Arthur Dickins Home

Arthur Dickins is home on a furlough and at present is stationed at Camp Gordon. Arthur left here with Co. G., made up of Orlando and Sanford boys and after training at Camp Wheeler went over to France where he was brigaded with the Rainbow Division and was in the fighting at Chateau Thierry, San Mihel salient and several other battles. He was struck with shrapnel and wounded badly and while lying in a shell hole waiting for the stretcher bearers was gassed. He was also wounded in the arm by a bayonet stab and wears two wound stripes and also service stripes. He was in the hospital for some time in France and then brought to America landing at Newport News. He has seen service and is glad to get back home and now that the actual fighting is over wants to come back home to stay. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dickins of this city and his many friends are glad to see him back from the front and are congratulating him over his escape from death in battle.

In Honor of Guest

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Holly entertained a few friends last Tuesday night in honor of Mr. L. E. Hann of New York who has been their guest. Sergeant Joe Henry entertained the guests with many songs singing the Y. M. C. A. song as a special favor. Sergeant Henry has a fine baritone voice and his singing was greatly enjoyed. Mildred Holly also danced one of her character dances. Delicious refreshments consisting of chicken salad, cheese sandwiches, olives and coffee were served and a most enjoyable time closed at a late hour. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wilson, Joe Henry, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Waman, Mrs. Henry McLaulin and L. E. Hann.

Food, Feed and Forage

Gainesville, Fla., Special, Jan. 8.—What promises to be one of the most valuable and intensive campaigns that has ever been put across in the state of Florida and probably the south, for the maximum production of Food, Feed and Forage Crops has been mapped out by the Extension Division of the University of Florida. This campaign will be launched in every section of the state simultaneously, Jan. 20, and will last through the 31st. The magnitude of the effort can be best realized from the fact that not only the Agricultural College, Experiment Station and Extension Division of the University, but every agricultural organization in the state has been drafted into this great drive.

This is a nation wide campaign, and conditions in each state have been studied closely, with a view of determining just what can be expected from the different sections. Florida is being asked to make the following increases during 1919 over 1918:

- Corn, 15 per cent
- Peanuts, 25 per cent
- Sugar Cane, 25 per cent
- Forage, 15 per cent
- Peanut Hay, 25 per cent
- Meat Hogs, 15 per cent
- Dairy Cows, 15 per cent
- Beef Cattle, 15 per cent
- Poultry, 33 1-3 per cent.

It is believed that these increases can be easily made, as more labor is available than last year. And in addition to this there is an opportunity to get improved farm machinery that could not be bought a year ago.

It is estimated that 60 per cent of the world's food during the ensuing year must come from America. This will mean that a large increase of food crops must be sent to Europe. Every person in Florida should attend one of the F. F. F. meetings to be held in each community of the state some time between January 20 and 31.

LIVE STOCK MEETING ON JAN. 14-16

KISSIMMEE WILL BE HEAD-QUARTERS FOR MEMBERS OF TWO BIG ASSOCIATIONS NEXT WEEK

A joint convention of the members of the Florida State Live Stock Association and of the Florida State Dairy Association will be held in Kissimmee on the 14, 15 and 16th of this month.

The program committee has reserved one entire session for the discussion of the subject, "Women on the Farm and Ranch," by women who have been successful.

Among those who have been asked to take part are: Mrs. W. F. Blackman of Lake Monroe; Miss Mary O. Chase of Brandon; Mrs. Marian A. Horwitz of Moore Haven; Miss May Morse of Tallahassee; assistant home demonstration agent; Mrs. S. R. Pyles of Ocala; Mrs. J. D. Randall of Lawley; and Miss H. G. Wagoner of Green Cove Springs, manager of a 16,000 acre farm.

The Round Gable will be another feature, twenty prominent live stock growers having been asked to each talk five minutes on important subjects.

One evening will be given over to the subject of cattle tick eradication, which is the paramount necessity for development of the cattle industry at the present time. Dr. E. M. Nighbt will illustrate his address with two reels of government moving picture films.

Experienced workers will present the merits of dairy farming, of pure bred swine, and of the sheep industry.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL SUCCESSFUL

ELEVEN HUNDRED DOLLARS RAISED DURING THIS CAMPAIGN FOR THIS CAUSE

With the closing of the Red Cross Roll-Call today—the officers of the Roll Call feel that the campaign has been a success, even though the quota was not reached.

Due to prevailing conditions the work was difficult but the people as a whole responded liberally. Coming at the close of the year, after the many preceding demands on the finances of the county, handicapped by influenza conditions and bad weather, the fast waning interest in war activities incidental upon the signing of the armistice and with the Christmas season at hand, the solicitors had a difficult task but the success that crowned their efforts again proves the indomitable spirit of our people. Captains and teams were instructed not to urge membership but to solicit only by request, hence the total membership obtained represents a free-will offering to the Red Cross.

While the campaign closes officially today there are some returns yet to be made that will bring the total a trifle higher. The personnel of the Roll Call included Mrs. R. A. Terhoun, chairman; Rev. Arthur Searing Peck and Dr. E. D. Brownlee, assistant chairmen; R. R. Deas, cashier; W. M. Haynes, publicity chairman; Dr. Brownlee, speakers chairman; Mrs. Ernest Krupp, distribution of supplies.

For the evening hour a theme that has to do with the modern issues of the day will be discussed, subject: "Paying the fare. The Temple is specially fitted and if the evening be cool the steam radiators will be going and the room will be made comfortable. Visitors in the city and people without a church home here are especially invited to worship at the Temple.

NEXT WEEK IS COURT WEEK IN SEMINOLE

VERY LIGHT DOCKET IS REPORTED AND TERM WILL IN ALL PROBABILITY BE SHORT

Next week is Court Week in Seminole county, it being the regular term of the Circuit Court. Court is scheduled to convene on Tuesday, Jan. 14th with Judge Perkins on the bench, and Hon. Jos. H. Jones as State's Attorney.

Jurors have been drawn and summoned to appear on the above date from the body of the county as usual and next Tuesday will see the usual lively stir about the old court house, which will probably be the last term of court in the old building, as it is expected that the new court house will be in readiness for the spring term.

The docket for this term is said to be a very light one as crime in Seminole county has been at a low ebb during the past year or more. In all probability the term will not last over ten days, most of which time will be consumed by the grand jury in its investigation proceedings.

F. P. Forster Retires from School

Frank P. Forster, a member of the school board for the county from the creation of Seminole county and chairman of the board for that time retired from the board at the meeting held Tuesday. Mr. Forster has given excellent service on the school board and has been one of the most ardent supporters of the better school system of the county. Mr. Forster has no children of his own but had been the father of many children he could not have shown more interest in the children of the county than he has shown by his acts and the performance of his duty in their behalf while a member of the board. The school system loses a good man. Not only was Mr. Forster a splendid school man and a worker for a better school and school system for the county, but he was one of the best executives of the day and his work as chairman of the board speaks for itself.

During the terms served by Mr. Forster the board has built a number of school buildings in the county, and has repaired practically every building that was already standing, many of which have been enlarged or for the most part made over to fit modern times and needs. Two bond issues have been signed by Mr. Forster as chairman of the board, the Seventy-five Thousand Dollar issue of District No. 1, and the Fifteen Thousand Dollar issue of District No. 6.

Mr. Forster did not offer for reelection at the primary last June, feeling at that time that he needed rest and more time for his own work, thus Mr. Forster retires from the board as he began with it—without opponent.

Mr. F. F. Dutton was elected to take Mr. Forster's place on the board and will enter in upon his duties at the organization meeting next Tuesday.

A pleasant incident occurred during the meeting Tuesday of the board of public instruction, when a beautiful Masonic Emblem pin was presented to the retiring chairman of the board, Hon. F. P. Forster, by those who have been associated with him in directing the school system of the county.

The presentation was made by Supt. T. W. Lawton in the following words:

Dear Friend:

It is with deep and sincere regret that we approach the time when you will sever your connection with the board of public instruction. During the time of your service, since the organization of this county, surely no one has been more faithful in the performance of public duties than you; no official has more deeply felt the burden and responsibility of his position and duty to his fellowman than you have; and certainly no official has received more meagre compensation than the almost negligible salary attached to your office. The citizens of Seminole county appreciate your services; the teachers of our schools cannot fail to recognize the value of your efforts in their behalf; and the children of our schools know they have no better friend in this county than the chairman of the board of public instruction, the Honorable F. P. Forster.

And more than any others, we who have labored with you, and have seen and realized the sincerity and earnestness of your services, appreciate the noble work you have done for us and for the county.

And, as a slight token of our appreciation of your labors, and as an expression of our respect and esteem for you as a co-worker, as a true servant of your fellowman, as a power for the advancement of the cause of education, and as OUR FRIEND, we take pleasure in presenting you with this small remembrance.

May this often recall to your mind the many pleasant hours we have enjoyed together in this room as fellow workers, friends and comrades.

Sincerely yours,
C. F. Harrison

Mr. Forster responded feelingly and eloquently, with suppressed emotion, in a few well chosen and appropriate words, expressing his appreciation of the gift, and especially of the spirit that prompted the givers in thus honoring him for his services to his county. He stated that he would take great pleasure in wearing this pin, and that it would constantly remind him of one of the pleasantest periods of his life and that he would always have a very warm spot in his heart for the members of the board of public instruction, the attorney and the superintendent of public instruction.

Lectured on Y. M. C. A.

At the request of his many friends, R. J. Holly gave a lecture at the Presbyterian church Wednesday night on the Y. M. C. A. and the overseas training at Columbia College.

Mr. Holly spent several weeks in New York recently in training as an executive secretary for work in France but could not go over on account of a change in the plans of the War Personnel Board and is home for a few weeks.

He gave a brief outline of the wonderful course of training as given the overseas men at Columbia College and gave the audience a part of the psychological test applied to the secretaries which was greatly enjoyed by those present.

Mr. Holly also took occasion to speak of the wonderful work of the Y. M. C. A. work here and abroad and of the praise accorded the "Y" in all quarters. The criticisms leveled at the manner in which the government canteens are handled by the "Y" are not founded on facts and it is Mr. Holly's endeavor to present the true facts in the case and to give the Y. M. C. A. men and women the credit that is due them for their past work in behalf of the men.

Poles Attack German Cities

Cape Lager, Jan. 2. A Polish army of 30,000 men is marching on Berlin, according to a dispatch here quoting rumors of the German capital. Gustave Noske, member of the Ebert cabinet in charge of military affairs, is said to have ordered the Fifth German division to meet the Poles.

The Polish army marching toward Berlin has as its object a "tearing raid into Germany," according to a correspondent at Lausanne. The infantry is well armed and is supported by artillery and cavalry. The infantry already has occupied important railway centers including Kreuzdriesen and Posenau, and has captured much war stock with little resistance. The Germans are preparing retreat and evacuations and fighting is expected, although some of the demobilized troops refuse to serve.

Why Crescent Is Turkish Symbol.

When Constantinople was a Byzantine city, Phillip, the father of Alexander the Great, tried to reduce it by siege. He was unsuccessful by day, and when he thought to take the city by surprise in the dark the crescent moon and stars appeared and exposed his warriors to the citizens. In honor of her protection of the city the Byzantians built a statue to Diana and made the crescent the symbol of the city.

Annual Woman's Club Ball

The annual ball of the Social Department of the Woman's Club, which was held in the Elks' Hall New Year's night, was one of the most brilliant events of the season, and maintained the high standards set in the several years past. The magnificent hall was a dream of beauty. Festoons of Spanish moss were draped from chandelier to chandelier, with here and there an artistic cluster of brilliant poinsettias. Baskets and vases filled with lovely red roses, the clyb flower were effectively placed, and an admirable touch to the entire scheme, and in keeping with the season was a miniature Christmas tree gaily trimmed with tinsel and glistening balls and lighted with vari-colored bulbs.

hostess, Mrs. J. W. Dickens, Mrs. W. E. Housholder and Mrs. Forrest Lake, all becomingly gowned in attractive evening gowns. The grand march, led by Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Lake presented a brilliant sight, but the march soon became a dreamy waltz, and the many couples of prettily gowned ladies and conventionally garbed escorts formally opened the ball. Excellent music by a stringed orchestra made dancing a delight, and the "wee sma" hours of the morning came all too swiftly. Mrs. Joseph Ball graciously presided at the punch bowl which was arranged in an attractive bower. One of the pleasing features of the evening was the songs by Mr. Henry, a member of the Marine Corps and son of Mrs. J. S. Wilson, who is home on furlough. His splendid baritone was greatly enjoyed.

Wounded Soldiers to Attend Short Courses for Farmers

The government is looking after the welfare of our wounded soldiers, and is making arrangements to give them instruction and see that they are properly located in the line of work they like best. An appropriate ing was the songs by Mr. Henry, a member of the Marine Corps and son of Mrs. J. S. Wilson, who is home on furlough. His splendid baritone was greatly enjoyed. Many out of town guests were present and the occasion was one long to be remembered by those fortunate enough to be present.

tion has been provided for this purpose. Dr. A. A. Murphree, president of the University of Florida has been in communication with the board of directors of Vocational Education, in regard to taking disabled soldiers at the University for training, at the expense of the government. As a result of this correspondence, Mr. E. E. Utterback, agent for the Vocational Board in this district made a visit to the University last week. He was unusually enthusiastic over the conditions in Florida, and was thoroughly delighted with what he saw. He seemed favorably impressed with the equipment of the College, and especially the farm and the opportunities offered for learning practical agriculture.

A great many of these returned soldiers have indicated a desire to locate on the farm, and if they desire it the government will give them a course in agriculture. Information coming to Dr. Murphree from various sources indicate that a number of the soldiers will attend the Ten-Day Short Courses for Farmers, which is to be held at the College of Agriculture of the University, Jan. 7-17. At these courses, the soldiers will get a better idea of conditions in this section, and will be in better position to take up the regular offered course in agriculture.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee and son, Eddie Lee called on Mrs. J. E. Vaughn Sunday evening.

We have had some awfully cold weather. The ice did not melt all day Saturday but I don't think the oranges are hurt.

Mrs. Jim Abbott and children were the guests of her brother, Mr. Will Robinson Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Will Robinson has been real sick for a few days. We hope for a speedy recovery.

We are having some real good old winter weather nowadays. It's fine for killing hogs.

We are about rid of the Flu in our neighborhood now, if this cold weather don't start it up again.

For good wood see Will Robinson, as he is still in the business yet and gives your money's worth.

Mrs. Will Robinson has been busy putting up oranges before the cold gets them, but we hope the oranges won't get frozen.

Little Rebeka Fortier has been real sick for a few days, but is improving again.

Mrs. J. E. Vaughn spent a very pleasant afternoon at Mrs. Will Robinson's Tuesday.

The ex-crown prince loses his appetite mingling with the people for the first time since the recent unpleasantness, connected with gift of a pair of silk stockings to a local modiste attended a public dance given in Holland. He neither ate nor drank, fearing, it is said that he might be poisoned.

Ex-kaiser ailing again has had cold and fever. What will happen to him next? The devil will have him next time.

It looks good to go in town and see so many soldier boys who are coming home fast now and don't we all feel glad to think they can come.

I see by the paper that the Germans have it in for the ex-kaiser as well as the Allies. There is no love for him by anyone on earth.

UPSALA AND GRAPEVILLE

On account of the weather the election of officers was postponed until next Sunday for the Sunday school, when we hope for a full attendance.

The temperature took quite a drop Saturday night, but not as low as we feared. Some report 23 deg., 26 deg., our own being 29 degrees at early morn. Not much harm done, we hope.

G. Lundquist, who also took him around to see some of his old friends.

He left on Monday to visit with Mrs. Sophia Peterson, his aunt at Holly Hill. He told of the death of his brother, Donald, Dec. 5th, with tubular pneumonia, after going safely through the fighting in France. His other brother and sister, the latter a Red Cross nurse are yet in France.

Death of Little Chas. McMahon

The death of little Charles Henry McMahon occurred Saturday morning, Jan. 4th, at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Stiles. He had influenza which later developed into pneumonia. All that loving hands could do to ease his suffering was done but after one short week of illness he passed away. He was three years and nine months old and was the joy and pride of his parents. His death was double sad on account of his father being in France and so was unable to be with his little one when the end came. Mr. McMahon volunteered a year ago in Miami and went directly to France. Mrs. McMahon with her two children came here to live with her parents until her husband's return. It will be a sad home coming for Mr. McMahon to find one of his loved ones gone.

A short funeral service was held at the Catholic church, continued at the grave, Rev. Father J. J. O'Riordan officiating. The little one was laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery. Beautiful floral offerings testified to the sympathy of friends.

Mrs. McMahon has the deep sympathy of the entire community in her bereavement.

Attempted Robbery in Sanford

Thieves entered the store through the front door of the Sanford Shoe & Clothing Co. on Monday morning at 2:30, and but for the work of Night Patrolman Peele they might have been able to get away with considerable quantity of merchant

At the time of their discovery the men, three in number had each collected for his personal wardrobe a nice assortment of shirts, hats, caps, neckwear, belts and clothing and were preparing to get away with their loot but Patrolman Peele discovered them in his rounds, frightening them away by firing his pistol through the plate glass door.

The thieves escaped through the rear and fled, pursued by Peele who lost his trail in West Sanford. Later three men were taken into custody from the depot where they were about to leave on the night train, but they were later released as not answering the description of the robbers. During the day another man was found by Sheriff Brady who answered the description, but being without assistance and in trying to arrest another man found with him they both escaped.

The city council, it is understood have since authorized the employment of another man on the night force as one man is insufficient to handle the situation at night. With assistance the robbers could have been trapped without difficulty.

Even the burglars realize this and come to our store for real quick service and a quick getaway.

We would much prefer wrapping your packages ourselves and having a pleasant chat with you, for it is a little disappointing to have our customers come in and out so quickly.

Among the things which will go to the 1918 scrap-heap is the belief in the divine right of kings.

The difference between the Allies and the Germans is that the Allies want a just peace, and the Germans want just peace.

When our soldiers come home they will be able to tell us what a Christmas in France is like, and many of them will be able to tell us what two Christmases in France are like.

The American government does not know what to do with the railroads, and the European governments do not know what to do with the ex-kaiser. Why not put the ex-kaiser on the railroads and run him around America?

Since reaching Europe our President has partaken of Parsian banquets, American army chow, and "the roast beef of Old England." We do not know what the political result will be, but we should fancy that the physical result might be an attack of indigestion.

Prince Eitel Fritz, the most respectable of the present Hohenzollerns and the only one who remains in Germany, professes that his only desire is to be "a simple German citizen." It would have been well for the rest of the tribe if they had confined their ambition within such moderate limits.

It behooves every man in Sanford and Seminole county to attend the annual election of the Board of Trade on Tuesday evening. This organization means much to Sanford and Seminole county and its prospects, handled will be a power for the upbuilding of the city and county.

A writer in the N. Y. Tribune explains how Germany can pay an indemnity of one hundred billion dollars on the instalment plan, with interest. This will mean an annual payment of five billion dollars for thirty-nine and a half years. We trust that this calculation will encourage the Germans.

THE RAILROADS

Just now the question whether the management of American railroads should remain with the government or revert to the owners is discussed far and wide. Cogent reasons are advanced by the advocates of either course.

But in whose hands soever the management stands, many improvements are needed for the sake of the public.

We have all endured willingly and cheerfully the inconveniences, delays and curtailment of service which the war made necessary. But now, realizing that the business development of the country depends upon good railroad facilities, we ask for a return to pre-war conditions.

Better transportation and freighting will assist in the readjustment of business from coast to coast. There should be repairs of many lines, replacement of rolling stock, improved service generally.

The primary object of railroads is to serve the people, and any condition of ownership or management are secondary matters.

OUR ARMY

We stand upon the threshold of a new era, and we cannot predict what its opening door will show us. During the next few months our young men will come home from abroad. They are indeed picked men. Both in physical and mental qualities they are the best representatives of our nation. From their age and qualifications we know them to be the men who will shape the policies of this country for the next twenty-five years.

Two million in number, they have gone through an experience which was certain to alter them. What changes may have been made in their character and opinions we cannot tell.

Probably their military training will lead them to demand more exactness in all details and business arrangements. But this is entirely subordinate to the great question of how they will react upon America how they will form her ideas and influence her.

The future must tell us. Just now they are only our boys coming home, and we will receive them with a joyous welcome.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

Born in New York City, October 27, 1858, the ex-President, statesman, and man of affairs passed away at Oyster Bay on January 6, 1919.

Mr. Roosevelt was 100 per cent American. No one ever has questioned his unwavering loyalty to his country, his patriotism which knew no reserve, nor his high moral character. No reflection could ever be made on his personal purity, and he will remain as a high type of the American scholar, publicist, politician, explorer, historian and author.

He was much loved and much hated. Nationally he was virtually the only man we have had in years in whom was revived or continued the habit of our grandfathers and fathers of giving an affectionate program to a public character of country wide importance.

As "Toody," "T. R.," "The Colonel," he kept a few American traditions which had in other years found expression in "Abby," "The Little Giant," "Old Hickory," etc.

This was not a negligible aspect of Roosevelt's position in the minds of his countrymen. It was significant. It indicated how he had seized their affections and imaginations of many of them. So stout a fighter, so uncompromising a speaker, so straight-forward a thinker, subject to the constant human tendency to error, could not escape his enemies. He had been as well hated as he was well loved.

The United States was a sacrament to him. Its best interests were the best interests of humanity. He was a realist in this respect. He did not philosophize. He acted. He advanced the security and the dignity of the United States because he believed that in such advance the noble interests of a great nation would be served and humanity would be served by it.

He "took" the Panama canal. He dealt realistically with a real problem, stated what he had done honestly, defended its purpose—as it could be defended. His imperialism was honest. It never was under cover. He never found himself operating along lines of American destiny and ashamed of the process or trying to cover the result.

He could do this because of his honest, intense nationalism. He was the most conspicuous nationalist in the United States. He was an American—the plus American.

As a robust man who never avoided an adventure because it required courage, he shook an honest fist in the face of Europe, not a mailed fist but an honest one, not the fist of a war lord but the fist of a blacksmith. He sent to the kaiser, through the startled German ambassador, the most abrupt message which that war lord ever received—it was a message to abandon plans in this hemisphere or have an American squadron sent to see that the plans were abandoned.

He would have gone to war if he had been accepted. He was the head of an American Samurai family. His sons went. Quentin died, and we know enough of Roosevelt to know that he did not lament. He and Mrs. Roosevelt took their loss. A law of life had operated. It was the essence of Roosevelt that he lived and did not complain.

Others of his sons were wounded, and all served, were decorated because they had done their duty and more, and we know that Roosevelt gloried in what they did and in what happened to them if it happened with them doing their best, and he would have been glad if he could have been sharing the hazard and the satisfaction of duty done in danger.

His influence must live. It must live for the better nationalization of the American people. It will live, and live, and live. A plus American has gone—gone to a son who preceded him from the battlefield from which he would have loved to arise with the Valkyrie; his influence, the influence of a brave man, lives and must live.

Vale!

W. M. S. of Methodist Church

The first meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church for 1919 was held in the church Monday afternoon, Jan. 6th.

The officers for 1919 assumed their duties of office and the committees for the different phases of work with their chairman were named.

Rev. W. C. White and wife took their places at this meeting. Mr. White conducted the devotional exercises, using the parable of the talents for the Scripture lesson. He brought out very impressively the rewards of the faithful and the slothful servants and exhorted the members of the society to accept their work as an appointment from the Master, urging them to be very diligent in the Lord's service.

After the regular order of business some time was spent in planning for the reception to be held in the church Thursday evening from 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

Eighteen members were present. The officers for 1919 are as follows: Mrs. P. M. Elder, president; Mrs. J. D. Parker, 1st vice president.

Mrs. J. D. Jenkins, 2nd vice president; Mrs. L. R. Philips, Supt. of mis-

HUNGER DRAWS THE MAP

Famine Conditions

- Food Shortage approaching Famine Point
- Serious Food Shortage
- Sufficient Present Food Supply But Future Serious
- Peoples already receiving American aid
- Unclassified

DECEMBER 1, 1918.

A food map of Europe today shows not a single country in which the future does not hold threat of serious difficulties and only a small part which is not rapidly approaching the famine point. With the exception of the Ukraine only those countries which have maintained marine commerce have sufficient food supplies to meet actual needs—meat, fruit, and even in the Ukraine, with stores accumulated on the farms, there is famine in the large centers of population. Belgium and northern France, as well as Serbia, appear on the hunger map distinct from the rest of Europe because they stand in a different relation from the other nations to the people of the United States. America has for four years maintained the small war rations of Belgium and northern France and is already making special efforts to care for their increased after-the-war needs, which, with those of Serbia, must be included in this plan, are urgent in the extreme and must have immediate relief.

The gratitude of the Belgian nation for the help America has extended to her during the war constitutes the strongest appeal for us to continue our work there. The moment the German armies withdrew from her soil and she established once more in her own government the little nation's first thought was to express her gratitude to the Commission for Relief in Belgium for preserving the lives of millions of her citizens.

Germany, on the other hand, need not figure in such a map for Americans because there is no present indication that she will be called on at all to receive food from American supplies. Germany probably can care for her own food problem if she is given access to shipping and is enabled to distribute food to the cities with dense populations, which are the trouble centers.

England, France, the Netherlands and Portugal, all of which have been maintained from American supplies, have sufficient food to meet immediate needs, but their future presents serious difficulties. The same is true of Spain and the northern neutral countries—Norway, Sweden and Denmark—whose ports have been open and who have been able to draw to some degree upon foreign supplies.

Most of Russia is already in the throes of famine and 10,000,000 people there are beyond the possibility of help. Before another spring thousands of them inevitably must die. This applies as well to Poland and practically throughout the Baltic regions, with conditions most serious in Finland, Bohemia, Serbia, Roumania and Montenegro have already reached the famine point and are suffering a heavy toll of death. The Armenian population is falling each week as hunger takes its toll, and in Greece, Albania and Roumania so serious are the food shortages that famine is near. Although starvation is not yet imminent, Italy, Switzerland, Hungary and Turkey are in the throes of serious straits.

In order to fulfill America's pledge in world relief we will have to export every ton of food which can be landed through our ports. This means at the very least a minimum of 20,000,000 tons compared with 11,500,000 tons exported last year when we were hampered by the ties of war to the European allies.

If we fail to lighten the black spots on the hunger map as it we allow any portions to become darker the very lives for which we fought and bled will be threatened. Relief and mercy are the only hope. Should this emergency call see in other parts of Europe a repetition of the Russian debacle and our debt for world peace will have been in vain.

The Tampa Fair

(By John L. McWhorter)

Tampa, Jan. 8. It is now believed that when the gates open at 9 o'clock on the morning of February 15, with the more than 3,000 friends of the great ceremonial to be held here that day in charge and the guests of honor, there will have been given the greatest send-off for an opening that any Florida fair has yet enjoyed, and the interest will be kept at fever heat until the closing of the fair Saturday night following the great Victory celebration, which is the feature of that day, and the apex of all the glory.

The following are the official "special days" for the South Florida Fair here in February, as established by order of the executive committee of the board of directors:

- Monday, February 17, Opening and Shriners' Day.
- Tuesday, February 18, Press and Children's Day.
- Wednesday, February 19, Governor and Home Guards' Day.
- Thursday, February 20, Tampa and Lab' Day.
- Friday, February 21, Army and Navy Day.
- Saturday, February 22, Victory Celebration Day.

Letter From Clifford Proctor

Base Hospital No. 58
Belmont, France
Dec. 12th, 1918.

Dear Mother,

Just a line to let you know I am still in the hospital but am getting along fine. I thought once I was to stay here until I returned to the States, but I understand today that we are to return to our Company in a few days and I do, hope we will, for I am so anxious to hear from you, mother. I have not heard from you for over a month and at that time you were all getting over the flu.

The flu did not hurt me very much as I have not been in bed at all and have eaten three meals a day, but am getting such good treatment here in Red Cross hospital. Have every care and a good nurse to care for me, with plenty of candy, cigarettes and gum. So you see, mother, I am in good hands.

Now since the war is over and I can write anything I will tell you some of my experiences. First, mother, we sailed from New York on the 31st of July. There were eighteen ships, well guarded by battleships and submarine chasers. We arrived in Liverpool, England, on the 12th of August.

We were in England about two weeks, then went to Southampton and from another ship across the English Channel to France, and have been on the move ever since. I have seen all of Europe I care to see, mother, and am anxious to get back to dear old U. S. A., but am willing to wait for my turn to come, for I think the boys who came over first ought to go back first.

Well, mother, this country is very different from America, although it has not been nearly so cold as I expected, yet I have spent on the ground several nights and got up in the morning with snow all over my blankets.

Well, some experience was in the trenches for nearly a month, had been in rest camp in October, and had just gotten back to the front line the 11th of November. Was right in the front on the morning the armistice was signed. We were in battle five hours that morning and the Germans surrendered under heavy artillery and machine gun fire. I was right in the front but am thankful, mother, I came out without a scratch. I wouldn't take a million dollars for my experiences, but don't care to go through it again for the sport of it. After the surrender we were allowed to have fires that night (we had not been allowed to have fires before on account of the Germans locating us). But that night we had no bedding so we sat up all night on the battle field, but next day they sent us bedding and worlds of good eats. The Germans came over and helped us keep the fire burning, but I did not like to have them around.

Could write you a book, mother, but will wait until I come home and take a month to tell you everything. I have some souvenirs to bring home with me, also some German and French money.

I cannot tell you when I will be sent back to U. S. A. but hope it will be soon.

Mother, give my best regards to all my Geneva and Seminole county friends and tell them I hope to see them again sometime in the near future.

Wishing you a very Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year. With love to Mr. David and the kiddies, I am

Your devoted son,
Clifford F. Proctor,
Co. H, 321st Infantry, U. S. A.

Vanmeta Sawyer Styron
Many hearts will sadden at the reading of this announcement, as many will remember the bright and attractive little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Styron of Sanford, Fla., now of West Collingwood, New Jersey.

Vanmeta was taken sick with influenza Dec. 14th. It developed into pneumonia and Dec. 22nd she was transplanted from the earthly garden to bloom in the land of eternal flowers that never fade. She lived in Sanford nearly four years, while her father was chief engineer of the government dredge boat, "Florida." She was a member of the Methodist church and while here took an active part in Sunday school and children's work, following in the footsteps of her mother who was valuable to the woman's work of the church.

To know Vanmeta was to love her, and her going makes heaven dearer to her many friends because she is there. A Friend.

Entertained Class
Miss Cora Lee Ellis entertained her Sunday school class last Thursday afternoon at her home on Elm avenue. Her class included boys and girls of the Second Primary Class of the Methodist Sunday school. The pupils of the class met at the church at 3 o'clock and were taken to the teacher's home by Misses Alma Blount and Anna Mason. Games were enjoyed until they were asked into the dining room, where hot chocolate, cake and candy were served to them. Those invited were Ina Mae Hall, R. E. Griffin, Antoinette Shindler, Lollie Woods, Virginia McFarlane, Emma Spencer, H. R. Gray, Jr., George Stanton, Olen Crossland, Claude Herndon, William Lee, Lillian Lather Calhoun, Astor Mump.

Notice to Taxpayers
The personal books are now open for assessment of 1919 taxes and will close on April 1, 1919. I will be pleased to have you call and make return as early as possible. A Valuable Assistant.

Roosevelt Dead
The news that on twenty-sixth President of the United States, who died at his home on Saturday last, will be laid to rest without many ceremonies. Young's cemetery in this village, Wednesday morning. He will be buried in a small mausoleum on Long Island sound, a plot which he and Mrs. Roosevelt selected soon after he left the White House. In the words of the clergyman who will conduct the funeral services, "America's most ideal man, known in every corner of the earth, will go down to his grave as a full domestic counsellor, as a friend by his neighbors."

After services at the Roosevelt home at which only members of the family will be present, the funeral service will be held at 12:15 o'clock, Christ Episcopal Church, the little old frame structure where for years the colonel and his family attended divine worship.

At the request of Mrs. Roosevelt, no flowers will be sent. The altar will be decorated only with laurel placed on it for the Christmas season. Also in conformance with Mrs. Roosevelt's wishes there will be no music and no eulogy, but only the simple service of the Episcopal church conducted by the rector, Rev. George Talmage.

Armour Fertilizers

Peace stops the fighting but not the feeding. Our armies at home and abroad, our Allies and ourselves must be fed. More food must be produced in 1919. Lack of fertilizer will cut down your production. Labor, cars, raw materials—all are limited. Fertilizer factories must begin shipping at once to move even a normal tonnage by planting time.

Shape up your plans and order now.
