

Mom A 'Prisoner' Of Concern For Son

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please tell me what would be the advice to parents of a once good and decent bright son who has turned to drugs — mostly marijuana but other things as well. He was once ambitious and hard working. He dropped out of college and began to travel. He hasn't worked since and he is now 27. He is in another state and maintaining communications is extremely difficult, although maybe no harder than when he was living at home.

I know other mothers and fathers in the same situation. People I used to sit beside at ballgames, when I meet them on the street I can see in their eyes the hope that I won't ask about their son, just as I hope they don't ask about mine and they usually don't. Living in a rural area we are cut off from groups that might help. I have tried the conventional means — positive communications, having him home and supporting him at school and nothing helps. We have looked forward to the years when our children would be raised and we would have a little extra money and time to do the things we hadn't been able to do to do. Now I find myself nearly a prisoner in my concern for him. It is affecting me both physically and emotionally.

DEAR READER — Of course you can't be certain that the problem is caused by marijuana or even other drugs. It may be a problem associated with his development and his relationship with you, plus his response to the kind of environment that he wishes to associate himself with. Nevertheless, the problem exists and it is causing you considerable difficulty. I wish I had a good solution for the numerous parents who find themselves in similar situations with a breakdown in com-

At this point West followed with the jack. South relaxed completely and gave the smile of a man about to get the last match points for overtricks.
He led a spade to dummy's queen. Then he took the surefire finesse against East's king of diamonds. Only to have West produce his majesty.
Three club tricks and two spades were quickly taken to leave declarer with no match points at all instead of the expected 10.

Forest City Slaying: Clues Eyed

... Intruder May Have Visited Victim's Home

By DENNIS FEOLA
Herald Staff Writer

A Forest City woman found murdered Monday may have been killed only a few hours after reporting to sheriff's deputies someone tried to enter her home.

And, police said today they have taken fingerprints from the crime scene they believe belong to the person who entered the woman's garage.

Patricia L. Smith called sheriff's deputies at 11:07 p.m. on June 21 to report that someone entered the garage area of her home by removing a glass window and unbarring the door.

According to records, some property was moved around in the garage, but nothing was taken. A fingerprint was lifted from a jalousie window and turned over to the identification department of the sheriff's office.

Miss Smith, 35, was found strangled in the bedroom of her home Monday at 1206 Gay St., Forest City.

Sheriff's department spokesman John Spolski said detectives are continuing to investigate the possibility the murder of Miss Smith may be related to the death of Evelyn Rogers Dennis, 35, who lived within a mile of Miss Smith at 611 Bear Lake Terrace in Forest City.

Both women were reported to have been dead at least two days before their bodies were discovered.

Detective Al Sanchez is investigating Mrs. Dennis' death. "It is a class investigation," Spolski said. "We are not in a position to classify it as a homicide."

Court Rules For Bakke And For Racial Quotas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today ruled Allan Bakke must be admitted to the University of California medical school in the "reverse discrimination" case, but upheld the right of governments to "take race into account" to remedy disadvantages.

Bakke, 38, who is white, had sued, but when the medical school had turned him down for entrance and admitted a black student with lower entrance scores under its program of setting aside 16 percent of openings for minorities.

But in ruling Bakke must be admitted, the court strongly upheld the university's right and that of other governmental bodies — to set racial quotas.

Justice Lewis Powell, writing the leading opinion, said California courts "failed to recognize that the state has a substantial interest that legitimately may be served by a properly devised admissions program involving the competitive consideration of race and ethnic origin."

And four justices joined to say that in their interpretation the decision "affirms the constitutional power of federal and state government to act affirmatively to achieve equal opportunity for all."

Three California courts had ruled Bakke must be admitted, the university conceded it could not prove he still would have been barred had there been no minority admission program.

Because of this, Powell said, Bakke's admission must be upheld.

But despite the technicality on this particular case, the court said overwhelmingly that the university had every right to take ethnic background into consideration in future admissions.

Powell said it may be assumed that reserving a specified number of openings in each class for preferred groups would contribute to considerable ethnic diversity in the student body. But he said the university's argument that this is the only effective means of doing so "is seriously flawed."

A compelling state interest that would justify consideration of race or ethnic background is not "in simple ethnic diversity," said Powell, but "encompasses a far broader array of qualifications and characteristics of which racial or ethnic origin is but a single though important element."

He said the Davis program, which focused solely on ethnic diversity, would hinder rather than help attain "genuine diversity."

Justice William Brennan, in an opinion joined by Byron White, Thurgood Marshall and Harry Blackmun, said today's "Government may take race into account when it acts not to demean or insult any racial group, but to remedy disadvantages cast on minorities by past racial prejudice, at least when appropriate findings have been made by judicial, legislative or administrative bodies with competence to act in this area."

Six separate opinions were filed in the long-awaited case.

Although the nine justices did not speak together in any one opinion, Brennan said, "This should not and must not mask the central meaning of today's opinions."

"Government may take race into account when it acts not to demean or insult any racial group, but to remedy disadvantages cast on minorities by past racial prejudice, at least when appropriate findings have been made by judicial, legislative or administrative bodies with competence to act in this area."

Powell, while saying race may be taken into account in university admissions, said this particular program did not stand up. This made a five-man and Justice Warren Burger and Justice John Paul Stevens, Peter Stewart and William Rehnquist said Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits programs such as that at the Davis Medical School, and thus Bakke's rights were violated and he should be admitted.

Winter Springs Politics: Recall, Resignation Reign

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The ouster of two Winter Springs councilmen, proposed by a former federally funded Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) employee every this month, a complicated procedure under state law has become even more complex.

The latest developments: Mayor Troy Piland said Sunday he may run for the district 4 seat on the county commission. But to be a candidate for that office he must not only resign as mayor by Saturday, but must also move out of Winter Springs by July 2.

Tuesday night Councilmen John Daniels, the city's deputy mayor for nearly 16 months, gave up that post. He remains a councilman.

The city council unanimously selected Councilman Laurent Pelier, in office only seven months, as new deputy mayor.

City Attorney Thomas Lang, in response to questions from the Evening Herald, said city law provides the deputy mayor will succeed the mayor if Piland resigns.

Lang also said state law on recall may not permit the recall of a mayor and, thus, if Piland resigns and Pelier succeeds him, Pelier may not be the subject of a recall.

Clerks in Seminole Supervisor of Election Camilla Bruce's office began to check the signatures on the initiating petition circulated by Charles Mori for the recall, but were having difficulty deciphering signatures.

In the meantime, Councilmen Thomas Craven and Burt Logan have issued statements of support for their colleagues.

Speaking from a prepared statement Tuesday night, Craven said the recall movement "does not indicate an act in the best interests of the city. Rather, I view the act to oust Daniels and Pelier as an attempt by certain self-centered individuals with selfish interests to remove councilmen who stand in their way."

"The mystery-men involved are using a frustrated errand boy," to do their dirty work in a surreptitious and cowardly manner," said Craven referring to Mori.

Logan said he would support and vote for Daniels and Pelier if their names were on the ballot today. He said there are no valid basis for the petition. "I have faith in the citizens and that it will turn out all right," said Logan.

As the petition drive was concluded late last week, Pelier accused Piland of being behind the recall move, calling Mori "Piland's pawns."

Piland denied the charge saying he had not seen a copy of the petition and would not sign one if asked.

Former City Attorney Gary Massey, fired by the council a move led by Daniels, admitted he had answered some legal questions for Mori and his counsel, adding that he is not directly involved.

"As far as the petition goes, I support the recall of both men. As far as that's concerned, I will do anything and work in any way possible to see that John Daniels is not only recalled but never was another election," said Massey.

Massey refused to confirm or deny any involvement in drafting the recall petition which charges Daniels and Pelier with inefficiency and misfeasance in office.

Massey was in the audience Tuesday night as Daniels resigned as deputy mayor. Daniels was next in line to succeed Piland if Piland resigns. Massey questioned Daniels about why he was resigning. Daniels refused to respond.

After the meeting Daniels said he resigned because he will be devoting time to aiding his daughter and her family in their resettlement in the area.

"Much of the work of the deputy mayor has to be done in the afternoon," he said, "and that is when I would be helping my daughter."

Daniels said he explained his action to his colleagues after the meeting.

The state law providing a uniform method of recall of elected municipal officials throughout the state is very complex. It requires two See RECALL, Page 1A

... Bakke

Brennan, White, Marshall and Blackman held the Davis program constitutional, and wanted to reverse the California court on all points. Powell joined with the Brennan group in saying that some uses of race in university admissions are permissible — making five votes to reverse the California court's prohibition on the university establishing race-conscious programs in the future.

The Justice Department had urged the court to send the case back to California for more proceedings to determine what might have happened if the school had been operating an appropriate program. But Powell said there is no reason for that.

He said since Bakke was injured solely on the basis of an unlawful classification, the university cannot now indulge in thoughts that it might have achieved the same results by using lawful means.

The university had reserved 16 spaces for minorities out of 100 in each first-year class at the medical school. The objective was to give preference to disadvantaged applicants and promote diversity among the student body and in the medical profession.

How Good She Looks

Mrs. Walker has been receiving telephone calls telling her how good she looks... at age 68. That's the truth of the matter in, Mrs. Walker is a bit indisposed over the charges proclaiming her a full-fledged seasoned citizen.

The Herald promises readers to be the first to know when Mrs. Walker is back in town. And we're the only ones who will tell you when she's back in town. And we're the only ones who will tell you when she's back in town.

Residents in the vicinity of two of the hydrants to pay for repairing.

The two hydrants which have already been capped are at Narcissus and Brown Avenues and First Street. The estimated cost is about $1,200. The commission would continue to pay the $50 maintenance fee on each hydrant as well as on the other 16.

Fourteen other hydrants are located at Sunland Estates; the other two are at Gidenville Heights.

At an earlier commission meeting, the issue was tabled pending more research. The city previously had contacted the county to see if the responsibility could be transferred to the county, but no agreement had been reached. The Seminole County Commission has voted not to pay a $38 per year rental on the hydrants.

Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff explained the hydrants were part of water systems taken over by the city. He and fellow commissioners maintained that taking over the water system left the responsibility of maintaining the hydrants with the city.

The county also recently turned down a similar request by the City of Casselberry to assume responsibility for hydrants in a water system taken over by that city.

At Monday's city commission meeting Commissioner John Morris as he had at the earlier meeting stressed the city should continue to maintain the hydrants, and if they get damaged, they should be repaired.

The commission also gave unanimous approval to the first reading of the bicycle ordinance which would prohibit riding bicycles on sidewalks in areas designated as commercial or business.

The commissioners heard from Nora Gordon, president of the Sanford Business Association, who cited several cases of people getting hit.

Also addressing the meeting was Arla Wright who asked the commissioners to consider the problem of students who use the sidewalks to get to Sanford Plaza on French Avenue. According to Mrs. Wright, many children, hers included, go to the plaza to watch movies and use the sidewalk from 27th Street to the plaza.

The commissioners unanimously agreed to add a stipulation to the ordinance which would not affect areas that are designated as bike paths and the area on French Avenue will get this designation.

The commissioners also agreed to table the suggestion to have the county absorb the animal control functions now provided by the city.

City Manager Warren Knowles had suggested that approval of the idea would save city residents about $22,000 a year.

However, McClanahan who had originally made the proposal, said he did not like the idea of the county taking over the function but not using the city employees.

"They don't want our people and will not use our facility and I don't think they would be able to give the response our people deserve," McClanahan said.

Knowles suggested that the commission table the idea until budget hearings begin so they can consider the effect in less than the total city budget.

An Orlando man is being held at the Seminole County jail for selling marijuana to minors.

A Casselberry man has been arrested for theft and disorderly conduct.

Bond for John Lawrence Small, 31, of 421 N. Water Park Drive, is set at $5,250. He was stopped by a sheriff's deputy at 12:30 p.m. today on 17-48, 17-42.

Jail records indicate the car he was driving was reported stolen and the deputy said Small was unable to cooperate because of his intoxicated condition.

'Cool War'

The deteriorating U.S.-Soviet relationship is perhaps the most significant single development in the world today.

It has enormous ramifications that are being felt and observed in every continent.

Some critics, mostly congressmen and commentators of liberal persuasion, seem to blame President Carter and, more specifically, Zbigniew Brzezinski, his national security adviser, for the growing chill with Moscow.

They even suggest the administration's toughening stance is a politically inspired ploy to reserve the president's sagging standing in the opinion polls.

The fact to remember is that the Soviet Union is primarily responsible for worsening relations. Soviet-Cuban intrusions in Africa gave Mr. Carter little choice but to show some U.S. backbone.

In retrospect, the invasion of Zaire's Shaba province by Katangan troops based in neighboring Angola was one of those occurrences with consequences far exceeding what anyone had a right to expect at the time.

Certainly the Russians and Cubans could not anticipate that Zaire, for which they were blamed, would be a pivotal point in world diplomacy at this time. After all, they had occupied Angola and intervened in Ethiopia with minimal repercussions.

But Zaire brought a swift intervention from France and Belgium with active American cooperation; it brought defeat for the invading rebels; and it brought a semi-NATO involvement.

It also elevated Mr. Brzezinski's pragmatic influence in the White House and eclipsed such accommodations as U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young and the more passive State Department.

The president was moved on June 7 to warn the Soviet Union to choose between confrontation or cooperation.

His address to Naval Academy graduates at Annapolis was the best speech of his presidency and, in fact, included the clearest definitions of U.S.-Soviet differences ever uttered by any president.

Mr. Carter's impressive offense in the realm of ideas produced a rapid Russian response that, in itself, has been a cause of growing international tension.

The bitter worldwide propaganda campaign Moscow has mounted against the United States is without parallel in recent times. Pravda has singled out Mr. Carter for the most vitriolic personal attacks ever remembered against a U.S. president.

Even more disturbing was the recent arrest of U.S. businessman F. Jay Crawford on charges of currency violations. Mr. Crawford has now been released in return for release of two Russians at the United Nations charged with spying.

The status of Mr. Crawford and the two spies remains uncertain today, but the detention of Mr. Crawford, representative of International Harvester, pretty well refutes the long-held theory that Soviet behavior would be tempered by more trade and closer cultural ties.

Other consequences flowing from the current 'cool war' include a correspondingly warmer relationship with mainland China and a lessening chance for agreement on strategic arms limitations.

Things between Washington and Moscow may get worse before they get better. But, in view of the aging hierarchy in the Kremlin, chances are that nothing will get dangerously bad. Meanwhile, because the Russians have a way of pulling back whenever their thrusts are blunted, confrontation may offer more promise for the West at the moment than cooperation.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Better real in, Frank. The boat has swung around and I think you're fishin' Canadian waters now!"

Around

The Clock

By LEONARD KRANSDORF

It started out as a craze but has since become a part of the everyday life for many people.

If you take a look around the streets of Sanford and indeed around Seminole County you will quickly notice that exercising in all forms is not only being done by a select few but has spread to all age groups.

My contribution to this syndrome is jogging at least three and if possible four times a week. It is during my jogs that I see the diverse types of people and exercise they are engaged in.

Several days ago while huffing and puffing down Palmetto Avenue I was passed by an elderly couple pedaling feverishly behind me. However, this is not to say they were upset at what they were doing. On the other hand they both had smiles across their faces and were conversing while riding.

And when they passed me and gave a wave it was encouraging that people no matter what age still take an interest in keeping fit.

This is not to say that everyone should just run out (so to speak) and begin exercising, because depending on the person some exercising may be more appropriate than others.

Additionally, if you look around you will see that not only are older people hitting the bicycle riding trail but are jogging like myself. And by golly while at 23 I think I'm in good shape this thought evaporates when I see older men pass me and not only go farther but faster as well.

Then of course there are the people at the other end of the spectrum.

These are the students in their teens who are hitting the jogging trail along the side streets and highways. While it is not as discouraging to see them pass me because I figure they are in better shape anyway.

But like watching the oldersters, observing these younger people exercise is also encouraging for as they are taking an interest in their health and more than likely this interest will result in them being the ones who in 40 years are passing some 25-year-old jogging down the street.

This recreation is not to mean that everyone, no matter what age, should just run out (so to speak) and try to set a new record for running or cycling. For many it would be wise to consult a doctor and, once approved, it is necessary to start out slow and set some type of goal.

But once you set your mind to it, stick with it. Because while it is bound to get depressing, when you get bored or tired the benefits are much better.

For not only can you see your fellow residents doing the same thing, but it also is an interesting way to observe the city and especially on the side streets. You don't have all the traffic and people and can enjoy the many sights in the neighborhood.

And, finally, in the most literal sense you are getting an extended lease on life which in itself is reason enough.

GOP Claims Tax Revolt

WASHINGTON — Although a new Associated Press-NBC News poll indicates the great 1978 tax revolt is not a partisan issue, the Republican Party is doing its best to make it one.

National GOP leaders, undeterred by the survey findings that voters are about evenly divided when asked which party could do a better job holding down taxes, are redoubling their efforts to cash in on the wave of taxpayer resentment rolling eastward from California.

Convinced that the tax revolt reaches far beyond local property levies, Republican strategists are urging their candidates for Congress and state offices to build their campaigns around a call for major tax relief at all levels of government.

They are giving special emphasis to the so-called Kemp-Roth bill, named after Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., and Sen. William Roth, R-Del., which would slash federal income taxes 30 percent across the board over three years.

Unlike traditional GOP economic proposals, the Kemp-Roth plan does not depend upon massive cutbacks in federal spending. It is premised on the controversial theory of economist Arthur Laffer that lower taxes would ultimately produce more, not less, revenue by jolting up the economy.

The RNC is now shooting a half-hour film on taxes and inflation which it plans to start airing this summer, in whole and in segments, on independent television stations across the nation.

The movie, which has a production budget of $65,000 to $75,000, will also be made available to state party organizations for showings at campaign gatherings or via local TV where the party groups can afford time buys.

In addition, the RNC and GOP congressional campaign committees are preparing issue packets for distribution to Republican candidates and are exploring other proposals for spreading the word on taxes and their link with inflation.

Last fall, while Proposition 13 was no more than a speck on the California horizon, the GOP National Committee, the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee and the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee thrashed out tentative plans for an even more ambitious 1978 blitz built around the tax issue.

At the time, however, Senate Minority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. expressed doubts about the significance of the issue and the cost and effectiveness of an all-out joint crusade. As a consequence, the scheme was shelved. Some of those who favored the plan back then are now daily muttering "I told you so" behind Baker's back.

Not all GOP strategists are convinced of the wisdom of national party leaders trying to set the tone of campaigns from Hawaii to Maine, whether the suggested focus is on taxes or some other issue.

"I'm leery of the party trying to dictate from Washington what the major issue should be in local campaigns," said Steven Stockmeyer, executive director of the GOP Congressional Campaign Committee.

"I think the big anti-crime push orchestrated by the Nixon-Agnew White House in 1970 backfired on us, and I'm skeptical of that kind of stuff."

'Bombed' Pilots Bring Death To Skyways

WASHINGTON — A drunken driver can lose his license and be ruled off the highways as a public menace. For the same individual can go to an airport, take off at the controls of a private plane and endanger the lives of thousands of unsuspecting air travelers.

The appalling fact is that the federal regulators are denied access to records that would permit them to identify and ground alcoholic pilots who have been declared unfit to drive a car. An estimated 12,000 pilots have had their automobile permits suspended or revoked for drunken driving, yet they still possess licenses to fly small planes.

We have found no record of a major air disaster that was caused by a pilot flying while he was liquor-soaked. But pilot drunkenness was involved in more than 200 small-plane crashes in the last five years. For the 200 people who died in these crashes, the fact that the accidents were unexpected made them no less tragic.

A commercial airline pilot is carefully policed to prevent his drinking for at least 16 hours before a flight. But his society can't prove a nationwide private fleet from consuming into an airplane.

Yet the Federal Aviation Administration is prohibited by law from using a computer bank in the Transportation Department, which would quickly identify licensed pilots who have been convicted of drunken driving.

'Just biding my time...'

WASHINGTON WORLD

The True Believers

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans for Democratic Action, the True Believers of New Deal liberalism, gathered in Washington last week to hear Sen. George McGovern implore them to keep the faith.

The South Dakota Democrat, president of the 31-year-old liberal organization, ran up the "Supremacy, hell!" pennant in the face of Proposition 13, right-wing primary victories and the discovery that Jimmy Carter is a centrist. He told the ADA convention that he does not and will not abandon the idea that the government can solve national problems.

Just as Harry Goldwater was annealed in his conservatism by the walloping he took from Lyndon Johnson in 1964, McGovern made clear that he remains a double-edged, galvanized liberal despite the loss of 49 states to Richard Nixon in 1972, and the much-heralded public shift to the political right since.

"To give up on government now, to turn our backs on those who have been left behind, to decide that all we can do is keep our own shirt, is to give up on our own best instincts," McGovern said. "It is an American; it is unacceptable."

Although McGovern's speech sounded like a challenge to those who say the California property tax referendum means Big Government is on the slide, even he felt the necessity to explain how to reduce government spending — cut the military. "The real spendthrifts are the hardline hawks," he said, and suggested a SALT agreement could save the nation $75 billion in five years.

On the political level, McGovern's speech on its face was an attack on the "New Right" and the old goblins of privilege, obvious texts for a sermon by ADA's leader. But just below the surface was as clear a threat to Jimmy Carter as clear as any Republican ever threw down.

McGovern analyzed Carter's 1978 State of the Union address as a statement of government "powerlessness" and then, after describing Carter as "a dedicated, conscientious man who longs to be a good president," declared:

"We elect leaders to set goals and solve problems, not to plead that they are insoluble. And in the final analysis, their leadership must be a moral one. I do not mean the moralism of insubstantial piety or dreary self-righteousness. Moral leadership does not tell us how good we are, but how we can do better."

Some of the reporters, who were given an advance text of the speech, thought they recognized an impending comeback in the months approaching election year. If not of challenging Carter in 1980. With some emphasis, McGovern said, his Senate term ends that year and that was what he was concentrating on.

But he added that some Democrats might take it as a sign that if the president is not doing well in the months approaching election year, he, who? Teddy Kennedy's name came up. Jerry Brown's did not. And that, for what it is worth, is where the head of the True Believers is at.

The SBA: Career Hazard

Caution: working for the Small Business Administration can be hazardous to the health of your career.

That's what the three authors of two S.B.A. studies found when their reports drew conclusions contrary to positions taken by the Carter White House on legislation.

The first case involved the Consumer Protection Agency bill which died in Congress last fall for the umpteenth time. The White House was pulling out the stops for it. Esther Peterson, Mr. Carter's consumer affairs adviser, was scurrying about Washington lobbying for it.

When the S.B.A.'s Office of Advocacy published its report on the bill, concluding that its passage would harm small businesses, the roof fell in. The White House ordered S.B.A. chief Vernon Weaver to write to each member of Congress affirming the agency's support for the bill. On top of that, the author of the report, Barbara Dunn, was fired.

More recently, the S.B.A. for three months sat on a report critical of the current labor law "reform" bill now being debated in the Senate. Among other things, the report — again from S.B.A.'s Office of Advocacy — said the bill "would trip the delicate balance which exists between small business and labor in favor of the latter."

Apparently fearing its impact on the Senate, S.B.A. locked up the report until pressure from Sen. Orrin Hatch (R-Utah) proved too much. He finally got a copy of the report only after S.B.A. had attacked it in a letter to his own report, along with a one-page rebuttal by the Labor Department.

As for the authors of the report that turned into a hot potato, one was "let go" when his temporary appointment ran out and the other, Office of Advocacy Director Steve Mollett, is reported by the Washington Post to be in fear of losing his job.

The labor "reform" bill would make it easier for unions to organize workers, especially in small business, according to the S.B.A. report. If the bill passes, it says, "a largely unorganized management" will be pitted against an efficient and effective union effort.

Despite much sympathetic talk about small business in official Washington, President Carter's need to mend his fences with the hierarchy of organized labor seems to be several notches higher on the priority ladder these days.

Meanwhile, over at the Federal Aviation Administration, Big Brother is alive and well. A new regulation has been proposed that is so silly that one is tempted to believe it was concocted by one of those Nader Raiders who have managed to land themselves nice jobs in the regulatory agencies in recent months.

This regulation stems from the fact that a few people are injured each year in airplanes because they have failed to keep their seat belts buckled in routine flights which encountered sudden turbulence.

Although millions and millions of trouble-free passenger miles are logged every year, the F.A.A. suspects that since a few people are injured we are all too dumb to take care of ourselves.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

No Charges Expected Against Runaway Boys

ORLANDO (UPI) — Volusia County State Attorney Steve Boyles says he does not have sufficient proof to file criminal charges against two teen-age boys located at a San Francisco Christian commune after they were believed missing for two months.

Daytona Beach and Orlando authorities engaged in the search for Dwight Jackson, 17, of Winter Park and Greg Smith, 18, of Maitland discussed with Boyles the possibility of filing criminal charges against the pair.

They disappeared April 28 and their glasses and wallets were discovered on a beach in Daytona, leading their parents to believe Jackson and Smith were killed or abducted.

Police discovered Monday that the boys had traveled to a Christian commune in San Francisco and planned to keep their identities secret in hopes of converting their friends.

Mrs. McEachern To Testify

WINTER PARK (UPI)— The ex-wife of former Orange County Sheriff Leigh O. McEachern was expected to testify today about his grand larceny indictments before a statewide grand jury meeting for the week in Winter Park.

Louise McEachern, who was divorced from McEachern June 12, was expected to be called as a defense witness when the former sheriff's trial starts Sept. 11. He was indicted for siphoning money from the sheriff department's investigative fund March 1 and fired. He now works for a Winter Park realtor.

Slurry Pipeline Considered

WINTER PARK (UPI)— Officials of Florida Gas Co. believe a proposed slurry pipeline, to carry liquefied coal to utilities plants in this state and in Georgia, will prove to be efficient, economic and ecologically desirable.

A feasibility study on the project, in which the slurry would be pumped from Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois, is expected to be ready by late fall.

The study was jointly commissioned by a group of seven firms — Florida Gas Co., Florida Power & Light Co., Southern Company Services (Georgia Power and Gulf Power Companies), Tampa Electric Co., City of Gainesville Utilities, and Seminole Electric Cooperative.

Haitians Arrive in Florida

MIAMI (UPI) — Five boats carrying 138 Haitian men, women and children seeking jobs arrived in south Florida Tuesday, apparently the result of a Bahamian crackdown.

The Bahamas government last week rounded up 279 Haitians who had been living there and ordered them to either leave the country or be deported.

The first boat Tuesday arrived at Palm Beach at 3 a.m. with 21 Haitians aboard and the last, containing 22 refugees, was spotted off Hillsboro Inlet in north Broward County at 11 a.m.

Workmen's Comp Increases

SARASOTA (UPI) — Workers' compensation insurance will cost Florida employers $677 million this year—37 percent more than last year—a state official says.

Joe Mastrovito of the Commerce Department said Tuesday the amount this year will be $677 compared to $493 in 1977. Mastrovito says the cost of the compensation insurance has increased more than 200 percent over the past four years.

Rogue Gator Being Hunted

DEERFIELD BEACH (UPI) — The rogue gator that attacked a small boy as he dipped minnows in a lake was hunted through the night by police and a veteran Everglades trapper.

The alligator will be killed under the state Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission policy of trapping "nuisance" gators in populated areas.

Askew Signs PSC Bill

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Reubin Askew says an appointed Public Service Commission will be fair to both the consumers and the utilities, but probably will be forced to raise utility rates.

"We must be honest and say the cost of electricity and other utilities is going to increase," Askew said Tuesday as he signed a bill expanding the PSC from three to five members who will be appointed instead of elected. "But those increases are going to have to be clearly justified."

New Police Home In Winter Springs?

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Winter Springs police department, housed in a trailer adjacent to city hall, may be getting a new home. But the city hall staff may also be moved in the process.

The city council Tuesday night voted unanimously to instruct City Planner Dick Rosansky and Public Works Director Ray Bradshaw to obtain cost estimates for building four offices at the rear of the city's community building for the city hall staff.

The council agreed that the offices at the community building will be a temporary measure of only 18 months duration at the most while plans are formulated for construction of a new building near city hall. The cost of constructing a new building has been estimated at $100,000.

The police department is to be moved into the city hall office space and the trailer abandoned after the offices are built.

Mayor Troy Piland said the police trailer probably could not pass a fire inspection.

The council told Rosansky and Bradshaw to obtain cost estimates to have a portion of the work sub-contracted with the city providing the materials and labor for most of the construction.

The city hall was designed originally to be constructed in phases with the fire department section constructed first. But city hall offices were added.

Rosansky was also instructed to search for federal grants to build a permanent building.

In other business, the council on a split 5-2 vote with Piland breaking the tie authorized payment of $987.50 to former City Attorney Gary Massey.

Councilman Thomas Craven, who had said he would not approve payment of the bill for services rendered by Massey after the council had fired him and before new City Attorney Thomas Lang was appointed, said he changed his mind to "get on with the future business of this city."

Councilman Burt Logan made the motion to approve payment. Councilmen John Daniels and Laurent Pelletier voted against payment. With Councilman John Sabatini absent, Piland broke the tie.

The council adopted an amended budget for the 1977-78 fiscal year totaling $942,191.94. The budget total was larger than originally adopted, said Daniels, because the cash forwarded into the new budget from the previous year was more than anticipated.

The council also:
— Approved the hiring of Daphne Smith to replace Darryl Middleman in the recreation program.
— Adopted an ordinance calling for the refund of improperly collected utility tax on sewer service and for the over-collection of utility taxes on water customers of Seminole Utilities in the Tusawilla area earlier this year.

The days of the Seminole 76 gasoline service station in Seminole Plaza, Casselberry, as it exists today and as it has existed for the past 10 years, are numbered.

The plans of the Union 76 Oil Co. are to raze the service station that has been operated for the past 10 years by Charlie Cooper providing full automobile service to his hundreds of customers in the south end of the county.

The razing is to make way for progress, oil company officials told the Casselberry City Council this week. The old is to be replaced with the new—a self-service, modern facility.

A site plan and photographs of a model of the planned new station were presented to the city council for approval. And, an advice of Acting City Attorney Bill Colbert, the council granted approval, despite an appeal forwarded by Mayor Bill Grier on behalf of dozens of Cooper's customers.

"I enjoy the services I receive there," said Grier, adding that he and many other citizens would prefer to see the service at the station remain at the status quo.

"The station provides good service. Let's not think about those big people. They've got enough money," said Vince Ballasosa of Carriage Hill, urging the council to turn down the site plan from the oil company for the construction of the new facility.

Mark Loefer, employed for the past two years at the station, said citizens of Casselberry and many of South Seminole have traded in the gasoline station for much of 1978.

Colbert, questioned by Councilman Frank Schutte, said the council should consider only the matter before it—the site plan for the facility—and not whether the service should remain as it is.

D. L. St. Clair, district sales manager for Union 76 Oil Co., said the firm has found that volume of gasoline sales more than triple when service stations are changed from full service to self-service.

He also said that Cooper could go into business at some other location to serve his customers, indicating there is little chance, if any, that the oil company will change its plans. "We work for stockholders," said St. Clair.

Cooper celebrated the completion of his first decade in the service station business in Casselberry Monday.

Grier said Cooper responds to calls at all times of the day and night for regular customers.

"My station isn't open 24 hours a day, but I'm on call to my customers 24 hours a day," Cooper said.

"I give just about every service pertaining to an automobile," said Cooper. About a year ago Union 76 officials told him of their plans to raze the old structure and build a self-service.

"They said it would come about, but they didn't know when," he said, adding he still has not been notified of the time.

"According to the lease, they have to give me 90 days notice," he said.

Not only will Cooper's livelihood be affected, but also that of seven other families as well. "I have five regular and two part-time employees," he said. "I don't know what I'm going to do."

Councilman Don Willson voted against the site plan which passed on a 4-1 vote.

After reading this cost survey, you may see your electric bill in a different light.

In recent years your electric bill, like everything else, has been affected by inflationary pressures.

But the fact is that Florida Power & Light has managed to keep its rates considerably lower than most other Florida electric companies.

In the May survey of 21 electric utilities, the Jacksonville Electric Authority checked the cost of 1,000 kilowatt hours to residential customers.

Those costs are listed here. As you can see, Florida Power & Light is second to the lowest figure—one of the two least expensive!

In fact, we've consistently come out in the lowest third in previous JEA surveys. And you can be sure we'll do everything possible to keep it that way.

Shell Claims Sanford Crown Flagship Falls By 11-9 Score

SCOTT EUSUPI DUCKS A DUSTER PITCH

Clem Leonard Shell wrapped up the Florida Little League city championship in Sanford Tuesday night with late-inning rallies that erased Flagship Bank of Seminole hopes of forcing a winner-take-all game tonight.

The final score was 11-9, but until the fourth and fifth innings, Flagship was riding high on a 7-2 lead with pitcher Marty Johnson sailing along on a two-hitter.

Five runs in the bottom of the seventh wiped out a 7-2 Flagship lead and Shell tied the score with a rally that found three walks, an infield error, a single by Richard Leonard and a double by William Wynn during the damage.

In the top of the fifth, Flagship bounced back with a 3-1 lead on two errors and a single by Sam Chasolin.

But Shell retaliated with a four-run burst, featuring a single by Rick Nooney and doubles by Johnny Holt, Leonard and Wynn.

Winning pitcher Teddy Jones weathered a last-inning single by Lee Charron and a walk to Derrick Tangeman to preserve the victory.

Jones wound up with a seven-hitter, walking five and whiffing 13. Loefer Johnson gave up seven hits also, walking eight and fanning nine.

Leonard had three hits in all in the game, driving in two runs. Wynn's two doubles gave him a perfect 5-for-5 showing in the two playoff games.

Williams Inks Expo Pact Through '80

MONTREAL (UPI) — Dick Williams, reported waiting in the wings until Billy Martin's situation with the New York Yankees was clarified, had his contract extended two more years through 1980 Tuesday by the Montreal Expos.

Williams, who guided the Expos to a fifth-place finish in the National League's Eastern Division last season, was finishing a two-year pact with Montreal.

Ashe Out At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Veteran Arthur Ashe, who had never lost before the third round in 10 previous Wimbledon, and John McEnroe, the teen-ager, who as an amateur qualifier last year ousted the semifinals, were ousted Tuesday in their first matches.

"It's a pretty big blow," said Ashe, an ex-Wimbledon champion who was seeded 13th. "You try to expect more from yourself and it's hard sometimes. It's hard playing a first-round match and then the guy plays you out of nowhere."

McEnroe had too much trouble with Eric van Dillen, who ironically had to qualify this year. Van Dillen won, 7-5, 6-8, 6-4, 6-3.

Steve Docherty edged Ashe in a five-hour match, 6-4, 6-3, 5-7, 7-4, by breaking Ashe's

Nuggets Solidify Backcourt By Getting Charlie Scott

DENVER (UPI) — The Denver Nuggets, looking to solidify their backcourt, have acquired veteran guard Charlie Scott in a complicated three team trade.

Scott was obtained by Denver Monday from the Los Angeles Lakers in a trade that also involved the Kansas City Kings.

The Nuggets sent Darnell Hillman, a 6-9 forward and backup center, plus the rights to first-round draft choice Mike Evans to Kansas City for guard Ron Boone and the Kings' second-round pick in 1979.

Denver then traded Boone, the Kings' draft choice plus the Nuggets' second-round draft choice in 1979 to Los Angeles for Scott.

Hole-In-One On The Fly

FLOSSMOOR, Ill. (UPI) — Dana Quigley of Barrington, R.I., qualified for the Western Open golf tournament Monday on the strength of what might be a unique hole in one.

Witnesses said the ball went directly from the tee to the hole without touching ground. "I've never heard of that before," a veteran observer said.

Quigley shot a 73 on the Flossmoor Country Club course, qualifying him for the tournament, which opens Thursday at Butler National in Oak Brook, Ill.

Angels Moving, At Last?

By United Press International
If Joe Rudi keeps hitting the way he hit Tuesday night when California beat Kansas City, 5-4, the Angels could begin to move in the American League West.

Rudi, mired in a season-long slump, belted a two-out, pinch-hit grand slam in the seventh inning to help California break a five-game losing streak.

Rudi's home run, his first since April 13 and third of the season, came on a 1-2 pitch from Steve Mingers, 1-2, in relief of starter Dennis Leonard, who walked the bases loaded in the seventh.

"I've been striking out so much lately I just wanted to try to hit the ball," said Rudi, who never even heard the ovation of the crowd.

"After I hit the home run I just went through the bench, shook everyone's hands, and went straight to the locker," he said. "I was just as happy being in the bench tonight. I've been a total loss to the team."

Tom Griffin registered his first AL victory after three losses with two innings of shutout relief and Dave Littlefield hurried the final two innings for his eighth save.

In New York, the Yankees salvaged a split of their two-game series with the Red Sox when Craig Nettles hit a towering homer in the 14th for a 4-4 decision. Boston made the Yankees pay for it, though.

"We drained their bullpen," said Red Sox manager Don Zimmer. "They have to play two tomorrow night and we're going to the swimming pool."

In other games, Toronto swept Baltimore, 6-1 and 9-4, as those routed Minnesota, 15-4, Chicago outlasted Seattle, 14-14, Texas topped Oakland, 5-1, and Detroit ripped Cleveland, 6-1.

In the National League, it was New York, Chicago 1; St. Louis 2, Pittsburgh 0; San Francisco 1, Montreal 0; Los Angeles 1, Atlanta 0; Houston 7, Cincinnati 4, and San Francisco 9, San Diego 1.

Blue Jays 6-4, Orioles 8-4; Sam Ewing stroked a one-out pinch single to score Oles Voles from second in the ninth, extending Baltimore's losing streak to seven. Toronto won his second win in three starts since coming over to the first-place Philadelphia Phillies from the last-place Atlanta Braves on June 15. Greg Luzinski accounted for the game's only run with his 17th homer in the seventh inning.

"I always said I'm a much better pitcher than my record shows — especially in the seasons I spent with the Braves," said Ruthven, who has allowed only three earned runs in his three starts for the Phillies. "I used to pitch my best but I never knew when someone was going to mess up behind me."

Ruthven, 4-7, spent two depressing seasons with the last-place Braves after being traded away by the Phillies in the winter of 1975. As bad as the Braves have been, however, Ruthven maintains they have one bright spot.

"I still think Phil Niekro is one of the five best pitchers in baseball," said Ruthven. "But you'd never know it, looking at his record with the Braves. Here's a guy who has always pitched his best and, but what does he have to show for it. Yet he is, sure is a great for it. You see, it's Philadelphia."

The Phillies victory increased their lead in the National League East to two games over Chicago and three over Montreal.

Elsewhere in the National League, New York beat Chicago, 7-2, St. Louis swept Pittsburgh, 4-0 and 6-1, Los Angeles blanked Atlanta, 5-0, Houston got away Cincinnati, 7-4, and San Francisco routed San Diego, 6-1.

In American League action it was New York 6, Boston 6, in 14 innings; Chicago 16, Seattle 6; Cincinnati 6, Kansas City 4; Detroit 6, Cleveland 1; Milwaukee 13, Minnesota 6; Texas 3, Oakland 1, and Toronto over Baltimore, 6-2 and 9-4. Cleveland 7, Kansas City 4.

Vida Blue pitched a six-inning shutout for his 17th straight victory while the Giants increased their NL West lead to 2 1/2 games over Cincinnati. Blue, 11-4, struck out three and walked four. Gaylord Perry, 6-3, took the loss.

Cardinals 3-4, Pirates 6-1; George Hendrick drove in two runs while winning pitcher Joe Niekro reaped two hits and scored twice in the Astros' victory. Bill Bonham, 6-3, took the loss. Niekro, 8-4, went seven innings.

Monte 7, Cubs 1; John Monticola hit a three-run homer and Pat Zachry, 6-3, fired a six-inning shutout for the Mets. Steve Henderson drove in two runs for the Mets in a double and a sacrifice fly.

Sonny Smith Named Auburn Cage Coach

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — Charles H. "Sonny" Smith, who turned East Tennessee State University's basketball program around in two years, was hired Tuesday as Auburn University's new head basketball coach.

Smith, 41, who was selected the Ohio Valley Conference coach of the year last season, posted a two-year record of 30-23 at East Tennessee. His 1977-78 team won the league championship with an 18-9 mark.

Auburn officials did not disclose the details of their agreement with Smith, but they said he signed a two-year contract.

"It was with a great deal of pleasure I accepted a coaching job at Auburn," Smith said. "The Southeastern Conference is one of the most respected athletic leagues in the nation and Auburn offers every opportunity to be successful."

"My only promise to Auburn fans and alumni is total dedication and loyalty to the job," he said.

Smith, who was chosen by a nine-man search committee headed by athletic Director Lee Haley, became Auburn's third basketball coach in 1978.

He succeeded Paul Lambert, who died June 8 in a Columbus, Ga., motel fire while attending a coaching clinic.

POLITICS IN BRIEF

Speaker Tucker Eyes Seat On Trade Panel

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — House Speaker Don Tucker wants to serve on a trade commission he fought to create after he leaves office in November.

The Central and South American and Caribbean Trade and Development Commission was saved from death in the Legislature through Tucker's personal intervention.

Its three parttime members draw no pay, but would travel extensively at taxpayer's expense.

James Wants Rogers Seat

DELRAY BEACH, (UPI) — Florida House Minority Leader William G. James, R-Delray Beach, citing his 10 years of experience as a state legislator, says he is running for the GOP nomination from the 11th Congressional District.

James will be running for the seat occupied the last 12 terms by U.S. Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., who last week announced his retirement following the current term.

Amendment Endorsed

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI) — Raleigh Greene, a Democratic candidate for nomination as governor, says his proposed constitutional amendment controlling state spending has earned the endorsement of National Taxpayers Union of Washington.

Greene's proposal would forbid state spending from increasing at a rate higher than the percentage of growth in the state's population and national inflation.

'Good Ole Boys' Target Of Victor

By United Press International

Two lawyers beat better-known opponents in Democratic runoff for governor of South Carolina and senator of Mississippi Tuesday, but they are up against strong Republican opposition in the November general election.

Dick Riley, who vowed to end "good ole boy" politics in South Carolina, capitalized on a former opponent's endorsement to overtake Lt. Gov. Bradley Harvey and win the chance to regain the governor's office for the Democrats.

At his victory party, Riley said he owed much of his strong showing in the runoff to former Rep. W. J. Bryan Dorn, the loser in the three-way June 13 primary. Dorn endorsed Riley and campaigned hard for him in the 3rd District, Dorn's home area.

Riley, a 46-year-old progressive state senator from Greenville, S.C., waged an aggressive campaign to gain name recognition.

Riley will face former Rep. Ed Young, the Republican nominee, in the general election. Gov. James B. Edwards, the first GOP governor in South Carolina in almost a century,

'Can Population Support It?'

County Balks At Shopping Center

By MAX ERKLETTIAN
Herald Staff Writer

A shopping center, slightly larger than the Interstate Mall, is being planned for 41 acres on the Southwest corner of Red Bug and Tusculwilla Roads. However, zoning for the project is being held up by the Seminole County Commission.

The commission Tuesday night delayed until July 25 a decision on developer Edward Newton Fielding's request for a rezoning to change the land from agricultural to retail commercial use.

Commissioners expressed a doubt that such a center could be supported by the area population for several years. Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff suggested the center might pose a problem in light of traffic studies done in that area.

"Because of the angle of the intersection, I think Tipton and Associates (consultants) might like to look at this idea," commented Kirchhoff.

Tipton and Associates has been working with the East Central Florida Regional Planning Commission to establish a design for directing traffic around the Orlando metropolitan area.

Fielding and Jack Glattig, Glattig, Lopez and Associates, Winter Park, concurred they would be able to give up some land for the possible road expansions.

Commission Chairman Dick Williams questioned the need for such a large center.

"There may be some need for a community shopping center there, but I don't think they need 40 acres right now," said Williams. "This complex here is far, far in the future."

The shopping center may not be able to be scaled down, said Fielding.

"The various concerns we have talked to have indicated they are interested in a larger center," said Fielding. "They want to appeal not only to the family getting groceries, but to the girl going to get her hair dressed or buy drugs."

Fielding said he would not change the design of the center until county staff gathers additional information on the impact of the center in the area.

Several large chain stores are interested in locating in the proposed center, according to Fielding. However he declined to reveal any names. Fielding also declined to reveal the expense of the center.

The proposal calls for 2,784 parking spaces at locations on the site. A bank would be located on the north end of the property near the intersection.

Cook Of The Week

Microwave Cooking Takes Heat Out Of The Kitchen

By ELDA NICHOLS
Herald Correspondent

Patricia Taylor is a Sanford native. In fact, her family is beginning a sixth generation here.

"We drive through areas now that used to be swamps where we played when we were kids. My grandfather's cow pasture is now a housing development," she said.

Patricia is an advocate of microwave cooking and often presents cooking schools locally. "I have been fascinated with microwave ranges ever since I saw my first one when I was 14. The entire Home Economics class went to see a demonstration and from then on, I wanted one," she recalled.

Now with her own appliance store, Patricia is doing work she loves. She is busy putting the finishing touches on an entire working kitchen, which is in one corner of the store's new location.

"Everything will be in working order and I hope to hold cooking schools here in the Fall," she said.

Microwave cooking is at a peak at the present time, according to Patricia. "It's a great way to cook in Florida. Takes so much heat out of the kitchen. There's also the energy saving factor. Besides, I think vegetables taste better and are better for you. Once you learn to use one, you don't have the tendency to overcook the vegetables. So many people just throw things in a pot and boil

Patricia Taylor uses a microwave oven for 75 percent of all her cooking.

Help! I Don't Want To Hurt His Feelings

DEAR ABBY: How can someone tell a good friend or lover that his breath would knock over a herd of buffalo? I am speaking of my future husband. He sleeps with his mouth open, and in the morning I can't even get near him! I'm afraid that after we get married I won't be able to give him a good morning kiss without gagging.

He is a very sensitive person and I don't want to hurt his feelings. HELP!

CAN'T TELL HIM
DEAR ABBY: If you can't tell him, who can? If you won't tell him, who will? TELL HIM! He has a good morning kiss without gagging.

I have a relative who increases the punishment if a child cries. (He says it's a sign of weakness, and he doesn't want any weak kids!) I would like your opinion.

TENDERHEARTEDAUNT
DEAR AUNT: To punish a child for crying is cruel. Children (and adults, too) need to express their emotions freely without fear of being shame, ridiculed or punished further.

Please tell your relative that tears are an vital to the emotional growth of a child and crying is a normal response — not a sign of weakness. Your relative is guilty of child abuse!

WHEN DOES 1+1=3?

Enjoy An Outdoor Feast On The Fourth

Picnics are well as parades are an important part of America's Independence Day celebration, and fireworks share the spotlight with good food. It's an occasion for a feast to enjoy with relatives, neighbors and friends.

Perplexed by what to serve for this July jubilee? For an ideal salute to the "Fourth," roast a boneless pork loin to tender juicy perfection on the outdoor rotisserie or in a covered grill. A beer-sparked barbecue sauce, brushed on during cooking, will supplement that great pork flavor in delicious fashion. While the enticing aroma fills the air and triggers appetites, serve tall cool drinks along with a tasty hot pimiento cheese dip in its own foil "sauceman," a convenient cooking container. Bread sticks or fresh vegetables make ideal dippers.

For other menu selections, prepare Tomato Star Salads and Stuffed Summer Pears.

Filled with a delicious spicy raisin-nut mixture and wrapped in foil bundles to keep them tender and flavorful, fresh pears provide a desert spectacular when cooked on the grill while the barbecued pork is carved and served.

Since a holiday is for all to enjoy, a smart cook counts on aluminum foil to ease preparation and clean-up chores. Cooking food in foil packets on the grill eliminates scouring pans, while a foil-lined grill not only aids clean-up but helps reflect heat for even cooking.

One good outdoor meal inevitably demands another, so plan a pork encore for a future backyard get-together. Picnickers' Pork Steaks, marinated in pineapple juice flavored with soy sauce and ginger, are especially good broiled over ash-covered coals.

For other picnic pleasers, combine peas and mushrooms in a foil packet for grilling with the steaks, and heat basmati, spread inside with a tangy chive-onion butter, in foil too.

CELEBRATION PORK LOIN ROAST
 4 to 6 pounds boneless pork loin roast (double)
 2 tablespoons brown sugar
 2 tablespoons cornstarch
 1 can (12 ounces) beer
 1 small onion, chopped
 1/4 cup catsup
 1/4 cup vinegar
 1/4 teaspoon fennel seed
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 2 drops hot sauce

Combine brown sugar and cornstarch in sauceman. Add beer, onion, catsup, vinegar, fennel, salt and hot sauce and cook, stirring constantly until thickened; cook slowly 10 minutes and reserve. Insert rotisserie rod through exact center of meat and attach to rotisserie on rod, using prongs to hold meat in place. Insert meat thermometer, angling it so bulb is in center of roast, but not resting in fat or on rod. Place on cooking time, 6 to 8 servings.

COOK UP PEAS 'N MUSHROOMS
 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen peas
 1 can (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 Dash pepper
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 Combine peas, mushrooms, onion, salt and pepper on an 18-inch square of heavy duty aluminum foil over a large can or other object that will provide a sauceman shape. Remove foil and crimp down edges to make a rim. Combine cheese, wine, egg and olives in the foil-made sauceman. Cook over ash-covered coals, stirring with a wooden spoon, about 20 minutes, or until cheese melts and ingredients are blended. Use assorted vegetables and bread sticks for dipping.

CHIVE 'N ONION BISCUITS
 1 package (11 ounces) butter and serve biscuits, split one-third cup butter or margarine, softened
 1/4 teaspoon instant minced onion
 Arrange bottom half of biscuits in a rectangle on a 24-inch length of heavy duty aluminum foil. Combine butter, chives and onion; spread on biscuits and cover with top half of biscuits. Bring 2 sides of foil together above biscuits; fold down in a series of locked folds, allowing for heat circulation and expansion. Fold short ends up and over again; crimp to seal. Cook over ash-covered coals turning once, 15 minutes or until butter has melted and biscuits are hot. Yield: 10 to 12 biscuits.

 1/4 cup butter or margarine, softened
 2 tablespoons brown sugar
 2 tablespoons chopped nuts
 2 tablespoons raisins
 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
 1/4 teaspoon water

Paré upper half of pears; core leaving a small plug in bottom end. Trim bottoms so pears will stand upright; place each on a square of heavy duty aluminum foil large enough to permit adequate wrapping. Combine butter or margarine, brown sugar, nuts, raisins and cinnamon; stuff each pear. Pour 1 teaspoon water over each pear. Bring 4 corners of foil up together in a pyramid shape. Fold the openings together loosely to allow for heat circulation and expansion. Seal by folding over ends and pressing to package. Grill under a hood over ash-covered coals for 15 to 20 minutes or until pears are heated through. 6 servings.

You Can Have Beef Without Bankruptcy

Everyone is eyeing the soaring price of beef.

When shopping for beef or other meats, select cuts that give you the most servings per pound. That way you can have your beef and eat it, too.

For example, use less-expensive beef short ribs in an English-style specialty that goes well with individual Yorkshire puddings.

You get two servings per pound of short ribs. If the price is $1.29 per pound, the cost per serving will be 65 cents.

The family math whiz will enjoy working out costs per serving.

WORCESTERED BEEF SHORT RIBS (English Style)
 4 lbs. beef short ribs
 1/4 cup flour
 1 tsp. salt, divided
 1 cup oil
 4 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
 1/2 tsp. powdered mustard
 1/2 tsp. curry powder

Cut ribs into portion-sized pieces. Coat with flour mixed with 1/4 teaspoon of the salt. Place in a lightly oiled, shallow roasting pan. Brown in a preheated 450-degree oven for 15 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees.

Combine oil, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, curry powder and remaining 1/4 teaspoon salt. Brush half of the seasoning

Beef short ribs and Yorkshire puddings make an authentic English-style meal.

Toffee Nut Bars Are Doubly Good

Doubles anyone? It's not tennis we have in mind but Toffee Nut Bars, a double-layered confection with a sweet buttery crust and nut-coconut topping liberally studded with chocolate-flavor coated caramels, a double good treat for the sweet tooth set.

TOFFEE NUT BARS (30 Bars)
 1/4 cup 1/4 stick butter, softened
 1/4 cup packaged light brown sugar
 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour

Mix butter, sugar and flour until well blended. Press into buttered 13x12 1/2-inch pan. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven for 5 minutes. Cool.

1 cup packed light brown sugar
 1 tsp. vanilla
 2 tbsp. flour
 1 tsp. baking powder
 1/4 tsp. salt
 1/2 cup moist flaked coconut
 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 2 1/2 cup Milk Duds (3 1/4-oz pgs.)

Confectioners' sugar (top optional)
 Beat together eggs, brown sugar and vanilla. Add dry ingredients. Stir in coconut, nuts and Milk Duds. Spread over baked crust. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven for 25 minutes more or until topping is golden brown. Cool. Sift confectioners' sugar over top. Cut into 30 bars. If desired, press a Milk Dud into top of each bar.

Nothing Surpasses Apple Treats For Old-Fashioned Heartiness

There's not need to wait for fall either side crunch, green Granny Smith apples are in season now through August.

Excellent for cooking, their piquant flavor remains just as fresh and lively after heating. How long has it been since you've savored the fragrance of an apple pie baking in the oven? Granny's Upside-Down Apple Tart is an easy twist on that perennial family favorite. Plenty of butter and sugar at the bottom of the pan, baked to a sweet glaze under mounds of apple slices.

GRANNY'S UPSIDE-DOWN APPLE TART

8 to 10 Granny Smith apples
 6 tbsp. softened butter, divided
 1 cup sugar, divided
 Pastry for one 9-inch pie crust

Core and peel apples, cut into 1/4-inch slices. Spread 4 tablespoons butter over bottom and sides of a baking pan 9 to 10 inches in diameter and about 2 inches deep. Sprinkle 1/2 cup sugar evenly over bottom of pan. Arrange apple slices in pan; sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup sugar; dot with remaining 2 tablespoons butter. Roll out pastry to a circle just large enough to fit over apples.

Fit pastry, making sure it doesn't overlap the rim of the dish. Cut slits in pastry to allow steam to escape. Bake in a 450 deg. F. oven 30 to 35 minutes, until pastry is golden brown. Remove from oven. Let cool on wire rack a few minutes. Place cookie sheet over pan. Invert. Lift pan. Sprinkle tart lightly with sugar, place under broiler a few minutes until lightly brown. Slide tart onto serving platter. Serve warm or cold with heavy cream, if desired.

YIELD: 8 servings.

OLD FASHIONED APPLE SNOW
 3 Granny Smith apples
 1 1/2 cups super fine sugar
 4 egg whites, unbeaten
 1/4 cup milk, acidified
 1/4 tsp. cinnamon
 1/4 tsp. nutmeg
 Few grains salt

Wash, core and grate apples into large mixing bowl (about 2 cups grated); stir in sugar. Add egg whites, lemon rind, cinnamon, nutmeg and salt. Beat with electric mixer until stiff peaks form. Serve with Lemon Custard Sauce.

YIELD: 8 servings.

LEMON CUSTARD SAUCE
 4 egg yolks, slightly beaten
 1/4 cup sugar
 1/4 tsp. salt
 1/4 cup milk, acidified
 1 tsp. grated lemon rind
 1 tsp. fresh lemon juice

In top of double-boiler, beat egg yolks, sugar and salt. Slowly stir in milk. Place the custard over gently simmering water; cook, stirring constantly, until custard begins to thicken and coats a spoon. Remove from heat. Stir in lemon rind and juice. Chill thoroughly. Serve with Old Fashioned Apple Snow.

Walnut snack bread with cheese adds a new touch to summer brunching and munching.

Brunching And Munching

Bread: The Staff Of Life

An outdoor brunch certainly suits the lazy, crazy days of summer. And, such a meal needn't take too much of the host's time.

A walnut snack bread makes a handsome treat to serve with an omelet or scrambled eggs and Canadian bacon. Start with freshly squeezed juice or fruits that are locally in season, such as strawberries, melon, peaches or blueberries.

WALNUT SNACK BREAD
1 cup buttermilk
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 cup canned pizza sauce
1 cup coarsely grated Cheddar, Jack or Mozzarella cheese
Stir baking mix, water and walnuts together until all of mix is moistened. Turn into greased 11 1/2-by-7 1/2-by-9 1/2-inch baking pan. Oil fingers and pat out to an even, thin layer.

Spread pizza sauce over surface and sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 400 degrees for about 25 minutes, until baked through. Serve hot, cut into strips or squares. Makes 12 servings.

This colonial olive-corn bread is ideal with ham and beans. Or serve it with a hearty pea soup and salad for a complete lunch. Add fresh fruit for dessert.

COLONIAL OLIVE-CORN BREAD
1 cup flour
1 cup yellow cornmeal
2 tps. sugar
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 egg, slightly beaten

1 cup canned cream-style corn
1/2 cup milk
2 tps. salad oil
1/2 cup Spanish stuffed green olives.
In medium bowl, stir together flour, cornmeal, sugar, baking powder and salt until well mixed. Combine egg, corn, milk and oil. Stir into dry ingredients just until moistened.

Spread half of batter in greased and floured 9-by-5-inch loaf pan. Arrange olives on top of batter. Drop remaining batter by spoonfuls over olives to completely cover. Bake in 400-degree oven about 40 minutes or until done.

Remove from oven. Let stand 10 minutes. Loosen sides and turn out onto wire rack. Serve warm with butter. Makes one loaf.

Stretch dinner budget with a different colonial cornbread filled with olives and corn.

Hot Dogs Are Fun To Fix, Neat To Eat

Fun to fix, neat to eat, and great for the grill. Kids will love them, because they're a treat on that old favorite—the hot dog on a bun. You'll love them too, because they're practically an all-in-one meal. (An optional dress-up is the addition of sesame seeds on the outside.)

Just serve with raw carrot sticks or radish circles alongside, and you're all set. In addition to preparing a quick, economical meal, you'll also be providing a nutritious one too. Just two hot dogs supply one-third of a child's daily requirement of protein and one-fourth of the adult daily requirement.

DOGS IN A SESAME BLANKET
2 4-oz. packages wiener-wrap
5 hot dogs
1 oz. Colby Cheese
2 1/2 slices of a medium onion

Sesame seeds dress up blankets for dogs.

Cool Soup Adds Zip In Summer

Chilled soups are becoming more popular. And most are simple to make. A chilled vegetable soup—served with a hot bread and a dessert of fruit or ice cream—is a filling, nutritious meal that is low in fat. In addition, such a meal can chip away at the day's calorie total.

A zippy gazpacho is a perfect example of a quick, inexpensive soup that refreshes on a hot day. You will find it surprisingly filling.

Most gazpacho recipes call for garlic. But those who do not like garlic may use more onion or scallions.

Gazpacho keeps well in the refrigerator in a lidded glass jar or pitcher, ready for a snack at any time of day or evening.

ZIPPY GAZPACHO
1 1/2 cups cocktail vegetable juice
2 green pepper, halved and seeded
1 cucumber, halved and juiced
1 small onion, coarsely chopped
1 clove garlic

Watermelon: Pickled Rind A Real Treat

Pickle lovers are missing an old-fashioned treat every time they throw away watermelon rind.

Here also are two low-calorie jam recipes in smaller quantities for those who want to put local fresh strawberries and peaches to good use without spending several days canning.

PICKLED WATERMELON RIND
14 cups prepared watermelon rind (about 4 lbs. of watermelon)
3 tablespoons salt
3 quarts water
1 cup fresh lemon juice
5 cups sugar
1 lemon, sliced
1 piece ginger root
2 sticks cinnamon
1 tablespoon ground nutmeg
1 teaspoon whole cloves
1 1/2 teaspoons mace
2 cups vinegar
To prepare watermelon rind, cut off outer green skin and leave a very small amount of the red rind. Cut into cubes. Place in large bottle with salt, water and lemon juice. Bring to a boil over medium heat. Cover and simmer until rind is tender, about 10 minutes. Remove from heat and refrigerate overnight. The next day, drain rind and rinse well. Place rind, sugar and remaining ingredients in bottle and bring to boiling. Reduce heat and simmer 3 hours, until syrup thickens. Ladle into hot jelly or canning jars, seal and cool. Or seal and store in refrigerator. Makes 7 1/2-cup jars.

STRAWBERRY JAM
4 cups sliced strawberries (about 2 pints)
one-third cup sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 envelope unflavored gelatin (about 2 1/2 lbs.)
1/2 cup cold water
In medium saucepan, combine strawberries, sugar and lemon juice. Heat mixture 5 minutes, crushing berries slightly. Bring to a boil. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly, for 3 minutes.
In small bowl, sprinkle unflavored gelatin over water. Add to mixture and heat, stirring until gelatin dissolves, about 3 minutes.
Let jam stand 5 minutes, stirring off foam with spoon. Ladle into jars. Cover and seal slightly before refrigerating. Makes about 3 cups. Each tablespoon has 30 calories.

Keep the chatter going with a tropical fruit dessert—mangoes. In peak supply through August, this succulent fruit with its subtle, sweet flavor is marvelous chilled and sliced into salads or desserts. But it also cooks into a delectable Fresh Mango Sundae Sauce to spoon over summertime ice cream or pound cake.

Fresh mangoes will vary in size and shape according to variety. The should be firm when purchased and allowed to stand at room temperature until the skin yields under gentle pressure and a delicate perfume can be detected.

All your diners, not just the weight-conscious, will fork in the gusto. And the dish will provide plenty of table conversation, besides.

FRESH MANGO SUNDAY SAUCE
2 fresh mangoes
1 cup water
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup fresh orange juice
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tomato, peeled and chopped
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon dried leaf oregano, crumbled

about the trump suit when he led dummy's ace. He continued with the three of diamonds. East won with his ace and led a heart which drew the jack, queen and ace.

West came the key play: throwing a winner on a loser. Declarer led dummy's jack of diamonds and discarded his 10 of hearts. It was a brilliant stroke.

East could not get a heart ruff. He could get three club tricks if he led the ace of that suit, but South knew where that ace was. East had passed originally and had shown up with the king-queen of spades and ace of diamonds.

Eventually, South got to discard one club on dummy's 10 of diamonds and wound up losing two spades, two diamonds and one club.

Had he not thrown that winner on a loser he would have lost two spades, two clubs, one diamond, one heart ruff and his partner's confidence.

Hands such as this are one reason why 35 million people play bridge in this country.

I HATE THE 91st DAY OF THESE 90-DAY FLUA COLLARS!

Walking Helps Cut Calories, A Little

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am on a diet and I have been trying to walk for 30 minutes a day. I have been walking for five days and I haven't lost any yet. Does it take longer than 30 minutes a day?

DEAR READER — It's probably going to take a lot longer than you had anticipated. Walking while you're on a diet helps to prevent loss of muscle mass which is important. What you really want to lose when you're on a diet is fat, not muscle. In addition it does burn up calories and if you add them up over a year's time it does become significant.

You shouldn't think of the time it requires to walk so much as the distance you walk. Walking a mile, for most people, is equivalent to using about 50 or 60 calories. If it takes you 30 minutes to walk a mile you'll only be using about 50 calories. There are 3,500 calories in a pound of body fat. At that rate it would take you 70 days to lose one pound of body fat if walking is all you're going to do. Even so, with that little effort of walking one mile a day you would get rid of a little more than seven pounds of body fat over a year's time. If you're able to walk a little more each day of course you'll get more benefit out of it.

The best program for most people is a combination of sensible exercise and modest reduction in calories. When both are done consistently over a sufficient period of time this usually produces results. But it does require patience and that means that you'll have to wait more than five days to see the results. To give you such a program I'm sending you The Health Letter number 47, Weight Losing Diet. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1561, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read your column about low sperm count. I have a suggestion for the couple that great work. I know of one couple who had a similar problem and the man had been taking extremely hot showers. Apparently the heat had something to do with the man's infertility. I don't know whether this would help or not but it's just a suggestion.

DEAR READER — And it's a good suggestion, because it's true that excess heat can cause sterility. There have even been studies done applying heat to the testicles as a means of birth control. I hasten to add that these studies are experimental. I don't want to trigger any strange fads that might result from that idea.

There are many causes for a low sperm count. In some instances the count can be improved and in others it cannot. Regarding temperature, I might point out that a varicocele, which is literally varicose veins of the testicles, is a factor in causing sterility in some men. Why? Because the normal circulation keeps the testicles somewhat below normal body temperature. With large varicoceles and the circulatory stagnation that results, the normal temperature control mechanism is sometimes out of control. In these instances correction of the varicocele may improve the sperm count and fertility of the man involved.

The avoidance of heat and, for that matter, tight underwear or any other factor that interferes with the normal temperature control is sometimes useful in helping to improve male fertility.

Commission Balks At Payne Bill

By MAX ERKILETIAN Herald Staff Writer

A bill to the Seminole County Commission for payment of a psychiatric examination of Ernest Payne, who was convicted two weeks ago of murder in connection with the death of his father Oct. 26, 1977 was sent "on a wing and a prayer," said Assistant State Attorney Ralph Erikson today.

The word for the day today for participants in the Sanford Recreation Department's summer program: CONCENTRATION.

'I'd just say hold your horses, mr. reporter' order such an examination," stated Erikson. He said he had not researched the law on that point and noted someone else in the state attorney's office had contacted Dr. Robert G. Kirkland of Orlando, to arrange for the examination.

Agreement Reached

Sanford-Police Union Troubles End
