cream together butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in egg, peanut butter and vanilla. Thoroughly blend flour, baking soda and salt. Gradually add to creamed mixture. Beat until well mixed. Form into 1-inch balls. Place on greased baking sheet 2 inches apart. Using bottom of glass, flatten into 2-inch circles. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 15 minutes or until golden. Remove from baking sheets and cool. Spread about 1/4 teaspoon melted chocolate on each cookie. Sprinkle with chopped peanuts. Makes about 4 1/2 dozen.

Sanford taxidermist Dick Dove puts the finishing touches on a tiger shark that will soon grace some proud fisherman's wall.

You Hunters And Fishermen Stuff It

By MARK SAVOIE
Special To The Herald

You rush home, screaming wildly to the family, holding a fish that is, for the first time, larger than the lure that you used to catch it, and proudly exclaim: "Wouldn't this look just great between the Picasso and grandma's antique clock?"

After reviving your wife and quieting the kids, you grab your trophy, hop into the station wagon, and head down to your friendly neighborhood...freeze-dry chamber?

That's right. The method made familiar to millions of Americans with its process for making instant coffee and is now venturing into the age-old tradition of taxidermy.

While the reasons for preserving a cup of coffee and a 10-pound bass may differ, the process is, surprisingly, quite similar. Moisture is slowly removed (the process takes from a few weeks to several months, depending on the size and structure of the specimen) until it is dry enough to survive normal temperatures, and most importantly without any tell-tale odors or breakdown in the tissues. And because the animal is frozen with all of its internal organs intact, there is no shrinkage or loss of shape, as is sometimes the case when the skin is simply stretched over a prefabricated mold.

One reason for the quick acceptance of this relatively new technique is that the sportsman has almost complete control over the pose that the trophy will assume. Since it is pre-positioned before undergoing the freeze-dry process, the hunter or angler can elect for an exciting, gill-flaring fighter or a more somber, environmental pose. It would also be possible if your mount didn't turn out exactly as you had pictured it, or if you needed to relocate your prize buck, to reconstitute it, change its position, and repeat the process. The finished product is also quite lightweight.

After the mount is taken out of the chamber, the finishing touches are really very simple. Since eyes can't survive freeze-drying, glass ones must be substituted. And since colors remain the same, lacquer is sprayed onto the surface of a fish or reptile mount for protection. Bird feathers and animal hair is groomed to look natural, and then sprayed with an insecticide — since the specimens are still fully intact and must be protected from boring insects.

The prices for this alternative to conventional taxidermy are very competitive. A fox or a deer head, for example, would cost about $100, depending on the size. Smaller animals and most birds could run anywhere from $40 to $100, and fish are priced by the lengths involved, usually $2.50 to $3.00 per inch.

But the question remains: will freeze-dry technology replace the more conventional craft of taxidermy?

On the rise

You may not recognize the name — JoBeth Williams — but if you're an avid moviegoer, you're familiar with the face. She was the female lead in 'Poltergeist' and had roles in 'Kramer vs. Kramer' and 'Dogs Of War.' And you should be seeing her face even more. Her career is really taking off. Page 2.

Three cheers

After two consecutive weeks of saying nothing but nasty things about the fall TV season's offerings, critic David Handler has finally found something he likes — 'Cheers.' Handler calls it "warm, smart, and sometimes hilarious. Its characters have depth and warts." His review is on Page 5.

Wheat and chaff

The tube is no longer the simple box it once was. Now there is cable, satellite broadcasts, two-way interactive service, and teletext. It's Bill McGee's job to sort through all that and separate the hope from the hype. Read what McGee sees in television's future on Page 7.

Double Vision For TV's Royal Wedding

DEAR DICK: On our way home from a Las Vegas Trip, we stayed overnight in Garden City, Kan. We watched "The Royal Romance of Charles and Diana" on Ch. 12. When we got home, we watched it again on Ch. 10. But it was different and the players were not the same. Am I right or am I crazy? V.C., Springfield, Mo.

DEAR DICK: Who played Princess Diana in the ABC presentation of "Charles and Diana: A Royal Romance"? M.B., Wellsboro, Pa.

There were two different productions based on that one heart-rending story. ABC did "Charles and Diana: A Royal Love Story" and CBS did "The Royal Romance." Caroline Bliss was Diana in the ABC production while Catherine Oxenberg starred in CBS' version.

DEAR DICK: What happened to Lawrence Welk's band after he retired? Did they have to look for new jobs or did Myron Floren take over? W.M., Spencer, Wis.

Nobody took over. The entire Welk musical organization disbanded — or maybe that should be isorchestrated. The concert tour they made last June was the grand finale. Most of them had no problem finding new jobs because they are quality musicians. The featured singers are working where they can. Several have moved their base to Nashville, Raina, for one, recently played an engagement in Atlantic City. They'll survive.

Ask Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: To settle a dispute, was there a second white-haired actor who played Jock on "Dallas" after Jock's real life death? R., Mattoon, Ill.

No. There was only one Jock, Jim Davis.

DEAR DICK: In the TV show "Father Murphy," I wonder if the oldest child in the classroom is the teacher's daughter in real life. They look so much alike. C.L., Hollywood, Fla.

No, there is no relationship between Katherine Cannon, who plays the teacher, and Lisa Trusel, who is the child in question. Lisa, incidentally, used to be one of the kid dancers on Tim Conway's old show before she turned to acting.

DEAR DICK: I recently saw a rerun of the old "Ozzie and Harriet" show. I'd like to know if the family on that show is a family in real life. L.S., Marshfield, Mo.

They sure are. Ozzie and Harriet — the Nelsons — were married for many years before Ozzie died. Their sons, Rick and David, played their sons. And, variously, daughters-in-law and even grandchildren appeared from time to time.

DEAR DICK: I would appreciate knowing the whereabouts of Paul Fix, who played mostly westerns in the '30s, '40s and possibly '50s. A.A., Ventura, Calif.

Fix still lives in southern California. He is 80 now and worked well into his 70s before retiring.

DEAR DICK: When I was a young man, I saw a movie called "Adventures of a Young Man." It was a fairly popular film, combining several Hemingway stories. I'd like to see it again. Is it, has it or will it be shown on television? M.P.R., Kalamazoo, Mich.

Known as "Hemingway's Adventures of a Young Man," the 1962 film — starring Paul Newman, Eli Wallach, Ricardo Montalban, Susan Strasberg, Diane Baker and Richard Beymer — has frequently been shown on TV and probably will be again.

Sorry, No Army Career For JoBeth Williams

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — You wouldn't think anyone would have any doubt about JoBeth Williams' sex, but you don't know the U.S. Army.

JoBeth is the fine young actress and very beautiful young woman, who seems to be in every other movie these days. She started out in "Kramer vs. Kramer" — she was the unclad lady who bumped into the Kramer boy in the middle of the night.

Then came "Stir Crazy" and "Dogs of War," and more recently, the female leads in "Poltergeist" and the current release "Endangered Species." In all of them, she has managed to combine beauty and intelligence. Always, of course, very feminine.

Yet, when she was 18, the Army wanted her. They sent her a notice to report, addressed to Mr. Jobeth Williams. Maybe that's one reason she changed the spelling of her first name and began to capitalize the B.

JOBETH WILLIAMS

There was another reason behind the change, however. She says that her name — originally and legally Jobeth — was always being mispronounced.

"People would pronounce it as though it rhymed with 'robeth,'" she says. "As in 'he robeth Peter to pay Paul.' And I never liked that, so I began capitalizing the B."

These are good days for JoBeth Williams. Not only is her career sailing along but so is her personal life. She is a new bride — her husband, John Pasquin, is a young director — and a new home owner.

"We moved here and bought a home here," she says. "I'm working here a lot and John is directing TV. But we are keeping our apartment in New York. I guess you'd say we're bi-coastal."

There's a lot of work for her here, apparently. ABC has given her the lead, opposite Jason Robards, in a big forthcoming TV mini-series called "The Day After," which Nicholas Meyer will direct. It's about a nuclear holocaust destroying Kansas City.

"I'm playing a nurse," she says. "It is not exactly a romantic comedy, but I think it says something that needs to be said."

JoBeth Williams is a Texan, from Houston, who elected to go north for college and chose Brown, in Rhode Island.

She was there on an academic scholarship, studying psychology. But about a month after she began her college career, "someone roped me into doing theater" and the rope turned into a hook and exit one psychologist, enter one actress.

She segued right into a Rhode Island repertory company, and her career was off and running. Theater was her first love — still her big love — but being ambitious, she tried other things. For a couple of years, she was part of the New York soap opera scene, appearing regularly on "Somerset" and "The Guiding Light."

"Kramer vs. Kramer" was her first movie. She got lucky. Her part was small ("but it was noticeable, because it was funny and because I was naked") but the picture was so successful that even those in small parts attracted attention.

"When it opened," JoBeth says, "all the producers in Hollywood were suddenly interested in everybody who was in any way connected with it."

JoBeth says that when she was a child — she is another actress who was an only child — she had an imaginary playmate when she was 2½ or 3 years old.

Her name was Jerryl Ann, and Jerryl Ann was probably her first co-star and acting coach.

"I'd even set a place for Jerryl Ann when we ate," she says. "It went on for years, me and Jerryl Ann. My father thought I was crazy."

Not crazy. Just sharpening her imagination and her acting skills. It obviously worked.

Gilmore's Story; Christmas Folk Tale

Norman Mailer's Pulitzer Prize-winning book, "The Executioner's Song," will be a four-hour mini-series on NBC this week, on Sunday, Nov. 28 and Monday, Nov. 29. Mailer wrote the mini-series as well.

Tommy Lee Jones plays the lead role, Gary Gilmore, the convicted murderer who fought all efforts to prevent his execution by a Utah State Prison. He was put to death by firing squad in January 1977.

The story focuses on the relationship between Gilmore and the young divorcee he falls in love with, Nicole Baker. It is when their relationship breaks up that Gilmore murders two persons and is sentenced to death.

Rosanna Arquette portrays Nicole Baker. Eli Wallach and Christine Lahti also star, as Gilmore's uncle and cousin, who help him try to begin a new life before he meets Nicole.

A professional juggler will perform in "The Juggler of Notre Dame," joining stars Merlin Olsen and Melinda Dillon for the hour-long Christmas special, which will be syndicated nationally beginning this week.

The story is based on a medieval French folk tale, which tells the story of a despondent juggler, grieving over the loss of both his wife and his friend, who finds joy again at Christmas through his juggling skill.

Olsen plays a kindhearted sculptor who takes the juggler in, Miss Dillon plays his cynical sister and Carl Carlsson is the juggler.

"The Juggler of Notre Dame" is close captioned for the hearing-impaired.

CBS's Lancaster Will Add Color To Grey Cup

By Mark Nolan
 Live coverage of the 1982 Grey Cup game will be carried by both the CBC and CTV networks on Sunday, Nov. 28. Pre-game festivities will air at 11:30 a.m. (E.T.), with the kick-off scheduled for 1 p.m. at Exhibition Stadium in Toronto.
 The first half of play will be covered by CTV's announcers, while the CBC crew will handle the second half action. During the second half, CBC's Ron Lancaster will provide expert color commentary along with fellow announcer Leo Cahill.

 The Lancaster-Cahill team has received nothing but praise from critics all across Canada for their CFL commentating. Both gentlemen are former coaches of the CFL; however, throughout his 19-year career as a player, Lancaster established himself as one of the greatest quarterbacks ever to play in the CFL.

 As a result of his many accomplishments, he was inducted this summer into the Canadian Football Hall of Fame. Unlike most other members, Lancaster was voted in after only four years of retirement from the League.

 A graduate of Wittenberg University in Ohio, Lancaster signed with the Ottawa Rough Riders in 1960. Although only a rookie in the CFL, he was with the Grey Cup winning team.

'Cheers' Makes TV Viewing Fun Again

By DAVID HANDLER

"Cheers" is quickly showing itself to be the class sitcom entry of the season. It is warm, smart and sometimes hilarious. Its characters have depth and warts. It doesn't pander to juveniles. Given time and some tinkering, this new one from NBC could grow into a winner.

The show is named for a plush but homey Boston bar run by Sam "Mayday" Malone (Ted Danson), former ace reliever for the Red Sox. "I developed an elbow problem," says Sam of his early retirement. "I bent it too much."

Sam bought the place when he was on the sauce. He's been off for three years. He's a guy who knows both the penthouse and the outhouse, and has found a place in between. He's a great guy to pour out your troubles to. And the perfect hub for an ensemble comedy.

His place is a neighborhood haven loaded with camaraderie and oddball characters. Sports are a major topic of conversation. Likewise trivia. The regulars can be found debating everything from the world's sweatiest movie ("Body Heat"? "Ben Hur"?) to the length of an adult whale's intestines ("Spread 'em out and you're talking three miles and change").

The one anchor at the end of the bar is Norm (George Wendt), a porky accountant with a herculian thirst for the suds. Everyone calls out his name when he comes in after work. "Gentlemen," he announces calmly. "Start your taps."

Helping Sam at the taps is Ernie Pantusso (Nick Colasanto), his old coach. Ernie took more than a few on the melon in his playing days. The result is a kind of Gracie Allen with hairy forearms. How does he tell one glass from another? He names them.

Waiting on tables is Carla Tortelli (Rhea Perlman), a street-tough, foul-tempered divorcee with four kids. "Two of 'em are ugly, one's stupid and the other's obnoxious," says the proud mother.

Sam's newest barmaid — and resident unsettling influence — is Diane Chambers (Shelley Long), a cute, well-bred, highly educated snob who wandered into the bar with her fiance in the series' pilot, got abandoned and ended up staying. She thinks she's an expert on every subject.

There is an obvious attraction between the earthy, unpretentious Sam and the quarrelsome Diane. A Tracy-Hepburn number. Right now, their non-romance is the glue holding the show together.

In one episode, for instance, she is appalled to discover Sam is a major-league pick-up artist with a preference for dumb blondes. She accuses him of being a rapidly aging adolescent. "I don't want to do better," he insists. "I like fun women, hot dogs and game shows." However, he takes her criticism to heart. "My life isn't fun anymore," he laments. "Because of you."

Diane's old friends surfaces after breaking up with her boyfriend. She spots Sam and wants a night of wild lust. Sam is willing. Diane is appalled.

The feuding relationship between Sam and Diane is a fun one, but too much attention is being paid to it. If "Cheers" is to grow into a superior ensemble piece like "Taxi" or "Barney Miller," Sam must be firmly planted in his straight man role and the resident zanies be allowed to grow around him.

It may be necessary, as it turned out to be in "Taxi," to go home with some of them so as to open up the show.

But here's one with a real chance. NBC has picked it up for a full season, and placed it in front of "Taxi" and "Hill Street Blues" on Thursday night. That makes one night a week it's fun to stay home and watch TV. One more than there used to be.

County Cable

By Ann Ferrar

Country music is in and high culture is out as cable TV gains the Nashville Network and loses CBS Cable.

Beginning with the good news: Several million viewers across the nation will be able to see the Nashville Network beginning early in 1983. Some programs included in the 18-hour day will be "Fan Dance," a game show hosted by bandleader Bill Anderson, "Pop Goes the Country," hosted by disc jockey Ralph Emery, and "American Sports Cavalcade" with singer Ed Bruce.

Sit-coms, talk/variety programs and shows from the Opryland amusement park in Nashville are also planned. Country bigwigs Roy Acuff and Bobby Bare will be on-camera personalities.

Since many country performers are outright hams, there should be some amusing moments. Their manners are direct and they're not the least bit shy about promoting their wares and congratulating themselves.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Armed only with an inquisitive mind and a skeptical eye, Bill McGee prowls the tangled video jungle like a big game hunter out to bag the facts for clients who can't tell a hope from a hype.

McGee — one of the new breed of consultants born of television in all of its new incarnations — finds plenty of both, and those who sell television and radio advertising for a living pay him plenty to define them.

"What I've tried to do is say, 'Hey — all of these guys aren't going to be wildly successful.' We're trying to read between the lines of the press releases being put out by all the experimenters and the inventors and say, 'what really is a realistic projection?'"

"Realistic projections" are what advertisers need if they are going to put their dollars where they will do them the most good.

But in a world in which television almost overnight has come to include low-power stations, direct-to-home satellite broadcasts, two-way interactive services, teletext, videotext and a flock of varying cable operations, few who buy and sell have time to search for a viable vehicle.

That's where McGee — a former broadcaster and retailer — comes in. He has written a book titled "Changes, Challenges and Opportunities in the New Electronic Media," and despite the skepticism that tells him not all of them will work, he finds plenty of all three.

In McGee's view, the most powerful blow in the television revolution will be struck in the retail marketplace by two technical innovations — teletext and the two-way interactive cable system.

Warner Amex pioneered the latter in Columbus, Ohio, with its QUBE system, which enables viewers to talk back to whoever may be on their home television screens.

"The two-way interactive service will allow the home viewer to shop ... and bank at home," McGee said. "In my judgement, as much as 20 per cent of sales now being made in stores ultimately will be made at home and that in itself can change the way we live."

In an earlier age, the American meat-packing industry boasted when it butchered a pig, it utilized everything but the squeal. Teletext will make the slogan applicable to television as well.

About all that's left unused on the screen now is the fine horizontal line that may be seen between frames when the picture rolls. With teletext, that line can be expanded and filled with all manner of information, ranging from weather reports to airline and television schedules.

"By 1985," said McGee, "I think you're going to see every full-powered station in this country with teletext."

...Taxidermy

According to Dick Dove, who has been in the taxidermy business in Sanford for the past 15 years, "I see no advantage to freeze drying.... It's not taxidermy in any way, shape or form."

And Dove says that as far as the preparation time, the more conventional form of mounting a skin has freeze-drying beat, hands down.

He said that the specimens "still have to be painted, and regardless of what the freeze-dry experts say, there is always some shrinkage."

"Ninety-five percent of the freeze-dry specimens I have seen I would throw out into the (trash) can," he says.

So now, sportsmen, we have a choice. To freeze-dry or not to freeze-dry, at least the question will get their attention.

No Complaints About Our New Child Stars

By Ruth Thompson
We have heard tales of pushy stage-mothers and their sad, or bratty, offspring. Too many tales. Here are some positive one to balance the record.

(This selection focuses on families in which the parents had no prior show-biz experience themselves and in which one child's success often motivated siblings to seek some limelight, too.)

By now the whole Osmond clan—to start with the biggest name—is rich, with Donny and Marie the most famous. But before Donny and Marie, an earlier wave of musical brothers earned TV popularity, with some of them later moving up to executive status—founding and running a large production studio.

Then there's Doug McKeon, now a talented teen-ager with a bright future as an adult actor. When he was 12, he did the talking while his mother looked on quietly amazed.

Since Doug lived near New York, in New Jersey, he was pleased to be earning some money by doing a little modeling. Then somebody found he could act, too, and Doug appeared in the short-lived series "Big Shamus, Little Shamus." He found he loved acting and among his most recent credits is the award-winning "On Golden Pond," with Henry Fonda and Katharine Hepburn.

Then there is the chain reaction success-story of the children of economist Alwin Michaelsen. "A little modeling, because we lived in New York and it didn't interrupt the children's lives," was the most that was planned, says his wife Gail. She's stepmother to the elder three and mother of Neal and Peter, who use mom's maiden name, Billingsley.

At the moment tow-haired Peter Billingsley, 11, is the most visible. He's co-host of NBC's "Real People," does commercials for Hershey and co-stars with Lindsay Wagner on CBS in the upcoming movie "A Stranger in the House."

Also in the cast is his 14-year-old sister, Melissa Michaelsen. Twelve-year-old Neal, a regular on "Search for Tomorrow," is set for a "Love Boat" taping and 19-year-old Win is taking time out for college at USC.

And no, nobody's schooling suffers. Peter's teacher from Phoenix (where the family has now settled), spent six weeks of her vacation coordinating his curriculum with tutors when Peter was in Hollywood making a movie.
