Lawyers Hired To Research Land Reservations

Eckstein Pushes For Expressway Challenge

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford City Commissioner Whitey Eckstein has hired lawyers to research the possibility of filing a lawsuit challenging the constitutionality of reserving property for the proposed expressway through Sanford.

In retaining the Sanford law firm of Hutchison and Mamele, Eckstein said he is not acting as a city commissioner, but as a citizen of Sanford.

"I've been against the expressway coming through Sanford since the idea first came up," Eckstein said. "I want to get this thing going now while people's interest is hot."

The Seminole County Expressway Authority, now that it has chosen a route for the expressway, will next have its staff draw up maps of the route. Property within that route may be reserved for up to five years, with a five-year extension. No payment for the reserved property need be made and rezoning and property improvements are prohibited. Being put in such 'limbo' is what has property owners upset.

Eckstein said he has received several calls from property owners in the path of the expressway and decided to take action on their behalf.

He explained that he did not go through William Colbert, city attorney, because the city has already run up a large legal bill in fighting the Yankee Lake purchase by the county.

"Besides, I think this will be a more grassroots approach than an official city commission action, and it won't cost the taxpayers anything," Eckstein said.

At Monday night's city commission meeting

Commissioner John Mercer made a motion that the commission file suit against the expressway authority, but the motion died for lack of a second.

Eckstein said he didn't support the motion because Mercer favors Route 53 over Route 68, the one chosen, and Eckstein doesn't approve of that route either, which cuts through his district.

He said he plans to contact people and businesses in or near the expressway path and ask for their support in the proposed legal action. He hopes to raise money enough to pay the law firm for its expenses.

A group of property owners in the expressway path have scheduled a meeting in the Sanford

Shed-Dweller Won't Move, Faces Jail

Jail could be the consequence of Marvalyn Higgins' refusal to vacate an aluminum shed south of Oviedo. She has lived in the shed since spring.

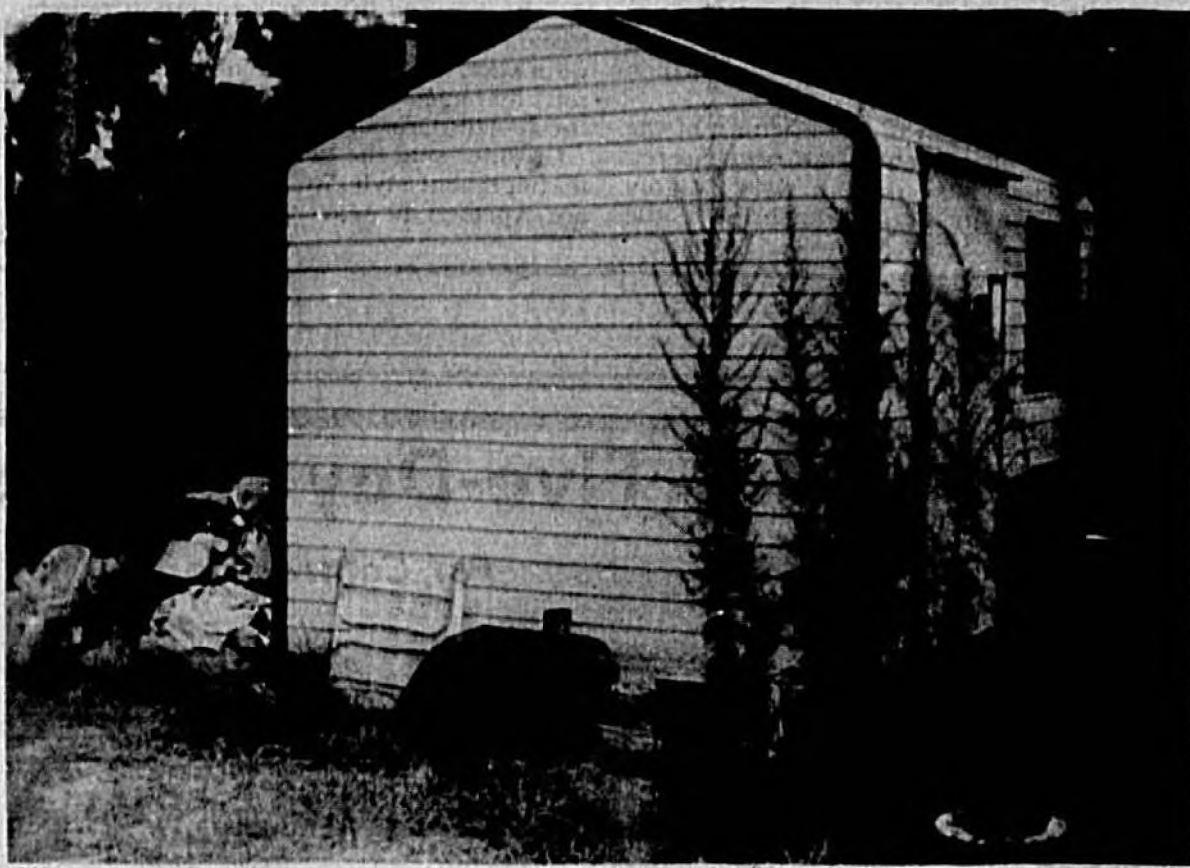

Seminole County code enforcement officials and officials of the Seminole Health Department say they have exhausted their patience with Higgins, who so far has ignored thousands of dollars in fines and continued complaints from her Lowery Drive neighbors.

Since early June, the code board has fined her $250 a day. In May, the board was fining her $50 a day. Left unpaid, the fines could open the door to county foreclosure on the property.

By the end of the week the health department intends to take legal action aimed at forcing the woman to move out of the tiny aluminum building she erected on a lot she owns at 2971 Lowery Drive, a residential street off of County Road 434. If the court orders Higgins to vacate and she refuses, the court could cite her for contempt, said Jim Sawyer, an attorney for the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

"She'll be in a position of not looking at fines," Sawyer said. "She could be facing the possibility of jail. Generally these sort of sanitary violations can be handled with fines. The county has already done this; so I don't see the point in going through it a second time."

Health department officials, armed with a civil warrant signed by Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler, on Friday inspected the overgrown lot. Garbage strewn about the property and the absence of toilet facilities led to a pair of citations against Higgins, Sawyer said.

The garbage and containers of human waste found on the property are beginning to breed mosquitoes and other pests, Sawyer said, noting it is a violation of state law for an occupied dwelling to be without a toilet connected to either a septic tank or sewer system.

"The neighbors are real anxious to get the problem cured. And from the photographs I've seen, I can understand why," he said.

Sawyer said the Health Department obtained the civil search warrant after repeated refusals by Higgins to allow health inspectors on the property.

"She owns the property; she has legal rights," he said. "We couldn't just swoop down on her like a bunch of vigilantes."

The HRS attorney said he hopes a court hearing can be held within two to three weeks.

Seminole Set On Penny Tax Referendum

By Ted Carter
Herald Staff Writer

A Nov. 3 referendum on a penny local option sales tax projected to generate $19 million a year became a near certainty Tuesday with the Seminole County Commission's decision to notify the supervisor of elections of its intent to hold the countywide vote.

Commissioners have until Sept. 8 to back out of the referendum, though the governing body gave no indications it would call off the vote. Sept. 8 is the date of a public hearing and final adoption of the ballot question voters will answer.

The referendum is scheduled to coincide with municipal elections in Altamonte Springs, Casselberry, Longwood and Winter Springs.

County and city projects proposed for funding under the local option tax will be included in a draft ordinance County Administrator Ken Hooper plans to present county commissioners Aug. 11. The ordinance will include brief descriptions of the projects proposed for funding with the tax money. The project descriptions must also appear on the Nov. 3 ballot question.

Hooper, who has been meeting with city managers and other officials of the county's seven cities, said he expects the cities to soon complete the list of infrastructure projects they will ask voters to approve for funding with the option tax.

County staff is preparing a list of transportation-related projects to be supported by the tax. Hooper said previously he would recommend "at least some" of the revenue go toward building the portion of the expressway through the county. Projections are that the county's annual share of the tax would be $12 million.

Cities are considering a range of public facilities projects, including utilities, roads and construction of municipal buildings. Estimates are the cities would divide $7 million of the tax annually under a distribution formula devised by the state Department of Revenue.

The tax would apply to the See TAX, page 10A

Rookie Robie To Talk Safety

When "Officer Robie" made his first appearance in the squad room at the Winter Springs Police Department it was quite natural for fellow officers to look up in surprise. What with Robie being only about two feet tall and having wheels instead of feet he was certain to stand out. But one good thing about being a robot — as is Robie — the good-natured jokes about his mechanical physique bounced off of his metallic body like slugs off a bullet-proof vest.

In charge of "getting Officer Robie with the program" is Community Relations Officer Brenda Sonafelt. According to Sonafelt, even though Robie is still "a rookie" he is expected to be on line for Seminole County Law Day events which will take place at the Altamonte Mall Friday and Saturday.

Robie was donated to the police department earlier this year by the Winter Springs VFW Post #5405. Replicas of the department's patch and a sticker with the name "Officer Robie" printed on it were recently donated by Sears of Altamonte Springs and affixed to the robot to make him an official member of the force.

Sonafelt said Robie will be "used mainly in the schools to talk to children about safety." A tape playing unit embedded in the robot's chest plays programmed tapes which can also control movement. Other features which Sonafelt feels the children will delight in are Robie's "big blue eyes" that really light up and his ability to simulate various musical tones.

Man Enraged Over Alimony

Court Shooting Leaves 3 Dead

PORT ST. JOE, (UPI) — A man enraged over his $350-a-month alimony payments opened fire with two guns in a courthouse Tuesday, killing a veteran judge, a lawyer and a bystander and wounding his ex-wife before he was shot by the sheriff.

Clyde Melvin, 62, wounded in the throat by Gulf County Sheriff Al Harrison as he held his ex-wife, Inez Melvin, on a jail roof, was charged with three counts of first-degree murder and one count of aggravated assault.

In Seminole County, all visitors to the county courthouse are met by bailiff who searches purses and briefcases. The bailiffs are also trained to identify personality types or behavior patterns that might indicate a potentially violent person. Those measures and others were incorporated after a January, 1984, courthouse shooting in Orange County which left one bailiff dead and two people permanently handicapped by their injuries. There were no security provisions at the Orange County Courthouse at the time. Thomas Provenzano, 37, has been sentenced to death in that shooting and recently lost an appeal of his conviction.

In Port St. Joe, Melvin and his wife, along with Circuit Court Judge W.L. Bailey and lawyers Tom Ingles and Robert Moore were in the judge's chambers at about 10:10 a.m. when the shootings occurred, authorities said.

Bailey, Ingles and Peggy W. Paulk, Inez Melvin's sister, were killed in the attack, police said. Inez Melvin, 58, was shot in the head by her former husband and was taken to Gulf Pines Hospital, along with the gunman.

A hospital administrator refused to disclose their conditions.

Melvin, a slender, almost frail paper mill security guard, was brought back to court for arraignment Tuesday evening. Wearing handcuffs, he staggered into the courtroom. His throat and left shoulder were heavily bandaged.

Melvin sat quietly with his head bowed as the charges against him were read.

Public Defender Virgil Mayo refused to allow Melvin to speak, except to tell State Attorney Jim Appleman he understood the charges.

Gulf County Judge David Taunton set a second hearing for Sept. 8 and ordered Melvin held without bail in the same jail where his rampage

Villages Buried, 1 Known Dead

Search On For 23 Missing In Alpine Valley Landslide

SONDRIO, Italy (UPI) — Rescue workers resumed their search at first light today for more victims of a massive Alpine valley landslide that buried two nearly evacuated villages and killed at least one person.

"If it were not for the evacuation the tragedy would have been of enormous dimensions," said Minister of Civil Protection Giuseppe Zamberletti, who flew by helicopter to the area from Rome Tuesday.

Authorities had evacuated 1,000 residents in the Valtellina valley, north of Milan, in the previous two days, but some had returned against orders. The area had been hit almost two weeks ago by devastating floods.

Rescue teams recovered one body and searched for 23 more victims who were missing and presumed dead in the landslide. Civil protection officials said rescue teams searched for bodies with dogs trained to sniff out avalanche victims.

Six injured people were hospitalized at nearby Sondalo.

The landslide, described by experts as being a mile wide and almost 200 feet high, left a swath of brown dirt and rock in the valley and dammed up the Adda River, where a lake began to form behind the wall of debris. The landslide also cut off the town of Bormio from the rest of Italy, making the town only accessible from Switzerland.

No Tax Increase Proposed In Oviedo Budget

By Maryann Cross
UCF Intern

There will be no property tax rate increase this year in Oviedo.

The Oviedo City Council tentatively gave unanimous approval to the fiscal 1987-88 budget as presented by City Manager Gene Williford in a work session Monday night.

Williford's proposed budget of $1,713,600 for fiscal 1987-88 calls for a $3.38 per $1,000 assessed valuation tax rate, the same as the current fiscal year.

This rate represents no increase in taxes to property owners, unless their property's assessed value has been increased by the Seminole County Property Appraiser.

Because of the substantial growth in Oviedo's tax base, the present rate will generate $486,471, about $150,000 in additional revenue, according to Williford. That figure is based on the existing $151 million tax base. Additional non-property tax revenues to support the proposed operating budget will come from state revenues ($357,479), building permits ($240,000), excise taxes ($503,000), and other sources ($116,650).

Williford's budget is $204,453 more than this fiscal year's $1,509,147. Most of the increased spending will go to hiring new employees, constructing a fire substation, providing for a city manager, and increasing city employee salaries across the board.

Williford's proposed budget calls for hiring three new employees and changing a part-time position to full-time.

Williford recommended that a part-time position in the building department be upgraded to full-time due to the additional amount of work from the increase in housing growth. An additional water department laborer was also recommended. Williford said with the addition of the new water plant, the city's plant operator no longer can perform all the work required.

A recreation coordinator is also included in the new budget, to be hired mid-year to assist in the planning of the city's parks and recreation programs. In addition, a secretary to assist the city manager was recommended.

Although building a fire substation is included in the budget, Williford said this construction is contingent upon the selection of a municipal complex site. There is a possibility that a substation could be built near or as part of a municipal complex which would serve the south central region of Oviedo.

The provision for a city manager was included for the first time in Oviedo's budget. Before Williford joined the city's staff earlier this year, his duties were performed by city council members.

Williford also recommended raising the city council members' salaries to $3,600 from the current $1,200. However, the average salary of a city council member in Seminole County is $4,800, according to Williford.

The proposed budget calls for a 5 percent cost-of-living increase for all city employees. This is in addition to the 2.5 percent increase given on an employee's anniversary date as provided for in the city's pay plan. Williford said there are 58 employees on the city's payroll. The salary increase accounts for most of the additional funds requested above this fiscal year's budget.

A public hearing on the budget will be held Sept. 14 at 7:30 p.m. at Oviedo City Hall.

KITES, KIDS AND POWER LINES CAN BE A DEADLY MIX.

For your child's safety, make sure there is nothing metallic on the kite, make sure that the string for the kite has no wire or metal in it, and don't let kids fly kites near power lines.

Ordinarily, power lines are quite harmless. But when a kite gets caught in a power line, it could become electrified. Tell your kids to let go of the string and leave the kite alone. Otherwise, the result could be deadly.

Always look up. Whether you're picking fruit or pruning trees, installing antennas or doing any activity that puts you in possible contact with overhead lines.

Don't be a victim of your own carelessness.

Irresponsible Opposition

Some opponents of genetic engineering have grossly exaggerated the danger. Genetic engineers cannot, for example, cross a cow with a frog to produce a new species. The genetic makeup of an individual animal is so complex that such a result would be impossible, said Bernard Davis, a Harvard University microbiologist.

Davis said: "While we can change genes at will in the test tube, we can't change the animals. We won't be making creatures with four legs and wings."

Researchers at Ohio University in Athens recently have come under criticism for a project to produce pigs that would have more meat and less fat. Michael Fox, scientific director of the U.S. Humane Society and an opponent of genetic research, said such experiments could lead to cosmic changes in nature. "We are talking about the takeover of the natural world," he said.

But Thomas Wagner, director of Harvard's genetic engineering center, said the fears are unfounded and the criticism is irresponsible. "The essence of a particular animal is something you don't change," he said. "A pig is a pig and a cow is a cow. You merely enhance certain aspects of it."

Scientists seeking permission to market a genetically engineered product must meet a high standard of proof that the product is safe. Speculation about what might happen isn't enough. Those who are attempting to raise the alarm against this promising new field of science ought to be held to just as high a standard.

Only Being Fair

The other day, President Reagan wisely vetoed legislation that would have made the Fairness Doctrine the law of the land. Actually, there is nothing "fair" about this misguided measure and we hope Reagan's veto leads ultimately to the doctrine's repeal by the Federal Communications Commission.

The Fairness Doctrine dates back to 1949, when there was a small number of radio and television stations in the country. FCC officials were concerned that this situation could severely limit public debate and hence, decreed that the proponents and opponents of a controversial issue receive equal air time.

However well-meaning the policy then, it has become obsolete today. The scarcity-of-outlet argument is now moot: No less than 10,000 radio stations, 1,300 television stations and 7,300 cable-television stations operate today. A vigorous and healthy public debate is carried forth on this vast communications network.

Moreover, the doctrine is particularly odious to democracy because it represents an unwarranted government intrusion into news operations. Ultimately, it leads to bland, timid reporting because it second-guesses editorial judgment. In fact, FCC officials consider the doctrine an infringement on free speech and believe it is constitutionally suspect.

Mind you, our opinion of the Fairness Doctrine is affected by our profession. But we speak from experience in asserting that the doctrine actually detracts from the public debate of issues.

It's only fair to the American people that Congress resist a veto override of this antiquated measure, setting the stage for an FCC deathblow to a doctrine that truly is constitutionally suspect.

Panel Probes Cocaine-Contra Scheme

By George Lobos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — While the congressional Iran-Contra committee drags one skeleton after another out of the Reagan administration's closet, a Senate panel is groping after even more ominous rattles in the darkest recesses.

A Senate foreign affairs subcommittee chaired by Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass., is wading ever deeper into charges that Nicaraguan rebel leaders were up to their armpits in drug smuggling — with the help of the CIA.

In a nutshell, the allegations are that Contra leaders enlisted drug dealers in Miami to help them raise money for the cause during the period when Congress cut off aid for the Contras.

Those potentially explosive accusations bubbled to the surface last year in Florida, issuing mainly from the mouths of convicted drug traffickers of dubious honesty and credibility. Similar charges were made by the Christie Institute on behalf of two journalists injured in a Central American bombing.

Since then, Kerry has been doggedly following the scent, but the trail has become — if anything — only murkier.

The difficulties faced by Kerry were amply demonstrated earlier this month when a former kingpin in Florida's flourishing network of Columbian cocaine merchants came before Kerry's panel to tell a tale that, in several respects, raised questions not easily put to rest.

The witness was Jorge Morales, a naturalized American citizen from Columbia who is now headed for a 10-year prison sentence in Miami for cocaine smuggling.

After coming to Miami in 1978, Morales led a flamboyant existence as a world-class powerboat racer and chieftain of a major drug ring that included Lear jets, helicopters and the other lavish accoutrements of the lifestyle.

However, the party appeared to be over in early 1984 when Morales was named in a federal indictment for drug smuggling.

But a few months after the indictment, Morales told the subcommittee, he was approached by individuals apparently associated with Contra leaders who offered him a deal: If he helped them set up a drug smuggling operation, they would "help" him with his legal problems.

Morales said he was assured by the supposed Contra representatives that their contacts in the CIA would put in some good words for him on high.

Shortly thereafter, Morales was granted bail — despite his unsavory reputation — and he remained free and easy for the next two years as his case languished in the courts.

So free and easy, said Morales, that he was able to help his Contra friends set up a lucrative, self-sustaining operation that involved bringing cocaine in from Costa Rica, selling it in Miami and then using the proceeds to buy weapons that were flown back to Central America for Contra forces.

Morales said his pilots told him at least two of the drug shipments were loaded up at a Costa Rican farm operated by John Hull, a shadowy figure alleged to be CIA liaison to the Contras in Costa Rica and a man whose name turned up in Lt. Col. Oliver North's appointment calendar for 1984 and 1985.

ROBERT WALTERS

The Blue Revolution In America

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The "green revolution" is widely known as the generally successful campaign by industrialized nations to help less developed countries become more self-sufficient by growing traditional agricultural crops.

But few people are familiar with the "blue revolution" — the concept of farming for fish and other forms of marine life that may have originated in China as many as 4,000 years ago.

Also known as aquaculture, the practice of growing fish in captivity for human consumption has become more widely accepted in recent years as a result of several developments:

• Decades of overfishing have led to depletion of natural stocks in both oceans and inland waterways.

• More than 100 nations have further restricted supplies of edible marine species by designating the ocean waters up to 200 miles from their shores as their exclusive fishing territory.

• In an era of relatively high oil prices, sending petroleum-fueled boats to mid-ocean fisheries is more expensive than relying on land-based operations.

• Many people in developed nations, increasingly sensitive to the relationship between diet and health, seek food high in protein but low in fat — a requirement fish fulfills better than meat or poultry.

"In a world where pressure on resources is mounting," notes the Washington-based Worldwatch Institute, "aquaculture should... be seen as a means of tapping some currently unused resources."

In 1980, the most recent year for which comprehensive statistics are available, a U.N. survey found that aquaculture accounted for the production of about 9 million tons of edible fish worldwide.

China was by far the leading country, accounting for more than 4 million tons. Japan produced almost 1 million tons while India followed with just under 850,000 tons.

Although aquaculture accounts for about 17 percent of all seafood consumed globally, the domestic industry provides only about 12 percent of the fish eaten in this country.

"The rapid growth of catfish farming in the lower Mississippi Valley," adds the Worldwatch Institute, "is one of the world's aquacultural success stories."

How Reagan Spilled Iran-Contra Beans

By Jack Anderson and Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — Adm. John Poindexter, President Reagan's former national security adviser, testified last week that he was "very nervous" and even "alarmed" when he learned that Reagan had confidentially confirmed the existence of the secret Iran initiative for us more than a year ago.

Poindexter's first admission came during a questioning by Rep. James Courter, R-N.J. The 45-year-old former prosecutor and Peace Corps volunteer, now in his fifth term, has become an influential member of the Iran-contra committee and the House as a whole.

Courter led Poindexter carefully through a series of the admiral's own statements that Reagan was concerned with a strategic opening to Iran, "not just hostages for weapons," as Courter summarized it. The congressman then said:

"Finally, I would like to say that it would be nice — it would be just wonderful if we had a tape recording of the president of the United States very early in 1986, and a transcript of same, stating what the presi-

Getting 'Straitened'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — By this time, I'm sure, all of us are familiar with the Strait of Hormuz and most of us have at least heard of the Florida Straits. But what about the Dire Straits?

We all know, for instance, that a strait — apparently one of those rare English nouns whose singular and plural forms are used interchangeably — is a narrow passageway connecting larger bodies of water.

The Florida Straits, for example, connect, or connects, the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean. And, in the case of the Strait of Hormuz, that passageway may keep the Arabian Sea from pouring into the Persian Gulf. And vice versa.

I know what you're going to say now. You have in mind asking that since it's all salt water anyway, what good is a strait?

A good question. But I hope you aren't one of those landlubbers who assume the Dire Straits admits ships to the Bermuda Triangle, where some vessels have mysteriously disappeared.

It is true that it is possible to be in Dire Straits without realizing it. However, the narrow passageway I have in mind was discovered in 1492 by Christopher Dire, a 15th Century Italian navigator.

Since Dire was sailing at the time near the Bahamas, reports that he had discovered a new, albeit narrow, passageway to the Bermuda Triangle may have been greatly exaggerated.

Someone, indeed, may have been lying. Perhaps, Congress should name two investigating committees to get to bottom of this.

However, I take it nobody was lying about the ocean bottom.

Anyway, the passageway we now know as the Dire Straits is located near Paranoia, which is a long way from the Bermuda Triangle.

Paranoia has the advantage of being either in the Atlantic or Pacific, depending on whose ox is being gored, so to speak. That is about the only advantage it has.

Dire — dare I call him Chris? — was sailing around the Bahamas looking for a narrow passageway to China. Was it his fault that someone put the North American Continent in the way?

If it weren't for land masses poking out where they have no business being, we wouldn't have straits.

Only the Florida Straits, for example, prevent the United States from running into Mexico somewhere south of Key West, and all that that implies. Probably we would need a new treaty, since the Rio Grande doesn't run all the way to Key West.

The Strait of Hormuz, for its part, keeps several independent oil-producing nations from being part of Iran.

Is everyone now strait on straits? Very well. Let us move on to another subject. Archipelagos, for instance.

Parasitic Disease Problems

By Gayle Young
UPI Science Writer

WOODS HOLE, Mass. — Disease-bearing parasites afflict an estimated 75 percent of the world's population, but parasitic research has been so limited there are few known treatments or preventive methods to combat the diseases, a public health specialist charges.

"AIDS is relatively minor (in scope) compared to malaria," said Dr. Kenneth Warren, a former investigator from the National Institutes of Health and director of health sciences at the Rockefeller Foundation. "Mosquitoes have become resistant to insecticides; the virus has become resistant to drugs."

Malaria is one of the most prevalent of the parasitic diseases. Other widespread types of parasites cause sleeping sickness, anemia and elephantitis, he said recently during a lecture at the Marine Biological Laboratory.

Few of the diseases are fatal, although some types of parasitic worms can cause death in small children through blood loss and diarrhea. But the diseases — caused by worms and other parasites found in water, food and on animals — have caused economic devastation and misery throughout the world, mostly in poor, overpopulated regions that are already beset with other problems.

"Parasites are distributed throughout the world. Eskimos are commonly exposed to parasitic infections," he said. "Ninety-seven percent of infant deaths occur in the developing world and most of them are due to parasitic diseases."

The Rockefeller Foundation and other health agencies have been waging a decade-long struggle to draw attention to the widespread devastation of parasitic diseases and to obtain funding for research into causes and cures.

Warren said that while parasitic diseases are widespread, they have not been well researched or well funded, especially when compared to other diseases like cancer and those of the heart or brain.

In 1978, it was revealed in a report that the United States government spent $815 million on research into cancer, which effects 10 million people, and $5 million on malaria, which effects an estimated 300 million.

asked again about the interview, by Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga. "As I testified yesterday," the admiral said, "I was alarmed about what the president had told Mr. Van Atta."

Entreated by the White House, he did hold the story — until April 28, 1986, after the U.S. bombing of Libya in retaliation for its alleged terrorist activities. Convinced that a dangerous disinformation campaign was in progress, we began revealing pieces of the secret Iranian initiative — and finally stated it flat-out in a column on June 29, 1986. A portion of that column, later quoted in the Tower Commission report, said:

"We can now reveal that the secret negotiations over arms supply and release of American hostages have involved members of the National Security Council and a former official of the CIA."

Other reporters — and administration officials not privy to the secret operation — were stunned by the report, but could not confirm it. It remained for an obscure Lebanese magazine and then a top Iranian official to confirm our story — last November.

Mine Clearing Readies Voyages; France Dispatches War Ships

United Press International

A Navy team is under orders to search for more underwater explosives in a Persian Gulf channel where a full minefield was discovered after the supertanker Bridgeton struck one last week, Pentagon officials say.

Spokesman Robert Sims said the Pentagon expected that the 401,382-ton Bridgeton could "resume her voyage" following basic repairs to the truck-sized hole blown in its left side, and shipping sources in Kuwait reported Tuesday that the Coast Guard had given permission for the huge vessel to take on crude oil up to two-thirds of its 3 million-barrel capacity for a return trip through the gulf within days.

Gulf shipping sources said the tankers would leave Kuwait by Friday under a U.S. escort to include anti-mine helicopters.

Today, the naval task force was off Bahrain in the central gulf, while the mine-damaged Bridgeton and the Gas Prince were in Kuwait.

France ordered an aircraft carrier battle group of four ships to head toward the Indian Ocean today to "protect our interests" following increased tensions between Paris and Tehran, a defense ministry spokesman said.

22 Killed In Sri Lankan Riots

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (UPI) — Indian Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi arrived in Sri Lanka today to sign an accord aimed at ending the island nation's bloody civil war as 22 more people were killed in rioting against the agreement.

The government imposed a nationwide curfew in an effort to contain the riots, which have claimed 41 lives in two days.

Man Shot In U.S. Embassy

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Sandinista police shot and wounded a Nicaraguan man inside the U.S. Embassy compound in Managua after he asked to see an American diplomat and fought with a policeman, embassy spokesmen said.

Spokesmen said the man, identified as Roger Kems, 21, of Nicaragua's Caribbean Coast, was on U.S. Embassy property Tuesday when a Sandinista officer fired two rounds from a Soviet-made AK-47 rifle, wounding him in the testicles.

Soviets Charge Teen Pilot

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Tuesday charged a West German teenager with three crimes, including violation of Soviet airspace and hooliganism, for landing his airplane near the Kremlin — an act that triggered a major shakeup in the Soviet armed forces.

The trial for Mathias Rust, 19, will take place within one month, said Foreign Ministry spokesman Gennady Gerasimov.

Rust, 19, has been held in a KGB prison in Moscow since he landed his single-engine Cessna 172 in Red Square May 28 after flying through 450 miles of some of the most heavily guarded airspace in the world.

If convicted on all three counts — violation of rules for international flight, illegal entry into the Soviet Union and hooliganism — Rust faces a maximum of 16 years in jail and a fine of up to $1,600 plus the confiscation of his aircraft.

The first charge of entering Soviet airspace illegally carries the greatest penalty, 10 years in jail and the fine of $1,600. The last charge, malicious hooliganism, is often used to jail Jewish dissidents and protestors and carries a maximum penalty of five years in jail.

West Germany Embassy officials met with Rust for 20 minutes Tuesday in his cell in Moscow's Lefortovo prison. "He was healthy but other than that I cannot say anything," an embassy spokesman said. He also confirmed the charges brought against Rust.

Rust has had two other visits from his parents and West German Embassy officials since he was taken into custody. He was given a court-appointed Soviet lawyer last week in a solid indication that he would finally come to trial.

"The investigation on the case of Mathias Rust has entered its final stage and its materials have been provided to the procurator who will follow it to the court," Gerasimov told reporters.

"The investigation is over. The charges are transmitted to the procurator," Gerasimov said, adding the "main charge" against him was violating the Soviet border.

"There may be others like creating a dangerous situation in Moscow airspace. He trespassed the national border without a visa," Gerasimov said.

Gerasimov said Rust's trial could begin any day within the one-month period.

Although West German officials and Rust's parents insist that he acted alone when he diverted his flight from Finland to Sweden into Soviet territory, the official Soviet media has speculated that Western intelligence services had organized the flight to probe Soviet defenses.

To Testify Again Today

Meese Defends His Casual Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General Edwin Meese, accused of conducting a lax investigation into the Iran-Contra controversy on behalf of his close friend President Reagan, maintains the administration's worst scandal might not have been uncovered if not for his personal efforts last fall.

In his first day of testimony at the congressional Iran-Contra hearings, the nation's chief law officer calmly defended the casual nature of his November "fact-finding inquiry" by blaming the confusing and conflicting accounts he received from top-level colleagues at the time.

Meese pointed out it was his investigation that exposed the diversion of money to Nicaraguan Contra rebels from secret U.S. arms sales to Iran — and judging by the reaction from some of his interrogators Tuesday, he appeared to fight off major criticism successfully and without an apology.

The attorney general was called back for more testimony this afternoon, however, and a partisan battle was expected between Republicans and Democrats who disagree in a fundamental view of his actions as the scandal unfolded.

Did he move quickly as a conscientious investigator who adequately pursued a possibly criminal situation, or did he dawdle as a friend of the president who gave his intentions away so obviously that major evidence was destroyed?

'There seemed to be an awful lot of confusion'

—Edwin Meese

Meese responded unemotionally Tuesday to questions from the chief lawyer for the House committee in the case, jumping vigorously to his own defense only when the allegations got tougher under Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee that oversees the Justice Department.

Rodino and Rep. Dick Cheney, R-Wyo., vice chairman of the House Iran-Contra committee, indicated there would be conflict today over a private deposition given to investigators earlier by Assistant Attorney General William Weld, head of the department's criminal division.

Rodino said Weld had vainly urged an immediate criminal probe of the Iran affair last fall, but an angry Meese demanded Rodino retract the deposition until he could study it, saying, "I think you've got things mixed up here!"

Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, chairman of the Senate committee, concluded Meese "did pretty well in acquitting himself" Tuesday but could expect tougher questions at the hearing delayed for a few hours today because of a morning memorial service for the late Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige. . . was one of those who disagreed with Inouye.

"In my mind, the attorney general is part of the scenario," Brooks said. "He (was) not trying to break the code. He was not in the circle very deeply and he doesn't want to be and he's not going to upset the apple cart at all."

"It looks to me like he is following the same pattern of cover-up, protect the president, say you lied, to fall on your spear. He just doesn't have a spear to fall on."

Meese acknowledged he gave advance notice of his Nov. 21-23 weekend probe to national security adviser John Poindexter, giving him and his key aide, Lt. Col. Oliver North, time to shred, burn and alter sensitive documents.

But Meese defended his investigation and the few close assistants he chose to help him by saying he saw nothing "obviously criminal" about the affair even after he learned from North's files Nov. 22 about the scheme to divert money to the Contras at a time when U.S. military aid to the rebels was illegal.

Gunfire Continues On California Freeways

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two more drivers were targets of gunfire along Southern California freeways, raising the number of traffic-related shootings this summer to 10, and officials began taking measures to counteract the bizarre rash of violence.

Three people have been killed and several others wounded in a series of seemingly random shootings that began June 18.

Police took one killing off the list of traffic-related shootings Tuesday when they announced the arrest of five people in the slaying of a 17-year-old altar boy.

Police said the killing was the result of a previous altercation, and the gunman was apparently after the victim's passenger.

Nobody was hit in the two latest shootings, which occurred at opposite ends of the Los Angeles area.

Dan Price, 35, of Chino Hills told sheriff's deputies a man riding in a car in the next lane fired a pistol at him for no apparent reason as they drove along the Pomona Freeway Tuesday afternoon.

In the second shooting, a tow truck driver got into a running dispute with a motorist in a yellow pickup while trying to enter the southbound Golden State Freeway late Monday night.

Marty Korse, 26, of Los Angeles, sped up to pass the pickup and swerved into an emergency lane when the truck blocked his way, Ackerman said.

The pickup tailed the tow truck for several miles, then pulled up alongside and the passenger pointed a pistol at Korse. Suddenly, Korse said, the man pulled his arm up and fired a bullet over the cab of his truck.

FCC Raids Pirate Radio Station; Judge Questions Charges

LONG BEACH, N.Y. (UPI) — Two renegade radio buffs arrested aboard their rusty Honduran freighter on charges of violating international broadcasting laws were assured by a federal magistrate, "I have some questions about the complaint myself."

Assistant U.S. Attorney Matthew Fischbein, who brought the case to U.S. District Court in Brooklyn on Tuesday, also left open the possibility that charges may be dropped. He said gaining "assurances they will not continue to operate — that's more important than the prosecution of these individuals."

But Ivan Rothstein, 25, one of the two pirate broadcasters arrested by Federal Communications Commission agents who boarded the ship anchored off Long Island at sunrise Tuesday, vowed to sneak back onto the airwaves in what they called a continuing protest of the "stale" state of commercial radio.

Bakkers Leave California

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Saying they love Palm Springs but are looking forward to seeing their children again, deposed PTL founders Jim and Tammy Faye Bakker left their $650,000 desert house and began a cross-country drive to their new home — a $148,000 chalet in the mountains of Tennessee.

The Bakkers packed clothes, a vacuum cleaner and other personal belongings into a rented truck and climbed into a white Cadillac for the journey east, leaving behind the furnished Spanish-style house that has a "For Sale" sign in front.

The couple drove the Cadillac with the moving van trailing behind, and Tammy Faye, dressed in a khaki pants suit, shouted to a small crowd of reporters. "Bye, bye! We love you!"

Bork Rules On Vinyl Safety Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supreme Court nominee Robert Bork, in a reversal of a previous ruling, says the Environmental Protection Agency must consider safety over costs in setting emissions levels for cancer-causing vinyl chloride.

The unanimous ruling Tuesday by the full U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia orders the EPA to consider reinstating 1977 rules governing emissions of the gaseous synthetic substance used in making plastics.

Bork's opinion said EPA Administrator Lee Thomas acted improperly in withdrawing the rules in 1985 after determining that the economic costs of reducing emissions to the lowest possible levels outweighed the benefits.

The decision is significant, not only for environmental reasons, but because of the turnaround in the views of Bork, who last November authored a 2-1 panel ruling upholding Thomas's action.

John Huston Hospitalized

FALL RIVER, Mass. (UPI) — Oscar-winning director John Huston was in stable condition today at a hospital where he was brought after a serious emphysema attack while on his way to film his role in a new movie, officials said.

Huston, 80, was admitted to Charlton Memorial Hospital in Fall River Tuesday after being stricken in the resort town of Newport, R.I., about 20 miles away.

Allen would not comment on whether the director's condition was life-threatening. "All I can say is he is in stable condition and being evaluated," she said early today.

Salvagers Sip Wine, Seek Gold

FALMOUTH, Mass. (UPI) — The cocky crew chief of a treasure-hunting salvage team, cherishing champagne chilled for eight decades beneath the Atlantic, expects to zero in soon on a booty of gold coins aboard a luxury liner that sank in 1909.

A beaming Martin Bayerle, who says there may be as much as $1.6 billion in gold aboard the R.M.S. Republic, came to shore Tuesday with china, ashtrays and perfectly preserved bottles of 89-year-old champagne.

Other artifacts recovered from the Republic, which sank off Nantucket Island after colliding with an Italian liner, included a fluted vase from the first-class smoking room, a creamer jar, a rusted electric light switch and a soiled black bottle of Hall's Hair Renewer.

CWA Members Hear Candidates; Confident Of Win By Democrats

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Communications union workers, already confident a Democrat will be elected president in 1988, received with enthusiasm a first-hand pitch from three contenders.

Rep. Richard Gephardt of Missouri and Sens. Joseph Biden of Delaware and Albert Gore of Tennessee spoke Tuesday during the 49th annual convention of the Communication Workers of America.

All three of the presidential hopefuls lashed out at the Reagan administration and urged union members to vote for a Democrat.

About 3,600 of the 700,000-member union — comprising clerical workers, telephone operators and installers and engineers — attended the convention.

Delegates were polled before and after the candidates' speeches to decide which one to support, but union officials refused to release the results immediately. The CWA endorsed Walter Mondale in 1984 and predicts a Democrat will win the White House in 1988.

CSX Rail Plans New Complex

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — CSX Rail Transport is courting its labor unions during a consolidation that will create the nation's first computerized dispatching center for an entire rail network.

CSX, a major East Coast railroad, announced plans Tuesday for a $12.5-million computerized complex that will consolidate dispatching trains along a reduced 15,000-mile system.

President Ronald Drucker said the center, when completed in December 1988, would shift dispatching jobs from 33 locations on its East Coast rail system to one central facility.

Lake Mary Looks To Trim Budget

In an effort to keep its property tax rate from increasing next year, the Lake Mary City Commission will look at ways of trimming $254,079 from its $2,510,091 proposed 1987-1988 budget in special meeting Thursday night.

The proposed budget is $513,955 more than last year's $1,996,136 and will have to be cut if the city is going to keep its property tax rate at the same $3.90 per $1,000 assessed property value as this year. That figure generated $635,646 during this fiscal year based on the existing tax base of $165,393,657.

At the close of the commission's July 23 meeting the proposed property tax rate was at $5.08 per $1,000 assessed property value. This rate is expected to raise $1,091,512 on a projected tax base of $214,776,263.

Commission member Paul Tremel said the proposed $5.08 tax rate was made that high for the purpose of having a base to start cutting from. "In the three years I've been with Lake Mary (city commission), you start out with a high figure in the first go-round and then you cut down from there," he said.

Lake Mary City Manager Bob Norris said that after $100,000 was tacked on for road repaving projects for the next year the budget added up to $2.5 million. The idea for adding the money to the budget for repaving projects was suggested by Mayor Dick Fese.

"They (city commission) always said they were going back to the existing millage (property tax rate)," Norris said, "which means that $254,079 will have to be taken out of the budget."

Tremel said those repaving funds would be seriously looked at as one of the first items to be trimmed off the budget.

"A nice large chunk of the money we cut can come from that $100,000," he said. Various new vehicles for different departments and a new helper for the city mechanic are also requests Tremel feels may have to be removed from the budget if it is going to meet with last year's tax rate.

"I think every department will be asked to indicate where it can make cuts," Tremel said. He added the police department would probably be forced to take cuts in order to trim the budget.

Tremel indicated the commission has been holding special meetings instead of workshops to discuss the budget so they can take immediate action on their decisions. "That's why we decided to have one Thursday," he said.

Lake Mary City Treasurer Madeleine Minna said the commission will hold its first public hearing on the proposed budget on Sept. 3, at 7:30 p.m. at the Lake Mary City Hall.

"In the meantime they'll (the commission) just have lots of special meetings," she said.

Seminole Will Study Landfill Alternatives

Seminole County will be keeping a close eye on Orange County as the Seminole neighbor begins studying the feasibility of turning garbage into electricity.

Members of the county's environmental services staff will be observing the Orange County study at the invitation of the Orange County Commission. Chairman Lou Treadway gave the invitation at a work session Tuesday morning.

"I'm not here to sell Seminole County on resource recovery," said Treadway. "I'm here to sell you on the idea of looking at alternatives for resource recovery."

Orange County next week will review proposals from 12 firms vying for an opportunity to take an in-depth look at the "whole gamut" of solid waste recovery, said Treadway.

Seminole County about a year ago studied the cost effectiveness of incineration of solid waste and the conversion of it into electricity.

"The study indicated it would be cheaper to continue at the landfill," said Jim Bible, director of Seminole's environmental services department.

The Osceola landfill, situated north of State Road 46 about a dozen miles south of Sanford, is on the verge of getting a state Department of Environmental Regulation permit that will ensure its operation for the next three decades, according to Bible.

The 110-foot high landfill, which takes in about 800 tons of garbage daily, has been operating on a DER consent order since 1985. The order allows the landfill to stay open while the county takes steps to meet new regulations initiated by the DER the last several years.

Bible noted the landfill's daily tonnage increases about three to five percent annually. Its height eventually will reach more than 200 feet, Bible said.

The landfill's saving grace is a natural clay liner which has enabled the county to avoid having to install the plastic linings DER has required of many other landfills in Florida, Bible.

In his talk before Seminole County commissioners, Treadway said a resource recovery system is a distinct possibility for Orange County. "I've become more and more convinced there has got to be an alternative to landfills," he said.

Risks to the water supply are so high they can't even be estimated, he said. "Once it's contaminated, you don't know how it can be cleaned up or what the costs will be," said Treadway, whose county generates about 1,700 tons of garbage daily.

The alternatives are incineration or recycling, or a combination of the two, said Treadway. Either way, it's a community problem requiring a community decision, he said, noting that unlike mass transit projects, the

Martinez Socks Two Homers In District 14 Rout

By Scott Sander
Herald Sports Writer

WINTER GARDEN — When manager Gene Letterio said that Eric Martinez was hitting the ball better than anybody else on this year's Big League All-Star baseball team, he wasn't joking.

In Tuesday night's opening round game of the Big League Baseball Section I Tournament, Martinez crunched a pair of two-run homers, leading the District 14 Nationals to a 17-7 triumph over Jacksonville Arlington before 127 fans at Winter Garden.

"I told you that Eric had really been hitting the ball well in practice," Letterio said. "There are a lot of kids on this team that I have a lot of confidence in. And Eric is at the top of the list."

The victory advances the Nationals into Thursday night's championship game. Jacksonville and Richard Hudson's District 14 Americans will square off tonight at 7 in the losers' bracket final with the winner meeting the Nationals on Thursday. A doubleheader will be played on Thursday if it is necessary.

Letterio said that Lake Mary's Steve Shakar will be on the mound for the Nationals. "I've been looking forward to this for two weeks," Shakar said. "I'm ready to pitch."

The Nationals are a team that has a lot of power hitters in their lineup, and on Tuesday night they flexed their muscles as five out of their 10 hits were homers. Martinez cracked two while Mike Schmit, Glenn Reichle, and Russ Adler all added dingers. "You've got to be impressed with our hitting," Letterio said. "We just came out and cracked the ball."

Eustis' Dave Westgate started on the mound and was credited with the win as he went two and one-third innings. Westgate gave up three runs on three hits while walking three. "I didn't have my best stuff today," Westgate said. "I couldn't get my fastball over for a strike, and I didn't have much control."

Letterio said that he is confident that Westgate will come back with a strong outing next time he is called upon. "I'm sure he'll do fine next time that he pitches," Letterio said. "He struggled a little tonight, but he'll rebound from it."

Lake Brantley's Greg Ebbert relieved Westgate and went five innings as he gave up one run on three hits. Ebbert, a strong southpaw, fanned three while walking one. "My fastball was really moving around a lot tonight," Ebbert said. "I was very happy with the way I pitched." Oviedo's Scott Bowers pitched the final two innings, and gave up two runs on two hits.

Letterio said that he was ecstatic with the way Ebbert performed. "Greg is a kid that I really admire," Letterio said. "He showed a lot of poise and composure tonight, and that's encouraging to see from a young player."

Jacksonville's Ron Crell took the loss as he lasted two innings and gave up eight runs. Lee Mike and Jolley Track relieved Crell.

Jacksonville had its problems off the field as well as on it. After arguing several calls, Jacksonville manager Dan LaFlavor was ejected from the park. First-baseman Clay McLamb was also kicked out of the game. LaFlavor was unavailable for comment.

The Nationals had their problems defensively as they committed four errors. "There was nothing about our defense that I was very happy with," Letterio said. "We made a lot of routine plays look hard. We have a lot of work to do defensively."

The Nationals got on the board early and often as they scored five runs in the top of the first inning. After left-fielder Ryan Lisle walked, Eric Martinez took a fastball well over the right-field fence. "I'm really relaxing at the plate," Martinez said. "This is a lot of fun, and I'm playing real loose."

After Schmit singled, and catcher Mark Coffey walked, Reichle took a pitch over the second fence in left for a three-run homer. Winter Garden has two fences with the first being 310 feet. The second fence measures 360 feet. "He threw me a fastball at the letters," Reichle said. "I knew it was gone when I swung."

Jacksonville showed that it had some offensive power as it hit three homers. Mark Duncan cracked two, and Dave Connell added the other round-tripper.

After Jacksonville scored a run in the bottom of the first, the Nationals added three more in the second. After Westgate and Ernest Martinez walked, Schmit hit a three-run homer to right. "It was almost above my head," Schmit said. "I didn't really hit it all that great, but it still went out."

After Jacksonville added two runs in the second, the Nationals picked up two more in the third. Reichle and William Thompson both scored on errors.

Jacksonville scored another run in the third, but the Nationals came right back with a run in

Broncos Drop Toughie

By Mike Dame
Special to the Herald

Despite an 11-strikeout, four-hit pitching effort by Matt Freeman, the Seminole Americans dropped a 4-2 decision to host-team Perry Parham in the Pony Baseball Bronco Southern Region Tournament at Marietta, Ga., Tuesday night.

The loss drops the Seminole into the losers' bracket of the tourney, where it will face Rome, Ga., at 7:30 tonight. But it is a position that Seminole has grown very accustomed to.

"This is nothing new for us," Seminole manager Jim Withrow said of his team, which came out of the losers' bracket to win both the district and state tournaments in order to advance to the region. "They've been down before, and we've got a good shot at it."

Tuesday's contest was a pitcher's battle from the outset as Freeman and Georgia's hurler, Jim Witherow, dueled to a 0-0 tie through three innings.

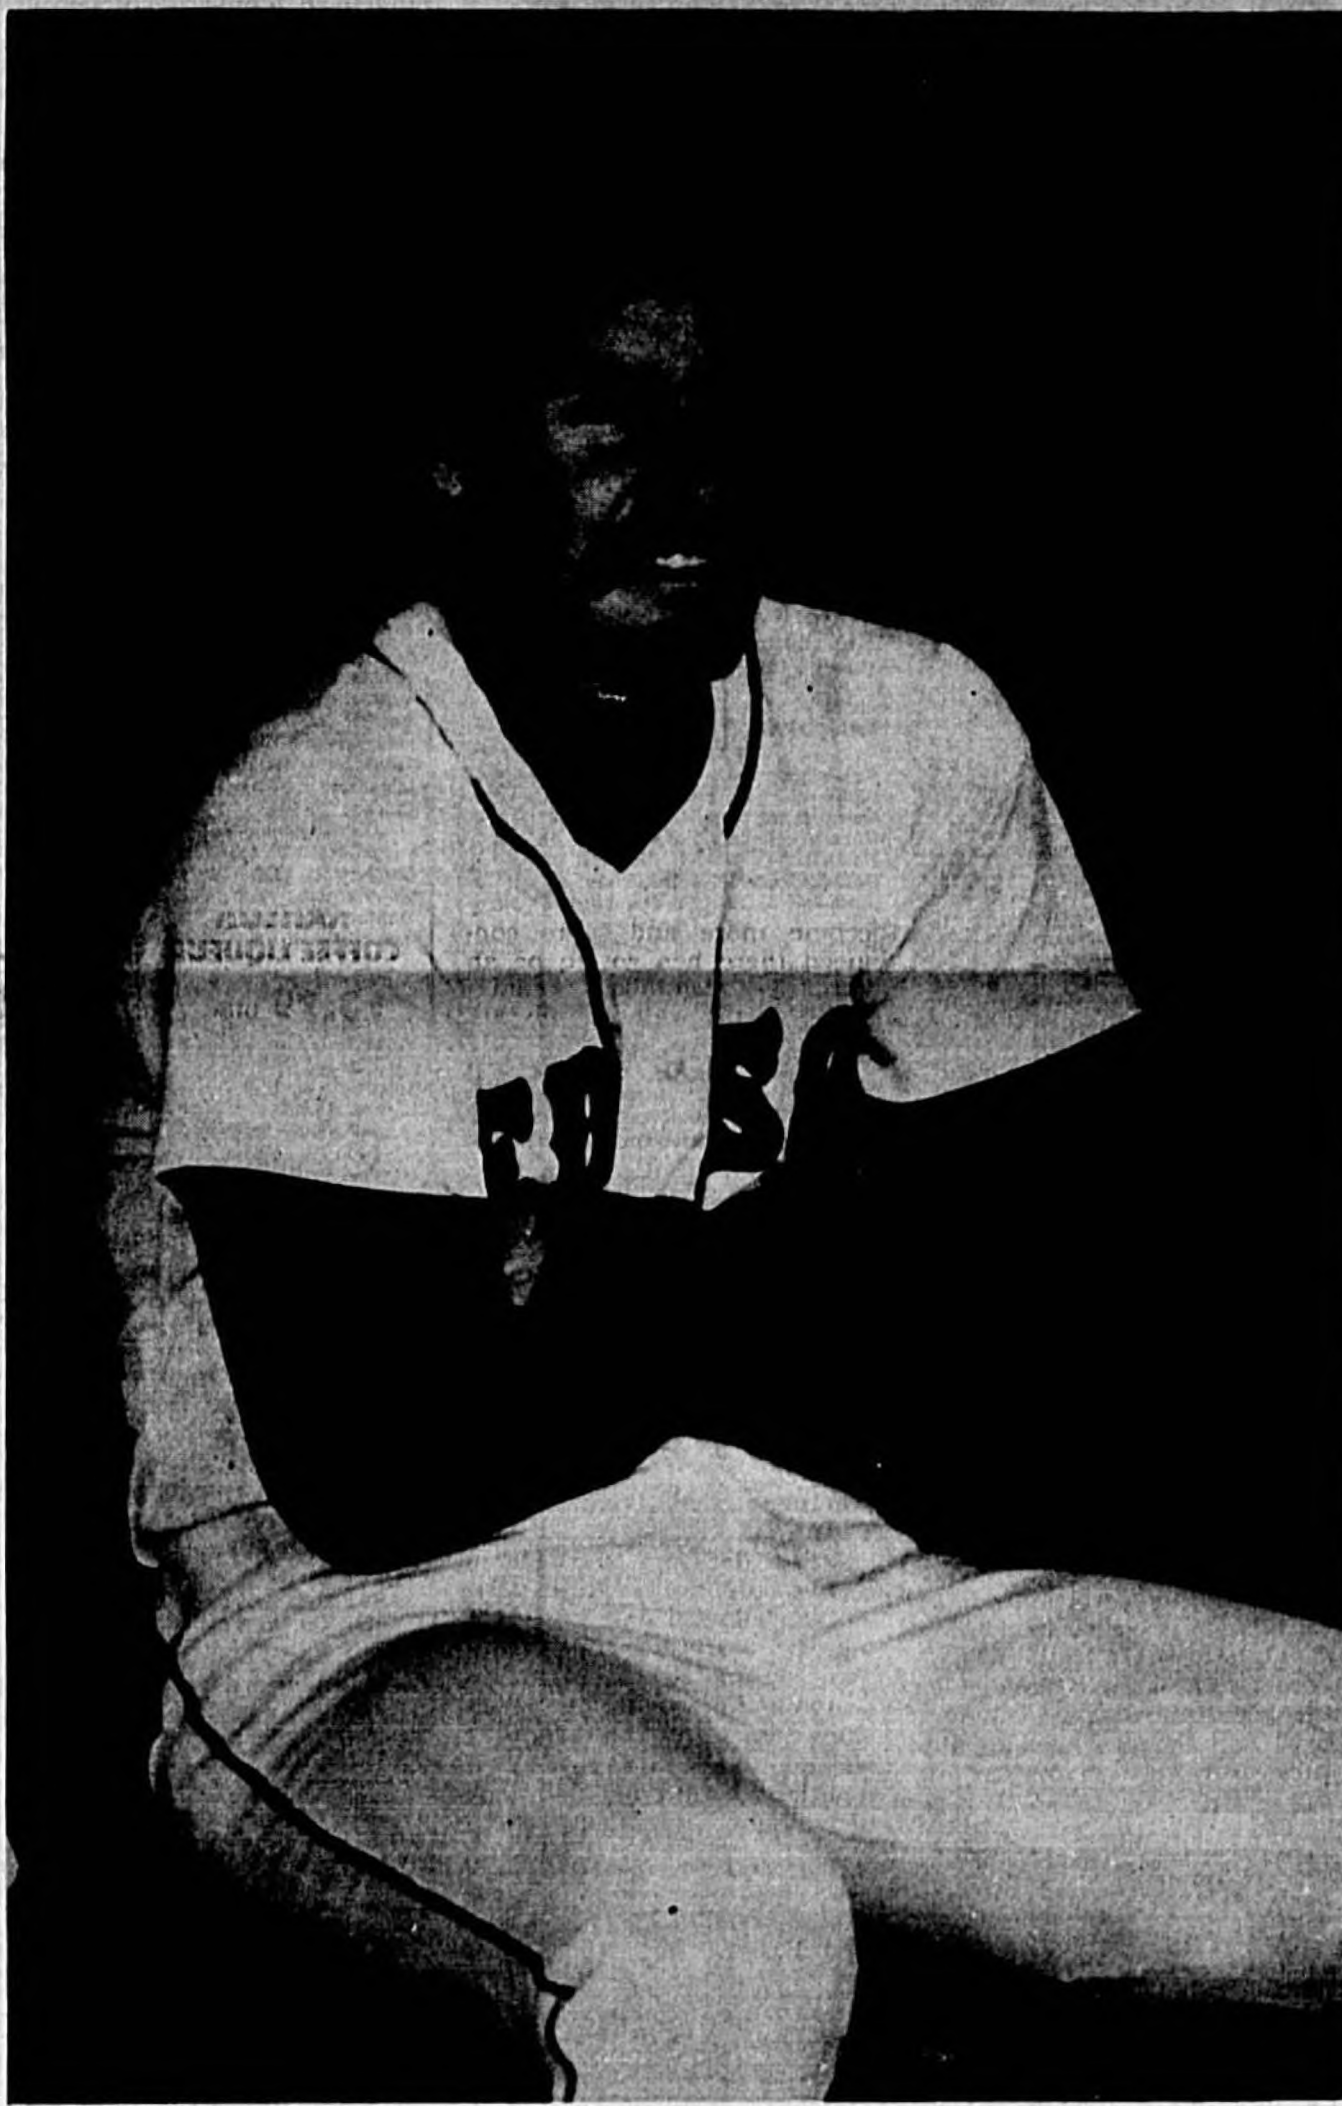

Seminole broke the scoreless streak in the fourth, however, as it rallied for two runs in the bottom of the inning. Nakia Roberts led off the frame with a walk, followed by a Gabe Bouch groundout which advanced Roberts to second. Freeman then blasted a single to center field to score Roberts from second, giving Seminole a 1-0 lead. Freeman quickly stole second and third before Paul Giambalvo knocked a sacrifice groundout to score Freeman. The inning ended when the next batter fanned, leaving Seminole with a 2-0 lead.

Freeman continued his dominance of the Georgia team through five innings to protect Seminole's slim lead, but things fell apart in the sixth. In that inning, Freeman gave up a three-run homer to Joe Alexander, giving Georgia a 3-2 lead going into the seventh.

"It was one bad pitch, and that was the game after that," Seminole coach Paul Giambalvo Sr., said.

Georgia added one more run in the seventh to give it a 4-2 lead, and Seminole was unable to score off Witherow, who gave up two runs on three hits with 13 strikeouts and five walks.

"He (Witherow) did a good job," Withrow said. "Our guys did a good job, too. We had runners on base and we stranded them."

Bogged Down

Boston's Wade Boggs looks on as the slumping Red Sox blunder again. The American League's leading hitter was held to one hit Tuesday in a 5-4 loss to the Toronto Blue Jays. Boston, defending American League champion, fell to eight game under .500 and 14 games behind league-leading New York.

Davies Triumphs In Longest U.S. Open

Golf

EDISON, N.J. (UPI) — Laura Davies of Britain, the strongest hitter in women's golf, Tuesday won the longest U.S. Open with precision putting on the back nine of a pressure-filled playoff.

Davies, playing only the fourth tournament of her career in the United States, shot a steady 1-under-par 71 to beat out Ayako Okamoto by two shots and JoAnne Carner by three.

"I can't believe it happened," said Davies, the fourth foreign winner of the Open. "It's incredible to go out in a playoff with two of the women I consider to be among the best golfers in the world and then to beat them."

"It's everything you dream of, walking up 18 and knowing you almost have it in the bag. It's the kind of feeling you'll never have again."

Davies, 23, who earned $55,000, became the first woman to hold both the U.S. and British Open crowns. She begins defense of the British title starting Thursday at St. Mellion in Surrey.

Carner, at 48, would have been the oldest person ever to win an Open and the 36-year-old Okamoto, a 10-time winner on the LPGA Tour, remained without a major title.

Davies sank a 15-foot birdie putt on the 14th hole to stretch her advantage to two shots over Okamoto and three over Carner. She followed with a downhill 30-foot birdie putt on the 15th, which was greeted by applause from Carner.

"It was probably the best putt of my life," Davies said.

Okamoto, with her final chance to catch Davies, lipped the cup with a 12-foot birdie attempt on the 18th, and Davies followed with a 4-foot putt for par to secure the victory.

"I was glad Ayako lipped out that putt," Davies said. "I would have loved to meet that birdie to win."

When she was growing up, Davies said, she and her brother Tony, who caddied for her this week, used to stand over putts and pretend they were shooting for the British or U.S. titles.

Team Central Finishes Ninth

Basketball

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
Team Central Florida bowed out of the AAU 16 and Under National Tournament Tuesday but not before earning ninth place, the highest ever finish for a Florida team at nationals.

The Central Florida all-stars defeated Virginia, 64-50, in losers' bracket play Tuesday morning at Oxford, Miss., but were later eliminated by Missouri, 58-42. Team Central finished with a 3-2 record.

"It was real hard on the girls because the games were played in succession in a 98-degree, unairconditioned gym," Team Central coach Mike Averill said. "But I'm really proud of the way the girls played and they finished higher than any Florida team ever has. And to finish ninth out of 38 teams is not bad at all."

In the victory over Virginia, Jennifer Clark poured in 15 points. Vicky Smith hit 14, Katrina Colleton pumped in 13 and Tracy Brandenburg contributed 10. Bridget Giles chipped in six points and Suzanne Hughes added four.

Virginia built an early 9-4 lead but Team Central Florida came back with 20 consecutive points, and never looked back.

"We went to the press and got a lot of quick layups," Averill said. "We played excellent defense, especially Tracy (Brandenburg). Tracy had her best game of the tournament, both offensively and defensively."

Against Missouri, Clark's 12 points led Team Central while Giles added 10 and Kathy Freeman and Brandenburg contributed four apiece.

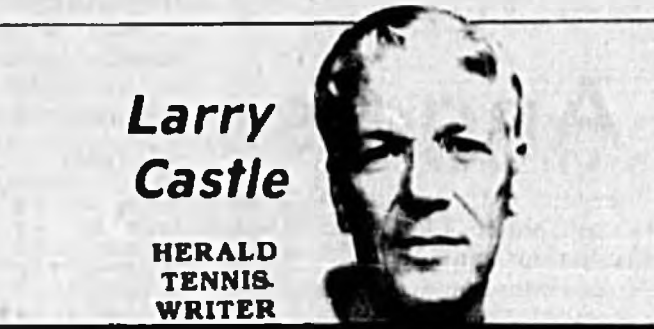

"We couldn't keep up intensity up for that game," Averill said. "They (Missouri) had a good team but the heat played a factor in the loss."

Knowing Limitations Will Allow Longer Court Life

It's been almost 13 years now since I played my first junior vet tournament. This is the 35 and over group. I had just moved to Florida and was anxious to start playing tournaments. This one was the state hardcourt tournament in Ocala and was held in three divisions: the 35 and over, 45 and over, and 55 and over.

I enjoyed the tournament a lot and got to play a great deal of tennis. One thing that I found very odd though, was the fact that everyone there, especially in the 45 and over group and 55 and over group, seemed to have some sort of injury. Many of these players had several injuries; in fact they looked like walking, talking, Johnson and Johnson ads.

Some could hardly seem to move. Braces on the knees, braces on the elbows, Ace bandages of all sizes wrapped here and there, and lots of other various and assorted medical supplies in their tennis bags, just in case they were needed. I talked with one player who said he could simply not play a match without taking two Excedrin and two Tylenol — his own special Rx for the pain of tennis elbow. It was amazing to me to see all this. It took some of the players 30 minutes to get all their bandages in place before they could get on the court to start to play.

Larry Castle

HERALD TENNIS WRITER

Playing did not come directly after getting on the courts. First came about fifteen minutes of stretching and "warming-up." I was amused at all this and wondered what in the world these players had been doing to get in such horrible condition. (Actually, once the matches started and the muscles of these gladiators were warm, they moved with grace and expertise and their shot making was exceptional.) Still, I could not get over all the bandages and braces.

I was setting out for Bayhead the other day, getting ready to play a good friend and regular opponent, Jim Edmonds, when he made the comment, "Would you hurry and get all that 'stuff' on so we can play." I suddenly had a flashback to that time 13 years ago when I had laughed and been so amused by all the "old guys" and their paraphernalia. I took a quick inventory of what I was using just to be able to get out to the court. I had six band-aids on various toes (I had been playing a lot on hard courts and had developed blisters), I had two large bunion pads, I had by counterforce brace for my tennis elbow, an Ace bandage for a sore left knee, and of course, my Orthotics. (These are used for correcting a pronation problem when I run.) Anyway, I finally got on the court, stretched good and proceeded to soundly thrash Jim. (He won't mind me saying this because he knows he is a super player and soundly thrashed me more than I soundly thrash him.) I had forgotten about all the aches and pains and injuries for an hour or so and did not even think of them again until I got home and started cooling off and removing all my "stuff."

The point is, tennis is a game you can play until you are eighty or ninety years old. If you adapt your game to your age or relative physical limitations and if you have a lot of help from Ace, Bike and Johnson and Johnson, you can keep playing forever. You may often play with some pain or discomfort but you are on the court. That is the bottom line to those who love tennis. It's really not important after you reach a certain point in your tennis life whether you win or lose or can beat this guy or that guy; what really matters is being able to be on the court and hit that ball. For awhile, by doing this, all the aches and pains go away and you are floating with the sheer delight of just being able to play.

Robinson Shackles White Sox

United Press International Jeff Robinson kept the Detroit bullpen inactive for another night.

Robinson, rookie right-hander, threw a five-hitter and struck out 10 Tuesday night to gain his first victory at home and first complete game, a 3-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox. It was Detroit's third straight complete game and fifth straight victory.

"I was telling myself when I went out there I wasn't going to be the one to stop the train," Robinson said. "I wanted to keep it going."

Robinson, 7-4, gave up a walk and single with one out in the first then retired 13 in a row before Chicago, trailing 3-0, scored its run.

Dawson Helps Sutcliffe To 15th

United Press International Andre Dawson has helped Rick Sutcliffe experience the kind of winning season that earned him Cy Young Award honors three years ago.

Dawson singled home the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning and Sutcliffe tied Kansas City's Bret Saberhagen for most victories in the major leagues this season (15), giving the Chicago Cubs an 8-3 rout of the Montreal Expos.

Sutcliffe, 15-4, won the National League Cy Young award in 1984 with a record of 18-1. He then went 8-8 in 1985 and 5-14 in 1986, while going on the disabled list four times over the two seasons.

"I'll tell you, I tried just as hard last year as I do this year and cared just as much," said Sutcliffe. "I've been pitching on the right day this year. There are a lot of things you can't control. I don't know when the other guys are going to get hits and score runs."

After singling in the seventh, Dawson moved to third and, by faking a charge to the plate, induced Montreal catcher Jeff Reed to make throw to third. Reed's throw hit Dawson in the back and he scored an insurance run as the ball bounced away.

Cubs Manager Gene Michael is impressed with Dawson, who came to Chicago from Montreal as free agent in the off-season.

"He's got that burn in there," Michael said, pointing to his chest. "and he has it all the time."

Buckner Chooses Angels

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Bill Buckner says he listened to his heart when he chose the Angels and their manager Bobby Valentine.

The 37-year-old free agent who signed with California Tuesday — just six days after his release by the Boston Red Sox — said he was torn when forced to choose between the Angels and a chance to play for Valentine, with whom he rose through the Los Angeles Dodgers minor league system.

"That was a very tough decision for me, because of my feelings toward Bobby Valentine," he said. "I think I felt loyalty to Bobby, but when I looked down into my heart, it said the Angels."

Buckner went 3 for 5 Tuesday night to spark the Angels to a 9-2 victory over the Oakland A's, snapping a four-game California losing skid. He flew cross country to join his new team.

"I had a half-hour's sleep," said Buckner. "I was a little bit nervous, but I was so tired I didn't notice. I could go to sleep right now standing up."

Buckner Chooses Angels

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Bill Buckner says he listened to his heart when he chose the Angels and their manager Bobby Valentine.

The 37-year-old free agent who signed with California Tuesday — just six days after his release by the Boston Red Sox — said he was torn when forced to choose between the Angels and a chance to play for Valentine, with whom he rose through the Los Angeles Dodgers minor league system.

"That was a very tough decision for me, because of my feelings toward Bobby Valentine," he said. "I think I felt loyalty to Bobby, but when I looked down into my heart, it said the Angels."

IN BRIEF

Shaw, Bentley Set Records At Long Course Championships

CLOVIS, Calif. (UPI) — The two newest record-holders at the U.S. Swimming Long Course Championships agree the pool is built for speed.

Amy Shaw, 18, Mission Viejo, Calif., who broke the American record twice in the 200-meter breaststroke Tuesday, said that the times are fast "because it is getting close to the Olympics and also because it is a fast pool."

Shaw won the finals in two minutes, 29.78 seconds, erasing the mark she set when she qualified for the event earlier in the day in 2:30.77. The previous mark of 2:31.15 was set at the 1984 Summer Olympics by silver medalist Susan Rapp.

Steve Bentley, 22, a USC student from Fountain Valley, Calif., then made a four American records in the first four final events when he captured the event in 2:15.30, lowering the mark of 2:15.38 set by Steve Lundquist in 1983.

Bentley was one of several swimmers who suggested that the depth of the pool and the shape of its bottom caused less turbulence on the water.

"There are not as many waves and fewer waves in the pool make us swim faster," Bentley said. "I knew the winner would be under the American record. I'm just glad it was me."

However, the record-breaking stopped in remaining six events Tuesday.

Matt Biondi, 20, of Moraga, Calif., and the University of California, holder of the 100 meter record at 48.74, won in 49.34 seconds. Biondi's rival Tom Jager, 23, Collinsville, Ill., did not make the finals and won the consolation event in 50.69 seconds.

Dara Torres, 20, Beverly Hills, Calif., took the women's 100 meters in 56.14.

Melanie Buddemeyer, 20, of Penn Hills, Pa., was clocked in 2:12.27 in winning the 200-meter butterfly. Men's champ Melvin Stewart, 18, of Fort Mills, S.C., swam the distance in 1:58.13. Favored Pablo Morales of Santa Clara, Calif., and Stanford, settled for fourth.

Scott Johnson, 19, of Tucson, Ariz., captured the men's 200-meter backstroke in 2:01.68, and Andrea Hayes, 18, of Pensacola, Fla., was the women's winner in 2:12.37.

Mitchell Works Way To Top

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (UPI) — In the space of six dives Tuesday Olympic silver medalist Michele Mitchell moved from 36th to third place in the women's platform preliminaries at the U.S. Diving Championships.

Despite Mitchell's remarkable comeback, unheralded Coker Smith took the lead on her last dive, jumping from fifth to first place heading into the finals. Events scheduled for today were the semifinals in the men's platform and the finals of the women's 1-meter springboard.

In the first event Tuesday, Olympic gold medalist Greg Louganis, a 41-time U.S. champion, nailed his final three dives to take the lead in the men's 3-meter springboard preliminaries.

Mitchell, of Boca Raton, was 36th out of 37 divers after two dives, but worked her way back to the top. On her last dive, a 3 1/2 somersault tuck, she drew the highest marks given any diver Tuesday to advance to third place.

"I had a rough day," Mitchell said. "I felt pretty good, but it just didn't happen. But it ended up OK. I knew I had to hit it (her last dive) or I might not even make the finals."

Smith, from Ann Arbor, Mich., hit a reverse 2 1/2 pike to advance to first place on the last of her eight-dive series.

"Performance-wise, it was OK," Smith said. "I could be a lot sharper. Saturday (the day of the finals) is going to be a whole new contest."

Alison Maisch of Baton Rouge, La., finished in second place.

Cordero Wins 6,000th Race

OCEANPORT, N.J. (UPI) — Angel Cordero expects to hear Bronx cheers the next time he rides at Belmont Park — an odd homecoming for someone who just became the fourth jockey to win 6,000 races.

Cordero committed the minor sin of reaching the milestone Tuesday at Monmouth Park, two hours by car from his New York fans.

Mired in a 5 for 55 slump stretching back to July 18 and winless Sunday and Monday at Belmont, Cordero traveled south to the Jersey Shore on Belmont's off day and won his 5,999th and 6,000th races.

He took the $62,725 first division of the Colleen Stakes for 2-year-old fillies aboard Blue Jean Baby by 8 lengths and then held off three separate challenges to win $62,325 second division with Lost Kitty. Both winners are owned by Eugene Klein, former owner of the San Diego Chargers, and trained by D. Wayne Lukas.

Pressure On Evert, Shriver

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (UPI) — Chris Evert and Pam Shriver were looking forward to a week of soaking up the British Columbia scenery and taking in a few sets of tennis each day at the Federation Cup women's team championship.

But now, with Martina Navratilova dropping out of the competition, the holiday for the rest of the defending champion United States team has turned into a grind.

"I was going to have a light week here," said Shriver, ranked No. 5 in the world, Tuesday after defeating Japan's Iakiko Kijimuta 7-6, 6-1. "But I guess I'm really going to be the key person in this whole deal now."

Before Navratilova, No. 1 in the world, was forced out of the tournament with a sprained ankle, Shriver expected only to play doubles. Now, coach Marty Riessen has pushed Evert into the lead single's position and Shriver into the No. 2 spot on the hardcourts of Vancouver's Hollyburn Country Club.

The U.S. team breezed into the second round of the tournament for the 25th year in a row Tuesday.

or Nancy Lopez," she said. "I was me today and I was glad it went in."

Carner was unable to get started in the playoff, making her only birdies on the ninth and 16th holes. She had created the playoff Monday when she bogeyed the final hole.

"I had my opportunities and I didn't capitalize on them," the two-time Open champion said. "I had the tournament won yesterday and I opened the doors for the others. Today, I couldn't put it together. I never got my driver going and it got steadily worse the last three rounds. Today it cost me."

Of Davies, Carner said, "Laura is one of those great players just being shown to the world. What you have is an exceptional person like when Lopez came out and turned pro and won everything."

The playoff was conducted in warm, sunny conditions with a gallery estimated at 2,000 following the three players at the 6,284-yard Plainfield Country Club.

This is the third year in a row a player has registered her first American pro victory in the Open. Kathy Baker did it in 1985 and Jane Geddes last year.

The playoff was closely contested although Davies never trailed.

Stocks Hit Record High

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher Wednesday in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which set a new record high Tuesday, was up 0.84 to 2520.41 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 504-343 among the 1,302 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 13,246,700 shares.

"The market keeps going up, surprising most analysts who keep thinking it's going to go down," said Harry Villec of Sutro & Co. in San Francisco.

"People are uncomfortable with the all-time highs," Villec said, "but at the moment, there is very little downside risk. August should be a barn-burner." Villec said by Labor Day, the Dow will reach 2600 or 2700.

Trude Latimer, analyst at Josephthal & Co., said that in the week and a half since the Dow closed above 2500 for the first time, trading has been marked by a "drying up of selling, rather than by aggressive buying."

Civic Center Aug. 25. Eckstein said he has not had any contact with the organizers of that meeting, but plans to attend it, as does attorney William Hutchison.

Hutchison, a former Sanford city attorney, said he and his partner, Dick Mamele, will research the constitutional issues in reserving property for the expressway.

"We're exploring it and we will explain to residents what their rights are," he said. He added that there are constitutional questions about the 1984 law which authorized the reserving of property for roadways, and a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision may support any suit his firm may file.

Legally, there is nothing that can be done until the property is actually reserved, Hutchison said, and that will not happen until the surveys and maps of the proposed right of way are completed. The expressway authority's schedule calls for adoption of a right-of-way map in September.

first $5,000 of goods and services subject to the state's five percent sales tax and would include the vast number of services whose sales tax exemptions were removed by the Legislature this year.

If adopted, the local option sales tax would go into effect Jan. 1.

Commissioner Barbara Christensen cast the only vote against holding the referendum, saying she fears homebuilders and other business people in the county would be put at a disadvantage with their counterparts in nearby counties that do not have the local tax.

Some observers predict chances for passage of the local option tax could suffer from public discontent with the state's removal of sales tax exemptions for a large number of services. Others note, however, that during the 1980s county voters have supported special tax levies for construction of libraries and schools and expansion of the county jail.

In the front of the lot is a new mailbox with no numbers or other markings. A wire fence held up by wood posts encloses the property.

Posts on both sides of the lot have signs warning "no trespassing."

Mediator Enters Beech Contract Talks

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — A federal mediator has entered talks between Beech Aircraft Corp. and machinists union workers in Kansas, who have threatened to strike unless the company sweetens its latest contract offer.

Discussions about a new three-year contract have been under way for three weeks, but a mediator was called in Tuesday to help reach a settlement before the current pact expires Sunday.

Neither Beech officials or negotiators for the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, which represents District 70 employees in Wichita, would comment on the contract talks.

Several Beech workers interviewed Tuesday afternoon, who declined to identify themselves, said the company's current offer was not acceptable, and they would be willing to vote for a strike.

When the current contract was negotiated in August 1984, machinists union workers elected to go on a 14-day strike before agreeing to terms.

That contract included a 2 percent general wage increase in each year of the contract. The pact also provided an annual cost-of-living adjustment payment equal to the amount that inflation exceeded 5 percent in the first year and equal to the amount that exceeded 4 percent in the last two years.

'Lake Shore Drive' Proposed New Name For Sanford's Seminole Boulevard

Sanford's Seminole Boulevard may not rival Chicago's famous Lake Shore Drive, but City Commissioner John Mercer thinks Lake Shore Drive would be a better name for the street which runs along Lake Monroe.

The Commission received three requests for street name changes Monday night and Mercer brought up his suggestion, which he had made at an earlier commission work session.

Commissioners A.A. McClanahan and Whitey Eckstein said the public should be allowed to comment on the proposed name change, particularly since there are some addresses on Seminole Boulevard.

City Attorney William Colbert told the commission that street names can only be changed by ordinance, requiring a public hearing before final action. The commission then passed a motion asking that an ordinance be drawn up changing the name of the street.

The council delayed a request to rename Stenstrom Boulevard in the new Brynhaven development. William Miller of Suda, Inc., developer, asked that the street be renamed Russell Drive, which he plans to name the primary street in the development, which ties into the present Stenstrom. He said Stenstrom is a short dead-end street, which will have no addresses on it.

However, Eckstein suggested delaying action on the request until the Stenstrom family can be contacted and asked if they have any objections, since the street was most likely named for one or more members of the family. The other commissioners agreed.

The commission did approve renaming that part of Park Avenue between Mattie Street and Wyly Avenue. It will be called Princeton Avenue, which commissioners agreed would be less confusing to drivers.

A request from Seminole Community College to name a street on the campus Weldon Boulevard was approved without discussion. The campus street is along a proposed extension of the campus property, and extends into the present campus off U.S. Highway 17-92.

The council also approved a payment of $42,120.94 from Miller in lieu of dedicating part of the Brynhaven development for open spaces. Miller said the 2.2-acre plot for open spaces is too small to be of practical use as a park and suggested the cash payment based on the value of the land. The development is located behind Sanora South Unit 1 with no entrance off of Sanford Avenue.

...Landslide

Civil protection authorities feared the precarious dam could collapse from the pressure of the new lake, causing a wall of water to rush through the river valley.

Villages downstream were ordered evacuated but officials rescinded the order after geologists said they could give five hours' advance warning of a collapse.

The Valltellina had been hard-hit on July 18 in flooding caused by torrential rains. That storm left at least 15 people dead and another 25 missing.

Heavy rains in eastern France on July 13 caused a river to overflow its banks and sweep 30 campers to their deaths.

In the latest disaster, authorities said the army had evacuated 1,000 residents from the area in the previous two days, but some returned against orders to try to salvage possessions.

The landslide damaged the villages of Aquilone and San Polo and wiped out the evacuated villages of Sant' Antonio Morignone and Morignone, east of the provincial capital of Sondrio and just south of Bormio.

Fireman Emilio Nesi, who flew over the area, said it was covered by "a very dense cloud of dust."

"It was an awful thing," he said. "The mass of earth, fallen from the right side of the precipice, rose after having crossed the bed of the Adda, on the left to an altitude of dozens of yards."

"Sant' Antonio Morignone doesn't exist any more," Nesi said.

...Shooting

ended on the rooftop.

Officials held the arraignment directly across the corridor from where the shooting began, right at the top of the stairs were Paulk was shot and killed.

"It is obvious this guy just cracked. The pressure got him. Whether you call that temporary insanity, I don't know," Mayo told reporters after arraignment.

"Judge Bailey was a person out of a pioneering family that settled here in the 1830s. He is related to everyone around here. Everyone is in a state of shock," Mayo said.

Officials in the city of 4,000 residents 38 miles southeast of Panama City, Fla., closed the courthouse after the shooting.

The shooting occurred after a post-divorce hearing in the judge's chambers on alimony payments Melvin owed his ex-wife, authorities said.

The couple divorced Nov. 4, 1986, and her alimony was $350 a month.

After the hearing concluded and as they were about to leave the chambers, Melvin drew a .357 magnum and a second weapon, police said, and people began running.

Ingles tried to grab the gun but was shot, police said. As Bailey tried to flee into a bathroom adjoining the chambers, Melvin fired at him through the door.

Inez Melvin ran out to a hallway and police said Melvin, who fired at his ex-wife while chasing her, shot and killed

Paulk as she ran upstairs to see about the commotion.

Melvin then dragged his ex-wife down a hallway and out across a second-floor walkway onto the roof of the adjoining jail.

Harrison was alerted and ran out of his office and to the trunk of his patrol car to get his pistol.

The sheriff, standing outside at the corner of the courthouse, told Melvin to drop the weapon. Harrison said he saw Melvin shoot his ex-wife in the head. Harrison shot at least three times and hit Melvin in the throat.

"When he came up he had the gun in his hand. He yelled my name. He yelled Al," said Harrison. "I yelled, 'Drop the gun,' and then the gun swung toward me and I fired. He went down immediately."

As Harrison climbed to the roof, Inez Melvin threw one of Melvin's two guns off the roof.

Harrison said when he reached the roof, he heard Melvin say to his ex-wife, "This is your punishment for running around on me." She said, "I never ran around on you."

Bailey, 64, was scheduled to retire next year, authorities said. He drove his wife earlier in the morning to golf lessons, a hobby they planned to pursue during retirement.

"We're shocked. We can't believe it actually happened. Everybody just adored Judge Bailey. It's a just a very tragic thing," sobbed Tanya Knox, Bailey's law clerk.

Theresa Lynch, a deputy clerk of court, recalled Bailey was looking forward to his retirement.

"I knew that judge. He was the best. He was so fair, so understanding. I can't believe the guy would do that. He must have been crazy," she said.

"He was very much looking forward to his retirement. He just became a grandfather," she said.

Knox said Melvin had requested the hearing to end his alimony payments.

Knox said she was late for the hearing and was on her way up the stairs when she heard a sound.

"Someone said someone's shooting. I said, 'No, they just dropped a book,'" Knox said. "And then it went off again. The next thing we knew, Moore was r u n n i n g d o w n stairs shouting, 'He's got a gun, get in your offices. Get down.'"

"It seemed like it took a long time. I'm sure it was only five or 10 minutes before it was over with," Knox said.

Lynch said Clyde Melvin, an employee of the St. Joe Paper Co., was well known around Port St. Joe for writing letters to editors of local newspapers on various issues.

Mrs. King, who joined the 140,000-member sales organization in May 1986, received the prestigious award for outstanding achievement as a professional businesswoman. "Rubye has helped scores of women achieve their career potential. She is a shining example of entrepreneurial leadership," said Mary Kay Ash, company founder and chairman of the board.

Mary Kay Ash presented Mrs. King as a member of the Consultant Court of Personal Sales with a 14-carat gold ring set with 20 diamonds totaling over 1 carat. She also received a gold bracelet and commemorative, first edition plate featuring a portrait of Mary Kay.

Mrs. King was honored during a gala awards ceremony attended by 6,000 Mary Kay beauty consultants and sales directors. She was among those super achievers invited to tour Mary Kay's mansion which has 14 bathrooms. She also attended a buffet reception honoring the company's top saleswomen.

The seminar's 1987 theme, Success Express, celebrates the company's tradition of recognizing women for their business achievements. The Mary Kay seminar consists of four consecutive three-day meetings at the Dallas Convention Center attended by 24,000 independent businesswomen from throughout the United States, who receive intense product, business and sales training.

Cook Of The Week

Dreamer Touches American Soil With Proud Heritage And, Of Course, German Recipes

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent
Dreams do come true. Especially for someone as determined as Barbara Ball of Lake Mary, who was born in Berlin, Germany while World War II was still raging. For our vivacious Cook of the Week, who still sports a lilting accent, a daydream became reality when she touched American soil in 1963.

"Ever since I was a little kid," she says, "I grew up on Disney movies and Gone With The Wind. I must have seen Gone With The Wind ... I don't know how many times. And I read the book ... I don't know how many times! I was always daydreaming about the United States. Just the incredible space of it all. Growing up in Berlin, which is an island in the Soviet zone. — I mean you're surrounded by the Soviet sector, so everything is kind of cramped. It just blew my mind to think that I could get into my car and drive from the east coast to the west coast — and nobody would say a word about it! There were no checkpoints or anything and it absolutely amazed me. So the first couple of years I was here, I did a lot of driving!"

This young girl of 20 brought with her many of the values instilled by a mother with a positive attitude, and an older brother whose guidance and encouragement helped mold her cheerful, outgoing personality. "My dad died when I was two years old," she says, "so I never really had a chance to get to know him. But I have a brother, Lothar Kalsler, almost nine years older than I am, so he was my big brother, but in a lot of ways he was also my dad. He helped me to become what I wanted to be. He had such a nice way of encouraging me to do things, but he also had a gentle, low-key way of disciplining me with a great sense of humor. To this day, what I love to do the most is laugh. He gave me confidence, so I always had the feeling that I could do anything I wanted to do if I really set my mind to it. I think that's important, self-esteem and a good feeling about yourself."

Barbara Ball prepares a German specialty.

Mrs. Ball's mother and brother still live in Germany where her mother is a resident of the Black Forest area. "We never thought my mom would ever leave Berlin," says our cook. "She was born and raised there. Her family goes way back. But about ten years ago, she just packed up and moved and she now lives in a retirement center. She's in her late seventies and welcomed the companionship." Her mother's position as breadwinner and head of the household prompted Mrs. Ball and her brother to assume certain responsibilities at a time when most young people balk at those things. "She went out and did her thing," says Mrs. Ball, "and the least we could do, as our part of the family unit, was help. From the time I can remember, I had chores to do before I went to school and after school. That was just the way it was. I think we were always anxious to get it out of the way because Mom always had something planned. Something to look forward to and something to work for. She was a marvelous person, a very positive person. If anything had to be done, she did it and moved on."

Mrs. Ball remembers learning to help with the cooking from the time she could handle a potato peeler. "When I came home from school," she says, "I did my things, and that usually involved starting the potatoes, washing the vegetables, or anything to get things started so that when she came home it was one, two, three and supper was done. And unless you were close to death," she adds with a laugh, "you made your bed in the morning." As a result of her mother's gentle guidance, Mrs. Ball has developed her homemaking skills and calls herself a "spur-of-the-moment" cook who loves to experiment with recipes and create new ones. "I always had to cook," she says, "but my brother did, too. And to this day, my sister-in-law will say, 'I am so grateful to your mother.' He helps her in the kitchen. He's used to it. He starts dinner if he's the first one at home, and he still helps on Saturday with the shopping and the cleaning. They both work, and he never thinks anything of it. I think that's pretty nice."

Mrs. Ball was a primary school teacher and taught in a private school in Alexandria, Va. before turning to court reporting in Washington, D.C. later on. Comparing the U.S. school system with that of Germany, she notes that a great deal of emphasis was put into choosing a vocation as early as the sixth grade. "They still got all the basics," she explains, "like English and math, but the sciences weren't stressed as much. But whatever they chose as a vocation, the education was channeled in that direction, so when they finished ninth grade, they started an apprenticeship in that chosen field. And when that apprenticeship was finished, they had something that could earn them a living for the rest of their lives." Two foreign languages were a requirement, according to Mrs. Ball, and English was a must. "You didn't have anything to say about that," she says. "English was the absolute requirement, then you had a choice of French, Greek and Latin. So I took five years of French and English." She adds that there was no such thing as one or two years of algebra. "It was four and five years of algebra, geometry, trigonometry, physics, chemistry and biology," she says. "There was a very strong emphasis on education."

After teaching for a number of years in Virginia, our cook switched her interests to court reporting after attending Strayer College in Washington, D.C. "It certainly was an interesting experience," she exclaims, adding, "because I had led a rather sheltered life. I reported depositions, but the majority of my work was felonies and at first it was hard to control my emotions and reactions to certain things." During this time our cook fulfilled another dream she had by buying a horse. "That's what I wanted to do all my life," she says. "I always wanted a horse."

Microwave Magic

Try Favorite Southern Fare

As a transplanted northerner I have learned to appreciate the wonderful food of the south and incorporated some of the special dishes into my family meals and adapted them to the microwave.

When folks make Brunswick Stew they usually make a lot, using the microwave does limit the amount you can make at one time, but there is a big savings in time. This recipe will fill two — 4 quart casseroles or you can half the recipe and fill just one.

Midge Mycoff

mixture and combine evenly. Pour into 8-inch square glass dish. Microwave on 80% 5-6 minutes or until set.

When my daughter and her husband lived in Columbus, Ga., I became acquainted with this dish that is a traditional recipe of that area. This version was adopted by a home economist for the Amana Corporation.

COUNTRY CAPTAIN

1 2½-3 pound fryer, cut up
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped green pepper
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 — 10 ounce can cream of mushroom soup
1 — 14½ ounce can tomatoes, cut-up

2½ teaspoons curry powder
½ teaspoon thyme
½ cup currants
½ cup slivered almonds

In a 4 quart casserole, melt butter on 100% power — 20 seconds. Stir in onion, green pepper, and garlic. Saute 2 minutes on 100% power. Add soup and seasonings and chickens. Cover, microwave on 100% power 10 minutes stirring after 5. Reduce power to 70% and microwave 20-24 minutes, stirring after 10. Allow to stand 10 minutes before serving. In glass measure melt 3 tablespoons butter on 100% power 45 seconds. Stir in almonds, microwave 1½-2 minutes on 100% power. Spread on a brown paper bag to absorb excess butter. Serve chicken mixture over fluffy white rice, sprinkle with toasted almonds and currants.

I'm not sure which one would be the winner if we voted on the most popular southern dessert, but I imagine this next recipe would be among the top 3.

BANANA PUDDING

2 cups milk
4 egg yolks
1½ cups sugar
6 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons butter
2 teaspoons vanilla
24-30 vanilla wafers
3 ripe bananas, peeled and sliced

Microwave milk in a 4-cup glass measure on 80% power for 4 minutes. Mix together egg yolks, sugar, flour, salt, and vanilla. Remove milk from microwave. Stir in butter until melted. Slowly add milk to egg yolk mixture. Blend well. Microwave on 80% power 4-6 minutes, stirring every minute.

See South, 3B

BRUNSWICK STEW

1 — 3 pound boneless beef roast
1 — 2 pound pork roast
4 cups tomato juice
2 small onions, chopped
½ cup Worcestershire Sauce
½ cup lemon juice or sour pickle juice
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon Tabasco sauce
½ teaspoon onion powder
1 clove garlic, minced
2 — 1 pound cans whole kernel corn, drained
2 — 14½ ounce cans tomatoes
1½ cups dried bread crumbs (fine)

Cut meat into 2 inch pieces and grind (with food processor), a little at a time so that the meat will be finely chopped. In 4 quart casserole with lid, microwave tomato juice on 100% power for 5 minutes. Add meat, onion, Worcestershire Sauce, pickle juice, salt, pepper, Tabasco, onion powder, and garlic. Stir well. Microwave on 50% power for 45 minutes to 1 hour, stirring every 15 minutes, until meat is tender.

Divide the meat between 2-4 quart casseroles. To each add 1 can of cream style corn, 1 can of whole kernel corn, 1 can of tomatoes (broken up) and ½ cup bread crumbs. Heat each for 8 minutes, then allow to cool. Refrigerate over night to allow flavors to develop.

Reheat on 85% power 8-10 minutes to serve.

Nothing is more southern than grits. A cheese grits casserole is always served at our family Labor Day Fish Fry. Jean Warren, my son's mother-in-law, makes the best I've ever eaten.

This recipe makes a much smaller amount than Jean makes for the gathering, but it is good and quick.

CHEESE GRITS

3 cups water
1 cup quick-cooking grits
3 eggs
1 stick butter
2 cups grated sharp Cheddar cheese
½ teaspoon garlic powder
¼ teaspoon white pepper

Mix water and grits together in a large glass measure. Microwave on 100% power 8-9 minutes stirring every 2 minutes, until thick. Stir in cheese while grits are hot. Stir until completely melted. In glass cup measure microwave butter on 100% power 1-1½ minutes, then stir into cheese/grits. Beat eggs and add seasonings. Gradually add eggs to cheese/grits

Gothro Named Recipient Of West Lake's First Award

Michele T. Gothro has been selected as the recipient of the 1987 Dr. Frist Humanitarian Award at West Lake Hospital. The award is named for Dr. Thomas Frist Sr., one of the founders of Hospital Corporation of America (HCA), which owns West Lake in Longwood, according to Laura Taulbee, hospital marketing director.

Gothro and other Frist Award winners at HCA-owned hospitals are nominated by co-workers and exhibit dedication for their jobs and for patient welfare above and beyond the call of duty.

Gothro is a Mental Health Tech/Unit Secretary on the Intensive Evaluation Unit and has been employed at West Lake for more than a year. "I am honored to receive this award from my fellow employees, and feel proud to be in such esteemed company," Gothro said. "I've never worked with such a dedicated hospital staff, which honestly cares about the well-being of each patient."

Gothro's volunteer activities include public speaking on AIDS awareness and education, and participation in "Feed the Poor," a small group which serves donated food to the needy every Saturday at Orlando's Lake Eola

Park. Gothro is a graduate of Harper Hospital School of Respiratory Therapy in Detroit, and is certified by the National Board of Respiratory Therapists.

Gothro and other local Frist Award recipients are next eligible for recognition on a divisional level, leading up to an overall winner among HCA's hospitals nationally and internationally.

New beef is leaner than it used to be, from cross-bred and specially-fed cattle. Low-fat beef is even sold with brand names.

What makes a bacon-lettuce-tomato sandwich elegant? Add a few slices of buttery-rich avocado.

It takes just minutes to "poach" pears in a microwave. Halve pears lengthwise, place cut-side down on a plate, and cover with plastic wrap. Poke a hole in the plastic and the skin of the pear. Zap on high for 2 minutes, then let stand for a minute.

Marinate flank steak with 2 lbs. each lemon juice and soy sauce, 1 tsp. honey and 1/4 cup olive oil. Before soaking, stuff slivers of 3 cloves of garlic into slits in the meat. Grill over coals for super flavor.

Help in the kitchen: cut-up vegetables from the supermarket salad bar are handy for stir-fry dishes. Choose neatly cut chunks, broccoli florets, etc.

and I couldn't just get an ordinary horse, of course." After much searching, Mrs. Ball purchased the horse of her dreams which she named Jubilee. "She was, and still is," says Mrs. Ball, "an absolutely gorgeous animal. She had been severely abused — I mean severely. She's close to 20 years old now, and I've had her for 10. She's my baby." Mrs. Ball keeps her pride and joy boarded nearby in Sanford and keeps her showered with plenty of TLC.

In 1979, Barbara Kaiser became Mrs. Bob Ball, Jr. Recalling how she met her future husband, Mrs. Ball relates that he was working for a real estate firm in Fredericksburg, Va., and she was shopping for a small house with enough acreage to accommodate her Jubilee. After many viewings through multiple listings, a courtship ensued, "and then the whole crew moved to Florida," she laughs, "horse and all. His dad, Bob Ball Sr., lived in Sanford so we thought it would be kind of nice to come to Florida to get married." First settling in Sanford, the Balls then moved to a lovely home in Lake Mary which Mrs. Ball has enjoyed decorating with a comfortable countrylike atmosphere. Her husband operates the Bob Ball Jr. Realty and the Lake Mary Realty dealing in commercial real estate and appraisals.

In the absence of children, Barbara and Bob Ball have made a habit of collecting and caring for a "family" of animals on their 10-acre spread in Osteen. "You know how a family can grow," she quips. "Where I keep my horse, the owners have cows. One day I went out there and there was the cutest little calf. I named her Rosebud and told Bob he had to go out there and see her. Well, he looked at Rosebud and it was love at first sight." Needless to say, more "pets" were added to Bob's menagerie. Thorn, a bull, and Tulip, another cow. "So then we had three cows," says Mrs. Ball. "Now traditionally, most people do something about a calf that's born a bull. So now we have six. The last one that was born was a little bull again ... and this one we did something about. Bob is a real proud father. He really feels accomplished now," she adds, with an impish chuckle. A well-fed Norwegian Elkhound named Elke holds the spotlight at home and is quite a vocal member of the family.

Mrs. Ball has many interests, but doesn't consider herself a "club" person. "Rather than belong to an organization where it takes forever and a moon to make a decision about how to help somebody," she declares, "I kind of like to do things quietly, and basically, what I grew up with — when you see something that needs to be done, do it." Mrs. Ball is an expert at caring for "dumped" and ailing animals. She holds a real estate license, sharing her husband's profession, and plans to return to school some day to earn a degree in communications. "We have an opportunity, almost a responsibility to help each other," she says. "Some of these things are real easy to do. I think it takes much less energy to be happy than to be unhappy. I think with a degree in communications I would like to get involved in something that I could be a spokesperson for."

Not only does our cook have a contagious sense of humor, but she admits to being a prankster. She's a happy person who wakes up whistling. "That's the way I am," she says. Together, the Balls enjoy working around their home. They both read a lot, with Bob Ball leaning toward Civil War facts and fiction. When they entertain, says Mrs. Ball, it's usually a small dinner party for one or two couples.

"What I really like to do," she says, "is start off with something and build from there, especially with soups and stews. I like to take my basic ingredients and see what happens. Even with my cooking, I like to have a good time. I love to cook, but I also love to experiment along the way, so the same dish can taste different every time." Mrs. Ball confesses that she does not like to bake too much. "Deserts, yes, but baking, no," she says. "With baking you can't be as creative. You have to be more precise and follow recipe." She uses her crockpot often, especially in warm weather. For health reasons, says Mrs. Ball, "we eat a lot of chicken, turkey and fish and it's also economical." With a wink, our cook adds that as much as she appreciates her husband's company in the kitchen, she usually discourages any active participation.

Calling on her Germany heritage for some of the most delicious dishes, Mrs. Ball has compiled the following mouth-watering recipes:

FARMER'S BREAKFAST
4 medium potatoes
4 strips bacon, cubed
3 eggs
3 tablespoons milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup cooked ham, cut into small cubes
2 medium tomatoes, peeled
1 tablespoon chopped chives
Boil unpeeled potatoes for 30 minutes. Rinse under cold water, peel, and set aside to cool. Slice potatoes.

In a large fry pan, cook bacon until transparent. Add the potato slices; cook until lightly browned. Meanwhile, blend eggs with milk and salt. Stir in the cubed ham. Cut the tomatoes into thin wedges; add to the egg mixture. Pour the egg mixture over the potatoes in the fry pan. Cook until eggs are set. Sprinkle with chopped chives and serve at once. A good lunch or dinner dish served with salad and bread. Serves 3 to 4.

MEATLOAF WITH CAULIFLOWER
1 pound ground beef
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 small head cauliflower
1 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1 cup evaporated milk
3 tomatoes, halved
Mix beef, egg, milk, crumbs, onion and seasonings to make a meat loaf. Mold into ring in 2-quart round baking dish. Parboil cauliflower 5 minutes. Place in center of meatloaf. Mix cheese and milk. Pour over cauliflower. Bake at 350° for 45 minutes to 1 hour. Last 5 minutes of baking, place tomatoes on top of meatloaf. Serves 4.

HOT POTATO SALAD
3 medium potatoes, boiled in skins
3 slices bacon
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 teaspoons sugar
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon celery seeds
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3/4 cup water
2 1/2 tablespoons vinegar
Peel potatoes and slice thin. Sauté bacon slowly in fry pan. Drain on paper towels. Sauté onion in bacon fat until golden brown. Blend in flour, sugar, salt, celery seeds and pepper. Cook over low heat, stirring until smooth and bubbly. Remove from heat. Stir in water and vinegar. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil for 1 minute.

Carefully stir in the potatoes and crumbled bacon bits. Remove from heat, cover and let stand until ready to serve. Serves 4.

SAUERBRATEN
4 pounds boneless beef roast
1 cup water
1 cup white vinegar
2 onions, sliced
1 teaspoon salt
6 peppercorns
2 bay leaves
2 cloves
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 medium tomato, peeled and chopped
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons sugar
1/4 cup water
Place meat in a large, non-metal container. In a saucepan, bring water, vinegar, onions, salt, peppercorns, bay leaves and cloves to a boil. Simmer for 10 minutes. Cool marinade to room temperature. Pour marinade over meat. Refrigerate for 2 to 3 days, turning several times each day.

Remove meat from marinade and dry. Brown meat in hot vegetable oil in a Dutch oven. Add the tomato and marinade liquid. Cover and simmer gently 1 to 2 hours, or until meat is tender. Remove meat from juices. Also remove peppercorns, cloves and bay leaves. Mix flour and sugar with water until lumps disappear. Add to pan juices and cook until thickened. Serve with boiled potatoes and red cabbage. Serves 6 to 8.

SWEET AND SOUR RED CABBAGE
1/4 cup butter
4 medium apples, peeled and sliced
1/2 onion, chopped
1 head red cabbage, finely shredded
1 cup red wine
4 whole cloves
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 bay leaves
1/4 cup vinegar
1/4 cup butter
juice of 1/2 lemon
Melt butter in 4-quart Dutch oven. Add apples and onions; sauté slightly. Add cabbage, red wine, cloves, sugar and bay leaves. Simmer, covered, for 1 hour, then add remaining ingredients. Heat to melt the butter and serve immediately. Serves 6.

FRUIT SALAD WITH NUTS
1 small honeydew melon
2 oranges
1 cup red grapes
lettuce leaves
12 walnut halves
Dressing:
1 container (8 ounces) yogurt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon orange juice
1 tablespoon tomato catsup
2 tablespoons evaporated milk
dash of salt
dash of white pepper
Scoop out melon with melon baller. Cut peel from oranges, remove white membrane and slice crosswise. Cut grapes in half and remove seeds. Line a glass bowl with lettuce leaves; arrange melon balls, orange slices, grapes and walnuts in layers on top of lettuce.

Mix and blend well all ingredients for dressing. Adjust seasonings to taste. Pour dressing over the fruit. Let salad ingredients marinate for 30 minutes. Toss salad just before serving. Serves 4 to 6.

Taking Friend's Pills Is Medically Unwise

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — To avoid costs, I've been taking a friend's birth control pills, since she doesn't need them anymore. What's wrong with doing this?

DEAR READER — Oral contraceptives are prescription drugs, and it is unwise for a person to take medicine that is prescribed for someone else. This practice is risky because you may be allergic to another person's medicine or it may not be right for you.

In addition, women on birth-control pills should have Pap smears performed at periodic intervals, at least annually. By taking your friend's pills, you are depriving yourself of necessary medical supervision and followup.

Finally, oral contraceptives are far from harmless; they can cause hypertension and blood clots in certain women. While on birth-control pills, you should be evaluated for complications of this treatment.

Rather than saving money by using your friend's prescription, you should see your own gynecologist. Be frank in discussing your financial situation and I am sure that the doctor will make an adjustment in fee; he or she might even be willing to provide you with free samples of birth-control pills. Further, birth-control clinics, such as those run by Planned Parenthood, often give free or very low-cost care to patients who cannot afford private medical services.

Please don't compromise your own medical care because of financial reasons.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Please enlighten those of us who were shipyard workers in World War II about mesothelioma.

DEAR READER — In past years, asbestos was commonly used in manufacturing. The mineral is an excellent insulator and is heat resistant. In the 1940s and 1950s, scientists were not aware of the health dangers of asbestos; hence, there were very few environmental controls. This was especially true in heavy manufacturing — such as shipbuilding — and in asbestos mines.

Beginning in the 1960s, doctors recognized the relation between mesothelioma (a malignant tumor of the lung covering) and asbestos exposure. Asbestos was also discovered to be the cause of asbestosis, a severe, debilitating and progressive lung disease that resembles emphysema.

Today, the mining and commercial use of asbestos is carefully regulated — or directly banned in many processes. Asbestos is known to be a dangerous substance that causes handicaps and death. Because you were a shipyard worker before the hazards of asbestos were fully appreciated, you were at risk of inhaling hazardous quantities of asbestos fibers. You should have periodic, meticulous lung examinations by trained physicians to ensure that you are treated for any damage you may develop from asbestos.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

The second volume of the New York Times Bridge Series is titled "Doubles and Redoubles." The author, Alan Truscott, has culled appropriate columns involving this aspect of the game from his many years of bridge reporting. Today's deal, played by our fellow writer Eddie Kantar, demonstrates that important declarer skill of playing for a particular distribution of the cards if that is the only logical way to make the contract. Incidentally, the eventual business double of the slam contract suggests that the favorable layout may just be occurring.

Kantar readily admits that he was hoping to cajole the opponents into taking a save when he bid his vulnerable slam. Instead, he was doubled. With a diamond led, he took his only chance. He ruffed and drew trumps ending in dummy. Then he played the spade jack, intending to pass it, but East covered. Declarer won the ace, ruffed a low spade and ruffed a diamond back to his hand. Then he led the spade 10. When West had to play the nine, Kantar shed a heart from dummy. Although East could win with his remaining high honor, the eight in Eddie's hand was now good for another heart discard, and the doubled slam was made.

Yes, you sharp-eyed readers are right. An opening heart lead would have beaten the contract.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY JULY 30, 1987

In the year ahead, associate with people in the forefront of new thinking. Involvements with these individuals will inspire you in ways that will benefit your career and personal life.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) An unusual development by a close friend could result in something profitable for you today. Be alert and watchful for the unexpected. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to restore the relationship. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't be dismayed if things don't work out too well for you early in the day. Your luck is a late bloomer and won't come into play until later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Something good will happen for you today of which you will not be apprised. You'll learn of it a few days from now when you piece things together.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't accept situations at face value today. Something that has all of the earmarks of being a losing proposition could turn out the opposite.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Things that you think are important today could turn out to be of little value, while your prize of real worth might be taken for granted.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're a quick study today, and you'll grasp facts instantly. Don't squander this attribute. Converse with people from whom you can learn.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Friends will view you as a valuable ally today. You'll be able to solve their problems as well as see pitfalls they may be overlooking.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In joint ventures today, your second thoughts may prove to be your wisest. Before committing yourself, re-examine your initial perceptions.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Make a concerted effort to upgrade your productivity today, but, by the same token, don't assume more than you can comfortably handle.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Someone may present you with an interesting investment proposal today. Regardless of this person's credentials, take time to investigate it yourself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A delicate matter that has caused you a degree of anxiety can be wrapped up today, but you still may not get all you've hoped for.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If things have been a trifle tense lately, give your mind a rest today and do something light, carefree or perhaps even frivolous.
