Our neighborhood was sadly shocked last Wednesday morning when we heard of the death of little Thelma Wynn, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wynn. She was only sick a few hours, having taken pneumonia on Tuesday, and her little spirit took its flight at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Steinmeyer of Sanford, and the body was laid to rest in Lakeview cemetery. The deepest sympathy is felt for the family in their bereavement.

Mrs. B. J. Overstreet of Lockhart and Willie Wynn of Ft. Myers were called home by the death of their little sister, Thelma Wynn.

Mrs. L. A. Summerlin of Jacksonville is home on visit to her father, C. C. Humphrey.

J. H. Wynn has been quite sick for the past few days, but we hope to see him out again soon.

Mr. and Mrs. I. V. Stenstrom and little I. V. Jr., spent last Sunday with Mr. N. J. Stenstrom on the West Side.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Humphrey drove over to Winter Garden last Sunday in their car. They report pleasant trip.

There will be services at Ebenezer church next Sunday conducted by Rev. H. D. Jones. All are cordially invited to attend.

A. K. Lucas was called to Orlando last week to attend the funeral of one of his friends from Panama, the body having been brought there for interment.

BATHS AND THEN SOME

PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE A BATH WHETHER THEY NEED IT OR NOT

BY STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

To bathe or not to bathe! Of course, we all thought that matter had been definitely settled long ago, when the old Romans spent big fortunes in building their bathing places of marble, surrounding them with every luxury imaginable, and made their bathing a kind of social function, inviting in the neighbors and spending hours at the entertainment. But it seems to have been questioned recently by some eminent medical authorities writing in their journals, whether or not the average man or woman bathe so frequently, whether they should take a cold plunge or shower or a hot bath; whether they should use soap or not, and if so, what kind; whether it is safe to bathe immediately before or immediately after a hearty meal—indeed the whole subject seems to have been upset and must be settled over again for the satisfaction of those who are disturbed by the learned discussion of the ultra-scientific.

It is a matter about which each of us is quite likely to have rather fixed views and probably most of us consider bathing next to eating, an absolute necessity hygienically and for comfort. Yet it is remarkable to note the splendid physical condition of some individuals, particularly among the negro race, whose record for bathing is an absolute blank. The proverbial small boy seems to have an antipathy for water—cold water, at any rate—and his chosen bathing season closes about the middle of September when the old "swimming hole" becomes too chilly for comfort.

But the matter of bathing is an important one, especially in warmer climates like that of Florida, and, strange as it may seem, the bath may be much abused, wrongly used or neglected with the result of serious physical harm.

The primary use of the bath is to secure cleanliness to remove from the surface of the skin the accumulations of refuse matter brought out through the pores. Perspiration contains a considerable percentage of solid matter, which remains on the skin while the moisture is evaporated or is absorbed by the clothing. This solid matter soon becomes offensive and, according to some authorities, is taken back into the body if not frequently removed by bathing, and it may produce a slow poisoning. The pores become clogged and their natural function is disturbed.

The use of the cold bath is a matter of individual choice. The tendency of a bath of a temperature very much lower than that of the body is to drive the blood from the surface, and to produce congestion in the internal organs, the heart, liver, lungs or brain. If, however, the condition of the circulatory system is such that the heart is able to force the blood back to the surface and to produce a healthy glow, the result is invigorating, stimulating the heart action, and cannot but be beneficial.

But as every individual is not possessed of such strong heart action, the cold bath is not a safe indulgence for all. If the result is not a prompt reaction of blood to the surface, a dangerous condition may be the alternative.

The physiological effect of the hot bath is to draw the blood to the surface and away from the brain, producing a lassitude which makes exertion either of the body or the brain a decided effort, until normal conditions are restored. Therefore, the hot bath should never be taken by the individual in normal health, in the morning, when the day's work is before him. The proper time is just before retiring, when sleep will be encouraged by the resulting "tired" condition. The cold bath is not so desirable at night as in the morning for the same reasons.

The relation of the bath to meal time is not generally well understood. The function of digestion draws the energy of the physical system to the stomach. Whatever may interfere with the normal attraction of the blood toward the stomach at such time will interrupt or arrest the process of indigestion. Any interference with such blood circulation or its attraction toward the skin surface may produce such result. Unless the individual is sufficiently vigorous to resist or to overcome this effect, his all-over bath should not be taken until digestion has so far been accomplished that the blood energy may be safely diverted. Eating and digestion should be under normal conditions of body, undisturbed by extraordinary demands upon the circulatory system. Therefore don't bathe within an hour before dinner nor within two hours after.

How often should we bathe? Often enough to keep clean. A plunge or a shower in the morning with a temperature adapted to the physical constitution of the individual, and a sponge-off at night, are not excessive, and we may preserve health with one good washing each day.

Obviously the warm or hot bath is almost a necessity to every one occasionally for cleanliness, because for that purpose it is more effective than cold water. And the matter of cleanliness brings up the matter of soap, for soap is a necessity. Its alkalis dissolve the acids of perspiration and remove them more quickly and thoroughly than water alone can do.

The essential differences between the numerous varieties of soap are in their relative percentages of available alkali. Too much of this will attack the skin itself, eating into it and leaving not only the dirt but the epidermis, the outer thin covering—if allowed to remain long. And there is almost as much difference between the skins of individuals as between the expressions of their faces. Some skins may be able to withstand saponio and even pumice stone with little apparent effect, while others would be much soothed by excessive use of the most dainty of toilet soaps.

For the baths of very young babies the only soap allowable is one very low in its content of alkali. Ans so the use of soap to be used safely is a thing to be determined by each person, according to the texture of the skin. Experiment with various kinds will eventually determine the variety adapted to his use.

The use of the bath here is considered here entirely as a sanitary matter. No reference is intended to its curative value for weakened conditions, and physicians have found large uses for it under such circumstances.

The probability is small that the average Floridian abuses the bath, either in summer or winter, at least not by overindulgence. The bathroom is as much a necessity as the dining room in the Florida home. Cleanliness is as W in the Florida home. Cleanliness is essential to healthfulness and both are conducive to a spirit of godliness, of which no one has credited Florida with having more than its due share.

LET THE CULLS PAY THE COST

Great are the profits of citrus culture in Florida; greater might they be if, as the Times-Union has several times urged, the culls and drops were made a source of income to the grove owners, as there are in other lands, instead of being an utter loss to the growers.

In the current number of the Country Gentleman, Barton W. Currie treats of By-Products of the Citrus Trees, and gives much well digested information and suggestion concerning the citrus industry of Florida, written in that lively style that holds the reader's attention. It is the part of the article relating to the most unbusinesslike waste—that is allowed in every grove of the state, which could be avoided, that we wish to consider.

Mr. Currie's attention was drawn at Bradenton to this waste, for he says he "saw hundreds of acres carpeted with culls and drops, and learned that from just one grapefruit grove 20,000 of these golden discards were thrown into the Manatee river, to be fished out by men and boys and sold to the hotel keepers at 50 cents a box." When he arrived at home he, merely as an experiment, had some of these spotted oranges and grapefruits made into marmalade which he "wouldn't swap for many of the Dundee product."

This Dundee marmalade is made of oranges imported from Scotland from Italy and Spain, and much of it is imported into this country, and is accounted a great delicacy, some of it being sold even in this land of the orange—oranges which are better than the best raised in southern Europe.

At Bradenton, Mr. Currie talked to members of the local board of trade, one of whom, Mr. Graham said to him:

"There's a bad flaw in our trade balances. We sell our home-grown cabbages at two and three cents a pound, and buy back northern cabbages at ten cents a pound; we import eggs for five cents a pound; potatoes cost us twenty-five cents a pound; potatoes cost us twenty cents a peck, and so on throughout a long list. Once we establish cold-storage facilities and a canning plant or two, we may reverse some of these unbalanced balances, for there is nothing we can't raise in this wide open country of ours."

As bad a flaw as any in our trade balances is the selling of out-of-citrus fruits "in the raw" and buying back the products in the shape of perfumes and food articles. Mr. Currie also speaks of "tons of culls," he saw in the packing house of one grove, a dead loss to the owner, and rightly concludes that the greater strictness of the growers in grading up and standardizing their packs will add increasingly to the number culled. But this opinion is that which has been advanced by the Times-Union that "once they can draw from their by-products they can maintain an even higher grade of pack."

While much of this article in the Country Gentleman is devoted to correction of the misleading statements put forth by certain land companies as to the ease with which the greater profits in citrus culture—in favorable years—can be secured, we are more immediately concerned with the pictures by sketches out, or hints at, of the greater future of the citrus industry if proper means are taken to utilize much of what is now thrown away. In this connection we draw attention to Citrus Fruit By-Products, in the Times-Union of March 26th last, a clipping from a letter to the New York Packer of the previous Saturday, dated at Los Angeles, in which the writer tells of what California is essaying to do. In that letter the writer "gets down to brass tacks," and gives figures that are highly interesting, at least. We give an extract.

"The Covina company claims the following by-products from five pounds of oranges: Eight quarts of juice, valued at $1.20; two and one-half ounces of oil, 47 cents; dried peel, 5 cents; vinegar, 5 cents; fertilizer, 6 cents; making a total of $1.82. Even if one-half of this amount could be obtained, the manufacturer of by-products could be put on the basis of great commercial success. This company claims a process by which orange juice may be kept an indefinite length of time, retaining its natural flavor."

This Covina Company has not yet got to work, and it may not have the success it anticipates. But think of the prospects of making $1.82 from a box of cull oranges, even frozen oranges, how well will,

SECTION OF JACKSONVILLE'S WATER FRONT

Jacksonville, Fla., March.—One of the triumphs of bridge-engineering and building in the southern states was accomplished at Jacksonville, Fla., by the Florida East Coast railroad in bringing the St. Johns River across traffic between the East Coast of Florida and the balance of the world, since practically all of it passes over the structure. The illustration also shows a section of Jacksonville's eleven miles of deep water front. During the Confederate reunion in May excursions to historic points will be arranged on St. Johns river steamers, and pleasure craft.

—A New Remedy—

REMARKABLE RECORD OF GROWER

A NEW MAN ON NEW SOIL IN THE BLACK HAMMOCK HAS MADE GOOD

Not all the celery, lettuce and other vegetables grown in Florida's winter gardens are grown at Sanford, although they are grown here on a larger scale than at any other point in the world. Seminole county holds the banner of all counties in vegetable raising and over around Oviedo they have some of the finest soil and some of the finest fruits and vegetables that Dame Nature and the skill of man can produce.

There has been an old saying worn threadbare that no celery can be raised on new land. Many a grower had failed in trying to raise celery and lettuce on new land. Some there are who can show results made on new ground but the heart grows faint when the question chased three acres of hammock land in Black Hammock and being a practical farmer in his home state knew land and farming but knew practically nothing about Florida lands or crops. But his German thrift came to his aid and he cleared up his land and drained it well but did not till it. He planted lettuce on the land and had a good yield and sold to advantage. He had already planted celery between the rows, as the Sanford growers generally do in order to get all that is coming to them out of the ground and the celery proved to be as good a crop as the lettuce. He raised over one thousand crates to the acre this season being made especially for the celery growers and he marketed confronts them of trying to grow these vegetables on the new land of Florida - a soil that gives the richest returns in good tilth but is fitful as a sixteen year old maiden when first the farmer attempts to raise vegetables on new land that has just been cleared and plowed and planted. Other crops can be raised in plenty but they are scarce and after other difficulties encountered and these difficulties seem to fade away after the soil has been nurtured for several years by fertilizer, soil sweeteners and rotation of staple crops.

It is with considerable pride then that The Herald chronicles the achievement of a new farmer on new land in this article. It sets aside all precedents and shows that no man can prognosticate with any degree of certainty as to just what Florida soil can grow. In fact there seems to be no limit to the possibilities of our ground. Carl Graf came to Oviedo on August 6, 1913. He pur-

A FLORIDA ALLIGATOR FARM

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 1—Visitors to the Confederate Reunion in Jacksonville, May 6-8 inclusive, will have an opportunity to see one of the largest alligator farms in the country. The Florida alligator farm is located at Phoenix Park, connected with the city by trolley lines, and is a popular place with all visitors. The illustration here shown is a pen of the largest alligators in the collection of some 300. The oldest alligator in captivity is owned by this farm. The specimen is about 250 years old and weighs 921 pounds.

THE DEVIL OF DEBT

I have seen many instances where young men who had started life with practically nothing, through saving and economy, accumulated enough to make them comfortable in their old age, but never heard of any one who lived to the advanced age of 60 who, spent all of his income, who is put a charge upon his friends or the community. My experience for years on the bench convinces me that most criminals begin such because in their early life they did not acquire the habit of saving.

Gov. Wm. J. Mills of New Mexico

A MORTGAGE is the most ingenious device to compel the payment of a debt. By the same token, it is a good investment for the man with money to lend. But that's another story which means nothing to you if you are still in the interest paying class and not yet among the fortunate ones who receive interests.

The devil of debt seems to be on the heels of a great many persons nowadays on account of the many seductive temptations there are to live beyond one's means.

Debtors are no longer cast into prison, but getting into debt is putting a mortgage on one's income. It is discounting tomorrow's independence for today's good time.

Debt is a monument to the young man's weakness, a grown man's folly, and an old man's failure.

Debt is a quiet claim to your wife's confidence, your children's ambitions and your own self-respect.

Then what are you going to do?" says a chorus of young fellows and business men and aspiring women and laborers and clerks and farmers and managers and hundreds more.

Do without.

It will take some stamina and courage.

Room for Courage.

There is no duty so small, no trial so slight, that it does not afford room for courage. It has a meaning and value for every phase of existence: for the workshop had for the battlefield, for the stricken city and for the lonely desert, for the sick room and for the market place, for the study and for the counting house, for the church and for the drawing room.

For courage is just strength of heart, and the strong heart makes itself felt everywhere, and lifts up the whole of life, and embodies it, and makes it move directly to its chosen aim.—Henry van Dyke.

Peculiar Natural Fact.

One of the puzzles of nature is the fact that many springs show an increased flow of water several hours before a coming rain begins to fall. Various explanations have been attempted, the most plausible being that the weather before a storm is often of the kind which checks loss of moisture from the ground by evaporation, and hence leaves more to feed the springs.

Trees Resist Lightning.

The electrical resistance of trees is quite great, a quality which protects them to a considerable degree from lightning stroke. This resistance varies greatly with the character of the tissues and also with the temperature. This fact results in an annual and daily period in resistance. The cambium layer shows the least electrical resistance, followed by the phloem and sapwood.

Financial Explanation.

"Well, sir," cried Mr. Richpop, "what does this mean? My daughter sitting on your lap, sir?" "Why, yes, Mr. Richpop," said Wagley. "You see, sir, I have just suggested a consolidation of our interests, and I have undertaken to act as a holding company until the merger is completed according to established forms."

John Adams' Treatment for Cold.
In a letter dated May 12, 1774, John Adams wrote to his wife: "My cold is the most obstinate and threatening I ever had in my life. However, I am unwearyed in my endeavor to subdue it and have the pleasure to think I have had some success. I rise at 5, walk three miles, keep the air all day, and walk again in the afternoon."

To Voters of the Fourth Congressional District:

As you no doubt remember, some months ago there appeared in the papers of the district an article stating that I would possibly be a candidate for Congress from the Fourth District. Both of our local papers have formally made my announcement and given me their hearty endorsement, and I now desire to state that I am in the race to the end, and sincerely trust your knowledge of myself is such as to justify you in giving me your valuable support.

While it is the ambition of my life to go to congress, I want to go there, and will only go there with clean hands, and will say that if I am honored by being the choice of my constituents, I shall fearlessly and impartially represent each and every section of the district, and shall work for the advancement of the state.

I shall not wait for my friends to do all the work, but shall lend them every assistance possible. However, having to rely largely upon them, I sincerely trust that you can and will at every opportunity say a good word for me.

It is the duty of each and every voter to thoroughly investigate the candidates offering for any office, and after they have done so to vote for the one whom they believe, more from his record than his words, will best represent the interests of the people. Believing this, I desire only to say, I trust the best man will win.

Thanking you for any assistance rendered, I beg to remain,

Yours very truly,
W. J. SEARS.

The Oceanic Multitude.

Every multitude is in its nature like the ocean, which, though in itself incapable of motion, is excited by storms and winds. So, also, in yourself there is calm and there are storms; but the cause and origin of your fury are entirely attributable to those who led you on; you have caught your madness by contagion.—Scipio Africanus Major.

When Florida has woman suffrage Bob Holly will be numbered among the Invincible.—Arcadia News.

Why not Polk county press association? We have enough editors in Polk to get up a right respectable association and we believe it would promote good reading.—Standard—Mulberry Herald.

The right idea, brother. We have organized in this neck of the woods and the good effect is already noticeable.

Some one called Senator Fletcher a reactionary (whatever that means) and now President Wilson has announced that Senator Fletcher is not a reactionary. This ought to satisfy the general public and now will the class in civil government please stand up and tell us what a reactionary and a progressive really means. If these names have anything to do with the Mexican rebels we will have the whole bunch shot at him.

Brother Holly, we are going to elect a man in Leon county to fill that chair. He is Hon. John L. Neely, whose large competency will just fit the easy seat, and his brain is as big as his body. Friend Lake is too lean to look well in the Speaker's chair.—Tallahassee True Democrat.

It takes the lean ones to make the long race, brother. Keep your eye on Lake. He will overflow on Neely and drown him out.

Sanford has been planning for some time to bulkhead its water-front and last month sent a delegation to several cities that had placed sea walls along the water fronts to get ideas and another information. Fort Pierce must have a sea wall soon and it might be a good idea to communicate with Sanford, St. Petersburg, Eustis, Fort Myers and other cities along this line. A little later a visit to some of them would produce a lot of valuable information and many good ideas.—St. Pierco News.

Claude L'Engle will speak in the south if it should be necessary for him to do so but none of his friends think he should be called home to take the stump. His record is clear and shows that despite the fact of being crippled with rheumatism he has been on the job all the time and accomplished as much as mortal could. It would be an indignation upon him to force him to come to Florida when he is busy with the affairs of state. It would be an indignation even if he were well and able to walk but in L'Engle's present condition he should not be called upon to make a campaign.

The Herald remarks that there will be 2,000 cars of winter vegetables to go from Sanford this season. That means that there must be danger in raising Florida vegetables. Now Apalachicola does not raise vegetables for shipment to distant markets, but she does raise oysters in large quantities, and the crop never fails. In three months this winter the dealers here expressed 100,000 galloons to the various markets of the country, receiving an average price of $1.00 per gallon for all of them. These figures do not count the oysters shipped in the shell, or those packed by the canners.—Apalachicola Times.

The meeting of the Florida Press Association at Fort Myers is open to the world and everybody is invited to meet with us there and have a good time. If any of the politicians wish to meet the editor and other distinguished guests the new paper men will certainly have no objections. We met in Fort Myers to have three days of fun and pleasure in connection with some business meetings. But if business interferes with the pleasure one of the two will be cut out and it will not be pleasure. Most of us are heartily tired of politics and this probably raised the question of having politics injected into the meetings but none of the candidates expect to talk shop and all of them will be welcome.

At the meeting of the city council of Sanford held on last Monday night bids for the contract of bulkheading the lake front along Lake Monroe were opened. There were many competing bidders present and interest exhibited by the large crowd of citizens in attendance was at a high pitch. All agreed that this was the most important measure for the improvement of the city that had been inaugurated for many years, and all were anxious for a speedy and successful outcome of the project. Owing to the fact that the numerous bids were made upon different bases and were not uniform, it was impossible to award the contract at that meeting, so an adjournment was taken until the following day so as to allow time for reducing the bids to the same basis.—Tampa Times.

Among the many attractions at the coming meeting of the state press association will be a demonstration of the tango dance by Bob Holly of the Sanford Herald, assisted by George Goolsby of the Wauchula Advocate. Those who miss the performance of these two professionals will find reason to regret it.—Arcadia Enterprise.

If Carter expects us to pull off this stunt he will have to furnish us with pink tights and chiffon skirts.—Wauchula Advocate.

Not very pink tights but pink tea to get us properly keyed up.

Wayne Thoms of the Plant City Courier calls upon the growers of his section to raise watermelons. They grow plenty of strawberries and vegetables down there but few editors eat strawberries.—Plant City Courier.

Wayne's position is well taken. A country without water melons is a desert without an oasis and if Plant City refuses to grow watermelons then Plant City should be a city without a paper for no editor can properly edit a newspaper without the inspiration derived from the heart of a ripe and luscious Florida watermelon.

Some of the brethren object to newspaper candidates for the legislature and urge them to stick to their jobs. What is the point? We don't specialize in legislation in this country and have no schools where students are trained for the exclusive work of statesmanship. Members of the legislature must be drawn from the various walks of life and every man elected must quit his job for the time being to serve as Tallahassee. Capable newspaper men by the nature of their calling ought to and do have exceptional familiarity with matters coming up for legislative treatment and a good number of them in all our lawmaking bodies is an excellent ingredient.—Lakeland Telegram.

There are "no politics" at a meeting of the Florida Press Association. The boys pull each other's wool at long distance, but the happy crowd that gets together in Florida are the boys of the Fourth Estate, who gather together annually to forget the candidate and his troubles, as well as their own; and for three of four days they consume ice water la Franklin, ginger ale la Mayes, garnaparilla la Woods, limeade la Caldwell, ice tea la Bob Holly, cafe noir a la Bill Russell, orange juice la Frank Harris, and any other besides la Rube Ally. And it may be interesting to note that Rube will be there with his swallow-tail and silk hat. Fort Myers and the delegation of Seminoles that it is proposed to bring in from the wilds of the Everglades will see this buried in all its glory; and they will wonder at the tactfulness of the game.

Let not the candidate worry about the press corps. They will get theirs when he arrives home. The Florida press association meet is not a political convention, though say all the gentlemen seeking preferment will be welcome to shake hands with the big crowd.

TO HETHERINGTON

Editor Hetherington has issued invitations to be present at his opening of the magnificent new building which will house the Lakeland Telegram and the Lakeland Weekly News. We decline because the press of business will not allow us to be present but nothing would give us more pleasure than to be present with Mr. and Mrs. Hetherington when they take their stand at the threshold of the new building and greet their many friends. How their hopes and fears have alternated in the past few years when they were struggling as any newspaper people do to struggle to get on the top of the heap, and what an extreme satisfaction it will be to both of them to realize the actual result of their labors and to be with their friends while enjoying the fruits of their labors.

All newspaper men deserve independence. Few of them ever reach that pinnacle. In the past few years with the coal system and the idea taking root in their minds that they should get more for the product of their brains and hands some of them have made enough to drive the wolf from the door. Others are making a better living. Still others are running for the legislature. None of them are in jail, for which all of us are extremely thankful.

But we all rejoice in the good fortunes of the brethren. We are all hoping for the time when every member of the gang will be in his own building and be independent not only with his pen but in the financial world.

Therefore we extend greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Hetherington. May they live many years to enjoy the blessings of a fine home well won by honest toil. May all their trials and tribulations be over and may their bark float tranquilly over the still waters of the safe harbor gained by years of labor.

But They Still Are Up

"Beef prices," says Mr. Cudahy, "will gradually fall for the next six months." That is the way the Tower of Pisa has been for the past several centuries, falling.

OFFICIAL PROGRAM OF PRESS ASSOCIATION

Final arrangements for the big annual meeting of the Florida Press Association in Fort Myers have been about completed and the official program as well as the tariff of rates for round trip, between points named and Fort Myers has been announced.

The people of Fort Myers are arranging a series of receptions and entertainments that will surpass, it is said, any effort made by any city heretofore to make this a record breaker in the history of press meetings in Florida.

The Bradford hotel will be the general headquarters of the association, where Secretary T. J. Appleyard, will be found to answer questions. All the hotels have announced special rates.

Special Rates
"It may be well to state," says Secretary Appleyard, "that all persons may avail themselves of the rates given by the railroads for this occasion, and it has been requested that inasmuch as the weekly press of the state cannot publish the whole program and tariff, that they will notice the above fact, and give the rate from their town to Fort Myers; also notice that tickets to Fort Myers will be sold April 20, 21, 22 and 23, good to return up to midnight of April 30, and that this will be a splendid opportunity to see the Gate City of the Tropics."

The feature of Thursday evening, April 23, will be the address of Mrs. R. Marshall, vice president of the United States, who will be introduced by W. A. Russell of Palatka, president of the Florida Press Association. During his stay in Fort Myers Vice President Marshall will be entertained by Dr. J. B. Porter at his beautiful home.

Many Social Features

While complete arrangements for the entertainment of the delegates and distinguished visitors have not been announced from Fort Myers the board of trade of that enterprising city, together with the women's clubs and public-spirited citizens generally, are energetically at work and have planned some very interesting features.

In addition to the banquet at the Bradford hotel, April 24, many other courtesies will be extended the visitors. The three women's clubs of the city will unite in a reception to Mrs. Marshall and other visiting women.

The Fort Myers military band will meet the train bearing the vice president's party, and the Kosherian Unity Orchestra, from Ester, will furnish music during the banquet. The Fort Myers Ladies Friday Musical and the Lee county high school chorus, the latter under the direction of Prof. Berger will furnish the music for the evening sessions of the convention.

Automobile Ride

A feature of special interest will be an automobile ride over the McGregor boulevard, from Fort Myers to Punta Gorda, a splendid soft macadam road eighteen miles in length. On the way out the visitors will stop at the famous winter home of Thomas A. Edison and each will be presented with a souvenir coconut grown on the estate, while expert guides will point out the various tropical plants and shrubs. Upon their return to the city the visitors will view a magnificent display of tropical fruits, palms, etc., displayed under the direction of W. Stanley Hanson.

Other trips which are contemplated include a water trip to Fort Thompson, B. E. Goodrich having extended an invitation to the association and its guests to be his guests at an old fashioned barbecue; a trip to Estero to take lunch and to attend a concert, as the guests of the Kosherian Unity, who in the southern end of the county, sixteen miles from the court house, years ago set up in what was then the wildwoods a remarkable religious community, which owns and operates one of the largest printing establishments in Florida. A trip by the steamer, Phutan to beautiful Sanibel Island is also included in this list of entertainments. Capt. W. H. Towles, who is chairman of the board of county commissioners of Lee county and president of the city council of Fort Myers who also owns and operates two of the largest steamers on the Caloosahatchee river, the Planter and the Mildred has offered to run one or both from Fort Myers to Key West, Sunday, April 26.

An invitation has been extended the world famous Gridiron Club of Washington, D. C., to attend this meeting of the State Press Association, if which the following courteous answer has been received, and offers ground for hope that the club will be represented:

Your most courteous invitation sent in the name of the Florida Press Association to the Gridiron Club of Washington, D. C., to attend this meeting of the State Press Association, if which the following courteous answer has been received, and offers ground for hope that the club will be represented:

The Jacksonville board of trade has announced that it will send a strong delegation to the Fort Myers convention. Miami, Lakeland, West Palm Beach and other cities, which are announced or prospective candidates for the 1915 convention, will send big delegations, taking the cue from Fort Myers, which landed a two-to-one victory over

First came "Dago Frank" (Frank Ciofici). In each hand he clutched a crucifix and by his side walked a Catholic priest, "Oh, God; I meet my God," he gasped and was dead. Warren Clancy said he had intended to make a statement, but his mental processes failed him. The three others were attended to the death chamber by Jewish rabbis. "Gyp the Blood" (Harry Horowitz), was the third to die. He carried a Jewish prayer book in his hand and mumbled in Hebrew, "Listen, Israel, there is only one God." "Leftie Louie" (Louis Rosenberg), died last and, like "Gyp," he carried a prayer book and went to his death with a prayer on his lips. The executions required exactly forty minutes and were concluded at 6:15 p.m.

Albany, N. Y., April 14.—It is believed here that at least one gunman confessed before execution this morning. Superintendant of the prison department said that a statement is on the way here from Ossining and is expected to arrive this afternoon. He did not know its contents but it is said to be a confession made by "Dago Frank" and implicates none but the four who died.

That is a good law which gives the governor the right to suspend an official who does not live up to his oath of office. Gov. Adams Dies in Jacksonville
H. C. Adams, general manager of the Southern Utilities Company, with headquarters at Jacksonville died early Saturday morning after a short illness.

Mr. Adams has been in poor health for some time but had not been confined to his home. A few weeks ago he was taken to a Jacksonville hospital and from there on made a brave battle for life.

Mr. Adams was well known in Sanford where he had visited several times in his official capacity of general manager of the Southern Utilities Co.

Peter Pan Minstrels
A social event and coming attraction will be the Peter Pan Society Ladies Minstrels which will be given by local talent under the auspices of the Woman's Club April 26th at the Imperial. The performance is one of Miss J. Pearl Rodgers' novelties, who has had a wonderful success in presenting the pastimes in other towns in Florida this winter. The coming event is much talked of in the club circles regarding its success.

About May five of Sanford's prettiest maidens and matrons will make their appearance before the footlights as ballad and comic opera singers, comedians and minstrel chorus. Peter Pan Society Ladies Minstrels is a well-known up-to-date musical attraction and from the fact the entire cast being ladies add great charm to the novel production.

Piano Sale
Mr. S. B. Waggoner, special representative of the Turner Music Co. of Tampa, is in Sanford to hold a special priced advertising "sale" of pianos for ten days. Mr. Waggoner has carefully selected a fine stock of high grade pianos and will exhibit them at Mrs. Griggs Earl Williams' military store which he invited the public to come and see.

The object of the sale is to introduce the latest styles of high grade pianos and cut the price so as to sell a great many instruments in a short time and save the purchaser big money.

Mr. Waggoner comes highly recommended as to himself and representing as he does one of the best known companies in Florida he should meet with great success in placing his beautiful and carefully selected pianos in the homes of the music-loving people of Sanford.

If you have a house to rent, a horse to sell, a watch, a watch, a servant, want to buy something, want to have produce to sell, go to the Ideal Commodity Mart, for summer or have some fancy items for later hatching, why not let the people know of it through the Herald Want Ads. The general business meeting of the Woman's Club of Sanford was held in the club room April 1st, with the president in the chair. After the reading of the minutes and the reports of officers, Mrs. H. C. Goror, delegate from the club to the Third Annual Conference of Charities and Corrections at Gainesville, read an interesting report of the proceedings of the conference. A rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Goror for her kindness in preparing such a splendid report. Miss Ethel chairman of finance gave a report of money earned by the general club during the year. Another interesting item of information was that $2,60 had been cleared from the playlet "Elizabeth's Party." The auditing committee, Miss Margaret Roberts, Mrs. Harvey Roffro and Miss Nona Wylie was responsible for the financial statement. The club was presented with a gift of $100.00.

Mrs. Terhaar also announced that the Peter Pan Society Ladies Minstrels will give a performance April 28th. Members were urged to give their support to both enterprises. While of an entirely different nature both will equally repay those who attend.

Other interesting announcements were made concerning the Rest Room Easter sale. All members were urged to subscribe to the Federation Magazine.

An important revision to the constitution was to the effect that general business meetings of the club will be held on the first Wednesday of the month instead of the first Thursday, as heretofore. Department meetings will be held on Tuesdays and Wednesdays during the month. Another notable revision was to the effect that dues must be paid by the May business meeting, due notice having been given.

President urged all members to observe rules of the club as nearly as possible, so that the dues and responsibilities of the various officers may be lightened.

The Ideal Club Woman
By Ethel Wheeler Waddell, Gen Fed Mgr

Many hundred years ago, and many hundred miles from here, there once lived a wise man—so wise that his name has come down through the ages as the synonym of wisdom. And, as in writing his observations and conclusions upon many of the subjects which man has studied, then, as now, especially in the field of science, he has produced a work of lasting value.

One of the subjects upon which this wise man was peculiarly fitted to give his conclusions with the authority of experience was that which the masculine portion of the human race really the weaker sex—in other words, woman.

In the thirty-first chapter of the book of Proverbs, you may read the description which King Solomon has left down as his conception of a perfect woman. And the picture which he painted there as the ideal Jewish wife, and mother of that by-gone time might well serve us as the portrait of our ideal club woman of today. For the woman whom he drew in that immortal picture was endowed with those qualities of heart and mind, and character which make their possessor ideal in every eye and in every relation of life. He tells us that she had trustworthiness and responsibility, punctuality, forethought and loyalty, executive ability and abundant energy.

Are not these the very qualities we need to realize the highest possibilities of our club life today?

And the beauty of the situation is this: These qualities are not great endowments of nature such as the genius for art or music which comes only by the grace of heaven, but they lie in the power of any woman to possess if she will but force herself through the necessary training to acquire them.

WINTER EGGS IN AN EGGSHELL

Most any old feathered hen will lay in summer, but to get eggs in winter—ah, there's the rub, unless you follow the rules used by successful egg farmers, and these are:

First.—All culs to the cook pot. This includes antediluvian, decrepit, misshapen, weak, immature pullets and hens. To get eggs that pay a profit, the flock must be cut down to a laying ability basis.

Second.—These must be kept in a roomy, light, well aired, dry, clean house.

Third.—They must have exercise. Ducks digest and change to quick growth such great quantities of feed

The accompanying view is in Riverside Park, in the center of the fashionable residence section of the city, where thousands of people may find room for rest and pleasure. In sub-tropical beauty it is not exceeded anywhere in Florida.

WHEAT AND ITS BYPRODUCTS.

As wheat is the favorite grain of man, so it is also popular with poultry, being attractive in color, size, shape, flavor, easy of digestion and free from course hull.

It is called the safest grain for poultry, and in protein (10.2) and carbohydrates (73) it is not quite so well balanced as oats, but it is without the coarse, indigestible hull, and it contains more protein and starch and less oil and fattener (carbohydrates) than corn.

Red wheat is best for poultry and pigeons, being more digestible than white, which has more starch, and new wheat is more difficult to digest than old. Middlings and bran, the by-products of wheat, are very valuable feeds and are used by many in preference to whole wheat. They are cheaper and, with other grains and meats, may be manipulated to form a balanced ration. The shell of wheat is the trouble of a midnight raid was worked by an individual who visited Pennsylvania poultry dealers under the guise of "chicken inspector" and declared he was sent out by the state department to collect "sample chickens."

He displayed a badge and gathered samples and then mysteriously disappeared.

The high price of winter eggs will induce many to go in for chickens in the spring to get pullets to lay fresh eggs for them next winter. It is wise for these in selecting stock to remember that not every strain of fowls is the good winter layer.

Poultry experts of the department of animal husbandry, Washington, are still on the hunt for a noiseless rooster.

When Vorris Linker of Williamsport, Pa., shot a dog that carried off one of his prize hens he was at once arrested for cruelty to animals because he used a rifle and the bullet only wounded the brute. While a load of shot or buckshot would be a surer finish, a quiet talk with the owner of such a dog generally abates the nuisance without any unpleasant complications.

When Stephen Krupul of Jeannette, Pa., heard a noise at the window of his pigeon loft an investigation showed his racing pigeon, Sunny Jim, had arrived home from Rio Janeiro, South America, a distance of 4,200 miles, the wonderful flight having covered that vast space in just forty-eight days, much of the journey overseas.

FEATHERS AND EGG SHELLS.

Fanciers often lose the ribbon at shows because they do not tame their birds. The judge has enough to worry him and to bury him without baring to grab a half dozen times for a scared rooster.

Such a bird never poses tragi-comic good points because he has never been trained. Taming show birds should begin when they are young.

GIRLS' COLLEGES AID RACE DEGENERACY

Professor Johnson Says He Can Prove This by Statistics.

Washington.—That women's colleges, from the viewpoint of eugenics, contribute toward the degeneracy of the race and ought to be abolished is the conclusion of Dr. Roswell H. Johnson, professor of biology in the University of Pittsburgh, after a careful investigation. His figures show that women college discourage girls from marrying.

Professor Johnson believes the time is coming when all women's colleges must be converted into coeducational institutions, and he suggests that for the present, the anti-eugenic influence of the colleges might be mitigated through the substitution of men and women for teachers.

Professor Johnson sets forth the results of his investigation in the current issue of the Journal of Heredity, the official organ of the American Genetic Association. He has collected data in regard to Wellesley College which are significant. Professor John- son says:

"Taking the Wellesley graduates of the classes of 1905 to 1912 inclusive, it was found that 60.1 per cent of them were already married in the fall of 1912, when the facts were collected. But for those whose scholarship was sufficiently high to entitle them to membership in the honor society, Phi Beta Kappa, the ratio of marriage to that of those who did not make this society was at 15 to 10. In other words, high scholarship in college yet men in this case at least, not found to be an aid to marriage, while with the normal endowment, the opposite is the case."

In this same tabulation it was found that the alumnae of Wellesley College who were members of the Phi Beta Kappa had an average of .005 of a child each, while the rate for the girls who had not attained the academic distinction in scholarship was .005.

The ominousness of this declining marriage rate is aggravated by the low birth rate. The earliest class, with one or two exceptions, have enough children to reproduce the class.

Now Mayer believes the horse was found by his right owners and seeks to settle with the injured third person. But it is reported that Boyd Bros. never found their horses and they submitted to Mayer's proposition of settlement.

"HE'LL PRENT 'EM"—SO SAYS SAUNTERER

While taking the ladies of the Eastern Star out in automobiles last Friday we stripped one of the gears and one of the young ladies hid her face. She was from Orlando.

Seeing so many people here last week at the different conventions has prompted me to investigate conditions here in the hope that some rich man will build a fine auditorium and tourist hotel to properly take care of the big crowds when they congregate in Sanford. A large auditorium could be erected at small cost and would be used for many purposes.

It is hardly necessary for me to express my admiration for the members of the city council in their determined stand for the bulkhead. Other councils have talked much about bulkheading but the present council has gone ahead and accomplished something. And the best part of it all is that none of them promoted a bulkhead when they were campaigning but said they would do all they could about helping Sanford become great and they could do nothing better for the city than bulkheading. I also hope they can see their way clear to make the bulkhead of concrete for I believe that it will be the best material in the long run and even should it cost more it will be the cheapest in wearing qualities. It seems that at last Sanford will have a beautiful lake approach and with that all things should come our way. Now let us buck down to getting a new hotel, even if it only contains fifty rooms. We must have one more another season open in Sanford.

These good roads meetings over the state tickle my risibilities for the majority of the people who attend them and get rid of much surplus hot air usually come from counties that have no good roads and are like the little boy who walks past the graveyard at night whistling to keep up his courage. The only way to have good roads is for each county to bond and build them just as the majority of the live counties in Florida are doing. They did not need any good roads booster in Orange county to carry bonds down there for good roads. There is a bunch of hot air good roads men in Florida who if they have ever done anything towards building good roads in their respective communities have never been caught with the goods on as yet and they make themselves ridiculous at the meetings talking good roads when the people of their own counties are wading through the sands. It would be well for the most of them to stay in their own hillbilly at least until they build good roads themselves and then they could go forth into the highways and hedges and preach the gospel of good roads to some advantage.

A Chicago man has been fined $100 for beating his mule and $2.50 for beating his wife. Votes for women!

Mayor Thrasher had a bunch of virtuous and righteous citizens before him yesterday morning for speeding, running without lights and doing various stunts with the buzz wagons and after giving them due warning let them go. It is rather difficult to determine who is at fault in this age when the world is on wheels and it simmers down to the question of the man who is driving and the man who is watching him drive. There is no doubt but what many drivers in Sanford are reckless and should be punished. The rules and regulations are plain enough and yet it seems that when a fellow gets in the auto or on the motorcycle he immediately tries to do some stunts in the speed line and takes chances that he would never attempt on two legs. As long as we use trains, autos and bikes we will have trouble and those that use them and those who do not use them should be careful. The person who is attempting to cross a street ahead of an automobile should use just as much caution as the person who is driving the machine. I have seen people here in Sanford and elsewhere who would deliberately stop in front of a rapidly moving machine just to see if the driver would stop and let him cross. Children also chase across a crowded thoroughfare with all the innocence of youth and trust to luck and never look to see if autos or wagons are approaching. The crossings are made for the pedestrians, of course, but they are also made for the man who is driving and people should be more careful at all crossings. The laws should be enforced and let every man take his medicine when he is in the wrong and of course the average man never thinks he is in the wrong and no two people see the same thing alike. The boys running cars on Sundays past the church and late at night with the cut-outs open should be abated. They are a nuisance and disturb the church and disturb the slumbers of the people at night. They may have the privilege of the street but they have no right to become a nuisance and they ought to think of other people at all times. Automobiles are getting down to a fine point now and are no longer an ornament. They have the finest engines, the best brakes and the best lights that can be produced and the drivers should be able to drive a car safely and well or else they should not have a license to drive at all.

The cars are here to stay and every man will soon be able to own one of some kind and it behoves us all right now to consider the other fellow. The man who drives the horse and wagon should also wake up to his responsibilities. He is no longer the king of the road but has his position when going and coming to town and should not demand any more than his rights. All the road horses do not drive autos and all the road horses do not drive teams, consequently it resolves itself into a game of give and take or there will always be trouble. We are living in a fast age and are obliged to eat, live and drive on schedule time, consequently these little things such as speed ordinances and rights and rules of the road must be obeyed. If every man who drives a horse, every man who drives an auto or motorcycle or bicycle and every man who walks will observe the Golden Rule and the city and state laws there will be but little friction and we will all be able to get around one another with little friction no matter how crowded conditions may be.
