Bill Opposes Any Transfer In Hemisphere

Measure's Passage Would Make Monroe Doctrine Enforceable By Law

Bloc Formed To Fight Allied Aid

Group Would Oppose Any Direct Governmental Assistance

WASHINGTON, June 12

(AP)—Legislation to enforce by law this government's vehement opposition to any transfer of sovereignty over territory in the western hemisphere from one European power to another was quickly today the right-of-way to House consideration.

While not specifying any nation in its text, the declaration, if approved by both the House and Senate, would prohibit Congress from extending aid to any nation which is a party to any such transfer of territory.

The measure, which would prohibit the United States from extending aid to any nation which is a party to any such transfer of territory, was introduced in the House by Representative Charles McNary, Democrat of Oregon.

Mangers Appointed In Diamond Loop

Further steps in the completion of the new diamond loop in Sanford were taken today when the board of directors of the Sanford Diamond Loop Road Company met in session.

The board, which is composed of representatives of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, the Sanford Rotary Club, and the Sanford Business Association, met in the office of the city manager.

Keep Your Buckets Of Dirt Says Hoover Jr.

TULSA, Okla., June 12 (AP)—Hoover Jr. says that the government should keep its buckets of dirt in case of a new outbreak of the epidemic of malaria.

ITALY GETS BAPTISM OF BOMBS

Italy, launching attacks on British and French possessions at the partner of Germany, received a retaliatory baptism of bombs in her northern industrial area, as shown on this map.

Congress May Not Adjourn As Scheduled

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—Speaker Cannon said today that Congress would not adjourn June 23 as scheduled.

The speaker said that the Senate Labor Committee postponed a decision on considering House-approved amendments to the National Labor Act until after the adjournment.

German Artillery Opens Up On Long Quiet Rhine Front

BERLIN, June 12 (AP)—German artillery opened up last night on the long-quiet upper Rhine front.

The artillery action on the Rhine was an effort to drive out the divisions of the West coast which were smashing within 100 miles of Paris along the Oise.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12

PHILADELPHIA, June 12 (AP)—The city council today passed a resolution to support the United States in its fight against the Axis powers.

Methodists Approve 9 Districts

One District Eliminated By Resolution; Tribute Is Paid To 12 Who Have Died

A resolution reducing the number of districts in the Florida conference from ten to nine was given approval in this morning's business session of the 5-day conference of the Consolidated Methodist Church which opened here last night with Bishop Arthur J. Moore presiding.

The highlight of this morning's session was a memorial service at noon for 13 ministers of the Florida conference who have died in the past year. In this service, under the direction of Dr. J. W. Branscombe, tribute was paid to the following: The Rev. J. L. Bourn, the Rev. F. H. Champion, the Rev. J. M. Gross, the Rev. C. E. Gutteridge, the Rev. H. J. Haslinger, the Rev. C. W. Mathison, the Rev. Sam Scott, the Rev. Addyman Smith, the Rev. J. W. Taylor, the Rev. W. B. Wedderman, the Rev. J. Edgar Wilson and the Rev. J. Yeats.

Hospital Project Has Been Signed By County Board

Ballard States WPA Application Will Be Forwarded Soon

The Board of County Commissioners, as sponsors, has signed an application for a WPA project for construction of a hospital here, W. B. Ballard, Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, said in a letter to The Herald today.

"I noticed in a recent edition of The Herald an inquiry directed to the City Commissioners as to status of the hospital project and which the County Commissioners referred to the letter said.

"The hospital project was changed in order to use all the common labor possible. To get up a project of this kind—and as large as this project is, takes a lot of detail work in setting it up in order to get the full benefits. The Commission will receive a deed from the City soon to the property upon which the hospital will be built.

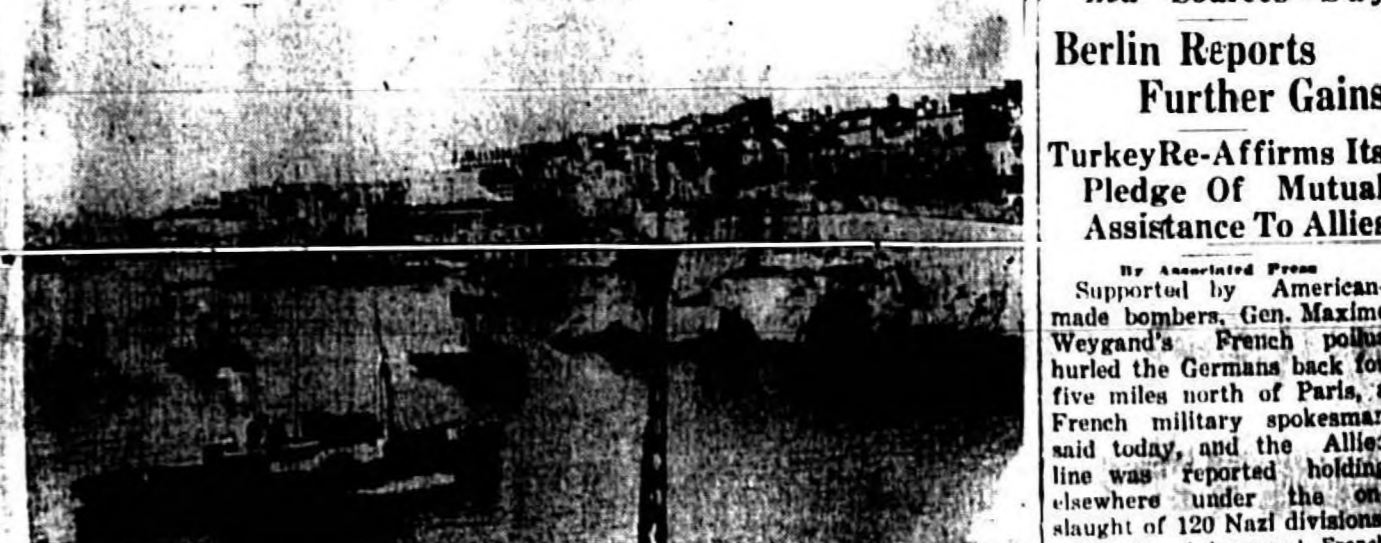

Dr. Newton E. Davis, general secretary of the hospital and former pastor of the former Methodist Episcopal Church, was introduced and outlined the work of that group for the past year.

Bombs Explode On British Freighter

BUENOS AIRES, June 13 (AP)—Special guards assigned maritime police of all belligerent nations in Buenos Aires harbor as a result of the explosion of two bombs last night aboard the British mail freighter Gascony.

Italians Lay Mine Field To Encircle Malta Naval Base

ROME, June 13 (AP)—Italy claimed last night to have cut the Mediterranean in half with a mine field which encircled Great Britain's Malta naval base.

The Board regrets very much the fact that these questions are not made public through the newspapers, but the fact is we would be glad to keep the public informed if the papers will cooperate.

"As to present status of the hospital project: Mr. Still the County Board has employed W. P. A. project engineer who drew up the project—was killed in an automobile accident several weeks ago, and this fact delayed the project to some extent.

Another mine barrier, it was said, reached from the eastern edge of Sicily, past Malta and on to the Tunisia-Libya frontier, a distance of about 300 miles.

(British announced Tuesday) Italy has laid all around the African coast at a point near the border of Tunisia and Algeria.

Britain's Aerial Force Carries War To Enemy Nations

Planes Attack On All Fronts From Italy To Africa

LONDON, June 12 (AP)—Britain's air force, outnumbered but more powerful than the air to her enemies far afield last night.

With waves of bombers and tons of explosives she struck along the German front in France, across the border into Germany, over the Alps to Italy's centers of industry and into Africa against troops, ships and airdromes.

Britain's empire around the world joined in the blows against the foe of the Allies. Along a far-flung fighting front from Equatorial Africa to Arctic Norway:

1. Low-flying waves of bombers gave the German right wing against Paris a 10-minute shower of death with high explosive and incendiary bombs poured down at a rate of more than 100 a minute.

2. Military objectives at the Italian cities of Turin and Genoa were bombed. One British plane was reported missing.

3. Warplanes based in British Kenya and Egypt struck repeatedly at Italian troops, ships and air fields in Eritrea on the Red Sea, Libya on the Mediterranean and the Italian-conquered kingdom of Abyssinia (Ethiopia).

4. Italy's losses of the merchant marine that plies her vital trade routes rose to more than 70,000 tons as the Indian government seized the 9515-ton Calabria at Calcutta and the crew of the 9180-ton Romolo set her free in mid-Pacific when sighted by an armed Australian merchant ship.

5. Egypt, ancient guardian of the Suez canal, was reported by Reuters (British news agency) to have broken off relations with Italy and the canal was closed to Italian ships.

SPAIN IS NON-BELLIGERENT

MADRID, June 12 (AP)—Spain last night declared her non-belligerence in the European war in a reiteration of her previous decision.

Germans Hurled Back 5 Miles In Battle North Of Paris, Allied Sources Say

Berlin Reports Further Gains

Turkey Re-Affirms Its Pledge Of Mutual Assistance To Allies

By Associated Press
Supported by American-made bombers, Gen. Maxime Weygand's French polus hurled the Germans back for five miles north of Paris, a French military spokesman said today, and the Allied line was reported holding elsewhere under the onslaught of 120 Nazi divisions.

With the beleaguered French capital now declared an "open city"—technically inviolate against bombing and shelling—a French spokesman said the French have no intention of fighting in the streets of Paris itself. Battle weary Polus are holding stubbornly all along the 200-mile line, the spokesman said.

It admitted, however, the situation everywhere along the north front is "serious." The German high command was reported preparing to broadcast a "surrender or be destroyed" ultimatum against the French capital. In Berlin, a Nazi spokesman said German troops were only about eight miles from the heart of Paris while the French said the nearest German soldiers were 25 miles away.

The Nazi high command said that negotiations with the Allies were "progressing rapidly" and that columns of the main German army of two million men had captured Calais-Sur-Mer, about 25 miles south of the cathedral city of Reims. The French denied Reims had fallen.

Turkey reaffirmed her pledges of mutual military assistance to the Allies and dismissed Premier Mussolini's offer to respect her neutrality as "worthless." Egypt placed all its communication systems, air and naval bases and ports at the disposal of Great Britain and promised assistance in the war against Italy.

Premier Reynaud said the French, if necessary, would withdraw to their African possessions even their American possessions—to carry on the war against Germany.

Italy's role in the war remained practically off-stage, except for sporadic air raids and minor naval operations with no reports of the expected and (Continued on Page Eight)

Legion To Discuss Forming Home Guard

Plans for the formation of a Home Guard composed of the last war, to take the place of the National Guard in the event the Guardsmen are called into federal service will be discussed at a dinner meeting of the Campbell-Losing American Legion Post in the Legion Hut Monday night at 7:00 o'clock, Joel S. Field, commander of the post said today.

There will also be several committee reports of interest to legionnaires and addresses by several visitors during the business session which will follow the dinner. Mr. Field said in inviting a full attendance of members.

Those who plan to attend the dinner must make reservations by noon on Monday, Mr. Field said, adding that dinners will be provided only for those who make reservations in advance. Reservations made by the Style Shop, Percy Mer's Feed Store, Angeli's, George's Place, Badouze Place and Guy Staffard at the Lake Monroe bridge.

Our Flag

Tomorrow is Flag Day!
For the first time in a good many years now, Flag Day has come to mean something to the people of the United States. One has to go back almost to Armistice Day in 1918 to find a real outburst of patriotic enthusiasm.

Meanwhile we have been thinking pretty much of ourselves. We got out of the League of Nations, or finally declined to go into it at all, because we couldn't see where we were going to get anything out of it. We spent the next ten years trying to get rich quick, regardless of whether there was any real contribution to our country.

Then came the depression, in which we paid in part for our follies. But unwilling to pay in full, we devoted our attention and our energies to getting what we could out of Uncle Sam. As a nation we got the "gimmies." Every conceivable type of pressure group was organized and went to Washington with hands outstretched, palm upward.

The Flag was completely forgotten, and the things for which it stands. But during the past few weeks there has suddenly come a realization that if life is to be worth while, if the contributions of our Uncle Samuel are to continue, the Flag must continue to wave. The time has come when we must support the Flag if the country is to continue to support us.

Such intangible advantages of living under our flag as the right to vote, right of trial by jury, the right to do business on the same legal basis as your competitor, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, religious worship, have long been taken pretty much for granted. During the last few weeks we have come to realize that such things are not to be taken for granted.

And what about Social Security? What becomes of workman's compensation, minimum wage laws, collective bargaining, unemployment insurance, federal relief projects, aid to orphaned children and the sick, old age pensions and all the other measures which have been taken under our Flag for the benefit of our people if that Flag, as we have known it throughout the years, is struck?

What, indeed, becomes of the benefits of American civilization if our Flag and the things for which it stands are isolated by themselves in a world of hostile flags? With unbearable taxation for national defense, with private industry devoted to armament production, with trade cut off from the rest of the world, can the luxury of human freedom be maintained? Can the costs of Social Security be paid?

The American people are beginning to realize, now that the Flag is in danger, what it means to them.

Pitiful Vocabularies

The constant use of hell and damn in ordinary conversation or in literary efforts is seen not so much as a hardening of the character as a condition of mental stagnation. Unable to think of anything else to say, one bursts forth with hell or damn. As the New York Herald Tribune puts it, "Some may feel that with hell and damn, as with other everlasting matters, a too constant preoccupation betrays infantism—there should come a time when all the twentys, perhaps when one knows enough of hell, damn and profanity in general, both in literature and in life, and ceases to pay them disproportionate attention."

Ten years back, no longer a high-class printer hardly handled hell or damn at all, contended the New York paper. "Many writers could write whole pages without them. Twenty years ago there was still a chuckle in the anecdote of the nice old ladies who as they prepared to leave the theater after hearing 'What Price Glory?' said: 'Let's get the hell out of here.' We will just as soon as I can find my damned stinking umbrella. And Gibson girls gaily murmured 'Damn' under their breath, and father was careful that nobody should hear he had said something else when he remarked after church that this was a damp day, and stalwart college boys, singing that naughty second line of 'Hell, hell,' chivalrously changed it to 'Dassent say the bad word' but they offend the delicacy of academic maidenhood. 'Polite' even, in fact, was then a common phrase. Where are they now?

Some will maintain that quantities of hell and damn harden the character—others, that it was hard enough already. There is some reason to be sure, for holding that as people become less objecting they grow more objectionable. Congress, Chamber and Politician convince us of a certain sanitation in modern literature, but for steady output of pure (so to speak) printed profanity no period can have exceeded our own. So deformed are the current mis-lakings of names of the deity that the Nazi-Communist attack upon religion must appear gratuitous to God.

"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By RUSSELL KAY

My little black dog is a very gentle and peaceful creature. He is well behaved and extremely friendly, but with one word I can transform him from a serene and happy being into a raging, terrifying, ripping snarl.

ALL I have to do is say "BATS," in a voice of low sinister tone and he'll jump from his seat and bark a ball of fury.

Although the name "BATS" may not seem to be a particularly fitting one for a dog, it is a name that has been used for many years.

During the past few weeks I have encountered hysterical rumors and wild talk about the "BATS" incident.

Kaiser Studies War's Battlefields On Maps

By [Name]

DOORN, The Netherlands, June 12.—Surrounded by a special guard of honor of men who served once in his imperial army, former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany is following closely reports of the new German battlefields on battlefields.

The guard of old veterans was offered by a high Nazi official who visited the former Kaiser when German troops occupied Holland.

Attendants said life within the camp has been quite normal, with the former Kaiser continuing his daily walks in the garden and mapping the progress of German armies with white flag and pins with his own hand.

The Kaiser is believed to be in good health and is expected to remain in the Netherlands for some time.

Station Begins Pilot Training For Class of 40

By [Name]

DELAND, June 12.—The voice of a professor's voice lecturing on the functions of aircraft will mingle with the roar of engines Saturday morning, when the Station University division of the summer phase of the Civilian Pilot Training Program officially gets under way.

Dr. Robert I. Allen, professor of Physics at Station, will be the director of the flying school instruction, and L. A. Schmitt, manager of the Deland Municipal Airport, will be in charge of flight training.

The two courses—pilot and instructor—will be held in the Deland Municipal Airport. The flying course will be held in the morning, and the instructor course will be held in the afternoon.

The flying course will be the most highly esteemed at the opening of the summer season last Monday. Authorities credit the fact that no charge or fee has been imposed.

Over 200 men of the central Florida district had signified their desire to take the physical examination and sign up for the training today, and President W. S. Allen has applied to the Federal Department of the C. F. T. F. for an extension of the quota of thirty originally allotted to the Deland institution.

Dr. R. L. Allen will hold his first class in the ground school phase Saturday morning, while Manager Schmitt promises to have the first students in the air this weekend. W. B. Taylor of Tulsa, Oklahoma, will be flight instructor assistant; Schmitt, the latter announced.

Machiavelli, whose name now describes a type of politics, told critics that if he taught physics to be tyrants he also taught the people to destroy tyrants.

Doctor Says Negro Works Better In Heat Than Whites

NEW YORK, June 10.—(AP)—A recent study of the United States as a superior fighter in the hot interior of war tanks or submarines was described to the American Industrial Hygiene Association today.

Prof. D. B. Hill of the Harvard university fatigue laboratory, gave results of one of the most comprehensive scientific tests of the old, but sometimes forgotten, idea that the negro worked better in heat. His version—a "marked superiority" in negro capacity to stand heat.

The facts compared negro and white characters of Miami, Fla., and Harvard students in work principally at Benoit, Miss., on the plantation of the Delta and Pine Land company.

They showed that in fatiguing work, going to exhaustion, the negro sweat less salt, maintained their body fluids better and their hearts did not beat so fast. Their heart beats were the same as the whites at the start, but averaged 21 less per minute at the end of two hours.

In the early stage the negroes were physically about one-twentieth more efficient than the whites and at the finish one-tenth superior.

"White men," Professor Hill said, "are unable to withstand the rigors of hard physical labor in high temperatures, whether in war or in peace, they find their hands unheld by the black brothers."

The prospects are that hundreds of thousands of American soldiers will take their places next few months. These men will have to do hard physical work. "A large fraction of our armed troops is stationed in the tropics. A fraction must become adapted to the uncomfortable and at times very hot interiors of tanks or submarines."

This map shows passes through the mountains on the Franco-Italian border. In Berlin one source insisted Italian troops had invaded France near Nice, but confirmation of this was lacking from both French and Italian sources.

Hitler Can't Go Far In Feeding Captive Peoples

By JACK STINNEY
WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP)—While 90 per cent of America and 99 percent of those in Washington are talking war and defense, the departments of commerce and agriculture are trying to get ready to discuss, at least one of the biggest questions that arise during wartime: "What about relief?"

Before this problem can even be approached, another question must be asked and answered: How far can A. Hitler go in feeding his captive peoples?

The only answer you'll get around here is, "Not very far." In the first place, it's axiomatic that where war goes, famine follows. Industry and agriculture become paralyzed and what there is is turned into keeping the conquering armies conquering.

This war—or the total phase of it began before Belgium, Dutch and French housewives had a chance to start their vast home industry of canning. The grain was not ready to harvest. There is scant reason to believe that these peoples will fare as well as they did in the months and years following August, 1914.

And here's what happened after that fateful month. In the next ten years, approximately five and a half billion dollars was spent on world relief as a result of war. In Belgium alone, Herbert Hoover's relief committee—the most amazing charity organization—

Taft Fights Way To Front Ranking By Long Pounding

"New Deal" Attack Makes Ohioan Good Republican Choice

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—Ohio's spectacular Senator Robert A. Taft broke into the select circle of leading presidential prospects by steady hammering of New Deal "extraneous" and "forthright" stand on major issues and a "vital" drive for delegates to the Philadelphia convention, June 24.

Central political observers in Washington figure the hard-plunging Cincinnati lawyer would make a formidable—if not flashy—Republican standard-bearer.

Here's a rough appraisal by these observers of Taft's political assets and liabilities:

Pro—Reputation with Senate men, big and little, for a "sound and sensible" approach to economic problems.

Con—Attack on New Deal measures may have alienated labor unions and other groups. (This, of course, probably would apply to other G. O. P. candidates.)

Pro—Reputation in government circles for his "straight" and "forthright" stand on political issues.

Con—Lack of political connections in the Senate.

Pro—Plain, "common sense" style of speaking that appeals to sober-judgment voters.

Con—Personality lacks glamour; is no silver-tongued pleader.

Pro—A convention asset will be his cool standing with old heads of the party, plus a large bloc of delegates.

Con—If convention decides Dewey's vote-catching ability is indispensable to G. O. P. victory, Taft is out.

Some liberals in the party reportedly regard Taft as a little too conservative and fear Democrats might tag him, "Wealthy Corporation Lawyer." Backers say he is a "social-minded conservative" the right prescription for both a candidate and a president at this time.

Previous campaigns have shown him to be a weak starter, but a strong finisher. In the race for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator, his opponent was a veteran "hot" campaigner. Wiseacres gave heavy odds against Taft but he jumped every county in Ohio and won by 75,000. When he ran against Roosevelt supporters in Senator Bulkeley, political shenanigans gave him scant chance. He boldly attacked the New Deal, challenged Bulkeley to a contest and was elected by 15,000 majority.

When Taft entered the Senate in January, 1939, he had had several years of state legislative experience. A Republican, he has been a member of the Ohio state's executive revision of the state's tax system. It is said to have been a model for

Insulation Improved By Holes In Walls

LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 15.—(AP)—Small holes are a good thing in outside walls of up-to-date structures, according to results of study of insulating materials at Purdue University.

Keeping such insulation dry is one of the problems of builders. Although protected from rain, the insulating materials are subjected to wet vapors which form between walls.

The Purdue experiments show that vapor pointing over insulation does not wet it seriously unless the vapor is confined. Holes in the outside walls permit escape of the vapor and prevent undesirable wetting. Holes are recommended for outside walls of refrigerator cars for similar reasons.

Several states.

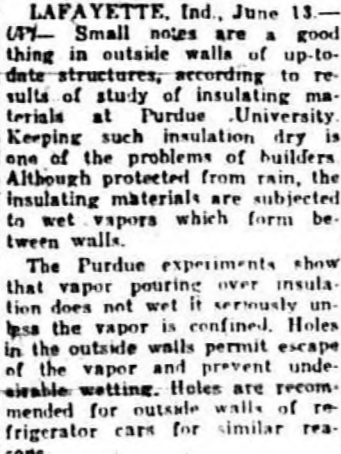

He was assigned to such important Senate committees as appropriations, banking and education and labor. He jumped into the economy battle and was credited with a leading part in defeating the President's $3,000,000,000 expenditure program last summer.

Taft had a big moment early in 1939 when he told President Roosevelt "how to balance the budget." Briefly, these are his aims: A desire to balance the budget; elimination of bureaus and reduction of employees; change in methods of handling relief, housing, agriculture and government loans; reducing subsidies; and critical analysis of

Nation's Capital Populated By Men Without A Country

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—The nation's capital rapidly is becoming a city of embassies without a country.

In embassy lane, Massachusetts avenue—marble villas after brick chimneys is pointed out to visiting firemen as the embassy of a land that is no more and in many of them live men who really are men without countries.

There are six embassies here of lands which have been absorbed by Germany or Soviet Russia.

Count Jerzy Potocki still flies over the residence of Vladimir Hurban and Mr. Hurban still comes and goes on the business of his state, but where is the state today?

Count Jerzy Potocki still is "His Excellency" when he enters a Washington drawing room and his 16th Street palace still is a strange place for Poland to be as any geography pupil could tell you.

Count Robert van der Straten-Ponthoz, who also lives on the great avenue of nations, represents a nation torn asunder—Belgium. His cabinet and council is in Paris and has not given up; his King, who appointed him, has; and the United States, which recognized his credentials, refuses to recognize the conquest of the nation that sent him here.

Mr. Henrik de Kauffmann's is a state theoretically not changed from Denmark—but the status of his country has. When the minister receives an order from Copenhagen today, how can he know whether it comes from the government that appointed him or from some Nazi overlord?

Dr. A. Loudon is another man whose daily problems must cause sleepless nights. Queen Wilhelmina, to whom by oath he owes his all, and her government, are in London; and Arthur Seyss-Inquart, the Austrian Nazi leader, is in supreme command of all army and navy estimates.

Taft probably would concentrate his campaign fire on New Deal domestic policies. He has been moderately critical of administration European policies but fought with Roosevelt for repeal of the arms embargo. He said it tended to promote, rather than prevent war.

As an example of his political courage, admirers cite his speaking out in the Senate against a flood-control project which would have provided federal funds for Ohio and his home city, Cincinnati.

Montanan's To Have Sunday On Wednesday

The Rev. Emerson W. Harris says all his services will be held on Wednesday, out of the ordinary working hours, so they won't compete with "healthful" activities in the open that many office workers find to their liking on Sunday.

He added that the experiment has been "quite successful" and increased attendance during the

FROM THE PRESS BOX

by BILL BINGHAM

NOTES
 Seminoles were confident that the fight between Sanford and Leesburg players Monday night was little more than a "good act." Maybe so, but apparently Whitley Campbell forgot that it was just a "dress rehearsal," because Ken Kanny certainly hit the ground with a decided thump. That Leesburg game topped any we have seen this year in the history of the Florida League, and apparently the crowd ate it up. Several of those strong, silent customers that can be found inhabiting what may be called the "back seat" of the proceedings, were on their feet yelling like Anasazi Indians during Sanford's big hitting spree in the seventh that tied up the game.

If the Seminoles continue to produce sparkling ball like the Yankees, they will get a team like Leesburg that will fight back, they'll draw even though they jump the rest of the league by 25 games. There wasn't a dissatisfied person in the ball park Monday night. Even the players enjoyed it. Brad Beyer, keeper around town as "The Old Gator Scrub," tagged Ralph "Rat" Hyder the most colorful ball player in the league at a recent Rotary Club meeting with the Sanford team in attendance. "Rat" has a very good "brain," "Rat" suggested "Rat" to stand up and tell how it felt to drive the "opposite" team crazy on the bases. And that during his "basin" days of the "baseball" world that "Rat" said up, but he just "wasn't talking." Red Roberts said, "I don't feel so good" when asked how it felt to be suspended and "Rat" roared echoed those sentiments.

Bernard Kahn, sports editor of the Daytona Beach Sun Record, was kind enough to quote part of my column on "clerk man" the other day, although he allowed he didn't believe "99% of the things I hear." Sort of a skeptic, eh Borne? Note in George Beyer, sports editor of the Daytona Beach Sun Record, who says "I don't see how Joe Justice didn't want to sign with Washington and that they'd put him on their farm team, Orlando. Enough to make any player shy clear and think twice."

We believe that Sanford has taken a definite step in the right direction by the organization of a booster's club among local sports organizations. Sanford has always been considered one of the best baseball towns in the state and it is a pity to lose that reputation, especially while one of the city's best and most dependable teams is performing in our backyard.

Sanford, with the fastest outfield in the country, a crackling infield, and a brilliant worked staff, is judged the only team in the Florida League that is the best in the league.

If you are ever out at the ball park and don't know what time it is, you might ask Babe Adams. He says his watch never goes him much, in fact it was the cheapest watch he ever got but it runs like a clock.

Premier Reynaud Is Given Almost Dictatorial Power

Frenchman Becomes a One-Man Cabinet During War Crisis

By WILLIAM McGAFFIN
 PARIS, June 12.—Dapper little Paul Reynaud—a sharp-eyed man from the mountains—sits in his chair in Paris wielding more legal power than any Frenchman since Napoleon III.

France picked Reynaud at the very hour to stop Hitler's chaotically blundering. Like Britain's Churchill, he'd been sharpshooter through the years.

France found the little fellow was right. France made Reynaud premier—and more. He's almost a one-man cabinet—premier, minister of war and national defense, and foreign minister.

France got action. In came General Weygand and Petain, who believed in beating the enemy to the draw. Out went General Gamelin and others who believed in waiting behind strong defenses. Out, too, a little later, went Daldier, who had been foreign minister after Reynaud succeeded him as premier.

Reynaud's wartime job fits him like his well-tailored clothes and his bowler. He is a military strat-

Paris Line Is Holding, Allied Sources Claim

Paris Line Is Holding, Allied Sources Claim

PARIS, June 12.—(AP)—The defenders of Paris last night battled the enemy barely 10 miles from the city's northern suburbs after tank assaults carried the Germans across the Marne and drove the French from the World War stilted Chateau Thierry and Reims.

Still determined in a last ditch stand, the French fought stubbornly against the lightning German encirclement while the last civilian evacuations of Paris were rushed under a pall of oily smoke which shrouded the barricaded city.

Last night's French war communique, issued at the new government headquarters in the Loire valley to the south and transmitted to Paris, said German forces striking down the Lower Oise river north of Paris had made contact with the French defenders in the region of Beaumont, the latter only 10 or 11 miles north of the Paris suburb of Montmorency and only slightly further away from the industrial suburb of Saint Denis.

The communique indicated German had stormed across the Marne, directly east of Paris, directly south of Chateau Thierry in the same sector where doughboys of the second and third divisions of the American Expeditionary force turned the German tide back from Paris in May, 1918.

The Marne was crossed by the Germans when they threw masses of troops against the French around Chateau Thierry, it was said.

The French abandoned Reims and fell back into the rugged hills to the south when they were unable to stand the blow of an entire German mechanized corps of three to four armored divisions and two or three motorized divisions, it was said.

Into this assault on Reims, a beautiful cathedral city leveled by bombardment in the World War but rebuilt in splendor with American money, Germans were

'Little Belgian Girl' Of 17 Asks U. S. Help Again

NEW YORK, June 12.—(AP)—In 1917, 1,540 people gathered at a dinner in Philadelphia to hear Secretary of War Baker.

As the last minute, Baker couldn't appear. Someone glanced at the gallery.

A young Belgian girl in native costume, who was in the gallery, was drafted as a substitute.

She was 17 and never had made a speech, but she held the audience in awe and a half with her first-hand descriptions of the horrors of war. During the next two years, she spoke as 'the little Belgian girl' throughout the United States and Canada. She was decorated four times by Belgium.

Now that girl—a middle-aged woman—again is pleading for Belgian relief.

She is Suzanne Silvercruys—author, musician, sculptor, playwright, actress, social worker, international society leader. She is the daughter of the late Baron Frank Silvercruys, a president of the American Red Cross.

columns and stem the encirclement of Paris. French light and heavy bomber squadrons throughout the day ranged behind the Nazi lines, attacking troop movements and convoys.

Intensive Aviation Brings Out New Field

SACRAMENTO, Calif., June 12.—(AP)—Intensive aviation has brought a specialized field of medicine—that of the flight surgeon.

"We have to be practically pilots as well as physicians," says Col. Robert C. Murphy of the army air depot here. He explains that the examining doctor must understand the reactions of his patients to flight tests as well as the handling of machine guns, bomb releases, etc.

Periodic examination of pilots is not only good for the men but is good business in protection of the government's heavy investment in planes, he says.

When Sgt. Tom Whitmore, serving in Palestine, wrote to the city clerk in Norfolk, England, that he had never been kissed by any other girl but his sister, the clerk published it, and 400 girls wrote that they wanted to marry Tom.

The Supreme Court of Belgium; a sister of and official hostess for the present Baron Silvercruys, Belgian minister to Canada.

"We have gone through this before," she said, "and we can do it again."

She spoke as a determined Belgian, although she became a naturalized American years ago.

type of war. He's a financial expert and, thus, holds the confidence of France's big business.

He waited twenty years to be premier. Like Churchill, he was unpopular. One commentator said, "Reynaud's fate is to foresee too late."

When Hitler began building for war, Reynaud called on France to strengthen the military forces. He urged, in his book, that France prepare with fleets of planes, tanks and armored cars operating in mass formation.

When the English pound dropped in 1931 Reynaud wanted to devalue the franc, too. He stuck to his guns for five years. Those who had laughed came around to voting for his point of view.

"It is good that it is finally done," said he, "but it comes too late."

French finances went into a desperate decline that stopped only when Reynaud agreed to DeLadler's cabinet.

Reynaud, at the start of 1930, launched a three-year plan, so severe it would have cost the head of an ordinary finance minister, in general, he put the government on a "business basis." Gold would be flowing back to France. Production increased. Unemployment decreased.

War, eight months later, interrupted the program, but those eight months of effort sent

France into the war indefinitely longer.

Then France started spending three times as much as in peace time. Reynaud's job was to find the money. He did.

He boosted taxes still higher, demanded that those who had money to spare invest it in government war loans. He stifled squawks by laying his cards on the table, explaining the situation in plain talk.

France's great colonial administrator, the late Marshall Lyautey, was impressed by Reynaud's "clear-headed mountain thinking," when Reynaud was colonial minister.

Reynaud was born sixty-one years ago in the Alpine foothills about Barcelonnette.

Politically he is a sort of Senator Norris. He is a right-halter but has never held himself to party ties.

He loves fast debate, fast driving, fast fencing. He took fencing lessons daily for years.

He lives on the same fashionable street as President Lebrun and Daldier—with his wife and daughter.

Reynaud is a lawyer by profession. Finance and politics, however, have occupied most of his adult life. Always ambitious, he never reflected it so clearly as when he decided to stay on as premier after scraping through a confidence vote with a one-vote majority.
