

Coulibiac from Russia: flaky puff pastry with a luscious filling.

Salmon, Rice, Tea: Favorites Of World

Every nation has its favorite foods, its own specialties. Some of these dishes are unique to a specific country, while others are common to many lands.

For instance, rice is a favorite on all continents of the world. Salmon, too, appears in the cuisine of places as farflung as Alaska and India.

A third product that wins world-wide acclaim is tea, as popular in the Soviet Union where they drink it hot and spiced, as it is in our own South where it turns up over tinkling ice cubes.

Some examples of these international recipes are shown here. One is a specialty from Russia, Coulibiac, in which rice and canned salmon are combined with mushrooms, white wine, chopped eggs and a variety of seasonings. This luscious filling, layered with chopped spinach, is encased in flaky puff pastry. It's an entree splendid enough to grace the most elegant dinner table. Accompany the entree with Russian Tea, a modern adaption of an ethnic recipe made with instant tea, orange-flavored breakfast drink, cinnamon and cloves.

Because it is used so freely in India, curry powder has been called "the salt of the Orient." And it does indeed add a very special touch to the dressing of the Curried Strata Salad. Fluffy white grains of rice are combined with raisins, apple wedges, green onions and celery. On this tasty bed, the flaked canned salmon is arranged and a curried mayonnaise tops it all off. America's gift to the world — iced tea — is the perfect accompaniment to the spicy salad.

Salmon...rice...tea: World-wide favorites with taste appeal that surpasses language, oceans, and boundaries.

COULIBIAC
1 package (10 ounces) frozen spinach, thawed and well drained

2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 can (15½ ounces) salmon
½ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¾ cup sliced mushrooms (about ¼ pound) or 4 oz. can mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons dry white wine

3 tablespoons snipped fresh dill weed or ¾ teaspoon dried dill weed.

½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
2 teaspoons lemon juice
3 cups cooked rice, cooled
1 package (17½ ounces) frozen puff pastry, thawed
1 egg
1 tablespoon water

Combine spinach and chopped eggs; set aside. Drain and coarsely flake salmon, reserving liquid. Sauté onion in butter until soft but not brown. Add mushrooms; cook 3 minutes longer. Stir in salmon liquid, wine, dill weed, salt, pepper and lemon juice. Combine with rice and salmon. On lightly floured surface, roll 1 sheet pastry to a 10 x 12-inch rectangle. Mound half the salmon-rice mixture. Draw long edges of pastry together over filling; pinch to seal. Cut off a triangle from each corner, then fold ends like envelope flaps over covered filling. Place a lightly greased baking sheet, face down, on pastry and invert so that seam side will be down. Repeat with second sheet of pastry. Beat together egg and water; brush over tops of pastry. Cut small fish shapes from pastry trimmings; arrange on top of pastry and brush with egg mixture. Make 2 or 3 slashes on top of each loaf. Bake at 400 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes or until golden brown. Slice each loaf into 4 portions. Serve with clarified butter, if desired. Makes 8 servings.

CURRIED STRATA SALAD

3 cups cooked rice
2 tart cooking apples
1 cup diagonally sliced celery
½ cup thinly sliced green onions, including tops
1-3 cup seedless raisins, plumped
1 can (15½ ounces) salmon, drained
½ cup each mayonnaise and dairy sour cream
1 teaspoon each curry powder and lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt

Cool rice. Core apples and slice into thin wedges. Then cut wedges in half. Combine rice, apples, celery onions and raisins. Spoon into serving bowl. Arrange salmon over rice. Combine remaining ingredients. Spoon over salmon. Toss lightly just before serving. If desired, serve with a selection of condiments such as sliced bananas, cashew nuts and chutney. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

SAUMON AU SHERRY

1 can (15½ ounces) salmon
¼ cup sliced green onions, including tops
1 can (8 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
¾ teaspoon salt
2 to 3 dashes ground red pepper
Half-and-half (cream and milk)
2 tablespoons sherry
1 cup grated Swiss cheese
3 cups hot cooked rice
Parmesan cheese, optional

Drain salmon, reserving liquid; break into large pieces. Set aside. Cook onions and mushrooms in butter in 2-quart saucepan until soft but not brown. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Add enough half-and-half to reserved salmon liquid to make 2 cups. Add to saucepan with sherry. Cook, stirring, until smooth and thickened. Gently add Swiss cheese and salmon; heat through. Serve over beds of fluffy rice and sprinkle with Parmesan, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

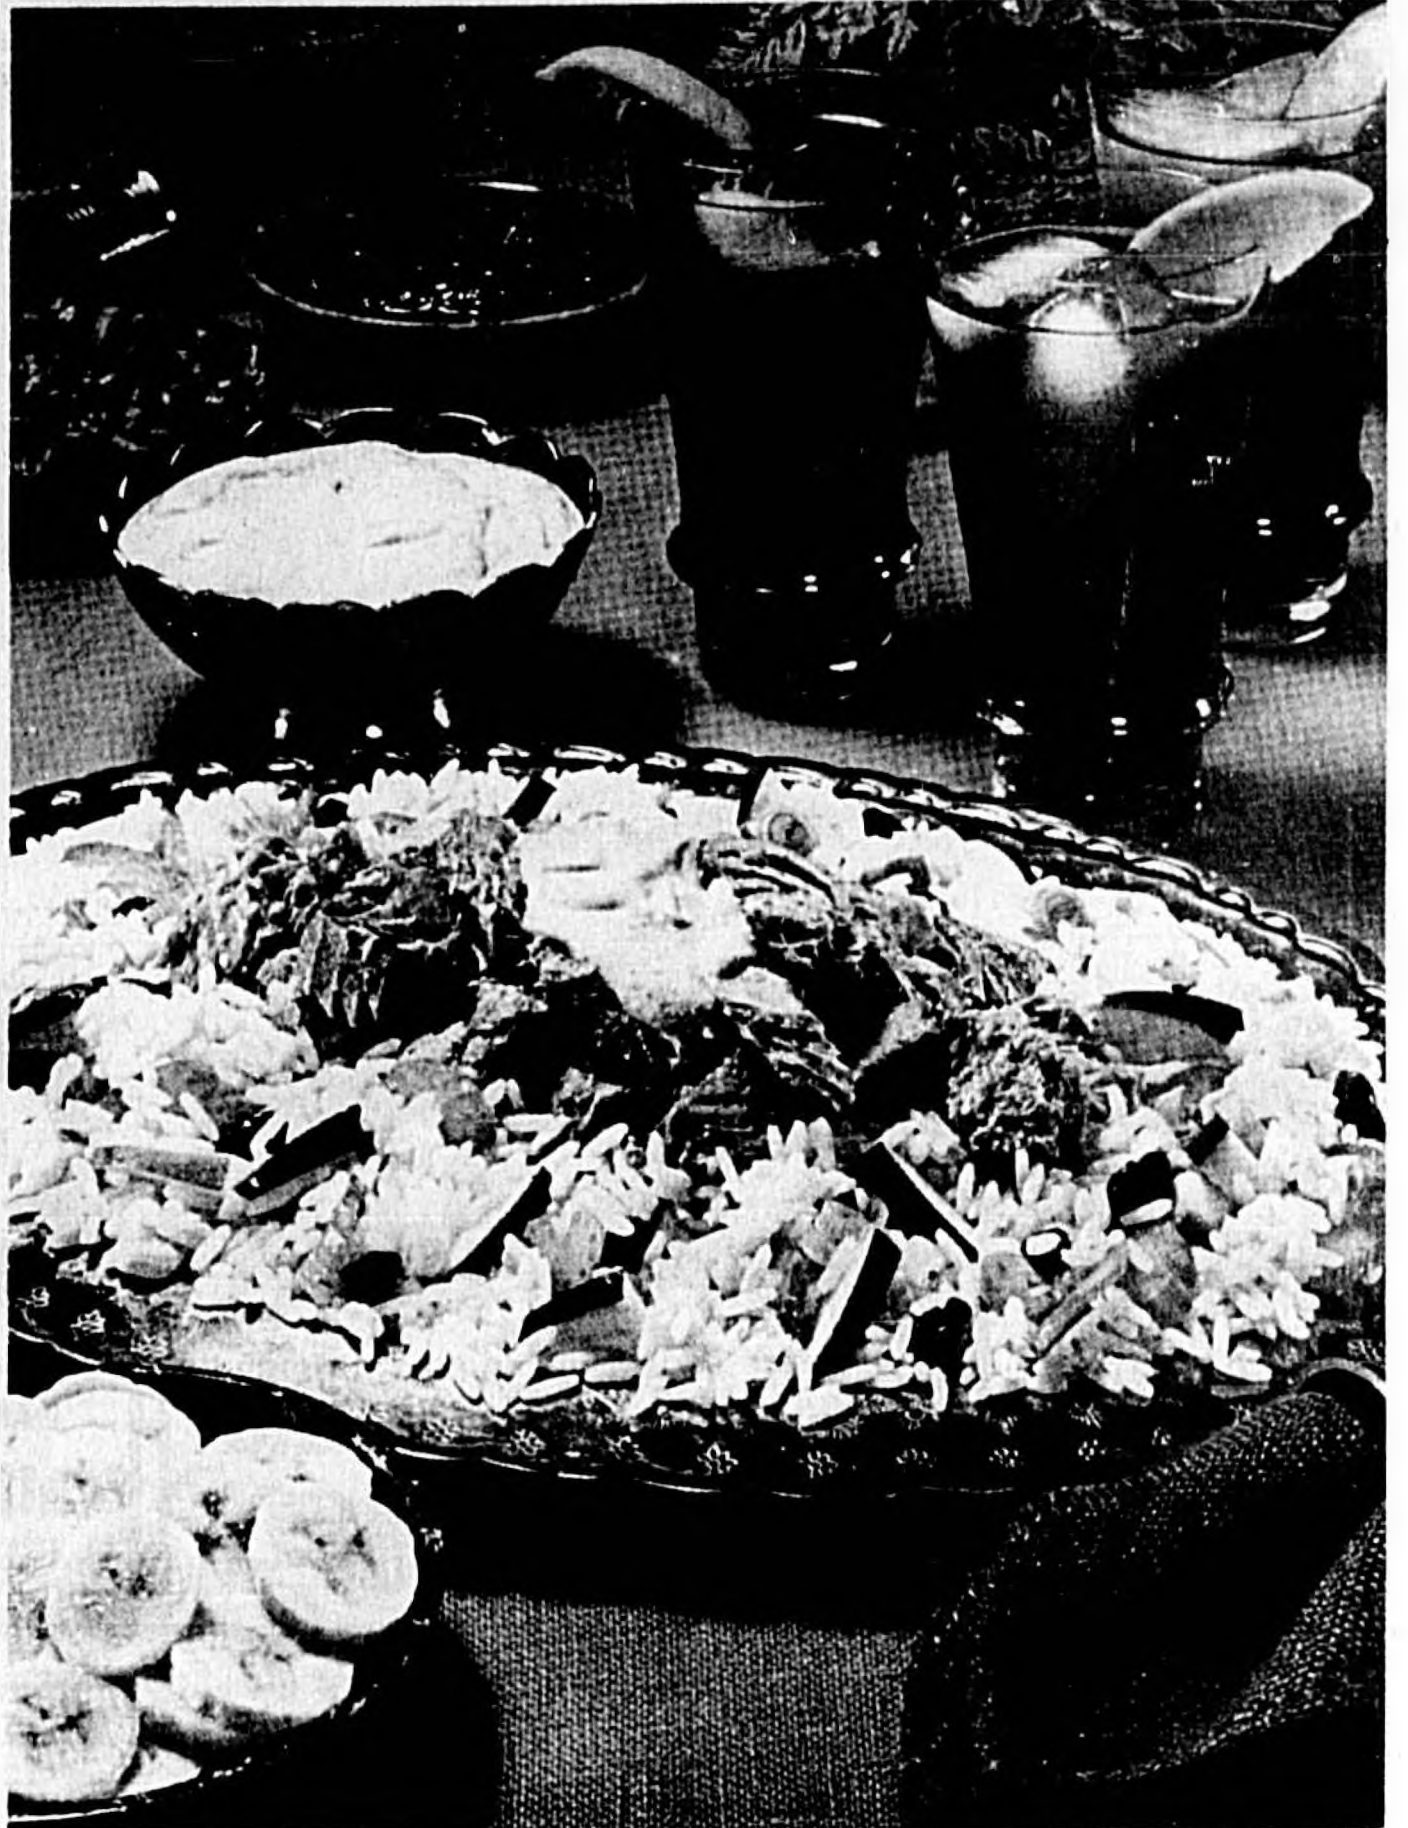

ICED TEA — TWO WAYS

With boiling water; bring 1 quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat and immediately add 15 teabags or 1-3 cup loose tea. Stir, cover and let stand 5 minutes. Stir again and strain into a pitcher holding another quart of cold water. Serve over ice cubes.

With cold water; Fill a quart pitcher or container with cold tap water. Add 8 to 10 teabags (remove tags). Cover. Let stand at room temperature or in refrigerator for at least 6 hours or overnight. Remove teabags, squeezing against side of container. (Recipe may be doubled.) Serve over ice cubes.

RUSSIAN TEA

¾ cup instant tea
2½ cups (or one 18-ounce jar) orange-flavored instant breakfast drink
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
Dash salt
Boiling water
Combine instant tea, instant breakfast drink, sugar, spices and salt. Store in a tightly-covered jar. Makes 4 cups mix. To serve, place 1 well-rounded teaspoon of mix in a cup or glass. Add boiling water; stir until dissolved. Garnish with lemon slice and cinnamon stick, if desired.

Even Horses Horse Around

Sometimes things don't go exactly as planned. Take, for example, a recent gathering of the West Volusia Saddle Club in Lake Helen. Club members were entered in a variety of ribbon ride events, including one called "ride and lead." What that is, explained club members, is a quick ride out of the starting gate, a fast run about 30 yards or so to a barrel, a short turn around the barrel, then the rider leaps from the horse and runs, pulling the animal behind him or her, as quickly as possible back to the starting gate. Some of those horses don't take to being pulled, however.

Jo-Ann Priore, 15, of Orange City rides her horse "Pepper" out of the gate to demonstrate for club members...

...Caryn Elaine Mullen, 15, of Lake Helen, made it to the barrel okay atop "Good Johnny Boy"...

...Now Caryn's heading for the gate; so far, so good...

...Hey, who's leading who? Caryn had a tough time getting Good(?) Johnny Boy behind her again.

In Death Penalty Cases

Supreme Court Orders Lawyers: Move Faster

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court threatened today to find public defenders in Miami, Daytona Beach and West Palm Beach in special contempt of court if they don't move faster in appeals for 17 persons facing the death penalty.

The justices blasted Public Defenders Bennett Brummer of Miami, James Gibson of Daytona Beach and Richard Jorandby of West Palm Beach for missing by more than a year deadlines for submission of briefs and other documents in the cases and said they won't accept any further delay.

The court established new deadlines for briefs in 17 cases, ordered private lawyers appointed to take over four others and directed Brummer, Gibson and Jorandby to refuse to accept any more cases involving the death penalty until they pledge in writing to "faithfully abide by the time limitations and briefing schedules" outlined in state rules of appellate procedure.

Private lawyers will be appointed to represent indigent persons facing the death penalty until the three public defenders are able to accept capital cases again.

The three public defenders may be found in "indirect criminal contempt" and fined if they don't comply with today's order, the court said.

The order resulted from a complaint filed against the three officials by Attorney General Jim Smith and Gov. Bob Graham have moved in several ways to speed up the courts' review of capital cases in an effort to clear the way for resumption of executions on a regular basis.

Brummer was ordered to submit a brief in one capital case by May 8 and given until July 10 to submit written arguments in six other cases. He was ordered to withdraw in another case, so a private lawyer can be appointed.

Gibson was given until May 7 to file one brief and until July 1 to file two others. He was told to withdraw from three other cases.

Jorandby was given until May 7 to file written arguments in one case and until July 1 to file briefs in six others.

Brummer, Gibson and Jorandby contended in extraordinary oral arguments before the court last month the delays resulted from too heavy a caseload, a lack of manpower and problems in getting transcripts from the trial court. They denied that the delays were intentional, but emphasized they believe painstaking caution is necessary when a defendant's life is at stake.

Assistant Attorney General George Georgieff noted before the court that state's attorneys also are overburdened, but are usually able to make the briefing deadlines.

He also questioned whether public defenders ought to be writing such expensive briefs, appearing before federal judges and arguing before the Cabinet when it sits as the state clemency board. "You might not be so busy and understaffed if you did only what you are required to do," he told the public defenders.

Under state law, capital cases automatically go from the trial court to the state Supreme Court. Indigent persons often are involved in capital cases, so public defenders are assigned.

Low Rainfall Taxing Local Water Systems

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

South Floridians have been warned by Gov. Bob Graham that unless they conserve water they face a water emergency, but Central Florida is already feeling the results of below average rainfall.

As the underground water table drops many lakes and wells are drying up hampering firefighters, farmers, citrus growers and inconveniencing home owners.

Municipal water systems are taxed during peak hours as residents use more water on their lawns and gardens.

In Casselberry, the problem is compounded by repairs being made to two of the city's water tanks resulting in a ban on outdoor water use during late afternoon and weekends.

Many residents who depend on their private wells for their water supply are having difficulties. A Sanford well drilling firm reports two or three calls a day. Well owners are having to go deeper for their water or increase the size of their wells.

Phil Kulbes, Lake Mary city manager, said there is no water shortage in the city at present, but it is trying to conserve and may ask the citizens to cut back on washing cars and other outdoor use in the future.

Other cities report no problems with their water supply at present.

The National Weather Service in Orlando reports rainfall has been behind every year for the past 10 years. Rainfall was 10 inches below normal last year and if the present trend continues it will be 15 inches below normal this year.

Normal rainfall for the first four months of the year would be 11.41 and last year it was 7.43 inches. This year rainfall through the month of April was only 6.60 inches.

The area received some rain on April 21, but the last appreciable rainfall was on March 22 when the area received an inch of rain.

Scattered showers that sprinkled some parts of Seminole and Orange counties Wednesday night were described by a National Weather Service spokesman as "six drops."

The Weather Service predicted a 30 percent chance of rain for today. If there is no rain by midnight today rainfall for the first quarter of 1981 will be 4.91 inches below average.

"It's so dry even the earthworms are committing suicide," remarked Seminole County Agricultural Agent Frank Jasa today. "For the past four or five days they have been crawling out of the dirt in front of the Ag Center and on to the road."

Jasa said the drought has hurt the spring cucumber and cabbage crops in the Sanford area and production will be down. He said the mucklands in the Oviedo area still have adequate moisture.

"Pastures are drying up and if there is no rain within the next couple of weeks they will have a hard time recovering," he said.

Cold damage and lack of rain have dealt a double blow to the citrus groves, Jasa said, and there will be a small crop this year. Some of the growers are irrigating their trees, but others no longer have the water to do so as the lakes which they pumped from have dried up.

There was no significant rain in April and the low humidity has contributed to evaporation of moisture. "There is a lack of subsurface moisture," Jasa added, and even several one inch rains won't make up for it."

Auto-Train Demise Displaces Marriott Employees

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

When Auto-Train pulls out of the Sanford station on its final trip to Lorton, Va., at 4 p.m. today, the Marriott Corp. kitchen on McCracken Road will close.

The kitchen has been located in Sanford nearly 9½ years for the sole purpose of serving Auto-Train, said Thomas Kessenger, general manager of the Sanford operation.

The firm's 11 employees here have been offered jobs in other Marriott kitchens at other airports, mostly at the Orlando International Airport, but only four are expected to accept those jobs, Kessenger said. The other seven employees are expected to seek jobs elsewhere.

"They have decided the Orlando jetport is just too far to travel and to look for something a little closer," Kessenger said. He added that the kitchen at the Orlando airport operates 24 hours daily and none could be assured what shift they would be assigned.

"The seniority of the Sanford employees would have to be compared to the seniority of the Orlando employees," he said, before shifts could be determined.

"The Orlando operation probably could have handled 75 percent of the Sanford employees," said Kessenger, who will himself take a job at the facility.

The Sanford Marriott employees are preparing 500 meals today to send on the final run of the northbound train. Marriott employees in Lorton, Va., meanwhile, also are preparing 500 meals for the final Auto-Train southbound run to arrive in Sanford Friday afternoon.

Kessenger said the Marriott operation in Sanford began when Auto-Train initiated its service in December, 1971. At Auto-Train's peak, when two runs daily were leaving Sanford — one for Lorton, Va. and one for Louisville, Ky., Marriott in Sanford was preparing 1,000 meals per day.

Marriott acquired the property at 2020 McCracken Road and especially equipped it with ovens, dish machines and other necessary equipment, specifically to serve Auto-Train, its only customer here.

The announcement was made last Friday that financially plagued Auto-Train would cease operations this week and 250 Sanford area residents, employed by the firm, would lose their jobs.

Jack Horner, executive manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, said today the loss of those jobs will certainly have an impact on the area.

"Fortunately on the plus side Sanford is experiencing great growth," he said. "We can absorb some of these employees, especially those in skilled trades, into new jobs which are being created locally," he said.

"On the optimistic side, I look for Auto-Train to come back. I'm not going to count it out yet," Horner said. "This particular management may not return. The idea — of transporting passengers and their vehicles — is good and some investors will pick it up and start out fresh," he said.

"The Chamber of Commerce intends to do everything in its power to provide jobs for these people. We are constantly being approached by firms and prospective industries. We are going to work even harder to bring to fruition the plans of new industries to locate in this area to take up the slack," he said.

Senate Votes 29-11 For Convention

Anti-Abortion Resolution Passed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Senate voted 29-11 today to urge Congress to call a constitutional convention that would write an anti-abortion amendment and send it to the states for ratification.

"It seems to be strange that all the people who favor abortions have already been born," said Sen. David McClain, R-Tampa, sponsor of the resolution (SM 52) approved by senators.

The resolution must be approved by the House before going up to Congress and House leaders are skeptical it will pass.

Congress would be asked to convene a national convention to write a "right to life" amendment to the U.S. Constitution. The convention, which would be America's first since the Bill of Rights was proposed in 1770, would be free to decide how strict or how lax an amendment to write and submit to the legislatures of the states.

Sen. Gwen Margolis, D-Miami, argued against the resolution, saying she would want her daughters to be able to have an abortion if they were raped.

"Gentlemen, I have heard again and again people saying there is too much government regulation," she said. "Now, gentlemen, you're messing in my life. You're intruding in my bedroom."

Sen. Dick Langley, R-Clermont, cited religious reasons for opposing abortions and said, "I'm glad that Mary didn't decide to abort."

Sen. Harry Johnston, D-West Palm Beach, drew the only applause from the packed galleries in the 75-minute debate. He noted there are only four women senators and asked his 35 male colleagues how they would feel if the constitution mandated vasectomies for men who father illegitimate children.

He said banning abortions was no more legally justifiable than mandating them would be.

"When we start dealing with our sex organs, it's a whole new ballgame," Johnston said. "And yet we very cavalierly deal with theirs. Women labor under our promiscuity."

Since the Supreme Court's 1973 ruling legalizing abortion, McClain said, 20 states have passed resolutions calling for a constitutional convention. If 34 states petition Congress for a convention, the lawmakers have no choice but to call one.

Any amendment coming out of the convention would have to be ratified by 38 states.

Many legislative lawyers are wary of a convention, fearing the unprecedented method might throw open the Constitution to many unrelated topics. McClain said, however, he and other conservative lawyers are confident a convention call could be limited to abortion — and that slavery, the death penalty, gun control, a balanced budget and other constitutional controversies would not be brought up in a convention.

Rep. Tom Bush, R-Fort Lauderdale, has a companion proposal pending in the House for hearing by the Judiciary Committee next Wednesday. He said Wednesday night the committee is "pretty evenly split" on the issue and that he is ready to compromise — possibly accepting a simple resolution putting the House on record against abortion, but not calling for a convention.

"The way the Senate has the bill greased, it probably will not need much debate and will be a straight up-or-down vote," said Bush. "It's going to be very hotly contested in the House, though, with a lot of procedural attempts to stop it."

Near Meltdown

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI) — Pacific Gas & Electric officials almost had a meltdown on their hands from a transformer blow-out in 90 degree weather.

The blow-out shut power to one downtown block and the owner of a Swenson's ice cream parlor, with 1,000 gallons of ice cream on storage, got worried.

He quickly called the police, who notified PG&E, and the utility managed to fix the outage in one hour. That was quick enough to keep the ice cream hard.

"That would have been the worst kind of meltdown," said store owner Paul Anderson.

Federal Funding Cut For Apopka

APOPKA, Fla. (UPI) — A judge has cut federal funding to the town of Apopka until city fathers give black neighborhoods a bigger share of the revenue sharing pie.

U.S. District Judge Charles R. Scott turned off the money spigot Wednesday in the face of evidence that officials last year channeled 90 percent of the city's $131,000 in revenue sharing money to predominantly white areas.

He said this violated the 1964 Civil Rights Act as well as the 14th Amendment and the federal Revenue Sharing Act.

Citing a 1937 ordinance, repealed in 1968, that prohibited blacks from living north of the railroad tracks, Scott said there was a "historical background" of neglect that has led to poor water, drainage and street services to the majority of black residents.

Confession Tape Heard At Murder Trial

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

"I hit her. I had been drinking."
With those words, Bernard James Beaton confessed to the January 14 slaying of his girlfriend's two-year-old daughter. The admission, contained in a taped interview with Sanford police detectives six days after the death of Tiffany Benthall, was played for an enraptured Seminole Circuit Court jury Wednesday.

The playing of the tape concluded the prosecution's case against Beaton who is charged with second degree murder and aggravated child abuse in connection with the Benthall child's death. If convicted, Beaton, 22, of Sanford's Higgins Terrace housing project at W. 8th Street and Pecan Avenue, could be sentenced to life imprisonment.

Beaton did not testify during the two-day trial. Neither did his attorney, Assistant Public Defender Bob Fisher, call any witnesses in his behalf.

Fisher and Assistant State Attorney Don Marblestone made their closing arguments to the five-woman, one-man jury this morning. Jurors were scheduled to begin their deliberations around noon.

Beaton sat motionless at the defense table as two recordings of his conversations with police were played in court. On the first, made Jan. 16, Beaton maintained that Tiffany had been injured after falling on some railroad tracks near her home. Beaton denied any responsibility for the mishap, saying, "I loved that little girl." "I wouldn't do anything to hurt her." Four days later, Beaton told a much different story. Saying he wanted to "set things straight," he told detectives he hit the child once in the stomach with the side of his hand judo-style after she had refused to follow him.

The child fell and Beaton said he picked her up and tried to throw her over his shoulder. However, he pulled too hard and Judge Joseph Davis Jr. rejected Fisher's contentions as well as his motion for a directed verdict of acquittal.

FIRE TRUCK TOTALLED

No charges have been filed in connection with Wednesday afternoon's wreck of a Seminole County fire tanker truck which totalled the $90,000 vehicle.

The crash occurred about 1:19 p.m. at the intersection of State Road 434 and County Road 427 in Longwood. No one was seriously injured in the accident. Fire truck driver David Towns, 27, two-and-a-half-year department veteran, suffered minor facial cuts.

Florida Highway Patrol trooper G.R. Caves said the tanker, which had been dispatched from the fire station in Five Points to a house fire at 109 St. in Altamonte Springs, was headed east on State Road 434 when the accident occurred.

As the truck turned left onto County Road 427, the rear tires hit the median, causing the water in the tanker to shift, Caves said. The front wheels then hit the curb and the truck overturned, spilling nearly 5,000 gallons of water.

The tanker was the only one owned by the county fire department, which could hamper firefighting efforts in areas where there are no hydrants, according to county public safety director Gary Kaiser. "We will probably have to dispatch more engines to those fires which could create some problems," Kaiser said.

He added that Wednesday's mishap was the department's first major accident in its eight-year history.

U.S. Journalist Wounded, Interpreter Slain In Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Two journalists, one an American, were wounded and a Salvadoran interpreter was shot to death by Salvadoran police who opened fire on the newsmen believing they were leftist guerrillas, witnesses say.

The shooting erupted Wednesday in the western San Salvador suburb of Aguascalientes as the journalists approached the scene of a just-ended 30-minute firefight between police and guerrillas at an electrical substation, the witnesses said.

"We're journalists. Don't shoot. Don't shoot," the journalists screamed in Spanish to Treasury Police guarding the substation, a Salvadoran reporter with the group said.

"Come on. Come. It's OK," the policemen yelled back.

The gunfire then erupted. Wounded were American George Thurlow and Salvadoran photographer Joaquin Romero Zuniga, while Salvadoran interpreter Gregorio Moran was killed. Others in the press party escaped unharmed, including television crews for NBC and CBS.

Sands Spurns Papal Entreaty

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — IRA hunger-striker Bobby Sands spurned the pleas of a papal envoy to break his death fast, and Catholic groups today mapped plans for a mass evacuation of women and children from potential battle zones if Sands dies.

The envoy was seeking today to meet with Sands for a third time.

Sands, 27, serving 14 years for breaking firearms laws and in the 61st day of his hunger strike, has wasted into a "grotesque parody" of a man, in his bid to gain improved prison conditions for Irish Republican Army prisoners, says his family, who sees him daily.

China Allows Dancer To Stay In U.S. With New Wife

HOUSTON (UPI) — A promising young Chinese ballet dancer, detained for 21 hours in his country's consulate because he wanted to stay with his American bride, is free today to pursue his dreams in the United States.

Li Cunxin, 20, left the steelgated Peoples Republic of China mission Wednesday evening to announce an agreement allowing him and his wife of three days, Houston Ballet Academy student Elizabeth Mackey, 18, of West Palm Beach, Fla., to remain in the United States.

Amtrak Cuts Protested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The protesters outnumbered the senators 1,800 to one.

They came from across the country and hooted like locomotives. But once it was over, another spike had been driven into the coffin of federally subsidized rail service.

About 18,000 railroad workers rallied outside the Capitol Wednesday in protest of President Reagan's proposal to cut Amtrak and Conrail service. Inside, 10 senators cast ballots for Reagan and against them.

By a vote of 10-4, the Senate Commerce Committee sent to the full Senate Reagan's proposal to cut Amtrak's budget to $613 million, $237 million less than Amtrak says it needs to keep its service in full operation.

Soldier Suspect In Slayings

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — A white soldier who enlisted in the Army after the shooting deaths of three black men was indicted in their killings and is considered a suspect in seven other racially motivated slayings.

Erie County District Attorney Edward Coagrove said Wednesday a man being held in the stockade at the Fort Benning, G., Army base on an unrelated charge of stabbing a black soldier was indicted in the deaths of three men shot in Buffalo last September.

He refused to identify the soldier until he was extradited to New York, but the Army said he was Pvt. Joseph Christopher, 25, of Buffalo.

Bill Would Ban Iranians From Schools

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The 52 Americans that were held hostage in Iran have been home for more than three months, but a House committee has not forgotten.

The House Higher Education Committee Wednesday passed a bill that would prohibit the admission of Iranian citizens to state-supported schools, universities and community colleges in Florida.

The bill (HB 935) passed 7-2, and was sent to the appropriations committee.

"I see no reason why taxpayers should pay for the education of students from a nation that has treated our country in such a hostile manner," said Rep. Ted Ewing, R-

Venice, the sponsor of the proposal.

The bill would allow students in attendance at a state-supported school, university or community college to complete any courses already enrolled in, but would not permit a student to register again.

Rep. Arnett E. Girardeau, D-Jacksonville, said passing the bill was a "dangerous precedent."

"If we go around excluding groups of people for various reasons what kind of laws would we have on our books?" Girardeau asked the committee. "Look at World War II — the very people who were our enemies are now our very best allies."

The committee also approved a bill (HB 919) and consolidated another proposal (HB 732) that would require foreign, nonimmigrant students to pay full registration and tuition fees. The bill would exempt students on the foreign exchange program.

"Florida residents should get top priority over foreign students," said Rep. Marilyn Evans-Jones, R-Melbourne, the bill's sponsor. "We should add to the price tag for foreign students who want to attend Florida schools."

Ewing said 17 percent of the foreign students in this country are from Iran. Venezuela has the next largest number of students, with 8.4 percent, Ewing said quoting 1979 statistics.

"Most foreign students are granted tuition waivers because funds are tied up in their country," said Ewing. "We are finding that many students are educated tuition free."

"We apply virtually different policies to our students and students from other countries," said Ewing. Higher Education Chairman Carl Carpenter, D-Plant City, said there could be some constitutional questions raised by the bill, but these issues would be addressed by other committees.

Judy Brechner, deputy general counsel for the Florida Department of Education said the bill "sounds unconstitutional." She said here is a case pending in New Mexico where an Iranian student has sued the state for similar action.

Robbers Killing 'For The Fun Of It'

MIAMI (UPI) — Five convenience store clerks have been shot and killed in recent later-night robberies that yielded little more than small change — and police say the robbers are apparently killing for the fun of it.

All five victims of the recent robberies were Cuban refugees who came to the country on the Mariel sealift, and none apparently put up any resistance, police say.

"We're dealing with individuals — considering that they only get small amounts of money — who are enjoying what they're doing. They are without doubt cold-blooded murderers. In none of the cases have the clerks resisted at all," said Miami homicide Sgt. Edward Carberry.

Police have evidence two of the shootings are related but say they have no evidence to link all five. Different caliber guns were used in the shootings.

In all cases the victims were convenience store clerks who had arrived in the United States as part of last summer's Mariel boatlift; all were killed in the early morning when no one else was in the store; all were shot, and police say there is no evidence to indicate any of them resisted the robberies.

Police and store security personnel are looking at whether there is a connection between the men being Cuban refugees and the murders. Because police believe the two or three bandits performing the crimes are black, they say the reason for the killings might be black resentment of Cubans coming here and taking jobs.

The latest victim was Antonio Herrera, 25, who was killed at about 4 a.m. Tuesday as bandits took $21.55 from the 7-11 store where he worked.

Joe Lang, director of security for 7-11 stores in Dade County said two of the slain clerks spoke English well but investigators are considering the possibility that the others were killed because they did not "respond well" to the robbers' requests.

U-Tote'm stores, where four of the robbery-killing occurred, has posted a $40,000 reward — $10,000 for each dead man — for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the crimes.

Ellison: More Money Needed For Retirement

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The already-strained $9 billion budget being prepared by the Legislature is about to be stretched some more.

Auditor General Ernest Ellison said Wednesday state and local governments must pump an extra $108 million a year into the Florida Retirement System to get it out of debt, not the $66 million recommended by an Atlanta consulting firm.

Tillinghast, Nelson and Warren, the firm monitoring the massive retirement system for the Department of Administration, made some serious miscalculations in a report concluding state contributions should be boosted $19 million and local contributions by $47 million, Ellison said Wednesday.

The actual necessary increase is $29.9 million in state funds and $77.7 million in local dollars, he concluded after a special audit.

Tillinghast concluded that the retirement system is $4.3 billion in the red and proposed boosts in government employer contributions designed to fully fund the system over the next 27 years.

"The economic assumptions used (by Tillinghast) may be overly optimistic, even though they are acceptable under current actuarial standards," the auditor said.

The company did not allow for lag time in implementation of higher payments by government employers, he said, and also used questionable estimates of the increase in public employee salaries over the years.

The retirement system covers state employees, school teachers and other school employees and city and county workers. It has been entirely employer-financed since the early 1970's.

The employing government agency currently pays an amount equal to 9.1 percent of each employee's annual wage into the system for regular retirement and 13.95 percent for the higher special risk retirement benefits given policemen and firemen.

Tillinghast said the payment rate for regular retirement must be increased to 10.51 percent, although the rate for special risk retirement could be reduced slightly, to 13.72 percent.

Ellison said the new rate should be 10.59 percent for regular and 13.79 percent for special risk.

Probe Hampered

ATLANTA (UPI) — A source close to the special task force trying to crack the murders of 26 young blacks says morale is "pretty low," largely due to a lack of leadership.

"It's just a matter of giving direction," the source said. "Leadership is the name of the game. They're going off in too many different directions. You just need some leadership in there."

The task force, he said, is also hampered by "too many jealousies ... hidden agendas ... and too many turfs (jurisdictions) getting in the way."

Public Safety Commissioner Lee P. Brown said Wednesday he regularly checks on the morale of the task force, made up of nearly 100 officers from Atlanta, neighboring counties, the state and the FBI.

"This is a difficult time for us to hold together," he said at his daily news briefing.

"As each day passes, we get more information but we don't have enough to make an arrest," Brown said.

He said police have reached no conclusions as to why the killers have graduated from small children, to teenagers, and now to young adults. The last four victims have ranged from 21 to 23 years in age, and two of them were retarded.

Most of the recent bodies have been seminude and were dumped in rivers. Earlier bodies were fully clothed and dumped in secluded areas, although no particular effort was made to hide them.

Our Homes Are Inviolable

The Supreme Court strengthened individual liberty recently when it ruled 7-2 in Steagald vs. United States that police have no authority to search private homes for a suspected law breaker without a search warrant.

Any who have read the Fourth Amendment affirming the right of the people "to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures," might have thought the issue had already been decided by the framers of the Bill of Rights. A federal District Court and the U.S. Court of appeals in New Orleans believed otherwise, however.

They ruled that federal agents acted properly when they entered the Atlanta home of Gary Keith Steagald to search for another man for whom they had an arrest warrant. The agents did not find their suspect, but they did find a quantity of cocaine, and arrested Steagald on drug charges. He was convicted in the District Court and the Court of Appeals upheld the conviction.

The Supreme Court held, however, that the arrest was a violation of Fourth Amendment rights, and said officers should have obtained a warrant to search Steagald's home.

This is a proper and reasonable requirement, and one that should not hamper police in the performance of their duty. The Supreme Court has already upheld the right of police to enter a house in hot pursuit of a fugitive and to take a suspect into custody in his own home on an arrest warrant. They also may make warrantless arrests in public places.

The courts have made other rulings on search and seizure, however, that have created complications for police. In the recent past, the Supreme Court extended the constitutional prohibitions against unreasonable search to cover automobiles and their contents. By contrast, the recent decision moves the Supreme Court back to more traditional — and perhaps more suitable — ground upon which to defend a cherished Anglo-Saxon principle.

Pruning Puffery

President Reagan has ordered a freeze on the production of pamphlets, booklets, magazines, films and audio-visual materials that pour out of government agencies for the presumed benefit of the public. As the president points out, much of this material is no more than publicity or advertising for the government itself, and has no place in a budget of austerity.

Neither Mr. Reagan nor the budget director's office could give more than a ballpark figure for what might be saved in this area — only that the production and distribution of these materials is now costing hundreds of millions of dollars. The catalogue is enormous, and the costs are spread through scores of agencies.

If this area is ripe for budget-cutting, it is also ripe for controversy. The administration must distinguish between informational activities that are a bona fide function of government, and those which are pure puffery. It must decide whether a publication or service should be abolished, or allowed to continue with a proviso that those who use it pay a bigger share of the cost.

The Congressional Budget Office recently provided an example of how a government agency can be generous to a fault with its publications. The U.S. Geological Survey is the publisher of a popular series of topographical maps. It spends $75 million a year producing them — and gets back $7 million by selling them to the public.

Should the USGS be taking that big a loss? The people who use the maps probably can afford to pay more for them.

There is no doubt the informational services provided by the federal government which ought to be weeded. This is especially true, of course, when the government is forced to borrow money to pay its bills.

Around

The Clock

By JANE CASSELBERRY

This Friday — May 1 — will be more than an annual rite of Spring this year for many area disabled citizens. Rather it will be a "May Day" of the type internationally recognized as a distress signal — a cry for help.

With changed attitudes in Washington they fear the gains made in recent years in removing barriers that prevent them from living independent normal lives are about to go down the drain.

A "Defend Our Rights" Rally has been planned by the Center for Independent Living in Central Florida and the Coalition of Citizens with Disabilities for noon Friday in front of the Federal Building, 80 N. Hughey, Orlando, just off Interstate 4. Federal regulations assuring the civil rights of disabled U.S. Citizens are being reviewed in Washington and will be drastically reduced (not eliminated, promoters of the rally claim, "unless we act immediately! We cannot allow that right to be abolished.")

By taking away funds for rehabilitation and education of persons with handicaps and putting them back on the public welfare rolls it will be a greater burden to the taxpayer. With the investment of $1 for education and rehabilitation the government gets $11 returned in taxes paid by the rehabilitated individual, Beverly Chapman executive director of the Center for Independent Living points out.

The Sanford Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10108 has taken on the community project of raising funds for the Fourth of July fireworks display this year. This program is in conjunction with the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce's day-long festivities. Bill Burns, chairman of the project, asks that checks be made out to the VFW Fireworks Fund and mailed to P.O. Box 842, Sanford.

The recent barbecue held to raise much needed funds for the Sanford Christian Sharing Center had a net profit of $1,578.65, making it a great success. Thanks to those who helped and contributed for this important cause!

The National Audubon Society Institute is making scholarship funds available to graduate, college, and high school students interested in the subjects of outdoor education or environmental studies. Financial aid, in varying amounts, will be awarded by July 31 and may be used for any Audubon educational program or other school, college, or conservation education programs. Application forms may be obtained by the student writing to the National Audubon Society, Expedition Institute, 950 Third Ave., NY, NY 10022.

For some lucky young people, school this year will consist of an eight month camping trip across the United States. Through research and exploration, 20 college and high school students will be obtaining first-hand knowledge of ecology, people and places while on a learning expedition sponsored by the National Audubon Society.

They will be involved in a challenging course of study composed of problems and relationships which are encountered while canoeing, skiing, studying and backpacking through exciting cultural areas and natural wonders. Over 100 guides and experts will share their knowledge with the inquisitive Audubon students. New England's forests and shores, Amish and Indian communities, deserts, mountains and archaeological sites will be their expedition's classroom.

No Match For The Real Thing

Speaking of ultra-high finance, how are your SDRs doing lately?

Don't bother searching for an answer, or even raising a follow-up question. Ever should you happen to know what an SDR is, there's no chance that any are included in your investment portfolio.

SDR is short for Special Drawing Right, rational man's latest attempt to create a medium of exchange better than gold. It came into being back in the 1960s when it had become all too obvious that the U.S. dollar, which had served as an international currency throughout the post-war era, was in trouble.

Forget that at the time U.S. citizens were legally barred from dealing in gold. That was a domestic matter. In international transactions, their dollar was in effect a promise of gold — the ounces from its hoard that the U.S. Treasury was prepared to deliver to governments and other official agencies upon demand and at a fixed price of $35 per.

The problem was proliferation. There were too many dollars in foreign hands, exceeding the practical capability of the Treasury to deliver on its promise of redemption. And continuing U.S. balance of payment deficits kept adding to the accumulations. Something more broadly based than the dollar and yet, it was argued, more flexible than gold itself was needed to assist the dollar in underwriting the world's trade and increasingly complex and interdependent financial relationships.

Presto! The Special Drawing Right, created by the International Monetary Fund. The SDR does not exist in the form of coins or bank notes. Its primary role is in bookkeeping, to denominate reserve assets and to settle accounts among international authorities.

So much for the background. How has the SDR been doing?

Not so hot. Initially, the SDR used a fixed dollar relationship as a convenient link to gold. But when the U.S. government severed the gold-dollar tie in 1971 — revoking the promise to buy and sell gold at a fixed price that it was no longer capable of honoring — the SDR was also set adrift. In 1979, the fixed parity link among the dollar, gold and the SDR was severed.

Since then, the SDR has been defined in terms of a "basket" of currencies — a weighted combination of the monetary units of the most important national economies theoretically giving the SDR greater stability than any single currency since exchange-rate fluctuations are diffused and tend to cancel out.

The basket, which started out with 16 currencies, currently contains five, of which the dominant unit is — you guessed it — the dollar. With the dollar still enjoying ill health, this naturally dampens enthusiasm for the SDR. Central banks are not rushing to stock up. No way to make it more attractive has yet been found because for all its wheezing and lurching, the United States remains the world's dominant economy.

FBI Budget Covers Wealth Of Expenses

WASHINGTON — The FBI's crime statistics are the official yardstick of just how much evil lurks in the hearts of men. The arithmetic does not reflect favorably on the FBI, which seems powerless to cope with the rising crime rate.

The G-men nevertheless show no embarrassment over the increase. The more crime committed, the more money they require to fight it. So at appropriations time, they point to the grim statistics not as evidence of their own inadequacy but as justification for a bigger budget.

Usually, Congress is duly impressed and votes the FBI the funds it requests to safeguard the nation. Yet the Justice Department's internal documents show this money is sometimes misapplied. Here are just a few of the improprieties documented in records that the public was never supposed to see:

"We've found some pretty disturbing evidence of improprieties, some of which were unearthed less than a year ago," a congressional aide told my associate Indy Badhwar. "We suspect these abuses are

Angry Over Remarks

Re the article, "Creationism In Schools May Lead to Mythology", I am angered by the attitude of relativism, expressed by State Sen. Jack Gordon. The Senator's remarks show an ignorance not worthy to represent the people of Florida.

Of course a state senator may introduce a bill to teach mythology, but what he needs more is an education concerning what Scientific Creationism is all about. There is a coup against Darwin's dogma among scientists and for compelling scientific reasons. For example, Dr. David B. Kitts, a firmly committed evolutionist, in the journal, "Evolution," 1974, wrote, "Evolution requires intermediate forms between species and paleontology does not provide them." I might add the Ape-Man argument is in hambles. Chemical evolution can't cross the thermodynamic barrier. Catastrophic geologist are washing away the uniformitarians.

What is needed is a choice, where honest thinking people can make up their own minds. But, as it is all we have is one lousy task to learn the great mythical evolution.

In Her Memory

My heart was saddened by the death of Mrs. Ruth (Roland) Boye. Even though I never met her she was my friend. In fact she has a community of friends who never knew her personally. This community of friends are the inmates of the Seminole County Correctional Institute. For you see Mrs. Boye unselfishly shared her husband many hours each week in a unique ministry to the forgotten community. Mother Boye is a familiar face to the inmates through his many visits each week and his attendance at the chapel service each Sunday morning. He is a friend and counselor and distributes inspirational and instructive Bible lessons (which are graded and returned) and extra Biblical material for reading.

Therefore, I wish to honor the memory of Mrs. Boye as one who shared her companion so faithfully to those who need his ministry so much.

We thank God for Brother Boye and pray for the Holy Spirit to comfort him in his loss. We pray he soon will be back with his family at the Correctional Institute.

Generic Smokes Sell Well

By ROBERT McPHAIL

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., part of a tobacco empire in the 1940s and 1950s that claimed the world's second best selling cigarette, has been reduced to less than 3 percent of the nation's tobacco sales.

But company officials say they may have found a way to make a comeback in the highly competitive tobacco industry — generic cigarettes.

Through the Durham-based Gary Tobacco Co., an L&M subsidiary, the company has begun making cigarettes packaged in unimaginative black and white wrappers that are not promoted by the company in expensive advertising.

L&M officials say they are optimistic about their new plan to garner a bigger share of the tobacco market and rescue the tobacco subsidiary of the Liggett Group, a conglomerate based in New Jersey. "We are quite encouraged," said Donald Mott, L&M's vice president for personnel. "We are working hard to turn around a very difficult situation. To us it is worth something because we are the little guys on the block."

Mott said the company quietly launched its plan last summer in test markets in the Midwest, using a private label at about 10 cents less per pack than branded cigarettes.

The results were good, Mott said. Since then, generic cigarettes have been distributed in 41 states and in 1700 chain stores, with new inquiries by retailers each day.

"Other people, A&P, Harris-Teeter, Safeway, had their interest piqued," Mott said. "Over the last six months, they approved them and put them into distribution." Mott said the generics are "a special brand of cigarette ... on the light side, a classic cigarette ... with the broadest possible appeal."

A merchandiser for Harris-Teeter, a major southern grocery chain, says the generic cigarettes were added to a line of other no-brand products and among the company's bestselling generic items.

"We probably carry 150 different kinds of generic products," said Bill Satterfield of Harris-Teeter's Charlotte distribution center. "Generic cigarettes are the number seven seller. We are very well pleased."

Because L&M does no advertising for the non-branded cigarettes and the packages are so bland, Satterfield said selling the generic cigarettes depends a lot on how they are handled in the stores where they are sold.

"It was slow at first," Satterfield said. "But with better displays in the stores, we had better sales. They are selling so well now, they have a permanent place on our racks."

Store promotion at no cost to L&M is one of the reasons the company finds generic cigarettes so lucrative, Mott said. The company is able to save money by foregoing expensive national advertising campaigns, not investing money in displays and by the inexpensive, no-color packages.

Lundquist Looks To Howard For 'Pounding Aluminum' Remedy

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor
Seminole Coach Bobby Lundquist is looking for a remedy to silence the pounding of aluminum in his ear.
Tonight at 7:30, the Fighting Seminole attempt to quell the bombing bats of Lake Howell in the semifinal round of District 4A-9 baseball at Sanford Memorial Stadium.
"They can definitely hit the ball," understated Lundquist about the Silver Hawks, who made believers out of Lyman 13-7 with 19 hits Tuesday. Lundquist hands the sphere to junior right-hander Freddie Howard tonight. Another junior, Tracy Walker, will be ready if Walker develops the same hearing problem as Lundquist.

The junior duo was roughed up by the Hawks early in the year, but Walker had a sore wing and Howard was just finding his way after academic eligibility.
Lundquist is looking for a strong five or six innings from Howard. "You better believe it if we need three outs in the seventh Walker will be in there," promised Lundquist.
The Hawks, meanwhile, have a number of solid starters to hand the ball to.
Hawks Coach Birt Benjamin, who was not named Coach of the Year despite winning the Five Star for the second straight year, will probably go with Duane McGuire.

Or Charlie Miller. Or David Martinez. Or Roy Boatwright. Or Billy Stripp. All have turned in solid starts throughout the year.
"I'll probably pitch McGuire Thursday and hopefully Miller or Martinez Friday," said Benjamin.
In the afternoon's first game at 4:30 p.m., Sam Monary sends 5-1 Scott Killam against Mainland. The Patriots jumped off the injured list by whipping Spruce Creek 3-2 Tuesday. All-Conference hurler Mike Dunlap still can't pitch, but did score the winning run in a pinch role Tuesday. Shortstop Jay Poag isn't 100 per cent either.

Lyman Meets Mainland

Helms' Home Run Knocks Out Tribe

Lyman, Sophomore Syble Helms crashed a three-run home run in the fifth inning to knock defending champion Seminole out of the 4A-9 District 6-1 at Daytona Beach Wednesday.
The Lady Greyhounds victory sends them into Thursday's 7:30 p.m. game against Mainland. The Bucs handled DeLand 6-2 Wednesday.
In the 6 p.m. semifinal, Coach Jo Luciano's Lake Howell club, a 6-5 winner over Lake Brantley, meets Apopka. The Lady Blue Darters blanked hapless Spruce Creek 5-0 yesterday.
The two winners meet at 7 p.m. Friday for the championship.
"We just hit the ball real good this time," was how Lyman's Cindy Henry described the whipping of the Tribe. "Our defense was great, we positioned real well."
The Hounds' Kathy Richardson and Seminole's Dee Hogan were locked in a brilliant pitching duel until Helms' blast broke open the game in the fifth.

Scott fueled the rally with a single which pushed Kim Gilliam to second base setting the stage for Helms.
The standout shortstop delivered with a blast which went over the head of right-fielder Brenda Sanders.
"She really hit it, but the wind helped it a little," said a disconsolate Coach Beth Corso. "I thought Brenda (Sanders) was under it."
Scott stymied the sometimes hard-hitting Tribe on just five hits. Seminole picked up its lone run in the sixth inning.
Jackie Link opened the inning with a single to right field and Catcher Theresa Behrens reached on an error. Marti Warner hit a ground ball to Michelle Kuhrt at first.

When Kuhrt tried to nail Behrens at second, the throw went into center field allowing Link to score.
Lyman committed four errors in the game, but the Tribe was more ragged with seven.
The Greyhounds picked up one run in the sixth and two more in the seventh to secure the victory.
"We were due," said Henry, who team improved to 11-11, while Seminole dropped to 12-10. "We had lost seven games by one run and three games by two."
Cindy Campbell paced the Lyman attack with two hits as did Holly Hilliard. Hogan, Cindy Pendarvis, Robin Riggins and Behrens joined Link as the Tribe hitters.
Tony Harley didn't play due to a pulled muscle in her right side.

Track On Regional Road

It's off to the races for Emory Blake and his speedy Seminole girls track team Friday when they travel to Ft. Worth for the Region 4A-3 Meet.
Two of Blake's stable — juniors Tony Hardy and Brenda Davis — are not at full strength.
Hardy is suffering from a pulled muscle in her right side, while 440 record-holder Davis is still "just 75 per cent" from a sore leg muscle.
Despite the pulls, Blake feels his girls are the team to beat in the 4 p.m. meet at John I. Leonard High School.
"We probably won't have as many firsts, but we hope to pile up some seconds and thirds," said Blake who will take an 11-girl squad to the meet.
Blake looks to Ft. Lauderdale Dillard and Ft. Lauderdale Nova as his two toughest rivals.

Hardy dressed, but sat out the softball loss in district play to Lyman last night.
"Dr. Broderick said, 'If she can stand the pain, she can run,'" said Blake. "It's a situation where she won't aggravate it anymore."
Hardy is the best long jumper in Seminole County and the top 220 sprinter. She also anchors several relays.
She is joined by Reuvenia Burch, Arlene Jones, Sharon Newell, Crystal and Revonda Caldwell, Traci Brown and alternate Jackie Fort. Cathy Jones does the heavy work in the shot and discus.
"We'll put Tony to the test Thursday to see if she can do it," said Blake. "I think we'll do pretty well, but it's tough to say with your top two girls limping."

Coach Hank Daviero's boys team will make the 9 a.m. Friday departure.
Like the girls, the Tribe boys are strongest in the relays where Lenny Sutton, Jim Voltoline, Mike Wooten, Ralph Byrd, David Humphrey, Larry Eason and Vince Edwards are the principal components.
Byrd-Voltoline-Wooten-Edwards raced to a record 3:24.4 mile in the district.
Sutton, though, the fastest Seminole has been hampered by an injured thigh.
Steve Grace and sophomore flash Dion Jackson are expected to do well in the high jump and long jump respectively. Grace, like Sutton, has a bad wheel.—SAM COOK

Rockets Smell Roses; Celts Alive

By United Press International
Now Houston wants to smell the roses.

"We haven't had a chance to reflect," Coach Del Harris said Wednesday night after his Rockets completed their improbable journey to the NBA finals with a 97-88 victory over the Kansas City Kings. "We haven't had a chance to get together and pat each other on the back, to brag and to tell each other how good we are ... to tell a few lies."

Houston deserves to brag a bit. By defeating the Kings in five games to win the Western Conference championship, the Rockets earned a shot at the winner of the Philadelphia Boston series.

Boston staved off elimination with a 111-109 victory over the Sixers in Game 5 of the best-of-seven Eastern Conference final. The Sixers can still wrap up a berth in the finals with a victory Friday night at home, where they have beaten the Celtics 11 consecutive times.

In the meantime, Harris wants to enjoy what he's accomplished.

He continued, "We've always been looking toward the next game, the next team. Forget it — forget the rules, forget everything. Feel it. I want this team to feel what we've accomplished. Enjoy it. Let this all sink in."

Houston overcame Kansas City's home-court advantage to capture the series, 4-1.

Houston became the first team since the St. Louis Hawks in 1968-69 to gain a championship berth with a sub-.500 regular season record. The Hawks finished 39-42 then and the Rockets went 40-42 this season.

Moses Malone played the entire game, hitting 12-of-17 shots and also collecting 11 rebounds, two assists and two blocked shots.

In the Boston victory, M.L. Carr did his job and perhaps a little more.

Inserted in the final, hectic seconds for defensive purposes, Carr gave the Celtics another life by calmly canning three foul shots in the final 20 seconds.

The Sixers took a 109-103 lead with 1:50 left before the Celtics ran off the final eight points.

Darwin Dazzles Red Sox With 1-Hit Shutout

By United Press International
Danny Darwin made one mistake Wednesday night, and it may have cost him a no-hitter.

The Texas Rangers' hardthrowing righthander, faced Boston's Rick Miller in the fifth inning and catcher Larry Cox called for a curve ball.

Darwin shook it off, delivered a slider and Miller blooped a single for the Red Sox' only hit of the game in the Rangers' 5-0 victory.

"You can't second-guess yourself," Darwin said.

Yankees 3, Tigers 2

Dave Winfield hit his first American League home run to cap a three-run third inning and Rudy May and Ron Davis combined on a nine-hitter to lead the Yankees to the victory, handing the Tigers their 10th straight loss.

A's 6, Angels 4

Tim Lincecum greeted reliever Andy Hassler with a three-run pinch-hit homer in the seventh inning, carrying Mike Norris and the A's to their 18th win of April, tying the major league record.

Blue Jays 5, Brewers 0

Barry Bonnell drilled a two-run double off the left-center field wall to snap a scoreless tie in the 14th inning and give the Blue Jays the victory. Toronto limited the Brewers to three hits.

Orioles 3, White Sox 0

Designated hitter Benny Ayala capped a three-run outburst in the first inning with a two-run homer to lead the Orioles. Steve Trout, 1-1, took the loss.

Concepcion Bruises Padres; Carlton K's 3,000th

By United Press International
Dave Concepcion played hurt and the San Diego pitching staff wound up bruised.

"I wasn't feeling good before the game and almost didn't play," Concepcion said Wednesday night after going 4-for-4 with two homers and six RBI to lead the Cincinnati Reds to an 8-5 victory over the Padres.

Bill Buckner's two-out double snapped a 1-1 tie and highlighted a five-run eighth to enable the Cubs to snap a 12-game losing streak.

Phillies 6, Expos 2

Steve Carlton became the first lefthander in major-league history to strike out 3,000 batters and drove in three runs with a single and a double.

Astros 5, Braves 4

Jose Cruz singled in Craig Reynolds from third base in the ninth to give Frank LaCorte, 1-0, the victory. Rick Camp, 2-1, took the loss.

Giants 3, Dodgers 2

Milt May doubled in two runs in support of Vida Blue's first career victory in Dodger Stadium.

Pirates 10, Mets 0

Gary Alexander, in his first plate appearance for Pittsburgh, ignited a five-run second with a two-run homer and finished with four RBI.

MR. AND MRS. EDDIE LEWIS WILLIAMS

Connie Black, E.L. Williams Exchange Vows

Connie Delores Black and Eddie Lewis Williams were united in Holy Matrimony, on April 4 at the Centennial Park Gazebo. The Rev. John Butler, pastor of Mt. Olive AME Church, Sanford, performed at 2 p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Eva Mae Black, 110 Anderson Ave., Sanford, and Conover Black, Greenport Long Island, N.Y. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Hattie Mae Johnson, Sanford.

Given in marriage by her brother, Curtis Black, the bride chose for her vows a white empire styled gown with a square neckline enhanced with white flower lace trim. The sheer sleeves were puffed at the wrist with six white pearl buttons on the cuff. Her bridal train was trimmed in white lace flowers accented with hand sewn pearls.

Her crown headpiece was of white lace and pearls to complement her veil of bridal lace. She carried a large nosegay of white carnations with baby's breath, blue and white streamers. The bride's gown was designed and made by her aunt, Mrs. Leola Brown, of Battlecreek, Mich.

Miss Doris Jones, friend of bride from Brownsville, Tenn., attended as maid of honor. She wore a blue empire styled gown with white trim around the neck and sleeves. She carried a small nosegay of blue carnations with baby's breath and blue and white streamers.

Bridesmaids were Carolyn Wiggins, Sanford, and Cheryl Williams, Orlando, sisters of the bride, and Teri Bayknight, friend of the bride, Orlando. Their gowns were identical to the honor attendant and they carried three blue carnations with matching streamers.

Lawrence Williams served his cousin as best man. Ushers were Nathalia and Aleatha Wiggins, neices of the bride, and Dorothy Williams, cousin of the groom. Serving as groomsmen were Tony Johnson, Altamonte Springs; and Jerome Davis and Walter Williams, Orlando. Flower girl was Latisha Williams. Ring bearer was Corey D. Eudell, nephew of the bride.

After the wedding reception at the home of the bride's mother, the couple left on a brief wedding trip. The bride is employed as a licensed practical nurse at Orlando Regional Medical Center. The groom is employed by Rinker Materials of Sanford. — MARVA HAWKINS

County-Wide Exhibit Open To Area Students, Grades K-12

The Seminole County Council of PTAs cordially invites the public to view its Third Annual Spring Arts Show to be held at the Altamonte Mall on May 3-9, according to Doreen Freeman. This county-wide exhibit gives area students, grades K-12, the opportunity for local recognition.

To enter, each elementary school may submit a maximum of 24 art entries from the 1980-81 school year. Each middle and high school may submit a maximum of 30 art entries from the 1980-81 school year.

Of the number of entries, five may be three-dimensional and one may be a group project. Creative writing will also be judged with a maximum of five pieces per school.

Judging will take place on May 5 and will be based on originality, creativity and neatness. Age levels will be considered when judging elementary students work.

The Presentation of Awards will be Saturday, May 9, 1981 at 2 p.m. in the red carpet area of the mall.

Amputee Fiance Not 'Whole Man' To Nurse's Parents

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 28 and a nurse. She took a job several thousand miles from home and has been gone nearly a year. We were hoping she'd come home last Christmas, but she said she'd come home next summer and bring her fiance. (She had written about a young man whom she'd fallen in love with, describing his "beautiful attitudes, brilliant mind and outstanding character.")

Now we know why she didn't bring him home for Christmas. He's an amputee! He lost both legs just below the knee in an accident. We learned this yesterday from a letter she wrote us.

We are heartsick. She's such a beautiful girl and could easily get a whole man, Abby, how do parents adjust to knowing their daughter will spend the rest of her life caring for an invalid?

BROKENHEARTED PARENTS
DEAR PARENTS: What makes you think he's an invalid? You would be amazed how well some people can manage on artificial limbs. There is no reason to be heartbroken. If he's "whole" enough for her, it says a great deal for her values. There's could be a completely beautiful and fulfilling marriage.

DEAR ABBY: When my friend's children entered school, she was free to do all the fun things — bridge, golf, women's clubs, business trips to exotic places with her husband, etc. She paid no income or Social Security taxes.

When my children entered school, I went back to work, attended classes on a part-time basis and earned a college degree. With each promotion, my income and Social Security taxes increased.

We are now at retirement age. My friend draws an amount equal to half the Social Security benefits received by her husband. I cannot draw half of my husband's benefits nor can he draw half of mine.

My advice to women is: Don't work! That way you can have your cake and eat

Dear Abby

it, too. Sign me, NOT AS SMART AS I SHOULD HAVE BEEN

DEAR NOT AS SMART: My sources at Social Security tell me that a wife who worked can take one-half of her husband's benefit or draw a benefit on her own record, whichever sum is larger.

The architects of the Social Security Act probably reasoned that the non-wage-earning wife needs half the Social Security benefits received by her husband because she has none of her own.

DEAR ABBY: Last year I had open-heart surgery. I have suffered nearly all my life with asthma, and just lately I developed emphysema. I stopped smoking seven years ago and cannot tolerate cigarette smoke.

For years I have allowed a neighbor to use my telephone. She's a chain smoker who comes to my door smoking a cigarette, with a pack of cigarettes in one hand and a lighter in the other. She walks in, starts looking for an ashtray, then proceeds to fill my place with smoke! She is also an alcoholic, and has telephoned me when she is on a toot.

After so many years of letting her use my telephone, I don't think I could refuse her now, although she is much better off financially than I am.

What should I do?

THE COUGHER

DEAR COUGHER: Tell your nervy neighbor that you cannot tolerate cigarette smoke and she may not smoke in your place. Period. Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (35 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Friday, May 1, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY

May 1, 1981

Situations in which you believed enough to contribute substantial time and effort should not be discarded this coming year. Some changes which could make them fruitful are in the offing.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

Others may be more successful today at shifting their burdens onto you than you will be in trying to shift yours to them. Don't be a fall guy. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, Mail #1 for each to Astro-Graph, V-Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

A project about which you're enthusiastic should not be discussed today with a friend who lacks imagination. He or she will put a damper on your drive.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

You have good possibilities for fulfilling your ambitions today, but you are likely to go about it the hard way. Eliminate obstacles, don't create them.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

You may pass up a good idea today just because you have little respect for the persons who originated it. "Out of the mouths of babes sometimes comes wisdom."

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

An old obligation you've failed to attend to may surface and cry for attention today. It won't go away on its own, so take care of it now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

Things may not run as smoothly as usual between you and your mate today. Unfortunately, the finger of blame may point more toward you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Be careful today and tomorrow that you don't schedule such a heavy workload that you'll not be able to handle it properly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

Avoid cliques or groups with whom you have little in common. You'll have even less to share with them today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

If something occurs today outside of the house which annoys you, try not to bring your frustrations home to take them out on family members.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

You may be better equipped today to handle physical things rather than mental ones. If you are doing any brain work, ask another to review it.

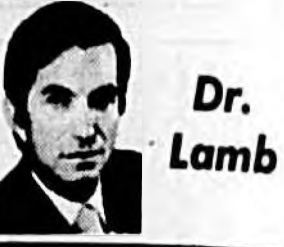

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

Unless it is absolutely necessary, it would be wise at this time not to burden yourself with any new, long-term obligations.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Associates may do things today to hamper, rather than help, your progress if they think you're taking them for granted. Make your allies feel important.

Exercise Can Help Varicose Veins

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB— Could you please tell me what causes varicose veins and if one can do anything to prevent them? Most of the doctors I've spoken to say varicose veins are hereditary and that I should sit down and relax off, and on during the day with my legs propped up. Incidentally, my mother does have them, and bad. I don't want my legs to look as bad as hers.

I first started to notice them when I was 17. When I got pregnant at 19 they got worse. Now at 27 I just had my second baby. I'm very fashion conscious but I'm ashamed to even wear shorts or any fashions that might expose a little leg. I enjoy looking good for my husband and for jogging and swimming. I have such a bad complex now because of this. Is there anything I can do?

DEAR READER—

Varicose veins are caused from overstretching of the veins. They stay dilated. Some women inherit a tendency to have weak-walled veins and they overstretch more easily. That is why they are seen in families such as yours.

The trick is to prevent stretching the veins. When you are standing, the column of blood in your veins creates pressure inside the veins and stretches them if the walls are weak. That is why it is good to get off your feet. But for the best effect you need to lie down and get your feet above your heart level.

That is temporary. A better solution is to use external pressure that keeps the veins from filling up and overstretching. People like you should wear some form of external support when they are standing or even sitting for any period of time. Support stockings should also be used during pregnancy.

Many superficial varicose veins can be corrected surgically, and some by injecting sclerosing agents around the veins. The principles of varicose veins and what to do about them are:

discussed more fully in The Health Letter number 5-8, Varicose Veins, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

By the way, walking, dancing and jogging are better for your leg veins than just standing still. Exercise helps to milk the blood out of your leg veins and prevents the buildup of pressure inside the veins.

DEAR DR. LAMB— Will you please discuss the harmful effects venison can have on a person who eats it often. My husband is a sportsman and likes to eat quite a lot of this kind of meat.

DEAR READER— As long as it comes from a healthy animal there isn't much to get excited about. Animals differ in how lean they are but the "lean meat only" of venison is commonly only 4 percent fat by weight, which means it is about comparable to the separable lean of round steak.

Most wild animals are less fat than domestic animals. That helped our forefathers eat less fat in their diets than we consume today.

Jeff Westheimer, who held the South cards, overbid a trifle when he jumped to six hearts, but in his partnership with accountant Norman Halper, who sat North, he knew one thing which was that Norman always had at least 16 high-card points when he opened one no trump.

West opened the king of spades. Jeff looked over dummy for a couple of seconds and remarked, "There are a lot of ways to play this slam and practically all will bring it home. I'll sure look like an idiot if I find a way to get set."

He took dummy's ace of spades, cashed the king of hearts and led a second heart toward his hand. East followed and Jeff played his jack. West took his queen and said, "You can't have started too well."

Jeff showed his hand and replied, "Well enough! I feel like the man at the racetrack who has a daily double on every horse in the second race. I can yell, 'Come on anybody!'"

Jeff was right. His heart play had been a sure thing. Whatever West led Jeff was sure of his slam. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

To Isle Of Youth

Cuba Attracts Students

NUEVA GERONA, Cuba (UPI) — "We are an international people," says a highway billboard on the Isle of Youth, formerly known as the Isle of Pines.

Once an undeveloped agricultural and fishing area, the Cuban island's population has grown five-fold to 60,000 in 20 years.

Now its chief industry is education and "internationalism."

On the Isle of Youth, internationalism means offering facilities to 10,000 overseas high school and junior high school students from Africa and Central America.

Another 10,000 Cuban youngsters study on the island and live in boarding schools, the basic institution of secondary education in revolutionary Cuba.

The students must work three hours a day as farmhands without pay, Cuba's way of teaching proletarian direct action along with academic basics. The state pays for room, board and school supplies.

The foreigners reside in 17 different boarding schools with approximately 600 students each.

Tomas Hernandez, secretary of the Isle of Youth Municipal Assembly, said that courses are determined by bilateral treaty with the countries involved — mostly African nations friendly to Cuba such as Angola, Mozambique, Ethiopia and Guinea-Bissau. Two of the schools are Nicaraguan.

One school is filled with students from a country that has not yet been formally born: Namibia, a territory administered by South Africa under the name South West Africa.

Cuba offered Namibia's guerrilla movement a school for youngsters left homeless when a refugee camp was bombed in 1978.

Once the students graduate, many may elect to work or study further in Cuba. "There is no possibility of sending them back to Namibia until that country is free," said Bernard Kamwi, its English-speaking principal and a member of the Namibian guerrilla movement.

He said the school was an "international proletarian sort of thing" with instruction in both Spanish and English. The schoolrooms are adorned with slogans and photographs denouncing racism in Namibia and the bombing of the camp.

When these students eventually go home, they will remember Cuba as a benefactor.

The school recently collected $900 as a donation to Cuba's militia, a custom widely promoted by the armed forces among Cuban children. The Cuban military magazine Verde Olivo carried a cartoon on its front page showing a small Cuban Pioneer — the name of Cuba's Boy Scouts — donating his single coin allowance to the militia.

The official Communist Party line now is: "Cuba does not export revolution." Instead, billboards and slogans urge Cubans to participate in "internationalism."

This can mean serving as a soldier in Angola, where an estimated 20,000 Cuban troops are based, or volunteering as a doctor in Ethiopia or as a schoolteacher in Nicaragua.

He said the school was an "international proletarian sort of thing" with Communist officials estimate that 1,000 of Cuba's 6,000 medical doctors now work overseas.

Requiem For A Bag Lady

NEW YORK (UPI) — Phyllis Iannotti was a bag lady, one of the homeless women who live on the streets and doorsteps of Manhattan. Nobody cared about her life. It was only the violent way she died that attracted attention.

The street people of Times Square — the bag ladies, the drifters, and the priests and nuns who look after them — went to Holy Cross Church Tuesday to bid a gentle goodbye to the 66-year-old woman, slain in the savage streets of Hell's Kitchen.

"She was a kind lady," said Sarah, a talkative resident of a Times Square hotel. "She used to curse me out when she was agitated, but she was nice. We'll miss her. Shalom."

Miss Iannotti was beaten and stabbed to death last Thursday night in a parking lot behind the Port Authority bus terminal. Her possessions — the newspapers, clothing and food she carried in her ever-present shopping bags — were strewn nearby.

"We come in sorrow for a member of our family — for truly you are a family," the Rev. Robert Rappleyea told the mourners. "Phyllis was pre-scious and priceless in the eyes of God."

Her funeral sermon was short on details — no one seemed to know where Miss Iannotti came from, or what sent her into the streets of Times Square, sometimes disturbed and muttering angrily, sometimes shy and retiring.

There are hundreds — perhaps thousands — of women like her in Manhattan. Many of them are too poor or too bizarre to be welcome in even the cheapest hotels. They are accepted only by each other and the priests and nuns who feed them and make them feel welcome.

"She used to go to church every single day," said Sarah. "And she worried about her brother — he's homeless too."

"In her own life, with its difficulties and problems, she never forgot God loved her," said Rappleyea, as a choir of parish school children sang.

The shopping bag ladies helped the Franciscan nuns at the Dwelling Place, a hostel for homeless women, prepare a wake. They proudly served tuna fish and oranges to their guests in the basement of the Times Square Hotel.

"We let her go and she died," said Sarah. "If we hadn't let her go she wouldn't have died."

Like many of the ladies, Miss Iannotti stayed at the Dwelling Place when there was room. There was not enough room for everyone last Thursday. Margaret, one of the women who stayed, took solace in the fact "Phyllis left peacefully, without a fuss."

"I remember recently seeing her getting thrown out of the Port Authority — she was throwing bottles back, yelling and cursing. That's why it's such a comfort to think she was peaceful toward the end," Margaret said.

Gwendolyn, an elderly black lady whose knit cap was pulled down to cover her eyes, wandered in front of the church angrily before the service, complaining into the air. Gwendolyn intended to light a candle for Miss Iannotti, but was too upset.

The mass was interrupted by screaming at the door. "Sister Beatrice, Sister Beatrice," Gwendolyn wailed.

World's Fair: Classic Study In Big Dreams

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Its supporters can't find enough superlatives to describe it, its opponents cuss it with the same fervor. But love it or hate it, Knoxville's 1982 World's Fair is a classic study in big dreams, big bucks and big friends and is one year away and counting.

Construction on the May through October fair is forging ahead, with concrete and steel buildings rising out of red mud valley that once was home for run-down buildings and railroad tracks.

The fair that was once only a dream in the minds a few faithfuls, headed toward reality.

"We had faith in our dreams — you have to — to pull something off like this," said fair president S.H. "Bo" Roberts, a soft-spoken former journalist who has played the piper in a crusade to win converts to his fair gospel.

"And, you have got to be able to put up with a lot of crap getting here," he said.

Neither Roberts nor his lieutenants try to hide their zeal for the fair — which started as an energy exposition but evolved into a World's Fair more in the minds of its supporters than anyone else.

Roberts said the fair is helping Knoxville clean up a blighted area and it will focus attention on the energy advances put forth by the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Oak Ridge National Laboratory. It will also show off the energy research under way at the University of Tennessee.

He preaches the fair will accelerate capital growth and investment in the area and will give Knoxville a number of permanent structures that can be utilized in the future. He says the exposition will be a showcase for Tennessee.

The fair evolved from a dream into action in the mid-1970s when a group of businessmen got together and sought a project that would help the growth of the city. The 43-year-old Roberts, a former University of Tennessee official, has been the point man in the fair.

After landing sanction from the International Bureau of Expositions, the big dream evolved into big bucks. The fair's biggest backer is the federal government, which so far has chucked in more than $44 million to the event. The City of Knoxville has an $11.6 million bond issue riding on the fair and

"We're still optimistic and it would be a real asset if they are here. But it doesn't doom the fair if they are not."

Tennessee has clipped in $3 million.

Fair officials added another $23 million in a nifty financing deal involving 44 local, regional, national and international lending institutions.

The deal also includes $224 million in state and federal funds being used to improve Knoxville's interstate system so it can handle the 11 million visitors the fair hopes to attract.

The fair is being constructed on a 70-acre site within walking distance of Knoxville, Tennessee's third largest city with a population of 182,000. Construction has already begun on almost all the buildings at the fair and some are complete.

So far, nine nations have committed to the exposition. They include Australia, Federal Republic of Germany, France, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Saudi Arabia, United Kingdom and the European Community, a 10-member economic trade organization.

Officials say they have already attracted more nations than the successful 1974 World's Fair in Spokane.

But missing among the group is China and the Soviet Union, which was counted on to have the largest pavilion at the exposition outside the United States.

The Russians had indicated they plan to take part in the fair in 1977, but that idea faded with the Olympic boycott and the invasion of Afghanistan. Roberts has been meeting with Russian officials in Paris and indicated the Soviets may still take part in the fair.

"We're still optimistic and it would be a real asset if they are here," he said. "But it doesn't doom the fair if they are not."

The Chinese also have indicated a willingness to take part in the fair, but are looking for a corporation to help foot the bill. Corporate participation has been a major shortcoming in the fair. It has attracted a few large national concerns, but most of the giant energy firms, such as Exxon, have apparently decided to pass on the event.

"We are behind the schedule we set in this area — but this is our schedule and we are optimistic the momentum is going our way," Roberts said.

A Hall of States pavilion so far has only Alabama under its roof.

On the construction end, the fair has a no-strike clause with union workers and Roberts said work is ahead of schedule.

The fair also has some excellent friends, including powerful Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., Sen. Jim Sasser, D-Tenn., Gov. Lamar Alexander and wealthy banking executive and political mover Jake Butcher, a member of the exposition's board.

Baker and Sasser have ramrodded money bills for the fair through Congress despite some vocal opposition from Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., who calls the fair "the darndest waste I've ever seen."
