County may select new conference site

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — An advisory committee to the Seminole County Board of Commissioners on Thursday unanimously recommended that sites other than Sanford should be considered for designation as the county's conference center.

The move by the Tourist Development Council came as no surprise, because Sanford voided a lease agreement with PRA Management and Development of Philadelphia earlier this week.

Advisory committee recommends that other sites be considered

The Sanford site on Fort Mellon Park had been designated as the preferred county conference center site on May 8, 1998. PRA was planning to develop a 300-room hotel and conference center, but failed to perform a feasibility study within a deadline established in the lease.

The county will receive a bill of $1,100 for work performed on the initial phase of the feasibility study in Sanford. Seminole County had agreed to fund $10,000 toward the study, while PRA Development would pay the remaining cost.

Lake Mary appears to now have the edge in competition for Seminole County's conference center, while Sanford prepares to seek bids from companies for a proposed hotel on Fort Mellon Park.

The Pizzuti Group plans to build a 300-room hotel with meeting space in the Heathrow International Business Center on Lake Mary's bustling Interstate-4 corridor.

Pizzuti plans to begin construction on the hotel in Lake Mary by early December, and the project is expected to last 10 to 12 months, said Ken Simbeck, Pizzuti's senior vice-president.

There will be several restaurants and boutiques built in coordination with the hotel, Simbeck said.

Gun scare at Lake Brantley is false alarm

Officials pleased with students' reaction in crisis situation

From Staff Reports

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — School officials at Lake Brantley High School placed the campus on lock-down status for two hours after they received reports of a student armed with a rifle on campus.

According to an Altamonte Springs police spokesman, at about 7:46 a.m. two students reported seeing another student walking onto the east-side of the Lake Brantley campus with what appeared to be a rifle.

Altamonte Springs police responded to the scene and thoroughly searched the facility, looking for anyone who matched the description of the reported student with the weapon. No weapons were found.

Authorities speculate the students probably saw another student carrying a black, wooden replica rifle used in the school's Reserve Officer Training Class (ROTC).

"The students who spotted what they thought was a rifle should be commended," said Karen Gilroy, spokesperson for the Altamonte Springs Police Department. "They did the right thing."

Lake Brantley High School was placed on "Code Red" status for two hours during the search for a weapon. Access to the school was restricted, and students were not allowed to leave their classrooms.

"A room-to-room building search was conducted," Gilroy said.

The lockdown at Lake Brantley was lifted at 10 a.m., See Story, Page 6A

Hospitality on the greens

Participants in the 22nd Annual Fall Golf Tournament hosted by the Sanford/Seminole Chamber of Commerce could not wait to get to the hole sponsored by First American Title. Terry Stewart, Janene Black, Vendi Niamico were there to pass out hot dogs and cold drinks. The event was held at Timocuan Golf and Country Club.

School reports racial vandalism

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Racial slurs have been found written on at least one boys bathroom door at Rock Lake Middle School in Longwood this month, according to the Seminole County Sheriff's Office.

The school's administrators recently suspended or counseled more than a dozen students involved in physical acts of intolerance committed against a Jewish student during a six week period.

School Principal Hugh Harris advised the Sheriff's Office on Oct. 3 that someone had been writing racial slurs on boys bathroom doors.

A photograph taken by deputies on Oct. 3 of the door to bathroom No. 713 shows that someone had written "KKK" in ink, and that the writing was about three inches in width, said Seminole County Sheriff's Office spokesman Steve Olson.

A school custodian told deputies that in addition to bathroom No. 713, he has cleaned several other boys bathrooms containing similar markings. A custodian said bathrooms 616, 617, and 714 were among those vandalized, according to a Sheriff's Office incident report.

Harris said that no racial or anti-Semitic slurs have been found written in the school since Oct. 3. See Racial, Page 6A

Weinberg leaving county chamber job

By Russ White
Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce is looking for a new director. Wayne Weinberg, who held the job for nearly five years, has resigned to become Vice President of TRC Staffing in Orlando.

Weinberg, 52, worked in Orlando Mayor Glenda Hood's Office before taking the Seminole County chamber position. He had been a radio director and broadcaster, also.

The chamber ran through a numbers of interim directors until Weinberg arrived. The membership in the chamber rose from 1,000 to 1,500, largely through his efforts. A couple of chamber events — the Political Hob Nob and the County Chairman's State of the County luncheon became extremely popular.

Weinberg said Thursday that he has volunteered to direct future Hob Nobs if the chamber so desired.

"As satisfying as the offer from TRC is, leaving the chamber is extremely difficult," said Weinberg, who will leave Nov. 5.

Police have recovered several thousand dollars worth of dolls, however, they are unsure who owns the items. If you have information about the dolls, call investigator Dan Purcell at the Seminole County Sheriff's Office at 331-8620.

Bizarre burglar case becomes odder with discovery of dolls

By Joe DeSantis
Staff Writer

SANFORD — The long strange case of accused house burglar and car-jacker Christopher John Smith took another bizarre twist Thursday.

Seminole County Sheriff's investigators have now linked Smith, 33, to the theft of a massive doll collection discovered dumped in the woods near Ocoee in September, around the time neighborhoods in Maitland and South Seminole County were experiencing a rash of home burglaries.

More than 100 dolls, many of them collector's items dating back as far as the 1920's and valued at more than $10,000, were discovered after investigators interrogated Robert Kaminsky, a friend of Smith's and a co-defendant in the home burglaries.

Smith was originally arrested by Orange County authorities on two charges of burglary and then bonded out of jail before Seminole County authorities could file additional charges against him.

He was apprehended by Seminole County deputies after attempting to car-jack the vehicle of a Winter Park family while they were fueling the car at a 7-11. Smith crashed the car in the 7-11 parking lot, injuring a woman and child passenger, hopped a fence and escaped again. He was found a day later by Casselberry residents and deputies after spending the night in one homeowners garage and stealing food from a freezer.

Since that time jail authorities at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility have filed additional charges against him for attempted and planned escape after finding digging instruments in his cell.

Investigator Brenda Sonafelt said the doll cache was found in a big pile covered with a plastic waterbed cover. Some of the valuable dolls have been damaged due to exposure to the elements.

"At this time we have no knowledge of where the dolls came from," said Sonafelt. "We've alerted other agencies seeking information about reports of a stolen collection, but so far have no idea who the owner or owners of the dolls are. This part of the case is absolutely unusual."

Fellow investigator Dan Purple said after authorities received a tip on the dolls, they fanned out over a quarter mile area, took photos first and then set up an organized crime scene because of the size of the evidence find.

"There's between 100 and 150 dolls, some are not on display," said Purcell. "Our main goal is to find the victims and return the dolls to the rightful owner. But so far there's no indication of who the owners might be."

The Sheriff's Office brought in Marie Dees, owner of Doll's

Reborn, located in Longwood to help determine the extent of the collection and get an idea about its value.

Dees has spent 35 years researching dolls and runs a doll repair hospital and restoration service that serve customers world-wide.

"The owner of these pieces has to have a wounded heart," said Dees. "This is an extensive collection, I would say probably from one collector. Someone probably had an entire room dedicated to the collection and display."

Dees said some of the dolls pre-date World War II and span decades into pieces deemed desirable by collector's well into the 1980's.

"To me this appears to be the collection of someone who had a long-time dedication, maybe even handed down from one family generation to another. They are beautiful and were well taken care of," Dees said.

She added that in terms of finding the rightful owner, gender shouldn't be a focused issue.

"Many people don't realize it, but 35 percent of doll collectors are men."

Sonafelt said the doll collection will remain in custody of the Sheriff's Office until all trials involving Smith have been completed.

"The dolls are certainly part of the evidence," she said. "But they had to come from somewhere, that's the mystery."

SANFORD — An advisory committee to the Seminole County Board of Commissioners on Thursday unanimously recommended that sites other than Sanford should be considered for designation as the county's conference center.

The move by the Tourist Development Council came as no surprise, because Sanford voided a lease agreement with PRA Management and Development of Philadelphia earlier this week.

The Sanford site on Fort Mellon Park had been designated as the preferred county conference center site on May 8, 1998. PRA was planning to develop a 300-room hotel and conference center, but failed to perform a feasibility study within a deadline established in the lease.

The county will receive a bill of $1,100 for work performed on the initial phase of the feasibility study in Sanford. Seminole County had agreed to fund $10,000 toward the study, while PRA Development would pay the remaining cost.

Lake Mary appears to now have the edge in competition for Seminole County's conference center, while Sanford prepares to seek bids from companies for a proposed hotel on Fort Mellon Park.

The Pizzuti Group plans to build a 300-room hotel with meeting space in the Heathrow International Business Center on Lake Mary's bustling Interstate-4 corridor.

Pizzuti plans to begin construction on the hotel in Lake Mary by early December, and the project is expected to last 10 to 12 months, said Ken Simback, Pizzuti's senior vice-president.

There will be several restaurants and boutiques built in coordination with the hotel, Simback said.

"Heathrow is very close to being ready to go," said Seminole County Commissioner Dick VanDerWeide.

Lake Mary was chosen as the preferred site for the county conference center in 1994, before there were proposals from Sanford or Winter Springs.

Each member of the Board of County Commissioners said during interviews that the door is open to consider other sites.

It would take a vote by the County Commission to rescind the choice of Sanford as the conference center site, and open the process for competition. The next commission meeting will be on Oct. 26.

"I plan to bring it up at the next meeting," VanDerWeide said.

Although the hotel developer that Pizzuti is working with remains anonymous, Simback said the developer has performed a feasibility study and is continuing with the project. Simback said the hotel developer will be announced within the coming month.

However, Simback said the amount of conference space has yet to be determined. County officials are seeking 50,000 to 60,000 square feet for the conference center site.

If Sanford can identify a hotel developer, the city would still be in the running for the county conference center site.

"Our deal with Sanford is off," VanDerWeide said. "That doesn't mean it is dead."

PRA Development President Joe Pacitti told Sanford officials a representative would meet

What ever happened to Ozzie and Harriet?

No one is going to talk dirty on WKMG-Channel 6. The station's general manager said so Thursday when she bleeped a vulgar word from an episode of the CBS show Chicago Hope.

What a bleeping good idea. If other stations pick up on WKMG's exercise in taste, television vulgarity may be thrown for a crude loss.

Adam, you have to think, cursed first. Right after being told that he and the wife were being chucked from the garden. Poor Eve couldn't believe her ears. She thought the world of Adam. But there he was swearing like a sailor.

Sailors, of course, are known for salty language. It's a guy and the sea thing. When they came ashore, they taught others how to talk dirty.

Cops have to get dirty sometimes with bad guys. They can't say, "Please, mister, drop that gun." Bad guys don't respond to kindness. Cops know that. They can use bullets and/or bleeps if need be.

Tapes of the late Richard Nixon offer testimony that he had the nastiest vocabulary of any U.S. president. Pat Nixon warned him to stop, or it would cause him to have jowls. He couldn't quit, however. The rest is history.

Remember Spiro Agnew? Nixon's vice president. Agnew created a stir once by using the foulest of four-letter words.

Russ White

Washington newspaper editors did not bleep the word from the reporters' stories. Agnew's creativity with words was news, they said.

Gals curse as bad as men, nowadays. It was part of Women's Lip. They better watch it, though. They might start looking like Richard Nixon or Spiro Agnew.

The hype over the Chicago Hope episode is an all too obvious reminder that nothing gets people more riled than a dirty word or a dirty story.

Television producers are determined to get more latitude in the use of language to make shows more realistic. Artistic truthfulness, they call it.

Sadly, most of what is on television is neither artistic nor truthful. I have no urge to watch Chicago Hope this week or ever. If they need lewd dialogue to be artistically truthful, it's time to change the channel.

MTV has been running a "Real World" documentary series of a 21-year-old student, spiraling deeper into drinking trouble. Producers say the show offers lessons about the dark side of drinking. In a recent episode, the student falls down drunk in a disco. She is seen half-naked, throwing up in the shower. Finally, she is shown having her stomach pumped at a hospital.

MTV executives say that have been careful to treat the young woman's problems honestly and responsibly. "Real World" is filmed in the manner of a music video, with quick cut shots, roaming cameras and a rock sound track. The show's success has lifted the network's overall ratings 18-percent over last year, to a record high.

The woman, by the way, left to spend a month in an alcohol-treatment program after careening out of control on camera.

"Real World" is looking for actors for future screenings. No one under 18 need apply.

What ever happened to Ozzie and Harriet?

Russ White's column appears Tuesday through Saturday in the Seminole Herald.

Baptists look to get teeth into mission

By Russ White
Staff Writer

There are four references to teeth in the Bible, one of which concerns the weeping and gnashing of teeth in Matthew 8:12.

Perhaps, there should be a fifth reference — one dealing with the dental clinic ministry of the Seminole Baptist Association.

Maryellen Perkins is pleased that for five days this month, Oct. 25 through 29, as many as 100 people will come to know the Lord and have their teeth taken care of at the same time.

"I believe Jesus, the Great Healer, would be pleased with our clinics," Perkins said. "Those who can't afford a dentist and have dental needs — especially children — are invited to take advantage of this offer.

Area dentists will donate their time and skills at two locations — First Baptist Church in Sanford and Stetson Baptist Church in DeLand.

To sign up and qualify for the dental clinic, those who are needy are encouraged to attend screening and appointment sessions Saturday, Oct. 16, from 9 a.m. to noon at First Baptist in Sanford; and from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. at Stetson Baptist in DeLand.

The clinics themselves take place Oct. 25 through 28 in Sanford and Oct. 28 and 29 in DeLand at Stetson Baptist Church.

Maryellen Perkins is helping the Seminole Baptist Association organize a dental clinic ministry. The sign-up day for the clinic is tomorrow at First Baptist in Sanford and Stetson Baptist in DeLand.

Perkins said that the dentists will do both extractions and fillings. There will be no root canal work. Those requiring dental work are asked, also, to bring proof of eligibility (canceled check or letter from employer) stating weekly or monthly income.

"This ministry is for the poor," Perkins said. "For those who can't afford to have their teeth done — and for their children."

David H. and Maryellen Perkins of Deltona are retired

Baptist missionaries. They did church work for most of their 52 years of marriage. They worked a long time with the poor in Caribbean countries.

"Often, we found that the poor needed dental work more than anything else," Mrs. Perkins said. "Bad teeth can affect the rest of someone's health. It's sad that so many can't have any dental work. We're trying to do something about that."

From her home, Perkins has coordinated the dental clinic program. She and helped get a number of dentists to donate their time. "They want to help," she said. "They don't want credit. They don't want their name or picture in the papers.

"What we do need is help from the newspapers, TV stations and radio stations to talk about the clinics — and to come see when the clinics are in progress," Mrs. Perkins said.

For more information about the Seminole Baptist Association, call (404) 574-9700 or (904) 775-0940.

Knock, knock, church calling

Let the begging begin. That, in any case, is what it seems like to many church people when October or November rolls around each year. These are the months of the Every Member Canvass, Loyalty Sunday, the Stewardship Drive, etc.

No matter how different the names are, the message is the same: Get your pledge up.

It is rarely put that crassly, of course. Many churches have become as wily and adept as the old-time encyclopedia salesman in getting their foot in your door. They want to "get to know you better" or "see if you have any questions to ask about the church." But before they leave, they will have your filled-in pledge card in their pocket.

Certainly, churches need money to operate, and most of them run their affairs more economically than other businesses. So it is often hard to see why people are so resistant to giving, forcing the churches to beg and coax.

But resistant they are. One Presbyterian church says that half the people whose doorbells were rung on Pledge Sunday weren't home. One solicitor got nine "no answers" in 11 calls. It was a wintry-cold Sunday when you would expect people to be home. Did they go out — or hide in the kitchen — to avoid the canvasser?

Such experiences have forced some churches to give up the door-to-door Every Member Canvass.

"We have learned that people don't like that approach," says the Rev. James Donnan, pastor of Livingston United Methodist Church in Columbus, Ohio. "So we have become more giver-friendly."

Rather than draw up an annual budget based on projected expenses for the coming year as most churches do, at Livingston Methodist members are asked to make voluntary "gifts to God." This, Donnan feels, puts giving on a more spiritual basis.

When all the "gifts to God" are totaled up, the church knows what it will have to spend in the next year.

While there is no arm-twisting, all members of Livingston are encouraged to tithe — give one-tenth of their income to the church, if they are able. Donnan considers it part of his job to convince everybody that they are able.

There have been suggestions that the churches do what most synagogues and temples do — that is, charge membership dues. Every family's dues are the same.

"We find it more dignified not to have to go begging," says the business manager of one temple.

But is it fair that the $25,000-a-year family has to pay the same dues as the $100,000-a-year family? Well, it is pointed out, the truck driver has to pay as much as the CEO for a quart of milk — or for an automobile or a ticket to the movies. The price of most things is the same for everybody.

"Actually," says one synagogue leader, "the basic dues rate is based on what the average person can pay. About 30 percent of our families pay more than the basic rate, and about 20 percent have asked to be allowed to pay less. Adjustments are made in individual cases all the time."

A novel way to raise money for the church has been tried by several Unitarian churches which charge tuition for Sunday school. The charges vary, but the average is $25 a year per pupil up to a maximum of $50 for a family. Those who cannot pay have the tuition waived.

Families are said to have a deeper sense of commitment to the Sunday school, resulting in increased attendance when they pay tuition.

Some churches resort to games and gimmicks to warm people up for giving. One passed out play $1,000 bills with the message: "This represents what God has given you. What will you give him?"

But the "knock-knock" routine is still the most popular gimmick being used.

Well, not popular exactly ...

Pumpkin Patch is open

The Youth Group of First United Methodist Church of Oviedo is opening their 8th Annual Pumpkin Patch. On Saturday, the first delivery of pumpkins is scheduled to arrive at the site, located on Red Bug Lake Road across from Target and Chillis.

The Pumpkin Patch is open Sunday through Thursday 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and until 10 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights.

The annual event has grown to be one of the nation's largest, with the Oviedo youth program ranked fourth last year out of 500 church pumpkin patches nationwide.

Proceeds from this year's event will be used by the youth for various mission projects.

Pre-schools and elementary schools in the Oviedo and Winter Springs area are invited to bring youngsters to the patch for story telling and to receive a miniature pumpkin.

For details on scheduling a pre-school or kindergarten group, contact Terry Bushey at 699-1291.

For more information on the Pumpkin Patch, contact Dan Lykens at 365-9380.

Family Fall Festival is Saturday, Oct. 16

Family Fall Festival on Oct. 16 CASSELBERRY - The congregation of Community United Methodist Church in Casselberry is holding the fifth annual Family Fall Festival and Bazaar on Saturday, Oct. 16, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. There will be activities for people of all ages.

Pumpkins, cornstalks, bales of hay and gourds will be sold in the pumpkin patch. Jams, jellies, pickles, walnuts and pecans from North Carolina and Georgia will be sold in the "Pumpkin Store," along with other fall and pumpkin items.

The women of the church have been working for a year making holiday craft items for the bazaar. Also included will be a bake sale complete with homemade apple butter. There will be used items in Granny's Attic.

There will be all types of games for children, including a cake walk, dunk tank and moonwalk.

The men of the church will be cooking Al Boone BBQ chicken and rib dinners for $3.50 per person. Other items will include Spanish dishes prepared by the Hispanic Ministry.

Live entertainment will take place under the Entertainment tent all day. Some of the entertainment will include Boggy Creek Trio, Damascus Road, Master Design, Ken Fitch and the Hispanic singers.

For more information, call the church office at 831-3777, extension 204.

The festival is located at Community United Methodist Church, 4921 S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry, 1/2 mile north of US Highway 436.

HOROSCOPES

Your Birthday
Saturday, Oct. 16, 1999

Set lofty goals for yourself in the year ahead, be determined to attain them and you will. Aim as high as you dare and don't settle for second best.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Conditions continue to look encouraging and favorable for you in areas that can further your material well-being. Do everything possible to take advantage of this trend. Trying to catch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10108.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) Should something develop that could radically alter your plans today, go with the flow, because this shift might ultimately prove to be for the better.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Take advantage of an activity today that could further your material well-being. Even though you might have to apply a little effort to bring it about, it'll be worth the exertion.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your natural leadership abilities will come to the fore should any challenging developments occur today. Once you are aroused, your combats will regret it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The instinctive thoughts you get today are likely to be your best ones. Have the courage to trust your inner being for guidance and proceed in a positive fashion.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Although the input of friends and associates might not be all that obvious to you today, they could end up playing an important role in your affairs. Stay alert and keep your eyes open.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Establish your targets today and don't lose sight of where you want to go. Major objectives can be achieved through enterprise and tenaciousness. Your talents will shine now.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) As of today, you could become very aware of some changes moving in that should be quite good for you. Harmony could now begin to prevail in an area that has been rocky.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There is no need to probe someone with whom you have dealings about information she or he has been keeping close to the vest. This person may tell you the pertinent facts today.

CANCER (June 21-July 23) Areas where you and a partner or teammate previously disagreed are reconcilable today because each of you are now willing to make some compromises and concessions. Set the tone.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be sure to get an early start today, because this can be an extremely productive day for you if you choose to make it so. Select co-workers who pull their own weight.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Single out comparisons today who appreciate variety and then plan something social with them that's not run-of-the-mill, but instead can be stimulating. They'll recognize your effort.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Is life luck, or fate?
By Phillip Alder

Some people feel that your life is mapped out from birth to death, that there is nothing you can do to affect the outcome. Others, though, believe it is in your own hands.

Suppose you come to a T-junction. Do you turn left or right (or go back the way you came)? The former group argues that it makes no difference; the latter feels that you will lead one life if you go left, another if you move to the right.

Well, in this six-spade contract, do you take the diamond finesse or the club finesse (or neither)? West cashes six hearts, then exits with his trump.

With 11 winners, you need an extra trick from one of the minors. And when you are missing two queens, the normal scheme is to cash the ace and king in the suit with the greater number of cards. If the queen drops, fine; if not, finesse in the other suit.

So, cash dummy's ace-king of diamonds. When the queen stays at large, it is hard to criticize taking an immediate club finesse.

However, if you wish to show partner that you know all about declarer's play, you will cash all of dummy's trumps first, reserving your two remaining diamonds and bringing everyone down to three cards. With this layout, East is squeezed in the minors. He must keep the diamond queen, so can retain only two clubs. Now you cannot lose!

If you know for sure that East has the diamond queen, this line of play works best when West started with queen-doubtful of clubs, because you will drop the queen. Yet assuming West began with a full hand of 13 cards, that cannot be the situation here.

History provides cause for alarm

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have had three ectopic pregnancies. Two weeks into my last cycle, I had severe breast-aching, bleeding and cramps. I called my doctor on a weekend and he ran a pregnancy test, which was negative. I got the distinct impression that he was annoyed and felt that I was overreacting. My husband greeted me with "I told you so" when I got home. I feel humiliated and hope that you can give me some perspective on this incident.

DEAR READER: Doctors often have difficulty empathizing with women who have had problem pregnancies. It's really hard for men and for women. You have not mentioned this kind of thing — to be as supportive and sympathetic as they might. I do not believe that you were overreacting; you were frightened and in pain, and you needed assistance.

Here is a suggestion about how to avoid similar situations in the future. Ask your doctor if he would prefer that you check your own condition with a home pregnancy kit. Such an immediate answer would reduce your stress. If you have a confirmed miscarriage, contact a full-time lab a day or two later. On the other hand, if the test is positive — and you are pregnant — call the doctor on a weekend.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I had some form of hepatitis 30 years ago. Since then, I've refrained from donating blood or signing an organ-donor card. Am I being overly cautious?

Exercise — Why It's Vital To Your Health

Being sedentary — as dangerous as smoking? It appears that being sedentary can actually be hazardous to your health.

According to a study published by Kenneth Cooper, M.D., M.P.H., founder of the Cooper Institute of Aerobics Research in Dallas, "Individuals who are sedentary have the same risk of dying prematurely as a person who smokes a pack of cigarettes a day." In this study, researchers tracked the fitness levels, death rate and development of health risk factors in 30,000 adult men and women for 8 years. The results were startling. They found that sedentary individuals were 1 to 2 times more likely to die prematurely than those who were moderately fit. In addition, they found that a "sedentary lifestyle was a more serious health risk than high blood pressure, high cholesterol, or obesity."

Other studies have shown that sedentary individuals had more than five times the risk of heart disease as active people. In addition, being inactive is equivalent to being 20 percent over the ideal weight. This is a serious problem since much of the U.S. population consider themselves to be "couch potatoes" and do no regular exercise at all.

How Much Exercise Is Needed To Be Beneficial? According to exercise guidelines mentioned in the 1996 Surgeon General's Report on Physical Activity and Health, you don't even have to work up a sweat. You don't have to run 5 miles or pump iron for two hours a day. Some examples of moderate types of physical activity include gardening, washing the car, walking the dog, cycling, tennis. The important factor is doing REGULAR physical activity — this helps a person live longer and be healthier.

BARBARA HUGHES
Consumer Focus Correspondent

The Surgeon General's exercise recommendations include: (1) 30 minutes of daily moderate activity and (2) resistance training twice a week. This 30 minutes of daily moderate activity burns 150 calories a day or approximately 1000 calories per week for most people. Now, some of you may think, I don't have a 30-minute block of free time every day when I can exercise. Well, guess what? You can break this 30 minutes of exercise into smaller blocks of time, e.g. 10 minutes in the morning, 10 minutes in the afternoon, and 10 minutes at night. The resistance training helps build and maintain muscle mass.

Which shoes are made for walking?

By the Editors of Consumer Reports

Brisk walking is an ideal way to get fit. It increases the heart rate and — unlike swimming — it's a weight-bearing exercise that helps develop and preserve bone mass.

Best of all, walking demands no special equipment — except, possibly, shoes.

Of course, people can walk in almost any shoes, but if you're serious about walking, you'll need good shoes designed specifically for that activity. The right shoes will keep your feet comfortable while you walk, and provide support and shock absorption.

We tested nine models of walking shoes for men and nine for women, including shoes with big names such as Nike and Reebok, inexpensive shoes like Thom McAn and Payless, and specialty brands like Easy Spirit and Ryka, which cater to women. Prices ranged from $17 to $75 a pair.

Because runners and fitness walkers often grouse that a shoe that gives them a good "ride" when new loses bounce soon thereafter, we tested how cushioning alters over time. In our lab, we put a mechanical foot in each shoe, then had it simulate the heel impact of a man or woman of average weight walking for 20,000 steps — the equivalent of about 20 miles.

For walkers whose feet get hot and sweaty, we tested how readily moisture from a wet sock passed through each shoe's upper. And we judged flexibility: how easily a shoe's sole bends in the forefoot, to make it easier for you to move forward.

We also recruited men and women to walk several times in every shoe and answer questions about comfort, fit and performance.

Our test shoes ranged from fair to excellent overall. Some of the cheapest shoes fell to the bottom of the ratings. These included the Dr. Scholl's models for men (Dynamic Walker) and women (White Blair Walker), both $25; the $17 Cobble Cuddlers (Kmart) for women; and the $18 Payless Lace Walker for men.

Rated excellent overall were the Saucony Grid Motion and Adidas Solo for men ($75 and $60, respectively) and the Adidas Solo ($70), New Balance WW571 ($60) and Ryka Epitome ($65) for women.

Despite the ballyhoo manufacturers make over their various cushioning technologies, our tests revealed no clear cushion level. After just 20 miles of simulated walking with our mechanical foot, the foam in most shoes' middles stiffened — generally by about 30 percent.

Two touted characteristics did seem to make a difference, however: Shoes whose soles are grooved at the ball of the foot tended to be more flexible than those without grooves. And shoes with mesh or vents tended to "breathe" better than others in our wet-sock tests.

Still, even the most breathable, most-flexible, best-cushioned shoe in the world won't do you a bit of good if it doesn't fit. When shopping for a shoe, consider its depth, in addition to its length and width. You should be able to wiggle your toes without feeling restricted. And your shoe should fit properly in the store — it shouldn't need appreciable breaking in.

Other shopping tips: — Shop for shoes late in the day. Your feet can swell a size or more in length and width by afternoon. — Look for shoes with a padded collar and an Achilles notch — a scoop at the heel counter that relieves pressure on the Achilles tendon. — Light weight can be important. Our men's models ranged from 11.9 oz. to 15.4 oz. (per individual shoe) in size 9D. Women's models ranged from 9.6 oz. to 12.1 oz. in size 7B.

Walking shoes can last hundreds of miles, depending on how they're used. Replace them when their outsoles show excessive wear, or when your feet no longer feel protected against impact.

Happy wife is losing sleep over dreams of first love

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are approaching our fifth wedding anniversary. Apart from the usual problems you encounter in marriage (money, family, etc.), things have been very good. My husband is a loving and attentive man. I love him and feel lucky to have him in my life.

So here's my problem. During the past few years, I have had dreams about my first love whom I met in high school. I was 14 and he was 17. The relationship was wonderful, but because I was so young and due to many problems in my life, our relationship ended after a few years. I am afraid I hurt him terribly. He seemed to never want to give up on "us," but as the years went on we grew apart.

At the age of 21, I attempted a reconciliation with him, but when he found out that I had "been" with another man, it was too much for him to handle. That was the end of us. I seemed to get on with my life and forget about him. I dated, and eventually met my future husband.

Abby, the dreams have become much more intense over the years. At first, my "first love" would appear in an occasional dream. Now I am having dreams where we are getting back together or we are processing our love for each other. One week, I had four dreams four nights in a row. I wake up feeling sad, and I am in a hazy state of mind because I feel I'm being pulled back into the past with a young man I used to love so dearly.

I am confused, and I feel bad because I love my husband and can't bear to tell him the dreams I've been having. I don't want to hurt him. I am hoping this is just a phase that will pass. Any advice you can give me will be greatly appreciated.

LOST IN A DREAM

DEAR LOST: Romanticizing one's first love is very common. As the years roll by, people tend to minimize the pain and magnify the emotions.

I'm no expert in the interpretation of dreams, but I can tell you that dreams are rarely literal. It might be interesting for you to analyze what this man symbolizes in your life.

Since these dreams are recurrent and causing you discomfort, you could greatly ease your mind by discussing them with a psychoanalyst. He or she will be able to help you discover their real meaning and what's causing them.

Ron Pinnell, director of secondary education for Seminole County, said that during the lockdown all doors to the school were locked and students were required to stay in class while police searched the building for weapons.

"We take this absolutely seriously," Pinnell said.

Pinnell said that additional police and security officers were sent to nearby Forest City Elementary School, as well as Lake Brantley, during the lockdown.

"The good news is that everyone responded the way they are supposed to and the situation was kept under control," Pinnell said. "The bad news is that some people got very anxious."

Racial

The last taunting incident against the Jewish student occurred on Oct. 4.

"There have been none since that incident," Harris said.

There were 14 incidents in which a Jewish student was harassed during a six-week period, ranging from knocking the yarmulke off the his head, to hiding the yarmulke or striking the student from behind.

The incidents all involved the yarmulke — a skullcap worn by Jewish men and boys, especially those adhering to Orthodox or Conservative Judaism — being removed from the student's head.

Ron Pinnell, director of secondary education, said that none of the incidents involved the Jewish student being taunted with anti-Semitic slurs.

"I wouldn't characterize it as a racial or anti-Semitic incident," Pinnell said. "They chose to play with the boy in an inappropriate manner. We're trying to help them understand the significance of the yarmulke, and give them some perspective."

Rock Lake Middle School is not the only Seminole County school where racial slurs have been found written on bathroom doors or walls, Pinnell said.

"Unfortunately, kids write things that are inappropriate just like adults do," Pinnell said. "But, at Rock Lake the writings were cleaned up quickly, and the situation is being dealt with appropriately. None have been found at the school since that time."

Zena Sulkes, director of Hebrew Day School of Central Florida in Maitland, said that the incidents illustrate why the state has mandated that students learn about the Holocaust of World War II, in which six million Jews died.

"Schools must teach tolerance to children from the kindergarten level," Sulkes said. "It is not something you can teach as a fireman putting out a fire. At our school for instance, we teach tolerance and conflict resolution from day one."

Two of the 14 incidents against the Jewish student occurred in Physical Education class, and other incidents happened in hallways across the campus, Harris said.

Although student names and grade levels are not being released, Harris said that 11 out of the 14 incidents during the six-week period were committed by sixth graders.

Depending on the offenses committed, Harris said discipline for the students has included three-day and one-day out of school suspensions; in-school suspensions; and counseling.

Because of the incidents, Harris plans to bring in speakers to discuss tolerance and to organize activities designed to build tolerance.

"We are stressing respect for differences, as well as the idea that as Americans we all have certain rights," Harris said.

Last Tuesday, students at the school took a "time out for tolerance," learning lessons from their teachers about divisiveness, tolerance and acceptance.

Harris has also spoken to all the sixth grade classes and physical education classes about tolerance.

Members of the Seminole County School Board said Harris handled the situation properly.

Two important Jewish holidays were celebrated in September. Rosh Hashanah, traditionally a two-day observance of the Jewish New Year, began at sundown on Sept. 10. Then, starting at sundown of Sept. 19, Jews marked the holy day of atonement known as Yom Kippur.

The Jewish holiday of Hanukkah will be celebrated over eight nights, starting at sundown of Dec. 3.

Weinberg

County Chamber of Commerce Board Chairman Marty Herbenar said today. "He's a dynamic individual who had a lot of community connections and made more in the nearly five years he was with us." Herbenar said the Board would be pleased should Weinberg do volunteer work.

"The position of director is wide-open." Herbenar said. "We've already had calls coming in from people in the community. We would like to find a new director in the near future."

"County government is going to miss Wayne Weinberg," County Commissioner Randy Morris said. "He helped raise the profile of county government. We formed a partnership that has been very productive."

The chamber sponsored State of the County lunches drew capacity audiences at the Altamonte Springs Hilton. Morris gave the first two addresses and Carlton Henley continued the tradition. An added feature to the luncheon was a televised Mayors' Round Table.

Although many business leaders and the Republican Party officials have been encouraging Weinberg to run for Seminole County Commission seat, he said Thursday that his leaving the chamber is not politically motivated.

"I'm flattered that people wanted me to run," Weinberg said. "I almost was tempted."

PDS-HACKERS WIN
OVIEDO - The PDS-Hackers scored four runs in the top of the seventh inning to break a 3-3 tie and held on for an 8-5 victory over Florida Filters on the opening night of play in the City of Oviedo Recreation and Parks Department Women's Monday Night Fall Class C Slow Pitch Softball League at the Oviedo Softball Complex.

Pam Lindsey led off the top of the seventh inning with a single and Theresa Walburger, Jaudon Marlette, Terri Mann and Anna Hollis followed suit with consecutive singles to make the score 6-4.

After a walk broke the streak, but still got home a run, Phyllis Baynes ripped a two-run single to complete the PDS scoring.

Walburger, Mann and Baynes had three hits each for the Hackers, while Jackie Janowiak, Michelle Field and Marlette contributed two safes each.

BIG ACTION WHEN LADIES HIT RANGE

ORLANDO - If you've ever been tempted to learn how to target shoot, but were afraid or didn't know how to get started, you won't want to miss Ladies Day at the Range on Saturday, Oct. 16 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the Central Florida Rifle and Pistol Club near Orlando.

This unique hands-on event is sponsored by the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) and the Outdoor Women's Association, and is designed to give women the chance to learn about and experience a variety of shooting sports in a safe, controlled environment.

Participants will learn about handguns, rifles, archery, cowboy single-action shooting, .22 caliber rifles, blackpowder muzzleloader, air rifle, and shotguns with trap and sporting clays.

All firearms and ammunition will be provided and there is no charge to attend the event. However, there is a $5 fee for anyone wishing to shoot.

Shooters must also attend a brief shooting and range safety class prior to being allowed to shoot. Children under the age of 12 can shoot for free if accompanied by a paying adult.

Seminole girls grab top seed

The Seminole High School girls volleyball team celebrates after beating Lyman to complete an undefeated district regular season and securing the No. 1 seed for the district tournament.

Tribe overcomes case of overconfidence to defeat Lyman in three games

By Dean Smith
 SPORTS EDITOR

LONGWOOD - Whether it was overconfidence or being tired from playing powerful Winter Springs a tough match on Tuesday, the Seminole High School girls volleyball team very nearly gave away their most important match of the season before disposing of Lyman Wednesday night.

But there was no doubt in coach Beth Corso's mind about what happened to her team.

"The Greyhounds played very well, but hopefully we learned a lesson tonight about coming to a match thinking you have already won it and the match has not been played yet," said Corso. "Overconfidence took us out of our game after the 15-5 win in the first game. We had 10 service errors tonight, eight in the second game!"

Lyman came back to win that second game, 15-11, and the match was very much in doubt.

"By the third game we had to do some soul searching and get back in the match," said Corso. "Our Lady Noles did that and came out on top, but it wasn't pretty."

Despite playing better, things still were not easy for the Tribe, who held off the Greyhounds to win the Class 5A District and Seminole Athletic Conference match, 15-9.

For the game the Fighting

Seminoles had 24 kills, 25 digs, 20 assists and five blocks.

The victory gives Seminole a perfect 4-0 record in district play and gives the Tribe the top seed for the District Tournament that will be played at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium on Thursday, September 28th.

On that night, Lyman will play Lake Howell at 6 p.m. with the winner taking on the host Fighting Seminole at 7:30 p.m.

The Tribe is now 5-10 overall and will wrap up the regular season with a trio of tough matches next week.

On Monday, Seminole will travel to Lake Mary to take on the Rams, followed by home games against Spruce Creek on Wednesday and Lake Brantley on Thursday at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

The match with Lake Brantley will also be Senior Night with the only two seniors on the Fighting Seminole squad, Kim Nelson and Courtney Newman, being honored along with their parents prior to the match.

Other members of the Tribe include Juniors Michelle Cardel, Kim Corso and Tracey Swaynes and sophomores Jessica Chick, Jessica Hermesen and Tara Wiggins.

Corso is assisted by Cindy Evans, Sabreana Sapp (junior varsity head coach), Paulette Prevatt (freshman head coach) and UCF Intern Jon Dickinson.

Hill's Gang upsets Blue Haven Pools

 SPORTS EDITOR

LAKE MARY - Neal Goldman hit for the cycle and drove in seven runs as Hill's Gang withstood a 12-run first inning by Blue Haven Pools to pull off a 19-13 upset in the City of Lake Mary Parks and Recreation Department Men's Fall Friday Night Slow Pitch Softball League at the Lake Mary Sports Complex.

The game was only one played last Friday evening before rains washed out the rest of the night's action.

Budweiser/Signal Zero and

Nice 'N Easy are both 3-0, while Blue Haven Pools and Hill's Gang are both 2-2. Caylon Black Ford and Lunch Box Bagels are still winless after three games.

Tonight at the Lake Mary Sports Complex, Budweiser/Signal Zero takes on Lunch Box Bagels at 6:30 p.m.; Hill's Gang faces Caylon Black Ford at 7:30 p.m.; and Nice 'N Easy battles Blue Haven Pools at 8:30 p.m.

SARA Sportsman 100 at New Smyrna Speedway

By Hank Sanders
 SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

BAMSLA - The SARA Sportsman 100 with a $1,600 to win feature will headline the card this Saturday at New Smyrna Speedway.

Also on the schedule will be features only action in the Late Model, Limited Late Model, Sportsman, Mini Stock, Bomber and Strictly Stock classes.

In results from October 9th: Late Model - Wayne Anderson showed up late with his dad's (Dick) new black X92 and won the race.

The win did not come without great controversy however...but first, the race review.

The feature got off to a rough start as Debbie Santo's #7 got turned around on the first lap and caused a big caution. It took three more tries to get started, but Anderson clearly had the fastest car, took the lead and ran off with it.

David Rogers' TM Ranch Chevy followed many car lengths behind, but had a pretty good race with Pete Orr in the RaceCar College #30, Jeff Emery in the #12 and Eric Black followed in fourth and fifth but the race was not really very close.

Here's the big deal...the #92 has a Southern All Stars (a traveling Late Model Series) appearance. Please see Racing, Page 2B

Yankees up 2-0 in series

By Dean Smith
 SPORTS EDITOR

NEW YORK - Maybe the curse of the Bambino does exist.

For the second straight night, the New York Yankees used a late-inning rally to erase a Boston Red Sox lead and took a two games to none lead in the Best-of-Seven American League Championship Series with a 3-2 victory at Yankee Stadium Thursday night.

After the Yankees took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the fourth inning on a home run by Tampa's Tino Martinez, Nomar Garciaparra hit a two-run home run off of David Cone to give the Red Sox a 2-1 lead.

Ramon Martinez made the lead stand up until the bottom of the seventh inning when Chuck Knoblauch doubled in Ricky Ledee and later reliever Rhee Cormier gave up a game-winning single to Paul O'Neill.

The Red Sox had blown several chances to score more runs, leaving 13 runners on base, including leaving the bases loaded in the eighth with only one out and men on first and third with two out in the ninth inning.

Lake Brantley graduate Jason Varitek went 2-for-3, including a triple and a double, and had a sacrifice, but it was in a losing effort as the New York Yankees rallied for a 3-2 victory over the Red Sox.

Overtime goal downs UCF in men's soccer

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO - Antonio Da Silva Junior picked up a loose ball and stroled in for the game-winning goal from 15 yards with 10:40 remaining in the second overtime period to give Campbell University a 2-1 victory over the University of Central Florida in Trans America Athletic Conference men's soccer Thursday.

Campbell (3-9, 1-3 TAAC) came from a goal down at the 68-minute mark when Adam Martin crossed left to Tom Robey to tie the game 1-1.

Senior striker Heikki Ritvanen extended his goal scoring streak to five games at 3:30. His 11th marker of the year for UCF (6-6, 0-3 TAAC) originated from a goalmouth scramble where a teammate fanned on the shot. It was the Golden Knights' first shot of the game.

Ornulf Olsen received a red card for serious foul play on Robey in the 48th minute. Playing a man short the remainder of the game finally caught up with the Golden Knights as they resorted to a 4-4-1 formation for the final 15-minute sudden death frame.

Even a man down, UCF had chances to win, including a pair of headers just over the crossbar by Ari Nurmi with 30 seconds left and Arno Nurmuto with 8:50 left in the first overtime.

Phillip Hatcher held the fort in net for the Fighting Camels. He made four saves and came out to punch away a number of plays. Despite seven saves, Antti Laitinen came up on the short end of the goalkeeping matchup. The loss represented UCF's second overtime defeat this season.

The Golden Knights wrap up a four game homestand Saturday at 2 p.m. They'll host Florida Atlantic University in a key TAAC contest that may determine seeding for the conference tournament.

TRANS AMERICA ATHLETIC CONFERENCE ANNOUNCES TOURNAMENT TIMES

MACON, Ga. - The Trans America Athletic Conference released official tournament times for the women's and men's soccer tournaments to be held Nov. 4-6 in Orlando and Jacksonville, respectively.

The University of Central Florida will host the women's tournament at the UCF Arena Soccer Field. The tournament will be a three-day, six team, single-elimination tournament with the number one and two teams earning first round byes.

First round action begins Thursday, Nov. 4, with games at 1:30 p.m. and 4 p.m. Second round play will resume Friday, Nov. 5, at 1:30 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Vartiek narrowly missed a home run when his one out blast in the second inning hit on top of the right field fence and came back for a triple. But he was stranded on third.

Vartiek later hit a one-out double and again was stranded.

Troy O'Leary also hit a ball off the top of the right field fence and ended up on second with a double with no one out, but he did not score.

Game three of the series will be Saturday afternoon at 4 p.m. at Fenway Park in Boston. The game (which will be shown locally on WOFL Channel 35) will feature a premier pitching battle between the Yankees Roger Clemens and Red Sox ace Pedro Martinez, who led the majors in wins and strike outs this season.

Tonight at Shea Stadium in New York, the Atlanta Braves will be looking for a 3-0 lead in the NLCS when Tom Glavine takes the hill against the Mets' Al Leiter. Game time is set for 8 p.m. and will be seen locally on WESH Channel 2.

In other baseball news from Thursday, former Seminole Community College All-America Larry Parrish was fired as manager of the Detroit Tigers after just one season and replaced by former Milwaukee Brewers skipper Phil Garner, who signed a four-year contract.

UCF

As the hosting team, UCF has opted to play in the 4 p.m. time slot on either Thursday, if they do not earn a bye as a number one or two seed, or at 4 p.m. on Friday if they receive the bye.

The women's championship game kicks off at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 6.

Sunshine Network will broadcast the action live. The tournament victor wins an automatic bid to the first round of the NCAA tournament.

Jacksonville University will host the men's tournament at the university's Ashley Sports Complex. The tournament will be a three-day, six team, single-elimination tournament with the number one and two teams earning first round byes.

First round play begins with games at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 4. The second round games are scheduled for 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 5.

The men's final game will take place on Saturday, Nov. 6 at 11 a.m. The team emerging as the TAAC champion will face the Atlantic 10 Conference champion on Nov. 13 in a play-in match. The winner of that game will advance to the first round of the NCAA tournament.

proved motor. This means it has a roller cam, Dart heads and a ported intake. My sources indicate that this type motor will dyno at about 570 HP versus about 525 for the FASCAR approved stock motor.

The track required Wayne to add 175-pounds of extra weight, but most of the competition felt that was not enough and the results were obvious. This dispute needs to be resolved prior to the Governors Cup on October 23rd.

Pit gates open at 4 p.m. with grandstand gates opening at 6 p.m. and racing beginning at 7 p.m. every Saturday night.

Cost is just $12 at the front gate for adults, while children 11-and-under are admitted free to the track located 10 miles south of Daytona Beach at the corner of Highway 44 and SR-415, between I-4 (exit 56, east) and I-95 (exit 84, west).

Also you are invited to tune in to Daytona's WNDB-AM 1150 every Monday night at 7 p.m. to hear all the updates. The radio show is brought to you by New Smyrna Speedway and X1R. Call in 904-239-0033 and tell us what you think!

Limited Late Model - Only six cars were on hand after last week's Coca Cola 100 crashfest in Orlando and David Logan's #1 took advantage to lead all 15 laps.

What can we say here? The only pass I recall was Randy Dye passing the W6 car of Russ Antonucci for fourth place. Bobby Sears, Mark Tracey, Dye and Ricky Wood rounded out the top five.

All this will change Saturday night as the SARA Late Model Sportsman cars run 100 laps for $1,500 to win...We should see a big field of cars and a great race.

Modified - Speedworld was rained out Friday night...so some of the Orlando regulars came to try their luck at NSS.

Soon after the start, it was clear Bill Gunn's Gunnstruck #13 was the class of the field and led from lap 2 to the finish.

We received a huge scare when 1998 champ Joe Middleton's #71 made contact with the #5 of veteran Eddie Hartin coming out of Turn 4. Middleton and Hartin were airborne down the front straight and both cars ended up in the fence, crashed in Turn 1. Luckily both drivers were OK, but their cars were hurt.

Tom Root ended up the nights hard charger, finishing second to Gunn and ahead of David Hartin, Shain Held and Gary Frosh.

Sportsman - Randy Hecker in Joe Adams' #62 Speedway Auto Parts ride had the best car and withstood a hard charge from John Nussbaum's #70 and Doug Samson's #04 and take the win.

Jon Harney's River City Catering/SunCrest Monte Carlo got loose and clipped the wall, but recovered for a clean fourth, while Steve Redditt was fifth.

We need more cars in this class!

Wets - Chad Pierce has sold the #57 Sportsman and plans to run a Limited car shortly.

Mini Stock - Rookie Tim Clark launched his #25 Ford out front and beat everybody that showed up including his Dad!

Dale Casteel pushed his T-Bird very hard and made a good run at Tim, while Pat Wells, who is getting better every week, ran a strong third.

Wayne Clark had to watch his son take the win, but said, "If I can't win then I am glad it was Tim."

Jamie Dixon tore the nose off his car in the heat but came back and took fifth.

Bomber - The Chevy boys all ran about equal, but they got whupped again!

Jim Winterstein's #13 Oldsmobile is the fastest, best handling car on the racetrack, and he was just too tough for the Bowtie crew for the third time.

The top Chevy teams were seen talking with Art at Action Performance after the race and they plan to close the gap!

Homer "The lady killer" Gordon brought both cars with him and finished the race second in his old car. Billy Morton, Charlie Mers and Dave Rowe rounded out the top five.

Strictly Stock - Another great night of action for this wild bunch.

Martin Pierce took the victory over a race-long hot battle between Richard Bolton, Tracy Jackson and Eddie Fitchett.

Joe Williams, who had a great paint job on his blue #77, came home fifth.

ORLANDO SPEEDWORLD

BITHLO - Last Friday's schedule at Orlando Speedworld was canceled due to heavy rain.

This Friday, the Dwarf Cars and Antique Cars will make an appearance along with regular heat and feature action in the Late Model, Limited Late Model, Open Wheel Modified, Bomber, Sportsman and Mini-Stock classes.

Gates open a 6 p.m. and racing begins at 8 p.m. every Friday night at the track located 17 miles east of Orlando between Orlando and Titusville on Highway 90 at the 880 Cocoa Cutoff.

Tickets are $12 for adults at the front gate and kids 11-and-under free.

Also, trackside parking is offered along turns 1 and 2. The first 25 cars or vans (no motor homes, please) will receive free admission for their cars (drivers and passengers pay regular price). Tailgate parties welcomed and encouraged.

TEST AND TUNE

BITHLO - Test and Tune is held every Wednesday night from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. at Orlando Speed World.

Cost is $20, which is good for the car and three people in the pits only, while individuals can enter for $5.

For more information, call the FASCAR offices at (407) 688-1367 (Orlando) or (904) 427-4129 (New Smyrna), or on the Internet at WWW.NEWSMYRNAASPEEDWAY.COM, or E-Mail at FASCARNOW@aol.com.
