

10 Teens Nabbed Near Party, Then ...

Did The Pot Go To Pot?

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford police arrested 10 teenagers early Sunday near the scene of an alleged marijuana and beer party in the city cemetery on W. 25th Street. But they may not have a case. Reason: the evidence vanished and may have been flushed down a toilet.

11 to 15 years, and three other teenagers, the evidence seized by officers disappeared.

Capt. C.B. Fagan Jr., said today an investigation is underway to try to determine what happened to a plastic baggie of alleged marijuana and a small smoking pipe.

Officers said the evidence was put on a table in the booking area where parents were taking custody of their juveniles — four boys and three girls — and the baggie and pipe were discovered to be missing after several of the juveniles made trips to the bathroom.

One officer theorized the evidence may have been flushed into the city's sewers. Police made the arrests after stopping a car and a pickup truck, leaving the cemetery party scene without lights.

When asked what happens now that the evidence is missing, Fagan said this morning, "It looks like we may not have a case."

The juveniles, arrested on misdemeanor marijuana charges, included two boys and a girl from Lake Mary, two boys and a girl from Sanford, and an 11-year-old Orlando girl. Police also booked three teenaged suspects at county jail on misdemeanor charges in the case — possession of narcotic paraphernalia, contributing to the delinquency of juveniles; and possession of marijuana.

New Sanford Site Possible For Keller Smelting Plant

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Keller Industries Inc., an aluminum manufacturing firm planning to locate a $750,000 smelting and recycling plant in Sanford has added a second possible site for the facility.

But, although it now has two possible sites for the plant in Sanford, one of a group of homeowners who objects to the plant said today such a plant as the one planned by Keller Industries has no place in Sanford.

Kenneth McIntosh, attorney for Keller Industries Inc., a Miami-based firm, said as part of the company's effort to develop as "good a public relations as possible," an alternative four-acre parcel, north of Cobla Boat Works on the west side of the railroad tracks and adjacent to Cornwall Street has been chosen as the possible plant site.

Although this new site has not been definitely selected over the Silver Lake-Mellonville tract, McIntosh said the firm is "keenly interested" in it.

The original site selected by Keller was a three-acre parcel on Silver Lake and Mellonville roads.

The new site because it is larger and would require the improvement of the railroad siding there will require an additional expenditure of $60,000, McIntosh estimated.

But, retired U.S. Army Lt. Col. Kenneth Pritchard, a member of the Concerned Property Owners Association, fighting the location of the Keller plant in the Silver Lake-Mellonville area, said today, "I can't think of any place within the city limits of Sanford for an industry of this sort."

Some 600 pamphlets were distributed by the organization in the Sanora and South Pinecrest area over the past week objecting to the industry.

The one-page leaflet entitled, "Do you want a smelter in your neighborhood?" says the Sanford City Commission has approved a bond issue for construction of an aluminum smelter "near you" at Mellonville and Silver Lake Road.

"Do you want heavy industry of this kind in Sanford with the dangers of pollution, property devaluation and diminished quality of life?"

The answer given in the leaflet is "No" and urges those reading the pamphlet to tell their city commissioners, listing each with residence and office telephone number.

The leaflet asks for contributions toward legal fees to fight the issue be sent to William S. Butler, treasurer of the organization. McIntosh said in choosing the new site, the effort was to get it as far away from the area objectionable to the citizens as possible.

The new tract, has a one-quarter mile buffer from the residential area, estimated City Manager W.E. Knowles today.

McIntosh said the new site is available to all utilities and rail and road transportation and has no known impediments as far as zoning is concerned for the recycling operation. He said Keller is waiting for a reply from the city and if a favorable one is received will begin moving forward again.

Keller Industries spokesmen said previously plans are to spend 20 per cent of the project costs for pollution control devices in line with city regulations and deed restrictions from the Hunt Oil Co., owner of both parcels.

Both sites are zoned for medium industrial development. The property was originally zoned industrial by the county as requested by the Hunt interests and was later annexed to the city.

Pritchard said the homeowners group has hired Thom Runberger, former circuit judge and ex-county attorney, and "Buddy" Kirk as its legal counsel.

The city agreed earlier this month to sponsor, in accordance with state law, an industrial development bond issue of $700,000 on the industry's behalf.

WHEN WISHES COME TRUE

Seminole County Commissioner Bob French and daughter, Jodi, 11, get into the spirit of things by watching their cubs float in the new wishing well at Central Florida Zoo in Sanford. French was principal speaker at ceremonies Saturday when the well, located inside a gazebo near the admission gate, was dedicated. Bricks for the well were donated by John Blount of J&B Trucking Co., Sanford, and reportedly came from a 100-year-old building. The well is a bicentennial gift of SISTER (Sanford's Interested Sarahs to Encourage Rejuvenation).

Who'll Run Poverty Agency?

The SCA And The Commission

By MARK WEINBERG
Herald Staff Writer

Should the poverty-fighting programs of private, non-profit Seminole Community Action (SCA) be under the direct control of the Seminole County Commission? County officials and representatives of SCA will discuss the question for the first time at a Wednesday meeting.

County commissioners in a budget meeting a month ago, pledged a decision by December on whether the county commission should take over SCA's programs. Commissioners also voted to allocate $23,000 for anti-poverty programs.

to assume direct control over SCA's programs, the agency would receive the $23,000. If the commission does vote to assume control over SCA's programs, other financial arrangements would be necessary.

The county has formed a "SCA Team" composed of representatives of various county departments and one county commissioner. Team members are: Bill Kirchhoff, county commissioner; Roger Nelawender, county administrator; Judann Burdick, planner; Abby Jones, deputy county clerk; Ron Thomas, personnel director; Bob Ellis, director of administrative services; and Trey Todd, director of human services.

SCA hasn't designated a representative to serve on the committee, Todd said this morning.

SCA now operates as a private, non-profit agency, whose policy and budget are determined by a board of directors. Seminole County makes an annual contribution to SCA's programs. Last year, SCA received $20,000 from the county.

SCA has been designated the county's anti-poverty agency by the federal Community Services Agency (CSA), successor to the Office of Economic Opportunity. According to officials of CSA's Atlanta regional office, they are not likely to oppose a county commission designation of itself as the governing board of SCA.

"SCA's governing board now sets all policies, creates and abolishes programs, adopts an annual budget and sets direction," said Todd. "The governing board, the commission would have the final say on matters previously decided in direction," said Todd. "The

Crowd Hails Humphrey; He Returns To Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and Vice President Walter F. Mondale were there, but neither man was the featured attraction Sunday at nearby Andrews Air Force Base. The man who waded into the crowd and received the warm handshakes was Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey. The Minnesota Democrat was back in the capital for the first time since Aug. 18, when doctors determined his cancer was inoperable. Carter picked up Humphrey in Minneapolis as the President returned from a 2 1/2-day cross-country trip.

Rome Mobs, Police Fight Over Deaths Of Terrorists

ROME (UPI) — Club-wielding demonstrators clashed with police today in Palermo, Sicily, seriously injuring a policeman in new protests against the prison deaths of three leaders of West Germany's Baader-Meinhof terrorist group.

The Palermo protests were an extension of weekend violence in Italy and France in which a Milan city councilman was shot, eight times, and a policeman was maimed by a bomb.

SALESBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — Twelve persons, including a white Dutch Reformed church minister and his wife, died in war-related incidents in Rhodesia during the weekend, the military command announced today.

A communiqué said the Rev. Andries Louw Brand, 46, and his wife Tabina Metje Brand, 42, were killed "in a terrorist ambush" Sunday night as they traveled between the midlands towns of Gowe and Que Que.

Norway Copters Hunt 4 Yanks

STAVANGER, Norway (UPI) — Two helicopters today led a search for four Americans missing in a small plane southeast of Stavanger for more than 24 hours.

Aboard the missing Piper Cherokee were American pilot, firm employee, Jan Paul Johnson, 39, and Dennis Koster, 39, and their wives, Jane, Mrs. Johnson, 35, and Gerald Koster, 31, all from Houston, Texas.

The Piper Cherokee was on its way from the Oslo airport to Stavanger to Lata on the southern tip of Norway.

Hit-Run Driver Kills Sanford Youth, 19

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Florida Highway Patrol troopers today were searching for clues that might lead them to a hit-and-run driver who struck and killed a Sanford youth early Sunday on SR-43 south of Osteen.

A patrol spokesman said Douglas Edward Yates, 19, of 1380 French Ave., apparently was walking in the southbound lane of the highway southeast before dawn when he was struck by an unidentified motor vehicle which left the scene.

Yates' body was found about 8:30 a.m. on the west shoulder of the road. Troopers today were reportedly trying to determine if a broken surfboard found near the body had been carried by the victim or came from the vehicle which is believed to have heavy front-end damage.

Anyone with knowledge of the accident should immediately contact the Florida Highway Patrol, officials said. Troopers M.R. Best and R.M. McClelland are investigating the fatal accident, the patrol spokesman said.

FIRE REPORTED
Sanford sheriff's deputies reported a Saturday night fire of undetermined cause destroyed a rental residence at 228 Lake Shore Dr., Mobile Manor, off SR-43 west of Longwood.

Mr. Smith extinguished the blaze and there was no damage to the house, Deputy William Hodge said.

Richard Merritt, of Longwood, reported $100 in cash in a van stolen and several gold necklaces and earrings and a pocket knife valued at $25, were missing following a weekend burglary at his residence, deputy Inspector E. AUTO SHARED

A late-night night fishing trip for Donald L. Vincent, 31, of Sanford, ended Saturday night in a head-on crash and a hail of sparks and flames. Vincent was fishing off the seawall at the Sanford Marina about 10:30 p.m. when a car struck Vincent's parked Volkswagen, landing 2 1/2 feet over the curb and almost into the harbor.

Vincent told police officers that the auto that struck his parked car sped away going west on San Mateo Boulevard only to reverse course and come back by shoving against the top of the damaged car with the driver observed by a cloud of sparks.

Police said the hit-and-run car stopped at San Mateo Boulevard and McLeavelly Avenue because of front-end damage and a blown tire and a passing motorist, who was passing down by the driver, held the man until police arrived.

Patrolman Richard Bennett arrested John Clifford Gray, 34, of West, Tex., on charges of reckless driving, having the scene of an accident with property damage, driving on a wheel rim and refusing to sign a traffic citation. Bond for Gray was set at $250, according to county jail records.

Officers reported Vincent's 1973 VW was listed as a total loss.

Panamanians Voting Big For Treaties

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — A big turnout of Panamanian voters gave the new Panama Canal treaties overwhelming approval, official returns from the nationwide referendum showed today.

The election tribunal reported 169,178 yes votes to 98,111 noes cast Sunday in 101 of the 208 voting districts. The vote was nearly 50 per cent of the estimated 400,000 eligible voters.

Election officials said most of these votes were cast in Panama province, including Panama City, the seat of much of the opposition to the treaties.

Government officials predicted returns from the provinces would raise the total in favor of the pact to 70 or 75 per cent.

The final official count is to be announced Thursday.

Panama's chief of government, Gen. Omar Torrijos, predicted the U.S. Senate would also ratify the treaties despite the strong opposition in the United States.

Torrijos said the senators must realize the treaties "go beyond their electoral districts. They're playing with the back of maritime navigation all over the world."

"The senators who have to explain to the people, not to the people who have to explain to the senators," he added in an interview.

Torrijos voted in the morning and invited three dozen foreign observers to check on the voting.

Everyone 18 and over was eligible to vote. Those voting were fingerprinted, required to present identification cards which were punched, and their thumbs were inked.

The main treaty, one of two signed in Washington Sept. 7 by Torrijos and President Carter, provides for the United States to surrender the canal and the 30-square-mile canal zone to Panama by the year 2000. The second document declares the waterway a neutral zone and allows U.S. intervention in the event of a threat to its security.

Torrijos and his government waged a strong campaign in favor of the treaties, but opponents were determined to speak out. It was the first time since he took over the government in a 1985 coup that a political issue in which there was any opposition to the government was debated publicly.

Five senators filed suit in Tallahassee (AP) — Attorneys for five state senators who have been charged by the Ethics Commission have filed suit in the 1st District Court of Appeals to keep the commission's findings from going to the Senate.

"They claim the action would be 'unconstitutional and illegal.'"

Officials Happy Over Launch

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP) — Space agency officials made little or no effort to hide their joy after Saturday's successful launch of a Delta rocket, which pushed two international satellites into space in a flawless lift-off.

"It was a great feeling — it was euphoric!" said George Page, launch director for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Cape Canaveral. "It is much easier to do it this way."

Nessen: TV News 'Shallow'

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — Sen. Nessen, a former presidential press secretary and NBC television reporter, says broadcast journalism is "shallow and thoughtless."

Nessen, former President Ford's press aide, told a conference this weekend at Whitman College: "Television cannot deal in a serious way with complex issues that we all face daily. It does not deal with abstract ideas, long-term social trends or even the language."

However, he said television does well in portraying conflict, staged or dramatic events.

She Kills Husband Of 3 Hours Following Honeymoon

MIAMI (AP) — A woman who police say killed her husband three hours after marrying him is being held in the Dade County Jail without bond.

A preliminary hearing for the bride-widow, Betty Brown, 33, will be held Nov. 10 in the stabbing death of Charlie Brown, 49.

Police say Mrs. Brown, who spent her honeymoon night in jail, stabbed her husband in the heart with a butcher knife to end an argument that started the night before.

Police said the two had lived together in Miami for about three months.

Ignoring Law May Cost

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Drivers who flout mandatory auto-insurance laws may find themselves without their driver's licenses, auto tags or both next year, say state highway safety officials.

They say about 50,000 persons could be trapped next year in a crackdown on the state's drivers who ignore the law. Enforcement of the law has been spotty, but that's about to change, officials say.

The Love And Tourism Chain

COCOA BEACH (AP) — Thousands of people stood together to form a human chain stretching more than 30 miles along the beach here, promoting love and tourism.

Police estimated the cheering crowd that withstood Saturday's rain at 60,000 to 70,000. Among those holding hands in the chain were crippled children in wheelchairs, Girl Scouts, tourists, toddlers, and senior citizens in their 80s.

"It was a very moving experience," said author George Filmon, who helped originate the idea for the civic promotion.

The organization, one of 17 agencies served by United Way, furnishes food and clothing to needy persons. The United Way fund-raising drive ends the first week of November.

You're Paying For State Employee Garb

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The state pays for thousands of dollars worth of clothing for law enforcement officials, physicians, cooks and other employees each year and also takes care of the laundry bills.

They are called perquisites and nobody knows what the total annual tab comes to, except that it's in the millions of dollars.

A House committee has set out to try to get a handle on the cost and justification for the so-called fringe benefits. The perquisites are figured in setting salaries of the personnel that get them, according to budget officials.

They range from a rent-free Tallahassee mansion, complete with limousines, food and a staff of servants for the governor to a pair of $20 coveralls for the technician who installs and maintains electronic equipment at Florida Tech in Orlando.

House Speaker Don Tucker appointed Rep. Robert F. Fox, Miami, to head a committee to review the entire area, find out if there are abuses and recommend changes in the system.

A perquisite is anything that tends to reduce the expenses of an employee and each one must be approved by the Department of Administration.

They used to be more viable, particularly in the university system, where presidents of the two oldest institutions once lived in rent-free homes and drove fancy state cars.

Now, they receive a car and housing allowance as part of their salary and the amount cannot be easily separated. At Florida State University, where President Bernie Sliger is required to occupy a 5-bedroom, 4 bath residence standing on 20 acres of land, the allowance is $685.70 a month which he pays to the state.

At the University of Florida, the allowance is $300 a month which the president returns to the state for living in a 6-bedroom, 5-bath mansion on the campus.

The committee is using the Department of Natural Resources as the key agency in its study because, according to Rep. Tommy Hassard, D-Jacksonville, it gives more perquisites than other agencies.

Charles Thomas, DNR Internal Program Coordinator, said all 22 members of the marine patrol receive uniforms, including shoes, and allowances for keeping them clean. The cleaning allowance totals $2,688 a year.

In its parish division, he said, perquisites include uniforms and an allowance for 477 field personnel, housing for 351 employees, and telephones for 114 personnel.

A number of aides to cabinet officials have state-financed phones in their homes for after-hours work. Some highway Patrol troopers and other law enforcement officers are assigned state cars as they are on 24-hour call.

Physicians in the state hospitals and health service get coats and smocks and free laundry services. All food service workers are provided the uniforms they must wear in state institutions. It costs $500 a year for uniforms for seven staff members at the governor's mansion.

When industrial relations judges get their robes cleaned twice a year, the state pays the bill at the rate of $2.50 per robe.

Ball In Arab Court

It took Prime Minister Menachem Begin's cabinet nearly five hours to agree that, yes, Israel will go to Geneva under the terms of the "working paper" offered by President Carter and Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan.

As read by Mr. Dayan before the Israeli parliament, the paper proposes that Israel would sit down with the Arabs in four separate working groups representing Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon, and that Palestinians would be included in the Egyptian and Jordanian groups.

The working paper appears to treat this problem by declaring that the conference will be run according to the terms of United Nations Resolutions 242 and 338. Any change in the structure of the meetings would have to be approved by all parties.

But the Begin government has bought the working draft, come what may. It will take more than a few hours to get a final response, however.

President Carter and the State Department, still hopeful of getting Geneva reconvened by December, now will be leaning on the Arabs to accept the draft as-is or with a minimum of change.

A breakdown or failure to make visible progress toward a settlement could have serious political repercussions in the Middle East. To build up hopes among Palestinians that a settlement of their long quarrel with Israel is at hand, and then let those hopes evaporate, could radicalize the political temper in Egypt and Syria and reverse the trend toward moderation in their government policies.

Carter Aide Mislead On Canal Foes

WASHINGTON — Unless President Carter learns to distinguish the symptoms from the disease, his allies Panama Canal treaties are going to die on the operating table of the United States Senate.

For starters, the President had better find a more sensitive diagnostician than Hamilton Jordan, who seems to have a grossly oversimplified notion of what is bothering the Senate about the canal pact.

Some of these bastards don't have the spine to vote their mail. If you change their mail, you change their minds. Jordan said recently, according to the New York Times.

Needless to mention, his analysis did not sit well with members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who must cast the first votes on Carter's treaties.

It is not the avalanche of adverse mail which has jeopardized the canal pact on Capitol Hill, but rather the deep-seated and widespread public opposition to the treaties which both the mail and the opinion polls reflect.

Carter and his Georgia mafia may have forgotten the lessons of the past decade, if indeed they ever learned them. But there are others who have not.

In a democracy, any policy that, over the long term, involves substantial risks must have the support of the American people, if not the support of the New York Times.

They ought to know, if anyone should. And there was not a senator in the hearing room who did not shiver slightly at the ghosts of Vietnam as Kissinger and Rusk delivered their warnings.

As it happens, both men vigorously support the proposed Panama Canal treaties — and the fear of another Vietnam is very much a part of their reasoning.

Without a treaty, Kissinger warned, it is almost inevitable that the United States will have to resort to force to keep the canal open. "In five years or so, our forces there are likely to be facing guerrilla action," he predicted grimly.

There is, of course, no guarantee that ratification of the treaties will forever remove the need for armed U.S. intervention to maintain the neutrality of the canal.

But as Kissinger and Rusk noted, the treaties would provide legal and moral justification for such action — not just to other nations, but to our own.

"The American people will be comfortable only if they perceive the use of force to have some legal and moral basis," Kissinger said.

Members of the Foreign Relations Committee were deeply impressed by Rusk and Kissinger, calling their testimony "the most persuasive yet" in support of the canal treaties.

But the most crucial advice of the two former secretaries of state had to offer was directed not at the Senate, but at Carter: "Public opinion must be won over."

"No one can do it except the president," said Kissinger. "It is not enough to answer an occasional question at a press conference, or to send administration officials to the Hill for occasional testimony."

Now we've learned that the bottom of legal with the American Bar Association, contacted with the FBI to discuss the left-wing National Lawyers Guild. The FBI never was interested in the guild's national office and did not feel that the guild's national office was a threat to the FBI.

The guild came under FBI surveillance and was considered a subversive organization, but because of its reputation for radicalism, support of civil liberties and its political views were directed toward the left.

One month later, Canfield openly notified the FBI and Nichols advised the committee in a confidential memo. The memo stated there will be an attempt to persuade the guild to discontinue its activities.

GOP's Right On Rise

WASHINGTON — The Republican national committee recently voted overwhelmingly to oppose the ratification of the new canal treaties with Panama; so did leaders of the party in California. Complex issues of foreign policy are hardly the province of the national committee (which exists primarily to keep the party organization intact between presidential elections) and its vote is binding on no one.

It is not the avalanche of adverse mail which has jeopardized the canal pact on Capitol Hill, but rather the deep-seated and widespread public opposition to the treaties which both the mail and the opinion polls reflect.

Carter and his Georgia mafia may have forgotten the lessons of the past decade, if indeed they ever learned them. But there are others who have not.

Welfare Plan Salvage

By PEGGY SIMPSON Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's welfare plan has been before Congress for scarcely seven weeks, and people already are talking about a salvage operation.

At hearings before the special House welfare subcommittee last week, witnesses casually talked about what might be saved from the overall $92.3 billion package.

Nobody agreed on what should be salvaged any more than they agreed what should be abandoned.

But the widespread uneasiness with the cost, the lack of guarantee of jobs for all poor persons wanting them or the low level of benefits has raised the specter that Carter's plan faces the same conflicting expectations that killed former President Nixon's proposed welfare reform.

Brookings economist Richard Nathan, who says the present welfare system has been fine-tuned to rid it of most errors, says the early enthusiastic reactions to Carter's plan were misleading.

"The government, in particular, were quite eager to see some fiscal relief coming their way," Nathan said. But after hard study of the details, many "are coming forward not with questions but with criticisms, and quite a few, myself included, conclude that this really isn't a good approach."

Governors and other state officials are among the 80 witnesses scheduled to testify in the weeks ahead. But some key groups already have been heard.

The unions are skeptical that the private sector jobs will exist in the numbers the administration says they will. They are afraid that the 14 million public jobs funded jobs for welfare recipients will be made work jobs, or worse, be genuine jobs paying only the minimum wage that will compete with jobs paying higher wages held by unionized city or county workers.

Women's groups are skeptical that either kind of job will be provided for the bulk of the existing welfare population, women with children, and they are uncertain whether to push hard for the rest of the package.

The associations representing the 15 million blind and disabled citizens say the President's program doesn't provide high enough benefits for their constituents and, furthermore, assumes they are all unemployed. The associations said many disabled and blind persons "need only an active job training and placement program in order to become employable."

And the President's prime Senate sponsor, New York Democrat Daniel Patrick Moynihan, says that despite his initial praise he now has read the bill with criticism, and quite a few "grievously disappointing."

Some critics say Moynihan is retreating against the White House after not getting a guarantee of immediate fiscal aid to New York City, but, whatever his motives, his two-sides-dramatically focused attention on the problems Carter faces in getting his program through.

TEMPERS FLARE AFTER FLORIDA-TENNESSEE FINISH

SCC Splits Twin Bill Three Place In Karate Tourney

The South Seminoles Community College baseball team split an exhibition double header with St. Leo last weekend, winning 14-6 and losing 3-1.

Don Brownell pitched an excellent game in the 14-6 victory, throwing 100 pitches and striking out 14 batters.

Red Raboin paced the win with three hits, two singles and a triple.

Bill Buchanan, Len Sotillo, and Stu D'Ercole each had two hits for SCC.

Three Sanford residents placed in the Rollins Karate Tournament last weekend.

Bruce Nelson placed second in the men's heavyweight, white belt, division.

In the junior division, Mickey Deiter (age 15-4) took a second place and Joe Russi (15-1) placed third.

Miami Upset Mars State's Grid Luck

By The Associated Press All five of Florida's football-playing schools were expected to win against their weaker opponents last weekend, and the scenario went as predicted except for Miami, stunned by Texas Christian in a 21-17 upset.

The game-clinching score for the Horned Frogs came on a blocked punt in the fourth quarter with Miami leading 17-14.

The Hurricanes, who had taken the lead by scoring 11 points in the third quarter to erase a 4-0 halftime disadvantage, strove to an even 3-3 record with the loss. The win gives the Frogs, who dumped Rice two weeks ago, only the second victory in their last 17 outings.

Key, who scored two touchdowns and rained for a school record of 170 yards in the game. It was the best game for the senior from Inverness as a Seminoles and boosted his career total at FSU to 2,442 yards.

FSU's cross-town neighbor, Florida State, kept its unbeaten streak in tact by outscoring Tennessee State at Nashville 4-7 in the second half to overcome a 21-16 halftime disadvantage.

The Gators travel to Alabama this Saturday for a SEC game with Auburn, which fell to Florida State last week for the first time in 11 matchups.

The Seminoles win snapped a 16-game losing streak against SEC opponents and was spearheaded by the running of Larry Pat Evans scored on runs of 43 and 28 yards to boost Tuskawilla to another Junior Midgets victory in the Pop Warner Football League's Saturday, Central Florida Division 37-18 over Winter Park.

Evans was the key in the game for the undefeated squad which now has a record of 6-0.

Lions' Loss Closes Rough County Week

By DAN RUTLEDGE Herald Correspondent

ROCKLEDGE — Oviedo made it unanimous Saturday night — it was a losing weekend for Seminole County football — in a span.

For the first time this year, so one in the county won a game.

Four plays later, on the first play of the final stanza, Tim Boorse burst into the end zone from 18 yards out to make the score 20-4. Peter Falck poked the margin one point with a perfect conversion ball.

Oviedo scored its second, and last, touchdown on the ensuing series. Rockledge, 41-4.

The besting administered to Oviedo by the Raiders wasn't quite as bad as the score indicated — but close enough.

The Raiders did not get two touchdowns in the final two minutes, the last coming with just six seconds left in the game; but by that time, Oviedo was already thoroughly beaten.

The Lions' head coach, Joe Montgomery, put it this way after the game: "We stunk: from coaching to playing, from first quarter to last."

"It wasn't just bad out there," he continued. "We had some people do some good things. There were some fumble recoveries, some good hits, some nice runs in the first two minutes, the last coming with just six seconds left in the game; but by that time, Oviedo was already thoroughly beaten."

Montgomery is probably right on that point — the Lions did not appear ready.

Rockledge took the opening kickoff and ran through, literally, the Oviedo defense in 11 plays for their first score. It was five-sixty-seven yards a clip, right down the field.

Oviedo ran just two plays before giving the ball back — on the first of four Marvin McClemon fumbles.

Rockledge got the ball on its own 40; and moved in for its own quick contact, Joe Montgomery — he'd like to know, Joe is head coach of the Oviedo Lions; and at this point he'll try about anything within reason.

Saturday afternoon he took his entire team on a beach party... at Cocoa Beach, just a few hours before playing Rockledge Saturday night.

It was a chance for the Oviedo players to set a new precedent, a new tradition. Maybe beach parties before every game!

But they blew it. The Oviedo team bus was rocking on the way to the game... Several members players brought portable radios, and the bus bogged to the beach to the tunes of K.C. and the Sunshine Band (appropriately), the Eagles, etc.

Conversation was loud, boisterous, and playful. Needless to say, there was plenty of spirit.

It was a change of pace, from Montgomery's usual game-day style.

"This is something new," he informed his listeners. "I usually don't allow any talking — must be radioed — or playing around on game days."

"In the past we've tried to collect our thoughts on the way to a game; think about our opponent, and what we have to do. But we are losing (1-5 prior to the Rockledge loss), and when you are losing, you'll try anything that might work," Montgomery said.

Oviedo Grid Woe In Wanting To Win?

One Reading Not Enough

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 56 years old and feel just great. However, I was in a department store last week and had my blood pressure taken for a dollar. The attendant said it was just a little high. I live on a pension and cannot afford to go to a doctor all the time to have this problem checked.

Can you tell me what I can do daily to keep my blood pressure down as this might be a tendency to atherosclerosis (hardening of the arteries). It is important to keep your cholesterol level down. That is usually accomplished by diet and exercise. There are medicines that will help in some cases if this fails to do the trick. Keep your weight down, don't smoke, stick to a proper lowfat, low cholesterol diet and, if your legs permit, try to build up your exercise program through walking.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a low cholesterol level from 225 to 235, but I have been told that I have bad circulation in my legs and they ache every morning. Is there anything I can do to reduce the hardening in my arteries?

DEAR Reader — Your description of your legs aching in the morning bothers me. Leg pain from poor circulation are more apt to occur with exertion, although it is true that in some disorders of circulation muscle cramps can occur without exertion. If you can walk and exert yourself normally I would think that it is less likely that your aching legs are due to poor circulation.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am not disagreeing with your doctor's statement that you have poor circulation but perhaps your interpretation that this causes your morning leg aches is not correct. You might ask him if you can see a specialist in orthopedics to evaluate your leg discomfort.

School Officials Paving Way For Midway Integration Move

By MARVYN SHEEDAN Herald Staff Writer
At the start of the 1978-79 school year 137 white students from Goldboro and Pincrest Elementary Schools will begin attending Midway Elementary, a school now made up almost entirely of black students.

Integration of Midway at the beginning of the new school year was ordered by U.S. District Judge George C. Young on Oct. 18. Young had originally issued the same order on August 25, but it was challenged by officials of the U.S. Dept. of Justice who wanted the school integrated in the middle of the current school year.

Already school officials are paving the way for an easy blend of students from the two affected schools into Midway. "We are planning an extensive orientation program before the first of the year, to acquaint the students with each other, and to encourage parents to meet teachers and explore the school," School Superintendent William P. Laver said.

School officials already have determined which students will be attending Midway from the two other schools and the students and their parents already know who they are, Laver said.

The superintendent said the details of the orientation program are not yet worked out, but at a recent school board meeting he indicated parents and students would be invited to visit Midway in the spring.

C.C. Roberts, principal at Goldboro for 11 years, thinks the orientation is a great idea — and he also would like to see parents give more thought to the move to Midway now, so they will be more thoroughly prepared next year when it happens.

"I don't think many parents are examining the situation yet," Roberts said. "I would suggest parents go to the school, examine the plant, look around."

Police Reach Accord

The Casselberry City Council at a special 7:30 p.m. meeting Wednesday will consider a Florida Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) recommendation for personnel of its police department.

Det. Gary Miller, president of the FOP, Lodge 108, Casselberry, said today the membership of the union has approved and submitted the proposed contract granting police personnel a 6 per cent cost-of-living pay raise given earlier to other nonunion city employees and setting forth a grievance procedure.

Miller said a contract between the FOP and the city has been under consideration for the past two months.

He noted that under Florida law the city could not grant police personnel the pay raise until a contract is approved.

"We did not ask for anything more" than the other employees were given, Miller said. He said that formerly all grievances had to be handled through the police chief's office and the contract now sets a new grievance procedure.

Gubernatorial Candidate Addresses Sanford Group

Williams Blasts Shevin, Campaign Heats

Will the successful packing by Democratic gubernatorial candidate, Attorney General Robert Shevin, of the delegates to the Democrats' min-convention in Orlando in November help or hurt his campaign for his party's nomination?

Lt. Gov. Jim Williams in Sanford Monday for a luncheon with campaign supporters insisted that Shevin did not broaden his base of support at all by having his delegates — a coalition of supporters and teacher union members — elected in most of the state's 67 county caucuses early this month.

In addition, Williams said the move alienated "a lot of local time party workers" who had wanted to go to the convention and may have done his opponent more harm than good.

Williams said Monday he doesn't expect Gov. Reubin Askew to resign his office to accept a federal appointment which could result in Williams stepping into the governor's seat. He said Askew has been offered the opportunity of going to Washington before and declined.

Set Public Hearing

Sanford Seeks Smelting Plant Solution

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer
The Sanford City Commission Monday night set a public hearing for 7 p.m., Nov. 21 to "try to find a meeting of the minds" between spokesmen for Keller Industries Inc. and Silver Lake residents, opponents of Keller's plan to locate an aluminum smelting plant in their neighborhood.

The hearing was called at the suggestion of ex-county Attorney Howard Marres, representing the Silver Lake property owners. Marres said an alternative to legal action by the group against the city might be a hearing where the questions of state and federal regulations in relation to the environment as well as the economic growth to be generated could be answered.

Mayor Lee P. Moore said the city has agreed to sponsor an industrial development bond issue for the industry and that the proposed site at Melville and Silver Lake Road is property owned for the enterprise. He added that the tract was zoned by the county 15 years ago and annexed by the city without the zoning being changed several years ago.

YOUR CAR, MA'M

Riding children on your back can get downright tiring for "Beauty," a 250-lb. shetland pony at Sanford's Village Flea Market. So he takes a regular break, courtesy of owner Paul Konitzer, who brings his companion car around — and then adds a little liquid refreshment for the hard-working pony.
