Guns, Ammo For 8,000 Disappeared From Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Pentagon study says enough weapons, ammunitions and explosives disappeared from U. S. military bases around the world between 1971 and 1974 to outfit approximately 8,000 men.

The report also raised the possibility that the outlawed Provisional wing of the Irish Reoublican Army and other terrorist groups may have received some of the stolen

The report, conducted by the Army Physical Security Review Board and released Monday by Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wisc., said approximately 6,800 weapons and 1.2 million rounds of small arms ammunition or explosives were lost. "These losses would equip approximately 30 combat battalions with a basic load of small arms and munitions," according to the report, which was turned over to then Army Secretary Howard H. Socialists Choose Nominee

MILWAUKEE (AP) - The Socialist Party USA has chosen former Milwaukee Mayor Frank P. Zeidler as its 1976 presidential nominee under a banner inherited from Eugene Debs and Norman Thomas.

The party, which nominated Zeidler during its national convention Monday, calls itself the legitimate heir of the Socialist party, which has not fielded a White House Zeidler, 62, is chairman of the party which he helped reorganize a few years ago. Delegates nominated Quinn Brisben, 41, a Chicago teacher, as his vice presidential running mate.

U.S. Stimulation Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States and other major world economic powers must do more to stimulate their economies and help bring the world out of recession. says a top official of the International Monetary Fund. Johannes Witteveen, director of the 127-member IMF, told its annual meeting Monday the present rate of economic recovery in the world may be too slow and may leave most of the world mired in recession.

He said although individual countries may feel they are doing enough, they must look at the problem in a "global context" and take into account the economic difficulties of smaller nations that depend on the big powers.

Recession, Illness Linked

CHICAGO (AP) - More mental illness, more physical illness and more crime grow out of economic recession. says a group of social scientists.

And they said the cost of these consequences is greater than would be the cost of programs to create jobs. Government officials look only at the direct economic impact of unemployment, they told the annual convention of the American Psychological Association on Labor Day.

They said that not only do thefts, robberies and burglaries rise, but so do the rates of suicide, murder of infants, admission to mental hospitals and illness and death from heart and other diseases.

Arab Pockets Bribe

WASHINGTON (AP) - A prominent Arab financier contends he prevented the Northrop Corp., a major U.S. military contractor, from bribing Saudi Arabia's air force chief by keeping the money for himself, The Washington

"I stopped a bribe. I put it in my pocket," Adnan Khashoggi was quoted as saying in a Beirut interview published in the Post's Tuesday editions. Northrop last June gave Senate investigators documents that accused Khashoggi of demanding a $250,000 payoff for Gen. Hashim M. Hashim, now retired.

Airline Strike Continues

MIAMI (AP) - Negotiations between National Airlines and the carrier's striking flight attendants have resumed in Washington, but there was no indication that an end to the walkout was near.

The 1,200-member Association of Flight Attendants struck National early Monday after talks aimed at ending a 19-month negotiation deadlock broke down temporarily. The flight attendants are seeking improvements in a wide range of areas, including salary, fringe benefits and Home Construction: Dream Fading?

The Commerce Department's report of a 13.7 per cent jump in housing starts in July is another item of good news from the economic front. A quickening pace in the construction industry would help confirm that the recession is behind us. RAY CROMLEY However, from the standpoint of the American family shopping for a new house, the surge in home building may have little significance.

Most of the new houses being built this year will go on the market at a price within reach of a shrinking number of Americans. With the median income in the United States of America at about $13,000 a year, the old rule of thumb that a family can afford a house worth two and a half times annual income puts the limit of a prudent housing investment at barely more than $30,000 for families in the median bracket. New houses in that price range are becoming relatively rare to its tricks again. It has before it a bill, S.5.

That means the dream of owning a home is going up in the smoke of inflation for a great many called a "sunshine" law which purports to wage-earners. Must the dream be abandoned? We generally open meetings of Senate and House hope not, but we can also hope that the federal and state governments do not lose sight of where the problem lies in their efforts to keep the dream alive as a public policy.

Owning a home is supposed to encourage responsible citizenship, which lends some justification to federal programs to encourage home-buying over and above the obvious economic convince voters the sponsors are interested in benefits to individuals and the construction in- the public's right to know. But the teeth have dustry. There are limits, however, on how far the been filed down to the gums. government can go in stimulating home con- The bill starts out, section by section, in a struction before it drifts into irresponsibility both in terms of its own budgets and the budgets of the people it wants to help.

In the last year and a half the federal government has put $13.5 billion into subsidizing home loans at interest rates below prevailing market levels. The long-standing tax provision allowing homeowners to deduct mortgage interest payments from their income tax liability can be interpreted as a $12 billion a year "subsidy." Also, the $2,000 tax credit allowed to purchasers of new homes this year and next is adding $600 million a year to the federal deficit.

Subsidized interest rates may make a house investment more attractive to some Americans but prices. Construction costs have jumped 71 per cent in the last decade. Property taxes have risen 63.5 per cent, insurance 37.9 per cent and maintenance and repairs 92.1 per cent. These are realities that the propective home-buyer still must face.

The housing industry has been under pressure to find new ways of designing, building and marketing houses to cut their costs. The more the government subsidizes present costs of buying a home, the less that pressure will be felt. The more government goes into debt to provide those subsidies, the more that inflation will gnaw at our economy as a whole. The recent spurt in housing starts takes its place among favorable economic indicators, but when it comes to getting homes on the market at a price the average American can afford to pay, we still have a long way to travel.

Happily, the Florida Highway Patrol was wrong. FHP had estimated that 27 persons would be killed on Florida roads and highways over the 78hour official Labor Day weekend. The death toll, troopers said today, fell far short of that. Still. 11 persons were killed in auto accidents in the state during the period. And for the families and friends of those 11, Labor Day weekend, 1975, was unhappy

But for the most part, the comparatively low death toll seems to indicate that Floridians have taken to heart the "Arrive Alive" slogan that appears on so many front car bumpers these days. Then too, perhaps state motorists took to heart

FHP warnings that careless, reckless and drunken drivers would be targets of intensive efforts by troopers to make this Labor Day weekend the safest vet in Florida.

While we're on the subject of safety, motorists going to work this morning undoubtedly noticed those big, bright yellow buses filled with slightly groggy youngsters headed for school. Yes, today was the first day of the 1975-76 school year and that's another good reason for drivers to continue to be alert. Children, especially small ones who may be riding the school bus for the first time, don't always exercise the amount of caution they should and that means drivers must be extra careful in the mornings and the afternoons when the kids are being transported to and from school. And remember, many children walk to school, Let's help get them all there and back safely.

School days also mean football days - and football nights. Football nights get going this week too, with jamborees on Thursday and Friday involving area high school squads.

Lyman High plays Orlando Boone at 9:30 p.m. Thursday and Orlando Colonial at 10. That jamboree is at Evans High School's field in Pine Hills, just outside of Orlando.

Seminole and Lake Brantley go into action Friday at Walker Field in Winter Garden. The Tribe meets West Orange - a squad made up of Ocoee and Lakeview combined - at 7:30 p.m. Lake Brantley goes up against Groveland at 8, and in a preview of a later Seminole County battle, Lake Brantley and Seminole tangle at 8:30. Jamborees involve four teams, with each school playing a quarter against two other schools.

Football fans who have never seen a jamboree might check out either one or both of these. While one 12-minute period doesn't make a football game, these jamborees are still interesting, especially for the fan who wants to get a sneak preview of his or her favorite team.

After Southern 500 Victory DARLINGTON, S. C. (AP) - Bobby Allison, the heavyfooted Matador driver from Hueytown, Ala., became the fourth person in history Monday to win the Southern 500 stock car race three times.

Allison joined the elite company of Cale Yarborough, and retired drivers Buck Baker and Herb Thomas in conquering the 26th annual event, which is the oldest and toughest on the Grand National circuit. Allison held off a last-minute charge by Richard Petty, who was suffering from a bad head cold and had lost two

"It's like giving the title to Chris.

That Connors won, too, which he did. That Ashe and Laver didn't, which is the way it went. But Wendy Overton, Miss Evert's 81st straight victim on clay by 6-0, 6-1 scores, said it best:

"I go out there and have fun you gotta love it. But Chris is just so steady, mentally tough on clay, that's all." Defending champion Jimmy Connors had fun, though in his match with Harold Solomon that began when Connors was 22 and ended when he was 23. Iverson Didn't Peek, Won ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) - It was cool and damp, but Don Iverson was sweating. He stood at the 18th green Monday, his first Professional Golfers Association victory within reach. Australian David Graham missed his 20-foot birdie putt and Jim Colbert, who hit his second shot into the rough right of the green, settled for a par.

Iverson, 29, of LaCrosse, Wis., had won. He toured the 6,815-yard, par-71 En-Joie Golf Club course in 68 for a 10-under par 274.
