'I'm Afraid I'll Wake Up One Morning And Have To Go Back'

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

For more than a year, Stephanie Cain worked tirelessly to heighten public awareness of the frightening conditions which she said existed at the Northeast State Hospital in Macclenny, Fla.

She had been a patient at the mental hospital from December, 1981 through February, 1982, undergoing treatment for a chemical imbalance which sometimes made her lose contact with reality, become depressed and hallucinate.

Stephanie Cain died Thursday, the victim of a prescription drug overdose.

Accidental or deliberate? Who knows.

In an interview several weeks before her death, the 34-year-old Winter Springs resident said she was "scared to death of returning" to the state hospital where she said unsanitary conditions, uncaring staff and violent patients made survival, not recovery, one's primary concern.

After the interview, she experienced a breakdown, according to her mother, similar to the one which put her in the hospital last year.

"She was scared to death of going back there," her mother, Florence-Shirley Williams, said.

Stephanie said her stay in the state hospital was filled with unhappy experiences. Bathroom and living facilities were unsanitary, violent patients sometimes attacked other patients and staff members were sometimes unresponsive to requests or difficult to locate. Patients with criminal backgrounds were housed along with regular patients and acts of violence among patients were ignored by staff members, she said.

She was attacked twice herself, choked by other patients seeking cigarettes.

After the first assault, "a member of the staff warned me to be careful because there were homicidal patients living on the ward," she said. "The second person who tried to choke me was made to sit in a chair with no restraints, and I was made to go outside."

Stephanie said unsanitary conditions were the rule at the institution, which houses more than 2,000 mentally ill patients. Patients had no privacy, bathrooms were filthy and without doors, linens were dirty and in poor condition and personal clothing could be washed no more than twice a week.

Additionally, the staff was generally unresponsive to patients' needs. Patients often had to run after doctors, nurses or aides to receive medication, an examination or other necessary attention, Stephanie said.

"I can't say they're not true," said Carolyn Davidson, a complaint coordinator with the state department of Health and Rehabilitative Services. But, she added, "every one (complaint) has been addressed."

To do more, she says, will require additional money, better equipment and more qualified workers.

Mrs. Davidson agreed that conditions at the hospital are less than ideal. "Some of the patients, for some reason, go along and tear the doors off of bathroom stalls. They also will hit other patients," she said. "You can't watch that many people all the time."

There are patients at the hospital who've been sent to the mental hospital in lieu of prison sentences, she said. "I don't know how they got there."

While Stephanie's one-woman crusade to inform the public of what she considered to be the deplorable conditions at the state hospital may have a genuine

Joblessness Holds Steady

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The sobering news that unemployment is not getting better, despite many other signs of recovery, is casting a long shadow over the nation's otherwise bright economic picture.

The Labor Department Friday said the jobless rate stayed at 10.4 percent of the nation's work force in February, as the number of unemployed grew by 44,000 to a total of 11,490,000.

Since fear of unemployment is often identified as a key reason consumers are reluctant to increase their spending enough to reinforce recovery, analysts are concerned the grim unemployment news will feed back into the economy to slow down improvement.

"The latest unemployment figures indicate the euphoria of a sharply improved economic outlook ... seems to need tempering," said economist Herman Liebling, formerly chief forecaster for the Treasury Department in several administrations.

"While the economy is improving, it is doing so at a very modest rate," said Liebling, now a professor of economics at Florida International University.

The overall unemployment figure of about 11.5 million does not include 1.8 million people considered too discouraged to keep looking for work or millions more who can find only part-time jobs.

The average length of time people had been unsuccessfully looking for work by February edged down to 19 weeks, a small improvement from January's peak of 19.4 weeks.

Adult men, comprising half of the unemployed, saw their jobless rate get 0.3 of a percentage point worse — 9.9 percent in February. But the rate for black workers went down from 20.8 percent to 19.7 percent.

Investors resisted any urge to restore calm to Wall Street Friday, where stock prices broke through record high levels for the fourth consecutive day.

The Dow Jones Industrial average rose 2.90 to a new all-time high of 1,140.96.

Police woman Sharon Smith prepares to repel an attack with the controversial PR-24 baton which is currently being tested by the Sanford Police Department.

Sanford Police To Use Controversial Nightstick

By Victor Assersohn
Herald Staff Writer

The Monadnock PR-24. It may look like nothing more than a jazzed-up nightstick, a traditional tool of police worldwide, but it's innocuous appearance belies its deadly nature. And after undergoing extensive testing, the weapon is expected to be introduced into the Sanford Police Department later this year.

The new weapon, which police admit can kill, outstrips the standard nightstick for speed, versatility and stopping power.

The PR-24, once called "The Prosecutor" until authorities realized the name carried bad connotations with jurors, has been hailed by many police forces around the world as a major breakthrough in police equipment, and it is already in service with more than 40 law enforcement agencies in the United States.

According to a promotional pamphlet, the baton is patterned after the tonfa stick used in Okinawan karate and was perfected in 1972. More than 40,000 of the black, solid plastic batons are currently in use.

The baton differs from the traditional nightstick in that it is made of a tough, lightweight plastic with a handle set at a right angle to the 24-inch shaft, a configuration which allows the baton to be swung close from the body in a bone-crushing swivel action which delivers four to nine times the strike force of a conventional nightstick, the pamphlet said.

The PR-24 can be used for a number of basic armlocks unlike the conventional

Sanford Offers To Build New County Complex Downtown

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The city of Sanford is willing to do just about anything, even build a county administrative complex, to keep Seminole County government in downtown Sanford.

At a special session Friday, the Sanford City Commission voted unanimously to float a municipal revenue bond issue to build a high-rise administrative services complex and a three or more tiered parking garage for the county under a lease-purchase arrangement.

How much all that would cost has not been determined.

Mayor Lee P. Moore called the special noon meeting to discuss the idea which had been suggested to him last Sunday by a city resident.

The commission voted to send a letter to County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn asking if the county is interested in the idea. The city will ask the County Commission for authorization for the city and county staffs to get together to work out details of the plan. City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles and County Administrator T. Duncan Rose have already had several general discussions of the project.

Under the city's proposal, the bond issue would be paid off over a 30-year period from lease payments paid by the county.

The site considered by the city for the new complex is the grounds and parking lot on the west side of the courthouse. Knowles said the first few levels of the building could be used for parking, replacing the city parking lot which would be used for part of the construction. In addition, he noted that fees for parking in the facility could help pay off the bond issue.

No city tax revenue would be used to back the bond issue, Knowles said. Those funds would come from the revenue raised from leasing the structure and possibly from the parking garage, officials said.

Moore told his colleagues that the majority of the County Commission has been considering a similar lease-purchase arrangement with private individuals. If the city does the work, he said, there would be no profit and, probably a better interest rate than others could get. Moore also noted that the municipal bond market is in a more favorable posture than it has been for some time.

City Commissioner Milton Smith called Moore's suggestion "a great idea." And Commissioner Ned Yancey asked if the property will support a multi-story facility. Knowles said it will and it's only a question of engineering.

And City Attorney Bill Colbert said the city has the authority to float the bond issue. "I see no legal prohibition," he said.

Moore reminded commissioners that the city has committed itself to helping keep the County Courthouse and related facilities in the downtown area.

Mrs. Glenn the County Commission will "look at any lease-purchase offer that is presented to us. The most cost-effective offer, I'm sure, would be considered by the board. If for some reason we are unable to use the (old Seminole Memorial) hospital, I would certainly look closely at any offer the city of Sanford would present to us.

The majority of the County Commission - Commissioners Bob Sturm, Barbara Christensen and Robert G. "Bud" Feather - earlier this week voted to accept proposals from firms interested in building a $7 million county administrative building on county-owned property at Five Points and then leasing the facility to the county under a 30-year lease-purchase arrangement. It was estimated that the lease-purchase payments would total $900,000 over that period.

Mrs. Glenn and Commissioner Bill Kirchoff preferred the county renovate the old hospital building on the eastern edge of the downtown section into office space at an estimated cost of no more than $2.7 million.

The county has been planning to move administrative offices out of the courthouse to make the entire facility headquarters for all county judicial offices.

A Strong Israel Has Lost Its Underdog Status And World Favor

Eiran Gazit

The nation of Israel is not a Goliath, but rather a David, albeit a strong David, says Israel Defense Forces Maj. Eiran Gazit.

Gazit is touring Florida, speaking on college campuses to explain his country's activities during the war "of liberation" in Lebanon and its struggle for survival from the point of view of a military man who was there.

At 28, Gazit is already a 10-year military veteran and says that Israel has been subjected to mounting U.S. criticism perhaps because the small Mid-East nation is no longer perceived as an underdog.

"People have sympathy for an underdog," he says.

"It seems that Israel has become too strong for its own good in the international public eye. But we are not a Goliath. We are definitely a David and thank God a strong one," he said, noting that there are "3 1/2 to 4 million Jews in Israel up against over 80 million Arabs in the immediate vicinity and 200 million in the entire Mid-East."

Another obstacle to improved U.S.-Israeli relations is that American interests in the region "are not necessarily Israeli interests and vice versa. There is definitely a great deal of misunderstanding and disagreement.

"We do not think the president has bad intentions," Gazit said. "We think he doesn't completely understand our point of view and his staff isn't helping. This doesn't help our public image."

Gazit's knowledge of political affairs comes in part from the three years he spent during his military career at Hebrew University in Jerusalem studying political science. But it doesn't take college training to realize that also damaging Israel's world image has been Israel Prime Minister Menachem Begin's opposition to Reagan's peace plan. Gazit said a reading of the Reagan plan, however, shows it is a complete contradiction of the Camp David accords.

"The Reagan plan states what will be the solution and I would hate to call it the final solution to the Middle Eastern problem," he said.

Gazit said the Camp David accords call for an autonomy plan as a temporary measure for five years to let the Palestinians govern themselves "without giving them the possibility of governing our lives as well. And after five years, a reassessment and an exchange of views were to take place, where we could work out a situation that we can all live with."

Gazit said Israel's third image problem has been with the press.

The media has fallen into the trap of focusing on highlights, 90 second spots that show extraordinary things. They do not show the obvious. As an example, they do not show the 10 standing buildings, they show the destroyed one and pictures if not explained can be misinterpreted."

—Maj. Eiran Gazit

He pointed to one particular picture shown on television of a small town on the coast of Lebanon which was completely ruined. In the same picture could be seen Israeli tanks on the road to the village.

"The American public was led to believe those tanks ruined the village. The truth is that the village was ruined five years before by Palestinians. The trained eye could see the growing weeds."

Some of the problems with the media come from sheer ignorance, Gazit said. "Some are biased, others are hostile. We are the victims."

Gazit noted that three studies are currently being conducted at American universities on the problem. "The western world media is a bit ashamed of what happened. Lessons have been learned quickly and reports are fairer now than six months ago," he said.

Gazit said he is in this area because he was invited here by the Rev. George Crossley of Deltona. "I'm not a professional diplomat, nor a public relations person, and I'm not used to giving press interviews or appearing on television talk shows or standing before a civilian public speaking about our country. But I was in Lebanon during and after the fighting. I saw things with my own eyes. I felt it and I hurt. My credibility is as an eye-witness."

Gazit said people have forgotten why Israel went into Lebanon in the first place. "The northern part of my country was under constant threat of artillery, mortar shelling and rockets. Children were living underground in air raid shelters. We had people leaving their homes, looking for safer areas in the south. But Israel will not allow our population to become refugees again," he said.

"Lebanon became an un-state. The Lebanese government lost all control of what was going on there. The Palestine Liberation Organization build up a state within a state and was using it as a base not just for terrorism against Israel but also as a base for international terrorism," Gazit said.

"If Israeli intelligence erred in any way in Lebanon, it was that they had no idea of the vast amounts of tanks, ammunition, mortars that were there-enough to supply a whole army."

Gazit, a sixth generation Israeli, said his family is an international one. His father served in the British Army. Gazit said he was born in Israel and spent his youth in Great Britain, his brother was born in Nigeria, a sister in England and a brother in the United States. "But, the families roots are in Israel."

Being a military officer "demands a lot of belief," he said. "It is not just another job, nor a different and exciting life. It is based on dedication to the cause, to Israel as a concept, an insurance policy in a sense. As long as we exist, Jews are safe wherever they are."

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Heavy storms eased out of California and churned eastward, triggering tornadoes and thunderstorms in the South and snow in the Southwest. The wintry front dropped temperatures 30 degrees in the Plains but record highs warmed the Midwest. President Reagan Friday declared the San Jose, Calif. area a disaster. Six days of storms ravaged the state, leaving 19 dead, causing $103 million in damage and disrupting the schedule of visiting Queen Elizabeth and Prince Phillip. Gov. George Deukmejian declared eight more California counties state disaster areas and asked Reagan to speed federal aid to all areas battered by the week's storms. Residents took advantage of a break in the weather to start cleaning up and shoring up weak dams — including a 54-year-old earthen dam in the Arroyo Simi outside Los Angeles. Remnants of the storm spawned heavy rains in the West and Northwest, causing minor flooding in parts of Oregon and Idaho. Flash flood warnings were posted for Texas, where the National Weather Service warned of 2 inches of rain an hour. High winds and hail that covered the ground like snow whipped through the state. Hail pelted the central Texas Hill Country.

Casselberry Woman Found; Maitland Man Still Missing

A 44-year-old Casselberry woman missing since Thursday afternoon in a thickly-wooded area south of Chuluota was found today.

Two men on horseback searching the dense undergrowth found Salina Chou, 44, of 302 Bridle Path, at 8:30 a.m., according to Seminole County sheriff's spokesman John Spolski.

According to the account Mrs. Chou gave authorities: She went to the undeveloped River Woods area about 4 p.m. Thursday to look at a five-acre tract she and her husband David had bought. While walking through thick brush, she got lost and couldn't find her way out.

Her husband became concerned when she didn't return by nightfall and notified authorities. Casselberry police, sheriff's deputies, city and county firemen and two helicopters joined the search, but found only Mrs. Chou's car near the north end of the property.

During the search, a helicopter flew directly over Mrs. Chou who waved frantically in an unsuccessful effort to attract the pilot's attention. Needing shelter, she found her way to a little used hunter's camp. However, there was no food there, only water.

When she was found, Mrs. Chou was painting the word 'HELP' on a tarpaulin she had found at the camp, apparently intending to use the banner as an SOS to helicopters flying overhead.

Spolski said Mrs. Chou came through it all rather well, suffering only minor cuts and scratches.

Authorities also continued their search Saturday for a Seminole County man whose commercial fishing boat has been missing since Feb. 27 in the Florida Straits.

Coast Guard officials said they would continue searching for Greg Stimpson, 30, of Maitland, who was last heard from on Feb. 27 when he radioed other boats that he was heading for the Dry Tortugas, about 70 miles west of Key West.

On Friday, Coast Guard airplanes and two planes hired by Stimpson's father searched for Stimpson's 44-foot craft. One of the planes, which carried Stimpson's wife Dee and three others was forced to land at Loggerhead Key, 60 miles west of key West, when it ran out of fuel. All aboard were rescued by Navy helicopter.

Bahama Joe's Employees Picket

Bahama Joe's Lobster House in Sanford was picketed Friday by members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees, Local 737, Orlando, who are in dispute with the Daytona-based restaurant company over wages and conditions.

This is the first picket line that has been mounted at the restaurant on French Avenue.

Union representative Harvey Totzkel could not be reached for comment but co-owner Dennis Buckley said an offer which could "not exceed the norm" had been made during the negotiations.

Buckley would not give details of the offer or the wage and benefit structure for the 60 or so employees at the restaurant.

"Basically, we are disagreeing over what they want and they are disagreeing over what we want," Buckley said. "They simply want more wages and benefits and we don't want to exceed the norm. They have a right to picket and we don't want to deprive them of that right. We negotiated in good faith and we are simply in disagreement with them."

"The offer remains on the table.

But making an offer and then refusing it doesn't mean that they cannot express their disagreement through picketing," said Buckley.

"I think we are fortunate that it is being done in a gentlemanly fashion. A strike would be one of the extreme ways," said Buckley, who added: "We feel they are being paid commensurate with the rest of the restaurant workers in the area. We can't exceed the norm."

The restaurant has about 60 workers but it is not known how many support the pickets.

Reagan Stands By EPA's Burford; But Many Don't

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan has reaffirmed his confidence in Anne Burford as head of the Environmental Protection Agency, but House Republican leader Robert Michel said it would be easier if she was "inclined to resign."

Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes, who is with the president in California, told reporters Reagan expressed "full confidence" in Mrs. Burford at a meeting with aides in San Francisco Friday.

Michel, an Illinois Republican, said in Chicago he is not calling for Mrs. Burford's resignation but added, "It would be easier if she feels inclined to resign."

Earlier Friday, Michel told the Chicago Sun-Times, "I don't think in view of what's happened she can ever regain the credibility you need to do a good job." He said he is concerned that she "will be so busy defending herself that management weaknesses won't be improved. You have to get somebody in there to keep charge," he said.

5 Killed In Drug Reaction

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At least five people have died from taking the pain-killer Zomax in an apparent allergic reaction, prompting its manufacturer to withdraw the prescription drug temporarily from the market.

Zomax has been used by 15 million people since it was introduced about two years ago by McNeil Pharmaceutical, a subsidiary of Johnson & Johnson.

Food and Drug Administration spokesman Christopher Smith said Friday the five people who died were allergic to the drug and should not have been taking it. "What we're afraid of is this drug has been prescribed more widely than it should be," Smith said. The FDA has suggested a stronger label be put on it.

Wilson Acquitted Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal court jury found ex-CIA agent Edwin Wilson not guilty of plotting an unsuccessful bid to assassinate an enemy of Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy.

After the seven-woman, five-man jury returned its verdict Friday night, chief prosecutor E. Lawrence Barcella said the deaths last year of two witnesses, Rafael Villaverde and Kevin Mulcahy, may have affected the case.

Barcella said the acquittal, following Wilson's convictions on charges of selling guns illegally to Libya in two other trials, will not affect two more trials in New York City and in Washington.

Mouthwash Linked To Oral Cancer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An apparent association has been found between mouthwash use and an increased risk of mouth and throat cancers in women, but the National Cancer Institute says the finding is inconclusive.

In announcing the study results, the institute said it is possible the findings could be due to chance. It said additional research is needed.

The study was published in the February issue of the Journal of the National Cancer Institute along with a second, larger study conducted by researchers from the American Health Foundation with government support.

The second study also found what appeared to be an increased risk of oral cancers in females who used mouthwashes on a daily basis. But because similar results were not seen in men and the risk in women did not increase with mouthwash dose, foundation president Ernst Wynder said the study could not establish a definite link between mouthwash use and oral cancer.

The cancer institute study evaluated a group of 206 women in North Carolina who were treated for mouth and throat cancers. It was part of an investigation into factors that may play a role in the elevated death rates for those cancers among women in the Southeast.

An apparent link between mouthwash use and cancer was found only in women who did not use tobacco or drink alcoholic beverages, the two major agents linked with mouth and throat cancer. The types of mouthwashes used were not known.

"If mouthwash use is a risk factor for these cancers, the effects of its use may be small and detectable only in low-risk groups not exposed to the potent risk

If They're Out There It'll Take...

PALM COAST, Fla. (UPI) — If aliens are out there and trying to tell us something, the odds are it would take 10,000 years before our receivers could pick up the signal. So, why even try?

That is the view of Sir David Bates, a Harvard University physicist attending the International Quantum Theory Symposium, which began last Thursday.

"If we sent out a signal, our chances of getting a reply are minute because even if there are other civilizations out there, we don't know where they are, so we'd have to constantly sweep the sky for their message," Bates said in an interview.

Last year, Sir David became the first scientist in the world to calculate how particles in outer space may be formed. He has written numerous scientific articles on the possibility of life on another planet.

Another participant in the two-and-a-half-week symposium, sponsored by the universities of Florida and Uppsala, Sweden, is Harvard astrophysicist Alexander Dalgarno, who takes an opposite view from Sir David's.

"The U.S. should proceed with its two existing projects to pick up inter-galactic radio signals, and other countries should set up similar receiving stations," he said.

factors of tobacco and alcohol," the institute said in a statement.

"The findings are considered intriguing, but not conclusive."

Cancers of the mouth and throat are not common in the United States and account for only 3 percent of all newly diagnosed cases of cancer each year.

Churches File '60 Minutes' Complaint

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Church leaders, rebuffed by CBS, Friday filed a formal complaint with the Federal Communications Commission asking a "reasonable amount" of air time to reply to charges made in a "60 Minutes" program.

The complaint grew out of a Jan. 23 program, "The Gospel According to Whom?" which accused the National and World Councils of Churches and member denominations of using church members' money to support Marxist and revolutionary causes.

"The theme of the program is that the complainants (church leaders) are 'doing the work' of international communism without the knowledge of their members, that it is 'near impossible' to trace church money diverted to communist causes and that church leaders are lying about the whole matter," the complaint said.

It asked for time to reply to the "60 Minutes" program under terms of the FCC's "personal attack" rule. CBS earlier denied requests from the churches and the National Council of Churches.

In a parallel action, a spokesman for the five church leaders and agencies said state and regional conferences and dioceses are requesting reply time from CBS-affiliated stations and will file complaints if the requests are denied.

The first formal charge against a local CBS affiliate has been made against WNEV-TV in Boston by the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ, the spokesman said.

In their complaint, the church leaders filed a transcript of the CBS program along with color photographs to demonstrate their contention the program distorted, at least by innuendo, the work of the councils and sought to link the churches with revolutionary causes and leaders such as Cuba's Fidel Castro.

"There are numerous statements that programs to which the churches have contributed are 'Marxist,' 'Communist,' or manipulated or run by Marxists or Communists or the Soviet Union," it said. "There is also considerable talk about financing revolutionary violence."

Barbie's Crimes Against Humanity

Klaus Barbie was a bit overweight, but he liked to dress smartly. He didn't do especially well in school, graduating two years behind his class. But he did have "dark blond sleek hair" and a "consistently strong, positive attitude," according to his employment file. These requisites helped him rise in the Nazi ranks and get a job in France. Between the winter of 1942 and the summer of 1944, this seemingly common man participated in 4,342 murders and ordered 7,591 deportations to death camps. He sent Jewish children to the gas chambers of Auschwitz. He captured and tortured to death the French resistance leader Jean Moulin.

When the Allies defeated Germany, Barbie was taken prisoner by the U.S. Army. France requested Barbie's extradition for trial, but, according to U.S. interrogator Erhard Dabringhaus, Barbie sold U.S. agents intelligence about the Soviets and was given a sanitized identity and $1,700 a month. In 1951, U.S. agents may have helped him escape to South America, where he lived until January, when he was expelled from Bolivia. He now faces trial in Lyons, France.

Upon his capture, Barbie told an interviewer: "I am a convinced Nazi... and if I had to be born a thousand times, I would be a thousand times what I have been."

What is the purpose of prosecuting an old man, after all these years, for crimes of the past? To punish him for what he did to the people he butchered. To show other people who would commit crimes against humanity that they too will be relentlessly hunted and punished. And to remind us that the Nazis were people not completely unlike ourselves who, because of their belief that Jews and others were not human, caused untold suffering and destruction, first for scapegoats, and then for their own people.

U.S. complicity in Barbie's escape must be investigated. Protection of a murderer, even for intelligence-gathering, is intolerable.

In the village of Iztacu, near Lyons, there is a plaque on the school from which Barbie had 41 Jewish children carried off, never to return. Its inscription is the only answer to the Klaus Barbies of the past and of the future. It reads: "Each man has a part in the deaths of all men, because each is a part of humanity."

Do Not Pass Go

Go to jail. Go directly to jail. Do not pass go. Do not collect $200.

That's what happens in the game of Monopoly when you land on the wrong square. Too many trips to jail and too many bypassed payments of $200 mean that you might lose your hotels and houses — perhaps even Park Place and the Reading Railroad.

Now, the sort of business disaster that can happen in Monopoly has happened to Parker Brothers, the manufacturer of the parlor game.

The Supreme Court, in refusing to review a lower court decision, has told Parker Brothers it cannot monopolize Monopoly — that it no longer has proprietary rights to the trademark.

Monopoly was invented by Charles Darrow, an unemployed heating engineer, and sold to Parker Brothers in 1936. Standing to gain in the court decision is Ralph Anspach, an economics professor, who invented and marketed a game called Anti-Monopoly some 10 years ago.

The Supreme Court action upholds a ruling that a registered trademark loses its legal protection when it becomes generic — a common descriptive name. That's what has happened with Monopoly. Now the trademark is lost.

Monopoly became just too popular. During the Great Depression, families played the game on oil cloth on the kitchen table. They liked the feeling of owning property and shuffling through stacks of money — even if it was make-believe. The thrill continued, even in the good times of the postwar years. Monopoly became a household word.

Parker Brothers doesn't like the decision. It protested that it tried to protect its trademark. But the firm knows how to hedge its bets. It has branched out in the video and computer game market — perhaps with visions of other monopolies on the horizon.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Instead of just relying on contributions from individuals, we ought to go after some of that PAC money."

By Doris Dietrich

The Sunday was just made for art when the Sanford-Seminole Art Association staged its annual members show.

The Sanford Civic Center was transformed into a colorful art gallery as well as a parade of colorful art fanciers who strolled back and forth admiring the lovely works on display. Patrons were given ballots at the door to vote for their favorite painting.

But the day got off to a bad start for me. In fact, it was so bad that I was not so sure I was going to make the event after committing myself. A 24-hour-malady attacked me and death seemed imminent. I had to get to that show. But how?

I shampooed and rolled my hair between the upchucks and blind staggers. It was 10 a.m. and no way I could make church with a wet head.

I dragged in at the Civic Center about 2:30 p.m. and tried to explain part of my dilemma to Jane Patterson and Jeanette Policastro who helped line up the winners for photographs. But I did not mention to the two artists that I had dumped all my hair brushes in a cleaning solution and in an attempt to dry them quickly, I used the microwave oven—set at one minute.

I watched horrified while the brushes began melting before my eyes. I couldn't move and if the oven came equipped with a panic button, I must have pushed it. "Midge," I said aloud, "What do I do now?" Midge Mycoff is the home economist at Seminole Community College who specializes in teaching microwave cooking. No answer.

Now I know how the kid feels who used to play hockey from school at the sight of a truant officer. I made a feeble attempt at explaining my absence from church to the Rev. Leo King and his wife, Ruby. In fact, it was so feeble that I nearly knocked over an easel.

At just about that time, my eyes drifted toward the front of the Civic Center and stopped on a lovely pink and orchid painting. "That's it," I thought, while mustering up the strength to get a closer view.

For the past two years, I have been searching for just the right art for a wall recess in my living room. I had no idea what I wanted, but knew it would reach out and grab me someday.

As I moved closer to the painting I knew this was it. The sig was familiar. I simply couldn't do without the exquisite three orchids in an antique frame nearly 100 years old.

I staggered to the back of the Civic Center in search of the artist, a lovely, accommodating Sanford lady, Marie Richter. She wanted me to have the painting at a very moderate price. She insisted, and I didn't wait to be begged to accept the offer.

Marie certainly made a dull, drab day so bright and beautiful.

As the afternoon ended, the winner of the most popular painting was revealed. But the painting was missing. It was already hanging in my living room.

RUSTY BROWN How To Decide Fairness

You can bet your actuary, that one of the biggest brouhahas of the year is brewing right now.

And women may not be certain how to feel about it.

Sex and the insurance policy — that's the topic.

Here are some of the issues:
Women pay up to twice as much as men for health and disability insurance, but they usually pay less in auto insurance.

Women pay less for life insurance because they live longer, but they usually get less in monthly retirement benefits for the same reason.

Is that fair? Or, is it another form of discrimination? Women are split in their opinions.

As the pros and cons are surfacing, so is legislation to wipe out sexual differences in insurance costs.

Here's what's ahead:
— Bills to outlaw sex discrimination in insurance are expected to be introduced in the 98th Congress.

— A case will go before the Supreme Court claiming retired women living on pension annuities unjustly receive smaller monthly payments than men on the theory women live longer.

Here's what's already happened:
— In Pennsylvania, a Philadelphia psychotherapist won her suit against a national insurance company because she had to pay 25 percent more than men for disability insurance.

— In Massachusetts, Michigan and Hawaii, differences in auto insurance rates for men and women already have been banned.

As the battle heats up, we have, on one side, the National Organization for Women (NOW) and the Women's Equity Action League (WEAL). They are amassing forces and clout to fight for unisex insurance rates and unisex pension payments.

The feminist groups estimate that, despite a break in auto insurance, the average woman pays up to $16,000 more in her lifetime for medical, disability, life insurance and pension annuities.

The opposition camp is led by the insurance companies, saying, "Hey, the bottom line in our industry always has been cost based on risk. And gender, like it or not, is one of the indicators of risk."

A feminist who nevertheless sides with the insurance industry is Mary Lou Dobbs, a 35-year-old rising executive with Lincoln National Life. Estate planner Dobbs thinks women have much to lose if Congress passes the insurance bills.

Watt Launches A Grab For Power

WASHINGTON — Far from hunkering down defensively, embattled Interior Secretary James Watt has launched a power grab that makes him boss of the administration's politically sensitive water policies.

Decisions on just who would get federal help in developing the nation's limited water resources and cleaning up existing water supplies used to be made by a congressionally mandated inter-agency group called the Water Resources Council. Its meetings were open to press and public.

Watt changed all that. The decisions on who gets how much federal aid are now made by the Cabinet Council on Natural Resources and Environment, which Watt heads. And the decisions are made in secret. Cabinet Council meetings are closed; they're not even announced.

Stripped of its power, the Water Resources Council no longer holds meetings. Instead, "action memos" are prepared and handed around among the representatives of the various agencies on the council. In other words, the council's role has been reduced to shuffling paper.

What difference does it make whether water policy is set by an inter-agency panel of experts in open session or a group headed by an unabashed political partisan like Watt, acting behind closed doors? My associate Vicki Warren has obtained copies of secret Cabinet Council minutes and other documents that make clear what Watt's self-aggrandizement means.

For example, in a memo to the president, Watt recommended establishing new guidelines for determining how much of a water project's cost should be borne by the federal government. Agricultural water projects — for the administration's Republican strongholds in the West — would get up to 65 percent of the costs paid by Uncle Sam; but municipal water projects — in the largely Democratic cities of the Northeast — would get zilch.

The memo shows that Watt also favors requiring the non-federal money to be provided "up front" — that is, before the federal government antes up its share.

In his memo to the president, Watt warned that "the presumption of up-front cost sharing may be viewed as discriminatory against states with limited fiscal capacity." Indeed it may. Critics charge that the guidelines mean that those who can pay will be able to get water projects wherever and whenever they want; those who can't will be unable to get federal aid for water projects no matter how great their need.

Another problem with the guidelines, according to the Watt memo to the White House, is that they "could create political problems by reducing expected levels of federal support for specific water projects." Right again. Watt has already run into flak on Capitol Hill.

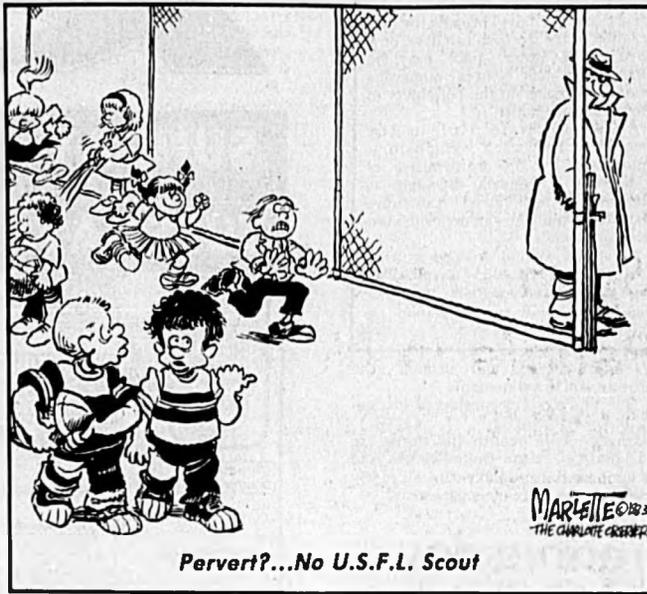

Some members of Congress are convinced that Watt is determined to make himself the "water czar." Legislation has been introduced in both the House and Senate that would re-create a group of experts to set water policy — in other words, a resurrection of the Water Resources Council that Watt has eviscerated.

An Interior Department official denied that Watt is a water-policy czar. So did an official of the Environmental Protection Agency who works with the Cabinet Council. He did acknowledge that the administration views the Water Resources Council as "unnecessary and inefficient."

But Watt himself gave the game away in a memo to President Reagan. Cost-sharing guidelines will be prepared by the Interior Department through the Water Resources Council and published "after clearance by the Cabinet Council." In other words, Watt will have the final say both as Interior secretary and as head of the Cabinet Council.

Footnote: At the Cabinet Council's meeting on Jan. 18, the minutes indicate that most of the participants favored an early decision on cost-sharing for water projects, "before the issue became entangled with electoral politics." It's probably too late for that.

JEFFREY HART

Future Of Beginism

The select Israeli commission investigating the slaughters in the Palestinian refugee camps covered itself with honor and distinction.

Its report, severely critical of Defense Minister Ariel Sharon and only less critical of Prime Minister Begin, made inevitable Sharon's removal from his post. The text of the report was a model of clarity and moral precision.

But the suspicion persists that this commission and its report reflect the values of an older and more European Israel much more than those emerging under Begin in an Israel that has a Sephardic and not a European majority.

This newer Israel is more nationalistic, more ethnic and more aggressive than the Israel of Ben Gurion or Golda Meir. It is more fundamentalist in religion, much less concerned to reach an accommodation with the Palestinians, and highly resistant to any modification of Israel's colonization of the West Bank.

The Kahan commission accused Prime Minister Begin of a strange indifference to the reports of the slaughter in the refugee camps. That assessment seems to be borne out by his behavior in the aftermath, and it probably reflects the low position the Palestinians occupy on Begin's political agenda. Indeed, Begin initially dragged his feet in organizing an investigation, and was driven to form the Kahan commission only by public outrage at home and abroad.

Despite the report and despite Sharon's ouster — very grudging — as Defense Minister, there seems little doubt that Begin reflects the temper of the emerging Israel, and little doubt that he would win an election if it were held anytime soon.

Begin's reaction to the Reagan Mideast initiative was characteristically contemptuous, and reflects an Israeli policy widely at variance with Reagan's proposals. Reagan has asked for a Palestinian homeland on the West Bank, in line with the "autonomy" agreed to by Begin at the Camp David negotiations. This autonomy might not mean complete independence, but could be negotiated as some form of confederation with Israel or Jordan, or both. It could entail some form of partition, with Israel holding only part of the real estate. But in practice, the Begin government has made it clear that it regards the "autonomy" agreement as meaning next to nothing.

Begin and Sharon both reflect an attitude — probably shared by the majority in Israel — that views the West Bank as belonging to Israel, period. The same goes for the Gaza Strip, and there is every sign that Israel may be prepared to annex a large slice of Lebanon, if the Syrian forces and those of the P.L.O. do not get out promptly.

Sometimes the annexation of the West Bank is justified on military grounds, Israel's original geography making the country dangerously narrow at that point. But Begin himself defends the West Bank annexation characteristically on religious and biblical grounds: It is, as the Old Testament depicts it, part of a Greater Israel. Therefore the process of establishing Israeli settlements in the disputed territory goes forward relentlessly.

The Reagan proposals might well have received a more hospitable reception from the former Labor Party government of Israel. Though hardly "doves," the Labor Party people were more Europeanized, more at home with the manners and compromises of traditional diplomacy, and perhaps more able to appreciate the force of a rival Palestinian nationalism. But the Labor Party is out of power, Begin very much in charge and in tune with popular sentiment.

Under these circumstances, the prospects for the Reagan plan look much less promising than they did only a couple of months ago.

Too Many Blacks, No New Jobs

Suppose you're the executive of a New England manufacturing concern charged with finding new plant locations away from the decaying Northeast.

Your board of directors is worried about high labor costs, recalcitrant labor unions, inclement weather and an industrial plant aged beyond repair. They order you to find a site for a plant where the company's thing-a-ma-bobs or what's-its can be manufactured inexpensively by willing, pliable workers at a low cost in a temperate climate.

You naturally turn your attention toward the Sun Belt — the 11-state region stretching from Florida to Texas. Your assignment is to find a community with adequate, well-trained workers and an abundance of all the resources — rail, air or highway transportation, water and inexpensive power — that will make your company's proposed plant a profitable success.

In a way, your task is simple. The South is begging for new industry and eager to accommodate runaways from the industrial North and Middle West. You contact industrial development authorities and are inundated with information about the work habits, wage scales, waterflow and electric power rates in communities from Key West, Fla., to Laredo, Texas.

You're flooded with illustrated brochures in three exciting colors: invitations to be wined and dined in country clubs and mansions, and complicated data on tax rebates and industrial bonds available to woo widget manufacturers from the icy North to the sunny South.

You add up pluses and minuses of Alabama and Arkansas. You total unemployment compensation rates in Texas and Tennessee. Inspect alternative sites in both Carolinas — compare utility prices in Meridian, Miss., and Mobile, Ala., and measure the talents and union proclivities of workers in Roanoke, Va., and Roanoke, Ala.

When you've narrowed your selections to five or six and have digested the last stuffed shrimp from the 20th Chamber of Commerce banquet, you ask the crucial question: What is the percentage of black people in your community?

If the answer is more than 35 percent, you cross those communities off your list. Too many blacks means no new jobs. At least that's what one company did when it decided to build a new plant.

Amoco Fabrics — a division of Standard Oil of Indiana — picked an industrial site in Alabama over several in Georgia because of high concentrations of blacks in the Georgia locations, according to testimony in a federal suit. An official of the company said in a deposition that Amoco was not interested "in any area that had more than a 35 percent minority population."

Another executive testified by deposition that "our experiences are that the lower the concentration of minorities, the better we're able to perform and get a plant started up."

Reader Disagrees With Anderson On U.S. Information Agency

In a recent column (Feb. 23, 1983), Jack Anderson spoke negatively of the efforts being made by the U.S. Information Agency to help friendly third world countries fight the war of ideas.

It would appear that Jack Anderson does not understand the critical role played by ideas in the struggle to keep additional countries friendly to the U.S. from slipping under the control of communism.

An article in The New York Times on Feb. 27, 1982, told of the plans of the Marxist guerrillas in El Salvador to use the American media to help them win. They said frankly that they were trying to imitate the success the communists in Vietnam had in manipulating the American media a decade ago.

They obviously learned a lot more from Vietnam about the importance of propaganda in warfare than we did. It is unfortunate that those who appreciate the fact that wars can be won or lost on the field of the news media find themselves criticized and harassed by Jack Anderson.

I suggest that anyone who thinks of Jack Anderson as an appropriate giver of advice in such matters should reflect on the fact that he was one of those journalists who did much to pull the plug on Nicaragua. It is ironic that he should now have the nerve to criticize Ian MacKenzie, a Washington public relations expert who tried valiantly to warn this country that a victory for the Sandinistas in Nicaragua would result in the establishment of a communist base in Central America. Jack Anderson was on the other side in that debate. Nicaragua is now a communist base in Central America. We have yet to see Jack Anderson admit that he made a mistake, one that was very costly for the Nicaraguan people.

Policeman Still Feels Useful At Age 58

By Rep. CLAUDE PEPPER
Q. I am a police officer. My department has a policy of retiring people at age 58. I will be 58 next year and am in no position to retire. I still have children in school. I have been told that there is a law against age discrimination, and it seems to me that this is just that. Do you have any suggestions?

A. I completely understand your point of view, and, as you may know, I spearheaded legislation passed by Congress in 1978 raising the mandatory retirement age in the private sector to 70 and virtually eliminating it in federal employment.

Under some conditions, however, employers still may require that employees in certain kinds of jobs retire at an earlier age.

There are court decisions which have held that some jobs which require exceptional physical abilities and involve the public safety, such as law enforcement jobs, may have different retirement ages than the law specifies. However, there is a great deal of variability. Some police departments, for example, allow their officers to work until age 65 or 70.

Growing Older

U.S. Rep. Claude Pepper

The Equal Employment Opportunities Commission, which enforces the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, is vigorously examining the mandatory retirement age for police officers and firefighters. For more information on the law, and your rights under it, you might wish to contact the EEOC office in your area.

Q. I am 70 but have never thought of myself as old. I jog and play tennis and I have a lively interest in life. But at every turn, I am reminded of my "elderly" status. I go into a national park and am offered a golden age passport. I buy a ticket to a movie or other entertainment and am asked if I am a senior citizen. TV and radio programs feature young people talking about, and I think fantasizing about, problems of the elderly. Never have so many young people been engaged in worrying about us who are not young. But, neither are all of us decrepit, needing to be helped at every turn.

A. I applaud your spirit, your health and your enthusiasm. Everyone, of course, is not so fortunate as you. Aging, for some people, does bring about a different set of circumstances. Many older people require a good deal of assistance just to get along at a minimal standard of living.

The special "perks" you mentioned and others like them represent society's desire to assure that persons with diminished incomes continue to be able to enjoy some recreation. And other programs, such as reduced fares for public transportation, seek to assure that necessary services remain available. In addition, I think these programs reflect what probably is an overdue effort by society to pay respect to those whose labors built our country.

As to my misplaced effort to tag you as "elderly," I say the best answer is to ignore them and keep busy.

REP. CLAUDE PEPPER is the ranking member of the House Select Committee on Aging.

Dutchmen Spend Free Time Helping People In Need

I represent a group of 120 young Dutchmen (aged 14-32) who spend a part of their free time visiting people in hospitals or at home, who are confined with a prolonged illness.

We seek out those without many visitors, or whose families or friends may think that they have more important things to do than visit their sick relatives.

After we make their acquaintance and consult their doctor, we like to give them sometimes a small gift and it has turned out that we can give great pleasure to many people if we bring them packages of used postage stamps. This certainly relieves their boredom and gives them something to do: sorting, mounting, arranging, etc.

Many companies and individuals all over the world already send us their used stamps on a more or less regular basis. However, we do not get so many stamps from the U.S.A. to forward to the patients, and as we are sure that this has nothing to do with lack of helpfulness, we kindly request your cooperation in checking what happens to the stamps which come in with you.

If all or a portion of them are just thrown away would it not be better to assist your ill fellowmen by sending those little pieces of paper to us? Every simple stamp is welcome to the patients in any quantity. The main point is that she or he has something to do and can forget the loneliness.

The patients can also be made happy with labels of matchboxes, empty matchbooks and with older picture postcards.

We are doing this work already since May 1975 and we intend to go on with it, as long as we can find helpful people, all over the world.

I really hope, along with the 400 people (aged 9-93) we visit, that you will be able and willing to help us.

Only Free Enterprise Works

Our politicians in Washington are planning to spend billions more dollars to help the unemployed. We citizens who pay the bill should ask some sharp questions such as:

A.) Who is better qualified to spend the money — we who sweat to earn it, or the politicians?

B.) How can government create jobs where our money is spent, without causing unemployment where our purchasing or investing powers are taken away?

Government creates no wealth, it can only transfer it. Government can only make some people richer by making others poorer.

Are our national legislators and President Reagan being honest when they raise false hopes and neglect the real solution: Free Enterprise.

Not Enough For Kids To Do

The citizens' police departments seem concerned as to why the teenagers in Sanford are running the streets late at night and crime-vandalism is a problem. What are we to expect when we have one theater which runs a movie for three or four months and has converted part of the theater to a game room.

Sanford leaves little to desire for the young people. We have no clubs, pools, or recreation areas. I average going to Tampa with my family once a month and my son does not like to leave because there is so much for him to do there. Let the businessman, commissioner, whoever can help, turn their thoughts to these young people instead of their plush chairs, new offices, pay raises.

Bay Queen Cruise Enjoyed

Recently the members of Friendship and Union Society and the First Shiloh M. B. Church sponsored a cruise on the Bay Queen.

This was a most enjoyable experience. The food was delicious. The captain (Bill) and crew were very friendly and charming.

Everyone who was on this cruise says this was truly a fun ride. This includes the twenty children who want to know when are we going again?

Thanks Bay Queen Family. You are the tops.

What Papers Are Saying

By United Press International
Claremont, N.H., Eagle-Times

Is the recession over? No, but signs continue to show very positive regaining of economic strength. Indicators, both locally and across the nation, are upturned.

... Nationally, housing starts are up a big 36 percent, comparing January over December. January to last January, the increase is 96 percent. Not bad!

Industrial production is also up, almost 1 percent from December to January. This is the big ticket production of cars, steel, etc.

The money supply projections for 1983 show a 4 to 8 percent rise. The economic expansion should be about 4 percent this year.

The Federal Reserve will continue to show caution with interest rate policy, clearly afraid of what inflation might do if the purse strings are opened.

Yes, economic recovery is with us now. We may not see a good indication for another six months in this area, but the national signals are flashing loud and clear.

Boston Herald

The decision of Soviet doctors to withdraw from the World Psychiatric Association is a tacit admission that they know where they're no longer welcome.

... Since the Soviets' despicable misuse of psychiatry hasn't gotten any better since it was first condemned by the association 12 years ago, expulsion (this summer) was likely. So all they did by resigning was beat their colleagues to the punch.

Sadly, the Soviet withdrawal won't make a whit of difference to the heroic dissidents imprisoned and subjected to harsh treatment in Russia's mental hospitals. Their lot won't be improved or eased even slightly.

Sending those who oppose government policies to a Russian-style Bedlam is a convenient way for the Kremlin to take them out of circulation without the bother of a trial.

... If Russian citizens disagree with those who are enslaving them — and say so — they're considered insane by a system built on the certified madness known as megalomania.

The (Providence, R.I.) Journal-Bulletin

President Alvaro Magana of El Salvador has renewed a promise made last November but not yet fulfilled. He will establish a "peace commission" to loosen at least some of the restraints on civil liberties and thereby draw militant leftists toward participation in new elections.

... The peace commission will be headed by Mr. Magana, with three other members drawn from extreme right-wing, conservative and moderate-left parties.

Mr. Magana (in a televised speech) took pains to stress that he will not negotiate with leftist guerrillas, who have recently been broadening in their control of Chalatenango Province in the northern part of the country.

Mr. Magana's new assertions may reflect the government's reactions to recent guerrilla gains or to the impending visit of Pope John Paul II. Whatever the motive is, the message is encouraging, with its talk of "involvement of all political parties in the political system."

U.S. taxpayers gave the Magana government $320 million in military and economic aid last year. The Reagan administration has promised $226 million more this year. ... Although the United States cannot stage-manage El Salvador's affairs, it has a perfect right to demand that Mr. Magana carry out his glowing promise to "create adequate social and political conditions to achieve an effective peace."

The New York Times

Herschel Walker has caused Georgia fans to mourn and college coaches to cry foul by signing before graduation with the New Jersey Generals of the new United States Football League. But the University of Georgia junior, last season's Heisman Trophy winner, has probably run the best play of his life.

Why risk all that for another year on campus? Most athletes do not attend top sports schools to read history and philosophy.

... If the Generals broke the rules by signing Mr. Walker, colleges do worse. They even negotiate with high school athletes, and pay top recruits. We wonder, for example, how the Walkers, a family of modest means, can afford a $12,000 annual premium for a $1 million insurance policy on their star.

The National Football League did not sign undergraduate players, coaches retort. But has the league been honorable or just smart? ... As long as it had a monopoly on the sport, the N.F.L. was happy to let colleges provide four years of seasoning.

Big time college sports are big business, guided by the bank book as much as the rule book. Nice catch, Herschel.

Complaints Of Pork Barrel Haunt Jobs Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ignoring accusations it was passing a pork barrel bill full of unneeded goodies, the House overwhelmingly approved a $4.9 billion jobs package in a hurry to get it to President Reagan by the end of the month.

The Senate Appropriations Committee will start making decisions on the bill Monday. Senate Republican leader Howard Baker says he wants to complete congressional action by March 25 when the Easter recess starts.

Senate Appropriations chairman Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., has his own $4.3 billion jobs proposal, however. The biggest difference is over community development. The House bill would appropriate

$1.2 billion in new funds; Hatfield's would provide for $1 billion in loans and $500 million in new appropriations.

With unemployment at 10.4 percent nationwide and reaching 50 percent for black teen-agers, and the November election results fresh in mind, the administration and the House Democratic leaders joined to fashion quickly the jobs measure.

The Labor Department reported that new claims for jobless benefits went up in mid-February, the second weekly increase this year. The increase in claims was the result of a statistical adjustment. The actual number of people who filed claims for the jobless payments fell during the week.

The House vote on the jobs bill Thursday was 324-95. Amendments were approved on voice votes adding a net of $61 million for mass transit projects and $200 million for health services to the bill.

The House also approved an amendment by Rep. Bob Edgar, D-Pa., requiring 75 percent of the funds must be spent in pockets of unemployment, defined as areas with joblessness of 90 percent of the national average. This would mean that an area would have to have about 9 percent unemployment to be eligible.

"There are areas of astronomically unemployment," Edgar, a Philadelphia area liberal, said. "It's really hard to find work when 12 million people are out of work and when there is 10.4 percent unemployment."

Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., ranking Republican on the Appropriations Committee, lost an attempt to send the bill back to committee on ground that it was a pork barrel. The vote was 258-158.

"As long as you were in the butcher shop when the hog was being slaughtered and you were able to get a nice chunk of bacon to take home —" Conte shouted. "But those guys and gals who weren't in the butcher shop ... you're going home with pretzels, not bacon."

Joint Economic Group Sees Faster Economic Growth

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans and Democrats on Congress' Joint Economic Committee agreed defense increases proposed by the administration should be slowed down.

Both sides believe economic growth somewhat faster than the administration officially projects this year is possible.

In separate versions of the committee's annual report, that is about all they agreed on.

This is no surprise. Only twice, in 1979 and 1980 under the chairmanship of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, has the committee been able to get together on a single report.

Republicans, in their latest version, said the defense share of the budget should increase.

"However, the rise need not be as rapid as the administration originally proposed," they said. "There is room for a scaleback or stretchout in military spending increases."

They made no specific recommendations Friday but said areas where planned defense growth might be slowed include operations and maintenance, pay and benefits, force structure and procurement. They suggested canceling weapons development programs that are in difficulty and switching to less costly, longer-term alternatives.

Democrats said, "Military spending increases should be slowed for the immediate future by more prudent decisions with respect to weapons systems and to procurement, rather than through cuts which will affect the recruitment and retention of qualified military personnel or their combat readiness."

President Reagan has proposed a $30 billion or 10 percent increase in the defense budget for fiscal 1984, for a total $238.6 billion. Congressional committees are expected to pare that increase.

Sen. Roger Jepsen, R-Iowa, current chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, said the annual report is being released "in an atmosphere of growing optimism about the economy" and asserted that economic indicators show "recovery will be stronger than anticipated."

Republicans predicted in their report that President Reagan's economic program will bring faster real growth for the economy this year than the 3.1 percent (fourth quarter to fourth quarter) the administration officially has forecast.

They did not say how much. Martin Feldstein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, has said the official forecast was cautious and that 5 percent growth would not surprise him.

Democrats said the lower administration estimate is "not acceptable" and that 5.5 percent to 6 percent growth this year is "a realistic goal."

Both sides said future year budget deficits should be reduced. But while Republicans emphasized "strict review of federal expenditures," Democrats said, "Fiscal policy in 1983 should support economic recovery."

Democrats said Congress should launch "a significant jobs program" this year. Republicans called for a longer range employment program emphasizing training to reduce "structural unemployment" — joblessness that will be left when the economy has recovered.

Republicans said no major tax increases should be enacted.

The circus side show and zoo is on the midway and features the traditional fire eater, magician, ventriloquist, knife throwers, and other acts and it also includes the menagerie with all the animals. The side show opens about one hour before big show time.

The circus is sponsored by the Maitland-South Seminole Chamber of Commerce. Advance tickets at reduced prices are for sale at the Chamber office at 110 North Maitland Avenue, Maitland or call 644-0741 for other ticket outlets.

IN BRIEF

Housing Starts Soar; Recovery Speeding Up

With builders breaking ground on new housing units in anticipation of further declines in interest rates, housing starts during January soared to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1,716,000, the Commerce Department has reported.

"The housing recovery is developing much faster than we had expected," said Harry Pryde, president of the National Association of Home Builders. "The 36 percent jump in housing starts in January is an indication of the strong pentup demand for housing."

Pryde said that many builders are expecting further declines in interest rates later this year. Mortgage interest rates have declined from 17 percent levels recorded last year to about 12-13 percent today. NAHB projects that the FHA/VA mortgage rate, currently at 12 percent, will fall to about 10 1/2 percent later this year.

"As interest rates dropped last fall, the housing market started to break loose in the stronger growth areas of the country," Pryde said. "The seasonal adjustment factors and mild weather might have inflated the January numbers a bit. Nevertheless, all the housing statistics indicate that the recovery is on track."

The 1.7 million annual starts rate recorded in January represented a 36 percent increase from December and a 96 percent upturn from the rate of housing construction in January 1982. Building permits, a bellwether of future building activity, increased 16 percent from December to January to seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1,512,000 units, up 88 percent from the building permit rate of a year ago.

Bank Offers Videotex

Southeast Banking Corporation is one of four major bank holding companies that has announced an agreement in principle to offer financial transaction processing nationally for electronic home banking services using videotex. The joint venture, called VideoFinancial Services Corporation, will launch operations in the fall of 1983 in South Florida.

Founding members are Southeast Banking Corporation of Miami, Wachovia Corporation of Winston-Salem, N.C.; Banc One Corporation of Columbus, Ohio; and Security Pacific Corporation of Los Angeles, Calif. A limited number of additional banks are expected to join before the new VideoFinancial Services company is officially formed.

John B. McCoy, president of Banc One Corporation, has been named interim president of VideoFinancial Services.

The videotex approach used by VIEWTRON makes it possible for individuals to use terminals in their homes to obtain news, home banking, airline schedules, videoshopping and a variety of other services.

Concept trials for VIEWTRON were conducted in 204 homes in Coral Gables, Florida, in 1980 and 1981 by Knight-Ridder and AT&T. Southeast Banking Corporation, which participated in those trials, currently is developing the systems for VideoFinancial Services under an agreement signed with Knight-Ridder last year.

Nuclear Units Are Saving

The Operation of Florida Power & Light's three nuclear units saved customers $538 million in fuel costs during 1982, the company has reported. That resulted in an annual savings of more than $136 for a typical residential customer using 1,000 kilowatt hours per month.

Vice President of Nuclear Energy Joe Williams said generation from FPL's St. Lucie nuclear unit and the two nuclear units at Turkey Point amounted to the equivalent use of approximately 23 million barrels of oil. In 1982, the cost of oil was nine times greater than nuclear fuel, and the savings were passed directly to customers through the fuel adjustment, he said.

Nuclear power amounted to 28 percent of the company's total generation for the year, up from 1981 following completion of repairs at Turkey Point Unit No. 3 in April. The system's nuclear generation record was enhanced by the continued high performance of St. Lucie Unit No. 1, which had a 94 percent on-line availability factor (a measure of a unit's availability for generation in a given period), far outdistancing the average performance of licensed U.S. nuclear reactors in 1982. Additionally, Turkey Point Unit No. 3 has maintained an 88 percent availability since its steam generators were replaced in April. Unit No. 4 currently is involved in the repair process and is expected to be operational in mid-1983.

FPL customers have saved a total of $2.6 billion in fuel costs from nuclear plant operation since the start of the first Turkey Point unit 11 years ago.

FPL's fourth nuclear unit, St. Lucie Unit No. 2, is scheduled for commercial operation later this year.

More Stromberg-Carlson Systems Installed

Continental Telephone Company of the West recently installed its first System Century Digital Central Office with the new Local Line Switch in Espanola, New Mexico. Continental now has the two largest DCO Systems with Local Line Switches in service in the nation.

Manufactured by Stromberg-Carlson Corporation, the new DCO System has 5,600 lines and provides telephone subscribers in this area north of Santa Fe with a full line of custom-calling features, pushbutton dialing, and Local Automatic Message Accounting (LAMA).

These features were not available to Espanola with the analog, step-by-step equipment that the new switch replaced.

Continental Telephone Co. of the West is an operating company of Continental Telcom, Inc. Another Continental operating company, Continental Telephone Co. of Virginia in Smithfield has a 5,500-line DCO System placed in service last November.

Twenty-first century telecommunications recently came to the 19th Century atmosphere of Middlefield, Ohio, when a System Century Digital Central Office with the new Local Line Switch was placed in service for the Western Reserve

Telephone Co.

This town in northeast Ohio is the heart of the Amish farming community, where horses, buggies, and hitching posts are commonplace.

The 2,000-line DCO System for Middlefield provides the latest in custom-calling features as well as pushbutton dialing. This switch also serves as the host office to three digital satellite units providing telephone service to East Claridon, a few miles north of Middlefield.

Since the DCO System's introduction in 1977, Stromberg-Carlson Corporation has installed seven central offices with 13,500 lines for Western Reserve Telephone, an operating company of Mid-Continent Telephone of Hudson, Ohio. More than 500,000 lines have been installed throughout the world since then.

Stromberg-Carlson, a member of the Plessey group, is a leading designer and manufacturer of telecommunications equipment with headquarters in Lake Mary. Manufacturing facilities are located in Lake Mary; Rochester, N.Y.; and Ardmore, Okla. The Engineering Development Center is in Longwood.

Calls From Pay Telephones Can Be Charged

United Telephone of Florida is taking the worry out of not having the proper change to make a local call from a pay telephone.

Local calls from the company's public phones now can be billed to a third number, charged to a customer's Calling Card Service (telephone credit card) or bill collect.

"More customers were requesting this service," said F.R. McPherson, a Winter Park spokesman for United Telephone. "We felt we now could offer these new options because of the high demand and because technological advances make our call handling procedures more efficient."

Bulls Meet Satellite In 4A Final

WINTER PARK — With 10 minutes to play and his Miami Northwestern Bulls 18 points behind, coach Don Wallace didn't know if the Bulls would make their third trip to the finals in five years.

Three free throws by Pam Dixon and Sonja Williams in the last minute capped a furious comeback and gave Northwestern a dramatic 37-66 victory over Jacksonville Ribaault, 27-3, in the semi-finals of the State 4A Girls Basketball Tournament Friday night.

The victory moves Northwestern, 27-3, into Saturday night's title game against Satellite Beach which toppled previously-undefeated Orlando Evans Thursday night by 11 points.

Courtney Bullard paced the Bulls with 20 points while Williams added 11 including the deciding free throw with 15 seconds to play. Dixon contributed 13. Her free throws came at the 50-second mark.

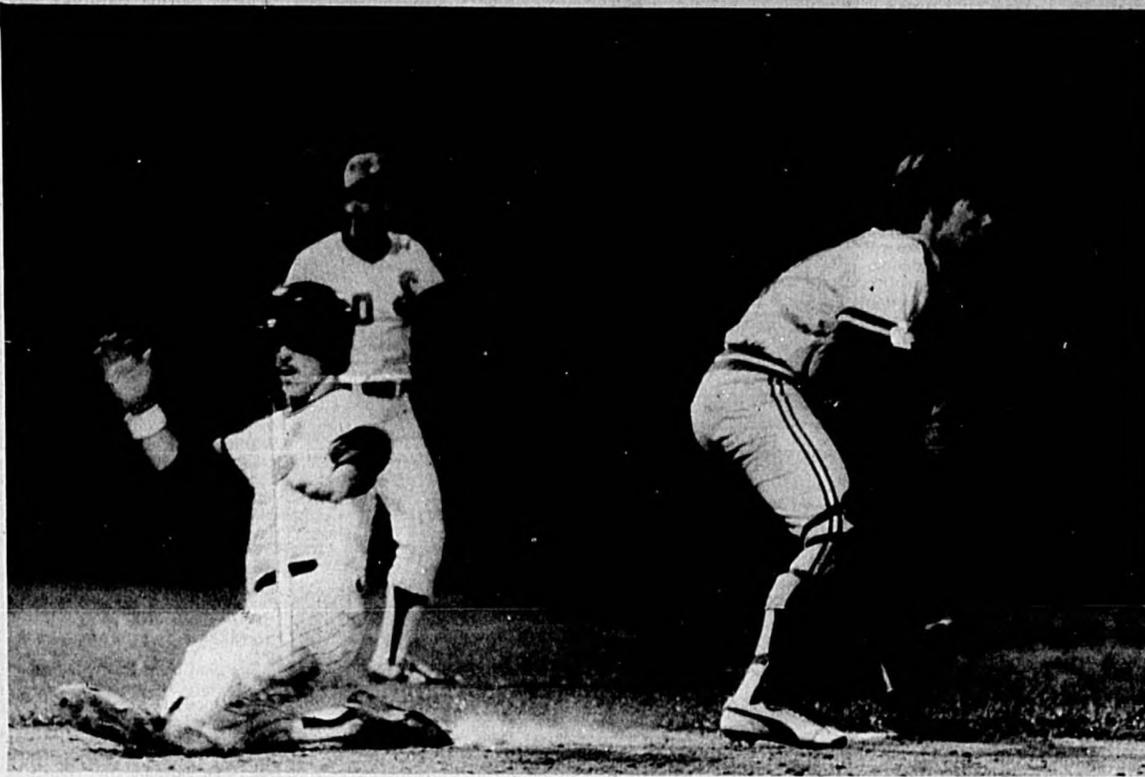

In other action Friday, Laurel Hill looked like anything but a 1A team as it thrashed Fort Lauderdale Westminster, 84-39, behind 21 points by all-star Orphie Moore. Laurel Hill, 21-3, goes after its second straight state crown at 7 p.m. against Tampa Prep.

Another team looking for its second straight title is Nancy Yengel's Clearwater Central Catholic 2A crew. CCC edged Pensacola Catholic, 54-52, Friday behind 20 points and 17 rebounds by transfer Juana Coletti who played for St. Petersburg Shorecrest last year. CCC takes on Gainesville P.K. Yonge at 2 p.m.

In the 3A game, Marianna eliminated St. Petersburg Boca Ciega, 53-42, to advance to Saturday's 3:30 p.m. title game with defending champion Ocala Vanguard, which knocked off Fort Lauderdale Stranahan Thursday.

Wesley's Big Bat Flattens Fighting Seminoles

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Seabreeze's Devell Wesley cracked three hits and drove in four runs as the Sand Crabs rolled over Sanford's Fighting Seminoles, 9-2, Friday night in prep baseball at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Wesley gave an indication of things to come in the first inning when he rifled a James Hersey fastball into the left-field corner for a double. Hersey, who fanned the first two hitters, escaped trouble when Terry Russi made a nice, running catch of David Sutliff's fly ball to center.

Hersey, a promising sophomore, sailed through the second inning and was about to do the same in the third until a two-out error led to three runs. Hersey helped himself by snaring a hard liner back to the mound for the first out. He fanned the second hitter but walked leadoff batter Gary James. Mike Randolph then dropped a bunt in front of the mound which Hersey fielded with his bare hand and gunned to first baseman Andy Griffith. Griffith missed the throw, however, and James scored all the way from first while Randolph scooted to third.

Hersey hit Wesley with a pitch to put runners at the corners. Another walk and three stolen bases later along with an error produced two more Seabreeze runs for a 3-0 lead before Hersey fanned Matt McKernan to end the uprising. Three runs, no hits and two errors.

The Crabs tacked on three more in the fourth on two hits and two more errors. Wesley had the big blow, a two-run single past a drawn-in infield off reliever Griffith who replaced Hersey with a run in and two out.

The 'Noles struck back in the bottom of the fourth. After two were out, Paul Griffin beat out an infield single and Russi singled Griffin to third, taking second on the throw. Rightfielder Jeff Vanzura then stroked a single out of the reach of the Seabreeze second baseman to score both runners and cut the lead to 6-2. Vanzura had two of Seminole's five singles.

Sand Crab left-hander Rich Liley threw a double play ball to Griffith to ease out of a scrape in the fifth and got Griffin and Vanzura to line out to end a minor rally in the sixth.

Sawyer's 2 Homers Drop Silver Hawks

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Of the 80 or so pitches that Lake Howell's Jay Robey threw against Lyman's Greyhounds Friday, there are two that he would most like to have had back.

The first came in the top of the third inning with Greyhounds on first and third and Mike "Duck" Sawyer at the plate. Sawyer slammed Robey's pitch just inside the left field foul pole for a three-run homer that broke a 1-1 tie.

The second came in the top of the fifth inning with no outs and a runner on first. Sawyer drilled Robey's first pitch over the left field fence for a two-run homer that gave Lyman a 7-1 lead and the Greyhounds went on to win, 9-1, in a Five Star Conference matchup at Lake Howell.

Sawyer's two round-trippers accounted for five of Lyman's runs and Jeff Barefoot went the distance on the mound as Lyman improved its record to 3-4 and Lake Howell fell to 2-8.

Lyman took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first as Todd Marriott led off with a walk, stole second, and scored on Tom Perkins' infield single.

Lake Howell responded with a run in the bottom of the frame as Jeff Poindexter, who was 3 for 3 for the game, smashed a double to the gap in left center and scored when Bill Lang delivered a double to left center. The Silver Hawks had runners on first and second with no outs but couldn't push another run across.

Lyman made it 4-1 in the third as Marriott walked to put runners on first and second. Derek Livernois then hit into a force play and Sawyer followed by clouting his first homer.

Poindexter singled to lead off the bottom of the third but was erased when Roberts' Tucker's grounder down the first base line was fielded by Steve Lorenz who tagged first and gunned down Poindexter at second for an inning ending double play. The Greyhounds had an impressive day in the field, turning three double plays and committing just one error.

Lyman picked up one more run in the fourth as Mike Henley's olooper fell in for a double and he eventually scored on a Lake Howell error.

Prep Baseball

The 'Hounds made it 8-1 in the fifth as Livernois reached on an error and Sawyer followed with his second homer. With two outs in the inning Tom Gibbons doubled and came around to score when Henley cracked a single up the middle.

Lyman scored its ninth run in the top of the sixth as Paul Alegre was issued a free pass, went to second on a passed ball and scored when Sawyer hit into a force play.

After the fourth inning, Lake Howell only had three base runners the rest of the way and none of them made it as far as second base.

Barefoot gave up five hits on the day, he struck out three and walked only one. Robey went the distance for Lake Howell, allowing seven hits, striking out one and walking four.

Lyman travels to Daytona Beach to play Mainland Wednesday at 4 p.m. while the slump-ridden Hawks host Apopka at 3:30 p.m. Monday.

At Oviedo, Brett Mollie hurled a two-hitter and Mollie and Clint Baker combined for six runs batted in as Lyman's junior varsity ripped Oviedo, 11-3, Friday.

Mollie went the distance, striking out nine Oviedo hitters as the JV Greyhounds improved to 3-0 for the year.

Lyman jumped out to a 3-1 start after the first inning and increased its lead to 8-1 by the end of the second. The Lions got within three runs, 6-3, after three innings but could get no closer. The Greyhounds scored four more runs in the fifth to ice the victory.

No Lyman hitter had more than one hit but Mollie and Baker knocked in three runs apiece. The JV Greyhounds host Bishop Moore Monday night.

Lyman's Paul Alegre gets a glove on the chin from Lake Howell catcher Robert Tucker during prep baseball action Friday afternoon at Lake Howell. Alegre tried to score on a dribbler hit back to pitcher Jay Robey who tossed Alegre out at home. Lyman won anyway, 9-1.

Rams Upend Bulldogs

Scott Underwood had three hits and Rod Metz slammed a two-run, 375-foot homer to back the two-hit pitching of Barry Hysell as Lake Mary's Rams upended St. Cloud, 10-2, Friday night at St. Cloud.

Hysell went the distance for the Rams, striking out six and walking seven as Lake Mary improved to 2-4 on the year. The Rams host Kissimmee Osceola Monday at 4 p.m. at Seminole Community College.

"Hysell has pitched well every time he's been out there," Lake Mary coach Don Smith said. "We backed him up with some hitting last night."

Metz clouted his two-run homer in the first inning as Lake Mary jumped out to a 2-0 lead. "He really hit a good shot," Smith said of Metz' homer. "It went a good 375 feet or so." St. Cloud came back in the bottom of the first to tie it at 2-2. The Rams exploded for four more runs in the second, two in the third and two more in the fourth and Hysell whitewashed the Bulldogs the rest of the way to seal the victory.

Underwood was 3 for 5 for the day with three singles while Metz was 1 for 4 with two RBI. Mike Schmit was 1 for 3 with a double and Kevin Hill was also 1 for 3 for the Rams.

Lake Mary also had a good game in the field as the Rams committed only one error while St. Cloud had four errors.

Lions Hammer NSB, 15-1

Oviedo's Lions erupted for 11 runs in the first inning and David Butterfield hurled a two-hitter Friday as the Lions went on to trounce New Smyrna Beach's Barracudas, 15-1, in a five-inning contest at New Smyrna Beach.

Chris Kessinger's grand slam homer and Skip Cooper's two-run shot were the big blows for Oviedo in the 11-run first inning as New Smyrna Beach went through two pitchers in the inning. Butterfield, who faced only 20 batters, stymied the 'Cudas on just two hits, striking out four and walking just one in picking up his third victory against one loss.

Oviedo raised its record to 7-4 for the season while New Smyrna Beach fell to 1-1.

Brett Thayer hammered his first homer of the season in the third inning, a two-run shot that gave the Lions a 13-1 lead. Thayer also knocked in a run in the first inning with a single and wound up 2 for 3 for the game. Catcher Scott Gastley had two hits in three trips to the plate including a triple and two RBI while teammate Craig Duncan was 2 for 2 with two RBI.

Oviedo opens play in the Orange Belt Conference on Tuesday as the Lions take on powerful Bishop Moore at Bishop Moore. The Lions return home on Friday for a 3:30 p.m. game against conference foe Leesburg.

Volusia's Surge Tips Juniors

ORLANDO — A scoring surge that started in the closing seconds of the second period and lasted into the early minutes of the third quarter propelled Daytona Beach East Volusia to a 42-34 win over the Sanford all-stars in the opening round of the Florida Junior Boys Basketball state tournament.

Sanford was scheduled to play a consolation bracket game at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, facing the losers of Friday night's late game between Riviera Beach and St. Petersburg.

Sanford led 6-2 at the end of the first period and was ahead, 12-5, when Reginald Bellamy picked up his third foul late in the second quarter. With Bellamy on the bench, Daytona Beach took the lead and went into the dressing room leading, 16-14.

Daytona Beach surged ahead by as much as 12 points in the third quarter before Sanford settled down and cut the margin back to six. That was the best they could do, however, as the two teams matched points in the final period.

Bellamy led Sanford with 16 points, scoring all but two of them in the second quarter. Willie McCloud added six points. Daytona Beach's Rory Davis led all scorers with 17.

Lady Greyhounds Have Good Blend

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Lyman's Lady Greyhounds have a good blend of youth and experience for the 1983 softball season with six seniors in the starting lineup along with three freshmen and a sophomore.

The Greyhounds have the depth and attitude to be contenders for the Five Star Conference title and top last year's 9-7 record.

"We have lots of selections and double depth at each position," Lyman coach Karen Newman said.

"It's a young, strong and enthusiastic team and the ninth graders have experience from playing in other leagues."

Last year's top hitter, first baseman Michelle Kuhrt, is returning for her senior year after hitting at a .451 clip as a junior a year ago. Kuhrt is a three-year starter and a three-time all-conference selection.

The middle of the infield consists of two promising freshmen, Kristi Kaiser at second base and Denise Stevens at shortstop and third base is being contested for by senior Linda Hoeck and freshman Lori Helms. Stevens is one of the top hitters on the squad. Stevens, Kaiser and Helms all gained valuable experience playing in the Seminole Pony Softball Complex during their formative years.

The Lyman battery has senior southpaw Kathy Richardson and junior right-hander Christine Gligocs sharing the pitching duties with sophomore Valerie Price behind the plate and sophomore Riane Richardson providing bench strength at catcher.

Of the four outfield positions, three have already been secured. And, all three of those players are seniors. Kim Gilliam will be in leftfield, Ronda Tempesta will be in right center and Marcie Lewis will be in right field. The fourth outfield spot is still up for grabs with seven players in the running. They include, seniors Doris Cole and Pam Stambaugh, juniors Lisa Bennett and Lisa Wright, sophomore Mary Ryan and freshmen Chris Mollberg and Christy McLeod.

The Lady Greyhounds open the season Tuesday against Orlando Evans at Evans.

YOUUPI

Youppi, the Montreal Expo mascot, is looking for big things this year from his Expos. Picked to win the National East last year by a lot of sports writers, the Montreal club didn't live up to expectations. Sanford's Tim Raines will again be in the Expos outfield and the former Seminole High flash hopes to recapture the skills he showed when he won the Major League basestealing title two years ago as a rookie. "I had a lot of personal problems last year," Raines said recently. "That's all behind me now and I'm looking for the Expos and me to have a good year." Spring training in Florida or the Grapefruit League opened Saturday with several games. Here's a list of the five closest cities to view major-league baseball and also the Expos schedule.

Twins Open With Knights

ORLANDO (UPI) — The Minnesota Twins face two college teams this weekend in preparation for the Grapefruit League schedule.

The Twins play the University of Central Florida Saturday and Rollins College, Winter Park Sunday.

Minnesota manager Billy Gardner said he planned to divide the team so that all non-pitchers will have an opportunity to play in one of the games.

Left-hander Bryan Oelkers and right-handers Ken Schrom, Rick Lysander and Frank Eufemia are set to pitch Saturday. Left-handers Jeff Little and Len Whitehouse and right-handers Rich Yett and Jim Lewis will go to the mound Sunday.

"We are going to try and let the pitchers go two or three innings each," Gardner said. "I haven't set any limit on the number of pitches, but I would not like to see them throw more than 50 apiece. Armwise we are pretty sound."

Right-hander Bobby Castillo will not see action until at least the second Grapefruit League game because of a slight leg muscle pull.

Terry Felton, another right-handed pitcher, also has been slowed by a sore right shoulder, but has been throwing more the last few days, Gardner said.

The Twins begin competition against major league teams Tuesday in Orlando against the Toronto Blue Jays.

Road Gets Rougher For J.R.

The road back gets tougher and tougher for J.R. Richard.

Once one of the most overpowering pitchers in baseball, the Houston Astros' right-hander was felled by a stroke in July, 1980 and has been traveling the comeback trail ever since.

Spokesman Rick Rivers said the latest blockage is in an artificial artery put in Richard's left leg to replace a vessel moved from his leg to his shoulder to eliminate a blockage that led to his stroke.

"He'll have surgery sometime next week," Rivers said.

Rivers said it was not known exactly how long Richard, 32, will be out, but General Manager Al Rosen said Dr. William Fields expects full recovery and indicated a recuperation period of about six weeks.

"Dr. Fields said surgery will be required, but it's not nearly as serious as what happened to J.R. in 1980," Rosen said. "Dr. Fields looks for a full recovery."

Baseball

Rosen said that although Richard's recovery was expected to be complete, his baseball future would be determined by progress after the surgery. Richard will miss the rest of spring training.

Elsewhere, manager Billy Martin has decided to have a quick look at Doyle Alexander, whose one victory in 1982 cost the New York Yankees an estimated $500,000.

Martin, moving in his customary swift fashion, said Alexander, who has a $2.2-million long-term contract with the Yankees, will start the team's first exhibition game Saturday against Jim Palmer and the Baltimore Orioles. Alexander had a 1-7 record and a 6.08 ERA last season.

At one point last year, Yankee owner George Steinbrenner ordered Alexander home from Detroit to undergo a complete physical.

"I fear for the safety of my fielders who have to play behind him," Steinbrenner said of Alexander at the time.

The Montreal Expos renewed the contract of catcher Tom Wiegman. Wiegman hit .292 last year dividing his season between Oklahoma City and Wichita of the American Association. Tom Seaver made his first appearance of the spring for the New York Mets and threw two scoreless innings as the Small-Fries, led by coach Jim Frey, edged the Jumbo Franks, led by coach Frank Howard, 2-0.

Manager Ralph Houk announced Friday that John Tudor, Doug Bird and Brian Kingman will "more than likely" work in Boston's spring training opener against the Detroit Tigers. Tudor came on strong in the second half of last season, finishing with a 13-10 record. Bird and Kingman, both veteran right-handers, were acquired in off-season trades. Bird from the Chicago Cubs and Kingman from the Oakland A's.

Ott Returns With Good News

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI) — Catcher Ed Ott returned to the California Angels' spring training camp Friday with good news following a doctor's examination of his sore shoulder.

Ott, who is attempting a comeback from rotator cuff surgery and received a scare when he felt pain in the shoulder during Wednesday's workouts, was diagnosed as suffering from a minor pinched tendon.

Jacksonville Stuns Old Dominion, 63-59

United Press International

Finally, the Jacksonville Dolphins caught the perfect wave. After 14 Sun Belt Conference games without a victory, the Dolphins upended regular-season co-champion Old Dominion 63-59 on Friday in the opening round of the league's post-season tournament.

"This is a great win. This year any win is a great win," said Jacksonville Coach Bob Wenzel, who saw his team earn just its seventh victory in 28 games. "It couldn't have happened to a nicer bunch of guys as far as we're concerned."

Old Dominion, which tied Virginia Commonwealth for the Sun Belt regular-season crown at 12-2, fell to 19-9 overall.

In other first-round games played at Birmingham, Ala., VCU edged Western Kentucky 57-55, South Florida defeated South Alabama 66-59, and Alabama-Birmingham nipped North Carolina-Charlotte 65-63.

In today's semifinals, Jacksonville meets South Florida and Alabama-Birmingham meets Virginia Commonwealth. The winner of the Sun Belt earns an automatic berth to the NCAA Tournament.

Guards Maurice Roulhac and Otis Smith scored 16 points each to spark Jacksonville, which entered the game as 11-point underdogs.

"Being 0-for-14 is nothing to be proud of," said the 5-foot-8 Roulhac. "Beating Old Dominion and having a second chance to play in the Sun Belt tournament — it's a great feeling."

Jacksonville led 61-59 with 31 seconds left but had to survive a missed three-point shot by Charlie Smith and an ensuing rebound by Smith to seal the triumph. Smith's pass was picked off by Roulhac, who then hit two free throws with one second left.

"We just didn't pick a very good game not to play well," said Old Dominion Coach Paul Webb. "But let's not take anything away from Jacksonville, because they played very well."

Basketball

Mark West had 20 points for the Monarchs.

In the first game of the day-night opening round, Charley Bradley scored 21 of his 27 points in the first half to lead South Florida, 20-8, over South Alabama, 16-12. Michael Gerren led South Alabama with 21 points.

In the early night game, Calvin Duncan scored 19 points to carry Virginia Commonwealth, 23-5, to its triumph. In the nightcap, Steve Mitchell hit a jumper with five seconds left to lift Alabama-Birmingham, 16-13, to its victory over UNC-Charlotte, 8-20. Cliff Pruitt led the Blazers with 20 points. Melvin Johnson had 27 points for UNCC.

In the semifinals of the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference tournament, Mark Murphy had 18 points and Fordham, 18-10, scored the final 13 points of the game in the Rams' 66-52 victory over St. Peter's. 22-5. Steve Burt had 20 points and Rory Grimes 18 as top-seeded Iona, 21-7, posted a 65-53 triumph over Army, 10-18. Iona meets Fordham today in the title game.

In Ivy league play, Craig Robinson hit for 25 points as Princeton topped Cornell 63-53 to move within one victory of the league title. The Tigers are 11-2 and 17-8 overall. David Lardner scored a career-high 23 points as Penn, 16-9 and 10-3, remained a game behind Princeton with just one league game remaining. Alex Bynum scored 16 points to lead Brown to an 80-70 victory over Harvard, and Butch Graves scored 25 points and Steve Leonidis 20 to rally Yale, 11-14, to an 85-82 win over Dartmouth, 7-18.

Howe's Dependency Led To Use Between Innings

VERO BEACH (UPI) — After Steve Howe's life had bottomed out, he figured there were only two possibilities left.

"Either the end of my career and my marriage, or death," Howe said. Fortunately, he found a third possibility. Help.

Howe, the Los Angeles Dodgers' relief ace and 1980 National League Rookie of the Year, Friday revealed details of a drug and alcohol dependency that forced him into the clubhouse last season to snort cocaine between innings — once on a day he pitched.

Howe, speaking to reporters at the Dodgers' spring training camp for the first time since leaving The Meadows, a famed Arizona drug and alcohol recovery center, said the pressures of the major leagues drove him down the wrong path.

"I had never drank anything in my life other than beer," said Howe, who turns 25 next Thursday. "But towards the end of last season, as the pressures built up, I found myself turning towards chemicals and hard stuff, namely vodka because (his wife) Cindy couldn't smell it on me."

"It was the old saying, 'I could quit whenever I wanted.' But I couldn't."

Howe began brilliantly last

Baseball

season, allowing just four earned runs in 50 innings in May and June for a sparkling 0.72 ERA with a 4-0 record and nine saves. He finished the season with a 7-5 record, 13 saves and a 2.08 ERA.

During his sensational early-season streak, Howe said, he was neither drinking nor using drugs.

Howe said the breaking point came in November, just before he was to meet with his agent, Tony Attanasio, to work on a 1983 contract.

"The night before going to see Tony I was out all night," Howe said. "It was the worst experience I had. I used 2 1/2 grams of cocaine — about $250 worth. Then I looked for a bottle of booze."

"We called Peter O'Malley (the Dodgers' owner) the next day. Two days later I was at The Meadows. I relate to the fact I was there for Thanksgiving and Christmas and I got out two days before New Year's."

Howe said by the end of the 1982 season, shortly after playing in the All-Star Game, his cocaine use had become a daily ritual.

"I used it between innings in the clubhouse toward the end of the season when my arm hurt," he said.

"The last month of the season was the pits. I was a guy who had everything going for me — a great wife and a house. I couldn't figure out why I felt so lousy."

Howe said he had no problem obtaining the drug.

"There are hundreds of thousands of social cocaine pushers," he said. "You can walk into any bar in the country and I guarantee you can get some cocaine."

Howe said he learned at The Meadows that his problem had begun in his childhood in Pontiac, Mich. Teammate Bob Welch, who admitted an alcohol problem two years ago, was raised in nearby Detroit. He also underwent treatment at The Meadows and wrote a book about his problems.

"I've been drinking since I was 14 years old," Howe said. "The whole society of Michigan is a drinking society. They work hard and they drink. Some people can handle it, some can't."

"Up until the day I went in, I said I could quit. But if I could have, I would have. There was no way in the world I could have quit without The Meadows. I didn't think I had a problem until I went there."

Bird Turns On As Celtics Ring Philadelphia's Bell

United Press International

The Boston Celtics just wanted to let the Philadelphia 76ers know they're still around.

"This will ring their bell a little bit," said Robert Parish, who overcame a dismal 5-for-23 shooting night with 17 rebounds in the Celtics' 115-110 victory Friday night over the 76ers at Boston. "This shows that Philly's beatable. We have to be in the backs of their minds."

Philadelphia saw its 10-game winning streak snapped, but the 76ers still own an awesome 50-8 mark. Boston, which has beaten Philadelphia twice this year, improved to 43-15.

Larry Bird, who shook off the effects of a sore foot, scored 32 points to spark the Celtics before a sellout crowd at Boston Garden.

"When the top five or six teams come to town, you've got to put everything aside and say, 'You gotta go out and do it,'" said Bird, who also had 11 rebounds, nine assists and three steals in his 44-minute stint. "There's no doubt Philly doesn't like us and we don't like them."

"This was one of the most gratifying wins for me because I was hurt."

Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham, whose team owns a seven-game lead over the Celtics in the Atlantic Division, said the game could have gone either way.

The 76ers led 103-102 before Parish triggered a 7-0 spurt with a short, rainbow jumper which gave Boston the lead for good. Philadelphia pulled to within 111-110, but Bird hit two foul shots and Gerald Henderson added a layup off a steal while the 76ers were preparing for a three-point attempt.

In other games, Atlanta whipped Houston 115-87, Washington shaded Los Angeles 96-93, Kansas City topped Indiana 120-103, Chicago beat New Jersey 124-119, Milwaukee defeated Dallas 108-102, Denver beat Portland 142-138, Phoenix tripped Golden State 109-102, and San Antonio beat San Diego 107-99.

Grether Wins Putt-Putt

Sanford's Dave Grether fired a final round of 28 en route to a victory in 1983's Ninth Putt-Putt Tournament at the Fern Park Putt-Putt Course.

Grether's three-round total of 86 (22 under par) was two shots better than second place finisher Jim Harriott who finished with an 88 (20 under par).

Jim Manning had the tourney's best round with a 25 in the second round and a 35 in the first and a 32 in the third placed him six shots back with a 92 (16 under par).

USFL Launches Season

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

PHOENIX, Ariz. (NEA) — Just a shade more than two decades ago, a new professional football league came into being. The American Football League, unshackled by conservatism or tradition, brought a new flair to the game.

It featured football-in-the-air. And vestiges of it are retained in the NFL Record Manual, which, after the existent leagues merged, incorporated the old AFL records.

For instance, on Nov. 27, 1960, the Denver Broncos trailed the Buffalo Bills by 31 points; the final score, however, was 38-38. In 1961, the Houston Oilers scored 513 points. Included were 66 touchdowns, 48 of them on passes. In 1963, the Oakland Raiders and the Oilers combined to score 49 points in one quarter of play.

These all remain NFL records! On an individual basis, in those early 1960s of the AFL, George Blanda threw 36 touchdown passes in one season. Charley Hennig, one of his Oilers targets, caught 101 passes in one season and gained 1,746 on passes in another. Bill Groman, his fellow wide receiver, caught 17 touchdown passes in 1961.

These, too, remain NFL records. Now another pro venture, the United States Football League, is starting competition. The USFL opens its 18-game regular season on March 6. The 12 USFL teams are: the Los Angeles Express; the Arizona Wranglers; the New Jersey Generals; the Washington Federals; the Birmingham Stallions; the Chicago Blitz; the Oakland Invaders; the Philadelphia Stars; the Denver Gold; the Michigan Panthers; the Boston Breakers; and the Tampa Bay Bandits. The first USFL season will end with a championship game on July 17.

The question is logically raised: Will history repeat in the type of football that will be displayed by the upstart pro football league?

An expert who saw it happen then, as an assistant coach for the Boston Patriots who paced the sidelines in the first AFL game ever played, and who has a hand in what happens now, as the head coach of the Denver Gold in the USFL, is Robert "Red" Miller.

He does not anticipate a USFL reversion to the AFL style of throwing up the ball for grabs. "In the old AFL," says Red, "the standard defense was the bump-and-run and man-to-man coverage. There was very little zone played early except for Sid Gillman at San Diego (the Chargers in 1961 intercepted 49 passes to set the existing NFL record). I think we've become more sophisticated on defense. People won't be stupid enough to stay in one coverage. We'll see a lot of zone early. You can play zone with less talent. That'll cut down somewhat on the passing."

Miller also stresses another factor, possibly self-serving, that will enhance the USFL's caliber of football: "We have better all-around coaching."

The biggest competitive danger the USFL faces is imbalance. A tally of AFL scores in that opening season of 1960 reveals numbers such as 52-18, 48-10, 35-0, 32-3. "Through our rules and regulations," argues Miller, "we've tried to establish parity. We can't afford the blowouts, the big disproportionate scores."

James Replaces Riggins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Washington football fans still talk of the Redskins' Super Bowl championship, but Sunday, another team will battle for their favors when the United States Football League's Federals begin play.

It's been barely over a month since the last chorus of "Hail To The Redskins" faded from RFK Stadium, but for the next few months, the fans will watch Craig James instead of John Riggins and Kim McQuilken instead of Joe Theismann.

More than 40,000 fans are expected to turn their wrath on the man who was their idol just a few years back. George Allen, who turned the Redskins into NFL title contenders, returns, but will be on the opposite side of RFK as coach and part owner of the Chicago Blitz.

The USFL and the Federals have spent a reported $75,000 promoting this game. Allen even helped out by making a commercial.

Federals' coach Ray Jauch, however, has more former Redskins (nine) than Allen's Blitz (two).

The usually uptight Allen is more relaxed with the Blitz than during his NFL days at Chicago, Los Angeles and Washington. But Jauch is even more laid back. Asked if he had thought about coaching against a legend in the city where much of that reputation was built, Jauch laughed.

"I hadn't really thought of it that way," he said. "Anyone is sports likes to compete against the best, and George certainly is one of the all-time best coaches in football. I'll bet, though, if you asked George about coaching against Ray Jauch, he'd say 'Ray Who?'"

Both clubs signed their top draft picks, both running backs. The Blitz inked Tim Spencer of Ohio State and Washington grabbed SMU's Craig James. Chicago also signed its second pick, Grambling wide receiver Trumaine Johnson, rated the best in the country at his position by several NFL scouts.

Wranglers Host Invaders

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — It shouldn't take long for the Arizona Wranglers of the fledgling U.S. Football League to determine the validity of the home field advantage theory.

Their first three games, and six of the first eight, will be played at their home, Sun Devil Stadium (70,000) on the Arizona State University campus in Tempe, Ariz.

It all starts Sunday when the Wranglers square off against the Oakland Invaders. Following the Invaders into town on successive weekends will be the Chicago Blitz and the Los Angeles Express.

"I think playing at home will be a big help," says Wrangler coach Doug Shively, "especially for a new team in a new league. Our workout, eating and sleeping patterns will not change and we'll play on the same surface before our fans. I like it."

Shively's pre-season camp may have featured the hardest hitting in the league. Scrimmages were a part of the daily routine.

"For $5 a day (a player's per diem) what we did was tough," Shively said. "But we had to find the depth of our men, and that meant pushing them to the limit."

Starting quarterback for the Wranglers will be Todd Krueger, who played his collegiate ball at Northern Michigan. The 6-foot-4, 205-pound southpaw originally attended college on a basketball scholarship. His father, Gil, is the backfield coach for the New Jersey Generals of the USFL.

Liz Hay rolls another strike.

Bowler Rolls 106 Points Better After Instruction

Like any advertisement offering instant success, Liz Hay was not completely sold on Bowl America's "Learn to Bowl and Have-a-Ball" five-week class.

But, she reasoned, she liked to bowl and she did need a new bowling ball. So, Liz enrolled along with 75 others.

Five weeks later, stupendous would be a mild adjective for Liz's success. With a certificate of achievement tucked in her back pocket and her fingers tucked expertly in her bowling ball, Liz proceeded to roll a 499 series — a whopping 108 pins over her average. For her effort, Liz was presented with a plaque, a patch and earned the "Queen of the Week" crown for February. She is eligible for the "Queen of the Year" tournament in May which gives the winner a color television.

The 75 improved bowlers have formed a 10-week instructional league which will continue to hone their strike ball accuracy and spare conversion. Bowl America will offer another "Learn to Bowl and Have-a-Ball" class in mid-April. There's no truth to the rumor, though, that Liz Hay will be teaching it instead of taking it. — SAM COOK

Her Whole World Is A Married Man

DEAR ABBY: I've lived with my fiancé for six months. We're planning to marry and I am expecting a baby in four months. We love each other very much and everything would be ideal, except that he is only legally separated from his wife. She has their two children and is living with her boyfriend.

She has filed for divorce, but that's where it stands. They had a written agreement that he would pay for the wedding and she would pay for the divorce.

She says she doesn't have the money. (She gets welfare, child support, plus a lot of help from her boyfriend.) I have a good job but everything is so high these days, it's hard to make ends meet, let alone save anything.

I'm not worried that they might have a reconciliation because they both agree that their marriage was a joke from the start.

Don't tell me to leave him because he is my whole world. Can I do anything to force her to get the divorce?

ALMOST A MRS.
DEAR ALMOST: No. I hope you realize that your "whole world" is a man who went into a marriage expecting it to fail, had two children in this mar-

Since you seem to be the only one in this three-ring (less) circus who's in a hurry for the divorce, it appears that the only way to get it is to pay for it yourself.

DEAR ABBY: In response to "Holding Out and Proud of It," I am only 12 but I have decided to save myself for the man I marry.

There are some my age that have already tried it and are sorry. Not me! Sign me...

A Code Of Ethics

Knowing What's Right From Wrong

By George R. Plagens

Lent is traditionally a period of introspection and self-examination. So this is a good time to ask ourselves what code of ethics we are living by — if any. Americans seem to no longer know right from wrong.

One of the problems is that things once considered wrong are no longer thought to be.

Can America — and Americans individually — refashion an ethical standard which can rescue us from the moral sea of confusion we are adrift in?

Before you read any further in this essay, ask yourself (and write down) the personal code of ethics you subscribe to and the one you live by. They are not always one and the same.

Once you have done that, read on.

Most Christians (and even many non-Christians) would say they subscribe to the Christian ethic: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

(While it would probably be hard to find a higher ethic than the Golden Rule, George Bernard Shaw found it inadequate "because people's tastes differ." And it is true that many problems in human relationships result when one partner tries to please the other in terms of what he "would have done unto him" instead of finding out what the partner likes.)

But we do not always follow the code of ethics we subscribe to. What does determine our behavior? One college ethics professor says these are the guides for conduct most people rely on: natural inclinations; laws; public opinion; religious authority; conscience; and reason.

Other codes of ethics are based on "self-interest which does not directly transgress the right of others," "community standards of right and wrong" or "all the law allows."

But none of these criteria, nor all of them together, approach the Christian ethic. The late Dean Willard Sperry of Harvard Divinity School pointed out that, while most ethical codes seek to establish some "mean level of decency," it was against precisely this sort of "moral mean" that Jesus was protesting.

"His theory of morality," Sperry said, "was that we should be righteous overmuch. That is, we are to 'overdo' goodness. We are to be morally better than the common level of conventional decency requires us to be."

Several years ago 40 Princeton Theological Seminary students were participants in a modern re-enactment of the biblical story of the Good Samaritan. They were unwitting subjects in an experiment conducted by two Princeton psychologists. Of the 40 seminarians, 24 hurried past the "victim" lying in the doorway of the building they were entering.

(In the parable of Jesus, the division was about the same: two of the three who came upon the suffering man at the side of the road passed him by.)

To add to the irony, 20 of the 40 divinity students had just come from a class session at which the parable of the Good Samaritan had been read. Explaining their actions later on, 19 of the 24 students who failed to stop said it was because they were "in a hurry." In our fast-paced world, is that our excuse for much of our unethical behavior? We "don't have time" to be concerned.

You don't have to be a Bible literalist to agree that Billy Graham's "Five Guides to Right Action" contains the seeds of a personal moral code we might all subscribe to.

"Concerning any event that I go to, or anything that I do," says Graham, "I usually ask myself five questions." Here they are:

- 1.) "Does it violate any principle of Scripture?"
- 2.) "Does it take the keen edge off my Christian life?"
- 3.) "Can I ask God's blessing on it?"
- 4.) "Will it be a stumbling block to others?"
- 5.) "Would I liked to be there — or reading that — or be doing that — if Jesus Christ should come at that moment? In other words would I like to be caught there?"

Reagan To Address Convention

President Ronald Reagan is scheduled to address the 41st annual convention of the National Association of Evangelicals at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Sheraton Twin Towers in Orlando.

Of special interest will be the "Point-Counter Point" session focusing on the nuclear freeze issue Thursday afternoon. Speakers at that session will be Ron Sider, president of Evangelicals for Social Action, Philadelphia, Pa., and Harold O.J. Brown, theology professor at Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, Deerfield, Ill. Leighton Ford, evangelist with the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, will be the speaker at the annual banquet Thursday night. Ray Hughes, president of Lee College in Cleveland, Tenn., will be the speaker at the 7:30 p.m. public session Tuesday in the Orange-Seminole Ballroom. There will be special music by the Lee College Singers. Also open to the public is the 7:30 p.m. Wednesday session in the ballroom with Jill Briscoe, speaker and author from Elmbrook, Wis., as speaker. Music will be provided by the Geneva College Chamber Singers of Geneva, Pa.

Among the array of distinguished speakers will be Charles Colson, president of the Prison Fellowship, Washington, D.C.; Jerry Falwell of the "Old Time Gospel Hour" who will speak on the Christian's role in politics; Ralph Winter, general director of the U.S. Center for World Mission, Pasadena, Calif.; and Bible teacher James Boice, pastor of 10th Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia.

There will be more than 30 workshops sponsored by NAE commissions and affiliates, including a panel discussion on "Your Church Can Use Radio Effectively," led by Evangelist Herb Bowdoin, founder and president of the Methodist Hour International, which has headquarters in Altamonte Springs. TV Evangelist Rex Humbard will speak at a workshop on "Evangelism, Television, and Your Church."

Russ Bredholt, president of Communications Consultant in Winter Springs, will speak on "The Church Dealing With the Changing Community" at the Evangelism and Home Missions Association workshop Wednesday afternoon. Orlando layman Walter Meloon, chairman of the NAE Churchman's Commission, will speak on "Maintaining Christian Ethics in Business" at a Wednesday morning workshop.

Council Opposes State Lottery

The Florida Conference Council on Ministries of the United Methodist Church is reinforcing its position of being opposed to the approval of a state lottery by sending copies of a resolution passed last week to the members of the Florida legislature.

The council, which is responsible for developing and implementing program for the church, is pledged to carry out the Social Principles which guide the members and agencies of the General United Methodist Church.

"Gambling is a menace to society, deadly to the best interests of moral, social, economic, and spiritual life.

and destructive of good government," the resolution states. "As an act of faith and love, Christians should abstain from gambling, and should strive to minister to those victimized by the practice. Community standards and personal lifestyles should be such as would make unnecessary and undesirable the resort to commercial gambling, including public lotteries, as a recreation, as an escape, or as a means of producing public revenue or funds for support of charities or government."

The resolution also opposes the proposed lottery on the grounds that "lotteries appeal to greed and are supported primarily by the poor; only an estimated 40 percent of the gross revenue from lotteries would go to the state."

"As participants in government, we expect to pay our own way through taxes which are straight forward and fair, not an exploitation of the vulnerable. We believe in paying for services our state provides and not in asking gamblers to pay our bills. We urge all Florida legislators to concentrate upon other solutions for Florida fiscal problems," concluded the council's resolution.

Appointments Announced

Using God's Name

By George Plagens

The Second Commandment: Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord, thy God, in vain (Exodus 20:7 and Deuteronomy 5:11).

Most people who "take God's name in vain" would say they "mean nothing" by it. Ah, said Cardinal John Newman, but that's the point. Nothing is worse, he said, than to say God and to "mean nothing" by it!

He advised saying God's name "for the great occasions." We say, "God bless you," when somebody sneezes. That is hardly a "great occasion." We say "My God," in the most casual conversation.

There are times, said Martin Luther, when we ought to use God's name. "Call upon it in every trouble, pray, praise and give thanks."

When the great contralto, Marian Anderson, would get up on a spring morning and see the sun shining and the buds bursting into bloom, she would exult in a rapture of praise, "My Lord, what a morning!"

That too is an appropriate use of God's name.

'You certainly were,' replied North. 'If you had just remembered there is no bonus paid for taking an early trick you wouldn't have needed that luck in clubs.'
West had started with two rounds of diamonds. South had ruffed the second diamond and started on trumps. West showed out on the second one. South paused for study. He saw that he could not afford to go on with drawing trumps. He needed dummy's third trump as defense against the lead of a third diamond. Therefore, he started on clubs. It did not matter if West ducked or held up his ace.
Actually, West took the first club with the ace and led a second club.
South won, drew trumps, took his remaining high cards and lost a heart at the finish.
As North had pointed out, South should have lost that heart at trick two by a loser-on-a-loser play and avoided all trouble with that 4-1 trump break.

Tolerate Pain Through Diets

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Chronic pain sufferers placed on a supplemented low-protein, high-carbohydrate diet doubled their ability to tolerate pain during a four-week period, a Temple University researcher says.

The study said perhaps 75 million people — the estimated one-third of the U.S. population who suffer chronic pain or pain from unknown causes — could be helped by changing their diets, said Dr. Samuel Seltzer, chief of the Temple University School of Dentistry maxillo-facial clinic.

Seltzer said that long-term effects of the diet are not known and one side effect is nausea. He warned chronic pain could signal a disease requiring medical treatment and said people in pain should not treat themselves.

The study followed 30 patients with severe mouth and jaw pain and migraine headaches over four weeks. Seltzer said those on the revised diet, which included a daily dose of amino acid, doubled their pain tolerance.

The idea of the diet is to reduce the intake of all proteins except one, a type that helps inhibit pain, he said.

This amino acid, or protein component, is tryptophan, which when carried to the brain, produces a chemical called serotonin. Serotonin regulates body temperature and is an anti-depressant, a pain killer and a natural sleep inducer, he said.

Tryptophan is found in many protein-rich foods, such as milk, he said.

"In fact, the age-old remedy for insomnia is a glass of warm milk," he said.

But Seltzer said trying to get an increased amount of tryptophan merely through a well-balanced diet is "virtually impossible."

"You have to manipulate the diet," said Seltzer, just like in the treatment for diabetes, where patients eat an altered diet and take insulin to stave off the effects of the disease.

He also said he plans to do more research into the long-term effects of the tryptophan treatment, which are not known.

The short-term side effect of nausea seems to be caused by the concentration of tryptophan reaching the stomach, he said.

He never has had a patient who could not tolerate the treatment, although some regret the required abstinence from meat.

"I ask them if they'd rather suffer the pain or the giving up of meat," said Seltzer. "They say, 'I'll take the pain.'"

Still, she said, times were even harder back in the 1950s when her husband, now estranged, was bringing home $40 a week from his job as a porter.

"There was no such thing as food stamps then," she said.

Sister Joanne Courmeen, coordinator at the soup kitchen run by an ecumenical group called So Others Might Eat, agreed that the recession is far from over for the poor.

"We're getting a lot more younger men, people who are slightly better dressed than those who used to come to soup kitchens," she said.

Many of the volunteers at the soup kitchen are suburban matrons such as the women who gave her name as Mrs. Bert Spencer, a member of an Episcopal church in affluent Bethesda.

"Until I came down here I just couldn't imagine there were people who didn't know where their next meal was coming from."

Many of the volunteers at the soup kitchen are suburban matrons such as the women who gave her name as Mrs. Bert Spencer, a member of an Episcopal church in affluent Bethesda.

"Until I came down here I just couldn't imagine there were people who didn't know where their next meal was coming from."

Still, she said, times were even harder back in the 1950s when her husband, now estranged, was bringing home $40 a week from his job as a porter.

"There was no such thing as food stamps then," she said.

Sister Joanne Courmeen, coordinator at the soup kitchen run by an ecumenical group called So Others Might Eat, agreed that the recession is far from over for the poor.

"We're getting a lot more younger men, people who are slightly better dressed than those who used to come to soup kitchens," she said.

Florida Files Fishy Lawsuit

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The state of Florida has filed suit against the federal government to protect the state's recreational fishing industry from overfishing by commercial interests.

The suit, filed Friday by Attorney General Jim Smith, seeks an injunction to block implementation of a new federal fishery management plan and to have the plan declared illegal.

"Florida must take action to protect its mackerel stocks from being decimated by massive commercial netting," Smith said in filing the suit on behalf of the departments of Natural Resources and Environmental Regulation.

The suit said the new plan would allow "ridiculously high" optimum and maximum limits for commercial fishermen harvesting king and spanish mackerel in federal waters near Florida's coasts.

Smith noted that recreational fishing in Florida is a $1.8 billion industry.

Named as defendants are the Commerce Department, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and the National Marine Fisheries Services as well as top individuals in each of the agencies.

Also Friday, DNR Director Elton Gissendanner ordered the Florida Marine Patrol to vigorously enforce the state's statutory ban on the use of purse seine commercial nets in Florida's territorial waters.

Meat, Poultry Inspections May Be Lifted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Department officials say they want to lift some federal meat and poultry inspection requirements to lessen "regulatory burdens" while still protecting consumers.

The department's Food Safety and Inspection Service said Friday it was accepting one recommendation included in a new agency report. That recommendation calls for expansion of an existing exemption from inspection for retail stores that sell prepackaged, inspected products to food preparation institutions.

The restriction "unnecessarily limits competitive markets for retailers," the report said, adding that expansion of the exemption could save the agency $640,000 annually.

The agency also will support legislation to allow a discretionary inspection system for processed products, administrator Donald Houston said.

Inspections of those products often duplicate the initial inspections of their primary ingredients, he said.

"In many instances, the study concluded, the plant is simply handling and repackaging products such as pizza, canned soup and refined fats and oils," he said.

Elimination of the second round of inspections for those products would save the agency $2.5 million a year, the study said.

The department said the study had concluded that "some of the exemptions in federal meat and poultry inspection laws could be modified to eliminate unnecessary regulatory burdens without reducing consumer protection."

Affirmative Action Has Worked Better Than Anticipated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A high-ranking Justice Department official says the administration's affirmative action efforts have produced more qualified minority job applicants than expected despite the absence of hiring quotas.

Preliminary findings based on some settlements reached during the administration's first year show projected applicant flows resulting from affirmative action recruitment efforts "have for the most part been exceeded," Bradford Reynolds, assistant attorney general of the department's civil rights division, said Friday.

"Thus, affirmative action recruitment requirements — when conscientiously implemented — have produced greater numbers of qualified minorities applying for employment," Reynolds told the American Bar Association equal employment law committee in Longboat Key, Fla.

"And, as would be expected, a non-discriminatory hiring process brings more of those minorities into the workforce."

Text of Reynolds' speech was made available in Washington by the Justice Department.

The administration has focused on setting recruitment goals for likely percentages of qualified minority applicants to be in an available pool of potential eligible hires on a non-discriminatory basis, rather than setting hiring quotas.

Reynolds said the removal of hiring quotas or numerical goals as an affirmative action feature means "the employer no longer has a convenient ceiling to hide under."

"He now cannot, under our approach, hire a set number of black employees without regard to their qualifications in order to get the government off his back" and then ignore other minority prospects who, by all objective criteria, fully deserve employment," he said.
