Man dies at Geneva home construction site

An Altamonte Springs man is dead after he reportedly fell from scaffolding at a Geneva home.

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office is investigating the Thursday afternoon death of 48-year-old Richard Washington. According to authorities, witnesses stated Washington struck his head on some cement below when he fell an estimated six feet off scaffolding at 650 Valley Steam Drive.

It is believed that Washington may have had a previous medical condition that could have been a factor in his sudden fall.

After his fall, two employees of Willison Yates Stucco Man, located in Altamonte Springs, reportedly carried Washington to his vehicle, called 911 and transported him to entrance of Seminole Woods to meet with county rescue personnel. He was then transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

The sheriff's office investigation continues as authorities await the results of an autopsy report. An Occupational Safety and Health Administration investigator was also scheduled to investigate the scene Friday.

City leaders seek removal of attorney

By Christopher Patton
Managing Editor

LONGWOOD — A legal opinion on election signs could cost the Longwood city attorney his job.

Last month, Richard Taylor filed a memorandum regarding the political signs of District 5 candidate Brian Sackett. Sackett, a Seminole County Public Schools educator, was the lone candidate to qualify for the seat left vacant by Commissioner Paul Lovstrand.

Longwood debate arises over commissioner-elect's campaign signs

Several commissioners had asked that Sackett remove his signs since he was the commissioner-elect with no opposition, and therefore was no longer a candidate.

Taylor regarded the two main issues in the matter as 'when is a candidate no longer a viable candidate' and 'when is an unopposed candidate elect to office.' He cited several opinions from the state attorney general, division of elections office and the city's sign regulations.

Commissioner Steve Miller, who is being opposed by Mike Holt and George McKenzie for the District 3 seat, is considering Taylor erred in this matter and is calling for his resignation at the Oct. 6 meeting of the Longwood commissioners. Local municipalities are allowed to govern their own elections if, as in the case of Longwood, elections are addressed in the charter.

"Our city code specifically states that a person that runs unopposed is deemed to be elected at the end of the qualifying period because he is deemed to at least voting for himself," Miller said. "Therefore, he is in fact

Murder suspect claims he is victim

By Christopher Patton
Managing Editor

A Maitland man accused of committing two murders Wednesday at an Altamonte Springs hotel was "calmly" awaiting police investigators with blood splattered on his white T-shirt less than two miles away at a Dunkin' Donuts store.

After calling 911 from his cell phone, Michael James Mather, formerly of Sanford, was taken into custody for killing two hotel guests with an 11-inch Bowie knife.

According to Eric Wells, public information officer for the Altamonte Springs Police Department, when officers responded to the 3:25 p.m. disturbance call at Homestead Village Guest Studios Hotel at 302 Northlake Blvd, they found a gruesome scene. A bloodied Johnnie Frank Realford lay in the hotel's lobby as his hotel roommate Juanece Hopwood was in the second-floor room clinging to life.

Both victims died that evening "with numerous

Sanford marina is designated 'clean'

By Christopher Patton
Managing Editor

Hidden Harbour Marina in the Port of Sanford is the newest and only freshwater marina in Central Florida to become part of the state's Clean Marina and Clean Boatyard programs.

There are almost 2,000 marinas in the state and 69 are considered environmentally clean marinas, while only 10 are designated clean boatyards.

"You're really part of an elite group," said Vivian Garfein, central district director for Florida Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), at a presentation for the marina at Otter's Riverside Restaurant Wednesday.

The Clean Marina Program teaches environmentally sound, best management practices to owners and staff. The program focuses on 10 critical areas of operation and in doing so helps owners comply with about 125 regulations. The program is part of the Clean Boating Partnership Program that includes DEP division of law enforcement, Marine

Iraqi Diary: Jessica Lynch's book deal irks soldiers

Editor's note: Staff Sgt. Charlie C. Carlson III, son of Sanford historian Charlie C. Carlson II, is deployed in Baghdad as part of the 549th Military Police Company. He is providing the Herald with a journal of his experiences.

5 Sept. 2003 Today is my boys' birthdays. Sure wish I was there to celebrate with them, maybe next year unless somebody decides to start another war. [Editor's note: Both of Carlson's sons, ages 2 and 6, were born on Sept. 5.]

Everybody here is put out about Jessica Lynch's million dollar book deal. I bet they won't rely much on the CID investigation that tells the real story. We see it more like as a team that went into that hospital without resistance and "discharged" her. It was hardly a commando rescue. They even video-taped it for immediate release to the press, since when do we carry a cameraman on a raid?

It was an obvious case of media hype that was needed in the first phase of the war to keep the public pumped up, now it ends up in a book while those other POWs from the same unit are either dead or back at Fort Bliss and forgotten about. I can tell you that the troops here make a face of disapproval whenever the Lynch book deal is mentioned.

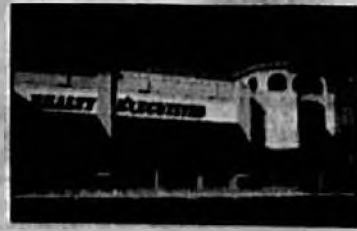

Today was another day of keeping the IPF [Iraqi Police Force] in check. Our platoon has the Al Nakhwa and Al Jazaer police stations in the Al Thawra section of Saddam City. The only security we have is two positions on the roof with MK-19s and M-249s mounted at the entrances. I rotate these between two of my teams as I only have six of my squad here and occasional patrols that stop in.

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Multicolored: City planners might want to change the name of the 100 block of South Park Avenue to Rainbow Road. Businesses in that block have murals that represent a wide spectrum of colors. You have the Blue Room for office furniture; the Black Pearl offering beads, bangles and baubles; and the Red Room Lounge pumping out hot dance and techno hits. Then there are the "Coming soon's": The Emerald Room, an Irish style pub that on Thursday received approval from the Sanford Planning and Zoning Board; and Ruby Juice, a fruit smoothie bar at the corner of Park and 1st that is still under construction.

Dissection: Reaction to the "Iraqi Diary," the feature written by Staff Sgt. Charlie C. Carlson III of Sanford, has been overwhelmingly positive. However in the last couple of weeks, we've received several calls from folks who don't like it.

Actually, the phrase "don't like" understates the callers' passion. Hate, abhor, repulsed, loathe, detest — combine all of those and you begin to approach the level of fervor these people express in their calls. So far, all have refused to leave their name or write a letter to the editor. Most have promised, however, to send copies of Carlson's articles to the White House and the Pentagon. Not sure what that will accomplish except for boosting the Postal Service's revenue by a few stamps. I just hope they don't send it to the Justice Department. John Ashcroft holds the First Amendment in high esteem about as much as Rush Limbaugh respects black quarterbacks in the NFL.

I don't agree with all of Carlson's observations. Then again, the only shots I'm currently dodging are the verbal ones. Your point of view changes when death awaits around each corner.

Some of the callers say Carlson complains too much. How that makes him different from every other American, I don't know. We gripe when the cable goes out for longer than a minute or our cell phone reception is less than optimal. A little grumbling by a soldier in a combat zone about no clean clothes, showers, hot meals or enough potable water seems pretty reasonable to me.

Anyway, we plan to continue publishing Iraqi Diary.

Back in town: Downtown merchants were dismayed last year when city officials let the Sanlando Depression Era Glass Show slip out of town after 31 years.

The city had plans to tear down the Civic Center, where the glass show attracted a loyal following, in order to build a conference center. City staff told Millie and Bill Downey, the show organizers, the demolition would happen sooner rather than later. The show left town and a year later, the Civic Center still stands.

With the conference center on hold, the city plans to make some repairs to the Civic Center. Downtown business have been hoping a return of the glass show will soon follow because many of the antique shops posted healthy sales whenever the Depression Glass folks were in town.

Those hopes appear to be coming true. Word Around The Clock is city manager Al Grieshaber, who wasn't employed by the city when the glass show left, has a contract on his desk ready to be signed by the show's organizers, and the event could return for fall 2004.

The Downey's had a meeting with Grieshaber Tuesday.

"We had a nice, long meeting," Millie said. "(Grieshaber) said he talked with the 1st Street merchants and they were ready to kill him because we had left."

Grieshaber may be the one with the law degree, but Millie is no slouch when it comes to legal matters.

"We told him we would return if we could have a three-year commitment — in writing," Millie said.

That's what the Downey's are getting, and Millie expects the show to be as popular as ever.

"I know most of the dealers will definitely come back," she said. "They all thoroughly enjoyed being in Sanford."

slashing and stabbing type wounds," and Mather has told police he inflicted the wounds. He contends, however, that he is the victim because Realford and Hopwood were extorting him.

Mather stated about three months ago he met Realford, also known as "Petey," through an employee of his and that Realford was known to him as being a drug dealer. He said a short time after meeting Realford, he obtained his address and names of family members, threatening to tell his wife that he used crack cocaine if he didn't give him money.

Over the course of the past two months, Mather paid Realford about $4,000 and then Tuesday Realford called again wanting another $2,000. With an arranged meeting at the hotel the next morning, Mather stated to investigators that he prepared himself for the worse because "he didn't have the money and expected trouble." On a previous occasion, Mather said Realford showed him a handgun stating that he "had killed people before."

Mather

Mather took from his son's bedroom and placed it in his vehicle before visiting Realford. The two drove to DeLand under the pretense of trying to borrow money from a family member. However, Mather told investigators he was trying to buy time because "he had no hope of getting any money for Petey."

After returning to the hotel, the two departed before lunch with the understanding that Mather would return at 1 p.m. with the money. At about 2 p.m. Realford began calling Mather's cell phone.

A half-hour later, Mather returned to the hotel without the money, but he did slip the knife into his shorts' pocket with his T-shirt concealing the handle. When Mather entered Realford's room, the victim reportedly patted him down and found the knife.

Mather stated to investigators that Realford said, "Now I got to get my gun." When he turned around, Hopwood reportedly blocked the doorway so "he stabbed and slashed her, but couldn't remember how many times." He then attacked Realford and then exited holding the knife.

Mather said he discarded the murder weapon, and police have been unable to locate it. Mather is being held in the Seminole County Jail on two counts of first degree murder.

Diary

My job is to ensure Iraqi law is followed according to the manual and to monitor and evaluate the Iraqi police. I went to the Al Jazeera police station to check on nine prisoners that I had in the jail cell there. I had five in there for assault, one for murder, one for suspected theft, one for assault with a deadly weapon, and a little-bitty short guy for burglary. The jail cell is an open room with one barred door with a big padlock on it. There are no single cells and once a day a guy comes in with buckets of food to feed the prisoners.

I had my interpreter call for one of my prisoners that had shot at the Iraq police, who returned the favor by shooting him in the leg. So I called for the one with the shot leg, but two guys hobbled to the cell door both with shot legs, one of whom was unknown to me. I pointed at the mystery prisoner and said "Who the hell is this guy?" I then yelled for the cell keeper who came and explained that the unknown guy was a murder suspect and was put in there because the jail at the substation was being repaired.

said that's fine but anytime you put someone in this jail I need paperwork, or else in a court hearing it could be considered wrongful imprisonment which could result in a murderer walking free on a legal technicality. I chewed their tails about that. I don't like to chew them out, but they have to learn.

Anyway, I had to call the other station and get some paperwork on that detainee. My duty involves all aspects of running a police force, setting up files, chain of evidence, station security, prisoner accountability, and so on, but in addition I'm having to train, through an interpreter, the Iraqi police these same procedures and that isn't easy.

I see things like unauthorized people wandering the halls, you can't do that in a police station. I only give the jail keys to the cell keepers and I have to know every time they open the cell, whether it's to feed the detainees or put somebody in. In the past ten years, I've worked with ATF, been a special agent, secret service, worked homicide, computer crime, FBI, worked with a dozen or so police departments around the world, you name it, but this is the most difficult yet. Heck, if I can successfully do police work in Iraq I can do it anywhere.

At times I feel like Judge Roy Bean because in some situations I'm stuck with deciding on cases arrested by the IPF. One guy that the IPF was holding was an Iranian that was suspected of stealing money, but without sufficient cause to hold him. So I facilitated his release. He kissed my hand and promised me a Persian rug. It turns out he owns a Persian rug company in Iran. So I gave him my address and he is going to send me a medium size Persian Rug. I'll see it when I get it.

6 Sept. 2003 I'm doing my best to get these IPF up and going. Just call me "Judge Roy Bean," the "Law East of the Tigris." Right now there is a dog laying at my feet and a 1969 Iraqi Law Code Book on my desk.

We've put numerous stations back together and got them up and running with a police force. In each case we started from ground level with a bunch of empty rooms and have gone through all stages up to where we are now, which is about the level of how I remember police stations down in Panama.

I have two interpreters, "Fez" and "Cheech" so named by me since they look like those characters from TV and the movies.

Today I put a guy in jail for stabbing his father. I found out that out of five detainees that were transferred in here, that the fifth one was slipped-in by an IPF officer who just wanted to put him in jail for punishment. The guy's mother and brother came in and complained. I looked into the matter and ordered the guy released. His mother and brother were very thankful and kept shaking my hand over and over. I held a conference with the senior IPF officials here to discuss some disciplinary issues in regards to some "bad seeds" within the police force. You get a few of those in police departments everywhere. Luckily the chief was really serious about these matters. We want to get a good clean operation going and cannot afford such problems.

I had an LTC (lieutenant colonel) of the Iraqi police request a letter from me allowing his sick mother and two others to accompany her, to cross the Iraqi border into Jordan so she could get medication. I had my interpreter to translate everything so it was in both English and Arabic. I then signed each letter, my signature is so bad that it looked just like the writing on the Arabic letter.

Our job at this station will be finished today and we'll turn it over to another platoon and move on to the next mission.

Road Rash

Sunshine State's roadways much better than Northerners

I recently returned from driving almost 4,000 miles, pulling my camper from Florida to Canada and back. I played tourist — visited Niagara Falls, Fort Sumter, and many other points of interest. It was a great trip, and gave me a great deal of time to think about the differences between Florida and almost everywhere else in at least the Eastern United States.

Nick Pfeiffauf

Probably the most noticeable difference was the roads. Those Yankees just don't maintain their roads. Yes, having grown up in the cold north, I am fully aware that the freezes cause road problems of a serious nature. But you can tell when this was the cause. Most of the time it was purely a lack of maintaining roadways.

Several times I saw vehicles swerving to avoid holes in the roadways — yes those which were very heavily traveled. One would think holes on heavy traffic roads would be repaired but no, such was not the case many times. Naturally, Florida roads aren't perfect. I still bemoan those blankety-blank manholes on 25th Street between Mellonville and Sanford Avenues. Those dippy manholes are going to ruin vehicles' steering and tires — but nothing I can say will persuade anyone to do anything about them.

Other than that however, I am very proud of not only the surfaces of our major highways, but lesser thoroughways, streets, avenues, and practically everywhere one wants to drive. Heck, even our unpaved roads (and we do have a few), are far superior to those in the North.

One move I made was to ask people in Michigan why their roadways (and interstates) were probably the worst I had ever seen. They admitted their roads were bad. The excuse? They said every time a move was made to raise taxes to pay for road improvements, the people voted them down. The said this happened EVERY TIME!!!

Sure, they want better roads and highways — but they are not willing to pay for them. Just where do the nay-sayers think the money is going to come from?

While Michigan's roads were the worst, others in bad condition included Ohio, West Virginia, upper New York State, and parts of Ontario, Canada. Virginia Roads were very good — but not up to Florida.

There is no point to this column, and I'm not trying to accomplish anything, just to let the world know (if they didn't already) that we have EXCELLENT highways and roads here in Florida. We can be proud.

Saving the president from himself

"A preventive war, to my mind, is an impossibility," said the president of the United States. "I don't believe there is such a thing, and frankly I wouldn't even listen to anyone seriously that came in and talked about such a thing."

Richard Reeves

That was President Eisenhower, answering a press conference question in 1954.

Times change. We don't really have many press conferences anymore. We have just fought — or are still fighting — a preventive war. And we do now have a definition for such a thing in the Department of Defense Dictionary of Military Terms: "A war initiated in the belief that military conflict, while not imminent, is inevitable and that to delay would involve greater risk."

The White House does not like the term "preventive war," at least as it pertains to Iraq. President Bush and his team prefer "pre-emptive war." But that is a different thing, according to the DOD dictionary: "An attack initiated on the basis of incontrovertible evidence that an enemy attack is imminent."

What we did in Iraq, where the threat to us was neither inevitable nor imminent, is only the fourth war in two centuries that might be considered "preventive." That, at least, is the judgment of the Correlates of War Project at the University of Michigan, which since 1963 has been studying the conditions that lead to war and lesser military crises. The project identifies 85 wars and 2,000 military crises around the world going back to the beginning of the 19th century. Only three other wars had "some" preventive motivation.

Those three, identified in a book still unpublished, "The Behavioral Origins of War" by Dr. Scott Bennett of Pennsylvania State University and Allan Stam of Dartmouth College, are Germany's attack on Russia in 1914, the Japanese attack on the United States in 1941, and the Israeli attack on Egypt in 1956.

So we are breaking new ground historically. It is poisoned ground, a pitfall that wiser American leaders have avoided. Arthur Schlesinger Jr. quotes three of them in a book review in the current New York Review of Books:

"Wherever the standard of freedom and independence has been or shall be unfurled, there will (America's) heart, her benedictions and her prayers be. But she goes not abroad in search of monsters to destroy. ... The fundamental maxims of her policy would insensibly change from liberty to force." — Secretary of State John Quincy Adams, 1821

"Allow the president to invade a neighboring nation whenever he shall deem it necessary to repel an invasion ... and you allow him to make war at pleasure. If today he should choose to say he thinks it necessary to invade Canada to prevent the British from invading us, how could you stop him? You may say to him, 'I see no probability of the British invading us,' but he will say to you, 'Be silent: I see it if you don't.'" — Congressman Abraham Lincoln, 1848

"We must face the fact that the United States is neither omnipotent nor omniscient ... that we cannot right every wrong or reverse each adversity — and that therefore there cannot be an American solution to every world problem." — President John F. Kennedy, 1961

Why, here's another: "It is not in the American national interest to establish pre-emption as a universal principle available to every nation." — former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, 2002

George W. Bush turns out to be a man determined to right many wrongs, a man not satisfied to build just America, but ready to build other nations in our image. Or his. But he is a man, ignorant or dismissive of history, who must be slowly getting the idea of why wiser predecessors refused to do what he has now done. He has fallen into the pit, and it is up to the rest of us to help pull him out.

Family feud, California style

Rep. Darrell Issa is absolutely right in his statement that he'd rather see Davis stay in office, than have Cruz Bustamante in the governor's office.

Mike Reagan

What he is really saying is that if the Republican candidates can't get together and choose one of them to fight the battle on Tuesday, Oct. 7, then it is better to vote against the recall simply because a bad Gray Davis is better than a worse Bustamante who is really scary.

The problem here goes back to the 1992 presidential election and the primaries that were going on in California. At that time we had conservatives running in all the primaries for the Republican nominations for various state and federal offices. The conservatives were ahead in all the polls. Then-Governor Pete Wilson who has never been a friend of the state's conservatives opened up his war chest and funded the pro-choice Republicans against the pro-life Republicans in all the primaries. As a result of this huge influx of campaign funds, the pro-choice Republicans who had money given to them by Pete Wilson, were able to defeat the pro-life conservatives.

Ever since Pete Wilson's pro-choice Republicans won those primaries, there has been this great animosity and hatred between the left and the right, within the California Republican party. There has been a family feud that was started by Pete Wilson. And it is the same Pete Wilson and his people who are running the Schwarzenegger campaign.

What we are seeing now, is all the stored up anger and resentment of the pro-life Republicans against Pete Wilson. Now you have McClintock taking out ads and speaking about Schwarzenegger and Pete Wilson. This family feud still going on in California among Republicans is what has been causing the GOP to lose election after election ever since 1992. And on October 7, there will be an election to elect a new governor, and polls show it's possible for a Republican to win. But if the family does not come together with one of the two candidates dropping out — and the one that drops out should be the one who is behind in the polls this weekend — the chances are Bustamante will ultimately win the governorship. And that is the absolute worse thing that could happen to the state.

Tragically, there is no leadership in the California Republican party to bring these two factions together. Unless that leadership shows up somewhere, and somebody makes it clear that the party must go into the election united behind the most probable winner, there is no chance they will win. And after that, the future for Republicans looks just as bleak.

I said at the beginning that Darrell Issa is right. But he hasn't endorsed anybody since pulling out as a candidate himself. He could go a long way towards healing the rift in the party by endorsing one of the two Republicans now leading in the polls, McClintock or Schwarzenegger.

Issa, and everybody else should do what I plan to do. I'll announce my choice on Monday, after I see who is ahead in the latest polls this weekend. And whoever that is, I'll endorse him. If that happens to be Arnold Schwarzenegger, so be it. My fellow conservatives had better understand that what they see as a bad Schwarzenegger is still better than a worse Gray Davis or Cruz Bustamante.

If California Republicans can't go into the election with a single candidate backed by the whole party, they will kick away the best chance they've had to be big winners since 1992, and we'll have to endure more bad government under Davis or Bustamante.

Americans must grit their teeth and support reconstruction

They told you Iraq would cost another $87 billion, but like so much of the information that the Bush administration passes on to the American public, it's not quite true. The White House actually needs something on the order of $140 billion (for now).

Several weeks ago, President Bush and his advisers seemed to believe they could persuade wealthy nations to pitch in $50 billion or so to fill the gap. It was another delusion borne aloft by hubris. Having dismissed the United Nations as a bunch of quarrelsome wimps and derided much of Western Europe as "chocolate makers," the Bush White House expected other nations to pony up for their war?

Still, no matter the cost of stabilizing and rebuilding

Iraq — and over the coming years the Iraqi occupation will run into untold billions — American taxpayers have no choice but to pay it. If we pull out before the country stabilizes, Iraq will become the threat that Bush claimed it was before he invaded: the sort of lawless and anarchic place that makes a comfortable haven for terrorists. Al-Qaida would like nothing better.

If Congress had not long ago sold out to the highest bidder, its members might have the guts to impose a war-profiteering tax on the companies that have flocked to Iraq like vultures. There are enough Bush cronies with major contracts to make left-wing loonies like former Congresswoman Cynthia McKinney — who infamously suggested that the president did not intervene to stop the 9/11 attacks so his friends could profit from the ensuing war — seem president.

While such a tax might not generate $87 billion, it would send a strong signal that Congress was not pleased by the unsavory rush to profit from this bloody enterprise.

But not to worry. The profiteers are well-protected by their connections. Halliburton, the company formerly headed by Vice President Dick Cheney, and Bechtel, whose principals include close associates of the elder President Bush, have already sucked up billions in reconstruction contracts.

And the cronies just keep coming. A new group of influence-peddlers, New Bridge Strategies, has just hung out a shingle in Washington, where they intend to advise companies that want to do business in Iraq. Their expertise lies in who they know. They include Joe Allbaugh, who was Bush's campaign manager in 2000, and others who have close ties to Bush the Elder. They'll have no trouble getting their calls to the White House and the Pentagon returned.

Meanwhile, Americans with no White House connections haven't been happy to learn what the costs of this Iraqi adventure will be. With jobs scarce and states forced to make drastic cuts in services, taxpayers wonder why they can't get their federal government to spend that $87 billion at home. While the president is seeking $5.7 billion for Iraq's electric grid, for example, America's aging grid is barely holding together.

The president wants $856 million to upgrade three Iraqi airports, a seaport and rail lines, while Amirak is starved for funds and our ports remain vulnerable to attack. The White House has a miserly proposal for road-building at home but wants to spend millions building roads and bridges in Iraq and Afghanistan. This is not the sort of news Congress wants to take out on the campaign trail.

President Bush, who, despite his Harvard MBA, seems to have trouble with basic numbers-crunching, continues to insist that he can make the tax cuts permanent and still pay the billions needed in Iraq. That's not arithmetic, that's alchemy. He continues to distort and dissemble. That's how we ended up in Iraq in the first place.

Now, we need to hear the cold, hard truth: No matter whether you opposed the war or supported it, all Americans need to get prepared to support reconstruction, no matter how costly it ends up being. Leaving Iraq as it is — fractured and lawless — will be far more costly.

Grand jury indicts man accused of murdering wife

A Seminole County Grand Jury issued a first-degree premeditated murder indictment Wednesday against an Altamonte Springs man accused of murdering his estranged wife.

According to Seminole County sheriff's deputies, 53-year-old Revertus Bratcher, of 131 Leon St., in Altamonte Springs, entered the parking lot of Growing Angels Child Care Center on East State Road 436 in Altamonte Springs on Sept. 8 and fatally shot his wife, Ruthie.

The 34-year-old woman was working at the daycare center at the time of the shooting. According to witnesses, Bratcher drove into the parking lot as Ruthie was leaving and began firing a handgun.

Co-workers attempted to render help, but Ruthie was later pronounced dead at Florida Hospital in Altamonte Springs.

Bratcher was later arrested at the home of an acquaintance near the scene of the shooting. Before returning the indictment, the jury heard testimony from two witnesses from the Seminole County Sheriff's Office, a medical examiner and a lay witness to the shooting. He was also charged with possession of a firearm by a convicted felon. Bratcher remains in the Seminole County Jail where he is being held without bond.

Marina

Vivian Garfein, central district director for Florida Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), and Jan DeLaney, program manager of the Clean Marina Program, present Don Borum, Hidden Harbour Marina general manager, with a Clean Boatyard flag.

Industry Association of Florida, the International Marina Institute, the U.S. Coast Guard, the Florida Sea Grant Program and representatives of private, municipal and city owned marinas throughout the state.

With 7,000 registered vessels in the state and more than 7,000 visiting each year, "a clean environment is very important to boating," said Garfein. The marine industry is the second largest in the state to tourism bringing in more than $14 billion each year.

The voluntary program began shortly after Florida lawmakers passed a law in 1994 forbidding boaters from discharging sewage into the state's waterways.

"We realized that there's a bigger issue out there than just pump sewage," said Jan DeLaney, program manager of the Clean Marina Program. "We realized we needed to bring DEP in together to make a change."

DeLaney and Garfein say Don Borum, general manager of Hidden Harbour Marina, has always had a mindset of keeping the Sanford marina environmentally sound. Two major improvements to the marina the past several years include a $40,000 upgrade of the sewage pumping system and a $4,500 addition of a closed, recycled system for the boat washing area.

"We've always been environmentally sensitive here," Borum said, "and this is just following with our business practices."

The Hidden Harbour sewage pumping system is unique as it is only found in Central Florida. A sewage pump is provided to every two slips, which encourages boaters to use the system rather than illegally dump. Typically, most sewage pumps are found only at the fueling dock.

"That's something the marina doesn't get money from," said George Wakefield, harbormaster at the Halifax Harbor Marina at Daytona Beach, about the Hidden Harbour sewage system. "That's really a capital investment without any returns other than making sure the water is clean."

Along with Wakefield, Borum has been a charter member of the DEP Clean Boating Partnership board. Although the Daytona Beach marina was designated a Clean Marina before Sanford's, Wakefield said it's because he doesn't operate a boatyard, which makes it a lot easier.

"You just have to step up to the plate and get it all done," Borum said about the desire to become designated a Clean Marina and Boatyard which took him about four years to complete.

According to DeLaney, the Clean Marina and Boatyard flags that now fly over the Hidden Harbour Marina are quickly becoming recognized as a symbol of excellence as they attract quality boaters. The marina is about 95 percent full, Borum said, with a total of 235 wet slips and 250 dry slips.

"It's a progressive step and they're not going to stop here," said Dennis Dolgner, administrator of the Seminole County Port Authority. "But, they're going to be continually successful because of this. More boat owners are being aware that those two flags mean something."

children," said Mary Beth Lake, Michael's human mother and animal care supervisor of Seminole County Animal Services. "He's very docile, level headed and low key. These aren't a mean bone in his body."

"He's had children pull on his ears, his tail and other body parts we won't mention," she added. "He just takes it all in stride."

In addition to his work with students, Michael assists Lake in teaching children and adults proper care for pets, as well as pet responsibility, the importance of spaying and neutering animals and how to avoid being bitten by a dog. He is also able to teach local residents how to approach a strange animal, how to pet an animal with respect and the joys of pet ownership.

But according to Lake, Michael's main purpose in life is to "eradicate the earth of squirrels."

Michael, a monthly columnist featured on the Seminole County Animal Services Web site, was awarded several "goodies" for his educational work, including a water bowl, toys, biscuits and a bandanna, as well as a marble plaque.

Michael was nominated for the honor by Laurie Bird of Sanford, and judged by a panel comprised of veterinarians, Florida Animal Health Foundation members and other animal authorities who understand the demands dogs endure when involved in service programs.

Michael joined the other 2003 inductees, including Smokay, the hero dog category winner, Maddie, the companion dog category winner, and Woody and Katie, the service dog team winners, during an award ceremony held Sept. 20 at Continental Acres Equine Resort in Weirsdale.

"He had a grand time," said Lake. "He was able to sit at the table and have lamb and green beans for lunch."

Michael also signed autographed pictures after the ceremony.

elected even though there has been no election, and once he is elected he is no longer a candidate. And anyone that is no longer a qualified candidate must remove their campaign signs within seven days.

Taylor wrote in his memorandum, "The attorney general has also stated: 'Although a candidate running for city commission may be unopposed, he or she is not considered to be elected until the election has been held.' Further, the division of elections office has said: 'An unopposed candidate is not elected until the general election.'

"Based upon all of the foregoing it is my opinion that an unopposed candidate may leave his campaign signs up until seven days after the general election," he stated.

The commission voted 4 to 1 to overrule Taylor's opinion at the Sept. 22 meeting, and now Sackett's signs are below Holt's with the addition of "endorsed by." Chiming in afterward with separate memorandums of their own were commissioners John Maingot and Butch Bundy.

"I feel that the actions this commission took the other night were illegal and violated the civil rights of Brian Sackett," Bundy wrote ending that commission should reverse its actions and issue an apology to Sackett. Maingot disagreed.

Some of the resentment between the commissioners could be attributed their support for different candidates. Commissioners Maingot and Lovstrand reportedly support McKenzie as Bundy supports Holt, while the incumbent Miller is caught in the middle.

"I'm somewhat reluctant to do this because I really like Richard," Miller said about his decision to ask for Taylor's removal on the upcoming city agenda.

"There seems to be some divisiveness in the commission and he seems to be right in the middle of it," Miller continued. "I don't care if he supports candidates, he's made several errors over the past several years. Our law is quite clear and easy to understand. This opinion that he wrote was totally contrary to our law."

Seminole youths help shape civil rights agenda

By Charles D. Jackson
Herald Correspondent

Meeting the future Miss America was extremely exciting, but voting on key resolutions that may shape the future of civil rights in America was the most empowering experience for several Seminole County youths who attended the NAACP's 94th national convention in Miami in July.

It was the first national convention for the 13 youths of the reactivated Seminole County NAACP Youth Council, whose goal is to train and educate leaders of tomorrow, according to Branch President Turner Clayton. The local youth council had been inactive for nearly 20 years, but this convention seems to have given this new group a sense of direction and purpose.

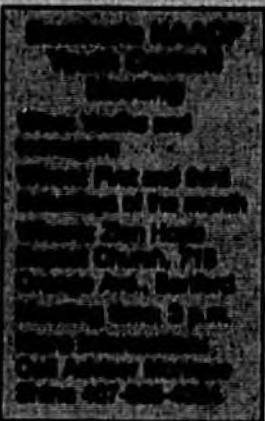

"Our youths received excellent training and experienced the inner workings of the nation's oldest civil rights organization," Clayton said. "They were very receptive to the information, and became very involved in the overall convention."

In her report to the local branch, secretary Antisha Brown said participating inspired her to make a difference. "Now, I want to do more with my youth council to change things in the community," she said.

As delegates to the convention, some of the youths voted on national resolutions, related to such issues as health and juvenile justice. "The information that we walked away with is more than enough to last us a lifetime. Things are still changing in the world, so we must not stop fighting," Brown said in her report.

Brown said one of the many sayings that stuck with her is "We have to learn it's OK to disagree while at the same time we learn to build a bridge of understanding."

Angel Jackson said Miss Florida Ericka Dunlap of Orlando, recently crowned Miss America, encouraged her to strive for her goals.

"She let me know that if (winning Miss Florida) can happen to her, that it can happen to anybody. People can make something positive out of their lives regardless of their color. She's a real role model for me," said Jackson, who is president of the local youth council.

The NAACP (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People) is the nation's premier civil rights organization, historically leading the charge for social, educational and economic parity and fairness in the United States.

Seminole youth adviser Monique Shine said the council plans to heed to the call of Dunlap, workshop presenters and other noted speakers such as the Rev. Jesse Jackson, NAACP President/CEO Kweil Mfume and Georgia State Rep. Alicia Thomas.

"Our call is education," Shine said. "We're taking a strategy learned at the convention called 'adopt a block' to

The Way We Were: Celery Feds reunion fun for Sanford alumni

The annual Seminole High School Celery Fed Reunion was held at the Holiday Inn Shores in Daytona Beach from Sept. 12-14.

Before I go any further, I know that some of you are wondering "What in the world is a Celery Fed?" For many years, Sanford was known as the Celery Capital of World, growing more celery here than any other area. Therefore, the Sanford/Seminole High School's nickname was the Celery Feds from the school's beginning in 1902 until 1957 when it was changed to the Seminoles.

Anyone who claims to be a Celery Fed is invited to these annual reunions. The attendance is usually from the 1940s and 50s; the majority this year came from the 50s. The class of 1950 had the most present with 10, while the classes from 1945 to 1958 were represented.

Long-time reunion organizers, Tommye Methvyn Johnson and Joan Dampier Anderson, of the class of 1950, retired last year after planning 23 excellent and fun weekends for their fellow Celery Feds.

Not wanting the tradition to die as so many have really enjoyed these reunions, Jay Jacobs volunteered to organize the 2003 weekend with help from his class of 1954 members.

But Jay, unexpectedly, had open heart surgery, which slowed him down and there were other circumstances that delayed the process. It being too late to do much organizing, Paulette and Garnett White had the idea to just secure a special room rate at our regular hotel and to notify others that some of us would be there if they wanted to join us. Letters were sent out and the word spread.

Two weeks before the reunion, only 15 rooms had been reserved, so a small crowd was expected. Boy, were we surprised!

I drove over on Thursday afternoon and was told that only Ginger and Aubrey Moran had registered. I saw Floyd Sparkman when I unloaded my car and when I checked at the desk after I had unpacked, I found that several others had arrived.

These other Thursday night attendees were Arthurene (Wilson) and Walter Cook, Sonny and Liz Horton, Sandra (Dunn) and David Parker, JoAnn (Moore) and Tommy Sanders. One group of these

Goldsboro Elementary celebrated Sanford's 126th birthday the week of Sept. 29.

Along with a happy birthday bulletin board to Sanford featured in the school media center, former city Mayor Bettye Smith visited to teach students the inner workings of city government on Monday, Sept. 29 - Sanford's actual birthday.

Smith was Sanford's mayor during the years of 1985 to 1997. A longtime resident, Smith explained to the children some interesting facts about the city, how city government benefits the citizens and what a person needs to do to become the mayor of a city.

Smith also offered a question and answer period for the fourth graders that are studying Florida history during the school year.

On Wednesday, Oct. 1, Myriam Garrett, museum specialist at the Sanford Student Museum, was in the media center to talk to Goldsboro third graders. She explained Sanford's history and what people can expect to see and learn when they come to visit the museum.

The student museum will be open to the public on Saturday, Dec. 6.

Retired nurse Duncan hopes to better field

Bernice King Duncan is a Christian servant that is always thinking about others.

Duncan recently retired, where for more than 36 years she dedicated her life in the public health nurse field for the state of Florida.

She is a graduate of Florida A&M University with a degree as a registered nurse with a bachelor's of science degree.

With education the prime interest of the King-Duncan family and being a devote believer in cultural diversity, Duncan says that she feels that nurses play a vital role in the lives of others. She feels strongly that the work place should be diverse, not just for nurses but for all professions. Therefore, she decided that she would and did make a difference by forcefully committing herself in helping young people chose the career of nursing, where there is a 9,000 shortage of nurses in the state.

To help with the need to provide nurses in Florida, a retirement/scholarship banquet was started in honor of Duncan, and on Sept. 5, more than 100 family members and guests gathered at the Sanford Best Western Hotel at the marina to help Duncan begin her first scholarship fundraiser to provide annual financial support to a student desiring to attend Florida A&M University and Bethune Cookman College to study the field of nursing.

Duncan and her scholarship committee say a degree in nursing enables a student to have a wide range of nursing choices, including working in hospitals, clinics, teaching and administration. Both of the schools are ready to fill the need for the crucial nurse shortage.

Duncan said, "FAMU taught her to lead regardless of the position."

Those who know her know that she always felt quite confident, and whatever the position given to her or the desire she gave to others she was a great success.

The desire of the scholarship is to give an annual contribution to other students to enjoy the financial reward and receive a nursing degree. The first award goes to a student from each school in financial need with no requirement to repay.

Duncan and her committee wishes to thank her family, friends, co-workers, school alumni and all who supported this worthwhile effort. She says this is a small beginning that by the grace of God will grow larger.

Congratulations to Nurse Bernice King Duncan for her 37 years of service as a public health nurse in Florida. She first worked for 12 years at the Orange County Health Department in Orlando, and in 1978, she transferred to the Seminole

Petition drive aims to give public land use power

Recently, an item has crossed my desk on several different occasions, sent by several different parties. I have studied it out carefully and found no reason not to pass it on to readers, with the caveat that I do not necessarily endorse this particular item, but neither do I think it should be discounted or ignored. Rather, I include it this week that those interested may pursue the course it sets forth.

The item I am referring to is the Florida Hometown Democracy Amendment — the core document in a movement to put back into the hands of Florida voters the right to decide for themselves the land use changes that affect their communities.

Citing over-development and bad development as an issue that is ruining Florida communities, and the powerless position citizens often feel they are in with these development decisions, the Hometown Democracy movement hopes to do for Florida's growth what they say present comprehensive planning and land development regulations have failed to do — put the people in charge of the places where they live.

Stated on the Web site www.florida-hometowndemocracy.com: "Florida's Constitution allows citizens to amend the Florida Constitution. Florida's Hometown Democracy Political Action Committee has drafted a petition to change the Florida Constitution to give citizens the right to approve or reject comprehensive land use plans and proposed plan amendments. "Floridians for Hometown Democracy knows that people care about the place where they live and trust the people to make decisions that will protect their community's future. Florida's Hometown Democracy Amendment seeks to take this faith in the people and make the current land use system more democratic by giving the power over certain land use changes (comprehensive plan amendments) to the voters. Because land use decisions are just about the most important decisions that local governments make, the voters should have the final word about decisions that can make or break their community's future."

Darla Kinney
Scales

In answer to the question "Why is Florida's Hometown Democracy Amendment important and how does it work?" the site offers these three points:

1. Each town, city and county has a comprehensive plan that is designed to make sure uncontrolled, bad development does not ruin Florida's quality of life and the environment. Comprehensive plans are also designed to make sure that adequate roads, schools and other basic social services are not strangled and overwhelmed. Comprehensive plans can't work if they can be easily changed. That's what has happened in Florida. Comprehensive plans are being changed ... by vote of city or county commissions to accommodate development that shouldn't happen.

2. Florida's Hometown Democracy Amendment replaces county or city commission votes to adopt or change a comprehensive plan with votes by the citizens in a referendum election to be held at the same time as the general election. No special elections will be necessary. Florida's Hometown Democracy Amendment gives greater stability and certainty to comprehensive plans by locking in existing land use categories and giving the keys to the voters. The voters will decide if a proposed change will make their community a better place to live. If the majority votes yes, the change happens. If the majority votes no, the change doesn't happen.

3. The United States Supreme Court and the Florida Supreme Court have both ruled that referenda are a perfectly acceptable way to make land use decisions.

The Web site also answers the other questions most often raised by Florida voters with regard to this change, including "Am I going to have to vote on a lot of issues?" "What if my community is facing a continuous onslaught of many comprehensive plan changes?" "What is Florida's Hometown Democracy Referendum going to cost us as taxpayers?" and many more.

Obviously, there is more to this issue than can be covered in this column. Bottom line for this non-partisan grassroots movement is that they need to gather about 500,000 petitions signed by registered Florida voters to get this amendment on the November 2004 ballot. Volunteers are needed in every county of the state. To receive petitions and flyers contact the group by phone or fax at (386) 424-0860, or by email to info@floridahometdemocracy.com (Petitions and campaign materials can also be downloaded from the Web site above.)

The eastern portion of Seminole County faces many such changes in the not-so-distant future. Residents here need to be a part of the process in one way or another. I offer this as one possible way. I also offer the following quote from President Teddy Roosevelt: "I know of no safe repository of the ultimate power of society but the people..."

We need you to tell us what you know that is good about Geneva! Please share your information, ideas and comments by calling 407-349-2140, writing to Stetson's Corner c/o The Seminole Herald, via e-mail at darlas@mpinet.net, (please put "Stetson's Corner" in the subject line), or with a fax to 407-323-9408. Thanks!

County Health Department where she held the position as public health nurse and as acting director of nurses.

In honor of this community servant, musical renditions were rendered by Gloria Williams, Annie King Morris, sister of the honoree, served as mistress of ceremony. Prayer was given by Dr. Joseph Martin. Her co-worker, Iris Quinn, who spoke of this virtuous woman, gave the welcome.

Duncan's granddaughter, Billy Jean King, gave a tribute to her grandmother titled "When I grow up." Musical selections were sung by The Harmonizers of Orlando that included renditions of "Wonderful" and "Precious Memories." Other entertainment of the evening was presented by the St. John Metropolitan Baptist Church Praise Dancers.

Hannibal Duncan dedicated a poem to his mother titled "Your son I am glad to be."

Information about the honoree, "Vision of Life," was presented by co-worker Dorothy Richards, and "Strength in Life" was given by Michael Mobley. Duncan is a good-hearted Christian of strong character and powerful with joy of the Lord about her life. The purpose of a great leader and lover of family, friends and others like Duncan is to go forward to be a great servant in this world. Thanks and appreciation was given to the honoree by her son, King Joseph Duncan, Jr.

Bernice King Duncan is the wife of King Joseph Duncan Sr., and mother of Veronica, Lumumba, King, Jr., Hannibal, Yoshi and B.J., married to Oscar. Her mother is Eddie Mae King/late Joseph.

Duncan says she believes in living because she can't retire from life, and she can't and will not stop helping others. She is an ardent member of Bethlem Baptist Church in Winter Garden, where she grew up and attended Charles R. Drew High School.

partners with Sisters Alive and the American Cancer Society will sponsor a Purple Tea/Breast Cancer Awareness Education event. The Purple Tea event is the signature event of the Sisters Alive committee.

Sisters Alive is a group of women dedicated to promoting breast and colon health education and awareness in the African American community. The program focuses on early detection of breast cancer through mammograms, annual physical examinations and monthly breast self-exams.

The guest speaker will be Dr. Ann Ashley-Gilbert and a question and answer session will be held. The event will be held at Allen AME Church, 1203 Olive Ave., on Saturday, Oct. 11 from 10 a.m. to noon.

For more information, call Marian Williams at 407-804-0603. Free food, music and

Kidney evaluation program offered
The National Kidney Foundation of Florida will share information regarding a free program offer. The program is entitled KEEF, which stands for Kidney Early Evaluation Program.

This unique intervention program is designed to identify individuals who are at increased risk of developing kidney disease. This includes patients with diabetes, high blood pressure, or those with a parent, grandparent, brother, sister, aunt or uncle with diabetes, high blood pressure or chronic kidney failure. With early education, detection and, if necessary, intervention with medication, patients in many cases can help prevent kidney disease from developing.

The KEEF screening includes weight measurements, blood pressure check and a questionnaire about general and family health history. A physician will also be present to discuss patients' results.

Confidentiality is maintained throughout the screening process and it only takes 30 minutes. For more information, call Making Lives Better National Kidney Foundation of Florida at (800) 927-9659 ext. 106. Volunteers are also needed for the screenings went to Aunt Cat Fish for dinner; I joined the group that went to Parka Restaurant.

Following breakfast Friday morning, some went shopping, but most took up residence on the pool deck. There we remained the rest of the day, sunning and enjoying the fellowship of longtime friends.

The first to arrive that day were Jay and Vi Jacobs and other early arrivals were P.R. Bach, Edgar Bruce, Don and Clara Howard, Paulette (Cason) and Garnett White, Rebecca (Cain) Pelham and Donald Cain. By late afternoon, a large group had gathered.

Jay made reservations for 20 at Sweetwaters for dinner and those I recall being there in addition to those already mentioned were Ed and JoAnn McCall, Joe Hunt, Raymond Hardy, Alvin and Barbara (Bass) Fenley.

The wait staff was mystified when we told them we were Celery Feds. Robert, our waiter, thought we were celery inspectors with the federal government. There was lots of laughs, fellowship and good fun.

Saturday morning we gathered in the shade under the umbrellas on the pool deck, and at noon, everyone who had brought snacks spread them out for all to enjoy. Beth and Roy Harris from Louisiana provided crawfish etouffee, assisted by Karen and Walter Harris. Garnett and Paulette brought out boiled shrimp, and there was all sort of snack food. Most of this was impromptu, but there was an abundance of food and it brought the whole group together.

After everyone had their fill, the entire pool deck was invited to enjoy the goodies. And we Celery Feds continued to visit all afternoon, continually welcoming new arrivals.

Other attendees not previously mentioned were Jim and Joan Anderson, Eugene and Carrie Barineau, John and Pat (Brown) Brooks, Chip and Barbara (Saunders) Chapman, Ray Davis, Jimmy Hawkins, Mildred (Barineau) Hobdy, Stuart Hollenbeck, Maggie (Partin) and Bill Inghram, Tommye Johnson, Glynn Jones, Bill Kinard, Lois Barineau Metts, John and Sarah (Dunn) Miller, Bob and Pat (Dunn) Morris, Dottie (Follinger) Ramsey, Jackie (Dunn) Rumbley, Frances (Moore) Sweet, Margaret (Moore) Temple, Sonny West, Frank and Donna Wilson, Rodney Wilson, Bill and Mariel Evans and Doris (Anderson) Gormly.

That night I went with a large group to Down the Hatch for dinner while others patronized other area restaurants. All then gathered again on the deck for more visiting.

Late Saturday afternoon, a flier was slipped under our room doors inviting all Celery Feds who had spent Saturday night to stay over Sunday night free. Well, I for one jumped at the chance, as did a few others. Several stayed until the middle of Sunday afternoon.

The weather for this reunion was perfect after several years of bad weather, including hurricanes Floyd and Gabrielle. We were fortunate to be there just ahead of Isabel.

After reading all summer about the cold surf temperatures, I tentatively waded in the surf. I found the water just right so I enjoyed swimming in the ocean, but I believe I was the only one. I read in the paper later that the surf temperature was 78 degrees.

It didn't seem to take much to entice the Celery Feds to this reunion, as there were 65 attendees. I believe that the average has usually been around 100. Most this year came from Central Florida, but some came from as far away as Oregon, Colorado, Alabama, Louisiana and Georgia.

Jay Jacobs, Paulette White and I from the class of 1954 are already making plans for next year. We received good suggestions from this year's group and have some ideas of our own, so hopefully another great Celery Fed Reunion will take place in 2004!

Distant Replay

Dec. 27, 1993

The Gators' first bowl-game loss came at the hands of Ole Miss in a 7-3 battle at the Gator Bowl. The Rebels scored their only touchdown on the opening drive, when they marched 70 yards and Jim Anderson punched it in. Florida's Jimmy Dunn returned the kickoff to the Ole Miss 30, but the Gators settled for a field goal from Billy Booker for the final margin.

The Game of the Week

GAME OF THE WEEK

Mississippi at Florida

Gators seeking revenge

The Gators are looking to avenge one of their most damaging losses ever, and also string together back-to-back wins for the first time this season, when they host Eli Manning and Mississippi at the Swamp.

Mississippi pulled off one of its greatest wins in recent history last year, beating Florida 17-14 in Oxford, denying the Gators a chance to reach the Southeastern Conference championship. However, it's not likely to happen again: Florida hasn't lost back-to-back games to Ole Miss since losing four straight ending in 1958.

A victory for the Rebels would turn things around in a hurry and go a long way toward erasing the bitter memory of last week's fade against Texas Tech. And a huge game for Manning might even put him back in the Heisman Trophy race.

Mississippi at Florida

■ Records: Mississippi 2-2 (1-0 SEC); Florida 3-2 (1-1 SEC). ■ Series: Mississippi leads 10-9-1. ■ Coach: Mississippi's David Cutcliffe (32-20); Florida's Ron Zook (11-7). ■ Kickoff: 12:30 p.m. EDT. ■ TV: Jefferson-Planet.

Key for Mississippi: Try to find a way, any way, to stop the pass. Florida doesn't quite have the serial stack that Texas Tech (661 yards, 6 touchdowns) does, but you can believe the Gators will be testing that secondary, especially after all the criticism that Ron Zook doesn't take enough chances downfield. The best way to help your secondary is to get some kind of pass rush on freshman quarterback Chris Leak, making only his second start. Defensive end Charlie Anderson needs to get an upfield surge; when he did break through the line last week he forced an interception for a touchdown. More of that would go a long way toward getting above .500.

Key for Florida: Show more discipline on offense. After being flagged five times for illegal procedure and three times for linemen standing up early, the Gators need to cut back on their own mistakes and not help Mississippi. They also need to learn to make adjustments on the fly, especially offensive coordinator Ed Zschau. The Gators usually decide before the game whether they will run or pass in that game, and they refuse to adapt. After finishing with only 93 yards last week, the Gators will come out and insist on establishing the run, just to prove they can do it, rather than go with what the Rebels give them.

The Rest of the Matchups

Alabama at Georgia

■ Records: Alabama 2-3 (1-1 SEC); Georgia 3-1 (1-1 SEC). ■ Series: Alabama leads 35-23-4. ■ Coach: Alabama's Mike Shula (2-3); Georgia's Mark Richt (24-6). ■ Kickoff: 3:30 p.m. EDT. ■ TV: CBS.

Key for Alabama: Find a way to eat up some clock. There are always times in a game when you have to be able to just hold onto the ball and keep the opposing offense off the field. Last week against Arkansas, that time would have been with a 21-point lead midway through the third quarter. Allowing the opponent to have the ball for 28 minutes more than you do is unacceptable. Shaun Williams had 19 carries for 135 yards in the loss, so maybe a few more carries would lead to more points and, more importantly, boost the Tide's time of possession. Head coach Mike Shula loves to stretch the field, but he has to realize where these games are won and lost.

Key for Georgia: Put pressure on 'Bama quarterback Brodie Croyle, who has shown that he can find the open man when given the opportunity. He should use a lot of defensive end David Pollack this week. Take advantage of team speed and stretch those corners to prevent Shaun Williams from breaking a big run, as he usually does at least twice a game. Stack the box and rely on the quickness of your linebackers to wreck the short passing game.

Tennessee at Auburn

■ Records: Tennessee 4-0 (2-0 SEC); Auburn 2-2 (1-0 SEC). ■ Series: Auburn leads 22-21-3. ■ Coach: Tennessee's Phillip Fulmer (107-25); Auburn's Tommy Tuberville (57-41). ■ Kickoff: 7:45 p.m. EDT. ■ TV: ESPN.

Key for Auburn: The matchup between corner Carlos Rogers and Volunteers wideout James Banks could decide this game. Banks is by far the Volunteers' top option through the air, and has four touchdowns. If Auburn's this secondary isn't careful, Banks might have four more touchdowns by the end of this game. All the talk is usually about Tennessee's running game, but with the Tigers moving offensive players around to fill holes in the secondary, you can bet Tennessee will test that possible Achilles heel early and often.

Key for Tennessee: Facing another athletic defense could give the Volunteers' offense fits. After Auburn studies the film from the Gamecocks' narrow overtime loss to Tennessee, it will try to execute the same game plan and stop the Vols' running attack. If Tennessee's run defense can return to form, the Vols will get their own ground game going in the process. It's difficult for any running back, even Jabari Davis or Cedric Houston, to do much when he's holding his helmet under his arm on the sideline.

Vanderbilt at Mississippi State

■ Records: Vanderbilt 1-4 (0-2 SEC); Mississippi State 0-4 (0-1 SEC). ■ Series: Mississippi State leads 9-6-2. ■ Coach: Vanderbilt's Bobby Johnson (63-30); Mississippi State's Jackie Sherrill (178-114-4). ■ Kickoff: 2:30 p.m. EDT. ■ TV: None.

Key for Vanderbilt: Get the running game back on track. Quarterback Jay Cutler does a fine job of avoiding the rush and picking up yards when running lanes open up, but he should not be the leading rusher on a team with two talented tailbacks. Cutler finished with 15 carries for 61 yards in the overtime loss to Georgia Tech, which was more than either Kwame Foster (15 for 60) or Norval McKenzie (12 for 43). McKenzie did have two touchdown runs, but the Commodores need to do a better job of getting their backs involved, even if it means a little creative play calling.

Key for Mississippi State: The Bulldogs need to keep plugging away and improving on defense every week. They came into the game against LSU ranked next-to-last in the nation in total defense, and last against the pass. They allowed only 191 yards passing to the Tigers' potent air attack, and they also got their first interception of the season by cornerback Odell Bradley. If they can continue to chip away on defense and give Vanderbilt its yards without allowing any long plays, they have a shot at removing the goose egg from the win column.

2-MINUTE DRILL

ALABAMA A questionable umpire's conduct penalty following a Charles Jones interception in the end zone last week turned Alabama's Tide in a hurry. Defensive coordinator Joe Kilmer wasn't sure if the punishment fit the crime. "They intercepted a pass in an overtime situation. If there's not some emotion with that, they don't have any blood running through their veins," Kilmer said.

ARKANSAS A solid running team never abandons the run, and that's exactly why the Razorbacks were able to come back against Alabama. Even after falling behind 31-10 halfway through the third quarter, Arkansas continued to rely on Cedric Cobbs, and he ended up with 198 yards on 36 carries.

AUBURN The Tigers have outscored Vanderbilt and Western Kentucky 93-10 in their last two games to pull back to .500 (2-2), but now things get tougher, with games against three top-10 teams this month. Auburn gets a visit from No. 7 Tennessee, then heads over to Fayetteville, Ark., to meet No. 8 Arkansas. Another road trip to No. 6 LSU follows a home game against Mississippi State.

FLORIDA Chris Leak started his first game against Kentucky and finished 20 of 35 for 288 yards and two touchdowns. Leak, who was 18 months old when the Gators lost to the Wildcats, fared a lot better than the previous three Gator freshmen making their debuts on the road. They combined for 164 yards and no touchdowns with two interceptions.

GEORGIA Head coach Mark Richt indicated the starting tailback and backup running back spots are still up for grabs. He said sophomore Tony Milton, who remains questionable with a leg injury, is one of the best blocking tailbacks he's ever seen. Goes that gives Milton a leg up.

KENTUCKY The blindly thrown interception from Wildcats quarterback Jared Lorenzen to Florida's Johnny Lamar late in the Florida game broke a streak of 75 passes without a pick for Kentucky's husky quarterback. "Laying on the ground and watching (Lamar) run by was the worst feeling in the world," Lorenzen said.

LSU The Tigers are off to their first 5-0 start in 30 years. A big part of LSU's success is its explosive offense, led by quarterback Matt Mauck, wide receiver Michael Clayton and running back Shyrome Carey. But a bigger part is the conference's second-best defense, which forced four turnovers, had six sacks and allowed only 239 yards in last week's 41-6 dismantling of Mississippi State.

MISSISSIPPI Texas Tech slinger B.J. Symons' 661-yard effort against Ole Miss was the third-best passing yardage performance in Division I-A history, as well as a Big 12 record. Ole Miss also saw a couple of records fall when Ole Miss kicker Jonathan Nichols booted six field goals, which broke an Ole Miss record. Meanwhile, Rebels receiver Chris Collins broke the school's career reception record of 143 on Ole Miss' first possession.

MISSISSIPPI STATE The Bulldogs had a different defensive line yet again last Saturday. Mississippi State inserted 276-pound senior Kansas Jackson at defensive tackle. It also moved Tommy Kelly down the line from tackle to end, and switched Jason Clark from end to linebacker.

NORTH CAROLINA Freshman tailback Demetrica Summers rumbled for 158 yards on 27 carries in the overtime loss to Tennessee, gaining more yards than the Vols did combined (117). He also became the first USC freshman since Thomas Dandy in 1982 to rush for 100 or more yards in consecutive games.

TENNESSEE Volunteers punter Austin Colquhoun kept the Gamecocks pinned deep all night and helped the Vols pull the game out despite gaining 100 fewer yards than USC. Colquhoun averaged 52 yards on seven punts.

VANDERBILT After falling 24-17 in overtime to Georgia Tech, the Commodores are now 54-44-5 all-time against schools from the Atlantic Coast Conference. Vanderbilt owns a winning record against every ACC team except Georgia Tech (15-18-3) and North Carolina (5-8). Luckily, they haven't played Florida State since the Seminoles joined the conference in 1991.

Lacrosse gains FHSAA approval

Special to the Herald

The Florida High School Athletic Association Board of Directors Monday approved the recognition of lacrosse as an interscholastic sport beginning with the 2004-05 school year.

The extremely popular sport has a huge following in Seminole County and supporters have pushed for years to have the sport recognized by the FHSAA.

In the 2002-2003 school year 29 boys teams accounting for 1,243 athletes and 27 girls teams with 1,052 representatives took part in Lacrosse, according to an FHSAA survey of all schools in Florida. The sport is also very popular in South Florida.

Will begin interscholastic play in 2004-2005

Virtually all of the public and private schools in Orange and Seminole counties, as well as Flagler Palm Coast High School in Bunnell, have been fielding teams for the past several years and this past year the sport really took off in Duval County (Jacksonville).

Lacrosse has done very well as an independent sport and locally the Lake Brantley girls have won two of the last three State Championships, including claiming the 2003 title at Disney's Wide World of Sports complex by defeating St. Edward's School from Vero Beach.

The FHSAA Board also approved changing the name of the FHSAA Hall of Fame to the "Florida High School Athletic Hall of Fame," effective with the 2004 induction class.

The name change more accurately reflects the purpose of the Hall of Fame - recognizing and celebrating the achievements of administrators, coaches, officials and student-athletes who have made significant contributions to the association.

"With the recent induction of two student-athletes, we felt the name needed to be more representative of all the members of the Hall of Fame while also reflecting the association's new name," said Commissioner Robert W. Hughes. "A lot of folks have had the impression with the old name that our Hall of Fame is only for administrators." See FHSAA, Page 2B

Lions take command

Oviedo unbeaten in 6A-2

By Tony DeSormier
Special to the Herald

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — It was a rollercoaster ride for Oviedo High School senior Jason Raulerson Friday night, going from hero to victim to hero within a span of a couple of hours.

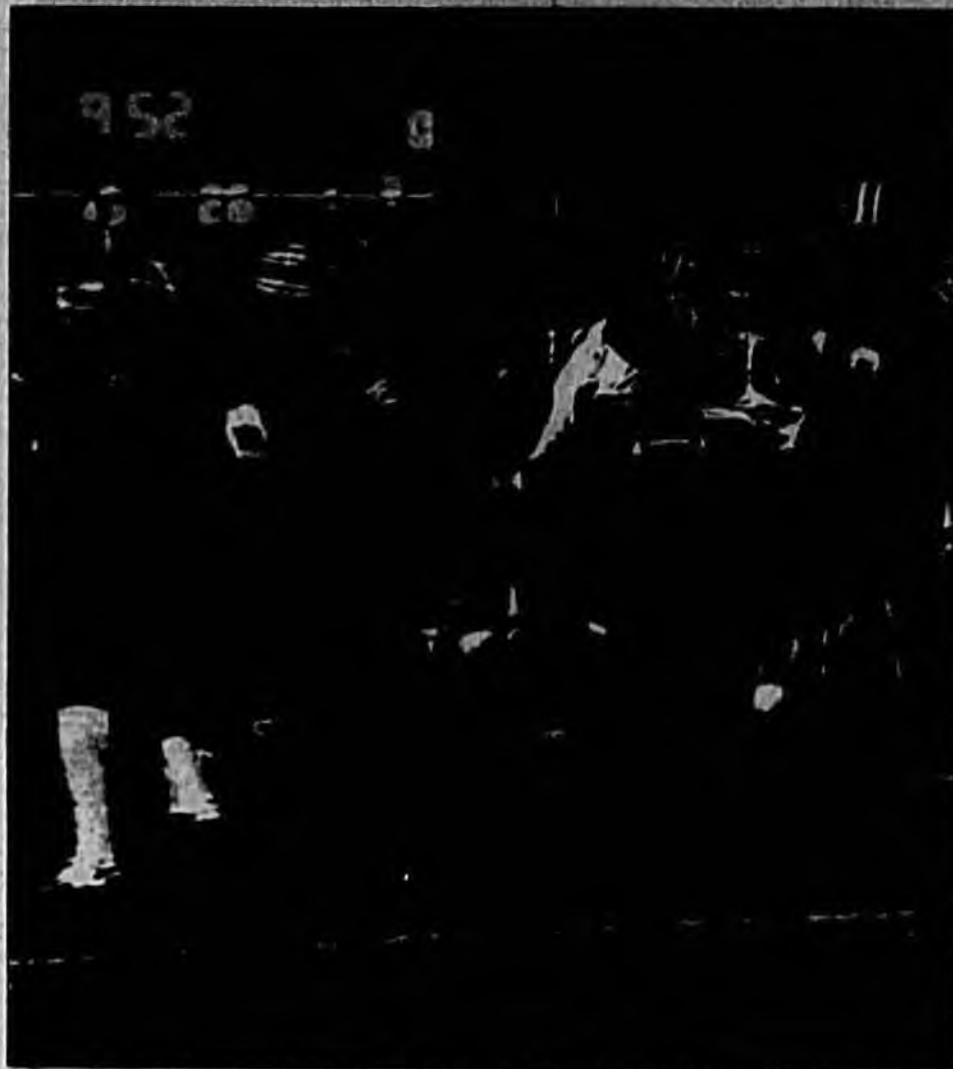

Aided by some key contributions from Raulerson and several other three-year starters in the lineup, the Oviedo Lions scratched out a 21-10 victory over the Lake Brantley Patriots Friday night at Tom Storey Field.

Coupled with Lake Mary's 14-3 win over DeLand, Oviedo (4-0) is now the only unbeaten team in 6A-District 2. The Lions are 2-0 in district play ahead of Lake Brantley and Lake Mary (both 1-1 in the 6A-2) and Seminole and DeLand (both 0-1).

"Our kids are hard workers," said Oviedo coach Greg Register. "This group has the best character of any team I've ever had. They earned this win with hard work and determination."

On Friday night, Raulerson was the poster boy for hard work and determination. Less than three minutes into the game, he took a Lake Brantley punt and, thanks to some key blocks, returned the ball 69 yards for a touchdown that put the Lions ahead to stay.

While Oviedo would only score two more times, Raulerson helped the Lions main- See Lions, Page 3B

Oviedo's Jason Raulerson (No. 7, above) breaks through a line of would-be Lake Brantley tacklers on his way to a 69-yard punt return that put Oviedo in the driver's seat early. The Lions' defense made life tough on the Patriots offense, especially quarterback Brett Smith (right), all night as Oviedo remained undefeated and took control of Class 6A-District 2 with a 21-10 victory over Lake Brantley at Tom Storey Field Friday night. Both teams will take a break from district play next week and also play on Thursday in preparation for the Fall Break. The Lions will host Lyman in a big Seminole Athletic Conference game, while the Patriots will host non-conference Port Orange-Spruce Creek. Both games will start at 7:30 p.m.

Rams still alive for playoffs

By Dean Smith

LAKE MARY — With its playoff hopes on the line, the Lake Mary football team rose to the occasion and put itself right in the thick of the battle with a 14-3 Homecoming victory over DeLand at Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

A Rams victory was imperative as a loss would have all but eliminated the local power from any shot at the playoffs.

Now, paired with a loss by Lake Brantley to unbeaten Oviedo Friday night, Lake Mary is now tied for second in Class 6A-District 2 with games left with Seminole and the Patriots.

Seniors Cameron Bateman, Jon Clark, Keith Rivers and R.J. Meyers, along with sophomore Kashif Vallot, stepped up to the plate for the Rams and led them to the win.

While those players were the main figures in the victory, if the truth be told it was the Lake Mary defense and special teams that was the difference in this game.

Rivers and Meyers, the Rams linebackers, showed right off the bat that they were going to be in the middle of the action in this one.

After a short kickoff gave the Bulldogs the ball at their own 40, Rivers, a consensus All-American, broke the through the line on the first play and knocked down quarterback Shayland Patrick for a three-yard loss.

After Patrick got nine yards back with a pass to Lorence Lewis, Meyers took his turn, roaring through the line and dropping Fred McCaskill for a three-yard loss, forcing a punt.

Neither team was having much luck moving the ball and the first quarter ended with no score on the board.

The second play of the second period turned the game in favor of Lake Mary. See Rams, Page 3B

Bears, Greyhounds unbeaten in 5A-5

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

For once the road did not prove to be unkind.

Most teams dread having to go on the road, but not Friday as Lake Howell, Lyman, Seminole and Winter Springs all returned to Seminole County with wins.

The two biggest wins were turned in by Lyman and Winter Springs.

Not only did both teams bounce back from losses last week, they both won remained undefeated in Class 5A-District 5 play.

The Greyhounds (4-1 overall, 2-0 in 5A-5) got past previously undefeated Timber Creek, 31-28, and are in good shape towards making it to the playoffs in ages.

The Bears (2-3 overall, 2-0 in 5A-5) got great leadership from quarterback Brett Hodges and used a missed extra point to defeat Oak Ridge, 7-6. The

Pioneers were the preseason favorites to win the district, but are now 0-2 with losses to Lyman and See Football, Page 3B

UCF gets invitation to MAC

Special to the Herald

The Mid-American Conference Council of Presidents announced Wednesday that an invitation for full conference membership has been extended to UCF, pending determination by the Big East Conference as to its future membership plans.

"We are delighted to have a conditional full membership offer from the Mid-American Conference as we pursue the long-term goal of having all of our sports compete in the same conference at the highest level," UCF athletics director Steve Orsini said.

The invitation becomes effective should the Big East expand this fall without adding any institutions from the Mid-American Conference, and is offered for competition beginning with the 2004-05 academic year.

"We will carefully and thoughtfully give full consideration to this offer, should it become effective, while we chart the future course of the University," Orsini added. "We have a great deal of respect for the institutions in the MAC and have already reaped great benefits from our short affiliation as a football member in the conference."

UCF joined the MAC as a football-only member in 2002, after spending its first 23 years as an independent. The remainder of the school's 17 teams compete in the Atlantic Sun Conference, with the exception of rowing, which is independent.

Rogers wins Sunbelt race, Monster Trucks invade New Smyrna

From Staff Reports

With Halloween just four weeks away, monsters will be making an early appearance in Central Florida this weekend as the likes of Big Foot, Bearfoot, Caroline Crusher, Boogy Van, the Mummy and Incinerator invade New Smyrna Speedway.

That's right, the amazingly popular Monster Truck Series will be taking over the Semota complex for the next two days.

Also on the schedule will be a 8-Cylinder Demo Derby, X-treme Street Superbikes, the Globe of Death, the Wall of Steel, Freestyle Cycle Jumping and a Tuff Truck Competition.

Tonight (Saturday) the gates open at 5 p.m. with racing action beginning at 7:30 p.m. and tomorrow (Sunday) gates open at noon with racing action beginning at 2 p.m. at the track located at the corner of SR. 44 and CR 415, between New Smyrna, DeLand and Daytona.

Last Saturday (September 27) it seemed that rain was all around New Smyrna Speedway but the skies and Mother Nature were kind and never let one drop of rain come down to spoil the program featuring a 125-lap race for the FASCAR Sunbelt Super Late Model Series.

Dick Anderson of Wildwood qualified fastest out of the twenty three Super Late Models. Anderson ran a 18.101 second lap with Eric Almirola at 18.202, David Rogers at 18.204, B.J. McLeod at 18.222 and Jacob Warren at 18.243. In fact, Anderson was disqualified putting Almirola on the pole. After the No. 9 pill was drawn, it was Eric Black of Vero Beach on the pole.

The green flag waved with Eric Black quickly jumping to the lead over Wayne Anderson, David Froelich, Bruce Lawrence, Sr., and Justin Drawdy. Dick Anderson joined the field late and never did really catch up and pulled off the back on lap 4.

The race is plagued by a series of caution flags for torn up equipment and by lap 102, eight cars out of the 23 car field are left on the track.

Almirola now finds his hands full of Rogers on his rear. It is very hard to hold back Rogers but Almirola does a valiant job until lap 117 when Rogers is finally able to pass Almirola and Almirola has worn out his car protecting his lead.

Rogers holds the point and takes the checkered in his TM Ranch/Orlando Dodge Intrepid followed by Almirola, Froelich, Black and Jay Middleton. Lake Mary's Mike Good wound up ninth.

In Victory Circle, Rogers tells the standing crowd, "It has been a long time since I won a Sunbelt race. This feels great. My car was never good as Eric's and I knew if I was going to pass him, he would have to slip up just a little."

Almirola told the crowd, "David is hard to beat but we had a good car. But the car started to go away on me and I started to go away on me since I have been fighting the flu all week. But it was a good race."

The next race for the Sunbelt Super Late Models will be October 18 at USA International in Lakeland.

The other special race of the evening had the Classic Auto Racing Series back for round number two at New Smyrna Speedway, but the results were much the same as they were for round one back in April as everyone was looking at the rear bumper of Clement's Jim Rahman.

Luck of the draw found Bud Spencer on the pole (not in his usual "lavender love machine" but in a car that he formerly owned when he was Rookie of the year in 1998) with Rahman on the outside of row one.

Rahman wasted little time getting to the front and the defending Series champ was trying to leave the field behind before caution flew on lap three as Patrick Sanders and point leader Ben Booth tangled in turn four. Sanders continued while Booth pitted to replace a flat tire. Both drivers restarted at the rear of the field.

Following the restart, Sanders was trying to make an outside move on Tim Ousley in turn two when his car got loose and he spun backwards into the pit gate. The damage to Sanders car was not severe, but bad enough to force him out of the race.

On the restart, Bill Posey moved in on Rahman and the battle for the lead was on. Lap after lap Posey would look high and low trying to find a place to get a good run on Rahman.

"I was just trying to run my line," said Rahman. "I knew if I could do that, it would be hard for anyone to pass me, especially at this race track."

Al "Hot Rod" Hagan was on the charge moving from his ninth starting position to third by mid race with Daryl Grief right on his tail. Wayne Ashton and Ben Booth were also charging hard although Booth was racing without knowing track officials had penalized him a spot for jumping the lap three restart.

Grief's night would come to an end with a broken transmission on lap 22. Booth was charging hard with Ashton on his tail, but with no cautions, catching the leaders was impossible.

Rahman held on for his third win of the year, with two of those now at New Smyrna. Posey had his best career finish in the Classics coming home a very close second and also earned his first Door Operating Systems Rookie of the Race Award. Hagan came home with his third consecutive top three finish while Booth crossed the line fourth, but his penalty moved Ashton into the fourth spot with Booth getting fifth.

Even with the fifth place finish, Booth added to his point lead.

Other winners on the night were Dale Clouser (Sportsman), Jeff Colburn (Super Stock), Rob Underwood (Open Wheel Modified), and Eric Hodge (Strictly Stock).

Orlando Magic sign quartet as camp opens

Special to the Herald

The Orlando Magic have signed free agents Derrick Dial, Alton Ford, Shammond Williams and Donnell Harvey, General Manager John Gabriel announced Monday.

Harvey (6'8", 220) appeared in 77 regular season games last season with Denver, averaging 7.9 ppg., 5.3 rpg. and 1.3 apg. in 20.9 minpg. He set career-highs in virtually every statistical category in 2002-03. Harvey also made 27 starts, averaging 8.8 ppg. and 5.7 rpg. during that span. He scored in double figures on 28 occasions, led (or tied) the team in scoring three times, in rebounding 15 times and in assists four times.

Originally selected in the first round (22nd overall) of the 2000 NBA Draft by New York, Harvey has appeared in 142 career games with Dallas and Denver, averaging 6.4 ppg., 4.6 rpg. and 1.0 apg. in 17.7 minpg.

Harvey entered the 2000 NBA Draft after one season at the University of Florida. He helped the Gators reach the NCAA Championship Game in his only collegiate campaign (1999-2000). Harvey was named to the All-SEC Freshman Team by league coaches, after leading the team in rebounding (7.0 rpg.) and finishing third in scoring (10.1 ppg.), despite playing just 20.2 minpg.

Dial (6'4", 184) spent the 2002-03 campaign with Virtus Bologna of the Italian League. He played in five games with Orlando during the 2003 Pepsi Orlando Pro Summer League, averaging 6.0 ppg. and 1.4 rpg. in 17.2 minpg.

Originally selected in the second round (52nd overall) of the 1998 NBA Draft by San Antonio, Dial has played in 73 career NBA regular season games with the Spurs, New Jersey and Toronto, averaging 3.1 ppg. and 1.6 rpg. in 8.2 minpg.

Ford (6'9", 280) was originally selected by Phoenix in the second round (51st overall) of the 2001 NBA Draft. He has played in 64 career NBA games with Phoenix, averaging 2.7 ppg. and 1.8 rpg. in 7.5 minpg. Ford played in five games with Orlando during the 2003 Pepsi Orlando Pro Summer League, averaging 11.6 ppg. and 3.8 rpg. in 20.6 minpg.

Williams (6'1", 201) appeared in 78 total regular season games with both Boston and Denver, averaging career-highs of 8.0 ppg., 3.4 apg. and 2.2 rpg. in 24.1 minpg.

Originally selected in the second round (34th overall) of the 1998 NBA Draft by Chicago, Williams has appeared in 242 career games with Atlanta, Seattle, Boston and Denver, averaging 6.4 ppg., 2.6 apg. and 1.7 rpg. in 17.5 minpg. He has also shot 375 (206-of-550) from beyond the three-point arc during his career.

Prior to entering the NBA, Williams spent four years at the University of North Carolina. As a senior (1997-98), he averaged 16.8 ppg. and 4.2 apg. in 38 contests. He helped the Tar Heels reach the 1998 NCAA Final Four. Williams was named honorable mention All-America by The Associated Press, named to the All-ACC Second Team and to the All-ACC Tournament First Team. He also shot 911 from the free throw line, an ACC single-season record. Williams finished his career as the school's all-time leader in three-point field goals made with 233.

All four players are participating in the Magic's training camp, which began Tuesday (September 30) at Disney's Wide World of Sports Complex. Orlando's roster now stands at 20 players.

Preseason games begin on Tuesday (Oct. 7) with the Magic heading to Dallas to take on the Mavericks at 8:30 p.m. The game will be televised locally on Sunshine Network. Orlando will stay on the road to take on the New Orleans Hornets on Wednesday, also at 8:30 p.m. There will be no television on Wednesday, but AM 580 will carry both games on radio.

2003-2004 Orlando Magic regular season game ticket can be purchased:

In other news it was announced that Kendall Lanes in Miami will be the site for the Inaugural FHSAA Bowling Finals state championship tournament to be held Nov. 18-19.

The Greater Miami Athletic Conference, which is in its 41st year of high school bowling, will serve as the host organization for the event. The FHSAA Office also announced that the 2004 finals will be held at Boardwalk Bowl in Orlando and will be hosted by University High School. Kendall Lanes is the second-largest bowling center in Florida with 72 lanes. Boardwalk Bowling, with 80 lanes, is the largest in the state. Bowling centers in Fort Lauderdale also were considered as potential sites.

And the Board of Directors also approved moving the dates of the Class 1A and 2A FHSAA Track & Field Finals to Thursday and Friday, April 29-30, 2004 from Friday and Saturday of that same week to avoid a conflict with University of Florida graduation ceremonies.

The FHSAA Board of Directors is the executive authority of the Association, establishing guidelines, regulations, policies and procedures within the framework of the Association's bylaws. The Board of Directors also has the sole authority over all terms and conditions of participation and competition in the FHSAA state championship series. The Board of Directors meets five times annually. Its next meeting is Nov. 23-24, 2003 at the FHSAA headquarters in Gainesville.

Lions

 gain a slight advantage in field position with five catches for 103 yards.

All that work was almost wiped away when, with the Lions possessing a 14-10 lead late in the third quarter, Raulerson came out on the short end of an official's ruling.

Raulerson caught a pass for an 11-yard gain to the Lake Brantley 43 where he was tackled immediately by Lemmar Guy. In the struggle that ensued, the officials ruled that Guy had gotten the ball away from Raulerson before his knee had touched the ground.

The Patriots appeared poised to turn the take away into points by quickly moving to the Oviedo 24-yard line. But Shamus Wright intercepted a Patriot pass at the Oviedo 12-yard line to turn Lake Brantley away.

Raulerson gained some revenge when he hauled in a 42-yard pass from quarterback Lee Sloan to move the Lions out past midfield. A few minutes later, after the Patriots had stopped the Lions and regained possession, Raulerson recovered a Lake Brantley fumble at the Patriot 24-yard line.

"It took Oviedo six plays (including a two-yard run and a 21-yard reception by Raulerson) to convert the turnover into points, Brian Patrick rolling in from the 1-yard line.

"This was a typical Oviedo-Lake Brantley game," said Lake Brantley coach George Clayton. "We put ourselves in a hole early and they got after us. Our kids worked hard to try to overcome it, but Oviedo is a talented, well-coached team."

Besides Raulerson, the Lions also benefited from contributions by three-year starters Will Harrison (17 rushes for 103 yards, including a 56-yard touchdown sprint), Lee Sloan (9-for-15 passing for 157 yards) and Patrick (the game-clinching 1-yard touchdown run).

Doing the scoring for Lake Brantley, which rallied from a 14-0 first-quarter deficit to cut the gap to 14-10 early in the third quarter, were quarterback Brett Smith (1-yard touchdown run) and placekicker Miguel Santos (45-yard field goal).

Fullback Deon Casey paced the Patriot offense with 104 yards rushing on 27 carries.

Both teams will be in action again next Thursday night as Seminole County schools head into their fall break. Oviedo will be at home against Lyman while Lake Brantley will host Fort Orange-Spruce Creek in its Homecoming Game.

Rams

With DeLand's Halley Ferrell lined up at his own 11 for a punt, Rivers again burst through the line and almost took the ball off Ferrell's foot. The ball rolled free and Vallot scooped up the ball and ran untouched for the 11-yard touchdown.

Chris Haynes booted through the extra point and the Rams led 7-0 with 11:48 left in the opening half.

Lake Mary looked like it was going to get the ball right back in good field position, but a recurring problem reared its ugly head again when the Rams were flagged for a roughing the kicker penalty, giving the Bulldogs a first down.

That led to what would be DeLand's only score of the night on a 31-yard field goal by Ferrell. That score almost didn't happen either as Lake Mary's Justin Scott got a hand on the ball, just not enough to stop the kick.

The Rams drove the field after the kickoff and moved into scoring position on a 25-yard run by Bateman and back-to-back runs of 11- and 20-yards by Vallot. But again a major penalty moved to ball back to the 19 only to see Paul Catineau go for 10 on an end around. But another penalty backed the hosts up again and an interception ended the threat and the teams went to the locker-room with Lake Mary ahead 7-3.

The Rams took the second half kickoff and were forced to punt after one first down.

But the Clark punt was muffed and Meyer's grabbed the loose ball, giving the ball back to the hosts.

The drive from the 30 went backwards with consecutive losses after a five-yard run, capped by a bad snap that lost 11 yards, forcing another punt.

But, despite not moving the ball, Lake Mary was able to use up over six minutes of the third quarter.

The Bulldogs appeared to have something going on the next series, but Bateman came up big with an interception in the DeLand end zone.

Vallot then ran 14 yards on three carries as the period ended, but a pair of incomplete passes ended the threat, momentarily.

Another Clark punt was muffed by the Bulldogs and Eric Little recovered for the Rams at the DeLand 32.

Bateman didn't waste any time in putting the hosts in complete control, breaking a tackle and going the final 32 yards on the first play. Haynes' extra point gave Lake Mary a 14-3 lead with 11:33 left on the clock.

Bateman got another interception on the next series, ending the last real hope for the Bulldogs.

The Rams are now 2-3 overall, but more importantly, are 1-1 in district play. The team will have a short week of preparation coming up as all Seminole County teams will play next Thursday with the Fall Break starting next Friday. Lake Mary will host Lake Howell in a Seminole Athletic Conference game starting at 7:30 p.m.

by the UCF ISP Sports Network. Locally, the game will be broadcast on 740 - The Team (WQTM) with Marc Daniels providing the play-by-play commentary, Gary Harris analyzing the action and Jerry O'Neill reporting from the sidelines.

Pregame coverage begins at 4 p.m.

The matchup Saturday marks the fifth time that the Golden Knights (1-3 overall, 0-1 MAC) and the Bulls (0-5, 0-1 MAC) have met. UCF is a perfect 4-0 all-time against Buffalo.

Scouting Buffalo - Head coach Jim Hoffer looks to lead the Bulls to their first-ever victory over a conference opponent since joining the MAC in 1999. Quarterback P.J. Pliskorik leads the Bulls offense as an agile runner and competent thrower. Pliskorik threw two touchdowns in last week's loss to Akron and ran for 72 yards two weeks ago against Connecticut. One of the quarterback's favorite targets is wideout Matt Kneeven, who had five catches for 63 yards last week and has 19 catches on the year. Buffalo also looks to run the ball as they gain 166.2 yards per game on the ground as a team.

The defense is paced by senior safety Mark Graham. Graham leads the Bulls defense with 42 tackles and returned a fumble 66 yards for a touchdown against Akron, something no Buffalo player has done since 1997. Adding to the Bulls defensive strength are linebackers Bryan Cummings, Lamar Wilcher and Chris Clifton. Buffalo allows 38 points and 520 yards per game, numbers that must improve if the Bulls expect to end their 15 game losing streak.

Scouting UCF - Head coach Mike Kruczek will build his game plan around quarterback Jon Rivera, who replaced starter Ryan Schneider after Schneider left last week's 36-16 loss to Kent State with an injury. Rivera brings a new dimension to the offense with his running ability and will have plenty of receivers to throw the ball to, led by wideout Tavaris Capers. Capers leads the MAC and ranks second in the nation averaging nine receptions per game. The running attack is paced by tailback Alex Haynes, who has gained 308 yards and scored three touchdowns on the year. UCF must avoid turnovers, however. The Golden Knights are last in the NCAA in turnover margin and must protect the ball to create scoring opportunities.

The defensive line had four sacks last week against Kent State and is led by junior defensive end Josh Stephens, who recorded two sacks last week. Linebacker Antoine Poe shattered his personal best with 16 tackles last week and also blocked a field goal and forced a fumble and should be a force. The secondary boasts senior Atari Bigby and Peter Sands, who combined have 82 tackles on the year. However, if UCF is to succeed defensively, they must force turnovers. The Golden Knights are the only Division I-A team without an interception on the season.

CHANGES MADE TO ENHANCE FAN FAIRE

Looking to improve on the success of the first Fan Faire, UCF athletics director Steve Orsini announced Thursday some minor changes that should help enhance the experience for all fans attending Fan Faire prior to the football game against Buffalo.

Fan Faire is a pre-game party held on Tinker Field, adjacent to the Florida Citrus Bowl, and is free for all ticket holders and UCF students with a valid UCF ID. The event begins three hours prior to kickoff and will now close one hour after kickoff. More than 5,000 fans attended Fan Faire prior to UCF's home opener against Florida Atlantic.

"The first Fan Faire was a tremendous success," Orsini stated. "We got some great feedback on the event. There are some things we can do better, which is why we are making these changes."

Some of the changes include enhanced food and beverage options for sale, a larger selection of UCF merchandise as well as more tables and chairs for fans to sit. The Tinker Field bleachers will also be open to provide shade for fans while they watch the Jumbo TV screen. Also, all stadium gates will again open 90 minutes prior to kickoff as in previous years. The gates were opened one hour prior to kickoff against FAU.

"Some fans had trouble entering the stadium, but we have made steps to correct that problem," Orsini said. "Hopefully the fans will have a smoother entry into the game."

The highlight of the initial Fan Faire was the first ever Knight March, when the football players walked through a human tunnel of fans on their way to the locker room. "The players loved it," UCF coach Mike Kruczek said of Knight March. "It really got them fired up."

Knight March will take place at 4 p.m. on Tinker Field and the live band performing this week will be Red Eye Express.

OHIO TELEVISION BROADCAST DETAILS

Next week's UCF game at Ohio (Oct. 11) will air live at 2 p.m. on Bright House Central Florida on Channel 99 for digital customers and Channel 10 for all others. For satellite viewers in all areas, it will be live on DirecTV Channel 635 and DISH Network Channel 447.

Sunshine will replay the game later that night at 11 p.m. In addition, the game is being offered live on Fox Sports Digital Pacific, a digital cable channel available to cable systems nationwide (call 1-866-FSDN-NOW or go to www.foxsportsdigital.net for channel availability in your area).

WATTS NAMED PUBLIX STUDENT-ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Sophomore Emily Watts is this week's Publix Student-Athlete of the Week. The Kansas native led UCF to a five-game victory at South Florida last Friday to extend the Golden Knights' winning streak to seven games.

Watts led all players with 24 kills and seven service aces in the thrilling five-game victory. She also totaled 10 digs and four blocks in the win.

Watts has now been named the Publix Student-Athlete of the Week twice this season. She leads the team in kills and kills per game for the 9-3 Golden Knights. UCF has won eight straight matches on the year entering this weekend.

The health services administration major carries a cumulative GPA of 3.72.

Lake Brantley workhorse fullback back Deon Casey (No. 34, above) ran for 104 yards on 27 carries, but it was not enough as the Patriots fell to unbeaten Oviedo, 21-10, Friday night.

Winter Springs.

Lake Howell (1-4, 1-1 in 5A-5) finally got new head coach Ed Norton a victory, getting past Freedom, 19-14, to keep its playoff hopes alive.

The Fighting Seminoles made the longest trip, heading over to the Space Coast, and kept the momentum gained from last week's scorefest against Lake Howell going with a 34-7 thumping of Eau Gallie. Unfortunately for the Tribe, it was not a district game, but the locals are now 3-2 on the season.

The two non-SAC schools played at home and got mixed results as The Master's Academy improved to 3-2 on the season with a 27-14 victory over Brevard Christian, but Trinity Prep remained winless with a 19-13 setback at the hands of district foe Wildwood.

All of the SAC schools will be in action on Thursday as the Fall Break begins on Friday. Lyman will play at Oviedo in a game that could determine the conference champion. Winter Springs will be at Seminole, and Lake Howell will be at Lake Mary. In a non-conference game, Lake Brantley will host Spruce Creek.

All of the games are set to begin at 7:30 p.m.

legal holidays, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the St. Johns River Water Management District (District) Headquarters, 4046 Field Street, Palatka, FL 32178-1429. A person whose substantial interests are affected by the District's decision may petition for an administrative hearing in accordance with sections 120.568 and 120.57, Florida Statutes, or may choose to pursue mediation as an alternative remedy under section 120.573, Florida Statutes, before the deadline for filing a petition. Choosing mediation will not adversely affect the right to a hearing if mediation does not result in settlement. The procedures for pursuing mediation are set forth in section 120.573, Florida Statutes, and rules 28-106.111 and 28-106.401-404 Florida Administrative Code. Petitions must comply with the requirements of Florida Administrative Code Chapter 28-106 and be filed with (received by) the District Clerk located at District Headquarters, Highway 100 West, Palatka, FL 32177. Petitions for administrative hearing on the above application(s) must be filed within twenty-one (21) days of publication of this notice or within twenty-five (25) days of the District depositing notice of this intent in the mail for those persons to whom the District made actual notice. Failure to file a petition within this time period shall constitute a waiver of any right(s) such person(s) may have to request an administrative determination (hearing) under sections 120.568 and 120.57, F.S., concerning the subject permit. Petitions that are not filed in accordance with the above provisions are subject to dismissal.

Because the administrative hearing process is designed to formulate final agency action, the filing of a petition means that the District's final action may be different from the position taken by it in this notice of intent. Persons whose substantial interests will be affected by any such final decision of the District on the applicant have the right to petition to become a party to the proceeding, in accordance with the requirements set forth above.
