All Persons On Duty At Time Of Explosion Are Accounted For; 5 Men Are Rescued

(AP)—With the rescue of nine miners and the recovery of the bodies of 23 others all men were accounted for today who were in the Little Belt coal mine near here late yesterday when an explosion of unknown cause occurred.

The identified bodies were: Jess Temple, Little; Louis Mitchell, Pleasantville; Otto Hale, Little; Dan Saylor, Fenton; Joe Wallace, Pleasantville.

Identification of the victims was slow and many of the bodies were so badly burned and disfigured a check of the dead was difficult. It was first believed that the accident was caused by a spark igniting a quantity of blasting powder but later reports stated that the explosive was found intact and the disaster came as result of a gas explosion.

Dreaded black damp quickly filled the mine and hampered the rescuers men. Those who were taken out alive barricaded themselves in an entry off one of the main corridors. The mine was worked steadily during the last two years and the employees escaped the misery of unemployment suffered by many others because of closed mines.

Don Burris, one of the injured, told the story of the explosion. He said that he was at his usual position in the mine at the time of the explosion.

Arkansas Faces Entire Summer Of Hard Times

Relief Work May Have To Be Carried Into Fall, Say Officials

HELENA, Ark., Jan. 29.—(AP)—With 85,000 destitute persons now depending on the Red Cross for food in four counties alone in eastern Arkansas, cotton picking time next fall may find relief work still going on.

Many thousands more are being fed in other counties in the state, but distress is more widespread in Phillips, St. Francis, Cross and Lee counties. In three, they hold the total population of 250,000.

Although the Red Cross is making estimates for relief work only through February, no one in the cotton plantation areas of the state believes it can end by March. The theory that relief would be needed only another month is based on the fact that normally the "furnishing" merchants start on March 1 to provide food for tenant farmers on their crop for that year.

This year, however, an extraordinary situation exists. The merchants are in serious financial plight and unless credit, as yet unforeseen, is opened up to them, (Continued on Page 4)

MELLON TELLS REASONS FOR BONUS STAND

Closely Questioned In Senate After Giving Advice Against Cash Awards To Veterans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Secretary Mellon told the Senate finance committee Wednesday that proposals for cashing the bonus certificates of World War veterans are without "economic merit" and instead of improving conditions would "deepen" the world depression.

Mellon was closely questioned as he predicted a treasury deficit of $75,000,000 and warned the cash conversion plan would not only have "serious consequences" on public credit but would "greatly disturb world equilibrium."

The veteran treasury secretary had barely concluded his statement of the administration's opposition when Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, a democratic member of the committee, told the senate "a majority of the committee is going to favor some relief."

Mellon announced he favored paying the veterans the present cash value of their certificates.

Mellon's personal appearance was considered by committee members as added evidence of the administration's strong attitude toward the proposed legislation.

Mellon's prepared statement, read to the committee by Under Secretary Mills, confined its attack on the proposal for paying the face value of the certificates which would cost about $3,400,000,000.

Later, however, Mills said the same objection would apply to lesser degree, to the proposal to pay the present value of the certificates, the cost of which has been estimated at $1,700,000,000 to $2,100,000,000.

Tom Heflin Says He Will Contest Seat Of John Bankhead

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Formal notice of a contest against the seating of Senator-elect John H. Bankhead of Alabama was given in the senate Wednesday by Senator Heflin, who was defeated by Bankhead in the last election.

Heflin, who ran as an independent after being forced off the democratic ticket because he bolted the candidacy of Alfred E. Smith, in the 1928 election, said his petition would charge "fraud, intimidation, coercion, bribery and illegal expenditure of funds in the election." Bankhead was the regular democratic candidate.

The notice, which was read by a senate clerk said Senator Heflin would charge "fraudulent violations of the law and irregularities in the casting of great numbers of illegal and fraudulent votes in each of the 47 counties."

In addition, the notice said Heflin would charge "illegal and fraudulent use of absentee ballots, counting of ballots contrary to the way they were cast; illegal and fraudulent rejection of ballots properly cast for Senator Heflin; illegal expenditure of funds to defeat Senator Heflin, and resorting to intimidation, coercion and bribery as a means of defeating him."

MAN WHO KILLED AL SMITH TELLS FAMILY OF SIX IS LYNCHED BY MOB

SCHAFFER, North Dakota, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Charles Bannan, 22, confessed slayer of six members of the A. E. Haven family was lynched by a large mob here early today. Overpowering a deputy sheriff, the mob broke into the jail, took Bannan to a bridge two miles east of here and hung him. James Bannan, father of Charles, also held in connection with the Haven slaying was not molested.

A confession by Charles Bannan in December that he had slain Mr. and Mrs. Haven and their four children climaxed one of the most sensational crimes in North Dakota's history. Bannan was employed on the Haven farm last February. After a quarrel, he told officials, he shot and killed first one then another of the Havens and buried their bodies in the barn. He told friends that the Havens had gone to Oregon. He was later arrested when he attempted to tell lies from the Haven farm, confessed the killings and led officers to where the bodies were buried.

County Land Planted In Trees By Youths

A series of operations which are expected to require more than 30 years' time were begun yesterday afternoon when several members of the Vacationers department of the Seminole High School, under the direction of C. H. Coulter, district forester, of Tallahassee, and Alex R. Johnson, of Sanford, set out three acres of county land with young pine trees as an experiment in reforestation work in Florida.

On property owned by the County, and situated just off the Sanford-Orlando highway, opposite the Seminole County poor farm, the boys spent the entire day in the first step necessary in the experiment, the planting of the trees. Periodically the plot will be examined to note the effects of climate, insects, fertilization, and other reasons for development or stagnation, and charts will be kept on progress noted. The work is scheduled to be watched from year to year until at least 30 years have passed.

One and one-half acres were set out with slash pine, while one and one-half acres were set out with long-leaf pine. Fertilizer was distributed on the four sides of the slash pine plot and small-diameter slash pine.

The planting of the pine trees yesterday is the third recorded instance of such of its kind here since 1925. At that time some 500 acres of slash pine of the State forest were set out.

Persons who are interested in securing information concerning reforestation work are urged to get in touch with A. E. Johnson, of the Semholo High School, at Tallahassee.

RELIEF BILL IS TURNED DOWN BY HOUSE BODY

Senate However Plans To Continue Effort To Pass Bill, Appoint Distributing Agency

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The House appropriations committee today voted to disapprove the Senate $25,000,000 Red Cross proposal for relief. The vote was 18 to 11. Representative Cranton, Republican Michigan, in charge of the bill said the measure would be reported to the house as disagreeing with all of the senate's amendments to the latter for department supply bill.

The committee also rejected a proposal by Representative Bryns, ranking minority member, that the fund be made available to a government agency to be designated by President Hoover.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A threat that Congress would find it, own relief agencies came yesterday in answer to a flat refusal by the Red Cross to administer the $25,000,000 relief fund proposed in the Senate.

Democratic leader Robinson told the Senate Congress would find its own agency for distribution of such funds—as it feels should be used in the emergency "if the Red Cross refuses to measure up to the proper standard."

Robinson was speaking in reply to testimony John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, had given the House appropriations committee. Payne said his organization could not accept administration of the fund. He presented a resolution adopted by the Red Cross central committee.

The Arkansas senator called on all senators who had even an "ordinary" regard for suffering to "repeal the policy which imposes a refusal on the part of those responsible to the people as a whole to take any action whatsoever" (Continued on Page Four)

Cardinal O'Connell Rests In Historic Nassau Residence

NASSAU, Bahamas, Jan. 29.—(AP)—William, Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, was in vacation residence Wednesday in one of this 301-year-old city's most magnificent mansions.

The cardinal declined to pose for pictures after his arrival and expressed a desire to enjoy, unmolested, a vacation on this British island.

The hermitage, where Cardinal O'Connell is living here, was the site in 1660 of a Spanish fortress whose ancient stone steps and walled terraces are intact.

The historic mansion was first erected in 1667 by pirates, who occupied it. Later it was reconstructed and occupied as the Government House in 1776 by the Earl of Dunmore.

One of the corner bedrooms, according to legend, is the old tower of Blackbeard, the pirate.

The five-acre estate upon which the residence is located also has servants quarters, built for slaves in 1870 to stand now as the only examples of such construction on the island.

Cardinal O'Connell was accompanied here by Monsignor Michael J. Spalone, of Brookline, Mass., and the Rev. Mr. Joseph P. Copinger, of South Boston, Mass.

DRY NEWSPAPERS HAVE LESS SALES THAN WET PRESS

Temperance Board, In Survey Reveals 520 Circulated Really Wet

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A conclusion that the National anti-prohibition news papers as a whole have approximately doubled the circulation of those favoring the dry law was reached yesterday by the Methodist Board of Temperance.

In a survey of 1346 daily papers having an aggregate circulation of 32,991,009, the board placed only 520 of these as definitely "wet." Their combined circulation, however, was estimated at more than 21,000,000, or 64 per cent, while that of the 809 "dry" papers was 10,488,653, or 32 per cent.

There were 115, mostly of small circulation, described as "neutral."

Prohibition Director Woodcock said new regulations were being considered to give dentists the same amount of medicinal liquor as is now allowed physicians.

Commissioner Duran of the industrial alcohol bureau announced the adoption of one of the Wickert commission recommendations. It would permit physicians to enter on their prescription stubs, without specifying in the prescription itself, the amount for which whisky was prescribed.

The Senate Appropriations Committee approved the fund requested by the prohibition bureau, adding $147,180 to bring the total to $11,516,680.

The House Expenditures Committee, meantime, postponed its investigation of wire tapping by prohibition agents because of the illness of Attorney General Mitchell.

The Methodist Temperance Board also made available the figure of another survey, covering 1438 newspapers, of which 37 per cent were said not to give prohibition an "even break" while 55 per cent was described as "biased" in handling prohibition news. Board officials said that not all these, by any means, were "wet" papers.

From the point of view of circulation, the 340 newspapers covered in the 11 Northeastern States were described as most predominantly "wet." Of a total circulation of 18,653,615, the anti-prohibition papers had 10,382,129 circulation or 56 per cent, while the 14 Western States, however, circulation was divided almost evenly, being 47 per cent by "dry" papers and 49 per cent "wet," with the rest neutral.

In the 16 Southern States and the District of Columbia, the circulation of the papers included was approximately 2,600,000 for and 2,500,000 against prohibition.

Stock Exchange Head Exonerates 'Bears'

BOSTON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Richard Whitney, president of the New York stock exchange, disclosed today investigations of an alleged bear raiding which resulted in the exoneration of the bears and an indictment of economic advisers. Addressing the Boston Chamber of Commerce he discussed for the first time what Wall Street called a "bear hunt." During the declining markets of 1930 he said the exchange failed to discover any facts to support allegations of bear raids or concerted action to suppress prices nor did it find a single person who deliberately spread rumors to break the market for his own benefit.

Butler was reported publicly as saying he had been told by a friend that Mussolini's automobile struck a child and the Premier drove on without stopping.

A court martial for General Butler was ordered immediately. Almost as quickly as Secretary Stimson expressed "the deep regret which the government feels at the reflection against the Prime Minister of Italy" Butler was ordered by commandant Major-General Fuller to place himself under arrest and not leave the barracks at Quantico which he commanded.

ATTEMPT TO HIRE GRID STAR LAID TO ARMY SCHOOL

West Point Officials Deny They Tried To Violate Grid Ethics

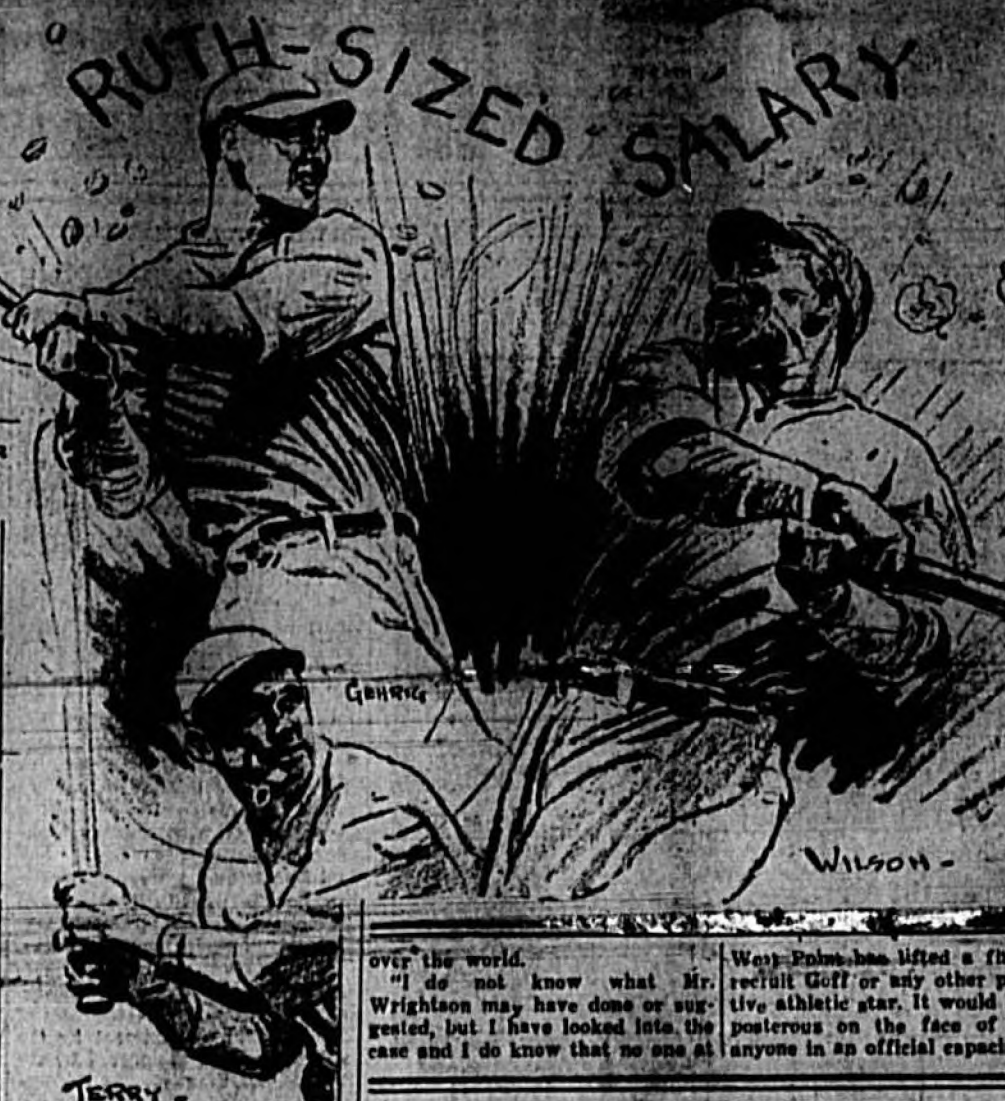

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 28 — (AP)—The Evening Bulletin in a copyrighted story Tuesday said that it is in possession of correspondence tending to substantiate an attempt to recruit for the West Point football team Kenneth Goff, Rhode Island State star, who in the past season was second highest scorer in the east.

The newspaper prints copies of letters to Goff from W. T. Wrightson of New York, a member of the Army Athletic association, advising Goff, a Brockton, Mass., man, to tell Congressman George R. Stobbs, of the Worcester, Mass., district, that he had lived in Worcester for the past year with Capt. John H. McEwan, Holy Cross coach and former West Point grid star and coach.

McEwan denies having known Goff in the past, but did grant him an interview last Saturday in Worcester. Congressman Stobbs talked with Goff, but when the latter frankly admitted that he was not a Worcester man, told him he could not be considered for appointment to the academy from that district.

Wrightson, who wrote to Congressman Stobbs in Goff's interests, said he acted at the instance of Paul Carroll, manager-elect of the Army football team for 1931. Coach Frank Keany, of Rhode Island State, declared Tuesday, the Evening Bulletin says, that Billie Silvanus.

It would be preposterous on the face of it, for anyone in an official capacity even to attempt it.

"So far as I know, the first inquiry concerning Goff came from the boy himself and was directed to a cadet friend here. The cadet, in turn, spoke to Major Basse, the football coach, and was told that nothing could be done for Goff or anyone else.

"I Hope Your Example Will Compel The Adoption Of Sanitary Methods"

Says
DR. THOS. J. McLAUGHLIN
Chairman State Board of Health, State of Rhode Island

Rhode Island Public Health Commission

William J. McLaughlin, M.D.
Worcester, Mass., May 21st, 1930.

The American Cigar Company, Worcester, Mass., New York, N. Y.

Gentlemen:

Permit me to commend you for your crusade against the old-fashioned method of cigar making which involved the use of "spit" or "saliva." There are many unsanitary processes still employed in industry which are very difficult to eliminate without the aid of industry itself.

We only the public officer charged with the responsibility of improving conditions of health generally but every one immediately recognizes that the use of "spit" in the manufacture of cigars is not only unsanitary but has latent dangers to health of great magnitude. I feel it incumbent upon myself, therefore, as a public officer charged with protecting the public health to use this means of telling you that in campaigning against such a method of manufacture you are rendering a public service.

I sincerely hope that your example and your campaign will compel the abandonment of such methods of manufacture of cigars by the industry generally and the adoption by all of the manufacturers of sanitary methods in the manufacture of cigars.

You are at liberty to use this expression of my commendation in the furtherance of your laudable campaign for better sanitation.

Yours very truly,
Thos. J. McLaughlin, M.D.
Chairman, State Board of Health
State of Rhode Island

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. McLaughlin's letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. McLaughlin writes: "Permit me to commend you for your crusade against the old-fashioned method of cigar making which involved the use of 'spit' or 'saliva.'"

The war against spit is a war against decency. Spit-tipping is a war against health. Spit-tipping is a war against science. Spit-tipping is a war against common sense. Spit-tipping is a war against the clean, sunny, healthy life.

What Is "Normal"?

We wonder how many people realize just how extremely fortunate Sanford is that, at a time when other vegetable products, almost without exception, and all manufactured products, are finding a sluggish market and in many instances cannot be sold at cost, celery, the prime product of this community, is bringing two dollars to two and a half a crate. That is not a fancy price as prices went a few years ago, but it is a good safe livable price. It might be said to be a "normal price."

The word "normal" is often confused, we find, with unusual or excessive, especially as applied to prosperity. Many of us, when we speak of normal times, refer to the period of the boom when individual incomes were apt to be ten times what they would average during the preceding ten years. Normal does not mean either the boom or the depression. It means the half-way point. It does not mean the fancy price or the lowest price. It means an average price. In discussing the "Nature of Depression," the Guaranty Survey, published by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, brings out this false conception of the word "normal," in the following manner:

"Among the recent public utterances by bankers and business men on the current situation, one of the most interesting and timely was that of a southern banker who is conspicuous among financial leaders for the frank and outspoken way in which he expresses his views, even when those views are not strictly in accord with the popular psychology of the day. This eminent banker issued a statement at the height of the stock market hysteria of 1929, in which he made no attempt to conceal his belief that unsound tendencies of a very serious nature were developing, and that they were likely to bring about a financial and industrial reaction of the first magnitude in his recent statement, he placed his finger on the vital problem of the moment by declaring that the only way to eliminate or reduce business depressions is to 'sit on the bulge' during the upward swing."

Similar views have recently been expressed in these columns. One of the principal difficulties, of course, is to determine the point at which the upward swing becomes excessive. But the task would not be so difficult, perhaps, if business men in general could be induced to modify their expectations in line with the longer-term realities. It has recently been pointed out that the word "normal," as used in business discussions, has two radically different meanings. To the close student of economic history, it means a degree of activity that approximately conforms to reasonable expectations based on past experience and a moderate rate of growth. To the average business man, it means a set of conditions such as existed, say, in the latter part of 1928 and the early part of 1929, when industrial output, corporate earnings, and stock prices were establishing a series of new high records month after month. As long as this remains the popular conception of what business ought to be, little progress is likely to be made toward the avoidance of such experiences as that of the present and the recent past."

Watching Sanford

A completely changed attitude in the outside press and public opinion is readily discernible in the comments now being found in various newspapers throughout the state regarding Sanford's recent agreement with its creditors. Today we quote from both Miami newspapers whose circulations extend to a great many wealthy visitors, a number of whom no doubt are holders of Sanford bonds. Such comments as the following cannot help but provide convincing proof to bondholders that Sanford is doing the best it can to pay its debts:

"While the details of the settlement are not known here, this city and every other municipality in Florida will rejoice to learn that the city of Sanford and a committee of bondholders have finally agreed upon a plan for repayment which the property owners can meet. "As we understand it, the city expenses and the interest and principal of the bond issues laid in past years on this splendid community will be taken each year from a prearranged levy, a levy the taxpayer can anticipate and prepare for. Additional measures will be taken to assure that if taxes are not paid the property will pass to those who can. "Without state subsidy, without obnoxious taxes or the moaning and beating of breasts that some communities have engaged in, Sanford has fought its way out of as tight a hole as could be well imagined, with honor to itself and hope for its citizens."

"One cannot be sure at this early time, of course, how the new Sanford financing plan will work out. The biggest taxpayers of the city in published statements say they can pay half. Ergo, the smaller ones can if they will, or if unusual individual adverse circumstances do not intervene. The state has reason to feel inspired by Sanford's brave action."

While in the other Miami paper, the Daily News, we find the following: "Evidently Dos Amigos, the name of the firm holding Sanford municipal bonds, means literally 'two friends,' judging from its sympathetic attitude in reaching a settlement on taxes commensurate with Sanford's present ability to pay. A city surrounded by evidence of its agricultural wealth may not, thanks to reasonable creditors, proceed to work its way out, and once the hectic period of paying for bad management in the past is over, we shall be surprised if a wiser Sanford does not turn out to be one of the best governed cities in the state."

THE CONSOLIDATION OF the two Orlando papers, the Sentinel and Reporter-Star, is the inevitable result of the boom, Medfly invasion, bank failures, financial difficulties and labor troubles. By consolidating the two papers and tacking them from one plant, the heavy overhead incident to their publication will be reduced and what was a hopeless situation now gives promise of bright prospects. It's difficult for a city the size of Orlando to support two papers, and even Savannah, where the News has absorbed the Press and Bacon, where the Telegraph took over the News, couldn't do it. There comes a time when rival newspapers must consolidate or suspend, and the Orlando papers have taken the wiser course.—Ocala Star.

TELLING THE WORLD

By NINA ORRANA

When the Wickersham commission has completed its prohibition report a lot may be told as to the efforts of Washington govt. to obtain advance, first-hand information on the contents thereof. Judge Frank J. Loesch of Chicago, a member of the commission, told some of the story when he said it was almost impossible to attend a dinner party in the national capital and really have a good time. Too many persons, especially the women, were offering "trick questions" in the hope of catching a crime commission member off guard, and thereby obtaining a "tip" on the trend of the commission's ideas on prohibition. Judge Loesch contends that he never encountered such avid gossipers as during his stay in Washington. His surprise that conventional encounters of the sort are permissible for the purpose of pumping public men possessing important secrets indicates how naive he is.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

Now that the Wickersham commission has completed its prohibition report a lot may be told as to the efforts of Washington govt. to obtain advance, first-hand information on the contents thereof. Judge Frank J. Loesch of Chicago, a member of the commission, told some of the story when he said it was almost impossible to attend a dinner party in the national capital and really have a good time.

Too many persons, especially the women, were offering "trick questions" in the hope of catching a crime commission member off guard, and thereby obtaining a "tip" on the trend of the commission's ideas on prohibition. Judge Loesch contends that he never encountered such avid gossipers as during his stay in Washington. His surprise that conventional encounters of the sort are permissible for the purpose of pumping public men possessing important secrets indicates how naive he is.

Washington thrives on just that. In the series of informal dinners given by the movers and shakers at the White House, the President has been able to get a lot of simple, plain, man-to-man chats.

The President has talked freely there on matters which he had refused to discuss with Congress, or at his bi-weekly press conferences. He has proceeded on the assumption that his guests were gentlemen.

Mr. Hoover has made some great mistakes in that respect. It has been almost inevitable that a fairly accurate report of his private views has been getting out in congressional cloakrooms and in Senate press gallery conversations before the succeeding sundown.

No man alive could have been more decent than Mr. Hoover in those informal exchanges of opinion in the privacy of his study. The vast majority of the Hoover guests have not wished to betray nor capitalize those intimate bits of conversation. They have respected the conventions which should attach to any host's dinner table.

The fact remains that Washington is given to more of the old-fashioned back-fence gossip or "snapt girl" exchanges on the bus than any other city in America.

Ed Wils called the town the "gossiping gallery of the Potomac" a few years ago. That about fits it.

One of the chief diversions of the town is for socially prominent hostesses to assert with an air of benign patronage that the newspaper of the country are at least a week behind her in reporting the news of the national capital.

Some newspaper men, who think more of a mention in a Washington social column than of a prompt signature on an important news story, like to peddle what they do not print.

Thus far no formula has been evolved whereby a senator enjoying the confidence of a President will not wish to boast of his "inside information" in a Capitol classroom.

Nor, I acknowledge regretfully, does the Washington correspondent exult who can attend a White House dinner or any other private session with a President without yielding to the egotism of lording it over his colleagues by letting them in on what the President said to him or he said to the President.

It seems a rotten, mucky mess. It is Washington. Judge Loesch may protest until he is blue in the face. It is not likely he can alter the system. Should he be successful, the women of Washington would have little left to do.

Buy a NEW CAR

You've Earned the Right

By RAY W. SHERMAN

THERE are several hundred thousand people who have driven their old cars a year or more longer than they wanted to. They have earned the right to new ones.

These car owners are the ones who during the past year or more have enjoyed their usual incomes, and who have refrained from buying because their common sense told them it would be wise to "wait and see" what was going to happen. The "wait" is over and we now "see" that America has definitely started up the hill with more jobs, more business and a future that will exceed the past. The progress is not boom-like, but steady—and that is reassuring.

The past year has demonstrated the business ability of the American people. Until a year ago we were supposed not to be able to refrain from spending. "Keeping up with the Joneses" was said to be our outstanding characteristic.

CRITICS failed to realize that we merely were using our surplus income in increasing our happiness and that we could refrain from spending if we wanted to. The economists—who have been bewildered for the past year—may some day learn that facts are not always figures.

For over a year we have deprived ourselves of our full measure of enjoyable living and by the sacrifice have earned the right to enjoy again the things we'd like and can afford.

All over America the word seems to be "spending" with the finger pointing to the sky. There's wonderful! You want and do see them all in those big... business to look you have earned the right. Nothing else is...

The officers of the Army here urged that all those who are unable to attend the service come for one of the sessions at each hour will be a complete service.

Jack Oakie Will Be Featured in Movie at Milane Friday
"America's Joy—Friend," Jack Oakie, has unlocked another part of laugh moments in his latest starring role, "Sea Legs," the Friday feature at the Milane theatre. And in addition to the familiar Jack, hilarity is enhanced by the presence in the cast of "Sea Legs" of round-shouldered Eugene Palleta and the "kibitzer" Harry Organ.

Three, any one of whom could provide enough laughs to last a lifetime, are joined by beautiful Lillian Berk, who is looking in "Sea Legs," "Honky" and "Animal Crackers" lifted her to the front rank of screen comedians. The love moments that come between the lively Lillian and the gaily Jack are rich in life. And nearly all the action takes place on the lovely battlements of a mythical Mediterranean realm.

Jack Oakie, himself has a hunch that "Sea Legs" has more laughs per foot of picture and sound than "Swastika," "Let's Go Home," "The Social Lion," "The Kid from Syracuse" or any of his other hits. Victor Heerman, the man who made "Animal Crackers," directed it, and in it, Oakie sings two warm, tuneful tunes, "I Must Be Illegals" and "A Trolley Told Me." Oakie's on the ideal wave of popularity with this hit, it's a deep-sea swell.

Revival Meeting Is Well Attended By Sanford Residents
The revival meeting being conducted by Evangelist A. O. Canada, under the tent on West Fifth St., continues to grow in interest, and is drawing large crowds each evening. To date quite a number have been converted.

The subject for last night was, "Is Heaven With God," taken from Isaiah 65:17, and the speaker said in part: "The fact that there is to be a final reckoning day should make us stop and think. It is easy to make a record, but what sort of record is it going to be? Especially when the great searchlight of heaven is turned upon it. Our responsibility is great, and we ought to be careful how we live."

"We can daily remember that we shall have to give an account to God. It will prove a check upon our lives. It will set us a stimulus in the doing of those things God has said we should do. And, it will help remind us of our weakness and our great need of Christ, and so bring us daily to humbly ourselves at his feet," Mr. Canada said.

Other speakers will be E. A. G. and Murray Cavers. Also, Mr. Canada.

WEST VIRGINIA BANK CLOSING

29 MINERS DIE IN EXPLOSION UNDER GROUND

ual work as a trolley rider on a conveyor when the explosion occurred. Although he was a mile back from the shaft opening, Burris said the blast upset the conveyor and broke the trolley.
Calling to several men near him, he told them to grasp the conveyor or trolley and use it as a grade to the entrance. Burris said he did this himself and set off in the pitch darkness. Later he was overcome by gas and knew nothing more until he was rescued.
Five rescue teams of six men each were sent down into the affected area as soon as the blast was reported. They were able to reach the two injured men about two hours after the explosion and in two hours brought five bodies to the surface.

As soon as news of the tragedy had been spread, roads to the mine were choked with automobiles. The mine, said to be one of the most productive in the state, is owned by the Little Betty Coal Corporation of Chicago. L. H. Dayhoff is president.

The rescue workers were badly hampered by poisonous air and in calling for reinforcements the workers were warned that no more were to enter lives in going into the mine.
This was the second major mine accident in Sullivan county in recent years. On February 20, 1929, the City Mine in Sullivan was wrecked by an explosion similar to Wednesday's blast; fifty-one miners were killed, only one man was brought out alive.

Soon after yesterday's explosion became known crowds gathered at the mine mouth, including many women and children of the miners' families.

CHRYSLER LEADS INSURED.
NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Walter P. Chrysler, automobile magnate, has taken out life insurance policies totaling $12,000,000, the largest amount ever issued to an individual. The policies were issued by five companies within the past month. Pierre S. duPont, manufacturer, previously headed the insured with policies aggregating $10,000,000.

SPANISH STUDENTS RIOT
GRANADA, Spain, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Rioting students stormed through the University of Granada Wednesday, smashing windows, cheering for "The Republic." They attempted to destroy an oil painting of King Alfonso but a group of professors held them off and police broke up the mob.

U. S. APOLOGIZES TO MUSSOLINI FOR 'INSULTS'

Secretary Adams was swilling an answer to his request that the Marine officer give the verbatim of an address in Philadelphia on January 19 which resulted in a formal protest to the State Department from the Italian Embassy.

Reports about the incident persisted during the day but none of them was confirmed. Another well known name was connected with it when a speech that Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr. made in Reno, not long ago was recalled.

Members of the Reno Rotary Club and Journalism students at the University of Nevada said today that Vanderbilt related a story in which he said the Italian premier's automobile ran over a child.

Major General Butler's speech also was reported as containing a reference to that story Butler's being quoted as giving authority for his statement an American friend who was said to have been riding with the Premier.

Behind the Italian Ambassador's protest was this message attributed to Mussolini: "I have never taken an American as a major trip around Italy, neither have I run over a child, man or woman."

The Italian Premier was described as deeply offended.

The Navy Department said it expected General Butler's explanation soon and Brig. Gen. George T. Myers, assistant to Major General Fuller, Marine commandant, said he understood General Butler had mailed a letter giving his version of the address.

Butler, on at least one other occasion has been asked by the navy department of which the marine corps is a part, to explain a speech. He did so satisfactorily.
