BIG POLITICAL PRIZES GAINED BY DEMOCRATS

House Control, Governorship Of Kentucky And New Jersey Are Won By Party

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 5.—(A.P.) Circuit Judge Hubs Latham, Democrat, was elected Governor of Kentucky over Mayor William Harrison, Louisville, Republican, practically complete returns showed today. He carried the entire state with him and his party retained control of the legislature.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(A.P.)—The three big political prizes of 1931—control of the House of Representatives and governorships in New Jersey and Kentucky—appeared last night to have fallen into the lap of a Democratic party already militantly organizing to bid for the biggest prize of all in 1932.

Unless accident intervenes, the veteran John Garner, of Texas, will ascend to the House speakership when Congress meets next month, and President Hoover will find himself confronted, as Wilson was in the last two years of his term, with a hostile leadership in the revenue branch of the government.

A Democrat, A. Harry Moore, will take the governor's chair in New Jersey, swept to power on a landslide of astonishing proportions; and—unless the mounting tide of Kentucky's belated count is overturned—Ruby Laffoon, also a Democrat, will take the place of a Republican governor at Frankfort.

What bearing these results of yesterday's election may have on the fortunes of 1932 was a fitting question last night.

Among the Democrats there was much rejoicing and handclapping. Joust Shouse, the party's executive chairman, saw certain presidential victory a year hence. House members, hungry for power after 13 lean years, were vocal in their jubilation and unawed by the difficulties of legislating with a membership so close that the count stood last night at 217 Democrats, 215 Republicans, one former-laborer, two vacancies.

On the Republican side, most leaders were silent but many said privately that after all, Hoover's control might prove to be more of a burden than a blessing. Senator Fea, the national chairman, declared: (Continued on Page Four)

C. of C. Secretaries Guests Of County Body At Luncheon

Prominent city and county Chamber of Commerce secretaries of Central Florida, were today the guests of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon and conference at the Yacht Club and City Hall offices, of the trade body, in which they learned much of the progress now being effected locally and exchanged ideas and opinions relating to the steady and consistent growth of the entire Central Florida area.

Four county secretaries were present. They were H. L. Smith, of Deale, Marion County; C. T. Bickford, Orlando, Orange County; John C. Lochner, Clermont, Lake County; and Karl Lehmann, Sanford, Seminole County. Mayor Earl B. Brown, DeLand, who is also secretary of the chamber of commerce there, represented that city.

Clarence M. Gay, Orlando, F. M. Sawyer, Ocala, Carter Brasford, Winter Park, Mrs. Little Lawler, Kissimmee, and Miss Louise Lane, Mt. Dora, were the secretaries from those cities.

Projects, such as highway, canal, tourist, entertainment, and fair facilities, displays, which deeply interested them, that each was of interest to other counties and which were discussed at some length, and many suggestions of future plans, following a closer cooperation, were offered. Each organization will be kept advised of the progress of the section through the central office at Sanford, Florida.

These events, which are scheduled for the county in this area during winter months, will be held at the Yacht Club, to Karl Lehmann, secretary of the trade body, who has been in the vic-

Carver To Be Tried Again Upon Charge

SEBRING, Nov. 5.—(A.P.)—William Raymond Carver, Philadelphia and Miami real estate operator sentenced last year to life imprisonment for the hatchet murder of his wife, Mrs. Ruth Staff Carver and recently granted a new trial by the state supreme court, will be retried again on the charge today. Circuit Judge W. J. Barker granted Carver a change of venue to DeSoto county and said the second trial will probably be set for the next term of court there.

HOUSE WET BLOC CONFIDENT OVER CHANCES IN 1932

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(A.P.)—The House wet bloc was confident yesterday over the election of five anti-prohibitionists, although it netted but one addition to its ranks.

Representative Lathrop, chairman of the organization, today said the fact that all the new members were opposed to prohibition indicated sentiment for repeal was growing. The gain of one was in the eighth Michigan where Michael J. Hart, a moderate, was elected.

The Maryland Democrat, elected enough votes would be entered in the coming House to force a vote on the prohibition question. He said there were between 133 and 163 members of the wet bloc in the House.

"We believe we will be able to bring the issue to a vote in the House at the coming session," Lathrop said. "When the seventy-third Congress meets we will have enough strength to vote the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment."

He said that should the Democrats (Continued on Page Five)

Seminole Farmers Will Meet Tonight

Seminole County farmers who tonight attend the weekly meeting of the Seminole Agricultural Club at Seminole High School at 8:00 o'clock will learn many interesting points concerning the breeding, care, study, and importation of the many varieties of seed they use on their farms.

Mr. R. H. Johnson, vocational director of agriculture, will lead a round-table discussion of the subject at the conclusion of Mr. Mason's talk, and will also bring several business matters to the attention of the club.

Four Groups Planning Celebrations In Sanford On Armistice Day Nov. 11

Although there is to be no general observance of Armistice Day here this year, four groups in this city are planning events which will closely approximate, thereby providing entertainment features which might appear to constitute a city-wide celebration.

The Campbell-Losing Post is to hold its annual memorial service in the morning; women of the Methodist Church plan to have a barbecue dinner on the lake-front at noon; the 26-page Sanford Elk band has promised to play a concert at the lakefront, and the Seminole High football eleven is to play its annual game with Orlando High School, marking the 15th anniversary of the traditional contest. As a concluding feature, a fraternalism between University, is holding its annual Armistice Day dances at the Trieman Club this night.

These events, which will be held from 10 o'clock in the morning until late afternoon there is some attraction for the resident and visitor. The local Legion post and other service organizations will gather at the Armory at 8:00 o'clock from where, starting at 10:00 o'clock, a parade will

LLOYD GEORGE QUILTS JOB AS HEAD OF PARTY

Resigns Chairmanship Of Liberals After Being Outstanding Member 25 Years

LONDON, Nov. 5.—(A.P.)—Lloyd George, outstanding member of the Liberal party for more than 25 years, resigned his chairmanship yesterday and announced he would not accept any other party office.

He set out his decision in a letter to Sir Herbert Samuel, the leader of the Liberal party, who had called a meeting of the Liberal Party's executive committee at which Mr. George was elected to succeed Ramsay MacDonald as Liberal leader.

The Liberal League today and the Liberal Party today selected the resignation of the Liberal Party's executive committee, which was held in London, and which was held in London.

The little group faithful to the resigned leader, includes his son, Major Gwynn, Lloyd George, his daughter, Miss Mignon Lloyd George, and Mrs. Gwynn Owen.

The future is uncertain for the man who, as head of the wartime coalition government, was almost supreme arbiter of Britain's destinies.

"As you are aware, Lloyd George wrote to Sir Herbert, 'I am completely at variance with the direction of the party, which I have recently been asked to lead. I am hoping that by the next year's general election I will be able to resign my seat in the House of Commons and to devote my time to the study of the history of the party, which I have always been deeply interested in.'"

Ramsay MacDonald In Again Head Of Britain

LONDON, Nov. 5.—(A.P.)—Prime Minister MacDonald retains the head of the British government in a new cabinet announced today, and Stanley Baldwin is President of the Council with Neville Chamberlain Chancellor of the Exchequer, succeeding Philip Snowden. Sir John Simon is the new Foreign Secretary.

BALDNESS CURE BELIEVED FOUND BY YOUNG DOCTOR

31-Year-Old Physician Has Restored Hair To Many Patients

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—(A.P.)—A young suburban physician 31 years of age has discovered the Ponce de Leon fountain for the cure of baldness.

Dr. B. Bengtson has grown new hair on men totally bald. He has restored to women the luxuriant glow of youth and at the same time brought his patients back toward normal health and weight and poise.

The young discoverer, feeling more the husky college football player than a scientist who at 31 has found what men have sought for centuries, was full of a vigorous enthusiasm as he told in his modest office of his amazing experiment.

On his brow was a fringe of fair, new hair—nearly as thick long as of it. Five weeks of treatment have done it, injections of a plenary extract, prepared by chemists from the interior lobe of the sheep's pituitary gland.

But he would not have the medical profession over-rangue. He joins with Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, in a resolution against premature conclusions and particularly against quackery.

Believe the new experiments were undertaken will prove the efficacy of the treatment against all types of baldness," said Dr. Bengtson. "Thus far I have not had a failure in five years. But the treatment must remain in the hands of competent physicians."

Dr. Fishbein, commenting editorially in this week's journal, is publishing Dr. Bengtson's report of his preliminary success.

"Enough evidence has been established to indicate that in certain cases of baldness, in which there may be a deficiency of the secretion of this particular gland, injection of extract of the pituitary gland resulted in overcoming baldness. Probably chaperons may endeavor to reap the usual income from the new investigations. The time is not yet ripe for every bald-headed man to try the new treatment. It is still in the investigative stage."

By accident Dr. Bengtson began his research. Patients came to his Maywood office to receive pituitary treatment for other ailments. They noticed the beneficial effect upon the hair. Men and women alike were startled. More than two score were given the hypodermic injections five times weekly, and without exception, Dr. Bengtson asserted, all responded.

NAVY EQUAL TO GREAT BRITAIN IS DEMANDED

He wanted all the appropriation to be had for immediate building.

"If we can afford it we ought to appropriate the full amount," he said. "We need a balanced navy and we have not a balanced navy today."

Neither spokesman for construction had a word to say about the year's naval holiday just entered into by President Hoover, a holiday which Gardner's statement said played into the hands of the British and Japanese.

The Britton suggestion was received with pleasure at the navy department. Secretary Adams said: "We'll be glad to get it. That or $100,000,000 or $200,000,000, or any other figure they give us."

While the Hoover committee remained inactive, a probability developed that Admiral Hugh Rodman, retired, would be chosen chairman.

A suggestion from quarters close to members of the group was that its proceedings would be limited to gathering from administration files available information relating to each specific statement of fact made by Gardner.

This material, from which the president expects full vindication, would then be embodied in a terse report to Mr. Hoover. No hearings, no witnesses and no record connected by opinions and discussion would be needed.

The proceedings would be in line with the announcement of the White House that the inquiry into the "silly" into assertions of "fact" by Gardner.

The matter received more criticism yesterday for his strident words against the president. Almost in the same breath with his demand for a bigger fleet, Senator Reed condemned Gardner's statement as "indefensible," "indefensible."

"No loyal American should speak in that way of his president. That kind of attack hurts a cause rather than helps it," was his comment. This was much in line also with a statement issued Monday by Secretary Adams, who resented the attack and suggested it would alienate supporters of the navy.

NAN BRITTON PUT ON STAND IN OWN CASE YESTERDAY

Testimony Of Defendant Is Kept Secret By Order Of Judge

TOLEDO, Ohio, Nov. 4.—(A.P.)—Behind the locked doors of the federal courtroom here, Miss Nan Britton, author of "The President's Daughter," yesterday testified before the jury which is to decide her $50,000 libel suit against C. A. Klunk, Marion, Ohio, hotel operator.

Miss Britton claimed in her book that the late President Warren G. Harding was the father of her child. She is suing Klunk on the ground that he circulated another volume, entitled "The Answer to the President's Daughter," which she claims damaged her reputation.

The testimony of Miss Britton was kept secret by order of Federal Judge John M. Killitz. She was on the stand only about half an hour.

After Miss Britton had testified, her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Willits, of Chicago, was called. She remained in the courtroom only a few minutes.

Doors of the courtroom were locked to all spectators and newspaper reporters after Judge Killitz announced many persons had been visiting trials solely in the hope of hearing testimony of lascivious nature. The judge also forbade the attorneys and principals in the proceedings discussing the case outside the courtroom.

Monday, Judge Killitz was quoted as saying "The Answer to the President's Daughter" contained statements libelous to Miss Britton, and that the only thing remaining for her to prove was the extent of the publication.

Yesterday, Judge Killitz denied the apparent meaning of these quotations, by adding amendments which explained that his previous comment was based on the status of the trial at that time but that it had been still subject to qualification by the right of the defense to prove, if possible, that the alleged libel was truthful statements. "The court at no time in any ruling or comment it has made has said that the case had established a situation in which there was nothing left for the plaintiff to show under the right to recover damages except proof to the extent of the publication to affect the quality of damages to be awarded and nothing the court said justified conclusion that a verdict was framed in the court's mind against the defendant," the judge said.

"The comments of the court on that proposition were qualified as to the position the case was in before the defense was heard, and the comments, but partially rejected, were offered to advise counsel of what was necessary to be shown by way of defense, if available, in order to avoid a default, in which situation the only question of fact for the jury to determine would be the extent of 'damages' if damages other than purely nominal were sought by the defendant to be avoided.

"Every lawyer knows that a publication may be libelous upon its face, which, if not qualified by defensive testimony, would make possible a recovery of nominal damages in any nominal suit within the country's monetary measurement of values; and if it were the jury's judgment that one cent was sufficient for nominal damages, such a verdict would be of necessity sustained by the court.

BOAT'S CAPTAIN SAYS CRAFT WAS SUNK BY CUTTER

Canadian Sea Skipper Charges Deliberate Ramming Of Vessel

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—(A.P.)—James A. Brannen, British vice consul in Boston, yesterday revealed that the master of the Canadian powerboat, Sophie E., told him his craft was deliberately rammed and sunk Monday night by the American coast guard patrolboat Harriet Lane.

Brannen said Capt. James Bellman of the 80-foot Canadian boat told him his vessel was lying 19 miles off the Massachusetts coast with a cargo of liquor and that his signals to contact craft on shore attracted the coast guard boat which bore down upon it and sank it. Bellman pointed out the vice consul said, that he felt within his rights inasmuch as he was seven miles beyond the 12-mile limit.

The crew of nine men from the Sophie E., was landed in Boston yesterday by the Harriet Lane, whose commander, Boatswain Maurice D. Chester, reported, according to coast guard officials, that the Canadian vessel, running without lights, had been sunk in a collision 20 miles off Gloucester.

A coast guard board of inquiry was appointed immediately but it adjourned until today at the request of Mathew P. McGrath, counsel for Bellman. Aside from a statement that the Sophie E. was lying to with her engine disabled, and an assertion that the coast guard boat was running without lights, Captain Bellman made no statement to newspapermen. His attorney counseled him not to discuss the case until it came before the board of inquiry.

Bellman further alleged, the counsel said, that he had been warned several weeks ago by the captain of the Canadian schooner Firelight to beware of the Harriet Lane because the patrol boat's commander, he said, he intended to sink the Sophie E. The schooner, Firelight, was seized last winter and later was released.

The Sophie E. had cleared from

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

JOY FOR WEeping—His anger endureth but a moment; in his favour is life; weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.—Psalm 30:5.

PRAYER—We thank thee, heavenly Father, for the Great Heart which comforteth thy erring children.

ELEGY, WITH LAUGHTER Who now can fear to die, since she has died? She was so jolly, loved a good meal so; Breathing with news, and always on the go.

Her rings were sparkling and her bosom wide. She could not be a ghost, she was too gay; Not she could glide in a slow spectral land.

Nor hymn white-mouthed with lilies in her hand; Her kind would wink and give themselves away.

Who now can fear to die, since she has died? If she be living yet, with her lives laughter And news, and gossip of a gay hereafter, And daylight, and the rising of the tide.

The Chicago doctor's treatment for baldness comes from the pituitary gland of a sheep. Now wouldn't it be too bad if a bald-headed man trying it should come out on top all wooly like a sheep?

New York cop figured courts were too lenient in punishing gangsters, decided to give them a little treatment of his own before taking them before the judge. Six gangsters caught him out one night, cracked his skull, bashed in his face, and broke a dozen ribs, leaving him dead. Other cops should lay for those gangsters, and return the compliment.

A "Fifty-Fifty Club" has been organized among the men students at the co-educational University of Utah. The idea is that whenever a man asks a girl for a date, she has to agree to pay half of whatever expenses might be incurred during the outing. There's no telling to what extremes these hard times may drive men. We can see that it will be only a matter of time before the girls will have to pay all the expenses. And why not? They've been claiming for years that it's always the woman who pays, and pays.

President Hoover has appointed a commission to find out who's lying about the navy, him or that fellow Gardner of the Navy League. It seems to us a little unwise to appoint the commission to determine between the relative honesty of the two. In view of the appointment, the commission might be inclined to be a little prejudiced in Hoover's favor. However that may be, we are still inclined to the belief that the best way for a public man to handle a charge is to ignore it. President Hoover has given more publicity to Gardner's statements than Gardner could have given them in a year.

Drinking At Football Games

President Tigert of the University of Florida is to be congratulated upon the strong position he has taken against liquor drinking at football games. Immediately prior to the Homecoming game last Saturday in Gainesville, he issued a statement to the effect that local authorities had been urged to be unusually vigilant in enforcing the provisions of the prohibition law. Afterward he stated that their efforts had been successful and that there had been very little drinking over the week-end.

Yesterday Sheriff Joughin of Hillsborough county received a letter from President Tigert requesting that extra precautions be taken at the Florida-South Carolina game in Tampa to insure against liquor drinking, fights, and other forms of rowdiness. He also told the editor of the Jacksonville Journal over the telephone that future games in that city must be given additional police protection. He recalled that during the past two years three students have been killed as a direct result of excessive drinking, not on the part of the students themselves, but of others.

It is very likely that the unsavory reputation which football games have acquired during the past few years for promoting drunkenness has been caused not so much by the undergraduates themselves as by the rowdies from the back alleys of the cities in which these games are so often necessarily played. It is to be properly assumed that the students have sufficient pride in the reputation of their Alma Mater not to disgrace it by public drinking, and a sufficient realization of the nature of things to understand that their conduct in public, whatever it may be, is a direct advertisement of the character of their school.

It is hardly to be supposed that a student body appearing at a football game in a rocking and reeling condition would stand in the eyes of the general public as a credit to any institution of higher learning. Such a situation is not apt to make a strong appeal to the already over-burdened taxpayer for additional educational appropriations; nor to the parents of some promising boy or girl to give their child the benefits of college training. Every student appearing in public probably knows that he is marching in review before thousands of critical eyes who will judge his college by his personal conduct.

Be that as it may, it takes courage in these days of scofflaws, racketeers, and prohibition failure, for a university president to demand publicly that prohibition laws be enforced, at least in so far as they affect the individuals and the institutions under his charge. It is quite possible that if more of our leading citizens would take a similarly strong position, the prohibition law could be enforced not only at football games but quite generally throughout the land.

Fairwell To The Baldhead

Men who have seen brunettes turned suddenly into titian haired beauties, who have watched red heads changed into platinum blondes, and gray haired dowagers coming forth with black silken tresses, realized for years that it was only a matter of time until some scientific discovery would be announced which would make one blade of hair grow where none had grown before, which would bring to an end the era of the shiny bald pate and would end the worries of the man or woman with rapidly thinning hair.

And now, Eureka! It has been found! A Chicago physician has tried it for five years and turns the baldhead into a pig bristling skull. Dr. Bengston does not sprinkle a few drops of olive oil, Wildroot, or Lucky Tiger on to the tissues of the scalp, rubbing them in thoroughly and rinsing afterward with rain water. He has no electric brushes, violet ray lights, or mystic massages. He goes the hypodermic route, shooting a little serum from the interior lobe of a sheep's pituitary gland into the veins of the bald-headed person, and presto! The hair begins to grow.

Declaring that he has not had a failure in five years of treatment, Dr. Bengston adds, "Enough evidence has been established to indicate that in certain cases of baldness in which there may be a deficiency of the secretion of this particular gland, injection of extract of the pituitary gland resulted in over-coming the baldness. Probably charlatans may endeavor to reap the usual income from these new investigations. The time is not yet ripe for every baldheaded man to try the new treatment. It is still in the investigative stage."

Evidently the Chicago doctor is not absolutely sure of his discovery though it has been successful in every attempt in five years. That should be sufficient test to convince most of us, if we were troubled with falling hair, that it was worth trying anyway. Perhaps after another five or ten years of experimental work, the treatment will be put on the market so that the average baldhead may try it.

It is entirely conceivable that sooner or later baldheadedness will pass from the troubles of man and everyone will have all the hair he or she wants. Then jokesters will have to confine their remarks entirely to congressmen and mothers-in-law.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

The Swope Land & Investment Co., of Wichita, Kansas, have opened branch offices in The Herald building and are prepared to handle real and personal investments of all kinds. Their specialties will be colony and farming lands of all kinds and also some special bargains to offer in both city and country property.

W. S. Price, foreman of the planing mill department of the W. P. Carter Lumber Co., had an accident yesterday that almost cost him his foot. While operating the moulding machine the piece of moulding stock in the machine at the end of the piece of timber and to stop it Mr. Price gave it a push with his foot with the result that the foot went to far and the knife cut into his shoe and sliced off a piece of the foot. He was given medical attention at once and will recover the use of his foot providing no complications arise.

L. P. McCuller wins the medal for being the most progressive business man in the city, the first to install an up-to-date auto delivery wagon. Mr. McCuller has a large trade and for some time has been planning to cover more territory in shorter time and has come to the conclusion that the auto had precedence over the horse. He has a Schmitt or woods to that effect, and will be able to make a tour of the city and suburbs in record time.

QUAKE IN ECUADOR GUAYACUIL, Ecuador, Nov. 5 (A.P.)—A violent earthquake here, struck this city at noon yesterday, causing great alarm but no damage.

"I Swore Off Harsh Irritants"

"Certainly I am on the Lucky list. Last summer, while camping in the high Sierras, I hiked six miles to get my supply of LUCKY STRIKES. I swore off harsh irritants when the talkies first started—and I've smoked LUCKY STRIKES ever since. And that improved Cellophane wrapper of yours—with the little tab for easy opening—is a gem."

Helen Twelvrees

Sweet-faced little Helen Twelvrees is another stage youngster who rocketed to Hollywood glory in a picture or two. If that girl's disposition could be photographed it would be a lesson in charm. An EKO-Pathe star, Helen will soon appear in "Pick-Up."

It is Miss Twelvrees' Statement Paid For? You may be interested in knowing that not one cent was paid to Miss Twelvrees to make the above statement. Miss Twelvrees has been a smoker of LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes for 2 years. We hope the publicity here-with given will be beneficial to her and to EKO-Pathe, her producers, as her endorsement of LUCKY is to you and to us.

Made of the finest tobaccos—The Cream of many Crops—LUCKY STRIKE alone offers the throat protection of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays—the process that expels certain harsh, biting irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. These expelled irritants are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!" No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

MCLUCAS' MEN READY FOR TILT WITH ROLLINS 11

Outfit In Good Shape For Toughest Game Of Entire Season

By PETER SCHAAL

On the eve of the most strenuous game of their 1931 season, the Rollins team tomorrow afternoon, Coach Leonard McLucas' Seminoles, high eleven find themselves in both mental and physical condition which assures an even break against opponents who are far more experienced than they. All the crimples are back to their old form, and it is believed that a week of signal drilling as well as ball handling has reduced the chances of slow shifting and fumbled balls to a minimum.

Only one first string player is ailing lightly and he is that powerful Entzinger person, the fullback. A deep chest cold which he has been treating since Sunday has left him considerably weakened, although it will take more than a cold to keep this husky youngster out of action tomorrow. So far there have been no Sanford backs who have shown as much drive and defensive strength as Entzinger, and in the games which he has played so far, his total yardage equals that of the rest of the team combined. A tendency to fumble because he wants to get going was his only weakness until two weeks ago, but since then he has held onto that ball for dear life, as Andrew Jackson players can tell you, for he charged through that line with five and seven yard strides plenty of times.

McLucas' first string backfield of Coulter, Hester, Lyles, and Entzinger is now believed as ready for any sort of competition. Six games have been tucked away in the win and loss column, three wins and three defeats. Six games in which the boys have had ample opportunity to get acquainted with themselves and to go down the home stretch in a blaze of glory. This backfield combination possesses brains and courage in Coulter, passing, punting, and punting ability in Lyles, passing, line-shifting, and defensive ability plus enough football sense for two, in Hester, and the ideal line-plunging fullback who knows how to open holes as well as close them, in Entzinger.

The front line, with Preston and Stanley at ends, Ware and Riser at tackles, Coleman and Biggers at guards, and Kanner at center, had no equal in recent years. It has settled into a compact whole quicker than has the backfield, and has three perfectly played games to its credit. The last three, offensively and defensively, that line has clicked, while the backs have been holding up the victory parade. Stanley has developed into a fighting terror after a slow start which found him lagging. Preston is playing his usual steady, heady, and dependable game. Riser has at last found out what hands are for, and how easy it is to break through into the enemy backfield and break up a play, and he's getting a big kick out of his new found ability. Ware, too, has been taught line playing principles and has absorbed every bit of the advice. His play against Ocala, Daytona, and Andrew Jackson put him in the class of prep school tackles. Coleman and Biggers, the line guards who went into the first string line because of their desire to fight all the way, are worthy running mates of the rest of the team. As for Kanner, enough has already been said. The rest of the team looks to him for leadership and inspiration on every play. Watch them and see if they don't do what he does every time.

Tomorrow's game will start at 3:30 o'clock and will be played on Municipal Field. Next week Orlando and Gainesville come here for tough games.

DOUBLE-HEADER

There will be a double-header of diamond ball tonight on the Lake Street front, the first game being between the high school girls team of New Smyrna and the Sanford girls team, scheduled to get under way at 7:30, to be immediately followed with a game between the Kivania Club team of New Smyrna and a picked team of Sanford players.

OH YEAH?

By PETER SCHAAL

Here's another Thursday afternoon again, and time for Oh Yeah to provide wholesome and hearty amusement for his 13 readers, (success!), by prognosticating the possible winners of the outstanding games to be played Saturday afternoon. One wit kindly suggested that Oh Yeah hold his selections until Friday afternoon when he might have the benefit of Grantland Rice's predictions which always appear in Friday morning papers. However, disdainfully declaring his thanks and assurance that there may be other Grantland Rices scattered throughout this broad land, Oh Yeah went into seclusion, polished his crystal and stalks through the ranks of the Pick-In-Winner contestants today with the following fruits of his labors.

Only one needs an explanation. For the past three weeks, Oh Yeah has been predicting a Florida victory through the air but as yet no such good fortune has come his way. That he should be correct. Although Oh Yeah saw the flag of Florida tattered and torn by a furious Bulldog last Saturday, he has not yet given up the ship, and sees a Gator victory over the Crimson Tide. An air attack will do the trick.

Here's the rest of the de-clination:
DUKE over Kentucky
FORDHAM over Detroit
LEHIGH over Princeton
N. Y. U. over Georgia
LAFAYETTE over Rutgers
MARYLAND-VANDERBILT in a tie
COLGATE over Penn State
DARTMOUTH over Harvard
CALIFORNIA over Washington
S. M. U. over Texas Aggies
NORTHWESTERN over Minnesota
NORTH CAROLINA-GEORGIA TECH in a tie
PITTSBURGH over Carnegie Tech
KANSAS AGGIES over Iowa State

Oh Yeah will tomorrow afternoon begin a new system of observing the play of local high school football players in a manner which may see a decided change in the stories of the game published the day after. He anticipates watching the line in action on every play instead of the man carrying the ball. That means that he may overlook the blocking, tackling, passing, punting and fumbling which goes on in the backfield, and someone may not get all the credit that he is due. But, it also means that Oh Yeah has decided that the line-man deserves most of the credit for every play, and that the long suffering line-man deserves more glory than he has been getting. In the past Oh Yeah has studied the work of each back and found it both good and bad until the line of scrimmage is reached. There, line after line, players whose speed and agility are never questioned find themselves charging into a tangle of arms and legs, and seeing chances snuffed out.

Tomorrow afternoon Oh Yeah therefore will concentrate on the line. He expects to watch Kanner at center and how that individual behaves on both the attack and defense. He expects to see every pass from that individual's hands to the backfield straight and sure, without being too high or too low. He hopes to see Kanner slide off the opposing guards and center and getting into the backfield every chance he can, while an offense he expects to see Kanner carry no less than two men out of the way and the play before getting down the field to act as inter-ferer extraordinary. He expects to see the guards getting their man on offense and their own line to cut down the defensive fullback before that individual has a chance to wreck a scoring play. He expects to see the guards charging through the line and getting that fullback every time, because he is the man who is supposed to carry the main defensive strength in the backfield, and it is the guards' duty to get him out of the way. He expects to see the guards with perfectly on offense, completely dominating their opposition on plays direct-

MCQUILLAN PUTS HIS MEN THROUGH PRACTICE DRILLS

Strives To Develop Finesse To Cope With Brawn Of Visitors

By PETER SCHAAL

DELAND, Nov. 5.—(Special)—Beef alone in these days of football warfare does not build a football team. It takes in addition football brains, accurate timing, deadly blocking and tackling, precision, and speed.

Realizing this, Coach McQuillan has doggedly set to work to develop these latter qualities in his Hatters to a point where they are second nature. When Stetson takes the field against Erskine on Friday afternoon, Coach McQuillan's gridmen will be outwitted, but from indications on the drill field during the past few days, they will not be outplayed.

Like the French, when they repelled the enemy drive at the Marne, and the battle cry of every soldier was "they shall not pass," a determined spirit has settled over the Hatter camp. Erskine will find it tough going against the Hatters.

Blocking, tackling, charging are being drilled relentlessly into his squad by Coach McQuillan and the results are showing in the work-outs for the Homecoming game here. In addition those fine points of football skill are being passed out to the Hatters, and they will not be caught napping.

Realizing that the Hatters may be out of them, or to their right or left.

He expects to see Riser and Ware in the enemy backfield twice as much as they have ever been before. They must surely know by this time that the tackle must get back there to interfere with the ball carrier and try and break up a pass or a punt, for they are about the only two line players who have more than an even chance of breaking through and getting back there. He expects to find Ware and Riser charging hard and low on offense, playing hard and spirited that the ends and guards on either side will take new courage and try their best to keep up with the tackles. That means that the whole line will move forward as one, and that's as it should be. They've got the hardest job of all the line-men to do, to do it in less than any other. And, provided they do it well, their team will be the winner, and they will get the credit.

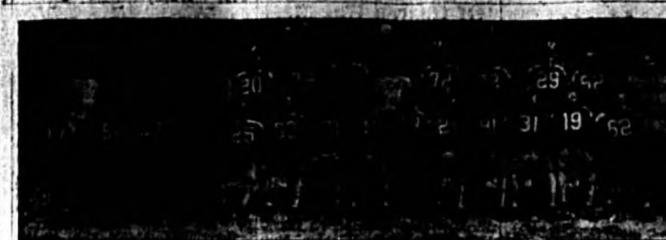

He expects to see Stanley and Preston down low on every play, tearing down the field to get the punt receiver deftly snagging passes on the offensive, cutting down the ball carrier who tries to get around end, and above all, keeping from being "sucked in" on simple criss backs and reverse plays. He expects both these boys to drop the opposing tackle in his tracks, and be on that ball carrier from the start.

To see all these things Oh Yeah may need a million eyes and a million brain cells where he can store away what he sees until time to collect it into story form, but, he's going to try. Whatever he sees a play that's worthy of note, he's going to make a mental note of it and if the line play tomorrow is as good as it has been for the past three weeks, Saturday's Herald ought to be one solid sheet of sentences such as this "Ware made a remarkable showing as a defensive tackle when he slid off his opponent and went into the backfield no less than 15 times to sweep the ball from the arms of the surprised halfback and had the referee so impressed till he penalized the Rollins outfit for having 12 men on the team instead of eleven."

In other words, if these backs of ours have ability as ball carriers who know how to strut away for touchdowns, they'll show that stuff when they get to and beyond the line of scrimmage. They'll never get beyond it if the line plays poorly, so, starting tomorrow, the line-men are going to get most of the glory unless the backs have found a way to go around and over the line. Whenever these backs do show their stuff they'll get plenty of credit, even if it kills them.

Don't forget that game tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, it's one of the last three to be played here, and it's going to be a good practice for the tough Orlando and Gainesville games here next week. Be there.

COACH McQUILLAN'S HUSKY 1931 STETSON SQUAD

Here are the football players who comprise the fastest, most powerful and huskiest grid eleven Coach H. R. McQuillan has developed since he began coaching at Stetson University some years ago. Central Florida fans will have their first opportunity to see them in action next Saturday afternoon when Stetson entertains the tricky Erskine College eleven as the feature of Home-Coming Day. The game starts at 3:00 o'clock. Armistice Day, Stetson will meet Millsaps College, of Mississippi, at Deland in what will be the hardest game of the entire season.

Football Flashes

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 5.—(A.P.)—Georgia Tech hopes to win at least one of its remaining four football games this year and North Carolina has been picked as the victim.

Coach Bill Alexander has shifted his guards and centers around this week in an effort to present his strongest possible front wall to the Tarheels here Saturday. Neblett, captain and center, may start at guard.

Carolina, Pennsylvania, Florida and Georgia are yet to be played. Tech fans feel the team has no chance against Pennsylvania and Georgia and but an outside chance against Florida.

The Jackets were sent through a long workout yesterday against Carolina players.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 5.—(A.P.)—Georgia completed its preparation for the Saturday game with New York University with a two-hour scrimmage yesterday afternoon and will entrain this morning.

Coach Harry Mehre was well pleased with the manner in which his squad handled the reserves.

Mehre was not pleased, however, at reports from New York that his team had been established as the favorites. "Any team is stronger and more revengeful after taking a licking and after N. Y. U.'s defeat by Oregon I fear the Violets will be gunning for us," he said.

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Nov. 5.—(A.P.)—Coach Thomas continued to drill his squad yesterday in an effort to perfect a combination with scoring punch, compensating by its absence in the game with Kentucky Saturday. Tuesday's long down scrimmage session was repeated yesterday.

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 5.—(A.P.)—The Plainsmen yesterday went through their last tilt scrimmage before their encounter with Tulane at Montgomery Saturday. Prospects brightened for Brown and Hatfield, regular backs who are nursing injuries, to be in the lineup against the Green Waves.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov. 5.—(A.P.)—Chuck Collins put the North Carolina Tarheels through a scrimmage yesterday in which first and second string varsity men were pitted against the third team. Practically all backfield men worked in varying combinations. The Tarheels met Georgia Tech Saturday.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 5.—(A.P.)—South Carolina went through its last long hard scrimmage yesterday for the Furman game here Saturday. Using Hurricane plays, the "Hohunks" took the ball in the scoring zone and made three touchdowns on the varsity, which was used on defense most of the afternoon.

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 5.—(A.P.)—A light offensive and defensive scrimmage against the freshmen ended the Wildcat, hard work this week for their conference battle with Duke here Saturday afternoon. Jack Phipps, fullback, was back on the first team.

They have to take to the aerial lanes in their attack, the Stetson mentor is getting in much pains with his tossers and receivers. The backs, Elton, Jetton, Masley, Big John Harriman, Wilkerson and Blastic are being primed for the running attack, and are showing more speed and certainty in their line plays.

The whole college atmosphere seems one of an inconceivable spirit, and it appears Erskine will be the team upon whom the Hatters reverse their earlier season reverses. Regardless of the outcome of the game Saturday, Coach McQuillan insists that the North Carolina team still are no better after the try, although realizing they have been in a football game.

Yesterday after being on the reserve eleven for two weeks.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 5.—(A.P.)—With all its crimples back in uniform, Vanderbilt yesterday continued its labor, in building up an offensive which it is hoped will sweep an invading Maryland team off its feet here Saturday. A non-scoring agreement precludes work on a defense.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, GAINESVILLE, Nov. 5.—Coach Brady Cowell had his Baby Gators galloping through a rough-and-tumble scrimmage on Fleming field yesterday afternoon, in preparation for their tilt with the Georgia Tech yearling, here Saturday.

The first-stringers worked against the reserves, who were using Tech plays, for a long period, and are ready to step out and defend their heretofore unblemished 1931 record. McNally, Arcadia, and Obie Bessant, former Robert E. Lee athlete, performed well in their scoring plays yesterday and are expected to give the Tech line all sorts of trouble.

The election figures had other aspects of interest to every politician. One was the overwhelming adoption of Governor Roosevelt's reforestation proposal in New York state, over the opposition of former Governor Smith. Another was the great numerical strength shown by the independent voter.

Politicians have had difficulty measuring the significance of the rift between Roosevelt and Smith. The reforestation plan fostered by Roosevelt attracted no attention outside New York until Smith opposed it. Guesses differ as to the extent it meted the strength of Roosevelt against that of Smith. Certainly in many parts of the country, however, the victory will be accepted as a Roosevelt victory.

Senator Borah of Idaho said yesterday it was the most significant thing in all the returns, and would "add to the prestige of Roosevelt."

The development of an even greater army of voters who refuse continuing allegiance to any party will be considered by both Democrats and Republicans as presidential candidacies take form.

In New Jersey, where the late Senator Morrow had a Republican majority of some 200,000 in the Democratic year of 1930, Governor-elect Moore rolled up yesterday a Democratic majority of more than 250,000. In the eighth Michigan district, which provided the margin needed by the Democrats for House control, the Republicans won last year by 20,000. In that one district, close to 12,500 must have changed their allegiance within 12 months to give the Democrats a majority of 4000.

This is bad news for the old guard of whatever party. It stirs the speculations of those who are thinking of opposing President Hoover for renomination and those who are inclined to strike out on Democratic quests of their own, despite the present outstanding position of Roosevelt.

It was one of the surprising results of yesterday's voting that the fifth New Jersey district, where a special election for Congress is to be held next month, gave the Democratic ticket a lead of 12,000. Not even the most optimistic of Democratic national leaders had supposed there would be an opportunity to pick up a new member of the House from the Republican stronghold. They still were a little doubtful about it last night, but they will try.

wood was busy preparing for the tourist season, with 14 hotels and 70 apartment houses ready for opening. The Winter plant of Riverside Military Academy was ready for the 600 boys and faculty who will come from Gainesville, Fla.

Work on the $1,750,000 addition to the paper manufacturing plant of the Canton Fibre Company at Canton, N. C., was under way, with the contract let and steel and other materials on order. The addition is planned to add 70 tons daily to the book paper output of the mill, operated as an adjunct to a large pulp mill and tanning extract plant.

Officials of the Gulf States Steel Company have disclosed operations in all departments of the plant at Gadsden, Ala., will be resumed Monday. Many departments of the plant have been shut down for some time and others were working on reduced schedules.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(A.P.)—President Hoover estimated yesterday that 50,000 new are now directly and indirectly employed on the public buildings program and that the number will be doubled by Jan. 1.

In a formal statement, the Chief Executive said a total of 817 projects have so far been specifically authorized and that 222 firms of architects are engaged in plans and supervision.

Tracing the progress of the program, Mr. Hoover said that 151 buildings have been completed at a cost of $11,941,560, with sixteen finished during September and October.

Labor Cut Results In Cheaper Repair Work

Recent drastic cuts in labor charges for Ford repair operations at the Strickland-Harris, Inc., garage on Commercial Street are meeting with a hearty response on the part of Seminole County Ford owners, according to Homer Harris, general manager of the Ford plant here.

The reduction will remain in effect for a limited time, Mr. Harris said, as he called attention to the fact that it effected labor charges only.

A 25 per cent reduction went into effect on Tuesday. Mr. Harris said, and since then many Ford owners have taken advantage of the new low labor costs, and are having their automobiles gone over by the expert mechanics which now comprise the personnel of the Ford plant here.

JAP SOLDIERS ARE KILLED BY CHINESE FORCE

A foreign office spokesman said that until the question was raised, Japan took it for granted that China accepted the 1915 treaty as valid. In Geneva, however, the Chinese representative declared the treaty "twenty-one demands" and had been signed under duress, making it illegal.

The 1915 treaty provided for extension of the leases on the south Manchurian and Antung-Mukden railways and the Kwantung leased territory for 99 years, and defined the rights of Japanese nationals in South Manchuria.

Had it not been for this treaty, the leases on the railways and the Kwantung territory, including the excellent seaport of Dairen, would have expired in 1923. Under the treaty they will expire in 1997.

As understood in official circles here, M. Briand has recommended acceptance by Japan of China's proposal for reference of the existing Sino-Japanese treaties to the Hague court. Japanese officials insist upon the validity of the treaty commitments.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 3. (A.P.)—The five demands made on China by Japan as essential conditions for the evacuating of Manchuria have been met, and therefore Japanese troops should get out, Aristide Briand, chairman of the League of Nations council, said in a note published yesterday.

On behalf of the council Briand called on the Japanese government to carry out its promise, made in the council in September, by moving its soldiers back into the railway zone as rapidly as security conditions permit.

In the note, which was sent to Keikichi Yoshizawa, Japan's delegate to the League of Nations, Briand pointed out that the council voted 13 to 11 10 days ago that Japan should evacuate.

Moreover, the council chairman said, the resolution of Sept. 30 calling for "rapid evacuation" resulted in Japan receiving Japan's support—"retains it, full execution of force."

In accepting the council's recommendations, Briand declared the Chinese government has met the first four of Japan's fundamental demands, since the council and Japan were in agreement on these points.

The four demands concern: actual repudiation of aggressive policy and conduct; respect for China's territorial integrity; suppression of all organized movements interfering with freedom of trade and stirring international hatred; and effective protection of the Japanese population in Manchuria.

The fifth point demanded "respect for the treaty rights of Japan in Manchuria." In this connection Briand asserted that Dr. Alfred Sze, China's spokesman, had acknowledged that "China is bound by the covenant of the League to scrupulous respect of all treaty obligations."

Gardiner Comes To Washington To Face Navy League Heads
WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(A.P.)—Unperturbed and smiling, William Howard Gardiner returned to Washington yesterday to face the directing heads of his own Navy League summoned to consider his unprecedented attack on President Hoover.

The league's executive committee will meet today to decide whether the League will support or disown a pamphlet in which Gardiner's work was termed the President "abominably ignorant" on naval affairs.

The meeting will practically coincide with that of the Hoover board.

TERMITES
The insects with a $40,000,000 appetite. Many ask, "Is this something new?" I never heard much of Termites before. Termites have been known a long time—many millions of years claimed by paleontologists. Lack of understanding of the insect, however, is the main cause. Flying Termites (usually called "White Ants") are seen generally in Spring and Fall.

When they are seen, they are not to be feared, but they are to be watched. They are not to be killed, but they are to be driven out. They are not to be feared, but they are to be watched. They are not to be killed, but they are to be driven out.

crats organize the House, he would make an effort to arrange that the House judiciary committee, which handles prohibition legislation, have an equal number of wets and drys in its membership.

The wet bloc chairman also said a drive would be made to reduce the appropriations for prohibition enforcement in proportion to the reduction on the navy's budget.

He said if President Hoover wanted such an important government department as the navy to curtail expenditures, the prohibition division, which he termed the least important, should also slash its outlays.

The Marylander announced he would reintroduce a bill to authorize manufacture and sale of 1 percent beer by weight and would demand hearings before the judiciary committee.

In that connection Representative Shaver, of Wisconsin, a Republican member of the bloc, said he would introduce his bill, calling for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and the establishment of government liquor dispensaries.

Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, said "the election is not only a complete victory for getting rid of prohibition but it is also a particular triumph in that it shows a large number of voters who think they can lead the people on this issue."

Curran hailed an "outstanding" eighth Michigan district vote and the New Jersey gubernatorial outcome.

"I wonder if the Republican victors will wake up in time to make a complete knock-out in 1932," he asked. "The people of the country are not so easily duped and they are not buying enough the days to stand any more fooling about it."

William Wolf, vice president of the American Federation of Labor and chairman of labor's national committee for nullification of the Volstead Act, said "wet" victors were registered everywhere and in such splendid proportion that there is no mistaking the sentiment of the electorate on the importance of the outcome.

Ingalls Announces For Ohio Governor's Race

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (A.P.)—David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy for procurement, will enter the Republican race for governor of Ohio.

Ingalls, who served two terms in the Ohio House of Representatives before coming to the Navy Department will file for the nomination.

He said today he would conduct his campaign by airplane and will retain his post here until Congress has acted upon the Naval Appropriations bill at its coming session.
