

Bingham Is Rebuked By Senate For Putting Paid Lobbyist On Payroll; Action First In Twenty Seven Years

Decision Follows Defense Talk By Bingham And Criticisms By His Colleagues

By William K. Hutchinson
International News Service
Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—For the first time in 27 years, the Senate today censured one of its own members when it condemned as unethical and immoral, the action of Senator Hiram Bingham (R) of Conn., in putting a paid lobbyist on the Senate payroll during the tariff hearings.

A resolution, sponsored by Senator Norris (R) of Neb., and approved by an overwhelming vote, placed the Senate on record as officially condemning Bingham's conduct in using the services of Charles L. Eyanon, Connecticut manufacturer agent.

The vote was 82 to 22 for adoption of the resolution.

In approving the resolution, the Senate decided that the action of the senator from Connecticut, Mr. Bingham, in placing Mr. Charles L. Eyanon upon the official rolls of the Senate at the time and in the manner set forth in the report of the sub-committee of the committee on the Judiciary, while not the result of corrupt motives on the part of the senator from Connecticut, is contrary to good morals and senatorial ethics and tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and discredit and such conduct is hereby censured.

STAGE IS SET FOR NIGHT FOOTBALL GAME TOMORROW

Large Throngs Expected To Witness Local Gridiron Innovation

With the completion today of the final arrangements for lighting Municipal Field, everything is in readiness for the first night football game ever to be staged in the state. The game will be played between the Rollins College Freshman team, coached by Jack McDevall, and the Seminole High School eleven, coached by Hugh Wheelchel.

Following their recent defeat by St. Petersburg Junior College, the Rollins squad has been subjected to rigid training while for the past 10 days Coach Wheelchel has been drilling his men in new offensive plays and perfecting the already standard defense. All indications point to a real battle between two teams that are almost evenly matched. Rollins won the game between the two teams last year by the close score of 6 to 0 while they played to a scoreless tie in the opening game this year.

Charles Butler and Ben Coblurn, seniors in charge of the shirt-tail and palama parade which will be staged in the residential and business sections before the game starts, today stated their plans are complete and that one of the most unique parades ever held in the city will start about 7:30 o'clock. The students will be led by the Orlando Reporter Star Boys Band which will also furnish music during the game.

POLITICAL DRIVE NEARS FINISH IN NEW YORK ARENA

Walker And LaGuardia Both Claim They Will Gain Victory

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (INS)—With the booming of heavy political guns and last minute warm-ups of "double crossing" and "double-plunging" the local mayoral campaign drew to a dissonant close today.

Tomorrow the voters go to the polls and settle the question "Will Walker or LaGuardia be elected?" The debate, which has been the dominating feature of the campaign, is now practically over. Walker, Republican, and LaGuardia, Democrat, are the two main candidates, and both claim they will gain victory.

The Republican fusion campaign for LaGuardia by Mayor LaGuardia, former Democratic mayor, has made a brilliant record. Walker's campaign, which has been the dominating feature of the campaign, is now practically over. Walker, Republican, and LaGuardia, Democrat, are the two main candidates, and both claim they will gain victory.

ONE ORD FACES HER MOTHER IN PARISH PRISON

Actress Held In Slaying Of Kraft (Doesn't Wish For Meeting)

PORT-AU-PRINCE, La., Nov. 4 (INS)—Miss Gloria Bauer, the adventurous "One Ord" of the Broadway stage, came face to face with her aristocratic mother, Mrs. Gloria May Bauer, New York society matron, in the Plaquemine parish prison here this afternoon.

"Ah, so you're come," the girl exclaimed as her mother passed through the door leading to the woman's ward of the jail.

"Yes," was the faint answer, as the judge closed the door, with Mrs. Bauer's attorney, behind the barred door.

The woman's ward had been cleared for the meeting of mother and daughter, and not even the jailer was allowed to remain to witness the scene.

The meeting between Miss Bauer and her mother was arranged by District Attorney Alexander H. Perez following the arrival here earlier in the day of the mother with her attorney, Miss Dorothy Brooks, also of New York.

STOCK MARKET FAILS TO RALLY AS WAS HOPED

Selling Orders Crowd Exchange To Hurtle Prices Downward

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (INS)—The hand-bills of public buyers of speculative stocks, which were expected to develop today, did not compare with the heavy load of selling orders which crowded the market after the three day holiday and most of the active stocks lost ground as compared with Thursday's final prices.

Starting the new week at 115 1/2 to 116 points below the previous closing level, industrial stocks and specialties made a desperate attempt to rally in the early afternoon. The "good news" about reduction of brokers' loans and the 5 per cent discount rate for the New York Reserve Bank had been sufficiently discounted on Thursday to nullify any special effect they might have had on the market today, and even the exchange's report of a $2,000,000 shrinkage in brokers' loans in October failed to stir up very much enthusiasm over the market.

3 Convicts Escape From Ohio Prison At Columbus, Ohio

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—(INS)—Three prisoners sawed their way through a cell block prison wall here today, and escaped, officials believed was "escaped proof," slugged a guard into unconsciousness and fled the state penitentiary this morning.

One of the convicts, Arthur Brooker, serving sentence for murder, was brought down by pistol fire a short distance beyond the prison. Bullets pierced his body and physicians believe he will die. Those who made good their escape were Guy Tunnent, 32, of Cuyahoga county, and Will Miller, 20, of Lawrence county, both serving sentences for robbery. A general man-hunt, enlisting police of Ohio and nearby states, was instituted for them.

Peace Instead Of War Will Be Urged At Legion Services

The American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary will strive to make peace, instead of war, the predominant factor in the minds of the younger generation during the community Armistice Day services which will be held Sunday afternoon at the City Hall at 4 o'clock, it was learned today from Hudson Hall, commander of the Campbell Legion.

In the past, Mr. Ball said, the Armistice Day program was a reminder of what had passed during the last great war of 1918 years ago. This, he said, created a natural opinion that the war itself was a great evil. "Tomorrow's men and women should know that it is peace that the world needs and not war," continued Mr. Ball.

As the principal speaker of the day the legion has engaged Rabbi Israel L. Kaplan of Jacksonville. Some time ago Rabbi Kaplan spoke at the dedication of the Jewish Synagogue here.

A committee consisting of members from both the Legion and the Legion Auxiliary met today and drew up plans for the Sunday services. In the program it was arranged for all the local churches to take active part. Each will be represented on the platform.

It was pointed out by Mr. Ball that during the great war sectarianism did not enter into the spiritual life of the soldiers. In this Armistice Day's affair this important factor will be stressed by the fact that Protestant, Catholic and Hebrew faiths will be represented.

PUBLIC'S VOTE TO DECIDE WHO WILL RUN CITY

Lchman's Unopposed; Speer And LeRoy To Seek Same Place In Election Tomorrow

The election of the city will not only be a vote on the merits of the candidates, but also a vote on the merits of the city itself. The voters will be called upon to decide whether they want Mayor Victor Speer to continue in office, or to re-elect him, or to elect a new mayor.

The voters will also be called upon to vote upon the candidacy of J. H. LeRoy, who is running without opposition for S. O. Hall's place on the commission. The vacancy created by the resignation of J. H. LeRoy, who is running without opposition for S. O. Hall's place on the commission. The vacancy created by the resignation of J. H. LeRoy, who is running without opposition for S. O. #### Cultured Englishman Faces First Degree Charge For Murder

BRIDGEWATER, Vt., Nov. 4 (INS)—Once again the courts of France have expiated the affirmative on the question whether a man has the right to kill a fellow human in order to end the suffering of himself. Richard Cobbold, 39-year-old Englishman, was acquitted on a charge of first degree murder, shooting out of his slaying his mother last May. Cobbold testified his mother was incurably afflicted with cancer, and that his suffering was unbearable.

The verdict was held in honor of the three years of suffering and agony which Cobbold had endured. Cobbold was a cultured Englishman, and his slaying of his mother was a shocking act.

Game Preserves In County Described By Commissioner

State game preserve located in this county are described in detail in a column recently received by The Sanford Herald from State Game Commissioner C. W. Woodward just approved by Gov. Doyle E. Carlton. Under an act of the last session of the legislature, all county game preserves are automatically abolished.

According to the act, two new game preserves in Volusia County will be closed to hunting for a period of five years beginning Nov. 29, 1929. The closed areas are described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the Section line between Section 37 and 38, Township 29 South Range 30 East, where it intersects the South shore of Lake Jessup and running South on the Southwest corner of Section 2, Township 21 South Range 30 East; thence East along section line to the Southeast corner of Section 2, Township 21 South Range 30 East; thence north along the section line to a point where it intersects the South shore of Mullet Lake; thence in a Westerly direction along the south shore of the St. Johns River to a point where it intersects the East shore of Lake Jessup; thence south and Westerly along the South shore of Lake Jessup to the place of beginning.

PROCLAMATION

Now that all these paper profits in Wall Street have been wiped out, we suppose the price of newspaper will go up again.

In 1928 there were 18,555 fewer marriages than in 1927, but there were 2,902 more divorces. It is perhaps conceivable that the time will come when there will be no more divorces, because there will be no more marriages.

Senator Bingham, who has apologized, it is said, and thus avoided the harsh censure of the Senate. You must remember that in the future, and if you do anything for which you can be prosecuted, just apologize, and it will be all right.

Much interest prevails throughout this part of the state in the first game of night football ever to be played in Florida. This form of the game will be inaugurated tomorrow night at the campus of the Florida State College for Women. The game will be a match between the Florida State team and a team from the University of Florida.

Many people probably see little point in taking the trouble to go to the polls tomorrow since both Frazier and Hoover are good men, competent and honest. The fact remains that no matter who is elected, it will not feel he has the unqualified endorsement of the people, something which is very important just at this time. We for one hope that everyone will do his duty as a citizen and vote for the man of his choice.

The Herald regrets that another good newspaperman is about to be lost to Florida journalism. Hugh O'Connell, for several years foreman of the Sanford Herald, but more recently publisher of the Unadilla Tribune, has sold his interests in Florida and is leaving for Virginia where he and his father will operate a newspaper having Rockefeller support. Brewster and Warfield of the Eustis Lake-Berlin will operate the Tribune in the future, and The Herald wishes them the best of success.

Rear Gardens

We once saw a fellow coming down the street toward us so neat and clean in his general appearance that it was immediately noticeable. He looked like a man who amounted to something. The toes of his shoes were shined; there were neat creases in his trousers; he had a natty necktie, and a well shaven face. But after he had passed, we took another look, and were disappointed. Only the toes of his shoes were shined; the heels were dull and dirty. There was a black spot on one leg of his trousers; and his hair was so badly in need of a cut that his collar almost choked him.

Don't be the kind of a man who shines the toes of his shoes only. Don't be the kind who washes his face but seldom gets in behind the cars. Don't polish the outside of your nails and then leave a ring of black dirt underneath. Don't shave your chin and leave scraggly hair growing on your neck. Don't comb your hair in front where you can see it when you gaze at the mirror, then leave the back of your head mussed for others to see. Don't put on a clean shirt over soiled underwear. Be clean and neat for the sake of cleanliness and neatness, not because you want to make a show.

The same principle applies to your garden. How many people do you know who keep their front yards spic and span and leave their backyards looking like a hog pen? How many people plant all their flowers out in front where strangers may see them, and leave the backs of their homes littered with everything from wood piles to the wandering contents of garbage cans? Of course there must be garbage cans and there must be wood piles, but these ordinarily unattractive necessities can be made more attractive by keeping them neat and clean and by surrounding them with shrub and flowers.

Remember that the backyard is really yours, the front yard is what you give to the world, that is your offering to the beauty and attractiveness of your city. But the backyard is where you go when you want to be alone with Nature. That is the expression of your inner self, like your office, your bedroom, or your easy chair. See that it correctly reflects that inner self. What kind of a backyard have you?

Ready, At Last

When the twentieth century husband is delayed at the office and causes his family to be late for a dinner engagement, he can no longer get away with the moth eaten joke that he was waiting for his wife to dress. As a matter of fact, the modern wife is often the one who walks the floor impatiently.

And while one leaves a masculine sigh of relief for the many hours of weary waiting avoided by getting oneself born in an age of short-haired, simply dressed women, one also feels that it is gallant to offer some little word of apology for the charming Victorian heroine whose toilette was an intricate and difficult affair.

Open some nineteenth century novel at the page where Phyllis dresses for the ball. After the incredibly laced hour-glass stays and the super-structure both fore and aft were safely secured each in its proper place, some dozen stiffly starched petticoats must be stood on the floor, tent fashion, while a dainty, slightly breathless Phyllis climbs under and out through the hole in the top.

Then, she piles several pounds of formidable pompadour on the front of her head and fastens a brace of curls securely on the back. At last, she is ready. She is an alarmingly tight-waisted ball gown, and when she has nailed her corsage to her padded torso and drawn on her thirty button kid gloves, she is ready for the party. Wonder not that she was late, but that she got there at all!

And contrast with this the Vanity Fair glove silk, R. V. D.'s, the evening gown custom built on a costume slip, and the shorn locks of today, and be thankful that when the recalcitrant collar button is at last in place, and the dress is an accomplished fact, that your wife is of this accelerated age of minor super-structures, and very little, if anything, else.

SENATOR BINGHAM diligently, systematically, and one is justified in saying, unscrupulously, devoted his time to further impoverishing the farmer and to widening the present disparity between the industrial East and the agricultural West. He has spent his entire summer working on a program which, if realized, would eventually bring about a sectional scheme in the ranks of Republicanism and so insure the election of a Democratic president and a Democratic Congress at the next election. Minneapolis Tribune.

BUYING FLORIDA HOTELS

Barron G. Collier, New York capitalist, who has extensive land holdings in Florida, is now proposing to enter the hotel field as an investor. He has made an offer to buy seven hotels, now in the hands of receivers, at seven of the best sites of the state. The hotels were built during the boom and immediately after the boom under land values and it is to satisfy the bonds that the sale is to be made through the courts.

Hotels in the system and the amount of bonds outstanding against them are: Pennsylvania, West Palm Beach, $801,000; Tampa Terrace, Tampa, $642,000; Florida, Tampa, $290,000; Manatee River, Bradenton, $550,000; Sarasota Terrace, Sarasota, $465,000; Lakeland Terrace, Lakeland, $467,000; Dixie Court, West Palm Beach, $270,000.

Mr. Collier is a good business man; he has a correct vision of the future of Florida; he is sufficiently advised in the resources and the extent of the state to be justified in his judgment in undertaking this new investment that will involve more than four million dollars.

The offer of Mr. Collier on these hotels, will, of course, have to be approved by the courts, even if the bondholders consent to the price. It is to be noted that buildings built during the boom cost too much. Florida is now down to a business basis; there will be no more shrinkage in values or cutting of prices; henceforth the trend will be steadily upward. All of these hotels are good property.

Florida as a tourist state is growing in popularity. There will be demand for all of our present hotel space this winter, according to present indications. At this present time it cannot be said that Florida is overbuilt in hotels and it will not be three years until there will be a demand for more. One can readily understand what Mr. Collier has in mind when he increases his investments in Florida.

The Little Theater

FLORIDA TIMES-UNION

Announcement of activities of the Little Theatre of Jacksonville gives pleasure to many in the city who have, perhaps, been awaiting information along this line for some time. The organization formed several years ago to study and give attention to the perpetuation of interest in the spoken drama, has gained in membership and important accomplishment with last season's record well remembered for the ends attained. In the present situation with circumstances limiting the "local productions" almost to an occasional visit this city, with practically all of the Southeast, has been served only by stock organizations and the efforts of Little Theatre groups, when reading dramatic inspiration, Jacksonville has been fortunate inasmuch as it finds a goodly number of enthusiasts embracing the Little Theatre movement and giving time and talent to secure excellent productions. It has also in the past few seasons enjoyed excellent stock presentations.

Last season the Little Theatre, with membership considerably above previous years, retained the interest and attention that is so desirable during a season of more than a dozen plays and readings. The statement made a few days ago indicating the first performance to be offered November 12 comes as a very satisfactory introduction to the subject. The present season, while not giving all of the details that were perhaps expected, it is well to know from the published notice that things are functioning admirably. An increased membership is expected and the prospects for a most delightful season are excellent. Officers of the organization, elected some time ago include: E. S. Beauchamp-Noble, president; Paul West, vice president; Mrs. Marie Graves, secretary; and Philip Devlin, treasurer, all of whom have been identified with the Little Theatre since its early activities and devoted to the cause ever since.

For the opening bill a three-act comedy, called "Dumb Boys," has been selected, and the cast announced comprises a finished performance. This play was presented with great success at the Morris Modern Theatre in New York, and on the road some years ago. Selected by the organization to supervise the production of the coming season, Mrs. Ella L. MacLair will devote much time to the task undertaken, and her experience and dramatic information will be of great value to the group through all the undertakings. Mrs. MacLair has been prominent in dramatic work, and especially with the Little Theatre for several years, and it is regarded as fortunate that her talent and ability have been secured for the important part indicated.

Negotiations are understood to be underway to secure a good, desirable location for the plays and play readings of the season and the public is assured that satisfaction will be expressed when the place is indicated. Efforts will be made to make all dramatic offerings as complete as possible; attention is directed to environment as well as the careful staging and rehearsing of the play, all of which tend to the fuller enjoyment of offerings. The Little Theatre movement has spread all over the country in the past ten or twelve years, and its success attests the continued interest in dramatic art and the insistence of the people upon the retention of the spoken drama.

Party Is Given For Children Thursday

A Halloween party was given on Thursday evening for the members of the Sunday School of All Souls' Catholic Church by the teachers of the school at the parish hall on Oak Avenue. The little guests arrived at 6 o'clock dressed in costumes and masks, and were ushered into the hall which was decorated for the occasion with festoons of black crepe paper, Jack o' Lanterns and other Halloween novelties. Rows of apples were suspended from the ceiling while similar fruit was placed in large tubs of water for "bobbing."

Miss Joanna Arzuffella was presented with a prize for having the best costume for the girls, while M. C. Temple, Jr., was chosen as having the most attractive costume among the boys. Miss Helen Windham was given high prize in the donkey contest while Miss Rosa Daniels won the low prize.

At the refreshment hour pick-ferrets and ginger snaps were served by Mrs. Ralph B. Wright, assisted by Mrs. J. L. Hunt, the Misses Ellen Hoy, Ira R. Wathen, Madeline Mullen, Anna Marie Fellers, Miss Windham and a number of other older members of the Sunday school. About 70 children were present.

Bridge Party Given For Benefit Of D.A.R.

Mrs. John Meisch Jr., Mrs. George Davis Hart and Mrs. Roland L. Dean had charge of a subscription bridge party which was given Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hart on Tenth Street for the benefit of the D. A. R. The guests arrived early in the afternoon and were greeted at the door by Mrs. W. T. Fields, regent.

Refreshments and pick-ferrets were served until late in the afternoon when some were totaled and prizes awarded. Mrs. D. L. Dyer, regent, presided over the cards, for having high score, carrying the most placed prize bridge, while Mrs. Samuel Peterson was given low score prize, a guest low score prize.

Mrs. G. P. Smith was presented with a set of Modern napkins as high score prize for those playing progressive bridge, while Mrs. W. T. Fields received a set of crochets, a low score prize. Lavender and yellow were the colors chosen for decorations and party appointments. Vases and bowls of goldenrod and holly were arranged about the rooms. The tallies and bridge accessories further emphasized the chosen color motif.

MANY men have sought words to describe that "extra something" in Chesterfield.

It is there, undoubtedly... a "sparkle" of spicier aroma, an extra touch of flavor, a certain added "character," unmistakably Chesterfield's own.

No one word describes it — but only the most inexperienced smoker could fail to mark it. Between other cigarettes and Chesterfield, there is the clear-cut difference between just something to smoke and the cigarette that puts —

"TASTE above everything."

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Peace signed again today along the en-battled "front" of intercollegiate football, as the Pease of Vermont made a laundry ticket out of the map of Europe, so did the armistice make for altered values and proportions as sharp variance with those that had been held previous to Saturday, Dartmouth, for one thing, no longer was one of the tight-of-night teams of the East, Southern California, for another, did not rule the coast, as before. Missouri was off the top perch in the Big Six; Illinois practically was eliminated from further defense of its Big Ten title; much the same thing had happened to Alabama down South and Colorado College no longer was a front-rank contender in the Rocky Mountain belt.

Briefly, of all the important developments of Saturday, these were the most far-reaching:

California, supposed to be sub-normal, beat Southern California, supposed to be great, by 15 to 5; Dartmouth, reckoned as one of the best, lost to Yale, 46 to 12, on an intercepted forward pass that never could have been thrown; Kansas City, long-heralded as one of the best, was probably kept out of the Big Six Championship, 7 to 6; Southern Methodist and Texas played a scoreless tie, leaving the Southwest without a nominal leader; Northwestern took the play away from Illinois from the opening whistle and won by the margin of a touchdown; Marquette outplayed the supposedly foolproof Detroit outfit but got no better than a 6 to 6 tie and Colorado College lost to Utah Aggies, leaving the University of Utah in full charge of the Rocky Mountain section.

Notre Dame's 26 to 6 victory over Georgia Tech down in Atlanta, which has been hailed this last except for one thing: it isn't important when Notre Dame wins; only when it loses. This ball team is going through the toughest schedule of years as though they were playing Upala, Ypsilanti, Woodford and St. Vladimir. They must be a little better than the best or else the rest of them are far from good.

Notre Dame, of course, has a

GOOD SHOWINGS MADE IN HERALD SCORE CONTEST

2 Men Guess Twelve Right While 5 Pick 11 Games Correctly

The scarcity of upsets was probably responsible for the unusual number of creditable showings by the competitors in The Herald's weekly football contest, the winners of which are given two tickets to the Milne Theater. Out of 85 selections submitted, two had 12 correct guesses out of 15; five had 11 correct and 16 were right in 10 instances.

The fortunate contestants this week were Robert Reitz and W. J. Quantock both of whom picked 12 halfback on the sidelines, Princeton today began work for Leigh. Bennett was injured in the Chicago game and the extent of his injuries has not yet been revealed.

It is believed that the best team will outweigh the victors. Weights of the probable starters are given as follows: Edinfield 140, Holtzclaw 168, Russell 130, Kanner 125, Hyatt 225, Yancy 240, Echols 125, Moye 170, Basice 150, Schmininger 150 and Florida 185. Weights of the squad's other members, who are likely to have an active part in the fray are: Shigholzer 130, J. Hyatt 165, Howell 145, Aycock 160, Whittle 130, Bender 165, Ponder 145, Lacey 135, Terry 135, Lake 130, Hall 140, Lyles 145, Kinslow 130, Morae 118 and Higgins 130. The weights of the Rollins roster could not be secured.

Coach Jack McDowell reports that the Baby Tars are popular with the student body of the college, having a large following from Winter Park and Orlando as well, and a large crowd is expected to be on hand to cheer them on to victory. An equally large number of students from the local high school will be present.

Tremendous throng of people in Sanford are anticipated to be on the spot when night football makes its Florida debut, Towns and titles all through the central section of the state will more than likely be well represented. The event has been extensively advertised and considerable interest aroused. One of the most colorful throngs of spectators ever to witness a football game in Sanford is expected to attend.

By International News Service

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 4. (INS)—Head Coach Mal Stevens has announced that none of the players who saw service in Saturday's battle with Dartmouth will be in uniform today, but that sharp scrimmages are scheduled for tomorrow and Wednesday. Despite rumors to the contrary, Yale came through the Green game with only slight injury to the squad.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 4. (INS)—Encouraged by its win over a strong Florida eleven, Harvard today began its three day drive in preparation for Michigan on Saturday. Especially pleasing to the coaches was the improved play of the Crimson line.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (INS)—The New York University eleven received a blow today when it became known that Charley Marshall, regular right end, would be out for the remainder of the season. Marshall sustained a fractured ankle in Saturday's tilt with Georgetown.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 4. (INS)—With only Trix Bennett, winners. Reitz went wrong on Dartmouth, Southern California and Alabama which were defeated by Yale, California and Vanderbilt respectively. Quantock missed on Dartmouth, Southern California and Wisconsin which was beaten by Purdue.

The Princeton-Chicago game proved the biggest upset, only 16 persons selecting Chicago to beat the Tigers. Fifty-two thought Dartmouth would take Yale and twenty-one pinned their faith on Florida.

The contestants with their number of correct choices are as follows:

John Miller 3, William Morrison Jr., 9, S. A. B. Wilkinson 7, Homer Little 9, Bruce Lancy 9, Eugene Takach 6, N. C. Farnworth 8, W. F. Ravenel 9, J. M. Stinecipher 9, R. M. Lyles 10, W. H. Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified vitamin that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with "no-hill" bottom; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creomulsion is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchitis. Creomulsion contains in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritation, and is excellent for soothing the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

NOAH'S ARK

Copyright 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. "NOAH'S ARK," starring Dolores Costello and featuring George O'Brien, is a Warner Bros. production of this novel. It is based upon the scenario by Darryl Francis Zanuck.

SYNOPSIS
In a private compartment on a crowded train are three friends, a man, a woman, and a child. The man is a doctor, the woman is a pianist, and the child is a boy named Noah. They are on their way to a party. The train is wrecked and they are stranded in a forest. Noah's ark is built and they escape the flood.

"If you like, I don't mind," the landlord turned away, disheveled. "Your room is there." He pointed to the door on the other side of the hallway. Through the doorway, Noah saw a room with a single bed, a chair, and a table. He turned back to the woman and the doctor.

"There are no other chambers," the landlord informed the two. "You will have to occupy the room with your friend."
"I don't mind," Noah said. "I'll sleep on the floor."
The woman and the doctor looked at each other. The woman spoke first.
"Noah, you are a good boy," she said. "But you must not sleep on the floor. You will catch a cold. You must sleep on the bed."
Noah looked at the bed. It was a simple bed with a blanket and a pillow. He looked at the woman and the doctor. They were both looking at him. Noah smiled.

"I'll sleep on the floor," Noah said. "I don't mind." He turned and went to the door. He opened the door and looked out into the hallway. The woman and the doctor were still looking at him. Noah closed the door and went to the floor. He lay down and closed his eyes. He was tired. He had a long journey. He was glad to be here. He was glad to be safe. He was glad to be with his friends.

CHAPTER V
Within his room, Noah pulled up and down, intent on the sound that emanated from the chamber next to his own. He stopped and bent his ear to the crack of the door, which he had unlocked from the other side and listened. Then suddenly he strengthened up and flung himself upon the expansion, rather gullible, he had opened. The door from the balcony swung open and Noah saw the woman and the doctor. They were both looking at him. Noah smiled.

"Noah, you are a good boy," the woman said. "But you must not sleep on the floor. You will catch a cold. You must sleep on the bed."
Noah looked at the bed. It was a simple bed with a blanket and a pillow. He looked at the woman and the doctor. They were both looking at him. Noah smiled.

For the PRICE of a SMALL TOMATO

SWEEPING is splendid exercise but it is so tiresome and filthy and gets on one's nerves day after day. Well, what woman wants to sweep any low when one cleaning by electricity will do a better job than the broom or roller can ever do. A little touch here and there with an Electric Vacuum Cleaner every other day each week will keep your home immaculately clean. Now, aren't these three broomless days each week worth three cents, the price of a small fresh tomato. Of course they are and besides there is no dust to inhale. Save a day the electric way!
