NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(INS)—Although Northwestern "warms up" Saturday in its season's opener with Butler of Indianapolis, the purple-warriors are pointing toward their more important date Oct. 13 against Ohio State.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 3 (INS)—Coach Loup already is drilling his Illini to meet Indiana though the Hoosiers do not come here until Oct. 20. Illinois will open its season Saturday against Bradley of Peoria.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 2 (INS)—Coach Ed Page is preparing his Indiana eleven for the important inter-sectional tilt with Oklahoma here Saturday, meantime his reserves will journey to Iowa City to engage the Hawkeyes reserves.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 2 (INS)—Minnesota will entertain Creighton in the season's opener here this Saturday. The Gophers did not lose a single conference game last season.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Oct. 3 (INS)—A hard workout was scheduled for the Colgate football squad today preparatory to its departure southward tomorrow for the inter-sectional contest with Vanderbilt. A freshman seemed, using Vanderbilt, had been unable to gain against the varsity.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 3 (INS)—Defense against the Materiæ pass features the practice of the Army squad this week for its hard game here Saturday with Southern Methodist. All of Boston University's lateral passes against the cadets last week were successful and resulted in long gains.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 3 (INS)—Princeton, the first big Eastern college to adopt the huddle system four years ago, has returned to the old and simpler method of calling signals. The latter is extremely important in the present style of play used, for example, by the Harvard team. But there is no doubt about its importance, and I am satisfied that the break-through will come soon, the break-through will come in advance.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 2 (INS)—Rosen, star, and has recovered from an ear injury and is expected to rejoin the Navy squad today when the Middle become training for the Boston College game.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 2 (INS)—Harvard's hopes for a crushing victory over Springfield next Saturday were somewhat dimmed today by the loss of Holbrook and Potter, backs, through injuries. Hollbrook is out for the year.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 2 (INS)—Johnny Goray, back, has scored at least one touchdown for the Yale varsity in every scrum since the Bruins' date. Indications are that the Ells will throw plenty of forward passes against Michigan and Saturday, as the aerial game is being used extensively in practice.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 2 (INS)—Dennis, his bad arm, Davies is back in the Cornell line-up because his shooting is dangerous.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 2 (INS)—Lloyd Conacher, nation's top hockey player, star, is coaching the Rutgers bunch in forward passing.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 2 (INS)—Georgia's bulldogs, who have been the best team in the South since the 1927 season, are off to a good start this afternoon. They have won the first two games. The first two losses will finish the season.

INTENSIVE DRILL MARKS PRACTICE OF HIGHGRIDDERS

Coach Whelchell Has Men Go Thru Speedy Workout On Tuesday

By Peter Schall

Intensive was the word in yesterday's practice session at Seminole High field and with his first game only three days away, Coach Whelchell drove his charges at top speed in an effort to put the finishing touches to an promising a team as he has ever had.

Featuring yesterday's session was the study and practice of a successful defense of the forward passing game, and almost an hour was spent in teaching the boys this most important part of the game. A "box" system of defense by the secondary players was introduced and in most cases had a disastrous effect upon the efforts of the offensive backfield. Coach Whelchell himself took personal charge of the offensive backfield and threw most of the passes, that is, except some of the defensive line didn't get thru and nail him. Then new series plays were given and before that part of the practice was over, several of the men showed great promise in both passing and receiving. Today's practice will no doubt see a continuation of practice in the serial game and possibly a short game between the varsity and rats will wind up the season.

And today for the first time a teaser appeared upon the field—a signal drill which will give one an inkling as to his starting line-up and possibly the varsity squad. The line was made up of Harry Hillman at center, Billie Hall and Vancy at guards, Roy Symes and Bob Moya at tackles, and Captain Edensfield and Pat Miller at ends. That's the 180-pound line, and I believe that it's the varsity squad. Every one of the boys above mentioned have been going at top speed for the past week and there's a mighty good prospect of them alive this season. If it is the varsity, the coach need never worry. Holcomb, captain of his backfield, for his work in perfecting the play of the line.

"First Kiss" To Be Featured Today At The Milane Theater

A motion picture "The First Kiss" was filmed in Maryland more than 3000 miles away from Hollywood. Comes to the Milane theatre today.

A little more than a year ago Tristram Tupper, short story writer, and a Virginian by birth, spent his customary vacation in a houseboat on the Miles River, near St. Michaels, Maryland. Here he conceived the story of "Four Brothers" which appeared in a national magazine a short time ago. It dealt with the love of brothers, the love of a boy for a girl and was told entirely in the Chesapeake Bay country.

On the very same ground, Tupper's story was made into a motion picture. It is released under the title of "The First Kiss" and is the first co-starring vehicle for Fay Wray and Gary Cooper as "Paramount's Glorious Young Lovers." Rowland V. Lee directed the photoplay which was adapted for the screen by John Farrow.

Of interest is the fact that all "sets" called for in Tupper in his original story were used by Lee in filming the production, in order to make the production of "The First Kiss" an entire entity. It was brought to the historic Eastern Shore of the Chesapeake and every foot of the film was made in that community.
