

Bitter War Looms In Congress Over Trade Agreements

By HERMAN ALLEN
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—One of the bitterest fights coming up in the new Congress is sure to be over the proposal to renew the reciprocal trade pact the United States has signed with 26 nations.

The authority, first granted in 1934, and renewed in 1937 and 1940, now must be granted again for another three years if Secretary of State Hull is to continue planning the world-wide commercial web which he began in the hope that it would keep the world at peace.

As a building block in history, the pact fits into the traditional Democratic party principle of low tariffs. The party in the past drew its greatest membership from the agricultural South. The South shipped its cotton, principally, to England. There it was made into cloth, some of which came back to this country. England sent many other varieties of manufactured goods here. The South, which bought these goods, naturally didn't want them to be subjected to a tariff which would raise the price in the store.

The industrial North, in the main, was represented by the Republican party. The North, which also manufactured cotton goods, wanted a tariff on British cotton goods so that it could compete more favorably. It wanted a tariff on all manufactured imports, in fact.

In 1934, as is well known—and right up to this term of Congress—there weren't very many Republicans on Capitol Hill. So Secretary Hull's proposals found a ready welcome. At present the pact covers some 60 percent of America's normal foreign trade.

Here's how reciprocal trade agreements are set up:

U. S. representatives approach those of the other country and tell them, in effect, "Look, we'll reduce a few tariffs or throw them out entirely, and you reduce a few. That way, our people can get your goods cheaper and yours can get our goods cheaper."

So they wade through heaps of import and export figures and come out with a list of tariff cuts in the case of the treaties with Canada and the United Kingdom there were hundreds of individual items.

Then and this is a most important part of the bill, the U. S. representatives insist on this provision that both countries share the privilege of the reduced tariffs with any other country not discriminating commercially against them. This is called the "most favored nation" policy. Before the war, Germany was the only country with which the U. S. refused to sign a reciprocal agreement. The Nazis insisted on "bilateral" agreements under which commerce between the two countries would balance. This was their famous barter system, under which Czechoslovakia got aspirin tablets in return for machine guns.

Opposition to the pact since 1934 has not stuck, particularly to party lines, but rather has reflected sectional and industrial interests. Dairy farmers, for instance, have assailed the Canadian agreement because it permits Canadian dairy products to enter the country at lower tariffs. Western copper miners have written their Congressmen denouncing the agreement with Chile, a big copper producer. Manganese producers tagged the Brazilian agreement "a $2,500,000 gift to the steel industry."

To all critics Secretary Hull's steadfast reply has been that cut-throat commercial competition leads to economic feuds, eventually to war.

LONGWOOD

By MRS. J. H. MENICK

A very successful Carnival was put on by the Lyman Junior Class at the Longwood Hotel Friday night to raise funds for the Senior banquet. Twenty-five dollars in war stamps were sold and $32.00 were cleared for the fund. There were many attractions including bingo games, fish pond, and refreshments. There was a grand march and dancing. Members of the class had charge of arrangements assisted by members of the local P. T. A.

An interesting meeting of the Christ Church Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. George Bridge on Thursday when many aid for good works were arranged and reports of similar deeds were given. At the close of the session refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Present were Mrs. Emma Abbott Lyman, Miss Mary Knowlton, Miss Mary Robertson, Mrs. Alice Wadsworth, Miss Douglas Boswick, Mrs. Emma Buchanan, Mrs. Charles Nikola, Mrs. Charles Walker, Mrs. Frances Bennett, Mrs. J. H. Menick and a guest from Buffalo, N. Y.

The Red Cross Sewing unit met at the library all day Thursday. Ensign Naburn Milwee and Mrs. Milwee have returned from Boston and left for his next station in Gulfport, Miss. They were guests of Mrs. Hallie La Vigne over the week-end.

Mrs. Fernie Starr and baby Stanley have returned from the land and she has again taken up her position as teacher of Home Demonstration at Lyman School.

F. W. Metzke, secretary of the Kennel Club, with his family has gone to spend a few weeks in Tampa.

The Pinocchio Club met with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harris on Saturday night for the weekly games. The Home Demonstration Club will meet on the evening of Feb. 4 at the library, preceded by a County Council meeting. Mrs. Wikson will give another lesson on nutrition.

Stax Is Hard Hit In Raid By U.S. Air Force

Gen. Giraud Conveys Little Prospect Of One United French Nation At Present

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—In two furious days of fighting in the Solomon Islands, the Navy reported today, American forces damaged two Japanese cargo ships, two destroyers and a tanker, destroyed ten enemy planes and killed 26 Japanese troops in operations which resulted in the capture of an enemy command post on Guadalcanal.

(By Associated Press) Stax, a vital Axis supply port in Tunisia, was officially declared to have been hard hit by the 12th U. S. Air Force's greatest raid of the war while Britain's artillerymen duelled with Marshal Rommel's rear guard in the Zuzara area, 35 miles east of the Tunisian frontier.

The Axis betrayed the flimsy by radio suggestions that the British first army had started a big move in the Tunisia theater. These followed unconfirmed reports that American ground forces had launched a great offensive.

But Allied headquarters reported no change in the ground situation, where earlier Rommel's escape corridor was reported impaled by an American thrust only 33 miles from the Gulf of Col. Gen. Jürgen Von Arnim.

General Henri Giraud told a press conference there were no prospects of a single united French movement at present and the only agreement between himself and General Charles de Gaulle would be one of liaison on military, economic and financial matters.

The American thrust, which aimed at the capture of the coast between the two troops in a position to sever the connection between Rommel to the south and the Axis forces of Col. Gen. Jürgen Von Arnim around Tunis and Bizerte to the north.

The radio broadcast said the enemy troops retreated to the north and a number of them were captured.

Maknassy was the scene of an American raid early this week when the Americans answered a German dare to "come out and fight" and captured 80 prisoners. At Maknassy the Americans were separated by only about 200 miles from the British in Tripoli.

The Ankara radio said, meanwhile, that the Axis was evacuating the port of Zuzara, 70 miles west of Tripoli.

Finland, Tired Of War, Is Considering Peace

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 29. —Finland, exhausted from two wars only 18 months apart, is carefully sounding out the possibilities of a protective pact with Sweden, pending that minor re-orientation of her policy would almost certainly involve German economic and military reprisals, diplomatic quarters reported last night.

Finland newspapers were reported strongly urging Sweden to discuss what steps the adjoining Scandinavian state is willing or able to give.

Compulsory Labor Is Decreed In Germany

LONDON, Jan. 29. (AP)—A drastic new German law instituting compulsory labor service for all German men from 16 to 65 and all women from 17 to 44 was announced by the German radio yesterday with stress upon that the compulsory labor will be applied to all.

The announcement was made after days of anti-peace propaganda involving German economic and military reprisals, diplomatic quarters reported last night.

Bramley Suggests Knotching Mann's Suspenders On Question Of Seining, Letting Chips Fall Where They Will

Surprising that the "suspenders" be applied by Representative L. B. Mann to the question of seining in the St. Johns River today, today voiced his opposition to the proposed in an open letter to The Herald.

"I would suggest," Mr. Bramley writes, "that Mr. Mann buy himself one pair of real suspenders and wear them for the next month while on the street, and let everyone interested in this matter register with him. Let him cut a small notch in each suspender for each vote for or against this subject and the one that breaks first for him, to give the side full support in this matter."

Mr. Bramley's comments in full on this subject are as follows:

"In response to Mr. L. B. Mann's desire for public opinion upon the reopening of the St. Johns River to seining, I have noticed one open reply in your paper to seining but to date have failed to see one against opening. I do not earnestly believe that this is the majority opinion upon this subject, and thereby wish to have one open opinion against the opening of seining in the St. Johns River.

"This matter has been up very many times and has finally been settled to the best advantage, and the will of the people, but now it has popped up again for the opening of seining. Again the same old story that the fish needing to be pulled out from the good fish Mother Nature has been very good along this line and I believe does not need the help of the seining to help her. If the beds and spawning grounds are left undisturbed by these seines we will continue to have good fishing.

"However I would agree to opening the seining if I believed that the following were absolutely necessary:

"1. — That we absolutely need the food from such seining to continue the Bear Hunt."

Blanding To Be Induction Center For All Services

44 Out Of Every 54 Will Go To Army; Only Ten To Others

CAMP BLANDING, Jan. 29. —Effective Feb. 1, an armed services induction center will be established here for the distribution of all Florida draftees into the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Maj. Joseph I. Laird, commanding officer of the center, announced yesterday.

Under the new plan, Major Laird continued, all men drafted will be distributed on a percentage basis. Of every 54 men accepted in February he said, 44 will be assigned to the Army for every 10 to the Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard.

Of the 10 for the maritime services, two will go to the Marines. The Coast Guard quota has not yet been set.

The 44-10 proportion will be observed among white only, the officer continued. The proportion among the negroes will be about 10 to 1, he added.

Men will be classified by a board of non-commissioned officers representing the Army, Navy and Marine Corps. Inductees will be permanently assigned by a commissioned officer of the Army and Navy.

Consideration possible will be given inductees expressed preference, it was asserted.

Army selections will be inducted on the Marine will be sent to Jacksonville for transfer to naval training stations, while those chosen for the Navy will be sent to State Marine headquarters at Orlando for further transfer.

In charge of the Navy program is Capt. J. J. Johnson, Jr., of Jacksonville, while Maj. A. F. Robbins or Orlando directs the Marine recruiting program.

Both will maintain their present headquarters in their respective cities.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, The demand for manpower in War Industries in Florida, and the nation has not been adequately met and will increase to the extent that six million additional workers will be needed this year throughout the country, and

WHEREAS, Training facilities are available in fifteen strategically located centers in Florida, with a capacity of 5,000 in training at each period, which facilities are not being utilized to the full, although instruction, supported by federal appropriation, is available without tuition, and

WHEREAS, Victory depends upon maximum use of all facilities, and manpower;

NOW THEREFORE, I, SPESARD L. HOLLAND, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor of the State of Florida, proclaim the period from February 1, 1943, through February 28, 1943, as WAR PRODUCTION TRAINING WEEK, and urge all our citizens, both men and women, to visit the nearest training center operating under the Florida State Department of Education Vocational Training Program for War Production Workers to acquaint themselves with the facilities, and I further urge all those able to do so, to take advantage of the training opportunities offered in order that we may maintain the flow of war materials from the Arsenal of Democracy.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and Great Seal of the State of Florida at Tallahassee, the Capital, on the 18th day of January, A. D. 1943.

Inspection Held Of Defense Force By Colonel Vestil

Company C Will Have Practice With Guns At Lakefront Range

An inspection of Company C of the Florida Defense Force was conducted last evening at the Army by Col. E. D. Vestil, State Inspector. The drill was well attended by members of the Company. It was reported by Hyrd J. Gosse, supply sergeant, for which Capt. Galloway and his staff were congratulated by Col. Vestil.

The Company was also praised by Col. Vestil for precision and excellence in drill, as well as the fine condition of their equipment. The drill practice was conducted by Army veteran Marine sergeants from the Sanford Naval Air Station, First Sgt. Fred Tanner and Sgt. B. Jackson.

"These men are certainly helping our unit in the manner of arms, close order drill and other formations," said Sgt. Gosse, "and each member feels grateful to them for giving up their spare time while off duty to help us in this way."

"We have been supplied with a good quota of ammunition for actual practice with both machine guns and shot guns," added Sgt. Gosse, "and hope every member can attend the practice Sunday afternoon at the Bemoline Club Range on the Lake front, east of the Hotel Mayfair. The practice will last from 2:00 until 6:00 o'clock."

There are several vacancies for recruits, good reliable men between the ages of 18 and 30," he stated, "who can spare several hours a week for drills and exercises."

Public Is Invited To Visit Training School

An invitation to the public and civic organizations to visit the Seminole County School for War Production Workers, the main plant of which is at Birch Street and French Avenue, was today extended to the public by Alex. R. Johnson, school director. The radio school is at the Army.

The period of Feb. 1 through Feb. 7, having been designated by Governor Holland as "War Production Training Week," is especially designed that individuals, civic organizations visit the training school, and see the various groups at work at welding, woodworking, etc." Mr. Johnson stated.

Major Dighton Is Sent To Northwest

Samuel R. Dighton, former Central Florida attorney, now a major in the United States Army, is stationed "somewhere in the Far Northwest," W. M. Scott of the American Fruit Growers, revealed today following receipt of a letter from Major Dighton.

Giving his present address as "Northwest Division, Engineers, A. P. O. 722, c/o Postmaster, Seattle, Wash.," Major Dighton wrote, "I am very much pleased with my assignment and duties which are very interesting indeed."

Major Dighton also said that the men are well protected from the cold with hooded parkas and fur boots and are comparatively comfortable though they look like Eskimos.

Care is given throughout the world to these men and they are given the best of food and clothing. It is a privilege to be in the company of these men.

Britain Made Impregnable By Lend Lease

Stettinius Asks For Continuance Of Aid Program At Least Until July, 1944

WASHINGTON, — American lend-lease aid has made the British Isles "an impregnable base for offensive operations," Administrator Stettinius told the House Foreign Affairs Committee today.

He asked the continuance of lend-lease aid until July 1944. The passage of legislation to extend the act appeared certain, but there were demands for a detailed accounting of how the program is being carried out.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—The loss of tax revenue to states and cities through federal acquisition of large areas of land for military purposes is creating an acute situation, Chairman Peterson (D Fla.) of the House Public Lands Committee declared today.

The statement came as the committee prepares to consider a bill requiring the federal payment of taxes on such property. Undersecretary of War Patterson is already on record as opposed to such action on the grounds that payment of such taxes would add to the cost of war and would create an administrative problem.

Confronted by widespread public insistence on a more "painless" method of collecting war-time income taxes, Congress has formally set out to devise a pay-as-you-go system.

The House Ways and Means Committee called public hearings to begin next Tuesday on current collection plans, separating this subject from general tax problems.

Meanwhile, forces were marshaling for and against the plan offered by Boardley Ruml, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. He suggested that all 1943 tax payments be advanced and that this year's payments be applied to this year's taxes.

There are no more tourists, but if some of the pay war travelers could drop off for a day, they'd be plenty surprised.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—A bill to subject labor unions to the 1934 Federal anti-racketeering law was reported to the House yesterday by the Judiciary Committee.

Its sponsors privately described it as a "trial balloon" in test the sentiment of Congress on legislation. One opponent, who could not be quoted by name, predicted that if it passed, it will be followed by other bills requiring unions to file annual financial statements and to conduct strike votes by secret ballot of the entire membership.

In identical racketeering bill was approved by the Judicial Committee last year, but was sidetracked by the rules committee. It would outlaw legitimate activities.

The 1934 act, aimed at gangsters and underworld racketeers, makes robbery or extortion in interstate commerce a Federal offense but specifically exempts legitimate labor disputes from its coverage. This exemption was held by the Supreme Court to favor the case of union truck drivers in New York City who allegedly halted trucks entering the city from out of the State and by intimidation compelled the truckers to hire a New York union driver to pay via the Representative Hobbs (D Ala.) sponsor of the measure reported today denied that it was aimed at organized labor.

CITY BRIEFS

Prices will be awarded Saturday morning to boys who have built the best bird houses for martins and for wrens (feeding station included). Mrs. Harry Hosen contest chairman of the Sanford Garden Club, stated today. The contest will be held at 10:00 o'clock. Boys will have some of the bird houses for sale.

Rev. Joe Tolle, pastor of the Methodist Church, will be the principal speaker at the Rotary luncheon Monday at the Mayfair Hotel.

Mann And McBride Named Asst. Cashiers

At a meeting of the directors of the Sanford Atlantic National Bank on Thursday, J. L. Ingley was elected executive vice president and cashier of the bank and Ray P. Mann and D. C. McBride were elected assistant cashiers.

"These two young men have been with the bank for a number of years, are both Sanford boys and it is with pleasure that the Directors of the bank announce their promotion, which they feel sure will be of interest to their many friends in the community," officials of the bank stated today.

Letter From Townsend To Roosevelt Is Read At Meeting Of Local Club

A letter from Dr. Francis P. Townsend to President Franklin D. Roosevelt advocating a new bill in Congress providing for a "guaranteed annual income" for all Americans was read at a meeting last night of the Townsend Club held at the Court House.

W. E. Hughey presided over the meeting in the absence of President P. H. Ingley who was unable to attend on account of the transportation problem. It was decided that in the future meetings would be held every other Thursday, instead of every Thursday as in the past.

Extracts from Dr. Townsend's letter were as follows:

"We are convinced by our accomplishments in this war that we can do even better for our people in peace time by insuring them a steadily increasing prosperity. We have given millions of Americans will bless you for your utterances this day."

Mac Tells It

That last communication from Gen. Douglas MacArthur, hero of Bataan and now Allied commander in the Southwest Pacific, was certainly a humdinger, both militarily and linguistically. He had great news to report, of victories in the New Guinea sector and "general cleaning up of that area—and goah, how he told it! The General's language is as grand as his strategy.

The outstanding military lesson of this campaign," he reports, "was the continuous, calculated application of air power inherent in the potentialities of every component of the air forces, employed in the most intimate tactical and logistical union with ground troops." When the non-military reader has digested that, he may be ready to swallow the elucidation that "the affect of this modern instrumentality was sharply accentuated by the geographical limitations of this theater," and so on.

But farther along, the ordinary reader begins to see day light. The General and his stout-hearted troops have licked the tar out of those tough Japs, killed 15,000 of them and made a grand start toward the cleansing of the Pacific. And since "God moves in a mysterious way, his wonders to perform," it may be that the imperturbable and polysyllabic General did it with his vocabulary as much as anything.

So let the logistics fall where they may. In the scintillating lexicon of MacArthur there is no such word as fail. He wouldn't stoop to use a word that short. On with the war! And damned be he who first cries that the achievement thus far is adequate for the exigencies of this cataclysmic era.

Lost And Found

People lose too many things on trains. They dash off leaving false teeth, umbrellas, suitcases, jewelry, babies, thousand dollar bills, books, rubbers, cameras, sweaters, scarves, hunting boots and sleeping little boys.

Things are collected in great quantity by railway offices, held for ninety days, and if not claimed, given to the finder if valuable, otherwise destroyed. Children are usually collected within an hour.

If you've left something behind, say the officials, don't assume it's gone forever. Call the railway office. If they've got it, and the chances are that they have, it is safe and you can reclaim it. Most people travelling on trains are honest, and even if they weren't, they are usually too busy keeping track of their own things—or losing them—to bother about anybody else's belongings.

One of the entertaining points about such losses is the great number of single gloves left in banks and postoffices. People lay down the right glove to endorse a check or open a letter, and then rush off on the next errand. They come right back for their car keys when they have laid them down, but they forget where the glove passed out of the picture. The bank probably has it.

Don't despair. Everything is somewhere. But hang on next time.

World Fires

"Behold, how great a flame a little fire kindleth." A brilliant fanatic lighted the fire that swept over Europe and western Asia and northern Africa and eventually leaped across the Atlantic to bring America into the holocaust. It meant the death of tens of millions of men by war, famine and pestilence, and the destruction of hundreds of billions of dollars' worth of property. It even leaped the vast Pacific, a war belt around the world. And despite the vast efforts of the armies that are the firemen of civilization, it may still take years of struggle to stamp out the flames.

If all this could only have been foreseen, and counteracted when Hitler was making his wild speeches on the great corners of Berlin, what a vast deal of destruction, poverty, war and loss of human goods might have been saved for "the poor, the meek and the lowly." Will the tragic lessons be learned and remembered? And when peace is restored to the world, will civilized men be alert for such human conflagrations and quench the international fires at the start, as we do with the local fires in our cities and towns? Shall we have alert scouts to watch for them, and adequate fire departments to put them out before they get beyond control?

Horse Problem

What is a racing stable to do with its horses when the tracks have closed, perhaps for the duration? That is the horse problem facing the Florida owners of thoroughbreds, now that transportation is around the knell of the famous Florida races. It costs five dollars a day to support a thoroughbred in the stable to which he is accustomed. And it seems like profanation to turn a fine racing horse over to commercial use.

Racing is only one sport whose immediate future is highly uncertain. Even that solid American institution, baseball, is suffering.

WHAT ABOUT YOUR SOLDIER?

By MRS. ELLIOTT HOUSSOLDER

What, everybody, how do you come right along with you and your soldier? He's your soldier, isn't he?

Let's see, how do you want to know about your soldier? Well, we know they're all in the Army. We know they'll make you proud in the water and put it in your mouth—well, your heart is in it.

Well, everybody, how do you come right along with you and your soldier? He's your soldier, isn't he?

WINNING SAFE VICTORY

And no one can know when he goes to sleep. What his heart has in store for tomorrow. But, oh, dear boys, we hope it will be happiness for you! And with that little thought in mind, here, too, is our little prayer. As always, our God Bless You!

the Golden Rule. And that is the Rule by which we pray the world may live some day.

That is the Rule for which you soldiers are fighting, and fight we must, until that rule is established.

In the meantime, Americans here at home, let us all try to live up to it! Through kindness to each other, we can do much.

Hey! Jimmy Page, where are you? Several people want to find out. How about an address and how about Wayne? Can anyone tell us this news? We have had several requests and would like to give a little story if we can get it. We understand that Wayne is in Africa with the Rangers. Oh, boy! Do you get big game hunting?

And guess what! From Roswell, New Mexico, comes word that Bob Wilkinson has just received his commission and his wings!

Good going, you old 21-year-old boy! We're proud of you. You've done a grand job to come out of High School and hold your own against any of them, as we know you must have done.

This word was received from Bob on Jan. 22, so we feel sure we'll have a new address to release soon.

And further, let us say that he has our heart with him in all that he wishes to do. We only wish we could say more, but you just wait!

A mother, alarmed by the commotion in her living room, rushed in and saw what might be wrong. There were her two little girls, about three and four, standing in front of the new picture of their mother's mother, smiling and waving.

Upon determined inquiry, the older child finger herself against her mother, sobbing, "Oh, Mommy, some day we'll have to grow up and have whiskers!"

Garden Club Notes

"VICTORY GARDENS"
Mrs. J. C. Bill, Jr. Chairman of the Garden Committee of the County Council for Defense.

When the Allied scouts in a submarine stole ashore to negotiate with Darlan in getting North Africa to join with the Allies do you not imagine that the promise of $200,000,000 in food from America carried weight in North Africa had been stripped of food stuffs by the German and Italian forces. Many of us are deeply concerned about the Peace. We want it to be a lasting peace established with intelligence and wisdom. Many nations will not join us unless we think by planning ahead, we can promise food, medical supplies, clothing we need, powerful arguments to win people to our ideas.

"Food will win the war, and food will catch the peace" is not just a catch phrase. Dorothy Thompson to the contrary. It is another way of saying that "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach". Mr. Hoover, who is an expert on foods, says that we will have to feed the world. To do that we must release our export huge amounts of canned vegetables and meats. Every time you use a mess of green instead of opening a can of vegetables you release food to be shipped abroad. This is why the Sanford Garden Club, the Sanford Women's Club, the Home Demonstration Clubs urge Victory Gardens.

Note that a Victory Garden is a special kind of garden. It is something to eat and a lift toward Victory. To get that you must have good planning, a real analysis of your own capacity. Don't undertake too much for your strength or waste money preparing soil that is unsuitable or waste seed. Prepare to dust or spray for aphids, roller worms, cabbage worms. Block System

By MRS. JAMES MOUNTAIN

To instruct and acquaint all persons in every home in Sanford in the use of the point rationing books to be issued later, is the "major project" of the block leader service. To facilitate the least amount of energy and to get an all-over coverage of the city a fair amount of streamlining has been done in order that various disseminated information from time to time be discharged.

The city has been divided into four sections, seven zones and many blocks. The supervisors of these sections, the zone leaders or captains and block leaders, are to be subsequently named in another announcement. This is considered a most important system. The most important system is the civilian defense council. It must be informative as to car sharing, meat sharing, food sharing and all other coming war program. Because it does enlist the cooperation of every neighborhood and everyone in each home of that neighborhood, plus are to be awarded to the workers specializing the hours worked. These workers will all be under special committees.

Some of these committees will engage speakers who will from time to time give information talks on how, why and what to buy with point ration books. Sector leaders will pass this information to zone leaders who shall in turn pass on the same data to block leaders. Government leaflets on all day to day necessities are also to be distributed in this unlinked-chain manner.

No more than 30 families are to be included in a section, no more than 15 families in a zone, and one block will be under one leader. The exact date of the point rationing books has not been announced but probably these will be issued around the last of February. Civilian Defense workers must be ready when the date comes to go into every home equipped with all needed knowledge in this work. When your card reaches you be glad to act as a sector, zone or block leader instructor.

NO BILLS
CODY, Wyo., Jan. 29. (AP)—Two years ago a Cody youth joined the Army and left without paying an $8 debt to Mildred Parr, the operator of a motor court.

Recently she received a new $10 bill from North Africa and a letter from the soldier. He explained the $10 was part of the first pay he had received in Africa; that it was to pay the debt and the extra $2 should take care of the interest.

Seminole Cagers Defeat Oviedo In Speedy Contest

In a fast, close basketball game at Oviedo last evening, the Seminole High School came out on top by a score of 42 to 37 over Oviedo.

Coach Leonard McLucas today had nothing but praise for the Oviedo boys who, he said, showed plenty of speed. Three of them, Abell, Metcalf and Olliff are so tall that they almost are able to shoot the ball into the basket.

Coach McLucas added smiling, "The Sanford boys, however, had the range of the basket with Fleming leading the point rating with 12. Pete Brock came out with ten points, and Dekle had 8. Sanford led at the end of the first half, 19 to 16. In the final quarter Coach McLucas' boys managed to get two extra baskets to win the game."

Browns Expect To Meet Cardinals In World Series

By OSCAR KAHAN
AP Features
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 29. — In any other year, the suggestion of an all-St. Louis World Series between the Browns and the Cardinals would be at least 50 percent a joke, but there's nothing funny about the 1943 Browns.

The Cardinals, of course, are odds-on favorites in the National League and, for the first time in many seasons, the Browns are definitely pennant contenders in the American League—on the authority of no less a baseball sage than Connie Mack.

Having hopped out of the second division and skipped into third place, the Browns are all set to jump into the "New York Yankees" championship shoes, and they may have Uncle Sam's help. The Browns have given their proportionate share of players to the armed forces but the team is so balanced without any particular, outstanding star that no idea has had a crippling effect.

In rising to third place, the Browns passed both the Tigers and Indians in 1942, and this year the second-place Boston Red Sox have given up Ted Williams, Dom DiMaggio and Johnny Pesky and the Yankees are without Henrich, Phil Rizzuto and possibly Joe DiMaggio.

War's call on baseball stars is, therefore, cutting the league leaders down to the Browns' size and the result may be one of the most interesting pennant races in years.

For their part, the Browns are going into the season with a team virtually 100 percent made up of married men, many of them with children. Only two players on the reserve list, outfielder Glenn McQuillen and rookie pitcher Alex LaMacchia, who won 17 and lost 16 with San Antonio, are single, but both have Class B dependents.

Club records show the following players are married but have no children: Infielders Vern Stephens, Alan Strange, Charley Stevens, Bob Dillinger; outfielder Walt Judnick; catchers Frankie Hayes, Ardy Keller, Joe Schultz, and pitchers Stan Brown, Fritz Ostermuller and Fred Sanford. Second-baseman Don Osteridge has a child born since the war began.

Stephens, Judnick, Hayes and Osteridge were important members of the 1942 team.

If Selective Service makes a clean sweep of this group, the Browns would be a weak shadow of a major league team. But similarly, the toll would be terrific among other clubs, and the net result might be equal footing for all of them.

Pitching was the Browns' principal weak point last season, but that department has been strengthened considerably by the addition of three veterans, a brilliant rookie and a longshot.

The club drafted Nelson Potter, former member of the Philadelphia Athletics, who won 18 and lost eight with Louisville, and Woody Rich, formerly of the Red Sox, who had a 10-10 record with Indianapolis.

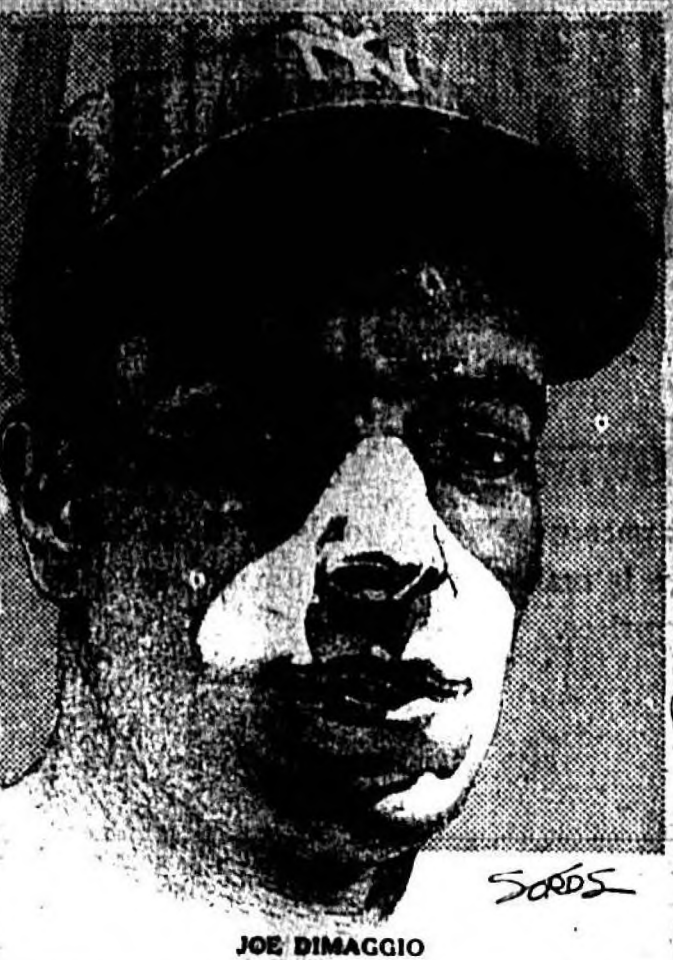

Archie McKain, who knocked around the league, is coming back after making a fresh start with Toledo, where he won 17 and lost 11.

The minor league prize is Bill Reinboth, a left-hander purchased for four players and "quite a bit" of cash from 23 games and lost 10 with the Orioles and, in boot, is a Red Sox-type of ninth-inning pitcher.

Bill Manager Mel Ott in the outfield will be Jim Maynard, Hank Lisher, Hackler (if he's available), Babe Barna and possibly Vic Bradford, a Jacksonville, Fla., flycatcher who led the South Atlantic league with a .342 average. That gives the Giants a fairly good outer garden, although lacking the power Marshall and Young would provide.

Gordon also can play the outfield if he isn't used at third base.

St. Louis, who won the pennant last season, is coming back after making a fresh start with Toledo, where he won 17 and lost 11.

Giants Are Content If They Can Attain Third Place Again

By DILLON GRAHAM
AP Features Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Jan. 29. — The New York Giants, who surprised baseball fans by barging into third place in 1942, will be pretty content if they can hang on to that high spot this season.

Military service calls took Willard Marshall, the rookie whose timely hits helped Mel Ott's gang stay in the running during the first half of last season; Babe Young, the first-baseman-turned-outfielder whose heavy cannoning in the late months kept them in third position; and three pitchers, Hal Schumacher, Bob Carpenter and Dave Koslo.

Furthermore third baseman Bill Werber quit baseball and the club is none too sure that hard-hitting first sacker Johnny Mize and outfielder Johnny Rucker, up from Jersey City, will be around all season.

Frankly, the Giants haven't come up with any sensations to replace these missing stars.

Others on the roster are in class 3A and apparently, will be around at least to start the campaign. The infield shapes up with Mize at first, Nick Witak at second, the veteran Bill Jurges at short and probably Sid Gordon at third.

Will Manager Mel Ott in the outfield will be Jim Maynard, Hank Lisher, Hackler (if he's available), Babe Barna and possibly Vic Bradford, a Jacksonville, Fla., flycatcher who led the South Atlantic league with a .342 average. That gives the Giants a fairly good outer garden, although lacking the power Marshall and Young would provide.

Gordon also can play the outfield if he isn't used at third base.

St. Louis, who won the pennant last season, is coming back after making a fresh start with Toledo, where he won 17 and lost 11.

The minor league prize is Bill Reinboth, a left-hander purchased for four players and "quite a bit" of cash from 23 games and lost 10 with the Orioles and, in boot, is a Red Sox-type of ninth-inning pitcher.

Consensus Has It Labor Laws Will Be Soon Revised

By JOHN GROVER

It's a cloakroom consensus that the new Congress will make revision of federal labor laws an early order of business.

The wildest strike in the anthracite coal fields was significant in that it was the first result against union leadership from within the ranks. It gave the advocates of restrictive legislation the powerful argument that union members are demanding legislative protection from dictatorial union bosses.

In the past, legislation to force unions to accept a greater measure of legal responsibility was introduced by solons whose records were not exactly pro-labor. The floor on the measure sponsored by Rep. Howard Smith (D. Va.) fell behind it.

This lineup permitted labor publicists to raise the cry that powerful employer interests were on the march to erase all labor's gains since 1932. Administration spokesmen in Senate committee. Now, however, the infernal demand of rank-and-file union members for labor law revision is a powerful new factor in the picture.

Louis Novitsky, president of an anthracite miners' local, put the trend into words in his statement that: "I'd rather work under the soldiers than John L. Lewis."

This brings dissatisfaction among the anthracite miners into the open. A potential groundswell of similar opinion in other unions where leaders have acquired wide powers while suppressing union elections is held by Capitol Hill analysts to be imminent.

Veteran pro-labor legislators have not on an unhappy spot by the in-the-ranks revolt.

In the first place, public opinion generally has been deeply concerned by the anthracite strike. No excuse for failure to mine was vital coal seems valid to the general public. Even such an orthodox New Dealer as Harold Ickes took a grave view of the coal situation.

Secondly, the split between local unions and national leadership demands that legislators make a choice between the adversaries.

Advocates of laws to clip the wings of labor leaders will argue that the true friend of the deserving workman will line up with efforts to "rescue" him from allegedly dictatorial labor bosses.

What some regard as the failure of labor statesman to clean house thoroughly, after disclosures that powerful posts in the labor movement were held by ex-convicts and other smelly characters has been a handicap to those legislators who would block any labor law revision. That some unions are dominated by cliques which have prevented national union elections over long periods of years is cited as argument for regularization and standardization of union practices by law.

The coal strike, while immediately serious in an area facing fuel shortages, would not take rank as a major industrial dislocation. It is important, however, for the train of probable events it has set in motion.

As the best informed analysts see the picture, laws to prevent wildcat strikes and guarantee an interrupted war production seem to have an odds-on chance of passage. Legislation to fix responsibility of the unions in industrial disputes, to standardize union elections and to make accounting for dues mandatory is accounted for serious labor trouble during their consideration.

The coal strike, basically a strike of union members against management, is most significant in its implication that even within union ranks there is sentiment for reform. This indicated trend seems certain to spur Congress already under heavy outside pressure, to stabilize industrial relations during the war.

Other pitchers include Adams, who led the loop in relief jobs; Bill Lohman, Harry Fieldman, Hugh East, Reuben Fischer, Salvatore Maglie, Van Lingie and Bill Scales.

Shortstop's Act In Tommy Is Big Headache To Team

By ARDEN KIDMORE
 PITTSBURGH, Jan. 25, A $25,000 shortstop with a trick stomach is troubling the Pirates almost as much as the way draft pick-up pitcher the club made for the baseball season. The Pirates admit their penance changes would be better, if only Huck Geary "comes through for us." Geary, a better than 200 strike or two Jimmy Fielder with him, was obtained by the Pirates from the American Association. He was a 1942 season for one and two seasons. He all but sent owner William Hammaker to bed with a sick man as his (Geary's) stomach "acted up badly" and convinced him to leave his spikes for a year. "Huck's got to come through for us, and I am confident he will," declared Hammaker. He says his stomach is better and he is looking for a big year. Hammaker said, adding: "Baseball, as I see it, is too uncertain to say much about. We've lost a few players already, and with some married players without children, we may lose more. It seems that our reserves will be weaker this year, but if nobody gets hurt, and Geary comes through, we should be stronger." During the first World War, nitrate exports were the chief source of national income in Chile. For centuries Andean Indians have dried potatoes for long preservation; in this form they are called "chuño." Coal is said to be potentially richer in rubber than all the islands of the East Indies.

Seminole Cagers Defeat Oviedo In Speedy Contest

In a fast, close basketball game at Oviedo last evening, the Seminole High School came out on top by a score of 43 to 27 over Oviedo.

Coach Leonard McLucas today had nothing but praise for the Oviedo boys who, he said, showed plenty of speed. Three of them, Abell, Metcalf and O'Hilt are so tall that they almost are able to tip the ball into the basket.

The Sanford boys, however, had the range of the basket with Fleming leading the point rating with 15. Fetsi Brock came out with the points and Dekle led 8. Sanford led at the end of the first half, 18 to 16. In the final quarter Coach McLucas' boys managed to get two extra baskets to win the game.

Browns Expect To Meet Cardinals In World Series

By OSCAR KAHAN
AP Features

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 29.—In any other year, the suggestion of an all-St. Louis World Series between the Browns and the Cardinals would be at least 50 percent a joke, but there's nothing funny about the 1943 Browns.

The Cardinals, of course, are odds-on favorites in the National League and, for the first time in many seasons, the Browns are definitely pennant contenders in the America league—on the authority of no less a baseball sage than Connie Mack.

Having hopped out of the second division and skipped into third place, the Browns are all set to jump into the New York Yankees' championship shoes, and virtually 50 percent made up of the Browns have given their proportional share of players to the armed forces but the team is so balanced without any particular outstanding star that it has had a crippling effect.

In rising to third place, the Browns passed both the Tigers and Indians in 1942, and this year the second-place Boston Red Sox have given up Ted Williams, Dom DiMaggio and Johnny Pesky and the Yankees are without Henrich, Phil Hildutis and possibly Joe DiMaggio.

The war's call on baseball stars is, therefore, cutting the league leaders down to the Browns' size and the result may be one of the most interesting pennant races in years.

For their part, the Browns are going into the season with a team virtually 50 percent made up of married men, many of them with children. Only two players on the reserve list, outfielder Glenn McQuinn and rookie pitcher Alex Lamarche, who won 17 and lost 16 with San Antonio, are single, but both have Class B dependents.

Club records show the following players are married but have no children: Infielders Vern Stephens, Alan Strange, Charley Stevens, Bob Dillinger, outfielder Walt Juhnich, catchers Frankie Hayes and Fred Sanford, pitcher Stan Ferenz, Fritz Ostermuller and Fred Sanford. Second-baseman Don Guttridge has a child born since the war began.

Stephens, Juhnich, Hayes and Guttridge were important members of the 1942 team.

If Selective Service makes a clean sweep of this group, the Browns would be a weak shadow of a major league team. But similarly, the toll would be terrific among other clubs, and the net result might be equal footing for all of them.

Pitching was the Browns' principal weak point last season, but that department has been strengthened considerably by the addition of three veterans, a brilliant rookie and a longshot.

The club drafted Nelson Potter, former member of the Philadelphia Athletics, who won 18 and lost eight with Louisville, and Woody Rich, former of the Red Sox, who had a 10-10 record with Indianapolis.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The New York Giants, who surprised baseball fans by barging into third place in 1942, will be pretty well content if they can hang on to that high spot this season.

Military service calls took Willard Marshall, the rookie whose timely hits helped Mel Ott's gang stay in the running during the first half of last season; Babe Young, the first-baseman-turned-outfielder whose heavy cannonading in the late months kept them in third position, and three pitchers, Hal Behrmacher, Bob Carpenter and Dave Koslo.

Furthermore third baseman Bill Werber quit baseball and the club is none too sure that hard-hitting first sacker Johnny Mize and outfielder Johnny Rucker, up from Jersey City, will be around all season.

Frankly, the Giants haven't come up with any sensations to replace these missing stars.

Others on the roster are in class 3A and apparently, will be around at least to start the campaign. The infield shapes up with Mize at first, Nick Witk at second, the veteran Bill Jurges at short and probably Sid Gordon at third.

While Manager Mel Ott in the outfield will be Jim Maynard, Hank Leiber, Rucker (if he's available), Babe Barna and possibly Vic Bradford, a Jacksonville, Fla., fireman who led the South Atlantic league with a .342 average. That gives the Giants a fairly good outer garden although lacking the power Marshall and Young would provide.

Gordon also can play the outfield if he isn't used at third.

Manapola Archie McKain, who knocked around the league, is coming back after making a fresh start with Toledo, where he won 17 and lost 11.

The minor league prize is Bill Seimath, a left-hander purchased for four players and "quite a bit" of cash. He won 23 games and lost 10 with New Orleans and, to boot, is a Red Batting-type of pinch-hitting pitcher.

Consensus Has It Labor Laws Will Be Soon Revised

By JOHN GROVER

It's a cloakroom consensus that the new Congress will make revision of federal labor laws an early order of business.

The wildest strike in the anthracite coal fields, was significant in that it was the first revolt against union leadership from within the ranks. It gave the advocates of restrictive labor legislation the powerful argument that union members are demanding legislative protection from dictatorial union bosses.

In the past legislation to force unions to accept a greater measure of legal responsibility was introduced by unions whose records were not exactly pro-labor. The lineup on the measure sponsored by Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va.) found Southern conservatives solidly behind it.

This lineup permitted labor lobbyists to raise the cry that powerful employer interests were on the march to erase all labor's gains since 1932. Administration Democrats buried the restrictive statutes in Senate committee.

Now, however, the inferential demand of rank-and-file union members for labor law revision is a powerful new factor in the picture. Louis Nowitzky, president of an anthracite miners' local, put the trend into words in his statement that: "I'd rather work under the soldiers than John L."

This brings dissatisfaction among the anthracite miners into the open. A potential groundswell of similar opinion in other unions whose leaders have accumulated powers while suppressing union questions is held by Capitol Hill analysts to be imminent.

Veteran pro-labor legislators are put on an unhappy spot by the on-the-ranks revolt.

In the first place, public opinion generally has been deeply incensed by the anthracite strike. No excuse for failure to mine was vital coal seemed to be the general public. Even such an orthodox New Dealer as Harold Ickes took a grave view of the spot situation.

Secondly, the split between local unions and national leadership demands that legislators make a choice between the adversaries.

Advocates of laws to clip the wings of labor leaders will argue that the true friend of the dues-paying workman will line up with efforts to "rescue" him from allegedly dictatorial labor bosses.

What some regard as the failure of labor legislation to clean house thoroughly after disclosure that powerful posts in the labor movement were held by ex-convicts and other smelly characters has been a handicap to those legislators who would block any labor law revision. That some unions are dominated by cliques which have prevented national union elections over long periods of years is cited as argument for regularization and standardization of union practices by law.

The coal strike, while immediately serious in an area facing grave fuel shortages, would not take rank as a major industrial dislocation. It is important, however, for the train of probable events it has set in motion.

As the best informed analysts see the picture, laws to prevent wildcat strikes and guarantee an interrupted war production seem to have an odds-on chance of passage. Legislation to fix responsibility of the unions in industrial disputes, to standardize union dues, to make mandatory an even chance. It's likely that some hidebound and reactionary curbs will be introduced, but they are accorded no chance by observers here unless some basic war industries the widely affected by serious labor trouble during their consideration.

The coal strike, basically a strike of union members against management, is most significant in its implication that even with in union ranks there is sentiment for reform. This industrial trend seems certain to bring long-since already under heavy congressional pressure, to stabilize industrial relations during the war.

Civil Service Has Radio Interceptor Civilians' Jobs

Civilian Radio Intercept Officers to work with the Army Air Forces in effecting radio silence during air alarms are sought by the United States Civil Service Commission, Mr. L. V. McLaughlin, Local Secretary announced today. Positions in the Federal Communications Commission are located throughout the United States. Duties are to monitor radio stations during periods of radio silence conduct tests to check efficiency of control, maintain a continuous watch on distress channels, and perform other Federal monitoring assignments, Mr. McLaughlin explained. Salaries are $2,000 and $2,600 a year plus overtime compensation that, in view of the recently lengthened 48-hour work week, increases the basic salaries by about 21 percent. Two to 4 years of appropriate college training in engineering, or in physics; or 1 to 4 years of appropriate radio technical experience are needed to qualify, Mr. McLaughlin said. Provision is made for acceptance of appropriate amateur experience, or a course in a recognized radio institute for part of the required experience, or education. Applicants must be able to transmit and receive in International Morse Code at the rate of 16 to 20 words a minute. There is no written test and no maximum age limit. Complete information and forms for applying may be obtained from Mr. McLaughlin at the Post Office or from first or second-class post offices. Applications will be accepted until the needs of the service have been met and must be filed with the Commission's Washington office. Applications are not desired from persons engaged on war work unless they may use higher skills in the positions sought. For War Manpower Commission restrictions on Federal appointments, see Form 9949 in first or second-class post offices.
