

Underworld Czar Is Given 3-Year Prison Sentence

Adonis Goes To Jail For Operating Big Gambling Casinos

HACKENSACK, N. J., May 22 (AP)—Big shot racketeer Joe Adonis was sentenced to two to three years in state prison and fined $15,000 today for violating New Jersey gambling laws.

It was the first jail sentence ever imposed on the 49-year-old Adonis, who was named by the Senate Crime Committee as one of the nation's most notorious gamblers.

Superior Court Judge J. Wallace Leyden, who imposed sentence also suspended an additional five-year prison term.

Receiving similar sentences were four New Jersey associates of the dapper, Brooklyn-born underworld figure, Salvatore (Bobby Moore) Morretti, 46, of Democrat, James Pirag Lynch, 46, of Palisades Park; Arthur Longano, 46, of Englewood, and Anthony Guarini, 58, of Hackett Heights.

All five were accused of operating a plush $1,000,000 North Jersey dice gambling empire.

They each faced a possible sentence of 18 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Adonis, whose real name is Joseph Doto, and his four lieutenants elected to plead no defense in four gambling conspiracy charges last Monday rather than face the publicity of a trial.

Joe Adonis is the victim of the most vicious, rotten prosecution that ever existed," his attorney John Selzer told the court.

"He pleaded guilty because he knows society has to have its pound of flesh," Selzer added.

"There had been rumors after Adonis' plea last week that the state had made a deal with the racketeer in return for the plea. An 18-month sentence was hinted at by aides of State Attorney General Theodore D. Parsons.

Selzer insisted that Adonis and Morretti never were principals in the operation of the three dice casinos, across the Hudson River from New York City. He said they merely loaned money to operators of the gambling places when they took heavy losses in 1949.

Adonis, immaculately dressed in a brown suit and white shirt, looked at courtroom murals and crushed at specks on his clothing during the proceedings. His face was flushed.

Selzer said he may appeal the sentences and told Judge Leyden he now was sorry he had submitted no defense plea for the defendants. He said he could have written his clients off with only a year in jail.

Judge Leyden agreed with Selzer's charge that the defendants "had been sentenced in the newspapers."

In his bitter court statements, Selzer cited as a "damnable lie" statements by the Senate Crime Investigating Committee that Adonis was one of the seven bosses of the underworld. He said there never has been any proof that Adonis was anything but a legitimate businessman.

All had been accused of running big-time dice games in Las Vegas and Fort Lee, N. J., said by authorities to have catered to Broadway celebrities on a grandiose scale.

During their court appearance last week, aides of Attorney General Parsons said he would probably recommend 18 months to three years imprisonment, a five-year suspended sentence and a $10,000 fine for each defendant if they pleaded guilty.

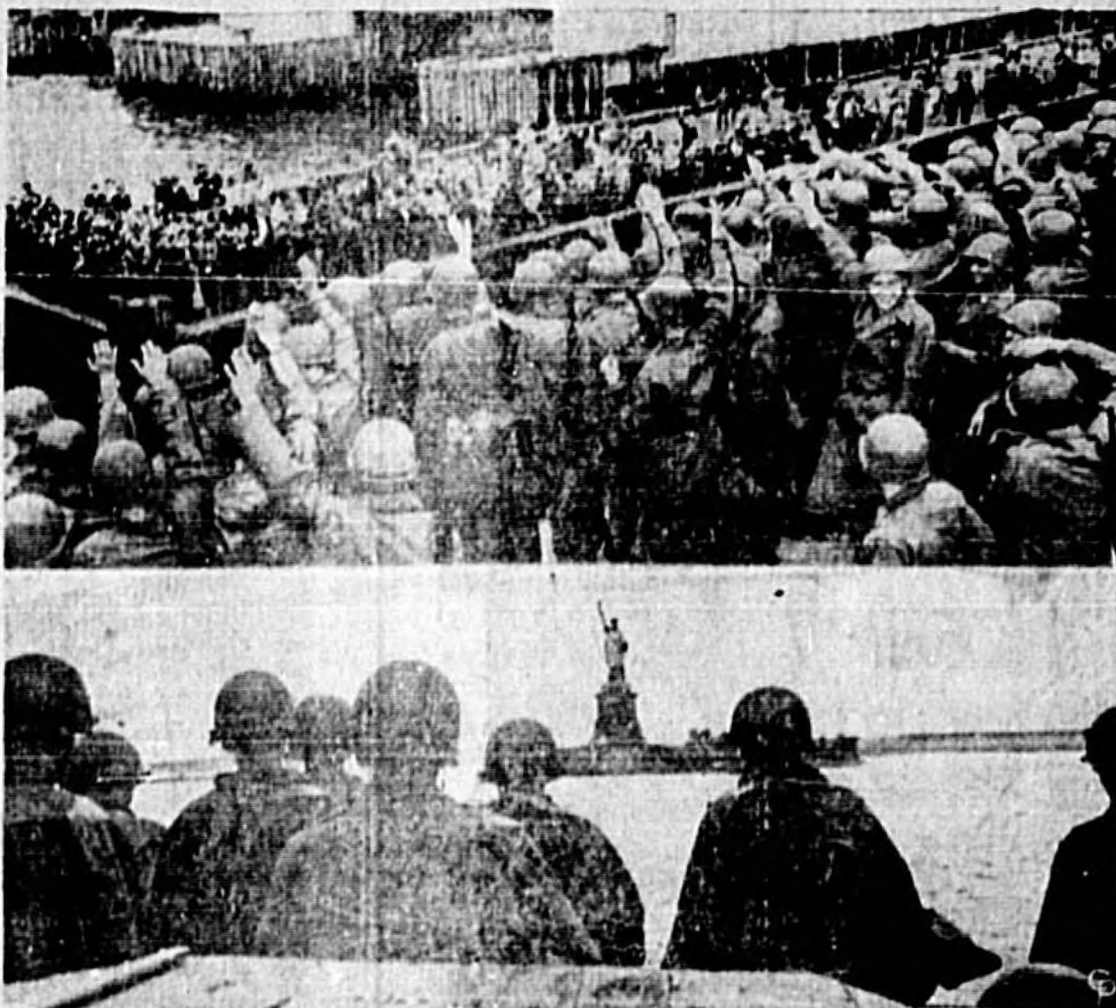

Adonis and the rest still face New York charges of conspiring there to violate New Jersey gambling laws in connection with the Lodi and Fort Lee operations.

They there is a little unfinished business the darkly handsome Adonis must take up with the U. S. Senate Crime Committee. He was tried for conspiracy by that body for refusing to answer at least 100 questions.

Adonis, who lives in a large but conservative home in Fort Lee overlooking New York City, was arrested six times between 1926 and 1940. The charges included grand larceny, robbery and assault but none of them ever stuck. Up until now, he has gotten off with a few hundred dollars in fines.

When asked last week how he felt about facing his first prison term, the taciturnly dressed gambler shrugged:

"I feel good. There's a first time for everything, I guess."

Rollins Bill

It continued from page two in asking the Legislature to out-let trustees whose terms have expired and to replace them with residents of Winter Park and Orlando.

Andrews said he introduced the measure in the belief it would help solve the problems now facing the privately endowed college.

The House passed the bill last Thursday on the plea of Andrews and the Senate followed suit. Both chambers refused to reconsider their action.

Andrews told the house today he has been studying the matter carefully since it was passed.

After pointing to the meagreness of the issue, Andrews said "I'm afraid I'm not qualified to change the basic law of the college."

"I will ask the Governor to veto the bill and will ask the House to ask the Governor to return the bill for further consideration," Andrews said.

Andrews urged that all factions in the Rollins dispute and all interested in the welfare of the college get together to work out the present problem.

"If legislation is needed, I hope they will study and prepare it carefully for action by the next Legislature."

Supreme Court

RCA's appeal stressed that CBS color is "incompatible" with present TV receiving sets. That means today's sets cannot get Columbia color telecasts—even in black and white—without installing additional equipment.

An adapter to get a black and white picture has been estimated to cost $50. A converter to get CBS color on today's sets has been estimated to cost $100.

RCA color telecasts would show in black and white on present sets. But government lawyers told the supreme court no receiver now in use could ever get RCA color pictures.

Vandenberg Says

Arthur "didn't see eye to eye" with the Joint Chiefs of Staff and necessarily "had to have considerable latitude," Vandenberg added.

"In the use of that latitude, if he felt strongly in opposition to the policy that the Chiefs had felt necessary, there was a danger."

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) told reporters his schedule calls for finishing with Vandenberg tomorrow, and hearing Admiral Forrest Sherman, Navy Chief of Staff, on Wednesday.

He said Secretary of State Acheson would follow Sherman, and "it very definitely" is in the committee's mind to start hearing Acheson Thursday.

Russell said Vandenberg brought an entirely new angle into the hearings today in his explanations of the reasons why Manchurian bases are not being bombed.

The main argument made by earlier Pentagon witnesses was that (1) it would not be desirable of the Korean war, and (2) would run the risk of influencing Russia to war.

Vandenberg placed the main emphasis on an argument that Air Force resources should not be risked and expanded when they might be needed to meet Russian attack.

Then Vandenberg added: "While I was and am today against bombing across the Yalu, it does not mean by any stretch of the imagination that I might not be for it tomorrow, a month from now, or six months from now."

MacArthur urged the bombing of Chinese Red supply bases and troop concentrations in Manchuria as an effective way to carry the war to the Communists and avoid a "bloody stalemate" in Korea. It was his public advocacy of this strategy, plus a naval and economic blockade of Red China and use of Chinese Nationalist troops, that led President Truman to dismiss him April 11 for his Far Eastern command.

Vandenberg, testifying at the inquiry into MacArthur's dismissal also told the Senators:

1. The Russian-built MIG-15 fighter plane used by the Chinese Communists has a jet engine "superior to any we have." He said he believed it was developed with the aid of German technicians.

2. The Russians now have the "capability" for mass production of first rate aircraft.

On the question of bombing Red bases in Manchuria, Vandenberg said it appeared in the first place that the Chinese Communists were getting most of their supplies from Russia.

He said that if the full power of the U. S. Air Force were used "we would destroy or lay waste to all of Manchuria and the principal cities of China."

But this would involve losses, he went on, adding that he does not believe such bombings would be effective unless the Air Force's full power were used.

The first news dispatch to be carried by telegraph was word of the nomination of Henry Clay for president by the Whig party on May 1, 1844, at Baltimore.

Special Awards Are Presented Scouts At Court Of Honor

Awards were presented in Boy Scouts, and miniature badges, to eight mothers at a Court of Honor program at the Longwood meeting was well attended by scouts from troops throughout the county and by parents.

In recognition of the part of mothers in a Boy Scout program, eight mothers received badges from sons, who in turn had been awarded first and second class scout badges.

Scouts participating in the ceremony were George Crose, Harold Helms, Larry Lopez, James Matthey, Lee Campbell and Cyril Katy, Jr., all of Troop 342, Longwood; Tommy Wyatt, Troop 34, Sanford, and Bob Reely, Jr. Troop 5, Sanford.

Scoutmaster William Fleming presented first class awards to Lee Campbell and Cyril Katy, Bob Reely, Jr., and to Jack L. Miller, Jr., Murray Nance, Alfred Stanley and Jimmie Wilman. The latter four were from Troop 34.

N. C. Lopez, a committee member from Longwood, presented second class scout awards to George Crose, Robert Farmer, Harold Helms, Lamar Helms, Larry Lopez, James Martin and Bob Reely, Jr. all of Troop 342, to John Jones, all of Troop 34, Sanford, Ronnie Robinson, Tommy Wyatt, and to Bob Shoemaker, Charles Russell, Curtis Toole, Jr., James Bridges, Curtis Hughes and Maurice Phillips, all of Troop 5, Sanford.

Committee member Robert Karnes of Troop 34 presented four first class awards to Lee Campbell of Longwood, Seminole District Court of Honor awards were presented by Clifford McKibbin, Jr., advancement chairman, to Troop 34 for winning the uniform inspection prize in the county, and to Troop 342, Longwood, for the greatest advancement in Scout advancement at the Court. He expressed much satisfaction with the achievements in Scout advancement as indicated by the large number of awards made.

The Rev. J. R. Jackson of the Longwood Baptist Church offered invocation, and Scout Executive Sullivan of Dade county, Alex Littlefield of Volusia county, and Hugh Culbreth of Hillsborough county without investigating reports that they failed to enforce the gambling laws.

4. Appointing W. D. Crosby as a special investigator to help control of another.

Okell charged that Crosby went to Miami Beach in 1949 and contacted Harry Russell, a "notorious and ruthless gambler" whom the Kefauver Committee said was a Kefauver mob member who muscled into the SAC Bookmaking Syndicate.

The Miami legislator said Crosby helped Russell with "deserted" gambling. "In the name of the Governor," he intimated, "I will close down and harass the SAC."

Rep. Dante Pascell of Miami and Rep. Edward R. Kirkland of Orlando joined Okell in introducing the resolution.

Okell asked that the proposal be referred to the committee of the whole of House members for consideration, but Speaker B. Elliott of West Palm Beach referred it to a special committee of five. The vote was 10-6 to consider it.

The Florida House also voted today to keep its investigation of political corruption alive for another two years, and passed a bill designed to cut the cost of campaigning for office.

Senators had a full-fledged filibuster on their agenda as Senator John G. Sprague sought to talk to death the bill to take liquor and cigarette tax collection duties away from the beverage director and give them to the state comptroller.

There was a little lifeless debate before the House adopted, by a vote of 49-30, a compromise bill which would limit all political contributions to $1,000, prohibit any contributions at all from liquor, utilities and racing interests and make all candidates keep a single campaign bank account and report donations to it and expenditures from it in detail.

There was no dissenting voice.

Warren Impeachment

Rep. Kirkland objected to the suggestion, made by Rep. Summers, but Okell said he wouldn't attempt to fight it. The House will have to give its permission for a secret session because under its rules, all committee meetings must be open to the public.

The Governor could not be reached for comment. The telephone operator in his office said he was in conference and could not be disturbed.

All of the charges involved complaint that have been made publicly before about the Governor, his campaign expenditures, the conduct of his Racing Commission, his reinstatement of three ousted sheriffs, and the Florida gambling situation.

A two-thirds vote of the House would immediately suspend the governor from office and Senate President Wallace E. Sturgis of Ocala would take over his duties. The State Senate would then, within six months, conduct a trial of the Governor.

No Florida Governor ever has been removed by impeachment, although the House twice, in 1868 and 1872, voted impeachment articles against Republican Governor Harrison Reel.

Okell's 16-page resolution accused Warren, among other things, of:

1. Fabricating his sworn campaign expense statement by failing to list $105,000 in contributions from race track owner William H. Johnston and others.

2. Reappointing members of the State Racing Commission in disregard of "ample evidence" that they failed to enforce the racing laws and had readmitted ousted bookmakers to race tracks.

3. Reinstating sheriffs Jimmy Sullivan of Dade county, Alex Littlefield of Volusia county, and Hugh Culbreth of Hillsborough county without investigating reports that they failed to enforce the gambling laws.

4. Appointing W. D. Crosby as a special investigator to help control of another.

Okell charged that Crosby went to Miami Beach in 1949 and contacted Harry Russell, a "notorious and ruthless gambler" whom the Kefauver Committee said was a Kefauver mob member who muscled into the SAC Bookmaking Syndicate.

Korean War

(Continued from Page One) reported two groups of Chinese were ambushed southeast of Inje Sunday. "We slaughtered them," 500 and 1,000 were in each group, the officers reported. Between Southeast of Injeachon a Chinese division—between 6,000 and 10,000 men—was reported fighting desperately to escape before American troops sealed their last avenue to the north.

The U. S. Second, Seventh, Third, 24th and 25th Infantry Divisions, the First Cavalry and the First Marines were in the advance. So were British, French, Turkish, Greek, Dutch, Canadian, New Zealand, Australian, South African and other U. N. units.

Clearing weather enabled Air Force to roar back to the attack Monday after two days of bad flying conditions.

The Far East Air Forces reported five bombs and strafing forced 300 Reds to surrender to ground troops near Injeachon Sunday.

Flare-dropping planes caught between 3,000 and 4,000 Reds, French, Dutch, Canadian, New Zealand, Australian, South African and other U. N. units.

Red antiaircraft guns shot down two F-4H Marine planes Sunday.

U. S. Superforts flew through flak Monday and bombed two air strips, one was Pyongyang's, the other was in North Korea. This is a strategic widened in the center of the Red capital for use of the Communist air fleet which has never gotten into action.

Despite masses of Reds reported killed, trapped or surrendered, Eighth Army officers cautioned that the Communists were still capable of putting up a fight.

But their flight was an precipitate in many cases they made no attempt to destroy arms and ammunition brought with great difficulty down bomb-riddled roads to the front.

Large caches of ammunition were captured southwest of Inje, in and near Chunchon 45 miles northeast of Seoul, and near Chongson on the west central front.

Chongson ammunition dump, including usable American artillery shells, was captured by Greek infantrymen. The Greeks overran the hills between the British Gloucestershire battalion was cut to pieces last month.

They found one wounded Englishman who had been cared for by a Korean family for 33 days. He is the 50th known survivor of the battalion.

All of the other 550 in the battalion presumably were killed or captured.

McKinley Asserts Youth Should Be Trained For Peace

Young men should be trained for peace, the Rev. J. E. McKinley told veterans of all wars at a Memorial Day service Sunday morning at the First Methodist Church. The program was sponsored by the Col. Roosevelt Camp No. 13, United Spanish War Veterans.

What might be accomplished if the nation spent one tenth of the money for peace that it does for war, he questioned.

He compared the crosses and stars of David that mark the graves of the dead of the World Wars in which America participated to the altar of stones built by Joshua as a memorial to the Children of Israel who had died in battle.

Pointing out the democratic ideals for which Americans fought at Normandy and Iwo Jima, he warned that the nation today must rid itself of undemocratic practices including "the cancer of racism."

Racism is not an American idea, but a Nazi idea, he declared. The chief fault of Hitler and his Nazi hordes was the racism that led them to believe that they were a superior race of people and should lord it over the rest of mankind. This was the ideology that brought only death and destruction.

He warned against racial intolerance, and told veterans not to be led by privilege seekers who exploit their position of leadership for selfish gain.

Peace treaties should be based on the needs of the conquered, he stated, and declared that during the past five years, Germany and Japan had been allowed to exist in a maddening frustration of uncertainty.

Rev. McKinley said that he was sick at heart at the spectacle of our national Congress debating what to give in aid to India where many are starving, while this country has a surplus of wheat.

The Brooklyn Dodgers' top Opening Day attendance was recorded at least 100,000 fans as the Dodgers beat the Giants, 10-3.

Senators Told U.S. Must Have Air Superiority

Vandenberg Asserts American Air Force Is Only Deterrent To Red Aggression

WASHINGTON, May 29—(AP)—General Hoyt S. Vandenberg declared today the United States must maintain an Air Force able to destroy Russia's air power "and destroy it promptly."

Testifying at the Senate's MacArthur hearings, Vandenberg described the U. S. Air Force as the "big stick," or at least the "fairly large club" guarding the world against a new global war. But he said the present force may become only a "willow wand" as Russia increases her air power and atomic weapons stockpile.

Vandenberg, Air Force Chief of Staff, played for a continued build up of air strength in the midst of questioning from members of a Senate inquiry committee about the removal of General Douglas MacArthur from his command.

On the MacArthur issue, he had a sharp exchange with Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) who declared that Vandenberg had been just as critical of Korean policy as MacArthur was.

Hickenlooper suggested that raised a question as to whether Vandenberg should resign or be removed as chief of the Air Force. Vandenberg denied he had disagreed with any United States policy.

At another point, Vandenberg gave his definition of what would be "complete victory" in Korea. In response to questions from Senator Hunt (D-Wyo), he said he would regard it as complete victory if there was unification of Korea under a democratic government and "some sort of" a Korean-Chinese treaty.

In his discussion of the U. S. Air Force role in the present world situation, Vandenberg said he would support a "Theodore Roosevelt" type of policy, but carry a big stick. Then Vandenberg said:

"The United States has the opportunity of rearing a big stick, and can walk softly; but people will realize that big stick is the offensive strength of the United States Air Force."

"To date, instead of a big stick, but tomorrow, it is liable to be a willow wand."

"As the power of the Russian air force increases, and their stockpile of atomic weapons increases, the job of the United States Air Force becomes 'roughly doubled.'"

Vandenberg said the U. S. Air Force now is a deterrent to war "because of its ability to devastate the industrial potential of any great nation on the globe."

Then he added:

"Tomorrow, if the Russian air force has the atomic bomb and the ability to deliver them, we have to have an Air Force that can take the attrition that would be necessary to destroy that Air Force, and destroy it promptly; and after that, have a sufficient Air Force left to destroy the manufacturing potential of Russia, and to do what we call policing action after that, to insure that it was not rebuilt."

"Therefore, while today we have a fairly large club in the United States Air Force, that tomorrow, which is the date at which they will have sufficient atomic bombs, and aircraft to deliver them, we will not have, in my opinion, a sufficient air force."

Vandenberg went into a discussion of Russian air strength with the Senators but much of what he said was heavily censured. However, one statement left in was this: "They (the Russians) are building a long range air force."

Salvation Army Board Plans Fund Campaign

The Salvation Army Advisory Board met yesterday afternoon at the local C. Hotel, and made plans for the financial campaign for 1951. A $1,000 goal was set.

The fact that there was a shortage of funds last year was discussed, said Capt. Eva Williams, and hope was expressed that friends of the Salvation Army may make this amount up, and the goal will be attained.

Many letters requesting contributions are being sent out. If the response does not further the work, personal contacts will be made, she said.

In announcing that the objective of the drive is $3,000, Capt. Williams stated that the work last year had been done on a shoestring.

Present at the meeting were J. C. Moore, T. W. Lawton, Ralph A. Smith, Capt. Williams, and Lieut. Elmer Friesner.

Retiring Kindergarten Teacher

After 22 years of teaching kindergarten classes at the South Side Primary School, Mrs. Stella Arrington retired recently in order to take care of her 92-year-old mother. On May 17, she gave a May party for her class on the school grounds and the children enjoyed a May pole dance. Among those standing with Mrs. Arrington at the school entrance are children of former pupils, Mrs. Arrington's father was the late Judge Thomas M. Puleston of Monticello, her brother was the late Dr. Samuel Puleston and her sister was the late Mrs. Stella Arrington, who served for 22 years as principal of the school. Mrs. Arrington and mother live at 801 Magnolia Avenue. A daughter, Mrs. W. M. McCulloch and three grandchildren from Massachusetts are visiting her. Describing her kindergarten teaching, Mrs. Arrington said, "I loved it to the last minute."

Troops Pour Into Iranian Capital As Crisis Worsens

TEHRAN, Iran, May 29—(AP)—Tanks and troop-laden trucks rumbled through this tense capital today as Iran's government braced itself for Communist-led "anti-imperialist" demonstrations throughout the land.

Hundreds of troops poured into the city to reinforce regular police already alerted for the demonstrations, expected to be the biggest since the Communists have faced since their outlawed Tudeh Party was forced underground in 1949.

Occasion for the latest Red agitation is the 10th anniversary of the signing of the rich oil concession to the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, which Western observers have tagged as a Communist front. The demonstrations are advertised to last three weeks.

Today's rallies will be staged at Tehran and other Tudeh strongholds, including the oil center of Abadan, Isfahan, industrial center, and Tabriz, capital of the agricultural Azerbaijan province.

Meanwhile the British-Iranian oil dispute remained deadlocked following Iran's flat rejection yesterday of steps by Britain to take the case to the International Court of Justice (World Court) at The Hague.

U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady visited Tudeh Nationalist Premier Mohammed Mossadeq for more than an hour yesterday and at the premier's request conferred with Sir Francis M. Shepherd, British ambassador. There was speculation that Mossadeq was trying to press Grady into the role of unofficial negotiator between the government and Britain—but with the stubborn stand that any settlement must be on Mossadeq's terms.

So far, these terms have meant carrying out the nationalization law as it stands with all oil revenues going to Iran, and with possibly some of the present employees being retained to help run the company.

The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company chief target of the demonstrators, announced it was authorizing the wives and children of the British, Pakistani and Indian employees to quit Abadan, the oil port, "on leave" at company expense. (Continued on Page Three)

Mrs. D. R. Whidden, American Legion Auxiliary chairman of the Poppy Day program, yesterday "wax" (shook) the members of the Auxiliary, Legion and Girl Scouts who succeeded in disposing of more than 5,000 poppies to aid veterans and families.

Mrs. Whidden also expressed thanks to merchants from window displays, and the Herald for public aid and co-operation.

WATERBURY
WATERBURY, May 29—(AP)—Four Wagner College trustees resigned today at a board meeting called to determine who will head the long-fought Central Florida school.

Wagner was admitted at the start of the meeting as a private individual.

Details of the session were not released but a short while later the trustees adjourned from their initial meeting place in the chapel to the Morse Art Gallery. A block away because they said the gallery is air conditioned while the chapel is not.

Wagner was denied admittance and he left the gallery, strolling back across the campus with his wife in a suit.

In a list of trustees issued by the opposing faction, Prof. Hugh F. McKean, named president at the New York session was shown as a member of the board while Wagner was not.

A campus storm began a few days ago and brought down a few days of rain. Prof. McKean said he was either resigning or being fired. Eleanora of the college's 21 trustees met last month in New York and the announcement Prof. McKean had been named president followed a few days ago.

Red Escape Route By Hwachon Dam Blocked By Allies

City Commission Decides Not To Sell Corner Lot

By OLEN CLEMENTS
TOKYO, Wednesday May 30—(AP)—South Korean troops stabbed forward a dozen miles Tuesday against little or no opposition to seize the east coast port of Kansong, 28 miles inside North Korea.

Other United Nations forces on the central front gained control of an important ridge overlooking the escape route for thousands of North Chinese. The ridge at the eastern end of the Hwachon Reservoir.

The Allied push was designed to slam the door on Red troops still south of the reservoir, said a pooled dispatch.

The Allies were within four miles of the reservoir at the last ridge line, according to that strategic town.

The Reds fought bitterly to delay the Allied troops on the mountainous central front but gains of as much as 4,000 yards (about two miles) were scored by powerful Allied tank and artillery-supported task forces.

Two Chinese divisions were wiped out in a four day battle on the central front, south of the 38th Parallel. The U. S. Eighth Army said that Chinese lost 8,000 men—killed, wounded, or captured—in the single battle.

Smaller, but equally stubborn fights raged across Korea north of the 38th Parallel. The U. S. Eighth Army said that Chinese lost 8,000 men—killed, wounded, or captured—in the single battle.

Allied troops were held back by the Chinese in the peninsula where U. N. troops tried to seal off all Hwachon Reservoir.

South Korean troops were strong along the south bank of the reservoir, about four miles east of the dam site. U. S. Marines were on the western end. American infantrymen fighting under strong opposition gained one mile Tuesday in their drive to reach its eastern end.

A delay and heavy censorial dispatch from AP correspondent Tom Bradshaw said a powerful U. N. task force bogged down Monday northeast of this city.

Allied casualties in this battle were heavy. Bradshaw reported. Reds pined sporadic fire from the surrounding hills into the town—a leveled area of mud huts interspersed with dead Chinese and horses.

The "ungodly smell of dead flesh" hung over the town. "And along the streets of the town lay bodies of Chinese Communists as battered by the passing vehicles that they could hardly be recognized as human beings."

Bradshaw reported the task force had rumbled across the bodies in the night "with a dull crunching of human bones."

Reds lining the hills northeast of the town slowed the tanks to a crawl with a series of anti-aircraft and heavy mortar and automatic weapon fire, not finally halted it.

Blood Bank Clinic Will Be Sponsored By Lions On June 21

A blood bank clinic, sponsored by the Lions Club, will be held here on Thursday, June 21. J. D. McNeill, chairman of the club's blood bank committee, told members today.

King Lion Harry Robinson announced that following a meeting of directors Thursday night, he will announce the names of three members to be appointed to aid in the blood bank program.

Henry Wicks told of measures passed at the recent state convention of Lions in Jacksonville and announced that Daytona Beach had been selected to hold the convention next year.

Jack Stempier, Lion tail rooster, was informed by King Lion Robinson that the fund he had obtained by means of numerous 10 cent fines against members, "had been spent most wisely and conclusively at the convention."

Members as well as directors of the club were invited to attend the directors' meeting Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Cecil Carlton. W. R. Connolly was directed to represent the club at the Red Cross chapter meeting Friday night.

14 Bodies Recovered As Hope Dwindles For Remaining 63

EASINGTON, Eng., May 29—(AP)—A violent explosion buried 78 British coal miners today behind a tunnel full of thousands of tons of rock. The bodies of 14 men were dragged out by rescuers and one man was taken out badly crushed and burned but still alive. By late afternoon 63 still were unaccounted for.

Twelve brigades of rescuers worked in teams through the tunnel rocks attempting to clear 1,000 yards of blocked tunnel to reach the blast area, 900 feet underground at the large Easington coal pit.

H. E. Collins, production director of the Durham coal mining division, said "we have not given up hope" but Ford Minister Philip Noel-Baker told the House of Commons he feared it was "not at all probable" that any of the trapped men could have escaped through old tunnels branching off from the gas-laden explosion site.

By early afternoon rescue parties had driven through more than 300 yards of debris. Mining officials said the coal face, where men are trapped, was another 700 yards away.

Fresh air was being forced through neighboring seams but "space it would filter through to the men."

The violent blast blew two men said he was lifted and tossed 60 feet by the tumbling debris. One man was thrown 20 to 30 yards.

Correspondent Uses Trick To Rid Himself Of Captured Chinese Red

By JIM BECKER
EAST-CENTRAL, KOREA, May 29—(AP)—I had a Chinese Red soldier on my hands today. I thought for a while I would have to take him home with me. Only by subterfuge was I able to rid myself of him.

I found him this morning. You might even say I captured him.

There he was cowering in the bushes as I walked by. He stood up with his hands raised and smiled. I didn't have a gun but he didn't either. He looked like he was about 11 years old, so I figured I could handle him.

There we were—a scared Chinese and a frightened reporter, face to face.

I motioned to him to come with me and he padded along silently, grinning like mad.

I took him to my jeep and put him in the front seat. I didn't want him sitting in the back.

All the while I was driving, I kept one eye on him and the other on the road. He never made a move and he never stopped grinning.

First I stopped some Marine infantrymen coming down the road. "You want a prisoner?" I asked. "What would we do with him?" one asked. "You take him back to the rear."

So I started back to the rear with my grinning captive. At the next cross road I met an MP.

I stopped the jeep and pointed to my grinning boy.

"Here's a prisoner for you." "I don't want him," said the MP. "Take him to the rear. And move on, you are blocking traffic."

Down the road we went—old happiness boy and his private chauffeur.

After about a mile, I passed a prisoner of war (POW) processing point for a battalion.

I stopped the jeep, motioned to my captive to wait, and went inside. (Continued on Page 3)

Mrs. Chapman Says Housing Needs Are Cause Of Loans

The demand for housing facilities for Navy personnel has resulted in increased requests for loans for new housing construction and improvements. Mrs. R. E. Chapman, secretary of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, stated today.

This fact was revealed at a meeting Friday of the board of directors, she stated. Loans for new construction and improvements during the past year exceeded $20,000,000 and applications indicate that this figure will be doubled in June.

Commitments of the Association indicate that construction of new homes is continuing at a rapid pace. More than 20 applications for new home loans were recently approved by the board. Mrs. Chapman pointed out.

Encouragement is being given by the firm to those planning to build new homes, and with the increasing demand for rental properties created by the expansion of Navy personnel, those who wish to convert unused space into income-producing property are being helped by the Association, she said.

During June, July and August the office at 119 West First Street will be closed Wednesdays at 1:00 P. M., and Saturdays at noon. Office hours on other working days will be from 9:00 A. M. to 5:00 P. M.

Miss Dorothy Von Herbulis, corresponding secretary of the Business and Professional Women's Club, which is sponsoring a local beauty contest on June 7 today, asked that those entering the contest mail entries to Post Office Box 808 instead of Box 832 as previously announced. Among the merchants promoting the contest is Yowells, she stated.

Warren Terms Failure Of Impeachment Vote Of Confidence In Administration

TALLAHASSEE, May 29—(AP)—The Florida Senate today approved a $274,056,984 General Appropriations bill agreed to shortly after midnight by House and Senate conferees. The measure appropriates funds to operate the state government during the next two years.

The Senate vote was 32 to 2. A companion $274,000,000 General Appropriations bill before the Florida Legislature today calls for spending $28,000,000 more in the next two years on general fund agencies and institutions than the 1949 Legislature provided.

Most items were increased, but practically no agency got it all asked.

About $10,000,000 of the $28,000,000 increase over current appropriations is in allocations for new buildings. The 1949 Legislature provided nothing for construction.

Governor Warren today expressed his gratitude for what he described as a "vote of confidence" at the House action in decisively defeating Rep. Okell's impeachment move.

"I am more grateful than I can say for the Legislature's almost unanimous vote of confidence. Now that the people of Florida have spoken through their elected representatives, I invite everyone to join us in the increasing efforts of our administration to make state government more of a blessing and less of a burden, which efforts have resulted in higher productivity and greater progress than Florida has ever before enjoyed. I hope we may all march one way in mutual well-deserving ranks."

"I rededicate myself to renewed service to all the people of Florida."

Rep. Okell said today he considered "one half of my program has been successful."

The Dade county representatives explained his first concern during the 1951 session has been to put across a legislative program for the benefit of his administration.

As soon as he announced his plan to bring impeachment proceedings against the Governor seven weeks ago, Okell said, Warren's usual lobbyists disappeared from the Legislature and he has never intervened since.

Okell said he didn't consider the failure of the House to vote the impeachment articles a complete failure for his efforts.

"I think the people are the first time have been able to see in concrete concrete form what the true picture is the affairs of the state government. I think they will do something about it in the next election," Okell said.

The Senate completed legislation today on the bill designed to set down a concise, unambiguous spelling in Florida. The vote was 30-0.

Senator Dayton of Dade City, member of the conference committee which drew the bill said it was designed to do these things:

1. Prevent race track officials, alcoholic beverage license holders and corporations from contributing to campaigns.

2. Limit the amount any person or group may give to a candidate to $1,000.

3. Provide for the appointment of a campaign treasurer through must clear.

4. A centralized depository for campaign funds must be set up and the funds must be promptly accounted.

Dayton and Senator Branch of Tampa said one of the biggest features of the bill is to bring out in the open "secret contributions."

"Unless something of this kind is done we are going to have chaotic conditions in Florida politics," Dayton said.

Florida Elks have elected one of the most capable men in Florida as their president for the coming year.

Congressman Herlong votes for a $190,000,000 loan to India for emergency food relief.

Russia's Jacob Malik tells the AP that reported Russian peace feelers in the last few weeks are "completely groundless".

The Congress of the United States made one realistic move the other day. It passed and sent to the White House a bill designed to prevent American economic aid to any nation which in turn lends economic aid to China or any other Communist nation.

The bill providing for public inspection of Florida welfare rolls has gone to the Governor for his signature without the stippling amendment which would allow anyone directly connected with the administration of relief to be investigated.

Commenting on the attempt to impeach Governor Warren, the Tampa Tribune says: "This outcome was expected."

Pointing out that 2,472 Bibles are being distributed by the Gideon Camp of Jacksonville to Duval County high school graduates, the Times-Union says: "Acquaintance with the Bible is essential to a well rounded education."

The House voted yesterday to tighten its controls on campaign expenditure. More frequent and more detailed reports will be required in the future and contributions of more than $1,000 from any one person would be prohibited.

Congratulations to Rep. Charles D. Andrews who sponsored the Rollins College Trustees bill for having the political courage to change his mind when he found out he had been misinformed and was wrong about it and for asking Governor Warren to veto it.

The Dartmouth College Case

The attempt to dominate Rollins College by political pressure, fortunately defeated yesterday when the State Legislature after more mature consideration reversed itself, was not the first time that political control of private educational institutions has been attempted in this country, and defeated.

It was just 132 years ago that the Supreme Court under Chief Justice Marshall ruled that an act of the state legislature of New Hampshire amending the original charter of Dartmouth College to provide for the appointment of 11 new trustees and to establish a board of overseers to control the conduct of the trustees, was unconstitutional.

The dispute had grown out of a conflict between the president of the college and the trustees over a very fundamental concept of free education in America. It involved religious freedom and soon became embroiled in party politics. Those who wanted the college to accept all denominations of religious faith lined up on one side; those who stood by the state church were on the other. The Federalists were on one side; the Republicans on the other.

The case finally went to the Supreme Court on the sanctity of contracts. Daniel Webster, a rising young attorney from the state of New Hampshire, was employed to represent the case of the trustees. He argued that the college was a private and not a public corporation, that the charter of such a corporation was a contract between it and the state and that no change could be made in the charter by the state without the consent of the corporation.

But more important than the technicalities involved or the fundamental principles of law was the passion of Webster's oratory. He was himself an alumnus of Dartmouth. He loved his old school as only the most devoted alumnus can love his Alma Mater. With all the eloquence at his command he pictured the peace and beauty, the intellectual progress under the old regime. And then he told of the political assault which had been made upon her. He showed this beloved citadel of learning threatened with an unholy invasion of Jacobins and imposters.

Finally, looking Chief Justice Marshall squarely in the eye, and pounding on the table before him, he shouted, "Sir, I know not how others may feel, but for myself, when I see my Alma Mater surrounded, like Caesar in the senate-house, by those who are reiterating stab after stab, I would not, for this right hand, have her turn to me, and say, 'Et tu quoque, mi fili! And thou too, my son!'"

"This, then is my case. It is the case not merely of that humble institution, it is the case of every college in our land."

"Sir, you may destroy this little institution; it is weak; it is in your hands! I know it is one of the lesser lights in the literary horizon of our country. You may put it out. But if you do so you must carry through your work! You must extinguish, one after another, all those greater lights of science which for more than a century have thrown their radiance over our land."

"It is, sir, as I have said, a small college. And yet there are those who love it."

Night Safety Problem

Safety at night is one of the most troublesome elements in the problem of reducing street and highway accidents. The accident rate is much higher at night than in the day. It is complicated by a vicious circle. Plainly the reason for more accidents at night is that drivers cannot see so well. Yet as the power of headlights has been increased to give the driver better illumination of the road ahead and of objects in his path, the brighter lights of oncoming cars have become more blinding and therefore a greater interference with the driver's vision. Further increase in the brightness of headlights tends to defeat its purpose.

In city areas the problem can be solved effectively by street lighting. Some city streets are now lighted so well that headlights are not really needed. In residential areas and the open country, however, such lighting is too costly.

Another possible solution is suggested by the industrial science research laboratory at Iowa State College, which has been studying the use of paints and materials which reflect light so well that they seem to be lights themselves. These have been put to many advertising and decorative uses in the last few years. Used for marking vehicles, these reflective materials greatly increase the distance at which the vehicles can be seen and recognized at night, without increasing headlight power and therefore without adding a glare. Good results also have been obtained in using these materials for road markers and for markers on the clothing of pedestrians. There seem to be exciting possibilities here, worth continued exploration.

If night driving could be made as safe as day driving, a tremendous improvement in highway safety would be achieved at a single stroke.

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Dr. Alfred Torrie, wartime director of British army psychiatrists, makes the startling pronouncement that Britons are immature because they treat their women as slaves.

"We are still a patriarchal nation, a male-dominated society," declares Dr. Torrie. "Women are just the slave, the helms, the chattel, and Britain won't grow up until women have more influence."

It strikes us that the good doctor performs a very daring feat in thus mauling his elders to the mast. One suspects that he may get an argument from some of England's "slave" women. However, since he has introduced the subject your columnist ventures to make a few cautious observations.

I've spent many years in England. When I first arrived there some 35 years ago one of the things which impressed me was the dominance of the male in the family circle. He was the acknowledged boss, and there never was any argument about it—well, hardly ever.

The whole life of the family revolved about father. He decided this, that and everything. Even the week-end roast was selected and prepared to suit his taste. He was pretty much lord of all he surveyed.

It gives you a concrete example of the British man's dominance in those days. The divorce laws were very sticky, and while a husband could divorce his wife for infidelity, she couldn't divorce him on those same grounds. The reason was simple: what amounted to a Vermont-bred Yankee.

The law held that a husband had a right to sow wild oats, and even to have a mistress if he wanted one. But the privilege of cultivating such wild oats wasn't extended to the lady of the house. Apropos of this I recall a conversation long ago with a big-time London Business man. Said he:

"I have a lucrative business, a lovely home, a charming wife and three fine children. And I have my mistress. What more can a man want?"

Well, that question sort of stumped me. I couldn't think of anything more he needed except maybe a kick in the trousers. However, since those days there has been a great change in England, and one evidence is in the reform of the divorce laws to give both sexes the same funds.

FATHER'S DAY

NAMED "FATHER OF THE YEAR" by the National Father's Day Committee in New York, Sen. Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee, is presented with a cake by Girl Scout Susan Jeffrey, 13. He was chosen for his "outstanding achievement" in exposing organized crime, and also as the father of four children. "Father's Day" will be celebrated June 17. (International) mental rights. British women but present day English women these days have pretty much the same rights as men in most walks of life, even to holding public office. Perhaps they don't take as much advantage of these new found privileges as, say the women in America, but the rights are there.

Home life in Britain got a tremendous shaking up during the last world war. There was very little domestic help available. The result was that the housewife not only had to do all her own work but had to spend long hours standing in line to buy necessities.

The men—to give the lady due credit—recognized that this was tough on the women folk and jumped in to help with household duties. These days the mighty male even takes a hand at washing dishes—that is, a lot of men do.

Still, while there have been these striking changes, it's true that man continues to rule the roost, so to speak—or thinks he does. Anyway, he is accorded many of those deft courtesies which please his ego without hurting the womenfolk.

The term always is relative.

Celery Crate Holds Party For Seniors

The Celery Crate, the Seminole High School Youth Center, held its annual graduation dance Saturday night honoring the senior graduating class and the incoming freshman class. Representatives of the various civic organizations that help sponsor the "Crate" were also honored. The guests were met at the door by Miss Ann Whitaker, president of the club, and each was presented with a miniature diploma tied with the class colors of green and gold. On the diploma was printed the program for the evening. The "Crate" was decorated in colors of green and gold and streamers were draped the entire length of the room centered with a large group of balloons. The stage and tables were decorated with fern and tall baskets of gladioluses were placed about the room. The decorating committee was composed of Ann Whitaker, Sandra Dunn, Grace Marie Stinecifer, Ann Dunn, Robert Baker, Bobby Morris, Billy Park and Bonnie Anderson. A floor show was presented under the direction of Miss Whitaker. The program consisted of a strut tap by Miss Dottie Williams, songs by the melody muskies, Edwin Tison, Joe McClung, Jimmy Smith, Jimmy Hanson and Charles Willis. Baton tap by June Jennings and Gerald Covington sang a solo, "Be My Love", accompanied by Miss Ollie Reese Whittle. Refreshments were served from a long table overlaid with a lace cloth and burning tapers in candleholders were placed at both ends of the table. Green and yellow cakes were served and punch was poured by Mrs. C. A. Anderson, Mrs. Fred Cooper, Mrs. A. C. Cleveland, Mrs. J. P. Holtzclaw and Mrs. J. M. Stinecifer. Approximately 200 guests enjoyed the evening. Mrs. Holtzclaw is director of the Celery crate and Mrs. J. M. Stinecifer, recreational director.

SEMINOLE HI

Only two more days in May left. Have you begun to make your plans for graduation and homecoming? Well, hurry up! Don't be late! This of all nights you'll want to go and see. In the S.H.S. auditorium Sunday and Monday nights, June 10 and 11. Baccalaureate services will be on the Sunday and graduation will follow the next night. Seats will be hard to get, so be there early. The school picnic was held today in Sanford. School was let out at two o'clock. Everyone had loads of fun! It couldn't have been better. Seen as a grand success. Class Day is June 7. Another important date on your calendar. Remember the Celery Crate comes out then! Chat Chat Galore: "The Music Maniacs" were awfully good, didn't you think? Let's hear some, boys! The Sallies came out today and were they pretty! Lines given no less. And with the new protective coverings, we bet we'll keep longer than ever, ever before! Romance Data: We heard that Betty Williams is having a little love trouble. Who with, we wonder? That reminds us that Johnnie Mae Jones has a darling new boy friend! Hmmm... And that is all for now. Be with you way Friday night!

City Commission

(Continued from Page One) north side of Twenty-fourth Street between Sanford Avenue and Park Avenue to permit multiple dwellings and the area bounded by Third and Fifth Streets, Pecan and Mangrove Avenues for erection of a new public housing project. The Commission authorized taking of bids to drill a test well near the Lake Mary Road south of Twenty-fifth Street. The well is intended to furnish additional water supply for Sanford. A proposed amendment to the curfew ordinance prohibiting minors under 18 being out after 10:30 P. M. unless accompanied by parents, was tabled by the Commission. The present curfew law, said Mr. McKibbin, prohibits children under 17 to be on the streets unaccompanied by parents after 11:00 P. M. The Real Estate Board returned an appraisal of $4,500 on the Lumley house and lot at French Avenue and Ninth Street. The Commission set the selling price at $6,500 to be offered to the Lumley heirs, and to a list of applicants on file. The Veterans on the Farm Class requested the use of the municipal swimming pool and playground for a picnic on June 16. They were advised that they could use these facilities, but not exclusively. The Commission accepted the resignation of Mrs. M. M. Manning, commissioner.

Iranian Crisis

(Continued from Page One) controlled by the British government, are marked for nationalization by the Iranian government. N. K. Seldon, representative of the company in Iran, was to see the Iranian Minister of Finance tomorrow—the deadline of an ultimatum to the company to confer with the Iranian government on how the liquidation of the firm's holdings will be accomplished. U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady arranged a luncheon meeting, meanwhile, with Sir Francis Shepherd, the British ambassador, and F. Mohammed Messadegh, Iran's Nationalist premier who has sparked the nationalization program. This meeting was to be the first meeting of the three together, and in view of Grady's offer to mediate the dispute, was looked upon by some as an optimistic sign that informal talks could widen into formal negotiations. (In London, Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison implored the Iranians to consider the dangerous potentialities of the situation and negotiate in an atmosphere of good will. He expressed British willingness, under certain unspecified conditions, to accept some form of nationalization of the British oil holdings.) The Tudeh Party, bent on its biggest demonstration since it was outlawed and forced underground in 1949; pegged today's turnout to the 15th anniversary of the signing by Britain and Iran of the 60-year oil concession allowing the British to be the sole exploiters of Iran's rich oil deposits. Parliament, in a wave of Nationalist fervor, voted a month ago to end the concession. Automobiles equipped with loud speakers toured Tehran's streets urging the people to turn out for the rally to hear flaming Anti-American and Anti-British speeches in front of the two embassies. The speakers also made a big point of their demand that the Tudeh party again be allowed to operate openly and freely. The Tudeh party set rallies also for the Persian Gulf port of Abadan, for Isfahan, an industrial center, and for Tabriz, capital of the northwestern province of Azerbaijan on Russia's border which, five years ago, was held for a time by Communist separatists. The sponsoring group for the rallies is the Society to Fight Imperialistic Oil Companies in Iran which, observers say, is the Tudeh party's front. To stretch creamed chicken and ham for a buffet supper, add finely diced celery when reheating. The crisp texture of the celery plus its flavor, adds to this dish.

Is Your House On the Toboqan?
Leaks in the roof—siding torn loose—paint peeling... these are the little things that shout, "Your house is on the down-grade, Mister."
Better spend a few dollars now to repair, before rising prices and shortages catch up with your plans. We'll show you how.
Stop in and talk it over with Mr. Hill.
