Old-Time Residents Compare Shocks To 1906 Tremor That Did Great Damage

EUREKA, Calif., June 6. (A.P.)—One woman was killed and three persons were injured in a severe earthquake that shook Northern California and Southern Oregon early today. Mrs. Walter McCutcheon, of Eureka, was fatally injured when the chimney of her home toppled over and crashed through the roof upon the family.

McCutcheon suffered a broken leg and his three-year-old daughter was slightly injured. The other victims were a bakery employe whose wrists were broken when the tremble jarred two bread trays together.

The quake was reported "very strong" at Klamath Falls, Ore., and felt in San Francisco, Modesto, Calif., reported it was "severe." A number of shocks in Arcata near here were felt here in rapid succession. Property damage here was confined to fallen chimneys, broken water mains, which flooded basements, broken windows and crockery.

Communication lines were temporarily disrupted. Old residents here compared the shock to the 1906 earthquake which rocked the coast and caused the fire that destroyed San Francisco.

Rodman Lehman To Get High Honor At DeMolay Meeting

The highest honor that can be bestowed upon a member of the DeMolay, "The DeMolay Legion of Honor," will be conferred upon Rodman J. W. Lehman, member of the Seminole High School faculty and son of City Commissioner and Mrs. H. J. Lehman, at St. Petersburg tomorrow.

Mr. Lehman, who left for that city last night accompanied by several members of the Sanford Order, will be one of several boys from all over Florida who, attending the Florida DeMolay State Conclave, will be invested with this unusual and meritorious award.

The honor winner is a graduate of Sanford High School, class of 1922, and in the fall of 1925 he was admitted to Rollins College, from where he was graduated, cum laude, in June 1929. While on the Rollins campus he was active in fraternity work, being a member of the National Forensic Fraternity, Alpha Phi Kappa. He is also one of the co-founders, and was first president of Kappa Phi Sigma, social fraternity. He is a member of the "Quadruple O" club, and the Rollins Key Society.

Since his graduation from Rollins he has taught in Orlando and Sanford high schools.

When he returned to Sanford, the Advisory Council of the Seminole Chapter, Order of DeMolay, appointed Mr. Lehman as Advisory Scribe of the local chapter of which he was the first Master Councilor.

Others from Sanford attending the Conclave are: Jack Stempert, Master Councilor, and John Couler, chapter Scribe, who will represent the local DeMolays as official delegates, in the conclave; John Billa, Joe Routh, Gene Estledge, H. B. Odham, Jr., Robert Young, Harry Lee Lindsey, R. Z. Johnson, Bill Tyne, and others.

Marriage Licenses Are Scarce In May

Despite the generally accepted story that the month of May is a merry one, few couples chose it as the month in which they would embark upon the matrimonial sea in this county. Only 17 couples, the lowest number in many spring seasons, purchased licenses during the past month.

"It must be the depression," said Miss Cassandra Schultz this morning when she released the official figures. Nine of the couples granted licenses were white couples, with the average age of the men as 28 years, and the women 23 years. Eight of the couples were colored, the average age of the men being 29 years, and the women 24 years.

A 45-year-old colored man was the oldest of the 34 persons seeking a permit to marry, while a 17-year-old white girl was the youngest person seeking a permit.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 6.—Stafford Caldwell, gubernatorial candidate, will make his closing address of the campaign here in Williams Park tonight.

PLOT DIRECTED AT MUSSOLINI IS FRUSTRATED

Youth Armed With 2 Bombs And Pistol Is Placed Under Arrest

ROME, June 6.—(A.P.)—A frustrated plan to assassinate Premier Mussolini was revealed yesterday with announcement that a young Italian, armed with a pistol and two bombs, had been arrested outside the office of Il Duce in the Palazzo Venezia.

The would-be assassin, who was arrested Saturday, confessed that he sought to kill the premier during Garibaldi anniversary ceremonies because a Garibaldi was a symbol of liberty, the police announced.

The first announcement of the arrest, made by the official government press bureau yesterday, said the man was a 25-year-old Italian, whose name was Angelo Stardelotto. He carried a Swiss passport, which bore the name of Angelo Gabini, but the press bureau said the document was forged.

Police said the prisoner was a member of an organization, called "Justice and Liberty," which was pledged to violent action.

The prisoner was quoted as saying he carried the two high explosive bombs for the attempt against Mussolini and the pistol to kill himself. His pockets were loaded with the weapons when he was arrested.

He was arrested in the public square fronting on Mussolini's office, when he attracted the suspicion of a detective.

A bomb search of a thoroughness rarely seen here was conducted overnight to protect King Victor Emmanuel, who this morning reviewed 16,000 troops of the Rome garrison on the anniversary of the Italian constitution.

The police did not suspect a plot against the king, but in view of the arrest of Stardelotto took every precaution. They searched the royal box and examined the ground underneath. As far as was known nothing was found.

Premier Mussolini, with the arrest of the would-be assassin widely in mind, nevertheless faced 10,000 guests yesterday morning as he stood on a balcony just above where Stardelotto was seized.

Il Duce responded to the enthusiasm of hunters assembled from all over Italy. He greeted them as they stood in a solid mass with double-barreled shotguns slung over their shoulders. Any one of them might conceivably have been an assassin.

Trade Parley To Study Plan For Recovery

Question Of Improving Prices Of Commodities Is Great Task Facing World

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(A.P.)—What can a world economic conference do to improve commodity prices?

This question is before the foreign offices of most of the great nations and is occupying the attention of governmental bank executives.

If the proposed international conference convenes at London, many of the first questions considered will doubtless be monetary.

Depreciated currencies, the depreciation of silver, embargoes on gold exports and various other exchange regulations have done much to check the free movement of trade and to deflate prices.

Free traders charge high tariffs with the disruption of world trade. Tariff rates are a domestic matter with each nation and cannot properly be discussed at an international conference in anything but an academic manner without dabbling in the political affairs of various countries. But the methods by which nations may regulate their tariff relations with other powers are a proper subject for international consideration and will doubtless have an important place in any world economic meeting.

Embargoes which many nations have established against certain goods, the issuance of licenses to import and the fixing of quotas which are allotted among various powers are devices which have taken trade out of the hands of merchants and put it under governmental control. Frequently the administration of tariff regulations which seem harmless enough in themselves becomes so oppressive that it eliminates normal trade.

The United States has been having much trouble of recent months with German license to import and French quotas. A temporary agreement which has just been negotiated at Paris between Ambassador Edge and the French government promises to lessen the friction between American businessmen and the French tariff administration.

Exchange regulations, tariff quotas, embargoes on importations and various other devices which reach into billions of dollars.

"We may talk about our liberties," he added, "but when what we call liberty reaches that pitch where it permits crimes of violence to wound the highest and most venerable rights of life, it changes in name and becomes barbarism."

The ideas of popular writers, such as H. G. Wells, Bernard Shaw and Bertrand Russell, who repudiate the idea of a personal God "leave too much unaccounted for," he said. "Merely physical grounds will not explain 'the riddle of life,' he asserted.

"And yet," he said, "we award prizes to certain gentlemen like Sinclair Lewis and Theodore Dreiser who sit down in the mud and scum of things and find pleasure in emphasizing the tough and bestial aspects of human nature."

Life would have become a fallacy, he said, "if our easy going optimism had endured. With all our prosperity we were not very happy, for the happy ages have always been ages of vital faith."

Mrs. Owen Will Make Final Speech Tonight

FORT LAUDERDALE, June 6.—Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen will make her final campaign address at Stranahan Park here at 7:30 o'clock tonight, following a reception by county women's clubs and torch light procession and rally to school children.

An open house will be held at the Fort Lauderdale Woman's Club from 6:30 to 7:30 honoring the congresswoman. Miss Bell Hobson, president of the county, has the federation in charge. With her in the receiving line will be presidents of affiliated county clubs and six Broward county representatives who have been members of Mrs. Owen's annual student tour to Washington.

See her Frank, Fort Lauderdale, county member this year, is assisting in arrangement of the parade which will be led by the Hollywood Brys band.

Famed Referee Dies After Long Illness

JERSEY CITY, June 6.—(A.P.)—Harry Erbe, secretary of the state boxing commission and referee of the Dempsey-Carpenter match at Boyles Thirty Acres several years ago, died today. He was admitted to a hospital recently for treatment for chronic stomach ailment. He was operated on last September and later went to Florida for a rest, only to suffer a relapse three weeks ago.

Members Of Bonus Army Plan Parade

HONESTY IS SEEN GREATEST NEED IN PUBLIC OFFICE

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(A.P.)—A fast swelling army of ex-service men besieging Washington to win payment of the bonus, made plans today for a great parade through the Capital tomorrow night and definitely refused to consider going home. More than 2000 are estimated to be in the city with thousands more on the way. Food available for them is nearly exhausted. Police officials proposed they leave Thursday morning promising truck rides for the first 50 miles homeward but leaders of the jobless men agreed they would not go.

University Of Florida Speaker Calls For Better Leadership

GAINESVILLE, June 6.—(A.P.)—The answer to all the problems of our time is "In the moral law of right and wrong" and not "in such cheap panaceas as a beer parade led by the mayor of America's largest city," Dr. George Stanley Frazer, Presbyterian minister of Pensacola, yesterday told the graduating class at the University of Florida.

Dr. Frazer delivered the baccalaureate sermon before members of the commencement class, their families and friends at the university faculty. The commencement address will be given today by Attorney General Cary D. Landis of Tallahassee.

"Our country," Dr. Frazer said, "needs leadership of the sort that transcends the people of this land in a determined effort to 'clean the stygian stalls of our social order, and sever the alliance between the underworld and crooked politics whose representatives are thugs and murderers and child stealers, so that we may not out of the poison nests of crime that infect this land."

He said it is not enough to punish crime as "the only way it can be rooted out is to change the whole atmosphere in our thinking and help to organize society on a basis where crime is unpopular."

He said it was no wonder communism found follow soil in America where "our annual loss through crime and racketeering reaches into billions of dollars."

"We may talk about our liberties," he added, "but when what we call liberty reaches that pitch where it permits crimes of violence to wound the highest and most venerable rights of life, it changes in name and becomes barbarism."

SENATE PLANS DRIVE TO PASS REVENUE BILL

Prediction Made That Congress Will Not Complete Its Work By First Of July

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(A.P.)—Faced with a mass of vital legislation, Congress today entered the final week before the national political conventions with a prediction by Senator Watson, Republican leader, that it will not complete its work before July 1.

The opinion was challenged, however, by Chairman Eess of the Republican national committee, who said he believed it would be possible for Congress to get through by June 14 the day the Republican convention opens in Chicago.

In a drive to finish up as soon as possible the Senate planned to finish legislative action on the billion-dollar tax bill today and speed it to President Hoover.

This leaves the economy bill, relief legislation and appropriation bills as the main hurdles to be surmounted before adjournment. The House Ways and Means Committee approved the Garner relief bill for the second time but cut $39,000,000 from the total allocated to public buildings. The Senate may pass the economy measure before nightfall.

Out of a conference of Republican chieftains yesterday came the definite prediction from the group's spokesman Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, of a prohibition plank in the party's platform.

"There will be a resubmission plank," Moses said to newspapermen after the extraordinary conference of party leaders on the eve of the national convention.

But he emphasized that the de-

ESTIMATE MADE 6000 VOTES TO BE CAST IN DISTRICT

Forecast Of Showers Is Not Expected To Curtail Balloting

An earlier estimate that at least 6000 persons would go to the polls in Brevard and Seminole counties tomorrow was given a slight setback this afternoon when word was received from the weather bureau that tomorrow's weather will be accompanied by showers.

However, with scores of workmen button-holing every passer-by, and telephones kept jingling throughout the day, plus what may be considered an unprecedented interest in the primary election, it is barely possible that such a record vote of 6000 may be cast.

It can be fairly estimated that of the 3498 qualified voters in Seminole County, at least 3200 will vote, for, with conditions as financially strained as they are, it is believed almost certain that if a person manages to pay $2 for his poll taxes, he will vote.

Of the 3498 qualified voters, 2443 paid their taxes, while 1025 are exempted from paying. Sanford alone has 625 of the 1025 exempted voters, leaving about 400 exempted voters in the county.

And, since the county has been so thoroughly gone over by scores of workers, the chances are good that practically every qualified voter will visit the polls tomorrow.

When Seminole County voters went to the polls in 1924, there were about 2750 registered voters, of whom 2100 voted in 1928. There were approximately 3500 registered, 2900 of whom later voted. Rain fell intermittently on both election days, just as it is predicted tomorrow, but observers believe that it will take a real downpour to keep voters away from the booths tomorrow.

What Brevard county will do tomorrow is, of course, doubtful. There are 3968 registered voters there in 26 precincts, and of this total, 3098 are qualified to vote. Observers there predict that at least 2500 will cast their ballots, so that with 2800 voting there, and 3200 in this county, candidates will have plenty of worries on their minds before early in the morning of Wednesday when they will just about know where they stand.

At any rate, it appears, just now, as though history will be made in the 37th Senatorial district.

New York Pastor Deplores Graft In High Public Office

NEW YORK, June 6.—(A.P.)—The Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor of Riverside Church, which John D. Rockefeller, Jr. attends, declared in his sermon yesterday that "if the people of the community, knowing what Judge Seabury has plainly shown about our government, are content to let a man like Mr. Walker remain mayor, we have sunk to depths that take from us the right to call ourselves civilized anymore."

The subject of Dr. Fosdick's sermon was "Handling Our Primitive Instincts," and he was talking about graft when he launched into a discussion of the recent public hearings of the Hofstadter legislative committee.

"Graft is a vile thing," he said, "but graft is not in the service of cleaning up the deplorable mess of our city government would do us all honor."

"There is no possibility of cleaning up this city, with its deplorable officials, who, as Judge Seabury has so plainly shown, have been robbing us right and left and corrupting our government from top to bottom, without some concentrated pugnaty on the part of our citizenship."

Mayor Walker's brother, Dr. William H. Walker, testified at a hearing of the Hofstadter committee Wednesday he had shared fees as a consultant with several doctors who cared for city commission cases, although, he said, in only one instance had he received a fee from a city case.

Samuel Seabury, counsel for the committee, introduced evidence indicating Dr. Walker had banked $431,258 in the last four years.

Author Writes Own Obituary, Kills Self

MIAMI, June 6.—(A.P.)—Henry Fisher, 77, author of a number of internationally known works, fell to his death from the ninth floor of a hotel today. He left several notes stating that he was suicide and asking that he be buried in a pauper's grave "without any poppycock." Fisher, in ailing health for several years, left notes to the coroner and friends on a local newspaper and wrote his own obituary notice.

A vivid apostle of realism, Fisher's writing in the past few days exposed follies of Europe's kings and princelings. Two of his best known books, "The Private Lives of The Kaiser and His Consort" and "The Secret History of the Court of Berlin," were both published before the World War and later printed in many languages.

E.F. Housholder Flays Sanford Herald For Supporting Boyles; Holly Has Platform

Six hundred persons gathered at the City Hall Saturday night for the last political rally of the campaign where candidates for circuit judge, state's attorney, senator, representative, county commissioner District No. 1, and constable made their final appeal for votes.

The meeting was punctuated by an attack upon "The Sanford Herald" by E. F. Housholder who flayed this newspaper for its support of L. F. Boyles, and was concluded with a short address by Mayor John Alsop of Jacksonville, candidate for congressman-at-large. R. J. Holly, candidate for representative, also paid his respects to the Herald.

Judge Millard B. Smith, of Titusville seeking re-appointment to the office of the Circuit Judge of the 23rd Judicial Circuit, was the first speaker of the evening. He briefly summarized his fitness for the position, his experience as both a practicing and prosecuting attorney and set forth several of the duties of the judiciary which he termed "the most exalted and powerful office within the reach of any man." "I've had the experience and I can honestly and fearlessly say that I've tried my best to interpret the law as I saw it, with fear and favor to no man, although as to whether I have satisfactorily fulfilled the duties of a prosecuting attorney, I shall leave that to you."

Judge Smith said that a man seeking the office of circuit judge should be a man not given to flightiness nor strong prejudices, "a man who by his life and conduct has proven that he is qualified for the position." He said that the right man should be "morally fit," and possessor of a public and private record that could bear the closest scrutiny. Concluding he asked the voters to "let your consciences be your guide, and on next Tuesday cast your vote for the man you know to be qualified and deserving of this high honor."

County Judge W. S. Collins, of Melbourne, began his remarks by expressing regret that he had been unable to attend earlier. Seminole County political rallies had hoped that his friends would not be less because of that fact. He told of having dispatched a telegram to Governor Doyle Carlton asking for the appointment as circuit judge, and of having sent this message because he felt that 19 years experience as an attorney in Florida and Georgia, and the fact that he loved the law and his duties and responsibilities, made him the logical man for the office.

George A. DeCottes, of the law firm of DeCottes and Spencer and a former city attorney, was the last speaker in this race. He said that he "cast his lot with the good people of this city in 1907, people who know my record and qualifications, and people who have been good to me, for all that I have in a material way, I made among you people."

"There is no use for me to tell you about the honors and trusts that have been given to me in the past," Mr. DeCottes began as he related the various city and county posts he has held since 1907. "I believe that through my successful handling of practically every important case ever entrusted to me that the people have come to know me as an able, competent, conscientious, and aggressive executive and attorney."

He mentioned the J. C. Dill case and its reversal by the Supreme Court of this state as an indication of his success as an attorney. "By this decision a way is pointed out for our citizen over-burdened with debt," he declared. Later he produced copies of prominent New York newspapers which had either endorsed the decision in full, or had made "comment" on it.

Author Writes Own Obituary, Kills Self

MIAMI, June 6.—(A.P.)—Henry Fisher, 77, author of a number of internationally known works, fell to his death from the ninth floor of a hotel today. He left several notes stating that he was suicide and asking that he be buried in a pauper's grave "without any poppycock." Fisher, in ailing health for several years, left notes to the coroner and friends on a local newspaper and wrote his own obituary notice.

A vivid apostle of realism, Fisher's writing in the past few days exposed follies of Europe's kings and princelings. Two of his best known books, "The Private Lives of The Kaiser and His Consort" and "The Secret History of the Court of Berlin," were both published before the World War and later printed in many languages.

Counter Revolution Breaks Out In Chile

It is established, however, that the new socialist regime creates no immediate danger for American investments except those tied up in the huge Coach Nitrate combine.

No Word Is Heard From Ocean Flier

NEW YORK, June 6.—(A.P.)—The wife of Stanislaus Hausner, who took off from here Friday on a flight to Warsaw, Poland, tried hard today not to give up hope for the flier's safety. He has not been heard from since he left New Foundland and there are bare possibilities he may have landed and is unable to communicate a word of his safety or that he may have fallen into the sea and been picked up by a vessel not equipped with wireless, as the only bases for hope of his being alive.

NO PLACE OR TIME

This curly childhood of the year, These days of dancing blood... To be resigned for good?

When Summer's face is bright and clear

And all the trees are green— Shall I believe the time has come To creep away unseen?

When Autumn shuffles leaves of gold

And deals them in one heap— Must I agree that that's the hour For everlasting sleep?

And when the world is white with snow

With Winter in his prime— Will I still maintain that Death's a fool, That knows no place or time.

—By W. H. Davis.

Ernest Amos has very little opposition in his race for comptroller

Personally our opposition to the thirteen-month year is that thirteen months of the month are going to be unlucky either for us or our editors.—Dallas News.

Some day the people of the twenty-third judicial circuit are going to be even more proud of Millard B. Smith than they are today, and he is going to be proud of them.—Titusville Star-Advertiser.

It is reported that a man with wooden leg fell asleep in the West Palm Beach city park and when he awoke he found the placards of eight candidates nailed to his leg.—Delray Beach News. He must have had a good understanding of politics.

Ruth Bryan Owen may be able to show other candidates a few points when it comes to covering political ground and making speeches, says the Times-Union.

Candidates for delegate to the National Democratic convention stand to Governor Roosevelt include Val Cleser, Bryan Mack, D. P. C. Robertson, Jr., Jim White, F. B. Hudson, E. Clay Lewis, Jr., Robert H. Anderson and Frank J. Wideman. Among the women delegates, Roosevelt has five friends only four of whom can be voted for. They are Mrs. Herman Dann, Mrs. Beniah Hannah, Mamie Sparkman Hoyt, Mrs. Charles Overman, and Mrs. William Wilson.

The double campaign of a certain candidate from Seminole County for a position which embraces both Brevard and Seminole counties has turned a lot of votes to favor of Millard B. Smith, candidate for appointment as circuit judge. Mr. Smith is making a clean race and no doubt will receive a splendid majority in both counties next Tuesday. For his integrity and qualifications he has the confidence of hundreds of people in Brevard county.—Orlando.

Million in voting for Wright

Sanford followed the lead of the other counties in voting for Wright.

Tomorrow's Election

Tomorrow is election day. The fate of many a candidate turns on the marking of a ballot. Long looked forward to, by some of them it is dreaded; but by all of them it is a welcome change from the anxious days of campaigning. Tomorrow it will all be over. Winners can rest contented in the knowledge that for another four years at least they will have a meal ticket. Losers can at least find solace in the thought that there will be no more campaign speeches to make with sore throats, that button-holing is no longer necessary.

It has, however, been a remarkably pleasant campaign. In spite of the unusually large number of candidates, the keenness of the competition, and the vital importance of winning to most of them, very little acrimony has developed, very little bitterness has been generated, and very little damage of any nature done. The candidates for the most part are of a particularly high order and a deserving lot. They have taken the gaff of campaigning well.

As for The Herald, we have undertaken in a few instances to indicate to our readers which of the candidates in our opinion could best serve them. We have done this only where a matter of vital public interest was at stake. We have not sought to denounce or degrade any candidate either directly or indirectly and we have not sought by insinuations to reflect upon any candidate. If we cannot say that a man is honest, without reflecting on the integrity of his opponent, we are sorry, but no decent newspaper could do less.

On the eve of election The Herald offers but this suggestion—vote! And vote your conscientious convictions. Do not be balked in your duty as a citizen by a sudden rain or a cranky kitchen stove. Do not be swayed from your desire to vote for the best men by back-slapping tactics or appeals to sentimentalism. Back-slapping is temporary and sentimentalism will not cure the evils of high taxation or maintain high standards of decency and efficiency in public office.

The people have the opportunity tomorrow to place the affairs of their government in competent hands for the next few years and we are confident they will not fail.

Boyle And Brevard

The high regard with which Lloyd Boyle is held in Brevard county where he has just completed a term of court as state attorney with great credit to himself is evidenced by recent newspaper expressions concerning him and his work. Among them the Melbourne Times, in its last issue, says of him, "Of the two Sanford candidates seeking nomination as State Attorney for this district, the Times recommends Lloyd F. Boyle."

The fact that Mr. Boyle is not a seasoned politician and does not pull wires and make political trades in order to obtain votes, The Times continues, "is in his favor. The fact that he is attending to his duties in court as state attorney these days while other candidates for public office are devoting practically all of their time to campaigning should bring him added strength on election day. People like to support men who are not afraid to work, even at election time."

"Mr. Boyle is well qualified by character, legal training and experience to efficiently perform the duties of State Attorney. His ability was recognized recently by the governor who appointed him to the office to succeed Millard B. Smith when the latter was elevated to be judge of the circuit."

"While he is a young man, this should make him an active prosecutor and aid him in properly handling the duties of his office. He is not lazy. He is honest. He is courageous. He does not play politics. He believes his first duty is to do his job well. That is the kind of State Attorney that is needed in this day of corruption and crookedness."

"Mr. Boyle has been well and favorably known to The Times for a number of years and this newspaper can sincerely advocate his candidacy for the office he seeks. He deserves to be nominated by a decisive vote."

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Marcus Fagg, superintendent of the Children's Home at Jacksonville, and one of the most prominent workers in missions in the South, spent several days here this week as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wright.

David Epner, who lately moved to this city from Geneva, has been appointed to the police force and will prove a valuable addition to Sanford's "lineup."

Abie Kanner is home for the summer after a very successful term in the law department of the University at Chapel Hill, N. C.

F. P. Dutton has returned from a trip to Philadelphia and other eastern points.

At the annual state convention of the postal clerks held in Ocala last week Mr. W. H. Wright, of this city, was elected vice-president. Mr. Wright is one of the most enthusiastic members, and this added honor is appreciated by his many friends in the state and in Sanford, where he is also the president of the local branch.

Capt. Charles Thompson, of the yacht, Bamoo, was towed into Miami on Tuesday bringing with him some curious un-named deep-sea creature, about forty feet long. Telegrams have been sent to the Smithsonian Institute with an accurate description of the monster, asking for the name, but so far no reply has been received.

News comes from Key West that the United States is now prepared for all emergencies should intervention in Cuba become necessary. Eight warships have arrived in Key West to serve as an advance guard of the intervention forces unless President Gomez is successful in crushing the negro revolution.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"God the Only Cause and Creator" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 5.

The Golden Text was from Revelation 4:11. "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honor and power: for thou hast created all things and for thy pleasure they are and were created."

During the sessions which opened at the Christian Science Church in Sanford, Fla., on Sunday, June 5, the following were the speakers: Mrs. W. H. Wright, of Sanford, Fla.; Mrs. W. H. Wright, of Sanford, Fla.; Mrs. W. H. Wright, of Sanford, Fla.

Love, the universal cause, the only creator, and there is no other self-existence. He fills all space, and it is impossible to conceive of such omnipresence as individuality, except as "Infinite Spirit of Mind" (p. 331).

REPARATIONS DEBTS LINKED WITH RECOVERY

Britain Sees Two Issues Indissolubly Linked Up Together

LONDON, June 5.—The unfinished conversations of the American Ambassador, Mr. Andrew W. Mellon, with Sir John Simon at the Foreign Office on the subject of a world commercial conference are revealing the fact that world recovery is indissolubly linked to the simultaneous settlement of the questions of reparations and security.

While the full scope of the Anglo-American discussion is not yet available, it is known that the British government is proceeding on the premise that there must be give and take between the reparations experts at Lausanne and the disarmament experts at Geneva if any real advance is to be achieved in economic and financial fields.

The British government is even reconsidering an important re-statement of its policy on security so as to bring it more in harmony with French demands. This is believed to be the only way to get any progress at Lausanne. This would enable a start to be made on the wider issues broached by Mr. Mellon.

The British government is strongly in favor of a world commercial conference at the proper time, though it is difficult to see how it could meet until the Imperial conference at Ottawa in July. But first steps could certainly be taken at Lausanne if all goes well on the reparations side of the conference.

Meanwhile Downing Street is busy preparing its brief for a resumption of general discussions at Geneva. These are expected to begin again about the same time that the Lausanne conference opens on June 16. The chief business at Geneva will be the French proposals, including an international police force and security.

Britain at present shows no inclination to accept the police force idea. But it is recognized here that unless some concession can be made to the French on the disarmament issue, settlement of the reparations problem at Lausanne is highly unlikely.

The British Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, has already indicated his personal view that Lausanne delegates ought boldly to tackle the broad question of restarting world commerce. He has now decided to cut short the holiday he has been taking in Scotland, thereby obtaining a week with his colleagues in London before starting for Switzerland.

It is pointed out in official circles that what Mr. MacDonald has said doesn't go outside the conference's terms of reference which as restated in the House of Commons recently are "to agree on a lasting settlement of questions raised in the report of Basel experts and on measures necessary to solve other economic and financial difficulties which are responsible for and may prolong the present world crisis."

But emphasis not previously existent is now laid upon the second portion of this formula. This lends significance to the recent rapprochement between London and Washington of the question of American participation in some form of international conference.

While it is appreciated here that the United States has no intention of entering negotiations concerning reparations and war debts, the prospect of America sending a delegate on monetary and trade problems would undoubtedly be welcomed.

Next aspects to camp statistics along the river, and among his equipment is mosquito netting and insect spray. This will not be the first river trip the youth has taken, for some weeks ago, he, with several other boys rowed down the St. Johns for several miles. It was on account of that trip that he conceived the idea of making the lone trip to Jacksonville.

Estimate Made 6000 Votes To Be Cast In District

trict, comprising Brevard and Seminole counties. Unless there is a steady downpour throughout the day, a record all-time vote should be cast.

The polls will be open throughout the county at 8:00 o'clock tomorrow. They will close at 7:23 o'clock, which has been declared officially as being sundown.

Sanford voters will go to one of 125 polls. Those living in precinct one, west of Park Avenue, will vote in the Marshall Motor Co. garage at Park Avenue and Commercial Street. W. E. Smith will be the clerk, and E. K. Chapman, H. J. Wilson, and J. C. Maxwell, the inspectors. Voters living East of Park Avenue will vote in the basement of the Court House, where A. D. Shoemaker will be clerk, and R. M. Grovesstein, M. O. Garar, and A. E. Wallace, inspectors.

The numerous persons who are now living in either precinct but who registered in the other precinct, are reminded that they must vote in the precinct in which they first registered, regardless of where they now live.

Among the requirements which voters must meet when they approach the polls are the possession of their poll tax receipts for 1930 and 1931; their certificate of exemption; or in the case of a resident of another county, both the poll tax receipts, and a certificate of registration.

Voters are required to enter the election booths alone, and are prohibited by law, unless blind or physically unable to mark their ballot, from receiving any assistance in marking their ballot. One election inspector is allowed to enter a booth with a blind or physically handicapped voter, but he is not allowed to influence the vote, in any manner.

Voters may also carry with them pieces of paper or memoranda upon which they have marked their choice for the various offices contested, but none but the ballot can be placed in the ballot box.

THE SCHOOL BOARD and the BANKS

It is true that the board of public instruction has lost some money by the closing of banks in this county. So have individuals, corporations, other school boards and county commissioners. But the records show that no discrimination against any particular bank has ever been made, either in distribution of deposits or in security demanded. In every instance the securities, approved by the state comptroller, have been sold and the proceeds credited to correct funds, and EVERY EFFORT EXERTED TO COLLECT CLAIMS ON THE BALANCES.

JACKSONVILLE, June 6.—Expressing confidence that he would be victorious in his campaign for the Democratic nomination as Florida's congressman-at-large, Mayor John T. Alsop, Jr., returned to Jacksonville early yesterday morning after concluding an intensive campaign with three speeches Saturday.

Joan Bennett Leads Cast In Milane Film

Joan Bennett plays the leading role in "The Trial of Vivienne Ware," the Fox picture coming to the Milane Theater Tuesday.

Based on Kenneth M. Ellis' radio drama and widely read novel, "The Trial of Vivienne Ware" depicts the thrills of a murder trial and shows to what extent circumstantial evidence may be employed in convicting an innocent person. As Vivienne Ware, the beautiful society girl and heiress, Miss Bennett is tried for the murder of Damon Fenwick, the millionaire architect to whom she was affianced.

The circumstantial evidence is so convincing that conviction seems certain. But the girl's innocence is finally established after the district attorney has demanded her life and her own attorney advises her to plead guilty and accept a life sentence.

How all this is brought about, forms the best of what is said to be one of the most powerfully dramatic and tensely absorbing pictures to reach the screen in many months.

Donald Cook, dark and handsome, appears as counsel for the defense who is in love with the fair prisoner. Allan Dinehart is the prosecutor and Herbert Mundin the star witness. Others contributing to the success of the picture are Ellen Bond, Skeets Gallagher, Maude Eburne, Ruth Nelson, Ned Madison, William

Kersey Building Is Destroyed By Blaze

Beardall Avenue was the scene of a quick and spectacular fire early this morning which wiped out the E. E. Kersey store building and residence, causing destruction of property which Fire Chief Mac Cleveland says may reach "several thousand dollars."

The fire was reported to the Sanford Fire Department this morning at about 4:20 o'clock, by Mrs. C. F. Proctor, who lives nearby. Assistant Chief Tom Vernon and Fireman Thomas went to the scene, but with the walls beginning to cave in, they were unable to do more than prevent the spread of the blaze to nearby buildings.

Mr. Kersey's family which resided upstairs over the store, had, according to Mr. Kersey, left for West Florida by motor about an hour earlier. Mr. Kersey is reported as having said that he was on the way to his mother's home nearby, when he saw flames leaping skyward. When he arrived at the scene, the fire had practically gotten beyond control.

Hardee Rests At Home Confident He Will Be Governor

LIVE OAK, June 6.—At the conclusion of a speaking campaign that has carried him into 60 of Florida's 67 counties, Cary A. Hardee, candidate for governor, rested yesterday in preparation for his final talk to home-county voters at the Suwannee county courthouse tonight.

During the past four weeks he has presented his program of tax relief and reduced government costs to audiences in dozens of cities scattered from Pensacola to Miami.

Expressing complete confidence in the result of Tuesday's primary, former Governor Hardee said: "I want to thank each friend and supporter in every Florida county that has rallied to the cause of tax relief under my banner. My only regret is that I was unable to visit in every city and village in the state. In many instances, where invitations to speak were sent, it was physically impossible due to weather conditions or speaking schedules that had been arranged in advance, to meet the people I wanted to see."

"The splendid receptions accorded me everywhere were very gratifying and indicate to me that a tremendous number of Florida people have been brought to the realization that reduction of governmental expense and relief to the taxpayer is the paramount issue in the campaign for governor."

Swimming Pole!

This "merry-go-round" contrivance, consisting of a revolving pole with lines at each end, helps to teach swimming. It may be built at home. Pole is firmly anchored on a float, as shown. Then two children or adults learning how to swim are tied to the lines and the pole is revolved, supporting and carrying the "swimmers" through the water.

Roundup Of Gangs Ordered In Search For Baby Stealers

NEW YORK, June 6.—(A.P.)—The Daily News says a roundup of every major gang leader in New York City has been ordered in a police effort to determine if Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was the victim of an underworld hoax when he paid a $50,000 ransom for the return of his child, later found dead.

The brief detention yesterday of Arthur "Dutch Schultz" Flegenheimer, described by police as the Bronx beer baron, was attributed by the News as having been a part of the roundup.

The paper describes the same police motive to the recent arrest and subsequent dismissal of Salvatore Stabile, one of the men appointed to act as "go-betweens" in an effort to recover his kidnapped son.

The roundup was described as having been undertaken independently of the Bronx county and New Jersey investigations of the kidnaping and slaying of others marked by the newspaper for possible police questioning included Owen Madden and Morris Rosen.

Flegenheimer was picked up along with his reputedly dyedguard, Charles (Doc) Wrenberg, as they left a restaurant in the West Forties early yesterday. Detectives said at the time they were interested in a racketeers' conference supposed to be taking place in the neighborhood.

Flegenheimer and Wrenberg were released shortly afterwards.

Nathan Mayo Sees Victory Near Over Opponent, F.O. King

TALLAHASSEE, June 6.—Nathan Mayo, candidate for reelection to the office of Commissioner of Agriculture, states that he is confident the people will return him to office after hearing the flimsy appeal made by his opponent, Franklin O. King, and the charges against him and his department.

"A better and bigger Florida," declared Mayo, "involves the duty of our state to its agriculture. The foundation of an agricultural policy for Florida and the carrying out of that policy, will require a real order of statesmanship and a knowledge of what is to be done. It is not a job for a novice and an amateur. It will take many, many years of patient thought and persistent effort to bring agriculture into its own."

Speaking of the development of agriculture in Florida at the present time, the Commissioner candidate continues: "The work already done along this line constitutes a substantial foundation upon which we may continue to build for years to come. If elected I will dedicate to the accomplishment of this task every ounce of personal power and energy that is mine, and all the power of the office."

New Law System In England Will Cheapen La Suits

LONDON, June 6.—"New Procedure Rules" designed to shorten and cheapen lawsuits are officially announced to take effect from May 24 in the Supreme Court of Great Britain. Two judges of this court are to sit permanently in London to dispose of cases under abbreviated legal arrangements.

This is the outcome of the work of a committee presided over by Lord Chancellor Sankey, which has been investigating the possibility of reducing the law's delays and costs.

Whether any particular case is to be tried under the procedure is to depend upon the nature of the suit and partly upon whether the judge thinks it appropriate and whether the assent of the litigants can be obtained.

The case designed to be covered are ones arising in the ordinary course of commercial business where fraud is not alleged to have occurred.

The procedure cuts short a number of ordinarily longer arrangements. The judge, for example, may order the action or any issue thereon to be tried with a jury or without a jury as, in his discretion, he may think fit. This provision was adopted for a time during the World War and was found efficacious in saving time and expense, as trial before a judge alone and consequently costs more.

The judge may "record the consent of the parties either wholly excluding their right of appeal, or limiting it to questions of law only." This provision is to reduce the number of cases in which the unsuccessful party to suit refuses to be satisfied with the decision given and puts the other side to the expense of appearing in a higher court.

Facilities are provided to enable cases to be transferred by consent to the new list and arrangements are made whereby the solicitors concerned can assist the judge in selecting suits appropriate for such transfer.

Tidal Waves And Volcanic Eruptions Occur In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, June 6.—(A.P.)—Tidal waves and volcanic eruptions in the wake of Friday's severe earthquakes in Mexico were reported yesterday with the further restoration of broken communications.

Inhabitants of Tonatlan in the state of Jalisco, were inclined to believe that a gigantic submarine volcano had "exploded" because thousands of dead fish were found thrown up on the beach there.

Dispatches from Colima said a semi-active volcano there flashed with fire and sent up smoke during the earthquakes, adding to the terror of the people.

Low spots in San Blas, state of Nayarit, were swept by a tidal wave, but there were no deaths. Manzanillo also reported "high waves, as did Cuyutlan, in the state of Colima. Some railroad tracks were washed out between Cuyutlan and Manzanillo.

Dispatches from Guadalajara indicated that hardly a small town in Jalisco west of that city escaped damage from the severe earth shocks, that took an estimated toll of more than 400 dead or injured.

against the Chase National Bank to recover allegedly false certificates of indebtedness, and other securities he produced a copy of his contract with the City of Sanford, so that if there is anyone who doubts that I was not employed as a leading counsel in this case I have proof here that they can read if they want to.

"Friendship is a most priceless asset," he said, in concluding, "and I want to extend to my innumerable friends who are here tonight, my sincere thanks for their efforts in my behalf and to leave my case in their hands, in the hope and confidence that I shall be returned with one of the largest votes ever cast in this race."

Lloyd F. Boyle, Sanford, junior member of the law firm of Wilson and Boyle, and recently appointed state's attorney for the 3rd Judicial Circuit, began his brief remarks with a recital of his record as an attorney and private citizen since he came to Florida and Sanford several years ago.

"I am not one of the professional politicians with a long public record, and, if you'll give me a chance I hope to have a good, clean, and vigorous record in the future."

He outlined some of the major duties of the office, including the part played by the grand jury in indicting the law-breaker, and declared that "it shall be my purpose to vigorously prosecute every person indicted, and never to influence the grand jury in its investigations." Mr. Boyle promised that he would continue to honestly advise any grand jury as to the law in the case before him and it, and declared that in his two experiences before the grand jury, in Brevard and Seminole counties last month, "I believe that the deliberations of those bodies were accompanied by honest and conscientious efforts."

Mr. Boyle said that he had no intention of appealing to a jury for conviction by means of emotional oratory. "Instead I'll appeal to the jury on the basis of common-sense and the cold bare facts of the evidence, for, when you talk a man into jail, it becomes prosecution, and I shall never have a part in such a thing. But whenever the law enforcement officers bring a man in, I expect to put him in jail if he's guilty."

He concluded his remarks by declaring that in "Brevard county it looks as though I'll be nominated by a large vote, and I hope that when the votes are counted here at home, I shall find that you, too, have shown your confidence in me by your vote."

E. F. Housholder, also a candidate for nomination as state's attorney, opened his remarks with a recital of his residence in Sanford and his education in Florida. He expressed his appreciation of the confidence that had been expressed in his favor on many occasions, and he promised to continue to work for his home city in the future as he had done in the past.

"My endeavors here have not always been in my own behalf," he declared, "for I have tried to give you my best in public and official life, and I have on numerous occasions given you my time and money."

"When I announced for office some months ago," he said, "I told you that I am affiliated with no faction or group. I told you that I have never been brow-beaten by any instrument of publicity, and tonight I say to you that I shall and will maintain this independence. I won't send anyone around this county and district spreading insinuations that have no ground. Finally I charge you that I have the greatest respect for the press, but when that party or person wants to get into power through a press that seeks to settle a personal grievance by causing to be spread insinuations and innuendoes among the people, I say that that press does not belong here. I was here before the present owners of the press were, and my record stands open to any. I've never tried to get the endorsements of newspapers and similar agencies, and no man can say that I've ever betrayed a public trust or double-crossed an enemy. I think I've served you well, and that you'll help me to advance as I hope to."

"What good are sheriffs, juries or judges," he asked in conclusion, "if the connecting link of the state's attorney is a weak one. By my experience, my knowledge of this circuit and my past record, I am the man qualified for this office, and as such, respectfully ask for your vote next Tuesday."

Senator J. J. Parrish, of Titusville, seeking re-election to the of-fire, "opened his remarks that while this campaign comes to have produced men who want to go to office for two reasons, one because he's young and one because he's old, I want to tell you that you'll need a life business man at Tallahassee before you'll get Florida out of this depression."

He asked the audience to look up the record of their Senator to see what he had done, "or whether he had voted for the things you are now afflicted with." He declared that he voted against the seven cent gas tax, the 25 percent penalty on unpaid auto license tags, and against the appropriations bill, because the burden of taxation was too heavy. "In 1931 I helped accomplish reductions, and I sincerely hope to do it again. There is room for more reduction in the appropriations," he said.

He stressed the pending construction of several prominent county roads as an indication that he has lent a vigorous hand in the fight to secure proper roads for this district.

Senator Parrish, after stating that it will be necessary to re-assess all the property in Florida before you'll ever equalize all the assessments, pointed out the need for this procedure by telling of instances where on a committee investigating assessments throughout Florida it was discovered that in numerous instances property valued in the millions is assessed for trifling sums. "I hope that the next governor will work toward the end of re-assessments," he concluded on that subject.

Answering an opponent's claim that the office should rotate between two counties where there is a district comprised of two counties, Mr. Parrish said that there is no basis for such an opinion. "You are never asked where you're from in Tallahassee," he said, "and, in this case, if you start that rotating scheme, you'll lose efficiency in the office itself."

He concluded by asking the generally serious consideration of all of the voters next Tuesday, asking the audience to give thought to his years of service in their behalf.

Clyde M. Trammell, of Melbourne, candidate for state senate, confined his remarks to a statement of his platform and expressed his confidence in the Brevard county. He declared that he had yet to shirk a responsibility or dodge a duty, and stated that his election would give this district the energetic services of men who has ability and is honest.

Answering a question put to the candidates earlier in the evening by B. F. Haines, president of the Florida Growers Union, Mr. Trammell declared that he felt that motor trucks are a pioneer in their division, and that "it is not in our province to legislate them off the roads." He also said that if it had been for the railroads, Florida would not now be the great state it is, and that the railroad problem has to be met along with the truck problem.

"To you farmers and growers," he concluded, "I pledge honesty, integrity, and fairness. You will need leadership in the next session, and I believe I can bring just that leadership."

Frank L. Woodruff, Sanford candidate for the senate, asked the vote of the people on his ability, his experience, and his business knowledge. "I don't think that because I was born here and lived here all my life that that alone is a qualification, but I do think that because of my success as a business man I can serve you well."

He declared that during the last campaign Senator Parrish had made a promise of a local political rally that if he was elected in 1932, "he would not again seek the office in 1933 if a good Seminole County man was offered."

"I favor a reduction in the operating expenses of this state," Mr. Woodruff began a brief recital of the principal planks of his platform, concluding with "These opinions of mine say 'look at my record in office,' to which I cutting down every item of expense that we can."

"I'm just as good a business man as Mr. Wheeler is," said Mr. Holly, "because anyone who can keep ahead of the sheriff in the newspaper business as long as I have, must be a good business man."

He said that while he will be fair to both the railroad and truck transportation interests, "I am not in favor of knocking the trucks off the roads. Busses will couldn't have gotten along without them and they are very much among us at the present time."

Mr. Holly declared that as far as road aid is concerned, he is secretary of a State Road, No. 3 improvement group, long ago worked in favor of the lakefront south and the improvement of that road, and that "as far as I know, Mr. Wheeler didn't do anything for all interests."

Frank Kay Anderson, candidate for the legislature in Group No. 1, read his platform, which you are all familiar with, and said that "if elected I'll do all I can to work for the passage of the measure that I advocate."

He stated that his platform and that of his opponent were almost identical and that the race "is purely a matter of personal qualifications. He declared himself as qualified for the office, and expressed his belief that his opponent is prevented from being as valuable a man to this section as he is because of his opponent's short residence in this state and county, and limited knowledge of living conditions here before and during the boom, and a lack of knowledge of the Florida legislature's leaders."

J. S. White, Sanford, candidate for the same office, declared that "we need men who understand men and conditions, men of experience and years of public service. You've all read my record and my platform, and you know me as a man of character and integrity."

He declared that while his and his opponent's platform appeared to be identical, "there is a difference, a wide difference, and I'd like to tell you just how it is." He declared that the tag agency is a nuisance, and that the tag penalty is unjust; he said that salaries of every officer, in the state ought to be reduced, and said that "the biggest thing in my platform is our road bond situation. I believe that these bonds should be paid for out of the gasoline tax refund, and I shall work vigorously to the end of having this state government take over the bonded debt of this county by taking its roads as concerned."

R. S. Wheeler, of Ocala, candidate for the legislature in Group No. 2, expressed pleasure at appearing before a Sanford audience and said that he felt every voter had read and studied his platform. He enlisted on certain portions of it, however, and stressed economy in every department of operations.

Referring to the truck legislation bill mentioned by Mr. Haines, Mr. Wheeler said that "I believe that very serious consideration must be given this question for it is a vital problem inasmuch as it so touches all of us. I believe that it can be handled with fairness and equality, and that the competitive feature is going to be largely with the rates we are going to be given by the Commission. However, we in Tallahassee will have different proposals to meet, and this matter will be taken up at Washington."

He concluded with the assertion that he stood for economy first and always, and that if elected he would work along the lines of economy.

K. J. Holly, the other candidate in Group No. 2, was the last speaker among the candidates for the legislature and for the first time in this campaign explained what he called his platform. He commended the Herald for criticizing him for not having a stand on public questions.

Mr. Holly expressed the opinion that "no man can do any better in Tallahassee than I can because I know conditions. We must get rid of the operating expenses, and by the way, I am against the idea that I am in favor of talks had not been agreed upon for the delicate prohibition legislation.

James E. Garfield of Ohio, who will preside over the convention resolutions committee, also expressed the point that the party platform and particularly the prohibition plank would not take definite form for several days.

Garfield heard every shade of opinion in the Republican congressional ranks at yesterday's party, held at the Congressional County club in Maryland.

Politician General Brown, manager of the administration, joined the "best man" of the party from Capitol Hill at the meeting. Almost everyone of the Republicans from Congress present had members of the resolutions committee for the convention to adjourn, however, in time for the meeting led to the party conclusion.

Senator Moses spoke for the group which included Senators Watson of Indiana, the party leader; Snoot of Utah; Dickinson of Iowa; Elsham of Connecticut; Hastings of Delaware; Robinson of Indiana; Patterson of Missouri; Glenn of Illinois; Herbert of Rhode Island; Keen of New Jersey; and Representatives Small and Fish of New York. For unknown reasons, Senator Fessenden of Ohio, national chairman, was not invited.

R. B. Fullerton, of Deland, spoke briefly in the interests of J. M. Lee, candidate for Comptroller. He began his remarks by saying that "if you are satisfied with the liquidation of your banks I don't need to talk to you, but, if you believe that a change is needed in this office, I want you to know that you can't vote for a better than J. M. Lee. He is an honest, fearless man, and he will represent the people. Vote for him."

The final speaker was Mayor John T. Alsop, Jr., of Jacksonville, candidate for congressman-at-large. He told about how as mayor, he had brought about a large reduction in millage during recent years, "to show you that I can and will assist in reducing the expenses of operation, not only at home, but at Washington."

Mayor Alsop elaborated on his advocacy of the cross-state canal; a national park in the Everglades; the need for publicity of this state, and his stand on prohibition. "I am a temperance man and opposed to the return of the saloon, but I am just as much opposed to the speakeasy. This question is certainly an issue in this campaign, and I am of the opinion that the people should vote on it. The repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment can be brought about in two ways, one of them is by introducing a resolution before the Congress to repeal the law, and, by the way, I'll introduce this repeal bill myself if no one else will."

"If you elect me I'll be a real worker and congressman," he said, "and I'll continue to bring valuable publicity to this state. I'm confident that Florida needs me in this office, and that Florida will benefit by the election."

vernal," said Moses, "including the tariff, monetary, bonus and prohibition planks. Many were present and 15 votes were counted. It was decided to sleep upon them. Before Mr. Garfield leaves Washington there will probably be another meeting with perhaps additional ones present, in an attempt to produce a consensus."

"It was perfectly understood that the 18 gentlemen present, regardless of their individual assignments, do not constitute a majority of the Republican convention. Accordingly, the few or somewhat nebulous conclusions arrived at yesterday are wholly subject to revision at Chicago."

TO THE VOTERS OF SEMINOLE COUNTY

I am very sorry I have not been able to shake hands with and personally solicit the vote of every qualified voter.

This, however, has been impossible so I am making this last appeal to you through The Sanford Herald to cast your vote for me on tomorrow, Tuesday, June 7th, and keep a promise, made 19 years ago, when the county was divided. That a capable, efficient man from an outlying precinct, seeking a county office would be supported by Sanford voters, showing that Sanford, our capital city, was in complete sympathy with the entire county. I am, therefore, asking you to give me your vote, not only for me, but for the county.

Now there is one point I wish to bring before the Public and that is: I started I expect to get a nine-months' rather than a one-year term. That is, I will not be in office for a year, but for nine months. I am, therefore, asking you to give me your vote for a nine-month term. I am, therefore, asking you to give me your vote for a nine-month term.

However, I do believe in rigid law enforcement and would endeavor by all means to properly enforce them. To do my best for my county.

In regard to the young people, having two boys and two girls, ranging in age from nine to 16 years, I am naturally very much interested in the welfare of our youth. You and I, I believe, is elected to office to visit the different places of amusement and see that they are conducted in a clean, wholesome manner, and to give boys and girls a good time, whether I see fit. I started I will endeavor to enforce the law in a fair and impartial manner.

WAY TO BUSINESS RECOVERY SEEN UP TO CONGRESS

Balanced Budget Is Looked To As Best Cure Of Depression

By MARK SULLIVAN WASHINGTON, June 6.—When the first of June begins the thirteenth month of this depression. Today the heart of the present phase lies in a relation between Congress in Washington and the financial and business community throughout America and Europe.

It is conceivable there may have been other ways out of this depression. Some perfectly high-minded person of accepted standing in business and economics have believed there were other ways. The fact, however, is that the way chosen has been to balance the budget. That means to reduce expenditures of the government and then to lay the taxes that will produce as much revenue as the government spends.

Upon this principle and this process political Washington and the economic and financial world agreed. The fundamental question, therefore, upon which everything rests is, "Will Congress balance the budget?" The role of the business world, including Europe, is that of apprehensive watcher.

The financial community in New York and Europe, the financially sophisticated everywhere, are firmly convinced that if Congress goes on borrowing to pay current expenses, America will presently cease to meet its obligations in gold or back its currency with gold. Because they apprehend the possibility of this they sell American securities, and to some extent Europe withdraws American gold. Because they sell securities they depress the quotations of the securities. Because quotations are depressed loans in banks secured by collateral fall into a condition where the market price of the collateral goes below the amount of the loan. Because the collateral falls in value banks close out the loan and sell the collateral. Because of this selling a new low quotation is created. The lower ring of the vicious spiral begins. Business men, big and little, in every city and town, from Lewiston, Me., to Spokane, Wash., and farmers a well, are all too sadly familiar with the process. Borrowers they sold out discharge more workmen, and the result is a new low level of employment and of prices for farm crops and other commodities.

That is the heart of the present phase of the depression. The way to reverse it and to start the spiral upward again is to convince the world, a world just now oversensative and oversuspicious, that the American government will balance its budget and that, therefore, the American dollar will continue to be redeemable in gold. Once the financial community in New York and Europe is convinced of that, the very forces that now work to our detriment will at once work to our upbuilding. As one of the most highly placed financial men in America puts it, "the whole business and financial structure of Europe as well as of America is eager to have faith that Congress will balance the budget, and once they are sure of that all the healing and upbuilding forces in the world will turn and flow toward us." The question then is: Will Congress balance the budget?

The answer believed by the most competent judges in Washington is that ultimately Congress will balance the budget in the sense of reducing next year's deficit to a negligible sum. If the deficit is markedly reduced to any fifth or a fourth of the last year's one, every business man and banker will be satisfied and will have confidence.
