WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon has downgraded the energy crisis to a "serious problem" and predicted shorter gasoline lines for Americans by spring and an end to the Arab oil embargo.

While citing improved odds against gasoline rationing, Nixon pledged to veto the emergency energy bill now before Congress if it comes to him containing the proposed oilprice rollback. Such a measure would increase the fuel shortage and require "rationing all over the country," Nixon declared in his nationally broadcast news conference Monday night.

He also said the administration would bring nflation under control by increasing food and uel supplies, rather than controlling prices, and again vowed to keep the economy from sinking into recession this year.

Nixon referred to the fuel shortage not as a crisis, but as a problem.

"Looking to the future, I believe we can say now that while the crisis has been passed, the problem remains," he said. "It is a serious problem, but it is one that can be dealt with ... The President gave no date when he thought the embargo would be lifted, but he said he believes it is in the best interests of the Arab nations to begin U.S. oil shipments again.

He said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's Middle East trip to get a troop disengagement on the Syrian front will have a positive effect in getting the embargo lifted. "By the same token, if the embargo is not ifted, it will naturally slow down the efforts that we are making on the peace front," Nixon said

Simon's Slip Spotted

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - Sen. Lori Wilson, I-Merritt Island, said after watching federal energy chief William Simon on television today "it's no wonder that our gas situation is all screwed up."

A verbal slip by Simon did not escape Sen.

"Any gas or energy expert with the responsiblity of regulating our oil supply ought to know the difference between a manifold and a ship's manifest," Sen. Wilson

In a news conference broadcast in part by television networks last night and this morning. Simon said customs inspectors knew how much oil was entering the United States by inspecting ships' "manifolds."

"Perhaps that is why our formulas for allocations are all messed up - Simon's men have been counting the ship's exhaust pipes instead of their barrels of oil," Sen Wilson

COPLEY NEWS

A few months ago two diplomats from the Chinese Embassy here slipped quietly through a side door at European Common Market headquarters for an off-the-record chat with top officials of the Market's executive commission. Since then there have been several such informal discussions in what is regarded here as the run-up to a major initiative by Peking toward the nine-nation European Economic Community.

The initiative is expected to be formal Chinese diplomatic recognition of the EEC. If and when it comes, the move will bring China into the group of nearly 100 nations that have already sent full-scale diplomatic missions here to handle their relations with the EEC's administrative body, the executive commission

Depending on the time of the Chinese initiative, it could leave only the Soviet Union and its East European satellites as major countries that have not extended diplomatic recognition to the European Community. But the Russians, like the Chinese, have been getting warmer toward the EEC lately and it is conceivable that they could even beat Peking in establishing normal relations with the Community. At any rate Moscow has dropped its long-standing policy of open hostility toward the Community and has now even called for trade negotiations between the Common Market and Comecon, the East European trade group which it heads.

Indeed the growing interest of the two Communist giants in the Common Market seems partly attributable to their continuing rivalry with each other. Market officials believe that both Moscow and Peking would look on recognition of the European Community as a means to exercise at least a modicum of influence over its policies.

In Politics And Football

While politics and the profession that it serves do have elements of organized sports there is, unfortunately, also one major difference. In politics both sides can lose and the harder they play the greater the loss can be. That, it appears is what is happening in the Watergate game that has lended to establish Congress on one side of the field and the Administration on the other. This is what we glean from a recent Harris poll which indicates that only 21 per cent of the American people believe that Congress is doing an overall good job. Mr. Harris notes that his sampling shows that 30 per cent of the Americans also believe that President Nixon is doing well. Such a competitive comparison, however, begs the question. Nobody who wants the best for his country and its institutions can take much comfort from the knowledge that fewer than one fourth of all Americans respect their legislators and fewer than one third declare their support of the President.

The taproot of our government is confidence of the people in the representatives they send to Washington. Moreover. cynicism toward Washington is erosive. It spreads toward state capitols, city halls and all American institutions and professions. Thus it is of the gravest concern that 79 per cent

In a pessimistic forecast the other day, the President's Council of Economic Advisors estimated that prices will advance at a rate of 7 per cent over the coming year, surpassing the rate of 1973 which was bad enough to make 1974 the worst inflationary year since World War II. The council also estimated that the Gross National Product will expand by some 8 per cent to nearly $1.4 trillion. Only about 1 per cent of that will represent real growth, however; the rest will be due to inflation. Even 7 per cent would not be a disastrous rate but somehow we have contrived to poise ourselves on the verge of a recession as well. A recession - or better yet, an outright depression - is the best-known cure to inflation. Unfortunately, it is a cure worse than the disease itself. At least we no longer tolerate it

If we knew what caused inflation then we could do some-thing about it. Oh, we think we know some of the things that aggravate the condition, like too much deficit spending by overnment. But the opposite of this - higher taxes to draw the excess from the money supply to cool a feverish economy - doesn't always work. Or it can cool the economy too much. and then we begin wishing we had some more inflation. For the ordinary person, anyway, it makes little difference whether his paycheck is being eaten up by higher prices or by higher taxes. Even this dubious remedy is not advisable today because of the threat of recession. The administration is determined to head off a recession at all costs and is prepared to spend whatever it takes to do it. Thus in 1974 we may find ourselves with the worst of both possible worlds. What is needed is an economic Dr. Jenner with some kind

Judiciary Seeks To Obstruct Probe (Copyright, 1974, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON-Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee are trying quietly to obstruct the inquiry into the mpeachment of President Nixon.

They have put on a public show of complaining that the Democrats are dragging out the inquiry. Individual Republicans have issued angry statements, calling for the Democrats to impeach the President or get off his back. But sources privy to the backroom maneuvering report that secret instructions have been given to the deputy GOP counsel, 32-year-old Sam Garrison, to impede the impeachment roceedings.

Young Garrison, a former Spiro Agnew aide, is a tough, partisan conservative. On paper, he is supposed to play second fiddle to minority counsel Albert Jenner, a distinguished Chicago attorney. But our sources say that Jenner is a figurehead and that many of the GOP members deal directly with Garrison. Garrison has told close associates that he was hired specifically to obstruct the investigation. These were the instructions, he confided, of the committee's senior Republican. Rep. Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich.

As Garrison recounted it, he was supposed to give the impression of cooperation but, at the same time, he was expected to impede the inquiry. Hutchinson had also directed him, said Garrison, to react negatively to all Democratic proposals and never to initiate any action of his own. Hutchinson vehemently denied ever having issued any such instructions, declaring that "not one bit of it is true." Garrison, citing committee policy, refused to speak with us. Nonetheless, our sources insist Garrison not only has told other Republican staff members of his orders to sabotage the impeachment probe but has already begun to carry out the instructions.

Last week, for example, he put up a backstage battle against the committee's long-awaited "Legal Memorandum" on impeachable offenses. Loudly and forcefully, he objected to several parts of the brief.

As a result of the shouting and his ultimatum that the Republicans simply would not go along with the proposed draft, special counsel John Doar reluctantly watered down certain elements of the staff memo.

By the time he had finished altering the report to placate Garrison, the deadline had passed for printing the document in time for the scheduled meeting. This caused a 24-hour delay. In short, Garrison and his gang were able, at the last minute to force key partisan concessions win what was supposed to have been an "objective and professional" legal document.

Jenner, who is supposed to head the GOP staff, has advocated a broad interpretation of impeachment and generally supported the positions expounded by Doar. But it was Garrison, supported y the senior Republican committee members, who prevailed.

FOOTNOTE: At a recent staff meeting, committee attorney lichard Cates confeased to Doar that he had mista a telephone call to my associate Bob Owens, believing Owens was a friend of Doar's.

Sternly, Doar demanded whether other staff members had been contacted by us and hands were raised throughout the room. Doar growled his displeasure that he hadn't been informed about the calls earlier. He ordered the staff to report to him immediately any calls from Owens or any other reporter. Following his own policy, Doar politely declined to comment on our story. "I just don't talk to anybody," he said.

Senate Reviews Suspensions

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - The suspension of a former Escambia County sheriff on charges of sexual and other misconduct more than three years ago was to be reviewed today by the Florida Senate. The Senate scheduled a special session to take up the case of William E. Davis of Pensacola, as well as three public officials suspended by Gov. Reubin Askew.

Chief Justice Nominees

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - The 26 applications for appointment to the Florida Supreme Court will be reduced to three names soon for recommendation to Gov. Reubin Askew, says the chairman of the Judicial Nominating Commission. Dixie Beggs of Pensacola said the nine-member panel would have it's recommendations to Askew in about two weeks, long before the March 30 deadline. Askew must select one of the three recommended to take the court seat of Chief Justice Vassar Carlton, who is retiring Thursday to return to private practice.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - Mexican fishermen have been bringing king mackeral into the state and having them repacked as Florida fish, the Florida Fishermen's produces." Shields said he had assigned a marine patrol officer to investigate, but he doubts that the king mackeral market would be damaged because the demand already exceeds supply.

Big Cypress Hearings Set

Dear Abby Their Christmas Gift? Message From Daughter By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN C 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: On Dec. 10th, 1973, you published a notice in your column advising runaway kids anywhere in the U.S.A. that they could direct dial a number FREE OF CHARGE and request that their parents be called and told that they were alive and well. It was understood that there would be no lecturing or counseling, and their calls would NOT be traced. And if the parents wanted to leave a message, the runaway could call back in a day or two to get it. The program is called "OPERATION PEACE OF MIND," and its purpose is to re-establish communication between runaways and their parents.

Abby, you gave us the most wonderful Christmas present we've ever had. Our 17-year-old daughter had run away from home two years ago. We received a call Christmas Day telling us she had called in and wanted us to know that she was well and working her way thru college! Her father and I cried most of that night. We left the message that we still loved her and wanted to help her any way we could. When she got our message she wrote us a letter saying she would come home after she finished her school semester!

Please, please, publicize that toll-free number again. It should be posted wherever runaways gather. God love you! CAN'T THANK YOU ENOUGH

DEAR CAN'T: Don't thank me. Thank those wonderful olunteers in Houston, who man those phones 24 hours a

I'll repeat the message: If you are a runaway OUT-SIDE THE STATE OF TEXAS who wants to give your parents a message, direct dial 1-800-231-6946. If you're IN the state of Texas, direct dial 1-800-392-3352. If you're IN Houston, dial 524-3821.

The only question that will be asked of you is. "Do you need any help-medical or otherwise?" If so, you'll be told where it is available FREE wherever you are. Please, forget the past and let your parents know that you are alive. They'll sleep better tonight-and so will you. God bless you!

DEAR ABBY: I hope it's not too late to add another gem to your collection of far-out Christmas card messages: "Joe and I hope you have a very nice Christmas and a wonderful New Year. We will never forget all the good times we had together. Please understand, tho, that we intend to continue with our lawsuit against you. Love, MARY'

DEAR ABBY: Recently a massage parlor opened up in our town. It's strictly for men, but they get worked over by women-mostly young and pretty, or so I'm told.

Now, why should we women sit home steaming, and wondering what we can do to combat this sort of thing? I wonder why some brilliant woman doesn't open up hassage parlors for women only, and have young, good

I may not be able to give you any hints on how to play golf but maybe my few years of experience can help you learn how to watch golf. The importance of learning such a trade is evident due to the Citrus Open at Rio Pinar this week.

The first thing you must do is resign yourself to fact that it's not like watching a tourney on TV because there is no way you can see all the action. Then you must decide whether you want to follow someone around the course and view the course or whether to sit at one hole and view all the players. Or you can always do like I do and catch both.

I found that I can enjoy the both worlds by picking one of the first two or three groups and follow them all 18 holes. Last year I was a member of "Ploppers Plodders" following Rio pro Neil Plopper on Saturday and Sunday. The first nine holes its a little crowed but on the back you can develop a kind of rapport with a Remembering back I recall exchanging words with Bob Murphy last year and Bruce Devlin the year before. After the group, usually a twosome or threesome, completes 18 holes I park myself in the bleachers on 18 and wait about an hour for the next group to hit the 18th.

Another good suggestion is to find a front row seat on one of the first few holes, I always enjoyed number three, let all the players go through and after the last one make a mad dash for one of the last holes, 17 is always good and watch the better ones play through.

One thing I never have liked is following a name player. It is just one big hassle. You never get to see any of his shots and those you do see you are probably so far away its not worth watching anyway. Of course there are always throngs of people who follow the leader, just like cattle being led to slaughter. Last year Bud Allin had a gallery to rival Arnie's Army (well, maybe not that

Remember though to plan on getting to Rio early and staying late. There is always something going on. Daytona 500 take a back seat the Citrus is here.

Law Of Gravity-Rogers' Style

One set of rules not in play at Rio is "Rogers' Rules of Tournament Play." Here is number seven: "A ball putted that rims the cup and stays out shall be deemed to have dropped, since the occurance shall be held contrary to the laws of gravitation which supercede the rules of golf. The same rule shall be in force for balls that pass over the hole and stay out, since it is a well known fact that any object attempting to maintain its position in the atmosphere without something to support it, MUST DROP.

The first hole-in-one (not counting Al Kelley's hole-in-one-inthree) of 1974 has come out the county's toughest course - Sheoah. On the par three eighth hole Lu Kennedy hit a pitching wedge 103 yards into the cup for an ace.

Sheoah Golf News

As Mickey Bessingnano always say's "Sheoah the way gold was meant to be", is going to be open to a lot more people as the course will be open up to membership giving the course a semiprivate staus. So you don't have to own a condominium to get a nembership

In the Sheoah Women's Tournament Dot Perry was the low gross winner with an 81. On the low net side Billie Seger won the event with a 68 followed by "Lucky" Lu Kennedy with a 73. Third was a deadlock between Marilynne Bennett and Pearl Pairque with 74s, and finishing with 75s were Shirley Cazessus and Freda McPherson.

Closest to ther pin on 16 was Jenny Checko and the longest drive on ten was had by Shirley Geager.

Mayfair Happenings

Mayfair held their four ball-nest ball tournament on Sunday and the foursome of Ralph Simas, Martha Henry, Fletcher Cockrell, and Betty Daniel came away with low gross honors with

In the low net division, Wayne Lennox, Betty Stokes, Lee and Ann Moore were the winners with a 56. Second low net was Virgina and Bob Simpson and Francis and Bob Goodman with a 60. The first low gross was George Billips and first low net was Bill Baker finishing with a 68. Closest to the pin on five was Betty Daniel and Fletcher Cockrell was back to his usual golf wizardry taking the closest to the pin award, this time on number ten.

In the more unusual divisions Bob Goodman had the shortest drive on the first hole and Al Goose, Bea Hunt, and Lee Moore all tied for the dubious honor of taking the most number of strokes on eight. As a team it was Lennox, Stokes, Moore and Moore winning the most number of strokes on 12. By the way this was part of the Goofy Golf Tournament.

Rolling Hills Events

At Rolling Hills it was a good week for the Brunk boys as they both collected best evers. Richie Brunk had a 50-45 - 95 while Doc Brunk had a 39-42 - 81. Speaking of good rounds Lou Essex put together a 67 and 70 on consecutive days. Lou is one of the top linksters in the state. He collected an eagle on ten with a driver-7 iron and putt to add to his excellent performance.

On number 15 Barbara Burgois picked up an eagle with a driver and 5 wood for a two. Makes me think maybe I should have a 5 wood in my bag. Winners of the mixed four ball best ball event was M.F.

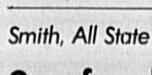

Kershner and Christine Kershner teamed with Ron and Mary Brandt with a low net 55. Second low net with a 56 was Pete and Doris Bontmer and Bob and Chris Hughes. Low gross winner was J and H Desmarais and Julie and Lou Essex.

Seminole Shots

Over at Seminole in the Throwout Tournament Jack Cohen was on top with a 52 followed by Wayne Burdick's 53. Both Bob Brown and Jack Bocco had 54s. On Wednesday Bob Engel pulled an amazing feat by finishing nine holes with only nine putts. The most unusual event was when host pro Mickey O'Brien played ine holes in 19 minutes and 58 seconds using only a six iron. His score was a 42. Finally Dave Hiley drove the Sixth green and made the putt for an eagle.

Valley Forge Winter News

At Valley Forge John Collins had the low round of the week with a 55 which included an eagle on 15 chipping the ball in from 125 yards out. Jack Jackson has been blaving only three years and came up with a best ever of 68, congratulations. Lori Clark had Collins had a best ever of 82.

Orange Bowl Boss Retires

MIAMI (AP) - Earnest E. Seiler, the only boss the 40year-old Orange Bowl Committee has ever had, has announced his retirement.

Seiler, 73, will stay on the job until July 1 to break in Daniel McNamara as his successor. McNamara has been coordinator of events for the committee for 21 years. Seiler guided the Orange Bowl concept from a football game between Bucknell College and the University of Miami before 5,134 fans on Jan. 1, 1935 to one of the nation's most prestigious bowl games.

The game, with lavish halftime shows, now annually draws 80,000 spectators and a national television audience of 55 million viewers. The Orange Bowl festival of events runs two weeks.

Seiler will be retained as a consultant and advisor to the

Andrews Plans Finley Suit

BOSTON (AP) - The Herald American says that veteran infielder Mike Andrews plans to sue Oakland owner Charlie Finley for $1 million and the A's team physician, Dr. Charles Hudson, for half that amount for damaging Andrews' ability to earn a livelihood.

The story was reported by baseball writer Bill Liston from the Boston Red Sox' training camp on a "learned exclusively basis" in Tuesday's editions. Andrews, who lives in West Peabody, Mass., could not be reached for comment. Andrews 30, who helped the Red Sox to the American League pennant as a rookie in 1967, committed two errors as a substitute second baseman for the Athletics in an extra-inning loss to the New York Mets in the second game of the World Series last fall.

NFL Owners Decide On Five Possible Sites

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) - National Football League owners, with the 1975 Super Bowl site decided and the list of possible expansion cities cut to five, were to take a hard look today at upcoming negotiations with the Players Association.

The 26 owners opened their winter meeting Monday by reaffirming New Orleans as the site for Super Bowl IX, either in the Louisiana Superdome under construction or at Tulane Stadium. The also cut the 24-city list of possible expansion cities to Honolulu, Memphis, Phoenix, Seattle and Tampa.

In April, the owners will meet again in New York to decide whether to expand in 1975 and if so, how many franchises to let in. If a decision is made to expand only two cities are expected to get the nod. The NFL's management council, headed by John Thompson, was to brief owners today on preparations for a March 16 meeting with players representatives on a contract to replace the expired four-year pact. The results of an NFL study of artificial playing surfaces, expected to be one of the main issues in the negotiations, were also to be presented. Players have asked for a ban against future installation of such turfs on the basis that they cause injuries. Other key issues with the players are expected to inrolve pay for preseason games, freedom to play out opions and change teams without penalties on teams hiring them, insurance, the pension plan and Commissioner Pete Rozelle's authority on discliplinary matters. The players have threatened to strike if their demands aren't met.

Rozelle said the owners decided not to switch the site of the Jan. 12, 1975 Super Bowl from New Orleans because "we feel optimistic about it (Superdome) being ready." The facility, planned at a cost of $29 million in 1967, is 75 per cent complete with the cost now listed at $163 million. The stadium is now scheduled to be completed by Dec. 1, but national labor negotiations could delay completion "They told us unless it's ready to go, they don't want to have it there. They don't want bad publicity when their playpen gets its debut," said Rozelle, adding that Tulane Stadium, if needed, was a satisfactory host for the 1970 and 1972 Super Bowls.

"We don't want to lay an egg on such a prestigious thing as the Super Bowl," said Superdome spokesman Ben Levy, adding that officials hoped to eliminate any stadium bugs by hosting the Dec. 31, 1974 Suger Bowl college football game.

Daniel M. Rooney, vice president of the Pittsburgh Steelers and head of the NFL's expansion committee, said he would ask the five remaining cities for detailed information on matters such as stadium availability before the April meeting.

"If we do it (decide to expand) any time this spring, it's not too late for 1975," said Rooney, "We haven't taken the World Football League in consideration - we're considering expansion only on what it will do for the NFL."

Rooney said all five cities left in the running appeared ready to immediately meet expansion requirements, although a 55,000 seat stadium for Honolulu is still under construction and Tampa's 46,000-seat facility would have to be enlarged.

He said his committee didn't attempt to rate the five cities for the owners Monday.

"Obviously, the energy crisis is something that would have to be weighed when you talk about Hawaii," said Rozelle. But he added that 20 of the 26 owners have to approve expansion and it was premature to say expansion would come this year.

Rozelle said he would like to see the NFL with 32 teams, but that he would prefer gradual expansion. "My personal view is it would be extremely difficult to add four teams at one time - to effectively stock a franchise in that manner," he said.
