BEHIND ITS BULKHEAD CAIRO AWAITS "ZERO HOUR"

"Will it hold?" That was the question on the lips of everyone in Cairo, Ill., as citizens surveyed the long emergency bulkhead made of dirt and boards atop the 60-foot permanent floodwall surrounding the city. Already flood water has climbed to the peak of the permanent wall and is threatening to go higher. This panoramic picture shows a section of the re-enforced wall with the great sea of water just under the rim. (Associated Press Photo)

CAIRO APPEARS VICTORIOUS -- TRICKY OHIO RISES AGAIN

After pausing for 15 hours within a narrow band upon the top of the 60-foot levee, the tricky Ohio river began a new assault against Cairo, Ill., key city to the lower Mississippi valley. This picture shows the river within 8 inches of the summit top, and within 3 feet 6 inches of the top of the emergency bulwark. Weary workers kept digging along the dikes, and a locomotive raked sandbag reinforcing to spots where needed. (Associated Press Photo)

SHERIFF READS INJUNCTION TO AUTO STPIKERS

COLE BLEASE MARRIES AGAIN

Blease, ex-governor of South Carolina and former United States senator, and his bride, the former Mrs. Carolina Floyd Knott, are shown at home in Columbia shortly after their honeymoonless wedding at the home of her parents in Newberry. 'YOU'RE A LIAR,' SHOUTS RHEBA AND WALKS OUT

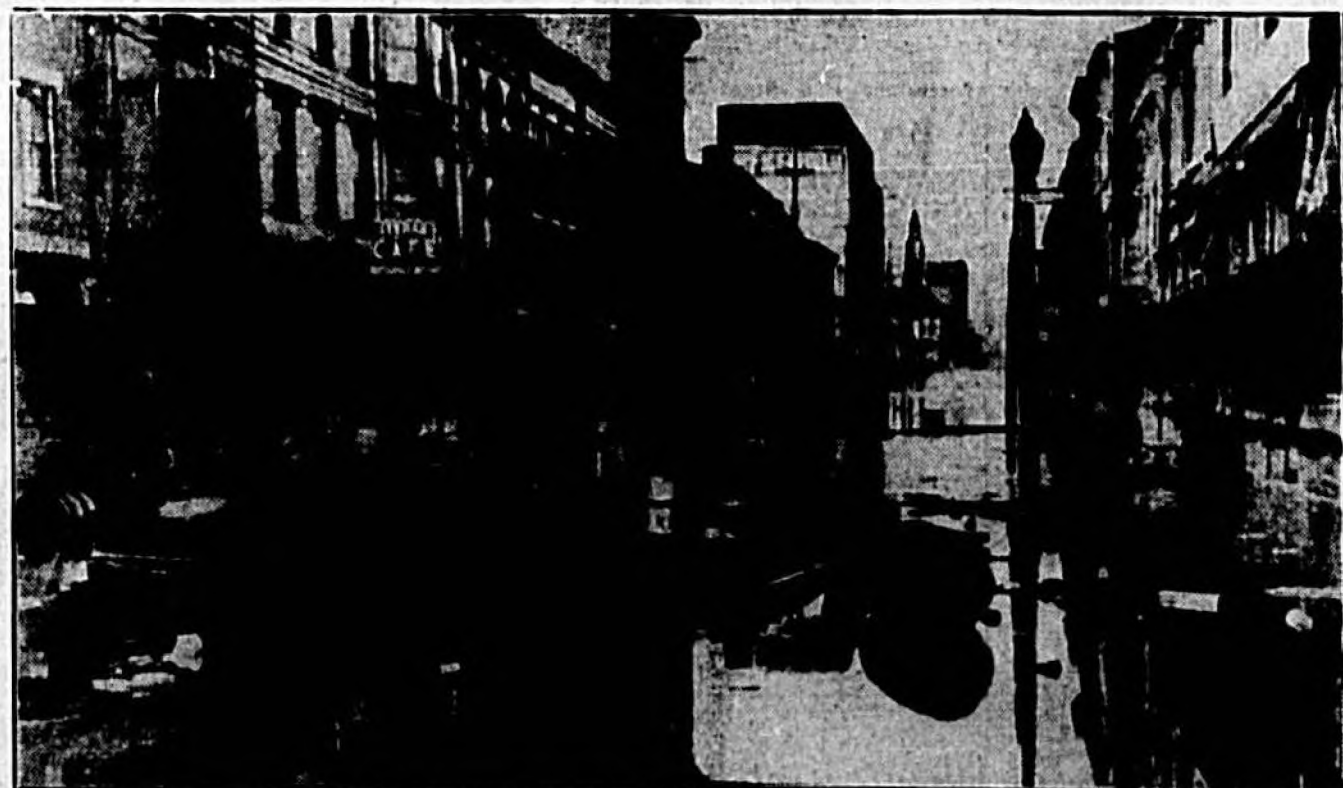

This scene was snapped as Evangelist Rheba Crawford hurled the lie at Willard Andrews, attorney for Evangelist Aimee Sophie McPherson, at deposition hearing at Los Angeles in her $1,000,000 slander suit against Aimee. Andrews denied he had tried to frame her at Aimee's request. "You're a liar," Rheba retorted. Then the former "Angel of Broadway" stormed furiously out of the room and met a former police chief, who says she socked him on the jaw. (Associated Press Photo)

CHAINGANG LENDS A HAND AGAINST "DAT OLE RIVER"

The steady clank of leg-irons on the shuffling feet of negro convicts is heard above the crescendo of water dashing against the levee at Memphis, Tenn., in man's mighty battle with the flooded Mississippi. "Dat ole river" is the common enemy of free men and prisoners alike in flood time. And so the convicts, bound leg to leg, shoulder sandbags atop the levee and march into battle. CINCINNATI STREETS -- IN WAKE OF RAVAGING FLOOD

This scene of litter was left in Cincinnati by the receding flood water. The height to which the torrents reached is indicated by the dark lines on the buildings. The picture was made on Freeman avenue not far from Crosley field, home of the Cincinnati Reds. Workmen can be seen tackling the job of cleaning up the debris. (Associated Press Photo)

Antique Display Attracts Many As Centennial Opens

Historical Lore Is Seen In Hundreds Of Objects Shown In Store Windows

Piece Of China Is 300 Years Old
By PAT PATTERSON
Mostly with the lore of antiquity and alive with the spirit of men and women pioneers of Seminole County, hundreds of antiques in Sanford store windows bore the inspection of thousands today as the City began a three-day celebration of its first centennial.

Probably the oldest individual item on exhibition is a piece of china in Yowell's window. It is said to be about 300 years of age.

The Yowell window also includes an old surveyor map dated 1700, drawn in ink that has retained its full face through the centuries. Too, there are other documents—a land grant awarded by Jacobus Taylor—and diplomas from old universities.

Sanford before the great fire of the last century is vividly portrayed in an ancient photograph in the window of Perkins' store. Another picture shows more than a block of the settlement laid bare by the inferno.

One object, which received particular attention was the sketch from life of Oseola, the Seminole Indian chief whose door is laid the blame for much of the trouble in Florida during the days when this settlement was striving to gain a foothold.

The Perkins display is centered around a large photograph of Gen. Henry Sanford, after whom the City is named.

Danger Still Lurking From Flood Rivers

Gigantic Task Of Rehabilitation Is Begun Along Trail Of 1,000 Miles

MEMPHIS, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Increased flow from the Mississippi above Cairo, Ill., today retarded the recession of record crests and kept alive a warning threat to the valley's flood defenses.

The peak of the burden shifted into the Mississippi from the river-ravaged Ohio Valley was miles below Cairo but the water's retreat was slow and army engineers said levees as far south as Helena, Ark., would be vulnerable for many days.

Confidence persisted that crests now rising like tops ultimately would pass into the Gulf of Mexico without further major damage, but flood fighters admitted a severe storm any time in the next few days could precipitate a grave crisis.

Additional facilities pushed to 400 the number of deaths charged to the flood while the swift fall in the Ohio entailed many of the 1,000,000 refugees to return to war-torn areas.

Oviedo Pool Nearing Completion; Ball Park Work Rushed

Nearly 200 WPA employees in Seminole County are drawing $10,000 per month, according to a report issued today by W. S. Earle, County work director.

In the week closing today, he said, 170 persons were given work on relief projects. Of that number, 71 were women whose services are used in sewing rooms and canning kitchens.

Mr. Earle reported that the Oviedo Public Park swimming pool is completed and probably will be ready for use within two weeks when the bathhouse is finished. The park area itself needs only a small amount of grading to be listed as completed.

The work director said the pool is one of the finest projects in the county. It is 15 by 35 feet and has a maximum depth of 10 feet.

A contract of oil for the surface of the Paul Road and Sanford Avenue will arrive here Monday. The former project involves improvements to one and one-half miles of highway, while in the latter 5,000 feet are being repaired. In both cases, the work is completed.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Reports of a new storm veering landward off the Pacific threatened today to cut short a brief respite being enjoyed by the blizzard-lashed coastal states.

As highway and rail traffic struggled back to normalcy, the Weather Bureau forecast a new onslaught in general rains, which fell from the Canadian border south through California. Barometers dropped.

Thanks to the gradual thaw of snow, coast for further floods lessened.

Owners' Absent As Longwood Home Is Destroyed By Fire

Mayor Proclaims Monday Founder's Day In Sanford

The bungalow home of the Robert Swadlow, winter residents at Longwood, was completely destroyed by fire last night while the owners were attending a play at Lyman School.

Persons in the vicinity of the home managed to salvage some of the furniture and other articles, although the greater part was consumed by flames.

It was believed that the fire originated from a gasoline lamp which the Swadlows were said to have left burning when they left their home.

The blaze occurred between 9:30 P. M. and 10 P. M.

Mayor Edward Higgins this afternoon proclaimed the Sanforians' Day in Sanford.

Marriage Gains

According to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, reports of some foreign governments to stimulate marriage among their nationals by artificial means have proved less successful than early reports may have indicated.

The Bulgarian marriage rate for 1935 showed a drop of 16.1 percent as compared with 1934, the German rate a decline of 12.6 percent, while the Italian rate fell off 10.8 percent.

On the other hand, Portugal, where the greatest improvement was recorded, showed a gain of 9.2 percent, Australia a gain of 9.1 percent, New Zealand, 7.9 and Northern Ireland a gain of 7.8 percent.

The decline in the marriage rate of France from 7.1 per 1,000 population in 1934 to 6.8 in 1935 is also extremely interesting in view of the fact that this country was the only civilized power to record an excess of deaths over births during 1935.

Similarly, gifts of money from the government, a large tax on bachelors and other stimuli have not enabled Italy to maintain the substantial increase in weddings recorded in 1934.

"The decline in the marriage rate of France from 7.1 per 1,000 population in 1934 to 6.8 in 1935 is also extremely interesting in view of the fact that this country was the only civilized power to record an excess of deaths over births during 1935.

An Early Newspaper

While many interesting old relics are being brought to light as a result of this city's observance of Founders' Day on its one hundredth anniversary, we would like to call attention to an editorial in a recent issue of the St. Augustine Record which discusses the subject of "Our First Newspaper."

"It is difficult, assuredly, for a lay worker, but, undoubtedly, if real research work were done in this connection, much interesting material would be developed.

The editor of "Short Talks" in the Florida Times-Union of Sunday throws an interesting sidelight on early newspaper history. He says that a book published by W. C. Wells in London in 1818 gives an account of the difficulties of Julius Hayden in establishing the first newspaper in Florida, at St. Augustine, in 1782.

"I embarked in November, 1782 for St. Augustine, in East Florida, carrying with me as much of my brother's moveable property as I could; among other things, a printing press, and a considerable quantity of printer's types.

When I arrived at St. Augustine, I determined to put up the press there, and print a newspaper. But here a considerable difficulty arose; the press had been seized taken to pieces in Carolina, and I naturally thought it could readily be put together again; more especially as I had brought with me a regular pressman; but to my surprise he told me he knew nothing of the matter; that he could work a press as well as any person when it was put together, but the putting it together constituted the particular business of a press-joiner.

In this dilemma I recollected that there was among my brother's books, one entitled, 'The Printer's Grammar,' containing cuts of a printer's press. I studied this book for several days, with the greatest diligence; and at length, by means of the information derived from it, and with the assistance of a common negro carpenter, completely succeeded in my attempt to put the press in working order.

CANDLELIGHT

By NINA OLIVER DEAN

"For there is that about this land of lakes Which coarsely cities can not understand A program peace that confidently takes The prodigal and leads him by the hand."

Vivian Yeiser Laramore, Florida's Poet Laureate, author of several volumes of poetry, was and is poetry (she is in the Miami Daily News, came up to Winter Park for the last meeting of the Poetry Society and reviewed Sanford where she lived as a child. The lines above are from a poem called "A Prodigal's Return" which she wrote while in Sanford. With the spontaneity, grace, and a singing quality characteristic of her work, she has caught the charm of Central Florida, "this land of lakes," and woven it into a lyrical, bright with the beauty of the flame, and dainty with the blue shadows of a seagull's wing, and sweet with the stem of an orange grove.

"I had forgotten how a celery field Could run in even rows to meet the sky, And how the wind above the tuffed yield Could wait a fragrance headier than rye."

"It is always an exciting adventure to meet an author whose books you have read, a person you know so well, who knows you not at all. But with a poet, there is a little element of fear that someone who has the power to create so much that is beautiful may have some of it in his own appearance. A great mathematician may look the way Mr. Einstein does; a distinguished economist may have a nose like Cyrano de Bergerac; an eminent scientist may be ill favored, and who knows? But a poet, a poet is almost obligated to his public, not to be handsome necessarily, but to have some quality about him some sign that this is one who has the stars to write with and the dew."

"I wasn't disappointed in Vivian Laramore. She has this something in addition to soft brown hair and dark eyes that made me think that after all the phrase, 'black velvet eyes,' really means something. In a black dress with a rose pink camellia on her shoulder, Mrs. Laramore looked somehow right to be the lady who wrote, 'Spring Comes to the South,' 'In Praise of an Unknown Builder,' and 'God in the Garden.'"

Vivian Yeiser Laramore's mother was a concert singer, Carrie Blaine, a descendant of James G. Blaine, and she now lives with her daughter in Miami and writes stories for children. Her father, Dr. William Charles Yeiser, of Winter Park, came to Miami, Fla. as a medical student in 1885, and he has since lived in Sanford, Fla. in his own home.

"Among the great ones of the poetry world whom Mrs. Laramore has interviewed for her poetry column in the Miami News are Robert Frost, Jessie Bittenhouse, Dubose Heywood, and Eunice Tietjens. Vivian Laramore not only makes poetry herself, she encourages others to make it. She has a class in Miami and this year, the Callahan Press in New York is bringing out a volume of poems by her students. If there is anything to the theory that a good thing does a deal to make a book a success, then the forthcoming Golden Jubilee must be destined for the glory road, for it's name is in line from one of Walt Whitman's poems, "Of Hopeful Greenstaff Work."

Mrs. Laramore's velvet eyes can twinkle too. She told me about the New York reporter, who, when her last book of verse, "Flamingo," was published, wrote this exciting headline on the story, "Florida's Poet Laureate in New York for Release of Her New Book 'Flamingo'."

Although Vivian Laramore lives in Miami, she has close and pleasant contacts with Winter Park. She was on the Rollins Adjusted Magazine program in 1935, and she has Mrs. Anna Russell was one of the judges in a contest when Mrs. Laramore's play, "The Cloud," was in lambic pentameter, won first place. She loves Winter Park and says that some of the happiest evenings of her life have been spent there with the poetry group, Jessie Bittenhouse, her husband, the late Clinton Schollar, and Rose Mills Powers.

"Lord, the red hibiscus Has but a day to live, The passion of its painted heart Forgive! Forgive!"

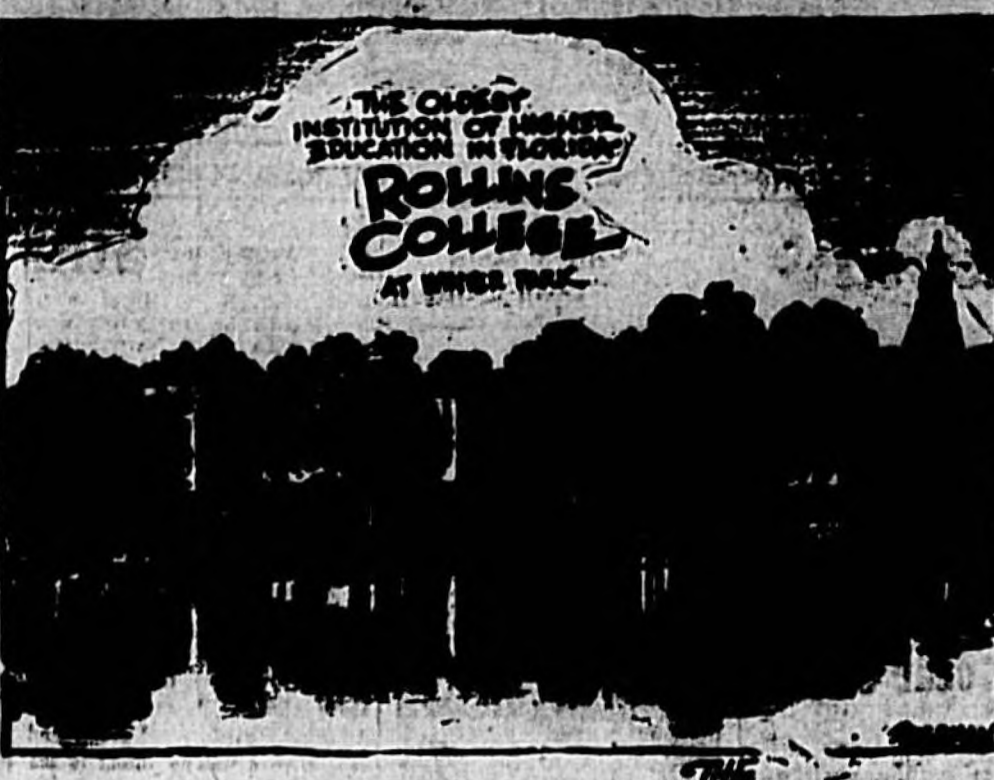

And take it not to task, Lord, For prayers it leaves unpaid; Petitions were not patterned For lips so red.

And if it seeks too boldly The solace of the sun, Remember that its days, Lord, Are one, just one!"

FLORIDA HIGHLIGHTS

IN a picturesque subtropical setting in the lovely little town of Winter Park is located ROLLINS COLLEGE, Florida's oldest institution of higher learning. Named for Alfonso W. Rollins of Chicago, who headed its endowment with $50,000, the school first opened its doors in 1885, with sixty-six students. For almost half a century it has made generous contributions to culture by helping mould the character of thousands of young men and women. By action of its board of trustees the enrollment of Rollins can never exceed seven hundred students. The distinguished Dr. Hamilton Holt is its president.

THE WAROO, long and sleek, is one of the fastest swimming fish in all the waters of the world. A member of the mackerel family, it ranges along the coast of Florida, however, it is almost as rare as the marlin and comparatively few are taken during the season. Its strike is vicious and immediately on being hooked it will tear off as much as 500 feet of line in the wink of an eye in its mad rush to escape. Usually the Waroo is found along the edges of the Gulf Stream grass in South Florida waters and while they will average 15 to 20 pounds, they reach much heavier proportions. The heaviest Waroo on record, caught with fishing tackle, weighed 80 pounds.

Outrigger, the Orlando B's star, did most of the scoring in the closing period. The Orlando crew romped off with the victory. Man In Denmark Is 'Going Wild West'

HELENA, Mont., Feb. 6.—(AP)—It must be that some of the tales of Helena's wild and woolly past have filtered through to far off Denmark, Postmaster Harry Hendricks commented as he read Jens F. Moller's injury about the price of "sambars, cowboy boots, goat skin chaps and revolver." The letter addressed Oden, Denmark, was addressed to the "largest shop which is dealing in cowboy boots, hats, etc." "I wrote him that he can spend from $100 to $500 for the outfit, depending on how many frills he wants thrown in," said the merchant to whom Hendricks gave the letter.

Swish "One In A Million" Shows Here For Three Days

Sonja Henie, Olympic Skating Star Is Cast In Leading Role Of Melody-Laden Feature At Ritz Theater

One radiant, laugh-lavish and song-laden with romance and music in stunning snow-silvered scenes, "One In A Million," the Twentieth Century-Fox spectacular musical smash that thrills and glorifies the girl in a million, lovely Sonja Henie, opened at the Ritz Theater.

With a hundred gorgeous girls, a sensational ice-revels amid a wintery wonderland of snow-taking beauty, it's the show of 1937 with a cast of a million that includes, in addition to Sonja Henie, the Queen of the Silvery Skates, Adolphe Menjou, Jean Harsholt, Ned Sparks, Don Ameche, the Ritz stars, Arline Judge, Borrah Canfield and his gang, Dial Warner, Leah Ray and Shirley Dean.

The daughter of a Swiss innkeeper, Sonja Henie is being rescued by her father, Jean Harsholt, to capture the Olympic skating championship. The picture attracts the interest of Don Ameche, young American newspaperman investigating a neighborhood mystery, who sees unusual material for a human interest story for his paper.

When Harsholt hears that she has skated professionally, he returns the medals to the committee. Don Ameche, with the assistance of his dead-pan assistant, Ned Sparks, is able to prove that Sonja is guileless. The resourceful young reporter further proves to Sonja's satisfaction that they were for each other.

"Sinner Take All" Is Part Of Double Feature On Friday

It is an unusual story that unfolds on the screen of the Ritz Theater, in the picture "Sinner Take All," next Friday. The process of blending metropolitan mystery, with romance in the high spots and comedy in the newspaper world, is accomplished with remarkable finesse.

Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, "Sinner Take All" presents the ace trio of Bruce Cabot, Margaret Lindsay and Joseph Calleia in top-notch dramatic roles.

The story concerns a millionaire publisher and his family who are threatened with death from a source of complete mystery. He and two sons are killed. A reporter who has become a lawyer, returns to his craft and eventually apprehends the killer and saves the life of the publisher's daughter with whom he is in love.

STORK SNUBS SLIM
Slim Summerville finds that his influence with the stork is nil in "Reunion," the Dionne Quins' second starring picture for Twentieth Century-Fox, coming Wednesday to the Ritz Theater. Slim's order for sextuplets was completely ignored.

CHAN BACK TUESDAY

The film, which features Keye Luke, Charlotte Henry, Thomas Beck and Margaret Irving in the supporting cast, opens with the murder of an insane asylum guard by Karloff, an inmate, whose warped mind recognizes a picture of his wife in a newspaper.

You'll chill with fright and thrill with excitement in "The Raven" starring Boris Karloff. Other stars include Keye Luke, Charlotte Henry, Thomas Beck, and Margaret Irving.

Florida now makes a great ceremony of inaugurating a new governor, but the framers of the state's constitution back in 1885 believed a 12-word oath of office sufficed.

If your nerves can stand thrills occurring with staccato speed, excitement that rises like a tidal wave, and suspense that will have your spine a-tingle, "Charlie Chan at the Opera," the Twentieth Century-Fox picture which shows Tuesday at the Ritz Theater, will provide you with a solid hour of thrill-packed entertainment, highlighted by hilarious comedy and youthful romance.

With Warner Oland as Charlie Chan, the arch-enemy of crime, coming face to face with Boris Karloff, the king of terror, the picture is the highlight of the wily Chinese sleuth's career and the acme in mystery and entertainment.

The film, which features Keye Luke, Charlotte Henry, Thomas Beck and Margaret Irving in the supporting cast, opens with the murder of an insane asylum guard by Karloff, an inmate, whose warped mind recognizes a picture of his wife in a newspaper.

Bent on vengeance, Karloff completes his escape and goes to the theater where his wife is appearing in "Faust." Attending the performance, Karloff dons his Mephistopheles costume and usurps his role on the stage, disguised by the costume and mask.

Charlie Chan, hot on the trail, appears backstage at the opera but is unable to prevent two more murders. When the madman's reign of terror strikes at two young lovers, Chan craftily apprehends him and, in a surprise denouement, unmasks the real killer.

H. Bruce Humberstone directed the film with John Stone associate producer. Scott Darling and Charles S. Belden authored the screen play from a story by Bess Meredyth, based on the character created by Earl Derr Biggers.

Seeing its reflection in a Swellendam, South Africa, garage window, a goat charged. The goat's owner had to pay $30 damages.

HERE WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

ANTHONY MARTIN, ALAN RAY, DON DAVIS, BOB MENDEL and JOE LUKAS

"Born To Dance" In Return Here

The producers who gave you "Born To Dance" in 1935 and "The Great Escape" come through with another smash musical success in "Born To Dance," which shows in a return engagement next Friday at the Ritz Theater with Eleanor Powell, "Queen of Taps," dancing her way to fresh triumphs in the scintillating song hits of Cole Porter who here tops even his famed "You're the Top."

Its story of a small-town girl who falls in love with a navy man and nearly loses him to a stage favorite is packed with entertainment. It is a logical plot with interesting submarine sequences, picturesque naval back-grounds and comedy highlights but the wealth of spectacular beauty in the lavish scenes, the brilliant dancing and the unforgettable music, plus the impressive performance of the stars.

DOG PAVED WAY TO SUCCESS
When Errol Tarrant became a director, a big police dog won a home for life. Tarrant, director of "Sinner Take All," coming here Friday with Bruce Cabot, Margaret Lindsay and Joseph Calleia featured, was an assistant director. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer was having trouble with a silent dog picture. Tarrant finished it. This led to a series of promotions that culminated in his being signed as a director. So he adopted the dog.

WRITERS
Leonard Fraskins and Mark Kelly wrote the story and screen play for "One In A Million," the Twentieth Century-Fox spectacular musical smash, starring Sonja Henie, Queen of the Silvery Skates, in the screen. It opens at the Ritz Theater.

Dione Quins In "Reunion" Showing In Double Program

Surprise follows dramatic surprise, romantic secrets are revealed and tormented lives set straight when the Country Doctors' 2,000 grown-up "babies" come back to share their joys and tears with the man who brought them into the world in "Reunion," Twentieth Century-Fox's latest screen triumph, showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz Theater.

The picture which stars the world famous Dionne Quins and features Jean Harsholt, Rochelle Hudson, Helen Vinson, Slim Summerville, Robert Kent, John Qualen, Dorothy Peterson and many other players, boasts the year's most important cast in the season's most unusual drama.

The Quins' Dr. Luke, played by Jean Harsholt, on the verge of retirement from the burdens he has carried for a generation, decides to call back from all over the globe the three thousand men and women he initiated into the world. From all over the country and from many foreign lands they come, the rich and the poor, the high-placed and the lowly, to take part in the reunion.

In a climactic scene that combines all the elements of potent drama with pathos and unobtrusive humor, Dr. Luke, Tom, Mary, Mrs. Sheridan, and the Doctor's 2,000 grown-up "babies"—including the governor of a state, a fading stage star, a crook just out of jail, and many other unforgettable characters—convene for the reunion. Also present at the gathering, for added chuckles and heart tugs, are the celebrated Quintuplets.

NOW HE EATS PIE
Once a famous comedian himself, Raymond Griffith was selected by Darryl F. Zanuck, Twentieth Century-Fox Production Chief, to act as associate producer on "One In A Million," 1937's musical smash, starring Sonja Henie, which shows at the Ritz Theater.

CAIRO, MAJOR DANGER POINT IN FLOOD, STILL HOLDS

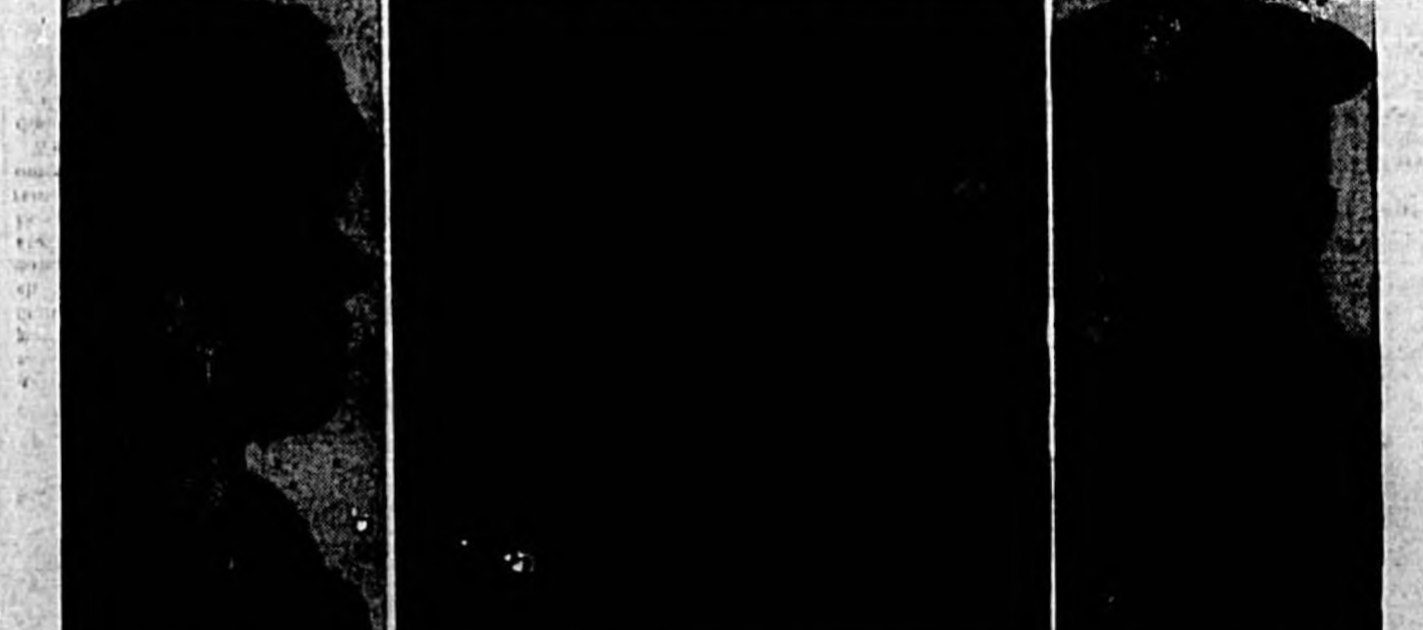

This rare aerial photograph shows the major danger point in the flooded Ohio and Mississippi valleys—Cairo, Ill. Reaching its highest crest of all time, the Ohio still was held back by Egypt's lofty levee and the men who remained at imminent peril to defend it. The Ohio empties into the Mississippi, which courses around the city on the west and south, about two miles below the levee. In the left foreground is the northern section of the Birds Point-New Madrid railway, seriously inundated by breaching a section of the levee to release pressure on Cairo's levee. BUSINESS, GOVERNMENT, LABOR CONFER ON STRIKE

Business, Government, and Labor—these three—strive to effect a settlement of prolonged automobile industry sit-down strike, which have all but throttled the business of General Motors Corporation. Sponsored by William S. Knudsen (left) executive vice-president of General Motors, and "Red" Murphy (right) of the Committee for Industrial Organization, Labor, represented by Chairman John L. Lewis (center), the conference was held at the request of President Roosevelt. (Associated Press Photo)

MICHIGAN STATE POLICEMAN KIDNAPED AND SLAIN

The bullet-riddled body of Trooper Richard Hammond (right), Michigan state policeman, was found handcuffed to a rural mail box near Monroe, Mich., shortly after he was overpowered and kidnaped by a prisoner. Officers in three states started a man-hunt for the gunman whom they described as Alvin Bonell (left) of Detroit, arrested by Hammond for questioning about the kidnaping of Fred Williams, Detroit salesman. Bonell also was known as Joe La Rue. Deputy Sheriff Robert Navarra is shown (center) examining Hammond's blood-stained automobile abandoned near his body. (Associated Press Photo)
