

LAKE WALES—A replica of Ft. Clinch, a fort constructed near Frostproof between 1820 and 1850 by and Florida settlers in deterring themselves from Indians, is being constructed on the grounds of the Great Macintosh here. It was announced today that students at Florida Southern College are donating their time to building the fort which will be an exact reproduction of the Frostproof structure, it was said, and the building will be dedicated to the college. The fort was one of 167 wooden structures built under the labor administration at the time, although none of them remain in existence today. Now under construction, the fort will be composed of a stockade 80 feet square, with two block houses and two control towers located at the corners. Plans for the building were drawn from rough sketches provided by old Frostproof residents who had seen the structure when it was still in use. The fort was located approximately one mile west of State Road 27, at the Frostproof city limits, on a military road that runs from the Kissimmee River that may still be traced by the road's old crest. Work on the Great Macintosh reproduction was launched on Tuesday and completion is expected in or about November 16, with dedication tentatively scheduled for the first week in December.

Clark Gable Reflects Past; Will Take It Easy

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 15.—"After 25 years in the movie business, I'm not going to work my head off."
This was Clark Gable talking. He was reflecting on his past present and future in his usual offhanded manner. A big man with an easy grin, he lacks any pretense. He scoffs at the title of "king," which Hollywood pins on him despite the fact that films of other stars earn more money.

Although he has two or three pictures lined up and could name his deal at any studio in town, he indicated he will space his work with plenty of time between films. Does this mean he is "loaded" financially?
"Let's say I'm in pretty good shape," said Gable, who is considered one of the most money-wise of stars. "I'm not rich by any means. But I'm comfortable. That's all I ask of life—in be warm, well fed and comfortable."

Among the comforts and diversions he enjoys in life are good female companionship, travel and fishing. He'll talk for hours about fishing, about the only subject on which he is visible. I asked him why he liked it so much.
"Because fishing is a lazy man's sport," he said, "and that's me. A LAZY MAN. I like to hunt, but there's a lot of walking involved. Fishing is easy, you can put on and wait."
He mentioned a recent trip to La Paz, Mexico. He has been marlin fishing ever since he was 15. He said he has been more marlin at La Paz in two weeks than he did in all the other places put together. Using a light tackle, he caught 28.

me was in 1952 and '53 when he spent 22 months abroad. He was one of the stars seeking tax benefits by working out of the country. He said he enjoyed the European life and hopes to return there. But his big ambition is for a safari through Africa, where he filmed "Mogambo."
"I saw a lot of the continent," he commented. "But there was a lot of work to do. I was a director at the time. Next time I want to do it right. I want to take about six months and really see Africa. I don't know many of the white people there. There are 15 with me with the result."

Local State Market Big Deal Offered Japan By Russia

ers Market the past week totaled $31,125.59 for 9,424 packages of mixed vegetables and YC's Squash lead in volume with prices ranging from $1.50 to $4.00, followed by pole beans at $2 to $5.20. A fair volume of field peas, mostly Crowder and Purple Hulls, with a light supply of butterbeans, tender green beans, cucumbers, egg plant, okra, pepper and tomatoes are available.
"Severely cold weather early in November and extreme dry weather prior to that time adversely affected the fall vegetable crop at the Gadsden County (Quincy) State Farmers' Market although a fairly good supply of collards, cabbage, turnips and sweet potatoes is expected to continue."

Lazy Thyroid Is Blamed For Colds

By ALTON J. BARRELL, AP Science Reporter
NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Susceptible to colds?

A lazy thyroid gland apparently could be the reason, writes Dr. Marshall C. Cheney, University of California, in G.P. magazine of the American Academy of General Practice.
Doses of thyroid gland pills to make up for the gland's delay do seem to help some people get by long periods without colds, he says. The treatment is combined with measures such as clearing up any chronic infections of nasal passages, and improving general health care.

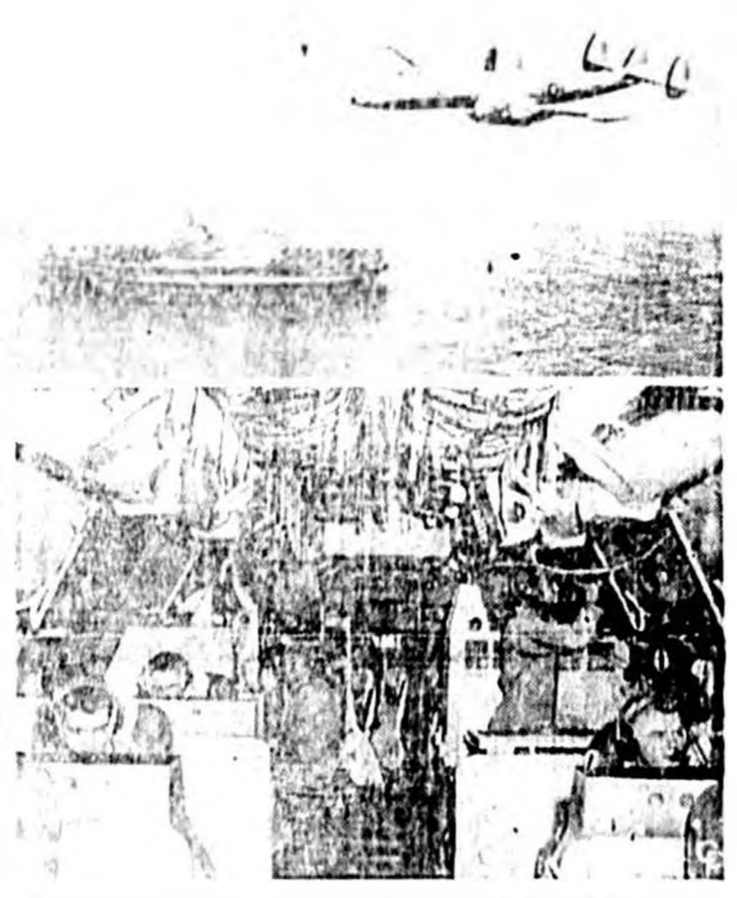

Sticky, colds, coughs, and sore throats and sinusitis, he says, are common ailments of the thyroid gland. Dr. Paul Williams and Walter C. Cole, in a study, found that a few needed at least 100 mg. of thyroid gland pills to get their colds and sinusitis under control.

Strolling In Sanford

The rotary press recently acquired by The Sanford Herald at its new place of business on W. First St. was used yesterday to print the "Florida Legionnaire" service club newspaper for the Winter Haven Club, which was burned out last weekend. Five cylinders were saved in the fire, but thousands of the newspapers which had already been printed were brought here and out on The Herald press. The paper is distributed to approximately 50,000 Legionnaires in Florida.

An automobile bundled up in wrapping papers caused much curiosity this morning after people saw it parked at First St. and Magnolia Ave. Finally, the mystery was solved when posters were placed on the covering announcing the debut of a new car here.

Seminole County Teachers Federal Credit Union is sponsoring the showing of "King's X", the professionally produced 8 mm film union film which tells an interesting story along with a vigorous presentation of the value and functions of credit unions. The film will be the highlight of the program to be presented at the regular meeting of the Seminole County Education Association on Thursday at 8 p. m. at the South Side Primary School. Members of other Seminole County credit unions and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Mailing Will Be Tomorrow

Bank Presidents Talk About Plans

Checks totaling approximately $31,000 will be mailed out tomorrow by the Florida State Bank and the Sanford Atlantic National Bank to members of their Christmas savings clubs.

Of this total, approximately $17,000 is going to about 550 members of the savings club at the Florida State Bank, and about $14,000 to approximately 300 members of the Sanford Atlantic National Bank's club.

According to E. E. Tucker, president of the former bank, over $1 billion will be sent out this month in the United States to 12,200,000 Christmas club members by 4,600 banks.

"In the state of Florida, an estimated $4,150,000 will be paid out," Robert Bauman, president of the second bank, said. "Joining a Christmas savings club gives the benefit to local merchants at this festive a prelude Christmas."

"Such a program proves to be a time of year by providing a considerable amount of money to be funneled into local channels at one time."

Tucker remarked, "We are very eager to have people join this club, because it institutes a savings plan which becomes a habit as it is done on a weekly basis."

"Naturally, banks are interested in people who line money—that is part of their policy."

Tucker said he hoped the number of members at his bank would be doubled for next year, while Bauman expressed optimism about an increase at his bank.

This year was the first the program has been in force here at both banks.

Area Girls Scouts Council Is Needed For Advancement Of Local Program

An important meeting relative to the future of Girl Scouting in the Sanford area will be held tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Holy Cross Episcopal Church parish house.

Why is this meeting important? First of all let's go into a bit of past history of Sanford's Girl Scout movement. For approximately 20 years, there was but one troop of girls in Sanford. This group was composed of intermediate Scouts and was termed a "lone" troop.

Two years ago, the first Brownie Scout troop was organized. Now there are nine intermediate and Brownie troops in the city. Pushing the movement has been Mrs. F. D. Scott, local leader in Girl Scouting.

Now the movement has come to a standstill. Mrs. Scott brings out, because it has gone as far as local conditions permit. Help is needed in leader training, in the securing of funds to support the effort, and in other matters.

This meeting tomorrow night is going to be important because plans will be presented for the organization of an area council, which could be of help in the advancement of Scouting here.

Headling a committee which has been studying this possibility has been Mrs. Gary A. Strain Jr., Orlando. Members of the committee include Mrs. Scott and Mrs. L. W. Scott, Lake Mary.

This group has been studying the possibility of a council which would serve Seminole, Orange, Brevard and Ocala counties. Last Dec. 31, according to the local leader in Scouting, there were approximately 2,300 girls in two councils at Winter Park and Orlando, and in 20 lone troops in the four counties.

The committee has found there is a potential for 13,200 members. However, there

Bullet Hole Is Symbol Of Courage

BRUSSELS, (A)—The scar of a German Gestapo agent's bullet still can be seen in the neat green doorway of Mrs. Josef Duchene.

Every time she goes through the door the mark reminds Mrs. Duchene, an Irish-born widow of 43 who has become a symbol of Belgian civilian courage, of the terrible price she paid for sheltering two fugitive British soldiers during the last war.

"People used to come often to look at the bullet hole," said Mrs. Duchene, a sweet-faced, white-haired old lady with apple pink cheeks, who wears a black ribbon all her throat. "But no one has come now for a long time."

Both Anna Hodges in Waterford, Ireland, in 1908, and Mrs. Duchene, in 1940, came here at 18 as a young girl. This is the story she told me as we sat in her small living room, hung with pictures of her late husband, her two dead children, King Albert, Belgium's first world war hero, and the young Queen Elizabeth of Belgium.

"I felt so young and strange and homesick when I first came here," she said. "But people were nice to me and I fell better after I learned their language and their ways. Later I married Josef, catch him to the knee. I forget the year, but I remember I was 20."

During the first world war her husband was sent to England with the King's horses. Mrs. Duchene remained here during the German occupation with her children, Leopold and Florrie. No funds reached them and they had a difficult time.

"When we were hungry," she recalled, "but we ate out."

During the period Leopold, at 16, joined the army, later was captured by the Germans.

Remembered the Duchene family had a tough struggle in the years between the wars. Money was scarce but Mrs. Duchene never lost her faith. She was the one who kept the family together.

After the outbreak of the Allied war in the last year two young boys, Leopold and Florrie, were sent to the States.

are many girls who cannot be Scouts because of lack of facilities. The waiting list is long here and more are being added all the time.

An area council would make provision for training additional leaders so that more troops may be formed and more girls may take advantage of this wholesome, worthwhile organization. Leader training has been conducted at Winter Park and Orlando, but it has been difficult for local women to attend these sessions.

In the past, if the local troops wanted equipment or needed information, they were required to go right to national headquarters in New York City; unless some help could be obtained from the Orlando and Winter Park councils, but naturally, their help is limited by budgets, personnel and time.

Needed help here could be made available by an area council. However, action for such a council calls for the support of local citizens and organizations.

Local citizens will be able to discuss the matter with leaders in Scouting of this area, with Mrs. Gretchen L. Kidd, member of the national Girl Scout organization, and with executives and directors from the neighboring city councils, at the meeting.

Girl Scouting proves very beneficial during the early years of a child, and benefits carry on into the teenage years and adulthood.

The effort here now needs our help. Eventually, help probably will be asked in the form of money.

Are we going to let such a child and youth-promoting movement down? Let's get behind and help it. Let's be at that meeting tomorrow night.

Great Secretaries

President Eisenhower, was going pretty far when in a speech just before election he called Secretary Dulles the greatest secretary of the country has ever had. Some extremely able men have held this position, and as a rule they have been able than their presidents. Presidents are often second choices, picked because the party feared that its leading figures had made enemies so that an obscure nominee would be safer. The secretary of state, on the other hand, is the head of the cabinet, and is generally a party leader, often a former presidential candidate.

Dulles is more the professional diplomat type, like his grandfather, John W. Foster, who served as secretary of state under President Benjamin Harrison. He has taken great pains and has accomplished many things, though he is sometimes criticized for want of tact. A considered opinion would hardly rank him with such secretaries of state as Daniel Webster or with John Quincy Adams, who was the real author of the Monroe Doctrine, though it bears the name of his chief.

THE BLACK DOVE LIGHTS AGAIN

Too Late To Classify

Did you ever try to fill your sugar bowl from a sack of sugar and have it run over the top and spill on the table? I have, and it was a mess.

Well, that is what is happening to Florida's sugar bowl right now and unless the powers that be in Washington can be made to understand the situation and give us a hand in cleaning up the mess, a lot of folks are going to get hurt.

Yes, Florida and the Nation's sugar bowl is full and running over and our sugar cane growers are left holding the bag.

There are approximately 8,000 growers of sugar cane in Florida and Louisiana, and 53 sugar mills. The two states are grouped for not only sugar in its operation, but also in the operation of the sugar quota system. They operate under a strict quota system that limits the acreage.

This quota system was set up to protect offshore producers such as Cuba, Puerto Rico and other areas. It limits not only the acreage domestic growers may plant but controls the amount of sugar that may be sold.

In Florida we have some of the finest sugar in the world. We produce sugar of the highest quality. Our sugar workers are better paid, better cared for and better paid than anywhere else in the world. Our sugar workers are better paid, better cared for and better paid than anywhere else in the world.

Our government is not overburdened during a single night because someone lacks a vote of confidence, nor do we allow politicians to attain it by gradually gathering it to themselves more authority.

Our government is not overburdened during a single night because someone lacks a vote of confidence, nor do we allow politicians to attain it by gradually gathering it to themselves more authority.

It's Up To You

By HOWARD F. KRENNER

In America we govern ourselves by selecting representatives to speak for us and to run the affairs of our community, state and nation in accord with public desire. We elect our government at specified, regular times. We do not permit a single dictator to wrest power from his opponents by a military coup, nor do we allow politicians to attain it by gradually gathering it to themselves more authority.

Our government is not overburdened during a single night because someone lacks a vote of confidence, nor do we allow politicians to attain it by gradually gathering it to themselves more authority.

Our government is not overburdened during a single night because someone lacks a vote of confidence, nor do we allow politicians to attain it by gradually gathering it to themselves more authority.

We go to the polls of our own free will or we stay away according to our own choice. Sometimes we wonder about our lack of enthusiasm for the franchise but a growing portion of our population is taking seriously the selection of our political representatives.

Our government does not lose its way in the maze of the maze. It tells us how we must vote. No millions of us up like cattle in a rodeo. No get-up-and-go down our necks as we work our heads in the mud. No name on the ballot from which to choose.

The newspaper tells us about the issues involved and about the nominees. It tells us the attitudes and views of each candidate. Public meetings form a sounding board for us in heat of sides of the issues and the issues involved in the election. We, the people, weigh the evidence, the facts, the viewpoints and we make our own decisions. This process is completely different from that found in the totalitarian state. Both people and state cannot be supreme. We in America make the state the servant of the people. In the totalitarian state the citizens are servants of the state.

Our freedom to vote and our control over the state stem from our basic religious belief in the sanctity of the individual. We must never forget that this religious concept cannot endure if we surrender or lose our voting power and our freedom. When the state becomes supreme the individual and religion must go.

Freedom and the moral law are interdependent. The former is the former; the latter will be controlled by the will of a dictator and if the moral law becomes dim in our hearts, our freedom will not long survive.

William Penn, one of the founders of our country truly said, "If men will not be governed by God (the moral law) they must be governed by tyrants."

Mendes-France Has Been Busy Man

WASHINGTON (A)—Pierre Mendes-France, who comes here today for talks with the Eisenhower administration, has had virtually no rest since he became French premier last June. He is an active man of 47, an economist by preference, a tough bargainer. He is also in the long pull, an unknown quantity.

By standing aside while the French Assembly killed the European Defense Community he steered France away from European federation and perhaps eventual union.

The France he took over, split by factions, was drifting. He has tried to give it a sense of direction.

Way Down South In Sanford, Florida

By C. R. DAWSON, B.A., M.S., GOT MUSCLES: You got 500 different muscles but insects have as many as 400.

COWS—Design your pasture to the most economical returns from it. This means fertilizing it periodically to get as much grazing as possible during the year. It also means grazing the pasture rotationally so that it does not get too tall, mature and woody, and so that it is not grazed too closely either. Pasture plants drop in feed value as they become more mature. On the other hand, too close grazing hurts the stand and also increases the danger of parasites, because the cattle are more apt to pick them up.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER: Grass silage for beef cattle is being made in Baker County for the first time this year.

FOREST TREES were planted on a record 715,348 acres last year in the United States, 37 percent more than 1952.

TOOTHPICKERS TASTE BETTER: When dentists take X-ray pictures of teeth in the future, they may do it without an X-ray machine. A wooden applicator stick, something like a long toothpick, with some radioactive material attached to the end of it like a match head, will be held against the jaw or tooth, either inside or outside the mouth. This will produce a picture on a X-ray film packet held in the appropriate position.

Ordinarily X-rays are produced with a vacuum X-ray tube and a high voltage power supply.

THE POLICE say there are too many burglaries, but they never say what the ideal number would be.

SOUTHPAW—Most police companies make points for left hand all writers. They range from "left hand" to "both handed" or "ambidextrous" and "ambidextrous" points.

GRASSHOPPERS—Fried or roasted in nothing but their own oil, with the addition of a little salt, are by no means unpleasant eating and have quite a nutty flavor. In fact it is a flavor, like most peculiar and not unpleasant flavors, of which one can soon learn to like.

SMOKE BATER: BISHOP, Ariz. (A)—Smoke came from Carl Erickson's home. Carl called his brother, Fire Chief George Erickson, George and the firemen rushed to the house. Cause of the fire? An overdone pot roast.

Pair's 2nd Trial Set For Dec. 14

BARTOW (A)—Judge Roy H. Arndt has set Dec. 14 for the second trial of the Rev. Andrew W. Tampling and Stanley Myer charged with inciting a witness to commit perjury.

Last spring a jury could not agree on a verdict. They are accused of offering William A. Arnold $5,000 to swear the testimony he gave in the Elwood North murder case was coached or coerced. Arnold was a state witness against North, recently executed for the slaying of Mrs. Betty Albritton.

Myer is North's father-in-law. Tampling is pastor of a Fort Meade Baptist church.

As might be expected, we notice where someone has finally gotten around to establishing a few rules of etiquette as regards TV-viewing. We will touch briefly on a few of the problems which beset the average family about to settle down for a quiet evening of TV.

If people arrive, unasked, when the family is watching a favorite program, must the set be turned off? The answer is: no. The host might properly say: "We are enjoying a program, would you care to join us? Or would you prefer to chat with me in the next room until it's over? In other words, it's not considered polite to hustle the caller into a dark corner and ignore him like a visiting in-law (unless he is a visiting in-law).

If a guest is so rude as to chatter throughout a program, others are trying to enjoy what can be regarded as the most important entertainment of the evening, how should the host react? A guest should not be regarded as the most important entertainment of the evening, how should the host react? Rain Cuts Practice For Most Southeast Conference Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rain cut short or canceled practice sessions of many Southeastern Conference teams, but Coach Red Drew sent Alabama through a muddy scrimmage last night. With practice time running short before the Crimson Tide meets the one-beaten Miami Hurricanes in the Florida city Friday night, Drew called for the under-lights session. He announced afterwards that 42 players would make the trip and that they would hold a brief workout Thursday night.

Left behind because of injuries were Charlie Ed Cudeppa, Paul Donalson, Jerry Chisparelli and end Paul Donalson. Both Kentucky and Tennessee, who meet Saturday, got no formal practice sessions. The Wildcats got a look at Tennessee's slow-moving plays and then polished their own attack in signal drills. Fullback Dick Rushing and Joe Tech, guard and captain of the Wildcats, were suited out and may see action.

For Tennessee, tailback Jimmy Williams, Bobby Irenie and John Nelson and fullback Tom Tracy are expected to be recovered enough from injuries to play against Kentucky. Coach Gus Tinsley ran his Louisiana State team through a defensive practice drill including a defensive scrimmage against Arkansas plays. He announced that tackle Jim Lavin would not play against the Woodrow Conference team in the first of the season because of a broken hand.

Arkansas, which plays Clemson Saturday, was unable to get in a scheduled offensive scrimmage because of the rain. Coach Ralph Jordan sent his team through defensive maneuvers and punt protection drill. Coach Andy Pinney appeared well satisfied with the running of fullback Bobby Sals and halfback Otis Gilmore in an hour long scrimmage. The Greenies are preparing for their battle with LSU Nov. 27.

Light workouts were held by Mississippi State, Georgia and Georgia Tech, all idle until Nov. 27. Coach Darrell Royal has four linemen on the injured list at Mississippi State and two of them, Gordon Myrick and Bob Morris, definitely will miss the finale with Mississippi. Both Georgia and Georgia Tech, who meet Saturday, are expected to resume heavy practice tomorrow if the rain lets up.

Al Weil Rejects No Return Clause For Championship

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Al Weil, manager of world heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, said last night he couldn't go along "at this time" with outlating of the return clause in contracts for championship fights. The ban was imposed yesterday by the World Boxing Championship Committee in London. It said it would not approve of fight contracts with return bout clauses. Asked whether Marciano would defend his title without a return bout written into the contract, Weil said: "When that time comes I will make my own terms."

"I am really surprised at this action," he said. "This is a free country and I am being paid to manage my fighter. I have to go up to the state to get licenses and to help boxing, and he also looks to me to get the best financial deal possible. That's what I am paid for. I have always sided with the (New York) commission rules, but at this time I cannot go along with the ruling of the World Boxing Championship Committee."

While Weil dissented from the year-old committee, which was set up to standardize championships, Robert Christy, secretary of the New York State Athletic Commission said: "For the first time in the history of boxing we have a committee which is determined to control the sport all over the world. I am confident the committee will stop the unhappy incidents which have occurred in the past."

Teams Are Picked For Tangerine Bowl

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Two southern teams—Eastern Kentucky State College and Omaha University—will meet in the ninth annual Tangerine Bowl football game here. The selection committee named Eastern Kentucky yesterday. Omaha's selection was announced Saturday.

Omaha is undefeated and tied in some games. Eastern Kentucky was eight and played a tie with Toledo.

Indian land holdings in the United States total approximately 10 million acres.

READY, WILLING AND ABLE By Alan Mayer

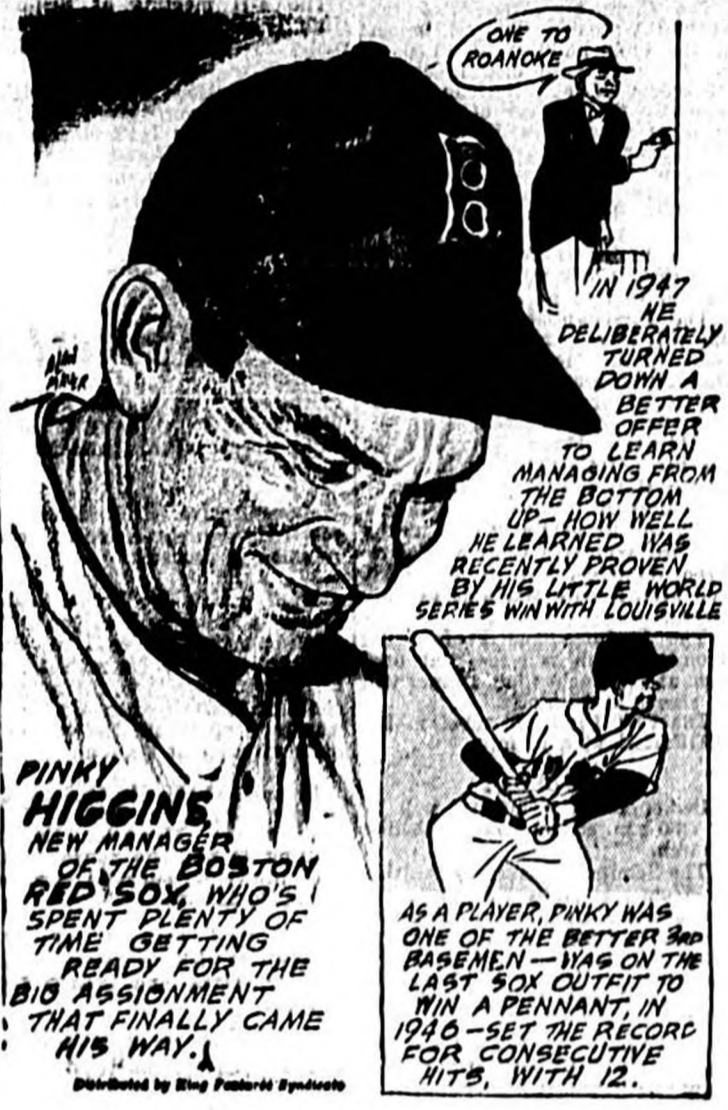

Illustration by King Farnsworth

PINKY HIGGINS, NEW MANAGER OF THE BOSTON RED SOX, WHO'S SPENT PLENTY OF TIME GETTING READY FOR THE BIG ASSIGNMENT THAT FINALLY CAME HIS WAY.

As a player, Pinky was one of the better basemen—was on the last Sox outfit to win a pennant, in 1946—set the record for consecutive hits, with 12.

Shaw, Larson, Dawson Named Nation's Top Aerial Artists

NEW YORK (AP)—No doubt about it. The three best passers in college football this year are Oregon's George Shaw, California's Paul Larson and Purdue's Lennie Dawson. All three wrap up their season's this Saturday and each apparently has a national title clinched.

According to NCAA statistics released Wednesday Shaw still ranks No. 1 in total offense, with Larson making a strong bid to overtake the leader and win the crown (two years running). The California ace, meanwhile, has a new national pass completion record almost in hand.

Dawson, the youngster who upset Notre Dame, holds the lead in pass yardage. Shaw, leading all season, has a total yardage net of 1,415 yards as he winds up against Oregon State. Larson, takes a 1,375-yard total against Stanford. Dawson, with 1,300, opposes Indiana.

Larson could become the second collegian to win the total-yardage crown in successive years—Oklahoma A. W. Bob Fenimore did it in 1944-45 and Drake's Johnny Bright pulled it off in 1948-50—but at worse he'll be tops in completions. Thus far he's hitting at 61.2 per cent, completing 111 of 173 losses. Washington's Don Heurich set the present accuracy record of 69.9 per cent in 1950. Shaw is second in completions with 86 and Dawson third with 81.

Larson's leading air yardage is 1,400; with Larson secured on 1,387. The Purdue ace also has the most touchdowns passes with 14. In rushing, the top three ball carriers also rank as the leading scorers, and in the same order—Arizona's Art Luppino, Penn State's Lou Moore and Army's Tommy Bell.

Luppino, a sophomore, looks like the champ in both departments with two games remaining while his closest competitors have but one. He has scored 138 points (only 20 short of the highest total in 34 years) and has rushed to 1,025 yards. Moore, a junior, has scored 78 points and netted 1,014 yards and Bell, in his final year, has scored 72 points and gained 914 yards.

Boudreau Project To Head Athletics

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Lou Boudreau, onetime "loy wonder" pilot of the Cleveland Indians and later Boston Red Sox manager, looks like the No. 1 choice for manager of the new Kansas City Athletics.

Arnold Johnson, the Chicago millionaire who acquired the Athletics from Philadelphia last week, indicated he would name his field manager today at a press conference.

Boudreau's name has popped up most frequently in speculation on the field post, although Johnson said he had received a flock of applications.

Only last week Boudreau said he had been in contact with the Chicago industrialist but "nothing is definite yet."

Sports Roundup

By GAVIE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The talk of expanding the American League into a 10-club organization is so unrealistic at this particular time one wonders how Frank Greenberg, the general manager of the Cleveland Indians, could possibly be serious about the move he proposes to sponsor at the next meeting of his club owners.

What is Hank going to suggest they use for ballplayers on the two additional teams he presumably means to foist on the good citizens of Los Angeles and San Francisco? If the former home run king was too busy winning a pennant the past season to realize his league had an awful time suiting up even eight sets of big league players, he deserves to be tipped off.

It is doubtful that among them, the Philadelphia Athletics, Baltimore Orioles and Washington Senators could have put together a squad of better than fourth-place caliber. The Indians might finish at the bottom of the bottom. It means your league has become dangerously overbalanced without adding two more weak units to its woeful understructure.

The only way a 10-team league could possibly be put into operation by either the American or National bodies and they are equally nervous the club will get the jump on the West Coast pickings—without raking quick disaster would be to throw all their available talent, plus the best of that in high minor, into one great, squaring pool of players and then try to dole them out evenly.

This would entail some little sacrifice on the part of the top clubs. The Indians might finish at the bottom, and the Yankees almost certainly would contribute Yogi Berra only reluctantly to the great lottery.

Frankly, we do not expect to see this happen, nor do we expect to see either league soil its future prospects on the West Coast by rushing into anything as obviously suicidal as a 10-team circuit.

Ron Cramer Named Lineman Of Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ron Cramer, Michigan's great sophomore end, Wednesday was picked as The Associated Press Lineman of the Week for his magnificent play against Michigan State Saturday.

Cramer, a 19-year-old 235-pounder, was the difference as the Wolverines beat the Spartans 20-7. He was on the field for his magnificent play against Michigan State Saturday.

Big Ron was tops in all departments. He kept ruzzing the M.S.U. passers all afternoon and twice broke through to block punts. He picked up one blocked punt and ran for a touchdown. The other blocked punt led to another score. Offensively he earned several passes and blocked well. He is a good punter, too.

Franklin Brooks, Georgia Tech guard, was praised for his play against Alabama. He made nine solo tackles, took his man out of the play on 22 of 26 blocking assignments, recovered a fumble to set up a touchdown and intercepted a pass.

Carter, DeMarco Fight Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mechanical Jimmy Carter steps into the ring tonight favored to regain the world lightweight championship from Brooklyn's Paddy DeMarco, the young man who relieved him of the title 10 months ago.

The setting for the 15-round encounter between the top two 135-pounders in the nation is the spacious Cow Palace in South San Francisco.

The contest, a replay of an upset registered by the 26-year-old Paddy in New York last March 5, will be televised coast to coast by CBS.

It is scheduled for 10 p. m. EST. Carter, a veteran of 30 years, remained a 2-1 betting favorite today to whip his more unorthodox fellow New Yorker. The workmanlike fighter from Harlem already has the peculiar distinction of having lost and then regained the

Los Angeles Possible New Home For Brooklyn's Noisy Dodgers

NEW YORK (AP)—The baseball world was blowing west again today with a report that the Brooklyn Dodgers may move to Los Angeles.

John B. Old, writing in the Los Angeles Herald-Express, said the tentative plans to switch the Dodgers were "hush, hush" and that they would be aired at a special meeting here Nov. 22.

Old's story brought denials from National League President Warren Giles and Brooklyn Vice President Francesco Thompson.

Also, perhaps coincidentally, the Brooklyn Junior Chamber of Commerce announced the organization of a drive to "keep the Dodgers in Brooklyn."

Old warned his readers to "look for and expect vigorous denials" concerning the proposed switch.

Walter O'Malley, Brooklyn president, has long eyed Los Angeles as a possible future home for the Dodgers," he wrote. "The special meeting, quietly arranged without previous publicity, was called to effect the urging of Cleveland's Hank Greenberg that the American League expand to 10 clubs at the earliest possible opportunity."

Old also said Cincinnati might join the move and shift to San Francisco. Owner Powell Crosley has been "quietly liquidating his vast interest," he said.

"It never has been suggested to me that the Brooklyn club be moved to Los Angeles," said Giles when told of Old's story. "How could we have one club out there and the other seven way back here?"

Giles admitted there was a meeting scheduled for Nov. 22, but said it was to consider a revision of the constitution and bylaws.

Dogs Compete Next Weekend For National Championship

By DON WENDERSON
The dogs that make the difference between a full bag and a frustrating waste to wildlife for many a hunter will have their day—and some spectacular days they'll be this coming weekend at Weldon Springs, Mo.

At least 27 retrieving dogs of four breeds have qualified through a series of grueling trials for this national retriever championship, the largest list of eligibles in the history of the sport. The dogs include 20 Black Labradors, two Yellow Labs, one Chesapeake and five Gold Retrievers. They're headed by the 1958-59 national ch. King Buck, a black lab owned by Milo Kemps of Brighton, Ill., who is back to challenge for an unprecedented third title.

All but two youngsters among the eligibles have won field trials, and one—the Black Lab, Cherokee Buck, owned by H. L. Harrison of Chicago—has won a bench championship for beauty and soundness.

The Tallahassee lawyer said he felt very strongly about the advantages of constant research and thought. It was the best way to handle many agricultural problems.

He said he would app the committee to survey problems now facing farmers.

"I don't know what the answers are but I am asking the committee to find out," Collins told delegates to the annual meeting of the Florida Farm Bureau Federation.

The said he also has this committee to survey problems now facing farmers.

PARIS, (AP)—The last time 200,000 American tourists saw Paris was strategic goods.

THE 1958-59 season was the best for Americans again headed the list. A government report shows that 1958-59 was the best among those who are shown up so far in 1954.

PACKAGES TO BE GIVEN
PARIS, (AP)—The U.S. government will distribute Christmas packages to about 200,000 West Berliners next month. Each package will contain 15 pounds of food.

Collins Hopes Farm Research Will Aid Here

WINTER HAVEN, Fla.—Gov. Albert Collins is planning his hopes for solution of Florida farm problems on research and the efforts of citizens committee of farm experts.

The Tallahassee lawyer said he felt very strongly about the advantages of constant research and thought. It was the best way to handle many agricultural problems.

He said he would app the committee to survey problems now facing farmers.

"I don't know what the answers are but I am asking the committee to find out," Collins told delegates to the annual meeting of the Florida Farm Bureau Federation.

The Taming of Carney Wilde

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

"WHAT'S that about a signal?" the chief asked testily. He spoke to Grodnik. I was there, but only as Grodnik's shadow.

"We ran a tip," Grodnik said cheerily. He sat heavily in a chair and stretched his legs straight out. "Seems she was a girl in Philadelphia. She disappeared a while back. According to our informant, the girl was going to meet Stewart here, but not at any specific place. Mr. Wilde had a hunch that they might be planning to use the stunt costume as a meeting signal. I paid off that fellow we found Stewart. He rented his costume on Canal St. and left his address, using the name of Patson. But we had 14 names in all to check, all of them people who rented stunt gowns for Masking Day. That's why this brooch is important. This would be the real signal. Stewart's girl would spot the brooch, then make sure by checking for the car number. When she found that, she found Stewart. Simple. Grodnik spread his hands wide and grinned at the chief.

"Through all New Orleans," the chief said in a shocked voice. "On Masking Day? Why, men, that's foolish! There's going to be a million and eight people on the street Tuesday. How could they—"

"Wait a minute," I said quickly. "Have you got a place called the Stewart here? Or the Mary Stewart? Or the Charles—"

"St. Charles hotel?" the chief suggested.

Grodnik chuckled. "Sure." He bounced the jewel case in his big hand and smiled happily. "This gives us the girl. Pretty neat. But what about the money? Found it yet?"

The chief belated the question to his team. The answer was not yet.

Three hours later the answer was no. No money.

Then it became difficult for me. First we went step by step through the chain of reasoning that had brought Grodnik and me to Stewart's hideout. The chief listened grimly and his boys, spring the nose, made a hard-eyed, doubtful circle around me.

"The Stuart paid," I said for the 10th time. "His name was Stewart, Charles Stewart. So he picked the place as his signal. That's reasonable and simple, isn't it?"

"No reasonable and simple it sounds suspicious," the chief said.

"Take it easy, chief," Grodnik put in. "Wide knows what he's talking about. It's just suspicious enough to be the truth."

"Ninety-seven cops out looking for Stewart," the chief growled, "but both arms in resignation. 'Every man we can spare and plenty of county and state cops and the FBI. So a guy with a hunch walks right in on him.'"

"Happens just the way all the time," Grodnik said dully.

Then the chief switched to the subject of the money. Two minutes died thousand dollars. Did I save it? I did not.

Someone reminded the chief that I had been alone in the apartment during the time Grodnik was telephoning him. The chief checked carefully. People who had stayed in the hall proved that I hadn't left on the front door. And there wasn't any back door. The windows were all locked and covered with ancient dust, obviously unopened since last summer. Because Grodnik asked me to let them search me. But the chief apologized when it was over, and I pretended there was no bad feeling in me about it.

But the money wasn't there. The keys on Stuart's ring looked like a possible solution, but checking them would be a long process. One was the apartment key, one belonged to an automobile. Another was clearly a house key that could have fitted anything. The chief passed them to one of his men for shipment to the crime lab, but so one looked very hopeful about the chance of finding anything.

"The girl?" I asked Grodnik.

"I was wondering that, too," he grinned. "Stewart trusted her. Must have if they made this plan to meet here. Let's see, when he went through you at that stakeout in Philadelphia, he wasn't carrying a bag, was he?"

"Just the gun," I said.

"Well, that proves nothing. But let's say it's the girl. Then how do we—"

I swung toward the chief. "You tell anyone this was Stewart? In your office, I mean?"

"Wasn't anyone to tell," the chief said.

"Then the only people who know Stewart's been tagged are the people in this room right now?"

The chief nodded. A knowing expression began to dawn on his broad face.

"So it isn't Stewart, then?" I said. "Have him put on ice in the morgue. Call him unidentified. Better yet, give him a name. Frame a routine story for the papers. The people in this building know about the stunt in a and they'll talk, so you can't cover it. But you can hide Stewart's identity."

"Sure," the chief said. "Sure. And on Tuesday."

"We pick up the girl," Grodnik finished.

A young rookie cop who looked somewhat like Stewart was picked to wear the stunt costume on Masking Day with Stewart's car number on his back. He was to be ready at a rendezvous on bare knees and he would walk with a limp just in case his normal stride was noticeably different from Stewart's. Everything was arranged as a cinch.

His car was not out until Tuesday Saturday night Sunday Monday. Then Tuesday. How long is that? Not long at all. Unless you're sweating out something like this.

The angry tension in me had begun to relax now that Stewart had been tracked to his hole. I didn't like the killing. I had wanted to bring Stewart back for trial. But he had been caught, that was the important thing. And I'd had a hand in catching him. So I could go back to Philadelphia now without thinking about the money. Grodnik was just as pleased, though he, too, had wanted to save Stewart for a trial. But a cop-killer had been knocked off. And every gun-toting hood in Philadelphia county would swallow hard and decide to retire before taking a shot at any other cop in my town.

The money was important. It would be a big feather in my cap if I could bring that home. If I did, then there was no possible worry about the future of my big contract with the Department Store association. But there probably wouldn't be any real trouble anyway. Not with Ed Jones in my corner. Not with Charles Alexander Stewart begged, shot while trying his best to kill another cop. No, I was all right now.

Grodnik didn't care much about the money either. Except finding that $200,000 would tie the job into a neat package. I rehearsed the cop who was playing Stewart's role, describing Stewart and his mannerisms as well as I could. And Grodnik spent his time in the chief's office explaining the disguised cops who would be with Stewart's double during his tour of duty on Masking Day.

But essentially, there was little for us to do. The waiting was out of the first day and grew progressively more nerve-wracking. Even Grodnik, who prided himself on imperturbability, lost his normal placid attitude before Tuesday.

Life on board the Dixie Dandy did little to ease the strain. Russell had told Doc Riggs all about Mr. Ed Boltneck and the nice scholarly trait seemed to avoid me when he could and watch me with a certain wary apprehension when I was close. Grodnik was busy preparing the boat for its return trip upriver. I didn't see much of him Sunday afternoon. Capt. Jellucue took the Dixie Dandy out into the stream for Ellen, turned the big crank twice and made such thick black smoke roll from her twin stacks, all so that she, on the neck, could get a good shot of the boat in action.

I told her in confidence we had found Stewart. I may have shared my part a bit, but a man will with his girl. I had to tell her because she had noticed the great change that had come over me after we had found Stewart. But I didn't tell her we were dead. I didn't tell her I just wanted that part. Later she'd find out, but later would be better and easier for both of us.

Farmer In War-Torn Korea Is Optimistic About Future

CHANGDONG, Korea (AP) — Han Chul Hui, a small, hollow-cheeked Korean farmer of 68 is like so many of his neighbors. He has known only to work the soil since he first learned to use his hands as a boy.

The Han clan goes back 17 generations, nearly 500 years. For nearly five centuries this man and his ancestors have worked the land, but always for some one else. Then came independence in 1948 and with it land reform. Out went the landlord-tenant farmer relationship. In came a new opportunity for the farmer to own his rice paddies.

An Associated Press reporter visited Han just before the armistice last year.

He was hopeful then that the coming year would bring peace and a chance to grow a good crop.

Besides, there was much to do. The war wrecked frame of his house to rebuild; his fields to be replanted after having been chewed up by the constant march of invading armies.

But he said he still had two hands and his sons to help plant the new rice. Things would be better.

His hope born in some uncertainty, seems to have come true. Han stroked his scraggly goatee, looked out to the fields and watched

Circuit Court To Hear Criminal Cases Soon

Cases involving seven men are to be heard in criminal session of the Circuit Court, Nov. 29-Dec. 1, with Judge Vassar Carlton on the bench.

Trooper Injured, Gunman Escapes Following Shooting

LAKE CITY (AP)—A state trooper was hurt early today in an exchange of gunfire between a speeding automobile and two Florida Highway Patrol cars near Monticello, Fla.

Trooper Herschel Owens was treated at Lake Shore hospital here for an eye injury. He was struck by flying glass when four bullets hit his windshield and a fifth entered the hood of his car.

They sought to stop him because they said his driver's permit had been revoked. The man had been arrested several times before for driving without a license. Lt. Jordan said.

Jordan said when the FHP car tried to stop Crockett, he sped away on a chase that reached 90 m.p.h. near the Georgia line. A gun fire came from Crockett's car, Jordan said, and the fire was returned.

When Owens was hurt, Trooper Hayes stopped. Another patrol car gave chase but officers lost Crockett's fleeing car between Monticello and Fargo, Ga.

15 Local Men To Be Shriners

Fifteen local men will become Shriners in initial ceremonies at the Bahai Shrine Temple in Orlando Friday and Saturday, it was announced today.

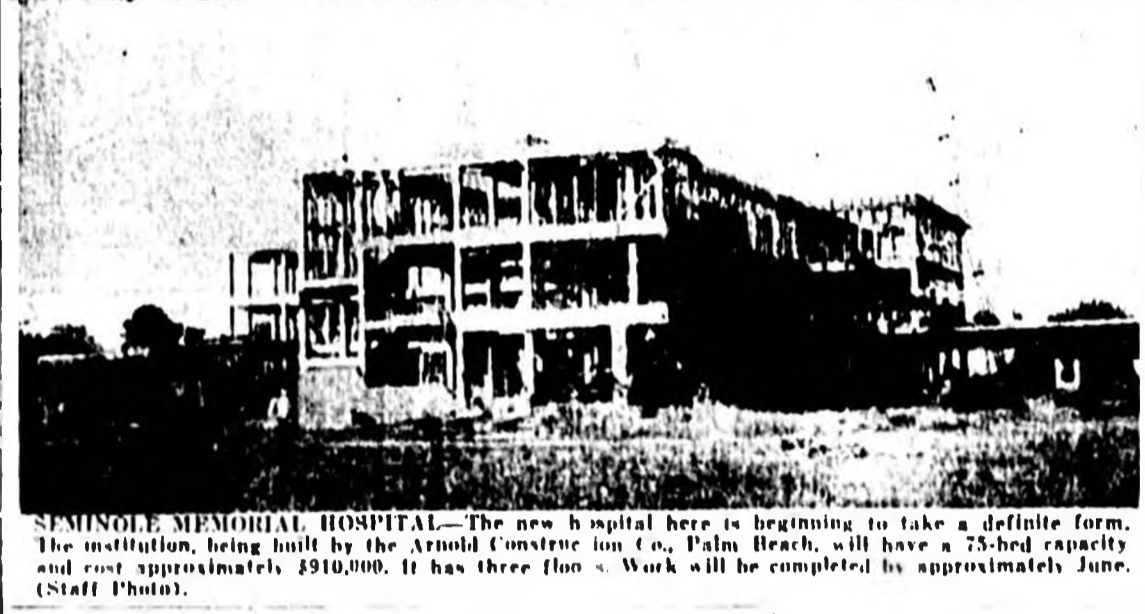

Organization of the Bahai Temple was completed earlier this year. It is the fourth Shrine Temple in the state, having jurisdiction over Seminole, Orange, Lake, Ocala, Volusia, Brevard, Sumter and Okeechobee counties.

Retired Teachers To Meet Saturday

The retired teachers section of the Florida Education Association will meet Saturday at 3:30 p.m. at the Memorial Junior High School, Orlando.

Paul C. Phillips, president of the smaller group, will be present, and requests all members from Seminole County to be present.

Teams Start Campaign Today To Secure Members For CofC

Teams got underway today in the annual Chamber of Commerce membership drive, following a "kick off" program last night at the Elks Club, according to George Toub, campaign chairman.

Yesterday, the last of a series of four point cards, designed to tell prospective members something about the organization, were mailed.

The post card which went out yesterday contains a clever cartoon depicting a horse race. One horse is on the outside of the track and has little chance of winning. The cartoon points up the theme of the campaign—"You Also So Much... When You're on the Outside!"

The card goes on to say, "This horse is off by himself on the outside and has little chance of winning the race. He might have a chance if he got on the inside with the rest of the field."

Invited To Join—"Your Chamber of Commerce invites you to join in its program of work for the betterment of the community at large. How about coming inside with us? Your membership support is needed."

Don't Stay on the Outside—"You Chamber of Commerce is an investment that will pay dividends."

We have very much to have a successful membership campaign," stated Toub. "The Chamber of Commerce is now actively seeking new developments, new business and new industry. We have a program for the promotion of our city as a fine place to live and to do business. Realization of the various points of our program will bring material benefits to our city."

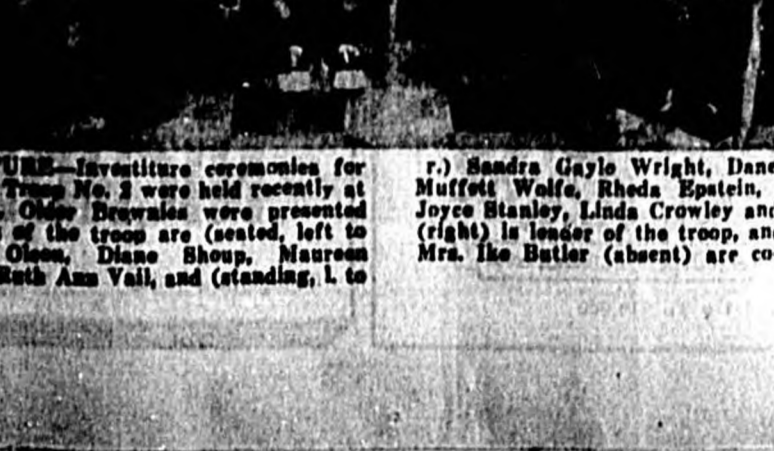

Funds received from members of the Chamber of Commerce allow us to carry forward our program. We have come a long way, but we have not reached the surface of our possibilities for growth and prosperity."

Toub, explained last night the plans for the operation of the drive and urged each worker to get off to an enthusiastic start and to follow through on all prospects furnished them.

He stated that Seminole County (Continued on Page Four)

Fairly New Drug Stops 'Worst Pain In World'

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The "worst pain in the world" is being stopped by curious new drug described today to the American College of Surgeons.

The pain comes from a nerve ailment in the face—the doubletous—fairly common after 40. Attacks can last steadily for two to three weeks. Victims can't eat, or even shave. Some commit suicide from the agony. Many doctors agree with victims that it's the worst pain in the world.

Surgery cutting the face nerve has been the best remedy. But that causes loss of all sensation in one side of the face, sometimes leads to eye complications and loss of an eye.

A fairly new drug, stillhamidine, seems to paralyze or somehow strike at the face nerve causing all the pain. And it apparently acts only on that nerve.

The clue that stillhamidine might be good came after it had been given to people suffering from internal fungus diseases. These patients after a time said their cheeks felt numb.
