CASSELBERRY - The Seminole County Sheriff's Office has had some hard hits recently. One old vet got himself a nasty DUI and had to resign. Two deputies were reprimanded for mooning.

Now comes word that McGruff the Crime Dog was bitten.

McGruff (aka Crime Prevention Office Ray Stacey) was posing with the 50 elementary school children at a Casseberry apartment complex earlier this month.

When someone in the group said, "McGruff - Take a bite out of crime" one of the children bit McGruff on the right paw.

Repeat offenders a county concern

By DAVID FRAZIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Reading the police briefs daily, you may see a pattern of repeat offenders, career criminals who commit crimes over and over.

According to Seminole County Chief Deputy Sheriff Steve Harriett, 904 career criminals live in the county, 234 of whom have committed multiple violent offenses and 185 of whom are registered sexual offenders.

"This is a significant concern for the community. These people have served time in the state prison system, and it usually takes three offenses to get sent to state prison."

According to Larry J. Spiegel's Criminology: Theories, Patterns, and Typologies, most of

By RUSSELL WHITE

SANFORD - "The Friendly City" of Sanford isn't all friendly to anyone who has been raped, robbed, assaulted or burglarized here.

Long after an incident is over, victims suffer stress and anxiety along with financial loss and personal injury. Some are frustrated that the Sanford Police Department doesn't follow up after making its initial call.

Many others live in fear over what may happen to them. They've heard the ugly statistics identifying Sanford's crime rate as being higher than any other city in Seminole County.

There were 80,000 calls for service to the

Sanford mulls need for pay phones, lights

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The placement of lights and pay telephones on 13th Street will be among the topics at the Sanford City Commission meeting on Monday at City Hall.

Situated in District 2 in the Goldsboro area, 13th Street has been plagued with high crime and drug problems. With more than 20 pay telephones on a short stretch, residents have questioned the need for so many phones.

Johneil Jackson of Geneva and with a home nearby, said he feels there is a connection between the drug activity and the telephones. Because the area is frequented by drug dealers with pagers, Jackson said they need the phones.

"Why are there so many phones on that street where there are no businesses around?" Jackson asked. "You won't find any other street in the area with that many phones."

According to Commander Aaron Keith of the Sanford Police Department, the 13th Street area is heavily patrolled primarily because of drug activity. Additionally, Keith said, there is an alcohol problem with many people walking around with open containers. The QUAD Squad patrols the area regularly.

Keith attributed many of the problems there to the heavy population.

"There are a lot of people there," Keith said. "It's a heavy traffic area."

Responding to residents' concerns, City Commissioner Velma Williams said she rode along 13th Street from Lake Avenue to Persimmon Avenue and counted 23 telephones, some only 15 to 20 feet apart. In addition, Williams said the phones are very distracting because they are all different colors and designs.

Students camp out for learning experience

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Students will gaze at the stars and learn about nature this weekend at Hamilton Elementary School during a special camping trip.

Through the Break the Mold School grant, teacher Karen Grimm will treat students to a camping experience they will always remember. Receiving the maximum grant amount of $1,500 for her innovative idea "Off the Beaten Path," Grimm has planned three days of hands-on activities for 22 fourth and fifth graders.

"This will give them an interesting experience and show them that learning can be fun," Grimm said.

The fifth grade teacher designed the program with her STAR students in mind. She also opened the program to some at risk students, those with low motivation. The STAR program is geared to students without severe behavior problems performing below average levels.

Without leaving the school, students will camp out inside the building chaperoned by five adults. During the day they will participate in outdoor activities. All of the kids received an activities workbook.

Grimm used the grant money to purchase tents and sleeping bags for the kids. She said she hoped this would become an annual event.

"The kids are all very excited and the parents have been supportive," she said. "Some of these kids have never been camping before. They'll learn how to cook, set up tents and how to work as a team."

The three-day "camping trip" started on Friday with an orientation. Kids learned about fractions by using M&M's and participated in a star lab by viewing the stars in the sky.

On Saturday, Grimm said the group would hike to the Sanford Library for a story telling session. Tye-dyeing shirts and writing letters home were the afternoon activities.

"Everything is very paced," she said. "There are so many activities they really don't have a chance to be bored."

Other activities include Indian writing, multiplication tag, a treasure hunt using a compass, board games, a live earthworm study, a bonfire, a scavenger hunt, a butterfly release, and designing African bead necklaces.

"To help with students' self esteem, which Grimm said often is a problem with the children, she planned a talent show.

During the show, Grimm said children can perform whatever they want to do and share that

Legislator speaks to chamber

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Advocating a tighter state budget, Rep. Tom Feeney (R-Oviedo) on Friday told members of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce that Florida legislators need to get a grip on spending, particularly in the areas of education.

Speaking to about 60 business people at the chamber's luncheon at the Marina Hotel in Sanford, Feeney said while the United States spends more per student than any other country, results here are some of the worse because the quality of education has dropped.

"Spending more is not the solution," Feeney said, adding that a better use of existing resources would be a more productive solution. Although it is a very emotional issue with parents questioning why their children have to attend overcrowded schools with leaky roofs, Feeney called for better and leaner management, not more tax dollars.

He praised the Seminole County School Board for spending $1,000 less per student than Orange County and keeping new building construction costs to about $67 a square foot compared to more than $100 a square foot in portions of Southern Florida. Calling the classroom crowding situation "not a crisis," Feeney also noted that Seminole had better results than neighboring Orange County.

Feeney said taxpayers from Seminole shouldn't have to pay for the inefficiencies of other districts.

"Responsible counties like Seminole shouldn't have to bale out counties that were doing a miserable job constructing new buildings," he said.

Feeney spoke out against excessive federal government and regulations and called for a reduction in duplicate agencies and staff. Litigation is also a problem and a hindrance to businesses because current employment laws allow people to sue for anything, he said.

"The system is out of whack and there is something fundamentally wrong here," he said.

Locally, Feeney commended Sanford for its ongoing renovation of the Ritz Theater and also for attacking the midge problem. Midges are blind mosquitoes that have plagued the shores of Lake Monroe keeping residents and tourists away from the waterfront. With the help of $100,000 in state money, Sanford will anchor two barges in the middle of the lake with floodlights designed to attract midges away from the shore.

"Sanford can be a prime destination for tourists and residents," he said. "Sanford has the opportunity to become a booming area and one of the most beautiful areas in the country."

Eye center donates glasses to needy

From Staff Reports
Bayhead Eye Centre on Lake

Mary Boulevard is teaming up with the Sanford Chamber of Commerce to give the gift of sight to hundreds of economically disadvantaged Central Floridians this holiday season.

Donated eye glasses are recycled by "Project Right to Sight", a non profit partnership between Central Florida Lion's Clubs and local churches. The group provides eye examinations and reconditioned eye glasses to the economically underprivileged in Florida and underdeveloped countries around the world. Last year, "Project Right to Sight" recycled more than 30,000 pairs of used eyeglasses, 1,150 to those in Central Florida.

Last week, more than 100 volunteers associated with the organization performed eye health examinations and dispensed used glasses in the Orlando Magic's practice gymnasium to about 500 people. Many of the glasses donated locally will be used for next year's "Project Right to Sight."

The doctors and staff of Bayhead Eye Centre also work with the local Lion's Club to provide better sight to those in need.

"We believe it is an important way to give back to the community one of life's most precious gifts - clear vision," said Carol Logan. "Our patients can make a huge difference in someone's life by simply giving away something they can no longer use."

Framed in an examination room at Bayhead is one of the rewards of her work:

Dear Dr. Logan, I would like to thank you from my heart for my eye glasses! I can see things that I could not see before. You are very special to open the world up to me! I am enjoying reading, drawing, and playing with my friends again. I can see again thanks to Dr. Logan! All my love.

During the month of December, Bayhead Eye Centre will give a $25 credit toward a new pair of glasses when someone donates old ones. Glasses are accepted at the clinic on Lake Mary Boulevard and the Sanford Chamber of Commerce on 1st Street.

For more information, call the Lion's Club at 296-2751.

SCC fraternity breaks its own record

By JEANA HUGHES
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD - Seminole Community College's Pi Lambda Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa recently broke its own record. With 250 family members, friends, faculty and member of the Board of Trustees present more than 75 new members were inducted, breaking last year's record of 47 new members.

Phi Theta Kappa (PTK), the official honor fraternity for two-year colleges, recognizes academic excellence. Inductees must maintain a 3.5 or better grade point average. In addition to scholarship, PTK encourages its members to be actively involved in service to the community. Pi Lambda volunteers their time to many community organizations including Habitat For Humanity, Adopt-A-Road and Central Florida Blood Bank. They are currently collecting Christmas gifts that will be distributed to Mexican farm workers.

PTK Advisor Dr. Christopher Robbins commended the PTK community of scholars for achieving an outstanding level of academic excellence while also maintaining that same excellence in their personal lives.

Many of the inductees are raising families, caring for parents, maintaining careers, and pursuing artistic interests. They are also leaders among the volunteer community. "We know, above all else, that a sharp mind is little without a kind heart," notes Robbins.

During the induction ceremony, Guest Speaker Dr. Heiter E. Telman congratulated the inductees for their academic achievements. She also honored their families for making the financial sacrifices and enduring the hardship of their student's absence. Telman is a retired director of Education for the U.S. Army. Her extensive career has taken her around the world. She now resides in Daytona Beach.

Telman encouraged the inductees to persevere in their pursuit of their goals. She reminded everyone of many well known individuals who met with stumbling blocks, but continued on to great success. Winston Churchill failed 6th grade. Russian novelist Leo Tolstoy, author of War and Peace, flunked out of college. The beloved Walt Disney was once fired by his newspaper editor because he had no good ideas. "Education is a continuum," said Telman. She also complimented SCC Administrators for reflecting a policy that encourages continuing education.

A special presentation of PTK's "Impact On Excellence Awards" concluded the ceremony. Throughout the year PTK recognizes faculty and staff who exemplify excellence. This year's honored recipients were Dr. William Jordan, professor of Mathematics; Dottie Paishon, coordinator of Disabled Student Services; Debbie Megar, educational specialist/interpreter and Dr. Burt Parinchief, director of Choral Activities.

Sanford Police Department in 1996.

And the calls continue.....
...An armed robber has hit a convenience store on Airport Blvd.; a home burglarized on Oak St., domestic violence at a residence on Orlando Dr., a transient beaten up at West End Shopping Center, drug dealers spotted on 13th St., a holdup in progress at Nation's Bank on 17-02.

Bill and Alma Craig, who live in Mayfair Villas, recently had their home burglarized before dawn on a Sunday. Mayfair Villas off Route 46A and the Mayfair golf course is not exactly known to have such problems. Which makes this incident all the scarier.

The predators went through the residence, coming into the bedroom where the elderly couple was sleeping.

"I cried for two weeks after what happened," Alma Craig said. "We never heard them, which is probably a good thing. If we were awake and saw them, we may have been killed."

The Craigs have been in their home for 14 years. Some kids broke in several years ago but did little damage.

The recent burglary was much more serious. The thieves made off with Alma Craig's pocketbook, Bill Craig's wallet, watch, diamond ring, a skill saw and 50 compact discs. The Craigs estimated their loss at $2,500.

"It's impossible not to think about this and be afraid of what happened and what could happen," she said. "It's maddening. We know we could have been killed in our own home."

Bill Craig said that a Sanford police officer came to the house after they had called 9-1-1. A second officer came to do fingerprint work. "We were told another officer would be to the house on Monday," Craig said. "He called us but he did not come."

Two and a half weeks later when we needed to complete the reports for our insurance agents, the officer still hadn't come back. We called, gave our case number but got no reply. We still haven't."

Apparently, the Craigs found out what others have in similar incidents. The Sanford Police Department will respond but no one is sure what kind of follow-up there will be.

"These guys have been known to get sloppy and not do the paperwork," an officer from a neighboring agency said. "There's a problem there. It's been there for sometime."

Neither Sanford Police Chief Joe Dillard nor Deputy Chief Dennis Whitmore could be reached for comment.

Many of those who live in Sanford say the city deserves better - and that its image must change. No one seems more intent on seeing a change than the town's new mayor, Larry Dale. Since becoming mayor in January, Dale has focused on reducing crime and the fear of crime in the city.

The new City Commission (Brady Leonard and Velma Williams came aboard in January also) approved a $63,000 study of the SPD in April. The report confirmed what many expected. It would. The SPD was seriously flawed, dysfunctional, in need of a major overhaul.

Earlier this year, Dale said the commission needed to find out why crime was as bad as it was, and if one of the reasons was that the SPD wasn't up to snuff, then there would be some changes.

Some at the SPD accuse Dale of being against them. "I'm not the enemy," he insists.

Sanford, seat of the county government, is a town that pretty much closes down by 5 p.m. on weekdays.

There are few establishments that stay open late.

Seminole Towne Center Mall is busy after dark, Monday through Saturday. The police blotter contains daily reports of thefts at the mall. Occasionally, there are car thefts.

Most folks who visit the mall, say they do so without fear of being mugged or having their car stolen.

There are trouble pockets in Sanford, a small city with big city problems. Low-income housing on the east and west sides of the city are the scenes of many crimes.

The crime figures in the recent study of the SPD indicate that the department handled three of the 17 murders in the county in 1996. It handled 29 forcible rapes, 158 robberies, 358 aggravated assaults, 825 burglaries, 2,155 larcenies, 296 motor vehicle thefts.

The SPD, the report indicated, must cope with the highest total municipal crime index (3,823) in Seminole County, with overall activity second only to the Sheriff's Office (with an index of 5,208). The hitch is that the Sheriff's Department services an overall population base of 329,031 - nine times greater than the city of Sanford (35,279.)

Sheriff Don Eslinger believes that the recently opened Juvenile Assessment Center in Sanford will help all agencies in the county to deal with young offenders. By doing so the county will be a much safer place in the coming years.

Eslinger has also said his deputies will assist the SPD whenever they are asked. The sheriff's office and the SPD will partner their efforts in the Goldsboro area, one of the city's most troubled zones.

Make housing program work

A new federal program designed to keep crime out of neighborhoods through police presence makes homes available to law enforcement officers at a 50 percent discount. Local governments and non-profit groups can also buy homes at a 30 percent discount.

The concept is a good one, but that the entire city of Sanford has been highlighted as a blighted area in which to administer this program, is not good.

Through the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development's Officer Next Door Program, 15 areas have been designated in Central Florida, among them Midway, Winwood, Jamestown, Johnson Hill, Lockhart, Bookertown, and the entire city of Sanford. The discount applies to HUD foreclosed homes in distressed neighborhoods.

Bob Osterman, director of HUD's single family housing division for nine counties, said HUD worked with local governments to identify the areas. The HUD homes in the southernmost section of Sanford are excluded, but those in the Sanford Historic District are not.

Osterman claims this project was not instituted for a government worker to cash in with cream puff profits by buying low and selling high. And that can't happen if the program is administered in neighborhoods where home values are pretty much the same. But that is exactly what can happen in the historic district, where homes range from below $30,000 if in need of much renovation, to just under $200,000 for one completely restored. So if a $40,000 home is purchased for $20,000, renovated and sold for $125,000, a tidy profit is certainly involved.

We think the program should be administered as it was intended, in truly blighted neighborhoods of like homes, to encourage rejuvenation that is already evident in the historic district.

LETTERS

Some points to make

First, let me congratulate you on having the courage to print Mrs. Nell Snow's "Tanamanen Square" letter, although it is in opposition to your own views.

There are some points I wish to make regarding your recent editorials on the controversy over the proposed Twin Lakes apartment complex.

1. Your editorial of Sunday, Nov. 15, states in its headline, "Sanford's decision on development". Please be advised that this was NOT Sanford's decision but mayor Larry Dale's. How many Sanford citizens spoke for this amendment (excluding the mayor)? I counted ONE! And he did not say he was for it, only that he did not object to it. The numerous speakers protesting this amendment presented overwhelming reasons against passage. But with the help of the mayor's constant interruptions and argumentative attitude toward speakers opposing the amendment, Commissioner Lessard was placed in a dilemma. He said he could not decide, although Mr. Eckstein gave him the perfect "out" by saying that if Lessard was unsure, he should vote against. Could the dominating posture of the mayor have influenced Mr. Lessard's "yes" vote? Only Brady Lessard can answer that, but his one vote on that fateful night may change the entire character of this beautiful city - and not for the better, unfortunately.

2. It may be the policy of the Sanford Herald to print their editorials in LARGER TYPE than other letters and articles. If so, a reader's eye will be drawn to the larger print, giving an unfair advantage to your opinions - right or wrong.

3. The Sanford Herald's pro-development stance on this issue (apartments in the wrong place) regardless of the size and quality of the opposition, leads one to conclude there may be underlying causes. Is it possible that the Sanford Herald is obligated to the city and county, and its officials, for the large number of legal notices that are published each week? But no, I would never suggest that our local newspaper or any newspaper could be compromised by economics.

4. My neighbors and I feel that your editorial opinions on this matter do not reflect those of the majority of the citizens of Sanford and do a disservice to us all. This was proved the night of November 10. Not by the narrow loss, but by the attendance and the manner in which the meeting was executed. (OOPS! Slip of the pen there.)

Sincerely,

Demanding your rights preserves them

One of the Florida Statutes that city officials have to contend with is F.S. 119, also known as the Public Records Law. In essence it says that any member of the public has access to written records kept by government. This would include letters received by city officials, material brought to meetings, financial records, etc. The only delay allowed in the time required to retrieve the document. It's a hassle to the bureaucracy but it's meant to protect the public.

Here are some examples from actual events:
1. A Longwood city commissioner once scribbled a note to another commissioner on the date during a meeting. A member of the audience spotted the action and during a break, came forward and demanded a copy of the notes which had to be produced.

2. When I was recently elected, I was shown my new mailbox at City Hall. I was also handed a padlock and key to go with it. I declined the lock and key saying that my mail was public record and should be open to the public. Subsequently, I demanded to be shown the mail in one of the locked mailboxes. The clerk then proceeded to open it but I declined saying, "I was just testing you." Afterwards, I was told that the locks were installed because some commissioners felt that they were losing invitations to free dinners. (A perk that goes along with ribbon cutting, etc.)

3. In 1992, when the city was studying police consolidation, the assistant police chief traveled to southwest Florida to look at a city that had consolidated with the sheriff. After his return, I asked the chief of police for a copy of the notes the assistant had taken. The chief refused and went home. (Those who enforce the law sometimes feel they are above the law.) At 8 a.m. the next morning, I was at the State Attorney's office writing a complaint. I had the notes (public record) that I requested before the day ended.

Our rights and freedoms will continue to exist just as long as we exercise and demand them. The recent turn out at the polls, Longwood had only 16 percent, is indicative that many people just don't care.

The City Scene is a column for city officials to inform you about city issues. Submissions are invited, but should be limited to 500 words.

Living in Sanford is not for sissies

Living in Sanford is not for sissies. If you are a resident, it is almost essential to have a highly developed sense of humor. Humor helps prevent one from plunging into utter despair as you realize your property investment in this star-crossed town remains in jeopardy as a result of the dubious methods used by city government.

Recently, some of us in Groveview Village (while not well known to many at City Hall, Groveview Village really is in Sanford) felt it necessary to go to City Hall regarding the issue of Sanford City Government continuing to provide reclaimed water to Lake Mary and now Heathrow and "pay" them large sums of money to upgrade their utility lines, while denying access to the reclaimed water to many of the residents of Groveview Village.

The reclaimed water lines have been run all around the through Groveview Village to get to various locations in Lake Mary, with the lines being within a few feet of some homes in Groveview Village who are being denied access.

Our visit to City Hall on Monday, October 27, 1997, proved interesting, however frustrating. We attended the commissioners' work-session which was held at 4 p.m. in the afternoon. Citizens are not allowed to speak at this "work-session". Apparently, we are not allowed to hear either since there are no microphones in the room and only the people who sit around a large table talking to each other are allowed the privilege of knowing what is being discussed.

There were many corporate-developer types in attendance who were summoned to the table to speak to the commissioners. It would be a safe bet to wager that citizens are not really intended to be at "work-sessions" since they are scheduled at such an inconvenient time for citizens and seating is extremely limited. Not many working people are available for 4 p.m. meetings.

When the meeting was over, we noticed that a rather substantial food buffet had been set-up by caterers just outside the meeting room. We gathered this was for the convenience of the commissioners and select corporate types, we "citizens" were not invited. So far, the City Hall experience was not very positive. We were not allowed to speak, we were not allowed to hear, and we were not invited to eat. We rushed to a restaurant to get something to eat since we also wanted to attend the regular meeting at 7 p.m.

The agenda for the regular Commission meeting schedules "Citizen Participation" to be first. I fear the reason for this scheduling is to dispense with this segment as quickly as possible. One doesn't get the feeling that the commission is "citizen friendly", in fact, they seemed surprised that any citizens had even attended the meeting, much less wanted to speak.

It is apparent that the citizen is at a decided disadvantage, when they come before a dispassionate and very likely disinterested panel of politicians to discuss a subject of which the citizen feels great passion about. The citizen is made to look like a fool for even trying to bring a matter to their attention for a remedy.

The citizens in Groveview Village were told, in essence, they would have to wait for money to become available through some type of "State Grant" before they would be able to have the lines installed to be allowed access to the reclaimed water. Which of course, translates to "NEVER".

Nancy Kennedy	Nancy Kennedy is a resident of Groveview Village in Sanford.
GUEST COLUMNIST

However, Sanford City Commissioners will continue their practice of "paying" Lake Mary and Heathrow to insure they have access to the reclaimed water. Two gentlemen who complained that their street flooded every time it rained were told they were on the "LIST" to have it corrected, "just keep calling us" is what they were told by the Public Works representative. Want to bet that answer also translates to a "NEVER"?

Groveview Village has had barricades on the sidewalks of Anthony Drive for almost 5 years due to collapsed drainage systems. We are still "calling".

Another gentlemen pointed out to the commission that they had no right to allow developers to build on a public park (Fort Mellon Park) which is owned by the citizens of Sanford and was specifically dedicated for their use.

The commission thanked him for bringing a well prepared case for their consideration. A few days later I read that developers will be allowed to build on the park within the next year. So much for being polite and well prepared!

It is extremely unfortunate and even dangerous when citizen participation and interest is perceived by the elected officials as interference or an annoyance. Over the years, Sanford citizens seemed to have been conditioned to have lower expectations regarding the level of services and competence of their city officials. This must change. It must not be the case that city officials are surprised when they see any citizens at the meetings. It's no wonder that they have "Special Sessions" and vote yea or nay on issues few citizens even hear about, except as some obscure ordinance number.

I resolve, in the future, to attend as many meetings as possible and invite all my fellow citizens to do the same. One of the things we need to work on getting rid of are those ridiculous "Work-Sessions". They certainly must be a violation of, at least, the spirit of the "Sunshine Law". While having a meeting be public, I'm sure that it also means the citizens should also be able to hear the discussions.

The current operation of the Sanford City Commission is definitely not what could be considered as a participatory type of government. It appears the commissioners would much rather restrict their interactions and communications to developers and various corporate types than with listening to or dealing with the problems of the average citizen. They must maintain a balance of pursuing "good" development prospects for the city while insuring that the day-to-day service problems of the citizens are resolved.

Did you ever hear that sports metaphor? Something about "remembering who brought you to the dance"? Elected officials should never forget that the citizens are the ones they must ask if they want to continue going to the "Dance".

Keeping pace

Have you ever noticed how the speed at which some people move can differ dramatically? Sure we all move differently, younger people are usually in a hurry so their movements are quick and unstructured. As we all get older our movements are more calculated and structured.

We usually don't take much notice to every person's movement, unless of course, we see someone uniquely different, like a disabled person. Then we notice their wheelchair, walker or guide dog. Sure, noticing those things is usually nothing more than idle curiosity, but it does show that there is a difference.

There are other times when we may see a person in a grocery store checkout line and this person may have a physical condition such as multiple sclerosis, muscular Dystrophy or cerebral palsy, just to name a few. This disabled person can take awhile in paying for his or her purchase.

Sure enough, there is always someone in the same line who looks and acts a little irritated. If the irritated person would only consider that everyone must be conscious and accepting of each other's own pace, whether they are disabled or not.

Then there are people at work or in a social group who are unaccepting to the fact that some of us in the disabled community, have a slower pace than others. I honestly believe that most people do not behave like this simply because of a malicious nature. It is usually just a case of petty jealousy.

Strange as it sounds, some people are honestly jealous of some of the things that disabled people get like the convenient "Handicap" parking spaces. Now don't think I take all of this lightly. On the contrary, I take it very seriously and personally. What it boils down to is prejudice, even if it is "thinly disguised."

If anyone is thought of negatively because of their physical movement or who or what they are, that is wrong. Not unlawful, but wrong. If these prejudices go too far, they become unlawful. That is why the "Americans With Disabilities Act", established in 1990, is there. In short, here is what it says: "The Americans with Disabilities Act" is U.S. legislation that extends civil rights protection to citizens with physical or mental disabilities. It protects people with disabilities from discrimination in employment and public accommodations, mandates that buildings, public transportation systems, telecommunication systems and other public services be made accessible to individuals with disabilities."

It is true that we like to mention the above legislation often here at "Special People", and there is a good reason for that. We all need reminding. For the first several years of its inception, people rarely paid it much attention. Now, over seven years later, it's starting to get the respect it needs.

As we mentioned earlier, idle curiosity is one thing, but taken to its extreme is dangerous. So if you see a person at a little slower pace than you, just be patient.

What we can't expect from our legislators

Representative John Kasich was in Orlando this past week and presented his views on what is wrong in America and briefly outlined some of the problems and possible solutions as he saw them.

A newspaper column the following day stated that he has presented the problems, but what are his solutions? I'd like to elaborate on that point.

First, in presenting problems and outlining a course for the nation, a course that you feel will lead the nation in the direction of renewal, you are not proclaiming that you have all the answers. What you are doing is presenting to the American people the problems, as you see them, and a direction in which to proceed in order to solve these problems and to renew what you, and most other Americans believe is the only way to maintain, or regain, the American spirit.

The very foundation upon which this nation once rested is being eroded by not only poor government but by too much government. Our nation today is not what the founding fathers intended, nor would they approve of the intrusion of our present government into the lives of our citizens.

When men like Kasich present their views, or outlines, they should not be expected to know all the answers. It is unreasonable to expect anyone to be able to place before the American people not only a view of what is wrong in America but also all of the answers. He is doing what is expected of him. He is telling us

Think about this, Seminole County

ERNEST NATTON II

Ernest Natton II is a veteran member of numerous government boards and is a civic activist in the interest of good government.

what the problems are and seeking solutions.

The solutions do not lie with Rep. Kasich, but with us. We have the mistaken view that our obligation ends once we have voted and from that point on our representatives are fully responsible for seeing that all goes well. The truth is, that is only the beginning of our obligation. Once we have elected those who will represent us, it is our responsibility to continue to be in touch, to be aware of ongoing issues and to present our views to that representative regarding our thoughts, suggestions, and even possible solutions regarding various matters.

Kasich has presented a list of what he perceives is wrong and has outlined possible solutions. He has in effect, done his job...and rather well at that. There are very few that would disagree with his analysis. However, it is unreasonable to expect him to have all of the solutions.

The American people must understand that we do have good people in government.

Maybe not as many as we would like, but there are those like Kasich. It is our obligation to support these representatives on a daily basis, to back proposals we agree with, to contribute ideas and possible solutions. This is what representative government is all about and how it can truly work for the nation as a whole. We cannot expect our representatives to be effective if we are not there and they must face the onslaught of special interests by themselves. You cannot go to war without an army. It is up to us to be that army. If we do not enlist by voting...and then participating...we can expect nothing better than to see the paid army, in the form of lobbyists, to be setting policy.

The problems of this nation are ultimately in the hands of the people of this nation. If that should ever change, and it could if we are not fully involved, we will no longer be a Democracy. Do not expect those who bring us the bad news to also bring us all of the solutions. Be thankful that you have been informed and have been asked for your help.

THE BULLET TRAIN...Finally, Transportation Secretary Tom Berry may be the one to see the light and not be in a hurry to proceed with this project. Will our local transportation authority be just as careful regarding the "Light Rail System"? All of this brings me to an important point.

What is more important at this time? Our schools, our children? For months we have been bombarded with the dilemma regarding schools and the fate of our children. If our priorities were really in ORDER it seems to me that the billions being planned for transportation systems, that are at the very least in question as to whether or not we need them or can afford them, could be diverted to education.

However, as I understand it the Bullet Train is one of Governor Chiles pet programs along with other lawmakers, as is the LIGHT RAIL locally. This may be the time for you to ask your representatives about diverting some of that funding to education. Let's see how much they really care! There is no question that these kinds of transportation systems could be put on hold, the projects reduced or eliminated.

So here are a few suggestions, or solutions, to education funding and change. Create a voucher system to create freedom of choice regarding schools. Divert questionable funding away from transportation rail systems to help fund education.

Repeat

fenders commit a single criminal act and upon arrest discontinue their criminal activity. Spiegel goes on to say that a small group of highly criminal offenders or repeat offenders account for a majority of all criminal offenses.

Eighteenth Judicial Circuit Court Judge O.H. Eaton, who has served on the criminal bench in Seminole County, said that "most repeat offenders come from the lower social strata, most do not have high school degrees and many are drug addicts." Eaton said that about 80% of the crimes committed are drug related whether it be directly involved with drugs or it is to fulfill a need.

Assistant State Attorney Tom Hastings said that the most common excuse repeat violators use is that they are either trying to support a drug habit or it is the only thing they know. "About 80 to 90 percent of felony convictions are repeat offenders," he said.

Statistics on recidivism provided by Chief Deputy Harriett show that in the county, a little more than half the offenders satisfy their sentences, and a little less than half on community supervision have their sentences revoked for violating the terms. In 1996, there were 636 violations of community supervision in Seminole County.

And statewide, about half the inmates admitted to prison have been there before.

Harriett said that the Seminole County Sheriff's Office has a unit dedicated to tracking career criminals. The severity of their offenses is rated by levels, with a Level One the most violent of offenders.

"When they are released from the DOC (Department of Corrections) and come home to Seminole County, a deputy pays a visit. It's a constructive visit." Not only does the career criminal know he is being monitored, but the deputy makes him or herself available to the offender to help dissuade him from further criminal activity.

Spiegel's book said that a study showed arrest and court experience does little to deter the chronic offender. Spiegel also said that punishment was inversely related to chronic offending; the more stringent the sanction chronic offenders received, the more likely they would be to engage in repeated criminal behavior.

Hastings said the two most powerful statutes in place to try and deter the repeat offender are the Violent Career Criminal Act or Four Strikes You're Out and the Prison Release Re-Offender Act. The statutes are in place to try and incapacitate re-offenders, but, said Hastings, "those individuals who qualify for these two statutes usually are beyond reform." The Prison Release Re-Offender Act is the one most recently implemented. It applies in the sentencing of a violator in that the judge presiding over a case has no discretion when it comes to serving punishment. That means that the judge must stay within the guidelines of the minimum and maximum penalties, which are enhanced for the repeat offender.

Lights

"We're wondering why there are so many phones and if they are there for economic gains for legal or illegal purposes," Williams said. "I rode to other areas in the city and couldn't find this anywhere else."

Williams and her constituents want to know if the phones are being used to enhance any kind of illegal activity, including drugs and prostitution, on 13th Street.

"I have no proof of anything and I'm not accusing anyone but I have questions in my mind," she said. "We are quite disturbed and there are a lot of questions. I am asking the city for help."

To alleviate existing problems on 13th Street, including illegal activities, Williams is also asking for additional lighting primarily on the east end of 13th Street to 16th Street.

"This is needed for safety reasons and I learned from citizens that it is a paramount need," she said.

Williams said the lighting is needed for many reasons: for youth walking home from activities and also for those walking to and from the neighborhood churches.

In addition, Williams said, "We feel this would discourage illegal activities and provide safety for the police and fire department when they come into the area. Business owners would feel safer too."

The commission will discuss the 13th Street issues during its work session at 3:30 p.m.

Also on the agenda: Discussion of the city manager's evaluation and salary range.

Discussion of code update methodology.

Discussion of recommendation from the Law Enforcement Options Committee to hold a referendum to change the entity responsible for supervising the police and fire departments to the city manager.

Discussion of proposed land development fee revisions.

Presentation of service weapon to Commander Doug Bishop.

Presentation of the county's U.S. Highway 17-92 Redevelopment Plan.

Public hearing to consider closing, vacating and abandoning a north-south alley between Spurring Street and West 23rd Street and between Park and Oak avenues.

Public hearing to consider closing, vacating and abandoning Commercial Street between Mulberry and Pomegranate avenues.

Public hearing to consider the Sanford Airport Authority's proposed amended budget.

Second reading and adoption of ordinances to amend the classification and pay plan.

Consider a request from Robert O. and Marguerette S. Sullivan for waiver of impact fees.

Consider a request to declare the structure at 1011 Holly Avenue a lawfully existing non-conforming structure.

Consider adopting resolutions regarding a light rail amendment, an interlocal agreement with the county for building inspection services, and providing a commitment of $75,000 to Goldleaf Technologies as an economic incentive for relocating in Sanford.

Godspell is producer's swan song

BY DAVID FRASIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - It was a bright, spiritual spectacular. Life exuded from the rainbow cast of Godspell, the replacement play for the Ritz Theatre now performing at the Sanford Civic Center through Sunday, Nov. 23.

Unfortunately, a nearby dry turnout sparked a startling revelation from Ritz main man Fred Rogers. "I will no longer produce plays for the Ritz due to the poor turnout by Sanford residents," Rogers said. Rogers said that he would remain on the board for the Ritz, however. He made the announcement before the play began.

Once people settled in from the news, they were treated to a joyous musical delivered with jolting energy and bouncy pizzazz. The production which took the place of Tin Types was presented flawlessly. From the opening number to the grand finale, the players exploded jumping and singing with charm and exuberance.

Godspell is the 1970's hit musical originally produced on the New York stage and conceived by John-Michael Tebbel with music and lyrics by Stephen Schwartz. This specific production is in association with the Titusville Playhouse. It is directed by Broadway veteran and, currently, a visiting professor of theater at the University of Central Florida, Dr. Nicholas Rinaldi. Mary Paquin is the play's musical director and also executive director of the Titusville Playhouse.

Players for Godspell are Charles J. Graves, Clark M. McClelland, Meghan Allen, Ember Bartlett, Ryan Cheek, Vicki Cheek, Joe S. Fife, Jynifer V. Jemison, Ashley B. Kinalow, Sarah Kraus and DeAnna Maynard. To single one of these players out is unfair. They all do a bang up and break out job. They definitely deserved to play to a bigger crowd. But it was more for the people that did show up because of the sheer enjoyment these young actors brought to the Civic Center.

Godspell is about the gospel of St. Matthew. It is an educational enlightenment with biblical parables that make you think. And the resurrection set is enough to bring a tear to your eye.

Tickets for the play are $12 for adults and $10 for seniors and students. Tickets are available at Delilah's Antiques, Our House Books and A Second Image Costumes all in Historic Downtown Sanford. For more information, call 321-8111. On Saturday, Nov. 22, time of the play starts at 8 p.m., and Sunday, Nov. 23, the play will start at 2:30 p.m.

If this was truly Rogers' swan song then it was a melodious testament and tribute to the Fred Rogers will remain on the Ritz Theatre Board of Directors, but will no longer produce plays for the Ritz. Incredible effort of his trying to bring cultural enrichment to Sanford.

Eating out? Hops is top quality

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Located near the entrance of Seminole Towne Center, the newest Hops restaurant offers the same top quality as its other namesakes.

The philosophy is the same. Fresh quality food cooked simply.

With all this great food served in great surroundings, what else can one ask for?

How about freshly brewed beer?

At Hops Grill and Bar, diners may view the microbrewery, which is at the center of the restaurant and enclosed in glass. Several vats hold the varieties of beer offered, which include Lightning Bold Gold, Clearwater Light, Hammerhead Red and a seasonal Brewmaster's Choice. When the beer is ready, it is chilled and pumped directly into the taps.

The establishment is spacious and warm, decorated in richly stained woods. The immaculate open air kitchen allows diners to view their meals being prepared in the expansive grill area. Chefs slice prime rib and other cuts of beef, chicken and pork to order. Seafood choices ranging from shrimp to salmon are also grilled.

All meals are served with warm honey butter croissants.

Hops Grill and Bar
111 Oregon Avenue
Sanford

The house salad is served chilled and chock full of fresh mixed greens not found in most eateries. Topped with potato sticks and chopped bacon, the salad is served with a choice of dressings including honey mustard, blue cheese, garlic ranch and Caesar's. The house tarragon vinaigrette is a stand out.

The prime rib ($10.95 for 8 ounces, $12.95, 12 ounces, $14.95, 16 ounces) was succulent and served exactly as ordered. Entrees are served with a salad and a choice of french fries, black beans and rice or spinach gratin.

The grilled salmon ($12.95) was subtly seasoned and topped by a smooth dill cream sauce. The abundant portion of chicken and pasta ($8.95) is based by tender grilled chicken breast and topped with a tasty light cream sauce. A full slab of barbecued baby back ribs ($12.95) was charbroiled and finger licking good. The plump grilled Walkerswood shrimp ($6.95) were exceptional.

Other restaurant specialties include Southbeach chicken ($8.95), featuring a fresh basil, tomato and chevron goat cheese accompaniment. Jamaican top sirloin ($11.95) is marinated in a pineapple, soy sauce and ginger mixture.

You really can't go wrong at Hops.

The restaurant is open Monday-Thursday and Sunday, 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Friday and Saturday, 11 a.m. to midnight.

Among the performers will be The Dixie Echoes, The Caanaland Boys, The Florida Melody Boys and local group The Sunshine Quartet. The fire department will present a plaque to The Florida Boys for 50 years of singing. And of course as in years past, James said he will sing solo.

James, who plays most instruments and sings, said he does a little bit of everything. He has performed at many churches in Sanford and also at various community gatherings. "I love to sing," James said. "I've been doing this I was knee high." A few years ago, he said, he was part of a fireman's quartet and, "it was a lot of fun." As a running joke, James said he and his cohorts greet rookie firefighters telling them that they will have to perform at the Gospel Sing as part of the job requirement. The event usually draws between 800 to 1,100 people. Last year proceeds benefited the Arnold Palmer Hospital. The firefighters will chose a charity this year, probably a burn center or a hospital, James said. In addition to food and refreshments there will be door prizes including a 25-inch television, amusement park passes and dinners. Tickets cost $6 for adults, $10 at the door, and free for age 12 and under. Tickets may be purchased at the fire department, 1303 S. French Avenue. For information, call 302-1086.

The bell tolls for All Souls

At its Tuesday afternoon meeting at the Chambers Room, the Board of Seminole County Commissioners will acknowledge the 110th anniversary of All Souls Catholic Church in Sanford.

The first Catholic Masses were celebrated for the Sanford Mission, one of the oldest in Central Florida, at Doyle's Livery Stable in 1882. The cornerstone for All Souls was laid five years later.

A Resolution will be presented to Father Richard Trout, the pastor of All Souls.

Nice scheduling, folks

State Rep. Tom Feeny, who chairs the Seminole County Legislative Delegation, sent notice this past week to the Seminole County commissioners about the Delegation's public meeting on Tuesday at the Altamonte Springs City Hall.

The meeting is to begin at 9 a.m. and be over at noon.

As a rule, each of the five Seminole County commissioners would attend.

This time, they can't. Tuesday is the BCC meeting day, too.

A shake for the Tax Man

You've been getting letters from him for years - Seminole County Tax Collector Ray Valdes.

Recently, Valdes got a letter himself - from the Florida Tax Collectors Association.

He's the new president of the association, by a unanimous vote of 66 fellow tax collectors.

Valdes also recently informed the county commissioners that his office was delighted to remit a refund of $2,777,182. This represented the General Fund portion of the unused revenue generated and saved by the office at the close of the fiscal year.

A $105,113 refund was paid to the School Board of Seminole County by Valdes' office.

"We are proud to remain a part of the cure and not a part of the problem of the increasing demand for more tax dollars," Valdes said.

Don't let loss overshadow a great season

MERRITT ISLAND — It would have been easy for Seminole to have hung its head at the end of last night's playoff loss at Merritt Island.

The Noles had played well all season and the game was there for them last night, much closer than the 34-21 score indicated.

Sure there were some upset players, but after a season of turning around the entire program, the Tribe had a lot to be proud of.

As their heads hung low, coach Jim Worthington didn't bark, he didn't yell, he only told his players he was proud of them.

That's how all of Sanford should feel. The whole community has a lot to be proud of with their Seminoles. You don't always have to win to earn respect and gain lessons in life and that's what happened at Seminole this year.

The game is inconsequential in the whole scheme of things. The 'Noles will get over the loss, several of their players will suit up again next season in college and Worthington will have an undefeated junior varsity team available to help replace the graduated Seminoles.

Things will go on in Sanford, but let's take a minute to remember the players who took off their shoulder pads for the final time last night.

There's the defensive backfield led by Arnick Footman and Ned Raines who move on after helping the 'Noles stop every passing team they faced all season.

Don't forget the running attack. Joe Knight practically hobbled onto the field after teaming with underclassman Deon Howard to lead the Seminoles' vaunted running attack all season. Tim Raines was there once Knight went down with an injury and Laahon Cardin was a late addition to the stable and proved his worth with a game-tying kickoff return for a touchdown to open the second half last night.

Of course the Seminoles' ground game would have gone nowhere without an underrated and overachieving offensive line. Rob Legenhausen and Bryan Roberts are gone but Knight owes some of his college scholarship money to the guys who built the holes all season.

On the defensive line, Marcus "Coco" Burr spent the final minutes of Seminole's final game last night en route to the hospital after suffering a serious injury. Burr belonged in a hospital room before the game but strapped it on anyway in a remarkable show of courage. Marlowe Alexander and Steve Brown, another Seminole who overcame an injury to lead the 'Noles, are also gone.

Finally, there are the linebackers Nate Williams and T.J. Martin, the heart of the Seminole defense who always left everything on the field.

Oh, and don't forget kicker and punter Jason Armstrong who possesses one of the mightiest feet in the county and rescued Seminole from quite a few deep holes all season.

Seminole won't come back to an empty closet next year. Worthington won't allow that. The 'Noles began something special this season and there will be further success down the road.

But don't forget the 1997 Seminoles and the seniors that made everything so special. They will always be known as the team that turned it around.

Last Second Shot: How about a thumbs up to Crooms coaches Trent Hoffman and Steve Carmichael for winning the first games in years over at Crooms a lot earlier than anyone expected? Now they just need some fans.

Merritt Island running game too strong as Seminole falls 34-21

By KELLIE WERNER

MERRITT ISLAND — They traveled a long way.

They played their hearts out. They just couldn't stop the running attack.

Last night, the Seminoles went to Merritt Island to play their first district playoff game in years. They lost, 34-21, but they did not go down without a fight.

"I am very proud of these kids," Seminole coach Jim Worthington said. "They played very hard and have come a long way. We were just worn down by the fourth quarter and lost a few of our key defensive guys. We kept hammering at them, though, and never gave up."

The number-eight team in the state was just a little too much for the 'Noles. It didn't appear that way from the beginning, though.

Seminole's Arnick Footman made a huge tackle on the opening kickoff and stopped the Mustangs on their own 23-yard line. They were forced to punt three plays later and when the 'Noles blocked the kick, they took possession on the Merritt Island five.

A Deon Howard touchdown on fourth-and-one and Jason Armstrong's extra point gave Seminole a quick 7-0 lead and a boost of confidence.

Nate Williams made another huge play to set up the Mustang possession on the 26-yard line. However, five plays and 74 yards later, Merritt Island quarterback Kevin Verpaeck entered the end zone on a 26-yard run and suddenly the game was tied.

Seminole would not score again before the half, but the defense stepped up and kept Merritt Island out of the red zone until the end of the half. T.J. Martin was a defensive machine, tackling like a professional and earning one fumble recovery early in the second quarter. See Tribe, Page 2B

Lions make Panthers extinct

By TONY DESORMIER

ORLANDO — So much for experts and predictions.

On Friday, hardly anyone outside of the Oviedo community — and, truth be told, precious few within it — gave the Oviedo Lions much of a chance in their Class 6A football state playoff game against the undefeated and state-ranked Dr. Phillips.

But today, the Lions are a member of the Sweet 16, having stunned the host Panthers, 27-24, in overtime Friday night.

Oviedo running back Jamie Scott rushed for a game-high 173 yards on 18 carries, including 107 yards in the second half to help lead the Lions to a 27-24 overtime upset victory over state-ranked Dr. Phillips in the first round of the FHSAA Class 6A State Football Championships Friday night in Orlando.

Raiders, Patriots advance to finals of HealthSouth

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Editor

SANFORD — The opening round of the HealthSouth Classic went pretty much as advertised as four of the top junior college women's basketball teams in state squared off at the SCC Health and Physical Education Center Friday night.

The first game of the evening was a matchup of the two teams that met in the State Championship Game last year and are ranked No. 1 and No. 2 in the state this year. And just like last year, Central Florida Community College of Ocala, ranked No. 2 in the nation, came out on top of Gulf Coast Community College of Panama City, 80-81.

In the nightcap, host Seminole jumped out to a 12-0 lead and were never headed as they defeated Palm Beach Community College from Lake Worth 81-65.

This afternoon at SCC, Gulf Coast and Palm Beach will meet in the Consolation Game at 1 p.m. and Seminole (7-1) will challenge fellow Mid-Florida Conference foe Central Florida for the Championship at 3 p.m. Admission to the games are free of charge.

A late first half surge gave the Patriots from CFCC a 49-39 lead at halftime.

The Patriots looked awesome in the early going of the second half and led by as many as 25 points with seven minutes left in the game.

But Commodores from GCCC (2-1) suddenly caught fire as CFCC started to get into foul trouble and was also having trouble handling the ball after starting point guard Eric Jackson was lost to an injury.

Behind Kaundra Williams' 24 points and Taneshia Moore's 11 points, GCCC quickly cut into the lead and got as close as six points before the Patriots held on. Shala Crawford, a 6-foot-5 freshman from Mansfield, Ohio, poured in a team-high 28 points for See Classic, Page 3B

Seminole Community College guard Daria Kudruytseva poured in a game-high 25 points on 11 of 16 shooting as the Raiders beat Palm Beach 81-65 Friday night.

Rams rout Apopka

From Staff Reports

APOPKA — The Lake Mary girls' basketball team showed why it is regarded so highly in state circles, then went into cruise control as the Rams routed homestanding Apopka 60-38 Friday night.

The Rams took a 30-11 lead after the first quarter and the Blue Raiders could never recover despite outscoring Lake Mary in each of the final three quarters.

Lauren Bradley led the Rams with 18 points and 12 blocked shots, while Stephanie Dale chipped in with 14 points.

Mary Pinkowski paced Apopka with 13 points.

Lake Mary will meet Jones in the opening game of the Dr. Phillips Thanksgiving Tournament on Monday starting at 6 p.m.

WHAT'S UP IN THE NFL 1997...WEEK 13

SANFORD - Welcome back football fans, we've reached Week 13 and have some ground to make up.

This writer has been in a lull for the last two weeks as my LOCK selections have failed to come through for my readers. Drastic times call for drastic actions, and so it is that I am writing this column in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

In an attempt to clear my head and get back on the winning track, I have decided (quite spontaneously) to attend the Steelers-Eagles matchup here tomorrow. I'm confident that this "mental vacation" will be successful and start paying dividends immediately.

When we look at today's games, let's take a quick look around Florida and see how our teams are doing.

The first team that comes to mind is the still answer, yet still winning, Miami Dolphins.

Miami has yet to prove that they can win games against good teams. If you watched their game against Buffalo on Monday night, you know what I am talking about. Had the Bills possessed any sort of offensive threat, this game would have gone the other way.

As it was, the Bills' offense gave up the ball a number of times, and the defense finally broke. In this game there was little doubt that Buffalo did as much to lose this one as Miami did to win it. Keep your eyes open today in New England, you'll see what I mean.

The Jacksonville Jaguars continue to roll in the AFC Central, and dodged a bullet last week as they disposed of the "gaining fast" Tennessee Oilers. The Steelers kept pace by winning as well and seek to maintain their lead here in Philly.

The Jaguars need to beware of a Bengals team that is looking to take a year's frustration out on someone. Obviously the Jags have more talent, but who has more desire?

Finally, let's talk about the mighty Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Tomorrow The Hardy Boys travel to Chicago to meet a struggling Bears team. Last week the Bucs buried the New England Patriots much like their ancestors did captured treasures. They looked amazing on both sides of the ball.

At the airport on the way up here, I met a Vikings fan sitting at the gate waiting for a flight. He was totally decked out in Vikings apparel so I was obligated to probe for information. Much to my surprise, he told me that the only team the Vikings were concerned about was the Bucs.

That's right, he said Minnesota fans are convinced that Green Bay is finished, leaving a two-way race between Tampa and Minnesota. I hope he is right, because that is the race we will win. Let's take a look at tomorrow's schedule and find some winners.

PITTSBURGH (-3) AT PHILADELPHIA

This is the game, I'm here. The local fans and press have turned on the Eagles, and I think it will be tough for them to remain competitive against a very hot Steelers squad. I'm hoping we can scalp a ticket today, because I plan to pay for it with a small "investment" in the Steelers. Steelers 24, Eagles 18.

GREEN BAY (-4) VS. DALLAS

This is the game that everyone is so excited about, and I'm not sure why.

Neither of these teams is what they have been in the past years. Favre has been having his difficulties, while the entire Cowboy squad looks too old to play much longer.

The Packers roll tomorrow, and leave no doubt about Barry "Bartender" Switzer's lack of a coaching future. A Cowgirl loss tomorrow means an announcement of Barry's replacement within a week. I like the Packers big Packers 20, Cowboys 10.

NEW ENGLAND (-5) VS. MIAMI

The Patriots are in desperate need of a win to come out of the horrible slump they find themselves in. An over-rated Dolphins team may be just what the doctor ordered. Look for Bledsoe to have a big day, but if anyone can keep up, it's Marino. Patriots 21, Dolphins 20.

TENNESSEE (-3) VS. BUFFALO

Unfortunately I think my beloved Bills realize that their season is over and knowing this team, they'll show it tomorrow. The loss to Miami on Monday night broke this team's spirit, and the young Oellers will capitalize early and often. Oilers 27, Bills 10.

TAMPA BAY (-5) AT CHICAGO

This is obviously a game the Bucs should dominate, but remember, it is the Bucs. The Bears have a cruel way of hurting Tampa in situations like this, and I'm a student of history. We need this game badly, because the Vs will lose tomorrow, leaving us tied with Green Bay for the division lead. As far as betting the game? IT'S TOO CLOSE TO CALL.

ATLANTA (-5) VS. NEW ORLEANS

The Saints infuriated me last week by beating the Seahawks at home. I'm taking the Saints in this one, not because I think they are good, but because the visiting team in this series has covered in 16 of the last 17 meetings. That my friends is a very strong trend. Falcons 24, Saints 21.

SAN FRANCISCO (-14) VS. SAN DIEGO

This rematch of the Super Bowl a few years ago should have a similar ending, but it won't. The Niners have already locked up the home-field advantage for the playoffs, so don't look for them to be playing up to par. This is a team that has to be extremely careful with their quarterback and key players. They'll win, but by more than two touchdowns? No way, Joe. Niners 20, Chargers 17.

SEATTLE (-3) VS. KANSAS CITY

The Seahawks are breaking my heart by winning the tough ones, losing the easy ones, and failing to live up to my expectations. This my fellow football fans is it. If they lose tomorrow it is all over, if they win, they're still alive. Hold onto your seats folks, this one will be very exciting. Seahawks 20, Chiefs 20 (settled in overtime).

JACKSONVILLE (-6) AT CINCINNATI

As mentioned above, the biggest problem here is whether the Jags take the Bengals seriously. With the Steelers getting the probable win today, a loss by Jacksonville would really hurt. Hopefully Blake will get an opportunity to play for a decent team, whether it's the Bengals or not, next year. His Sanford-born talent has been squandered by the Bengals all year and most likely will be again today (EDITORS NOTE - It was announced Friday that Blake had been benched in favor of Boomer Kason). Jaguars 31, Bengals 20.

WASHINGTON (-5) VS. NEW YORK GIANTS

Unfortunately, the bookies know what I've been saying all year, the Giants are a fluke. They have been lucky all year, and will fold now that the playoffs are around the corner. Look for the Redskins to deliver a beating that will require Federal Disaster Relief Funds to repair. Fortunately, the game is being played in Washington D.C. Redskins 27, Giants 14.

DENVER (-9) VS. OAKLAND

It is a crying shame the Cheaters, I mean Raiders, waited until last week to showcase their wealth of talent. This team should have been dominant in the AFC, but instead is scrambling for dignity as the season comes to an end. Nine points? I'll take 'em. Broncos 24, Raiders 21.

Each week I issue what I consider to be the best selection against the spread in the schedule. This is the game that after research and contemplation, I feel most comfortable releasing as a "heavy play" selection, or what many of you refer to as my patented LOCK OF THE WEEK.

Today, after traveling all the way to Philly to get a feel for the game, I'm going with the PITTSBURGH STEELERS (-3) OVER THE PHILADELPHIA EAGLES. This city has absolutely no faith in their team, and I'm betting it's justified in this one.

Many of you called and written claiming that back to back failures in the LOCK department have left you short on holiday money. Give me another "Bud," a gentleman from my Rotary group has been especially vocal in response to his demands, I am releasing a DOUBLE RETIREMENT FUND SELECTION!

As discussed at the beginning of the season, these are my HIGHEST rated games of the YEAR. I'm backed into a corner and coming out swinging!

After hours of study and countless phone consultations with the likes of Tony Guru, Ben Badacci and his cousin Gwedo "I'll put you to sleep" Badacci, I release the following FUND SELECTIONS.

• GREEN BAY (-4) OVER DALLAS is money in the bank. The Packers will thrash the senior citizens in The Frozen Tundra.

• WASHINGTON (-5) OVER THE NEW YORK GIANTS continues the winning afternoon. The Redskins are coming off a big loss to the Cowgirls and will exact revenge on a team playing way over their head.

Have a great afternoon, I look forward to all the "happy mail" this week.

P.S. I'll be in Atlantic City tonight. My Uncle Kelly needs some help straightening some things out at the Bally Grand.

Lions

Brian Register provided the game-winning score, snaring a 6-yard pass from Josh Cullen on the Lions' third play of the overtime Kansas tiebreaker. Dr. Phillips had gone first and settled for a 32-yard field goal by Adil Bekkach.

"I don't think they (Dr. Phillips) were expecting that play," said Register, who was still holding the ball after being mobbed by teammates and fans following the game-winning catch. "They were covering me pretty good in the first half, so I wasn't getting the ball thrown my way very much for most of the game."

It was a simple play, just a little dump pass. At the snap, Register sprinted from the line of scrimmage just across the goal line and turned to pull in Cullen's toss.

"Our last two offensive drives, they (Dr. Phillips) were playing their safeties very wide," explained Oviedo offensive coordinator Troy Keasinger. "We were just waiting for the right time to use it. Sometimes you just have to be patient so that you use the right play at the right time."

Keasinger had established Dr. Phillips' fear of the Lion wide receivers by unvelling a play that resulted in a 73-yard touchdown strike from Cullen to Jorge Munroe in the first quarter. A couple quick tosses in the direction of Chad Garrett and a rare throw to defensive back-turned receiver (for a play or two) Kenny Kayne had the Panther defense playing the whole width of the field.

That created some space for running back Jamie Scott. After rushing for 66 yards in the first half, Scott bulled through the Dr. Phillips defense for 107 yards in the second half. Once the Panthers had pulled up to the line of scrimmage to try and stop Scott and backfield mate Kevin Quintero (11 carries for 51 yards), Register had the space he needed.

Then, according to Keasinger, it was just a matter of when.

Oviedo very nearly ran out of time in the first quarter, when a pair of special teams miscues gave Dr. Phillips a 14-0 lead.

The first came on a fumbled punt by Dr. Phillips that the Panthers recovered on the Oviedo 9-yard line. It took three plays for the Panthers to push the ball across the goal line, J.B. Wilt smashing in from the 1.

After an exchange of turnovers, Dr. Phillips forced Oviedo to punt. Mike Bonnevill took the kick on the Panther 6-yard line, went to his left, came back to his right, broke a sequence of near-tackles, and wove 94 yards to the end zone for a touchdown.

But rather than roll over, as predicted, the Lions came back and scored 65 seconds after Bonnevill's return -- on the Munroe-Cullen connection. At the half, Dr. Phillips still led, 14-7.

That was a moral victory in itself for the Lions. They built on that by coming out in the third quarter and taking the kickoff 65 yards for a game-tying touchdown. Cullen scored on a 1-yard quarterback sneak and Dan Dyke converted the extra point to knot the contest.

Oviedo had firm control of the momentum when Dr. Phillips' next possession ended with a fumbled snap on a punt attempt, turning the ball over to the Lions at the Panther 13-yard line. Leroy Jackson did the honors, darting in from the 13 on an end-around.

"This is what it's all about," said Jackson, who was asked to make the switch from running back to defensive back by Oviedo coach Greg Register in the spring. "This just feels great."

Dr. Phillips wasn't dead yet, constructing a 13-play, 81-yard drive to tie the game. Wilt scored again on another 1-yard dive with 8:24 remaining in the fourth quarter.

The Lions had two opportunities to win the game in regulation, moving the ball inside the Dr. Phillips 40 twice in the final eight minutes. One stalled at the 38-yard line while the other got all the way to the 19-yard line with seconds remaining. A potential game-winning 34-yard field goal sailed wide left and the teams headed for overtime.

While he was concerned with the unpredictability of the tie-breaking process -- where each team gets four plays to try and score from the 10-yard line -- Register was confident that his team was prepared for the physical challenge.

"We've been doing circuit training all season and it's continually paid off," said Register of a rigorous conditioning program the Lions employ. "Football is about conditioning. When I became head coach, I promised myself that my team would never get beat because they weren't in condition."

"It's nice for the guys to see that all the hard work they've put in pays off. All the hard work we put in was worth it."

As a result, the Oviedo varsity basketball, wrestling, and soccer teams will have to do without some of their athletes for a bit longer. Meanwhile, the Lions will have to curtail their Thanksgiving celebration a bit to be fit for Friday's trip to Lake City.

Oviedo High School principal Robert Lundquist said that he hopes he'll have to arrange for a fleet of spirit buses to transport any fans who desire to make the trip.

"We hope to be able to take as many people as we can," said Lundquist, who is in his first full year at the helm of Oviedo High School. "There will be an announcement Monday as to what the travel arrangements will be."

CFCC, while Tiana Briggins added 20 points, Patrice Sims 15 points and Marta Gies 14 points for the winners.

Williams led the Commodores with a game-high 37 points and Moore chipped in with 22.

SCC looked awesome in the early going behind freshmen Daria Kudruytseva, Crystal Tanner and Jaana Kotova.

But Tanner was hit with three fouls and Kotova, the 7-footer from Estonia, four as the Panthers' quickness started to take effect.

The Raiders still led at halftime, 40-34, as Kudruytseva, from St. Petersburg, Russia, hit seven of nine shots, including two of three from three-point range, to net 16 points. Kotova added eight points, 10 rebounds and five blocked shots before being dispatched to the bench.

PBCC kept the pressure on, but SCC refused to wilt, as they maintained at least a four-point lead for the first 12 minutes of the second half.

A change in defense by Raiders' coaches Ken Patrick and Tony Mandeville turned the game back in favor of SCC as the guard quartet of Kudruytseva, Tanner, Gemma Riley and Chinita Lee forced several turnovers that resulted in layups that let the host team pull away.

Tanner was outstanding in the final half, scoring nine points and coming up with three steals and four assists and also holding last year's Miss Florida High School Basketball Latoya Jordan from Pompano Beach to only four of 21 shooting from the floor.

As a team, the Raiders hit 18 of 34 shots from the floor (53-percent) and four of five from the free throw line in the second half. They also forced 12 turnovers and held the Panthers to only 12 of 34 shooting (35-percent) in the final 20 minutes.

Kudruytseva led SCC with 25 points, five rebounds, three steals and five assists.

Also contributing were Lee (13 points, five rebounds, three steals, three assists), Tanner (11 points, five steals, six assists), Riley (10 points, three rebounds, five assists), Kotova (eight points, 12 rebounds, six blocked shots), Jennifer Sweeney (eight points, five rebounds, three steals), Izzy Medhanic (four points, seven rebounds, two steals, two assists), Therese Westergren (two points, two rebounds) and Lake Mary's Maggie Reedy (two rebounds).

Barbie Decker from Bratislava, Slovakia led PBCC with 19 points and eight rebounds, while Jordan had 12 points, Karen Austin nine points and six rebounds and Dena Davis nine points and 11 rebounds.

Margaret and James Ripley

Wedding anniversaries are not new to Margaret and James Ripley. The couple recall a big surprise celebration on their golden wedding anniversary Nov. 19, 1947. And now, 10 years later, Margaret and James have celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. They were married Nov. 19, 1937 in Elmira, N.Y. by the Rev. Elmer Stewart.

James answered the call to defend his country and served in the Army Medical Corps in Germany during World War II. He has been a truck driver most of his life.

The family moved to Sanford 29 years ago after he retired from the trucking business. He joined the American Legion and the Disabled American Veterans. He served as Legion commander for several terms.

Margaret has always been a homemaker to be there for their five: Donald J. Ripley, Sanford; Sharon Berry, Fort Charlotte; Nancy Gee, Sanford; Edward Ripley, Sanford; and Robert Ripley, Sanford. There are 10 grandchildren and four great grandchildren. The family plans a big reunion on Thanksgiving Day.

Wedding anniversaries celebrated

Ripleys married 60 years; Kaminskys wed 50 years

Margaret served as president of the American Legion Auxiliary and said that she and James enjoyed playing bingo and cards, along with spoiling their grandchildren. Their secret for a long marriage, Margaret said, "is consideration for each other."

KAMINSKY GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Robert E. and Beth M. Kaminsky celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with open house at their home on Nov. 16. About 50 well-wishers called during the appointed hours, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. bearing cards and best wishes.

The open house was hosted by the couple's children who arranged photographs and numerous mementos of their parents during the past 50 years. Punch, finger foods and a gold and white anniversary cake were served. "It was nice," Beth said.

The couple were married Nov. 15 in Washington State and have lived in Sanford for six and one-half years. Both are retired after serving as missionaries with New Tribes Missions for 40 years, mostly "between here and Brazil," Beth said. They enjoy camping for recreation and plan to visit their daughter in Venezuela next spring.

The couple's children are: Susan Rodman, missionary-teacher in Venezuela; Lynda Pederson, missionary-nurse, Sanford; Deborah Mills, homemaker, Sanford; and Steve Kaminsky, AAA employee, Deltona. There are 11 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

In early 1998, the Kaminskys plan to move to the New Tribes Retirement Center in Sanford. They hope to help their hearing-impaired daughter and her husband start a ministry for the hearing-impaired.

According to Beth, the couple's secret for a long marriage "is just sticking with it...and commitment."

56th CLASS MEETS FOR 50th REUNION

A great time in the old home town was recorded when the 1941 class of Seminole High School gathered for the 56th class reunion. Class members always enjoy seeing each other and "it just wasn't long enough," Marcia Lippincott said.

Twenty-three classmates and spouses reunited at Colonial Restaurant in the downtown historical section at noon on Nov. 8. Marcia said this is the eighth reunion the class has held since 1941. The next day they met for breakfast at the Deltona Inn.

At the luncheon, the invocation was given by Judge S. Joseph Davis followed by a silent prayer for the 49 deceased class members. After much visiting and reminiscing, the benediction was given by Raymond Kader.

Highlighting the 56th class reunion was the wedding of a classmate, Ethel Root, the preceding day in the Congregational Christian Church.

Following the luncheon festivities, the classmates and two husbands posed for a photograph under the historical clock in Magnolia Square.

Traveling and doing shows is fun"

Ana Cristina Randolph, 14, is the daughter of Andrew and Ana Randolph of DeLand. At DeLand High School where she is in the ninth grade, Ana is freshman president of student government. She has been dancing for six years. Ana has been a member of Ballet Guild for one year. She joined Ballet Guild because: "To improve my ballet skills and become an all-around better dancer."

Migrants tell how they beat the odds

The Agricultural and Labor Program, Inc. Northern Region Advisory Council Annual Meeting was held Nov. 8 at the Hal Marston Center.

"Beating the Odds" was the theme of the occasion. The corporate meeting of the Northern Region was presided over by Elizabeth Young, staff region liaison, who presided over the meeting and the election.

The observance and honoree program was presided over by Grace Miller, chairperson, of the Northern Advisory Council. The invocation was given by council member Thelma Mike. The welcome and occasion was by council member Renay Oliver.

Musical renditions were by Willie Williams and Carlton Likely. The dramatic presentation of "I Can Fly" was by Samantha Gilchrist, a member of the migrant program of Seminole High School.

Keynote speaker Wilbert McTier, Regional V Director of State of Florida Department of Labor and Employment Security, had a message that was the true story of what will happen to the people on welfare and what is necessary for them to improve their lives with the changes being made.

Special guests were two migrants who have "Beat The Odds" and have become viable citizens by contributing greatly to their communities.

Hobbyist of the Week

Artisan gives life to unique fabric dolls

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Staff Writer

Linda Edmonds has crafted one thing or another since childhood. She credits most of her ambition to her mother. Her hobby has also made some extra change throughout the years as well as bringing joy in the lives of others.

Fabric dolls are one of the many projects that Edmonds enjoys making. She shares that she "mostly picked the sewing up from her mother." But, she admits she has been bringing her fabric dolls to life since the age of 12.

Many presents and sales have come from a small 12 by 10 shed on her property. "My husband insulated, old drywall and air conditioned it for me," she said. "It's not kid proof though. They always manage to get the door open and find me."

She continued by saying, "My brothers and sister get a lot of my crafts for holidays. I've given a lot away."

It has only been in the last four years that Edmonds has given her hobby her full attention. Before that time she was busy raising children and caring for their needs.

In addition, she crafts wall angels, fabric cow dolls, and baskets. "Either my mother or I buy a pattern to get started," she said. "First you read the directions. Sometimes my mom and I switch ideas for shortcuts. I always do the little extras though like finishing the

Linda Edmonds enjoys making all types of crafts for special gifts hems and other important details."

Faces of muslin are added. Edmonds adds that for these she practices on paper to be sure she gets the right look.

Various types of material patterns are used for the dolls. All are purchased at fabric stores or other stores that sell fabric. Even the baskets have a small fabric ruffle or a cinnamon heart around them to add a fancier touch.

Modifying an angel at one sitting allowed Edmonds to create a snowman. She admits that a little creativity can go a long way.

Although Edmonds does sew frequently for her family she cites that she once made a wedding gown that she is proud to say she created.

She also talked about her years of youth and cake decorating. "When I was 10 years old and would sit and look at cakes in the display cases," she said. "A neighbor gave me an old cake decorating book and starting trying it. I made cakes for employees of the AAP in Pine Hills back then. It taught me some good lessons about meeting deadlines and budgeting. In high school they called me the 'cake lady'. My teacher told me that one day she also pictured me owning a bakery and 'starting a red' and white checked apron. When we studied 'Romeo and Juliet' I made a castle sheet cake."

Although Edmonds does stay busy with her numerous other craft projects she cites that she has numerous goals. "I want to get into quilting," she said. "I also want to find patterns of vintage clothing from the 1800's and sew them."

Edmonds and her husband, Allen, have been married for four years. They share four children, Kristi, Melissa, Stephen and Ryan.

She is active at First Baptist church in Sanford in GA (Girls in Action) as a leader. They meet weekly to learn about missions and missionaries, visit shut-ins and learn to serve others.

Another outreach that Edmonds works with at her church is Heart Door Ministries, a ladies group. She mentions that the "crafting comes in handy here for prizes or other things." The group recently had a decorate a T-shirt day.

Wellness Fair fun, healthy for seniors

Wellness is something we all strive to keep. But, the truth is, the older you get, the harder it is to hang on to. That's why it's very important to keep informed about all the treatments and options available as we age.

The Wellness After 50 Fair, held on Wednesday, Nov. 12 at the Lake Mary Community Center, was coordinated by the City of Lake Mary and the Elder Affairs Commission. It brought vendors, agencies and seniors together in a fun, healthy atmosphere. The best time to learn about your options is before you need them.

The fair also offered some very helpful free testing. Bayhead Eye Center attended the fair and offered free glaucoma testing and free vision testing. If you've never been tested for glaucoma, it's important to be. Caught early, it's easier to treat. The test is painless, if a little disconcerting. Personal Care Physicians of Lake Mary and the Lake Mary Fire Department were both offering free blood pressure tests.

Staying active mentally and physically is very important to our wellness. Seminole Community College was at the fair to let people know that you're never too old to learn. SCC has many programs seniors can take advantage of, including their OED program, Adult Education programs and regular college classes in a multitude of subjects. The Seminole YMCA Family Center was there to tell people how important it is to stay active as we age. Seminole County Better Living for Seniors was there to ask for volunteers. Every year, senior volunteers help by donating thousands of hours. They also wanted seniors to know what kinds of services were available to them.

The fair was the culmination of seven months of hard work by the Elder Affairs Commission. They held it at the community center to introduce the building to the seniors in the area. They made it a lot of fun by having sandwiches, snacks and door prizes for the attendees. This will be an annual event.

YMCA VISITS AARP

The key to staying healthy as you get older is to stay active. A representative from the Seminole YMCA Family Center was the guest speaker for the November meeting of the Lake Mary Chapter of the AARP. Joe Fallon came to the meeting to let members know about the services the YMCA offers for seniors.

Mr. and Mrs. David Perdue

Brockington-Perdue vows exchanged

Annette Brockington and David Perdue, both of Sanford, were married Oct. 25 at a 6:00 p.m. in a double ring ceremony at Morning Star Baptist Church in Orlando. The Rev. L. L. Holmes officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Katherine and the late Roscoe Brockington. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry (Earlene) Perdue of Sanford.

Given in marriage by Prince, the bride chose for her vows a black and silver formal-length gown and carried a bouquet of red roses. Sandra Prince attended the bride as Maid of Honor.

She wore a silver and black gown and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Darve' Perdue served his dad as best man. Flower girl was Lauren Prince. Ring-bearer was Roscoe Brockington.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride. Serving as hosts were Donna and Tony Williams.

After a wedding trip to Daytona Beach, the couple will reside at 1409 W. 14th Street.

The bride is employed as a seamstress and the groom is in the construction business.

STEIN WINS HIGH BRIDGE SCORE

Although the busy holiday season is at hand, members of the Sanford Woman's Club's Bridge Social curtailed their shopping and decorating to play cards in the historical clubhouse. Hostesses for the November social were Terri Millikan, Betty Halback and Helen Ernest who arranged "a delightful array of homemade goodies fit for a queen," according to Libby Prevatt.

A warm welcome was extended to Jane Morgan, a new club member who is reportedly also an excellent bridge player.

Scores for the day were as follows: Doris Stein, high; a close relative of Zelda Siakind, second; and Rose Jacobson, third.

Other players were: Toni Hobson, Frances Webster, Thelma Smith, Mary Dale Jones, Shirley Mills, Alice Potter, Margaret Gross, Zelda Siakind and Libby Prevatt.

Bridge lessons will start in January. Reservations should be made through Libby Prevatt.

Cigars not so chic, after all

DEAR ABBY: Your recent column about the Great American Smokey prompts this letter. You may have helped save my life - or, if not my life, certainly the quality of my life.
During the Great American Smokey back in 1985, you encouraged those who had quit for 10 days to write to you. I did, and you responded with a personal note of support and encouragement. I have not smoked since.

DEAR GLAD: Thank you; your letter made my day! Your efforts to raise the consciousness of young people about the dangers of tobacco are commendable.
Even with all the publicity that has been generated about the addictiveness and health hazards posed by tobacco, smoking remains seductive to an alarming number of people. Therefore, as the glamorization of cigar smoking increases and becomes a more acceptable vice, I'd like to take the opportunity to emphasize the health hazards associated with this trend.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl with a major problem. This problem has to do with "Sam," my dad's friend. Dad met Sam in a bar about two years ago. Sam is 34 and is drunk most of the time. He hasn't had a job since we've known him.
In the past couple of months, Sam has made passes at me, which makes me very uncomfortable. On many occasions, I've found notes on my bedroom door saying things like, "I'll wait for you forever," and "Before you know it, I'm going to be a part of your family. I will do anything for you," and "Hugs and lots of kisses."

A few weeks ago, I was refilling my lawnmower gas tank at a nearby mini-mart and noticed four teenagers, two boys and two girls, leaning against a car, puffing away.
After I paid for the gas, I approached them and said, "You don't know me and I don't know you, but guess my age."
The guesses ranged from 55 to 60. I said, "I'm 72, and I will play three sets of tennis tomorrow and 18 holes of golf the next day. I have a very good friend who is also 72. He is in the hospital on oxygen. I quit smoking. He didn't. Think it over."
My friend may not be dead, but his quality of life - and that of his wife - sure is.

Cigars have taken on an air of sophistication because of the marketing of Cigar Aficionado magazine, cigar nights at invitation-only dinners, celebrity promotion and endorsements, etc. Growing numbers of women are also participating in this unhealthy fad. Because cigar smoke is rarely inhaled, there is a false sense of security that cigar smoking is a safe alternative to cigarette smoking. However, according to the 1988 Surgeon General's report:

I have told my parents I don't like him, and I hate it when he comes around. All they do is laugh and think it's funny. I tell them I'm serious, and they tell me that I like the "attention."
Abby, I don't like this "attention," and I don't think it is funny. I'm scared that if I don't do something about this, Sam will continue to send me notes, or worse. And he must have followed me, because he has sent me pictures of me in the mall where I go with my friends. I am afraid he'll begin to stalk me or sexually assault me.
How can I get my parents to realize that I don't like Sam and what he's doing is wrong? I know I can't choose my dad's friends, but don't I have a say in who comes into my life? Please help me. I'm very scared.

It's hard to conceive of age 72 when you're 16, but if just one of those kids got the message and quits smoking, then I will have in part repaid you for your support and encouragement 12 years ago. Thank you, Abby.

— Cigar smokers are three times more likely to develop lung cancer than nonsmokers.
— Cancer death rates among men who smoke cigars are 34 percent higher than among nonsmokers.
— People who smoke cigars have four to 10 times the risk of dying from oral, laryngeal and esophageal cancers when compared to nonsmokers.
— Exposure to secondhand cigar smoke carries the same risks as exposure to secondhand cigarette smoke.
— Concentrations of tar and nicotine are much higher in cigars than in cigarettes.
— The carcinogens found in cigarettes are also found in cigars.

QUAKING IN CALIFORNIA
DEAR QUAKING: You appear to have more common sense than your parents. If you haven't already done so, start saving Sam's notes and photocopy them. Show them to your parents and tell them Sam is making you very uncomfortable, and you don't want to be around him because you're afraid of him. If they refuse to take you seriously, give the photocopies of the notes to your school counselor, principal or clergyman, and explain that Sam is a 34-year-old man with a drinking problem.
According to the Los Angeles Police Department, Sam's behavior is considered sexual harassment.

Da' Bomb!

What's up in and out of the classrooms of Seminole County

68 • Herald Staff, Orlando, Florida • Edition, November 22, 1997

Da Bomb hears all...

Da Bomb sez check out Christmas tree sale at Brantley next week-end. They did an awesome job last year.

Winter Springs has the newest school in the county and Da Bomb sez everybody ought to check it out. Problem is, it's impossible to find unless you know exactly where you're goin'.

Some safety patrols at Lake Mary Elementary caught Da Bomb cuttin' across the lawn the other day and made sure he got his butt right back where it shoulda' been. Good job, guys.

Da Bomb sez, way to go, Crooms. It took 20 years to reinstate basketball and you've already got your first wins.

Here's the deal on freshman football, coaches. Da Bomb sez let everybody play. Winning is important on the varsity level but in ninth-grade...lot's of coaches walk off the field like Vince Lombardi after a freshman win but a lot of kids don't get a chance. You coaches know who you are.

It's 10 minutes to air time and it's getting kind of hectic in the Lake Mary Elementary School Media Center.

It's time to put on the news and about 15 kids are jammed into the production room, getting ready to go on the air.

The viewers are their biggest critics of all, so this one better go off smoothly.

It is the Lake Mary news club and their biggest critics are their friends in the audience who don't mind pointing out the occasional technical errors.

Michelle Balaguer remembers a few of the errors.

"Sometimes the sound doesn't work or we'll goof up a title," she said. "Once we run it in slow motion and once we forgot to take our watch to the anchor desk and we couldn't tell anybody the time. There were other things and our friends tell us news people aren't supposed to make mistakes."

There really haven't been many and the kids seem to almost enjoy recalling them. They are all fifth-graders last year who watched the network kickoff last year. At the end of last year, Lake Mary's fourth-graders had their chance to be the school's voice for the following year.

"We had a decision to make at the end of fourth-grade," said weathergirl Lindsay Loe. A lot of hands went up, then, when the responsibilities were explained, a lot of hands went down. The teachers picked the ones they thought were most responsible.

The teachers made some good picks and the kids are having a great time.

Each week, members of the Lake Mary Elementary School news team switch positions to take on a different aspect of television news. This is the second year for the program at LMES.

"My mom said it would be a good thing to do," Brian Garber said. "I want to be a weather man when I get older."

"I thought it would be really good when I heard about it last year," Kelly Sweet said.

"I like working with the equipment," Chris Manikowski said. "I'm pretty good at it and it looked really cool."

The club has an advisor but Amber Ladner said she and the club makes most of the decisions themselves.

"The teachers are all still learning the equipment," Amber said. "We are teaching them more than they are teaching us."

Somehow, by the time the red light on the camera goes on, everything is ready and everyone is in place when this week's anchors - Kelly Sweet and Danielle Shaurette - take their places and open the newscast at 8:30 a.m. It's time for WDDN News (Dolphin Days News) to begin.

The Lake Mary chorus opens up with a taped rendition of the school song, then anchors start off with messages from teachers and the school principal, Ms. Flanagan. Last items have been found and since Friday was Mixed Nuts Day at Lake Mary, it was announced that the class with the most participation would receive an ice cream social.

Lindsay Loe gave the weather, then a group of students came in to recite the pledge of allegiance as a shadow of the American flag went across the screen in a hi-tech move.

Finally, it was time to go to class and the kids ended with, "Have a fabulous Friday and a happy weekend."

There were no glitches as the show went off the air, so that means the kids are able to walk the campus for at least another day.

Remember, news people don't make mistakes, at least not at Lake Mary Elementary.

Beautiful music at Brantley

By RACHEL SITKOFF
Special to the Herald

After 22 years of qualifying for state festivals, awards too numerous to count, and a slew of talented singers, the Lake Brantley High School Choral Department has been recognized as one of the best music programs statewide.

"I love being part of this chorus," said senior Kelly Harpersaad. "It has been such an incredible learning experience and I have gained a newfound appreciation for music."

Choral director Ted Douce has run the department for many years. "The chorus is unique because not only are the students talented, we have a great balance among the singers in each class," said Douce.

And talented they are. On Nov. 15, Lake Mary High School hosted the annual All-State Qualifying Festival. Out of 16 Lake Brantley students who participated, 11 have received tickets to attend the All-State Competition. This includes Kim Mantel, a junior standout who qualified for the prestigious Reading Chorus, comprised of the top 100 singers in the state.

The competition held every January is the creme de la creme of Florida's singers who go through numerous practices and many cuts before they reach Tampa.

The chorus was also invited to attend the annual Epoc Candlelight Processional, held every holiday season. They will be attending it in early December. "Since the holidays are my favorite season, I especially love Candlelight: singing carols, and getting into the Disney spirit," said senior Kendra Veech.

The chorus seems busy now, yet they attend many more activities when school resumes after winter break. In February, they will travel to Lake Howell High School for the Solo-Ensemble Festival and to the District Festival in March, where the chorus will compete with local high schools in surrounding counties for a chance to travel to the state festival, usually held in Gainesville.

For the past 22 years, Douce and his chorus have received straight superior rankings at states. Douce hopes that this year will not be an exception. "I have a very talented group of kids," said Douce. "I have complete faith in them as singers. We should do extremely well at states this year."

They danced all night

Lyman High held its Homecoming last week in the school cafeteria and it was well attended by students and teachers. Unfortunately, the dance came after the Greyhound football team closed out its season with a loss.

A number of interesting developments could be in store for you in the year ahead. Some will unravel slowly, while others could occur in the blink of an eye. Variety is the spice of your life!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Dominating the conversation won't add luster to your image today. Step back a few feet and let others have the floor as well. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences that will govern you in the year ahead! Send for your Astro-Graph predictions by mailing $2 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Today, you might have a hard time keeping silent about some interesting tidbits you recently heard. Spreading rumors could injure the innocent.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Even though you may be bored to tears today while having to contend with a pal who does a lot of talking but never has anything to say, be tolerant.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Chances are slim that your co-workers will see your point of view today. If a controversial subject arises, don't get involved too deeply.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Do not use rationalization and wishful thinking as a substitute for productivity today. If you want something done, you'll have to do it physically.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Before finalizing plans today, consult with those included in the arrangements. Complications could result later if they're not in accord.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Family issues that evoke opposing points of view should be avoided today. Solutions to these disagreements will have a life of their own.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If someone goes out of his or her way to help you today, don't assume that this person knows you're appreciative. Be sure to verbalize your thank-yous.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you can't liberate the cash you require for nonessential pursuits today, it's best you face the fact and adjust your plans accordingly.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Guard against inclinations today to blame others for situations over which they have no control. You will anger your targets if they are made scapegoats.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Inside informa-

There are two magazines published down under. The larger is Australian Bridge, which puts out six big issues a year. There is a mix of material. Most is for the enthusiastic tournament player, but there are sections for the less capable.

Many Australians use five-card majors and strong no-trumps, so you won't read much about Acol (if that bothers you).

In this deal from the magazine, how would you plan the play in six and seven hearts? West leads the spade king.

South opens with a strong, artificial two clubs because he has so few losers. North uses the "waiting" response because he doesn't have a good suit to show. The rest is natural.

In seven hearts, you must assume a 3-2 diamond split. Win with dummy's spade ace, play off your two diamond winners, ruff a diamond (with the heart 10 if necessary), draw trumps and claim. (Of course, with the given layout, you must go down.)

In the small slam, though, you can afford one loser. If you play as above, you will go down with this layout. West ruffs the second top diamond, and you must later lose either a trump trick to West or a diamond trick to East, depending on West's return at trick four. Instead, after cashing the diamond ace, duck a diamond. In a moment, ruff the third diamond with dummy's heart 10, draw trumps and claim.

To subscribe for one year, send a check for $56 payable to The Bridge World to 39 West 94th Street, New York, NY 10025-7124.
