

Celery Feds Lose To Daytona Beach By 14 - 7 Score

Seminole High Eleven Suffers First Defeat

Buccaners Come From Behind To Score Two Touchdowns In Drives Through Forward Wall Of Local Crew

By JULIAN STENSTROM
Herald Sports Editor

The Seminole High School Celery Feds outplayed the Daytona Beach High School Buccaners in the first quarter of their North coast Florida conference tilt last night to take a 7 to 0 lead but folded up in the later quarters and the Buccaners romped to a 14 to 7 victory with scores coming in the second and third periods.

The Buccaners attack showed strength in the first period with Darrell Ferguson and Art Williams going through the Buc defense and Ferguson finally went over from the four yard marker for the initial touchdown of the tilt but the tide changed later.

Darrell kicked the extra point and then kicked off to Daytona Beach eleven which then began an offense that the Feds could not stop. The Buccaners powered right through the middle of the Seminole line and then would run a play around end.

The Buccaners went on to score after Sanford kicked off to them with Frank Zimmerman doing most of the ball carrying. Zimmerman took the ball to the one yard line where he went over for the touchdown and John Crane kicked the extra point with the score.

The half ended with Daytona Beach in possession of the ball on the Sanford 16 yard line. The second half opened as Sanford kicked off to Daytona Beach. Johns was tackled on his own 17 yard line. The Buccaners began another touchdown drive running through the middle of the Fed line and using an occasional end run.

They racked up five first downs as they marched 83 yards for the winning touchdown with one once giving the ball over to Sanford. Bullington was the chief ball carrier during the drive and he went over from the two yard line for the marker with one again kicking the conversion.

The Feds began fighting hard but the line wasn't blocking and the interference running was very poor. The Feds attempted to pass late in the last period but it was impossible for Ferguson to even get set for the aerial as the Buc line came charging through the Seminole forward wall.

Frank Zimmerman led the individual ground gaining with 66 yards from scrimmage and he was followed closely by Art Williams of the Feds who racked up 63 yards from scrimmage. Darrell Ferguson came third with 35 yards from scrimmage. Fritz

Chapter Five

Marching, singing, shouting Schani was swept down the street with the others. He felt uplifted, reborn and fiercely akin to his people. He stopped though as a city street was taken up by "Hobnobbed!" someone shouted hurrying a brick. There was a small group in front of the County Jail. The cry was taken up by "Hobnobbed!" and then more rocks and bricks were being hurled at the wall. Schani moved toward them. This sort of violence was unnecessary. Then a voice came to his ears, a beautiful, sweet voice that he could never forget. It issued from a carriage that was at the moment, carrying her down the street. "Well really gentlemen," Carla was saying, and involuntarily, in her. "One of the men present, 'Let her go on. Is this a revolution, Schani couldn't believe his ears."

Paris Begins Negotiations For Peace With Nazi State

Japanese troops continued their rapid south China advance today, while British forces started a drive to clear armed Arabs out of Jerusalem and the British cabinet met to consider the Palestine problem, home defense and other matters.

At same time Czechoslovakia and Hungary kept heavy troop concentrations facing each other at their border, France's government faced new labor opposition and Spanish insurgents were said to have been repulsed on Ebro front.

Another important development was a report by authoritative quarters in Paris that preliminary negotiations looking toward "full settlement" of the differences between France and Germany had been started.

In North China, Japanese forces their way through Chinese defenses to threaten Canton from both northeast and east. One column was reported about 35 miles east of Canton and another was said to be 40 miles to northeast and a third 30 miles to the southeast.

Officials Strike Snag At National Citrus Conference

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The national citrus conference struck a snag today when the Agriculture Department declined to make a commitment on the surplus burden it was willing to bear.

AAA representatives served notice again that the industry would be expected to carry most of the load.

Government men and the industry representatives apparently agreed the grapefruit surplus would reach nearly 10,000,000 boxes.

An AAA official was quoted as telling citrus men in a closed session that the industry itself was primarily responsible for a solution and that Government help must be considered supplementary.

Charges Of New Deal's Farm Program Collapse Brings Mixed Reactions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—A statement by John D. M. Hamilton, Republican national chairman, that the Administration's farm program had collapsed, produced a mixed reaction yesterday.

Several Democratic members of Congress reacted sharply; some other legislators said the crop control program had failed to accomplish its purpose and that other means of assisting the farmer would have to be found.

THE DANCE WILL END AT MID-NIGHT

(From The New Yorker)
Under this city
Slumbers another,
The houses of wattle
Standing on spiles,
Dark lake water
Deep as a nightmare
Sketches for ever
In midnight miles.

Under that city
Slumbers another,
The cave of the hunters,
The bone-strewn halls,
The lion and reindeer,
Swiftly immobile,
Melt in mid-motion
On midnight walls.

Here in this city
The lights go black,
The floors and the pavement
Billow and crack;
And the lake and the cavern
Have called us back.
—ROBERT HILLYER.

An AAA marketing expert in Washington tells leaders in the cotton industry that the solution of their problems is their own and not the government's, that there isn't much the government can do about it. And after all that has been said about the more abundant life and the promised price level of 1929!

When cleaning a gun make sure that it is empty before doing anything else. Thomas Mitchell of Jacksonville thought his
.45 Colt's automatic was empty, had removed the clip, forgetting the shell that sometimes remains in the chamber. This shell exploded, hit him in the stomach, ended his career in the prime of life.

During the past three months the federal government has spent $908,980,284 more than it has taken in. A deficit of a billion dollars a quarter is four billion dollars a year. And a deficit of four billion dollars this year would put the government debt up close to the point where President Roosevelt said he would not allow it to go.

Senator Smathers of New Jersey says this country ought to Germany already has 10,000 while in the world why we should.

Local physicians at a regular meeting of the Seminole Medical Society have again endorsed the proposed Seminole County Hospital to open which the people are called to vote in the November election. The doctors have approved the plans for a $127,000 building which they think is neither too large nor too small.
They should satisfy some who have insisted that the proposed hospital is too large. After the doctors should know how many hospital accommodations are needed here, and being taxpayers themselves with their own future
in mind, they should be more than satisfied.

The Mysterious Mr. "They"

Ever since the campaign for the City Commission got under way with the announcement of James H. Gut for the post now occupied by W. R. DuPre, we have been hearing a good deal about a mysterious personage called "They."

We have no idea who this "They" is, but he first made his appearance upon our horizon when a friend of ours walked into the office and said, "They tell me Al Lee isn't going to run."

We next made the acquaintance of the inexplicable
"they" when one of our scouts brought back the startling information that "They" are planning to run three candidates in each group so as to be sure of getting one of them elected.

Then we heard that "They" held a meeting the other night and decided that none of the candidates already in one of the groups would do at all and that at least one more candidate would have to be brought out.

By this time the significance of "They" in the campaign was assuming proportions entirely out of keeping with the needs of the hour. "They" apparently had completely lost their sense of balance and were about to draft the entire community.

Whereupon the savage truth came out that "They"
were lining up the Townsend vote for one of the candidates, while another one told us in all seriousness that "They"
were planning to bring negroes to the polls in automobiles in order to defeat him.

At a late hour this afternoon "They" were telling one of the candidates that he was sure to be elected, while in another ward it was reported that "They" had decided to give up the fight and let nature take its course.

Now what we would like to know is who is this man
"they" anyway and where does he get all his dope. We have a hunch that when the votes are counted and congratulations are in order "They" will be one of the first ones to go home to bed where he will probably remain in complete seclusion until another city election.

Then "They" will probably be trotted out again to name the winners and decide the fate of our city.

Storm Tossed Trees

One of the saddest features of the New England hurricane, as described by the New York Times, was the destruction of age-old giant trees, flowering plants and shrubs. Florida, with its luxuriant vegetation and its trees made to withstand the ravages of wind, can recover from the scars of a storm in no time at all, but in the East conditions are different and the face of the countryside there will long carry the marks of the recent hurricane.

"Any one who travels through the countryside these days knows that among the victims hardest hit by last month's hurricane were our trees," writes the Times. "On many a historic New England campus, famous for its oaks, giant trunks which already are venerable half a century ago have been strewn like matchwood. Huge oaks on Long Island, whole rows of orchard trees in their prime of bearing in the Hudson Valley, ancient pines and maples and poplars in the whole devastated area are gone from their accustomed places. The slowly ripening beauty of the years which makes of a fine tree one of the noblest works of nature has been laid low in the twinkling of an eye."

"But it is not only the mature and majestic trees which have lent their incomparable beauty to many a city and village of the stricken region that are gone. On the long reach of coast where the fury of the gale and the tides carried sail' water inland far beyond its accustomed bounds, thousands of home grounds have been ruined. Ornamental overgreens and flowering shrubs, carefully nurtured perennials, and fine turf, built up by years of patient effort, have been ruined by the ravaging sea. The loving work of years is all to do over again, and even a generation will not suffice to obliterate the scars of the September hurricane. Fortunately, we are a resilient people. Fortunately, too, we are in mourning measure appreciative of the value of growing things. With patience and a high heart, the esthetic damage of the storm will one day be repaired."

Cannon War Waged By Appointment Only

SIMLA, India, Oct. 18.—(AP)— A "one-cannon" war is about to start on the Northwest Frontier between the Khan of Khar and the Khan of Nawagl.

It is an annual affair, carefully staged, and both parties agree on time and place.

The war is "adjourned" if they have more serious business
to attend to such as the harvest.
The only cannon for hire in the region belongs to the Hal-malik Maliks. The side able to exert the greater influence on the Maliks acquires its use.

This year the Khan of Na-
wagl got the cannon.
War has not started yet, but the Khan has fired a few practice shots at the Towner, built by the Khan of Khar; one of the causes of disagreement between the two Khans.

mals, the bear, jumping mouse,

coon, and some bats hibernate

Though he is "the accredited messenger of the sacred masters," and head of the "1 A.M." cult which has been drawing great crowds in Chicago, Guy W. He paid neither interest nor principal, Miss Inglish said.

No matter how hard he argues, the driver of the truck in the above picture won't convince a judge he wasn't traveling 60 miles an hour on a 30-mile speed limit highway. A camera on the windshield of the car following the truck photographed simultaneously the truck, a speedometer (registering 60 miles an hour) attached to the left front fender of the trailing auto, and the 30-mile speed limit sign. It's a new device in the war on speeders exhibited at the National Safety Council Congress in Chicago.

Fed Eleven To Work After Layoff Of One Day

By JULIAN STENSTROM
Federal Sports Writer
Head Coach Leonard I. McCloskey and his 11 players of the Seminole High football team will resume their grueling workouts this afternoon at the high school field after a layoff of a day following the tilt with Daytona Beach which the Feds dropped by a 14 to 7 count.
The McCloskey machine will no doubt work hard on their blocking today and also drill on the plays the Feds use which apparently many of the players do not know.
The Feds offense crumbled Monday night and the middle of the Fed line was the weakest spot as the Buccaneers played right through that section for many gains which were most of their 14 first downs.
The Feds probably will work on both offense and defense to a certain extent although they have a heavier game Friday night with the Bulldogs of the DeLand High School.
However, the Feds are not taking the DeLand game too light. The "Who was" was the "Who was" in the conference.
DeLand fed money on its past week's game. Many of the Bulldogs to have a well-deserved rest. Many of the Bulldogs have always given the Seminole boys a hard time. The Feds, although that team is to it.
The tilt will start at 7 o'clock on the high school field. It is expected that DeLand High School's 25-year-old coach will accompany the team to Sanford to offer entertainment at the game along with the Seminole High School Band and the Seminole High School cheerleaders.
The head coach of the Feds, Leonard I. McCloskey, is a former All-American. He has not announced whether he will be a coach again, but he has a chance to be a coach before the coming season if he does not go to DeLand.

THE GREAT WALTZ

BEATRICE FABER

Byronne: In 1945, young John Byronne, called Schani by his friends, decided to follow his free calling by composing music. There are hundreds of songs he has written, but only a few are considered serious music. Schani, however, organizes his orchestra and becomes moderately successful. He meets Charlie Donner, a famous soprano who turns against her when she perceives his music as a reception. He and Foidi, his childhood sweetheart, are married and settled down contentedly. One day though, stirred by the rising revolution, Schani composed a march which sets into the rebellion. He organizes and marches her, getting into a fight with her "protector" Count Hohenlohe, and an unknown young officer. Then, through a mishap, he and Charlie are arrested. They escape from the guards and find refuge in a deserted hallway.

Chapter Six

Now the horse's hooves were falling into the distance. The Vienna had missed them by inches. "We must get to a safer place," Schani muttered.

"We place is safe with you," she returned exasperatedly. "I want to go home."

"Where do you live?"

"I won't tell you," she retorted. "I'm not taking any chances."

Schani's patience had worn thin. "Madame, if you're a man, reveal me a kindness, I am that man."

"You? Kind? She stamped her foot with indignation. They both tensed, hearing a fiacre driving along the street.

Schani peered out. "Past. Coachman. Are you engaged?"

The Vienna woods were alive with melody.

"A man has to sleep sometime," the woman's face lighted up as he smiled. "I heard you were a man, but that was different. There was always a place for romance in his marriage. How long have you two been together?"

"I have heard there has been a revolution?"

Charlie sighed and sank back. "Vaguely. Hysterical Number Eight."

"He shook his head. "I guess you haven't heard the barricade story. Schani now gave his address but again the coachman shook his head. "How long have you two been in there? That's barricaded, isn't it?"

Charlie jerked forward impatiently. "Is there any place in Vienna you can go — except around this way?"

She scratched his chin meditatively. "There are always the Vienna woods." With a sigh she looked at Schani. "A lovely ride."

"Will you decide Madame?"

Schani asked with polite sarcasm. "Her voice was just a shade shriller. "Frankly, I don't care. I don't care whether I am or where I go or whether the sun goes up or down or whether I live or die. I just don't care."

"The Vienna Woods," Schani directed.

"The Vienna Woods," the coachman sang out and smiled. "Schani and I are both. Giddyap, then. They started off."

Comfortable and warm beneath their robes they both fell asleep. Toward dawn, Schani opened his eyes. Charlie's smooth wakened him. "The gray of dawn lifted and it was morning, clear, bright and sunny. The birds were trilling and everything had come to life, rejoicing in the new day."

"Was the smiling horse stooped and the coachman awoke with a start. Then, smiling at Schani and Charlie, he nudged close to each other, he began to take off the top of the carriage."

"They awakened at the same moment and with the realization that they were in each other's arms. They looked at each other, smiling. "Where are we?"

"Where you wanted to be — in the Vienna woods. And it's only six o'clock in the morning. You have had a long and beautiful day ahead of you."

"She rolled her beautiful eyes back at him. "The red lips."

"Ames," Schani said automatically, and was aware of a curious mixture of feelings within him. Way back in his mind there was a picture of a woman with a sort of worried, wondering what had happened to him. Yet there were other things that made him want to capture that made him want to dance and sing. Those Vienna woods were stirring melodies in his mind. He was able to hear. "Giddyap then," the driver called and they were off again.

Charges Of Farm Program Collapse Bring Reactions

farm purposes for the needy and added that cost of such a program would be small compared with the billions of dollars spent upon armaments, actual losses farmers now are suffering because of reduced prices, or the cost upon future generations of taxes to provide for the under-look.

Senator Logan (D-Ky.), administration supporter, said previous difficulties with the farm program resulted from some of the "largest crops that have ever been raised."

"Farm incomes have just about been doubled by Mr. Wallace's program, and that counts with the farmers," the Kentucky senator said. "The Republicans had plenty of chances to aid the farmers in the past. Everybody knows what they did."

Senator Donahay (D-Ill.), said he was confident that farmers in Ohio and elsewhere "will listen to Hamilton and then do their own thinking for themselves."

Lee Oppenhe Control Plan

Sen. Lee (D-Okl.), usually an administration supporter, took a different view. "We are going to have to do away with this compulsory production control," he said. "I predicted that on the Senate floor last Spring."

Lee advocated a system under which the government would guarantee farmers a certain percentage of the price of their crops produced for domestic use. The remainder would be sold abroad at world prices.

Assistants to Secretary Wallace, who now is in the corn and wheat belt stamping under auspices of the domestic congressional committee, disputed Hamilton's attack on farm imports. They said history showed such imports were largest when farmers in this country were most prosperous.

Meanwhile many farmers are considering whether to default on farm loans the government has advanced them. If large numbers decide that it is to their advantage to default and turn the loan over to the government, it will make the government the largest owner of corn in the world.

Loan prices recently have averaged well below the government loan offer of 57 cents, a lashed Department of Agriculture official said. That about 12,000,000 bushels of corn from previous crops now are under government loan.

The department's records indicated that cotton prices this season had averaged near or slightly below the loan rate of 8.25 cents a pound. The government now has about 7,500,000 bales of cotton under loan. The bulk of these loans were made in previous years; 5,400,000 bales being under nine cent loans and 1,600,000 bales under 12-cent loans.

Wheat prices have averaged above and then below the government loan rate this season of 60 cents a bushel. Wheat prices were stimulated for a time by the European crisis. There was no wheat loan before this year.

Nazi's Philippine Activities Cause Speculation In U.S.

Germany Believed To Be Eyeing Outlets In Orient As Well As South America

Hitler's Peace Price Too High

France Must Give Back Colonies In Return For German Accord

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Guarded German inquiries of commercial prospects in the Philippines caused official speculation today whether the Hitler regime was eyeing the Far East as well as South America as a trade outlet.

The most recent inquiry made by a business man in Manila in Nazi trade contacts caused government officials concerned with Far Eastern affairs to scan commercial reports.

They learned that Germany, along with Japan and Italy, shared last year in the increased trade with the Philippines despite the islands' free trade ties with the United States.

Germany is building a second new ship for the Philippine government and has increased its shipping lines with the island.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Chancellor Hitler's reported price for a guaranty of Franco-German peace appeared too high to France yesterday.

In preliminary conversations Germany was said to have offered to guarantee French frontiers against attack if France would return Togo and the Cameroons, pre-war German colonies in West Africa; if France would recognize that Germany should have numerical superiority in war planes and if France would assure Germany a free hand in central and eastern Europe and renounce the Franco-Russian mutual assistance pact.

The possibility remained, however, that sufficient common desire existed on that kind of an agreement might be reached. English leaders have been described as urging the French to seek something parallel to the Anglo-German friendship pact initiated at Munich.

Almed at Italy.

In the willingness of both France and Germany to explore possibilities of a non-aggression pact some arid observers professed to see a diplomatic game aimed at Italy—a warning by France that Italy should confine itself to the Mediterranean and a hint by Germany that unless Italy abandoned its support for Hungarian claims Germany could find a powerful friend in France.

Premier Daladier's friends hoped an agreement with Germany would improve his domestic position. He had conversations with the Soviet ambassador, Jacob Suris, presumably as to what effect a Franco-German agreement would have on Franco-Soviet relations.

In a drive against spies the French government forbade foreigners to settle in the Paris region without special authorization. Resident foreigners and tourists are exempt.

Ash Appointed City Director Of Recreation

Highly Recommended Supervisor Selected By C. O. C.

Gerald L. Ash of the Works Progress Administration staff in Jacksonville was yesterday appointed recreation director for the City of Sanford, according to announcement this morning by W. R. McCracken, chairman of the Recreation Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, through which group the city's recreational program will be supervised.

The new director, who is being provided by the Recreation Division of WPA with a salary of $1,000 a year, will be in the Chamber of Commerce building.

Mr. Ash came to Sanford with the highest recommendations, and his appointment was made from a group of applicants trained and experienced in recreational work, after careful consideration by the Chamber of Commerce.

A native of Lansing, Mich., Mr. Ash attended Springfield College at Springfield, Mass., and Battle Creek College at Battle Creek, Mich., graduating from the latter with a degree in Social Science and Physical Education.

Upon graduation from college in 1911, Mr. Ash joined the staff of the National Committee of Y. M. C. A. with headquarters in New York City, and was with this national organization for 12 years as traveling organizer and director in different cities throughout the United States. During this period he assisted in organizing the Y. M. C. A. at Miami and became well acquainted with Florida.

Leaving Y. M. C. A. work Mr. Ash was for four years water sports director in the Bahamas. He was in summer sports director at Chautauque, Mich. In 1911, he joined the faculty of the Cranbrook Foundation School in Detroit and remained in this position until 1934 when he became affiliated with the Florida Emergency Relief Administration and later the Works Progress Administration.

Unemployment Is Cut By Business Upturn

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—A leading government economist estimated today that business improvement since June has reduced unemployment by 1,000,000 men and women.

The economist, who declined to be quoted by name but whose figures are relied on by several agencies, figured there were 10,250,000 persons out of work in June and about 9,250,000 now.

On that basis, about one-fourth of persons who lost jobs in the recession have been re-employed. While unemployment has been shrinking, WPA payrolls have been rising. The lists went up from 2,800,000 at the beginning to about 3,120,000 now—a new record.

Communists Seek To Rule Or Ruin All Labor Unions

House Committee Told "Reds" Engineered Michigan Strikes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—James Mitchell of Detroit, formerly in charge of the welfare activities of the local union of the United Automobile Workers, (UAW), told House investigators today that communists apparently "have a lot of influence on John L. Lewis."

Testifying before the committee investigating un-American activities, he said communists had "engineered" the sit-down strike in a Detroit plant of the Murray Body Works in 1936 and 1937.

Earlier, the committee heard that communists had tried to control a union, and if they failed, to destroy it. The "rule or ruin" testimony came from Melvin Kells of Detroit, who said he worked with an Americanization committee of American Legion in uncovering subversive activities.

"They wanted to create a struggle among workers and to sell the union out," he added, explaining "they" were leaders of the trade union league in Michigan automobile manufacturing area.

Before testimony began, Chairman Dies (D-Text) said he was calling on the Labor Department for a list of deportation cases now pending to find out "what is preventing deportation of Communist aliens."

The resolution, a motion of the commissioners removed one of the conditions upon which the grant of the bond issue was contingent. The resolution was passed at a meeting of the County Board in the County Board Room yesterday.
