500 Condos On Drawing Board For Sanford

Two multi-million dollar condominium projects with a combined total of nearly 500 units are on the drawing boards for construction in Sanford this year.

One containing 236 units with prices ranging from $30,000 to low $50,000 is slated for Airport Boulevard while the other with 240-to-250 "luxury" units is planned on the former Meadors property on the Monroe lakefront.

Eugene Chorozy, who is joint-venturing both projects with Concurrent Construction, said ground will be broken within 45 days for the first project on a 17-acre tract off Airport Boulevard between the county's new health center and Mariner's Cove.

This two-story development, expected to cost $10 million, will have 236 one, two and three-bedroom condominium units, priced from the $30,000 to the low $50,000 range.

He said the site plan for the development is expected to be considered for approval by the city's Planning and Zoning Commission later this

Meanwhile, the planning and zoning board Thursday night recommended approval of a request from Chorozy and his partners to rezone from agriculture to multi-family residential district the 12.5 acre tract known as the Meadors property along U.S. Highway 17-92 and Terwilliger Lane.

Actual rezoning will have to receive the Sanford City Commission's approval which usually requires two public hearings over a month's time.

The rezoning received preliminary approval from the county commission. Under state law property cannot be rezoned, after annexation, to a higher density until approved by the county commission.

Chorozy said the county approved rezoning calls for 20 units to the acre which would allow development of 240 to 250 units on the tract. He added that the proposed development would be in mid-rises to hi-rises.

While Chorozy couldn't say what the value of this development will be, he told the planning and zoning board the units would be "luxury

He said the development will be built sometime in 1985. "Rezoning is the first step," he said.

Powerful Telescope Will Peer Into Past

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) - Even in an age when space flight is a monthly event, the idea that you could look through a telescope and see a candle flickering on the moon is almost unbelievable, but a private $70 million grant will give scientists an instrument to do just that.

The world's largest optical telescope will be built atop Mauna Kea volcano in Hawaii, scientists announced Thursday.

The telescope will act as a "time machine" because it will be able to see deep into space, capturing the light sent out from stars billions of years before it reaches Earth. The effect will be to see the objects as they were then - not as they are

The telescope could give astronomers their best look ever into the far reaches of the universe and could move science nearer to understanding the origin of life and the celestial bodies. The telescope will be able to look back in time to 12 billion years ago. which is nearly three-quarters of the birth of the universe," Dr. Marvin Goldberger, president of Caltech, said at a news conference.

Cattech will construct the $55 million observatory primarily with a $70 million grant from the W.M. Keck Foundation of Los Angeles, which officials called the largest private gift for a scientific project in

Caltech and the University of California will share the rest of the

The telescope on a ridge of the volcano will be four times more powerful than the 5-meter telescope on Palomar Mountain in Southern California, which is also owned and operated by Caltech and has been the premier instrument in astronomy since 1948.

It will also be nearly twice the size of the Soviet Union's 236-inch instrument, the world's largest.

President Reagan sent university officials a telegram halling the venture as one that "excites the imagination of anyone who has ever looked up at the stars in wonderment."

'It will give us new aspects about the formation of the galaxies since we'll be able to get much closer to the time when the galaxies were formed," Goldberger said. "Undoubtedly we will achieve a greater understanding of the state of the universe at its creation from this

J.B. Oke, a Caltech astronomer working on the design of the telescope, said the instrument has excit-

We will be able to really see the universe when the galaxies were forming and clusters of galaxies were forming and see how it all began and that's very exciting."

The Keck Telescope will complement a $1 billion telescope scheduled to be launched into space next year by the space shuttle. The space telescope will be able look deeper into space than any Karth-borne tele-scope, but the Keck Telescope will be able to study in greater scientific detail any objects that may have been detected in space, Goldberger said.

There are larger radio telescopes that measure radio energy, but this will be the biggest optical instrument and it will produce photographs far brighter than any other machine in the world, the scientists said.

The W.M. Keck Foundation, one of the nation's largest charitable organizations in terms of total grants, was established in 1954 by the founder of Superior Oil.

Widening Of 17-92 In Doubt

By Donna Estes Herald Staff Writer

The state Department of Transportation might take on the widening of U.S. Highway 17.92 along the Monroe lakefront in Sanford based on safety reasons, but the agency will be hard pressed to justify the project if the volume of traffic is any criteria, says Acting County Traffic Engineer Steve

And if the highway itself is expected to be shown as a cause for accidents, the proposed project is also in trouble.

Decker save the highway was designed for 10,500 vehicles per day and the 1983 traffic count - the latest on record - for the 31/2-mile stretch from French Avenue to Interstate 4 is 7,961. The section of U.S. 17-92 from the Volusia County line to I-4 is somewhat higher at 8,816.

Decker also ventures an educated guess that a survey will show few accidents along the section of highway compared to the volume of traffic or to high traffic/accident sites in the county. His department is now punching county vehicle accident statistics for

1984 Into the computer and expects to have a comprehensive report available by Wednesday or Thursday of next

The report is intended to show not only where accidents took place, but also the reasons for the accidents.

L.A. Griffin, DOT district traffic operations engineer in DeLand, said published reports of a traffic fatality on the stretch of U.S. 17-92 along the lakefront brought the highway to the department's attention.

"We are getting accident data and going to plot it to see if a pattern emerges or if traffic accidents are concentrated at a location. If a definite problem is seen, we will consider what can be done about it," Griffin said. adding it would be premature to say whether improvements will be made to the roadway. "This is just an operations study at this point."

County Engineer Bill Bush, meanwhile, said the possibility of widening the highway has been talked about for the past 25 years and never gotten beyond the discussion stage.

very many accidents there compared to the volume of traffic on 17-92" along the lakefront. He said the majority of the accidents probably were at the St. Johns River bridge and at I-4.

DOT Traffic Operations Assistant Director George Gilhooley said Thursday he has asked county lawmen for documentation showing the two-lane section of the road is unsafe. He added. however, that this request for information doesn't mean changes will be

"It's too early to say what if anything will be done," he said.

Sheriff's department spokesman John Spolski said one possibility would be to widen 17-92 to give drivers a third lane between west of the Lake Monroe Inn and I-4.

He said the third lane could be used as a turning lane or an escape route for motorists to avoid head-on collisions or a dunk in the lake.

Spolski, noting the varying speed limits from 35 mph to 55 mph, said impatient drivers frequently pass slower vehicles and run into trouble Decker said, "I really don't foresee when facing oncoming traffic.

Lake Mary To Grant Single Garbage Pickup Franchise

By Rick Brunson Herald Staff Writer

The Lake Mary City Commission is leaving the capitalist road as far as garbage collection is concerned. In fact, it intends to get off at the next possible After a year of letting garbage companies compete for the curbside trash of Lake Mary residents, the commission has decided to grant an exclusive franchise. The commission agreed 4 to 1

Thursday to have City Attorney Robert Petree and City Manager Kathy Rice draw up a contract as soon as possible. in accordance with an ordinance allowing the city to grant a franchise to one firm.

The commission has yet to select a company, but wanted to have the contract drawn up before hand so applicants will know exactly what is expected of the them. Ace Disposal Service of Orlando, one of the four companies serving 990 homes in the city, has all ready requested an exclusive franchise.

included in the ordinance are designated pick-up times and locations, as well as a stipulation that says the company cannot raise its rates unless the hike is approved by the city commission.

The ordinance and contract are expected to be legally "cleaned up" by Petree and presented for a commission vote at its next meeting. Jan. 17.

The commission appeared anxious Thursday to get the issue settled. Since January of last year, when it embarked on a free market course, the garbage question has been a source of headaches and hand-ringing for the commission.

It has fielded complaints from customers all year about poor service and unwarranted rate hikes from two of the companies.

The commission has haggled with one company in particular — Danjohn Services of Longwood - which raised its rates from $8 to $10.50 a month. in spite of a city ordinance which said all rate increases had to be approved by the commission.

The experience has clearly left a stench in the commissioners' nostrils. 'We've been a year cussing and discussing about it." Commissioner

The officials said disclosure of who was involved in the operation, the airlift's routes, or precise number of immigrants could threaten the mission's continuation. Israel has no diplomatic ties with Ethiopia or Sudan.

A Foreign Ministry official said the black Jews are being received warmly. but mayors of towns in southern and northern Israel were reportedly reluctant to receive more than a token

TEL AVIV - Israel has been airlifting month, but refused to give details of the number of immigrants because of a lack of jobs.

Levinsky said it cost $25,000 to relocate each individual. Israel is reportedly trying to raise $60 million as part of a drive in Jewish communities mostly in the United States and Canada to help defray the costs.

Falashas, whose name means "Immigration" in Amharic, Ethiopia's main language, are believed to be the descendants of the lost tribe of Dan, one of the 12 tribes of ancient Israel.

Paul Still Critical; Bomb Parts Identified

From Staff and Wire Reports

Paul Jewell of Orlando remained in critical but stable condition today following surgery at Shriners' Burns Institute in Cincinnati.

Jewell, 12, was burned over 60 percent of his body Christmas Day in a booby-trapped air hose bomb explosion. He underwent surgery Thursday to remove dead skin tissue. Similar operations are expected in the next few days but probably not before Monday, a hospital spokesman sald.

"He is still quite ill." cautioned Dr. Edward Law of the hospital. In Orlando, investigators have made scant progress in determining the bomb's origin. according to Joyce Drazen, spokesman for the Orange County Sherill's Department.

We have identified some of the brand names of the substances used in the bomb," Ms. Drazen said. But she said the identified substances "can be bought in almost any K-Mart store." The bomb fragments were to be sent today to the FBI in Washington for further analysis, she

Ms. Drazen said a total of $17,500 has been offered as reward money for information leading to the convictions of the bomber or bombers.

Of the reward money, $10,000 has been promised by G.M. Air Vent, the maker of the air pump the bomb was placed in, and $5,000 has been offered by Shop & Go. parent company of the store where the air pump was located. Private pledges amount to $1,500 and Crimeline has offered up to $1,000 for information. People who provide information to crimeline can remain anonymous, she said.

Ms. Drazen said the sheriff's department has started to distribute reward posters for the bomber.

Jewell suffered second- and third-degree burns over 60 percent of his body when a bomb, hidden in a coin-operated compressed air pump at an Orlando convenience store, exploded while he was inflating a bicycle tire.

The boy's right leg was amputated just below the knee Saturday. Doctors said there was so much dead tissue in the leg that it jeopardized his chances of survival.

Soviet Scientist Defected For Personal Reasons: Colleague

BATAVIA. III. (UPI) - A Soviet physicist, granted political asylum when he defected just before his Christmas Eve return to Russia, probably wants to stay in this country for personal rather than political reasons, an associate says.

Artem Vladimirovich Kulikov, 51, was depressed about the death of his only child, a daughter, in a traffic accident in Leningrad two years ago and probably did not seek asylum for political reasons, an associate at the Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory said Thursday.

Kulikov met with Soviet Embassy officials in Washington Thursday to assure them he was not being held against his will, sources at the immigration and Naturalization Service

Kulikov, reportedly one of the first high energy physicists from the Soviet Union to defect to this country, had been working at Fermi as part of an exchange program with other U.S. and Soviet scientists for about three months.

The exchange program is part of an agreement for cultural and scientific collaboration made between the Soviets and the United States in 1972.

Killer Executed Quietly

ANGOLA, La. (UPI) - David Dene Martin, who once told his lawyers "walk me or fry me," went quietly to Louisiana's electric chair today for killing his wife's lover and three other people.

The Pardon Board unanimously rejected Martin's final plea after hearing hours of testimony from him, his relatives, a psychiatrist and relatives of his victims.

Martin, 32, offered no final statement when he was escorted to the death chamber and strapped into the large oaken electric chair nicknamed "Gruesome Gertie."

The former church youth counselor was pronounced dead at 12:16 a.m., the second man executed in Louisiana within a week and the seventh to die in the state's electric chair since December 1983.

Martin was sentenced to die for storming inside a trailer at Bayou Blue Aug. 14, 1977, and gunning down two women and two men, including night club owner Bobby Todd, who had an affair with the condemned man's wife.

Martin, who once told his wife "I did it for you, baby," blamed the shootings on his use of the drug PCP and a series of personal tragedies, including the birth of a brain-damaged daughter.

Deaver Quits, Baker In Control

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan, who wanted his White House team to stay intact for his second term, is losing his right-hand man, top aide Michael Deaver.

Deaver, the image impresario who has had tight control over Reagan's schedule for the past four years. Thursday announced his resignation as deputy white House chief of staff.

The White House also announced Thursday that Reagan has resubmitted the nomination of Edwin Meese - his counselor and longtime adviser - as attorney general.

The two developments raised new questions about policy-making in the second Reagan term, a topic that gained new currency just two days earlier with the disclosure that Interior Secretary William Clark, another member of the "California Mafia" that accompanied Reagan to Washington in 1981, soon will head back west.

James Baker, a Texan, emerged late Thursday as the man soon to be in solid control of the White House once Deaver and Meese actually leave their jobs.

Hawkins Bill Would Create Radio Program For Soviet Jews

United Press International

Two legislators have introduced a bill to authorize Russian-language radio programming to Soviet Jews, similar to Radio Free Europe and aimed at keeping contact with dissidents and exiles.

Alarmed by what they called a dramatic dropost in Jewish emigration from the Soviet Union, Sen. Paula Hawkins, R-Winter Park, and Rep. Matthew Rinaldo, D-N.J. introduced the bill Thursday.

Radio Maccabee, to be named for Jewish historical heroes, would direct its programming to the Soviet Jewish community, particularly dissidents and activists. The new programming would fall under the auspices of Radio Liberty, which has been broadcasting information to the Soviet Union since the 1950s. Hawkins said the bill was in response to the dwindling numbers of Soviet Jews being allowed to emigrate in recent years.

'information is the vital link. We are here today to keep the lines of communication open with the Jews of the Soviet Union," said the Florida Republican.

Pledges Of Cooperation Mark Opening

Congress: Now Comes Hard Part

WASHINGTON [UPI] - The easy part is over for the 99th Congress. With the largely ceremonial opening-day business out of the way, lawmakers turn to such troublesome issues as the budget, taxes and defense spending.

For the most part, good humor and bipartisanship marked the first day of the new Congress Thursday as the Senate and House convened at midday to swear in new members, elect leaders, adopt rules and tend to other housekeeping matters.

House Speaker Thomas O'Nelll sald he and his fellow Democrats would work with President Reagan and Republicans to fight deficits, unemployment and the threat of nuclear war.

'No doubt, the public will judge the success of this Congress by our willingness to make the tough decisions to get our fiscal house in order." O'Neill said after being elected to his final term as speaker. The 72-year-old Massachusetts Democrat plans to retire at the end of his new term. Newly Installed Senate Republican leader Robert Dole told reporters that the budget was "the biggest single issue" facing Congress and a freeze on spending is "still going to be the centerpiece of any deficit plan. The House did get into a partisan squabble over the seating of two members involved in close, yet-to-be-settled election contests.

Both cases will be investigated by a House committee, but the House voted to temporarily bar Republican Rick McIntyre, the apparent winner in Indiana, while allowing Democrat Richard Stallings of Idaho to be sworn in.

Shortly after O'Neill was re-elected as speaker and made his speech to the assembled House members, he was interrupted by his 3-year-old granddaughter. Michaela, who wandered up to the podium to see him.

The center of attention in the Senate was 83-year-old Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., who was wheeled into the chamber less than a month after his cancerous left leg was amputated.

Democratic leader Robert Byrd called him a "shining light" and said Stennis had returned "under circumstances which would have greatly discouraged an average. individual.

The symbolic first number, S.1, was assigned to Dole's bill calling for cutting the deficit to 2 percent of the gross national product by 1988.

One of the first bills introduced in the House was the Equal Rights Amendment, sponsored by Rep. Peter Rodino, D.N.J.

Goodwill Expanding, Sprucing Up Collection Centers

By Jane Casselberry Herald Staff Writer

Goodwill Industries of Central Florida is expanding and sprucing up its act.

The Sanford Goodwill store at 300 E. Third St. has been recently renovated, existing collection centers are being upgrade, and new ones are being added in Seminole County, according to the Goodwill Industries of Central Florida's new president, Dennis Brice.

Renovating the Sanford store is part of the agency's desire "...to be a part of the revitalization of downtown Sanford," Brice said.

Sanford Goodwill Store manager Clayton Cole said the store has been completely painted, a new lighting system, accoustical tiles and nine paddle fans installed.

"It was kind of run down," said Cole, "but now it is more like a department store. The quality and quantity of the merchandise has been upgraded. There is a great amount of clothing for men, women and children as well as housewares and furniture." The store is open Monday through Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A new larger and more attractive trailer type collection center, which is scheduled to be set up at the Seminole Plaza in Casselberry next week, will be attended seven days a week. Brice said. He expects this to eliminate the type of problem that occurred this past weekend when an assortment of donations, including furniture, matresses, tires and other items, began to pile up around the truck placed there as a Goodwill collection center.

Brice said one reason donations pick up this time of the year is that people donate goods to get tax deductions.

'The last few days of the year we have a heavy run with people bringing in stuff fast and furious in the late evening and early morning and just dumping it," he said. "We are grateful for the donations as they are essential to our operation," he said. "Goodwill operates with the help of donations of goods by the public, which are then reworked, processed and sold through the Goodwill outlet stores to provide jobs for the disabled.

"I believe we are in the shopping center parking lots as guests and are there not only to accept donations of goods, but to keep the area cleaned up around the collection center as well. We are part of the community and everything we do will be aimed so that the community will take pride in what we are doing," Brice said.

He said Goodwill is planning to set up quite a few collection centers in various parts of Seminole County and is looking for more locations in order to ease overcrowding and make them more convenient to those who donate goods. Donors will be able to get their tax receipt on the spot, he added.

With the area's rapid growth, there is an accompanying increase in the number of disabled persons needing employment and Brice said he is excited about the potential of his organization to reach out and touch more lives of disabled persons.

Brice came here from Texas three months ago to head up the organization, which provides vocational evaluation, training, jobs, and placement for the disabled. Presently half of Goodwill's 101 employees in Central Florida are from the ranks of the disabled, but Brice said he hopes to increase the percentage of disabled employees.

Founded in 1902 in Boston, Mass. Goodwill is the oldest and largest private non-profit rehabilitative organization in the world, he said.

Denied Free Food, Man Tries Paying With Marijuana; No Deal

A clerk at an Altamonte Springs food mart reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that he was assaulted by a man who asked if he could pay for merchandise with marijuana.

The clerk told deputies the man entered Texaco Food Mart on Douglas Road at state Road 436, at about 2 a.m. today and wandered around for about a hour. The clerk refused the man's request that he give him items he selected. When he also declined the man's offer of $10 and some pot in payment, man attempted to jump over the counter and threatened the derk, a sheriff's report said.

The clerk grabbed a club and the man's female companion. possibly his wife, tried to restrain him, the report said.

When the clerk attempted to call the sheriff's department the man pushed the disconnect button on the phone. The woman convinced the suspect to leave and they went north on Douglas Road, the report said.

Deputies have the name of a possible suspect, but no arrest has been maked, the report said.

County To Provide Water, Sewer Service To Portion Of Lake Mary

The Lake Mary City Commission has given tentative approval to contracting with Seminole County for water and sewage service for residents on the southern edge of the city. The agreements were initiated in August when the county purchased the Greenwood Lakes Utilities sewage and water facility for $6.3 million. At that time, Greenwood's owner, Sumner Kramer, said the only way he would sell It would be if the Lake Mary commission approved an expansion of the facility's service area. The county's purchase was contingent on Lake Mary's decision.

The plant is not in Lake Mary but it has the capability to service the area of the city south of Lake Mary Boulevard, west of Lake Emma Road and east of Interstate 4. Only six residents are in the proposed expansion area but County Administrative Assistant Cindy Wright said the contracts provide service for the future growth of the area.

While the commission approved expansion into graphing a marijuana plant Lake Mary, it is still negotiating with Seminole which was growing in an up- County over how the expansion will affect revenues and who will be responsible for laying pipes in the new service area.

In the contracts, Lake Mary retains the exclusive right to serve the area with water. The city will buy water from the county wholesale at 52 cents per 1,000 gallons and sell it for $1.93. The city wants to charge $504 in connection fees for residents to hook up to the Greenwood plant, but county has yet to agree with that figure.

Lake Mary will be able to charge the fees until its own water plant is operational within a year. Construction on the $1.4 million plant on Rinehart Road is scheduled to begin in February. It is expected to be completed in December.

The county has agreed to provide sewer service for the south area free of charge, with Lake Mary charging $1.50 per 1,000 gallons. The county also has contracted to treat sewage from percolation ponds at the Forest mobile home park in Lake Mary.

The perc ponds, acquired free of charge from First Federal Savings in Loan in Orlando, have been a headache for the commission and the residents of the park. Residents have complained that every time it rains, the ponds overflow, flooding nearby mobile homes with smelly effluent.

Ms. Wright told the commission the county would treat the sewage but may be limited by the plant's capacity to the number of ponds it can

The contracts will be taken with Lake Mary's blessing to the county's Department of Environmental Services. The agreements will then be sent to the Seminole County Commission for final approval or disapproval by Feb. 1, she

Day Of Reckoning

The dreaded day of reckoning has come for the Israelis, whose economy is out of control and, indeed, bankrupt.

During the last 18 months, Israel's annual inflation rate has leaped from a shocking 100 percent to an incredible 1,200 percent. The bloated $23 billion budget is being covered largely by printing presses that have made the shekel among the most worthless currency on earth.

Israel's disintegn 'ng economy has been made tolerable for the people by the narcotic of an elaborate indexing system that grants automatic cost-of-living pay raises tied to the inflation rate and large-scale government subsidies for basic commodities from food to Fundamental among the reasons for Israel's economic disaster is socialism, with government control or intervention in nearly every aspect of life from housing to farming. We observe also the results of undisciplined appetite in a democracy where vote-counting politicians court office with government handouts. And, finally, Israel's wars of survival have necessitated a military burden that consumes 25 percent of the gross national product, quadruple that of the United States.

Israel's weak two-party government, lacking a national mandate and in office little more than three months, has addressed the crisis timidly. Instead of cutting the budget by $1.3 billion as announced in September, the Cabinet thus far has squeezed out only $300 million. Prime Minister Shimon Peres, reluctant to jeopardize his rising popularity in the polls, has done little more than pay lip service to economic reform, let alone discuss the hard necessity for austerity.

As a consequence, Israel has alreay consumed most of the $2.6 billion in American aid for the fiscal year that began three months ago. Instead of biting the proverbial bullet, the Israelis are asking Washington for $800 million more right away and an additional $4.1 billion for flacal 1986, or a total of about $5 billion.

The additional aid now being requested adds up to about $6,000 for every family in Israel. Such a gift is politically unpalatable for most Americans at a time when the U.S. deficit is $200 billion and drastic cuts are being contemplated in numerous federal

Quite correctly, Secretary of State George Shultz has advised Israel that additional aid will depend on real economic reform and belt-tightening. The discouraging response to this from Israel was the mean-spirited statement of Gad Yaakobi, minister of economic planning: "We don't need any sermons, message or talking papers," he said. "Israel does not need moral preaching..."

Secretary Shultz has wisely refrained from prescribing to the Israelis what they must do to be saved, except in general terms. Most Israelt economiats agree that Jerusalem must end indexing and subsidies, enforce a $3 billion budget reduction, and impose monetary discipline by pegging the shekel to

The United States does not help itself or Israel by making its staunch little Middle Eastern ally an economic vassal. The latest request for what amounts to an American subsidization of Israeli socialism and extravagance should be refused outright and, indeed, future financial aid should be scaled down to zero. U.S. assistance to Israel shoud be confined to military materiel.

Acerbic Israeli reaction to the United States as being a hard-hearted banker is already poisoning the reservoir of good will in this country. The best way for Washington to stop that is to quit being a banker.

OPEC Faces Little Price Compliance

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Reports filtering out of effect will this have on the economy? Geneva suggest OPEC plans to enforce production quotas more vigorously, to the extent of hiring outside auditors to check production and shipping records.

But no one really believes this will work. In a part of the world where baksheesh is a staple of life, only a fool would accept the tale that auditors and accountants will be shown or will report accurate figures in the face of multimillion dollar bribes. The latest strategy of Sheikh Yamani is born out of desperation, not strength.

Thus even if OPEC continues to publish a benchmark price, it will be honored almost exclusively in the breach.

The imminent breakdown of OPEC pricing discipline raises two major questions. First, how will that affect the price of oil, and second, what

In the most extreme scenario, oil prices could return to pre-1973 levels in real terms, which means about $10 a barrel. However, we would find this extremely unlikely. At $10 a barrel, virtually all source of oil discovered in the past 10 years would be unprofitable.

Furthermore, countries that were not utterly dependent on day-to-day cash flow would simply shut down operations at such low prices and wait for the inevitable rebound. Such stories, while they are now beginning to circulate, are little more than headlinemongering.

Instead, it is much more likely that oil prices will twist lower erratically. The effect on the economy is more ambiguous, but in general will not provide the boom that traditional economic analysis would lead one to believe. The last - and only - time that oil prices fell sharply was at the beginning of 1983.

This was followed shortly by a boom of major proportions in those sectors of the economy not dependent on the oil industry. However, that surge in the economy was due to a 13 percent growth in the money supply, the Reagan tax cuts, and a soaring stock market, not lower oil prices. For 1985 no such stimuli are anywhere on the horizon. The Fed could decide that this decline in oil prices was the long-awaited final break in inflationary expectations, and permit interest rates to fall another 2 to 3 percent.

In that case, of course, the boom would resume in full force. However, it is much more likely that the Fed will remain preoccupied with the domestic budget and international trade deficits, and keep interest rates near current levels even if oil prices were to move lower.

Bias Teaching

While college students are home over the holidays, parents would do well to inquire into what the young people are learning. In some cases, parents will be unpleasantly surprised.

I thought of this in reading an article entitled "Princeton's Blased Curriculum" published in Prospect magazine, a journal for alumni of Princeton University.

The author, Dinesh f Souza, says that "It is nearly impossible for students to escape the partisan ideology which pervades the vast majority of courses in the humanities and social sciences at Princeton." He quotes author and economist Irving Kristol as saying that the Princeton faculty is "monolithically liberal." And Mr. DiSouza states, "I am hard-pressed to identify five conservative professors at Princeton."

Students at Princeton, who are interested in nearing more than one side of an issue, want more from the university. To this end, a group of Princeton students have founded The Princeton Tory , a magazine of news and analysis which discuss academic issues from a responsible conservative prospective.

Mr. d'Souza charges that "Princeton professors promote socialism sometimes as an ideology, but more often as a tendency: students are counseled to move away from free enterprise and toward a planned economy. Princeton professors do not exalt the Soviet Union as a political ideal, but all criticism of it must be carefully qualified to avoid fueling 'Cold War Tensions,' and arguments proving that the U.S. and the Soviet Union are 'moral equals' are regarded as insightful."

Mr. d'Souza goes into great detail to substantiate his allegations. He reviews the texts required in the classroom. His comments on the methods of the faculty ideologists are especially instructive. "A professor," he observes, "will stack his course with textbooks promoting leftiat ideology, and then require, for balance,' a single text purporting to represent the conservative or classical liberal view; but the representative for anti-socialist thought will be some ridiculous or disagreeable character."

Clearly, President Brown of Princeton has a lot to account for. An accounting is owed to students, parents and benefactors of the university. However, it ian't Princeton alone that has a biased curriculum or a faculty dominated by left-leaning academics. This type of ideologue-dominated, herd education is commonplace at a wide variety of public and private colleges and universities.

Expanding Secrecy

WASHINGTON (NEA) - The Defense Department has devised a plan to deal with disclosures that it habitually purchases defective weapons at inflated costs.

But the Pentagon isn't necessarily going to improve its procurement policies and practices to ensure that any future weapons it buys are reliable and reasonably priced. Instead, it is attempting to solve the problem by severely restricting public access to previously unclassified information about its chronic incompetence. All sensitive information under the department's control already is protected by official accurity classifications such as "confidential," "secret" and "top secret." In addition, "for official use only" and other extra-legal categories enjoy wide popularity within the Pen-

But even those classifications don't provide sufficient protection for a department whose penchant for buying inoperable, overpriced weapons has become a national scandal.

In an apparent attempt to avoid future embarrassment, the department has established a new security classification system, not sanctioned by any law. It is for use "when there is a need to restrict dissemination beyond the limits provided by application of security clearance and 'need-to-know' controls."

A recently issued departmental directive says, "All unclassified DoD technical documents shall be assigned distribution statements A. B. C. D. E. F or X." Only data in the "A" category is eligible for public release. Material in all other categories can be disseminated only within the department, to other federal agencies or to military contractors.

Covered by the new directive is virtually every form of activity within the Defense Department.

Similarly, the new security classification program is designed to protect information in management reviews, records of contract performance evaluation or other advisory documents evaluating programs of contractors."

Because the Pentagon has linked the new security measures to the provisions of a federal law restricting the export of critical materials, violations of the directive "may constitute" a violation punishable by prison terms of up to 10 years and fines of as much as $250,000.

Thus, the new policy almost certainly will have a chilling effect on Pentagon whistle-blowers who have disclosed evidence of faulty design, shoddy workmanship and inadequate field testing of many major weapons systems.

At the same time, many academic analysts, private watchdog organizations, journalists and even members of Congress could be denied access to data needed to assess the department's performance in properly equipping its troops.

The new directive is described merely as an effort to "update policies and procedures for marking technical documents" but it obviously goes much further by suppressing information that ought to be made public.

VIEWPOINT

Effects Of Bad Tax Plans

In this session of tax reform, our leaders in Washington would do well to look to the history of taxation, particularly in New England. The economic effects of a misguided tax policy are never fully realized until years after it is implemented. Over time, the consequences of bad tax policy, that is, high taxes, are vast.

For New England, which has few natural resources except timber, a few seaports and some of the nation's better colleges. manufacturing is critically important. It would seem logical for state governments to maintain an aitractive business climate. But tax policy in New England, after World War II, zapped business to pay social programs and larger governments. During this period, biannual legislatures became fulltime bureaucracies. The dollars that could have been reinvested into New England's industry flew out of the region to the South and the

Instead of tax reform directed at encouraging business investment, liberal politicians prescribed increases to alleviate the symptoms of the sick industries. While government programs battled unemployment, poverty and plant closings, business got sicker. The result was that the problem got worse. From 1968-1974, New England lost over 250,000 manufacturing jobs. Massachusetts citizens nicknamed their state "taxachusetts," and New England's cities became some of the poorest in the country. By the 1970s, the region which had started the American industrial revolution had lost fully half of its industry.

Things began to improve in the early 1980s. Armed with a more lenient attitude towards business. and with new tax laws, the New England states fostered new businesses. But this time, the jobs came from high tech companies, and not the traditional smokestack plants.

In Boston, where there are over 65 colleges, business latched onto the major universities to spawn new computer, biotech and defense companies.

But the high tech companies have not solved all the problems for New England. State governments are still too large and taxes still too high. Some cities which were built around old textile mills remain in poverty. Many jobs in New England are now dependent on the defense industry. and thereby on the whims of liberal Congressmen who trige deep cuts in defense spending.

When Congress reconvenes in January, let's hope they consider the effects of taxation.

Chiles: Majority Leader In 2 Years?

WASHINGTON some Items from my notebook:

- Sen. Lawton Chiles, D.Fla., hasn't given up his hope of unseating Sen. Robert Byrd, D.W.Va., as Democratic Party leader in the Senate. Though Byrd trounced him decisively, 31-11, in a recent vote. Chiles has two years to marshal support, instead of the single week he had this time.

Insiders note that Chiles earned a lot of good will last fall by campaigning and fund raising for colleagues who were running for re-election, though he himself wasn't. My sources think Chiles can beat Byrd in '86 - and if things go as the Democrats are hoping, that would make Chiles majority leader.

-in past columns. I have reported on the fanaticism and savagery of Ethiopia's Marxist dictator. Col. Mengistu Haile Mariam, who has picked the country as clean as the bones of a slaughtered calf. He has diverted supplies to his army and has squandered money for political hoopla while his people starve.

Mengitsu has blamed everyone except himself. particularly the United States, for the disaster he is presiding over. He has escaped the international reprehension he deserves, in part, because he has been able to operate in the shadows.

Even biographical details on Mengistu are sparse, beyond the obvious fact that he's diminutive (5-foot-4) and apparently a dedicated Marxist. U.S. intelligence profiles also agree that he is ruthless and humorless, that he probably has taken part personally in executions and that he has used chemical weapons against his own people.

I had my reporters Dale Van Atta and Scott Barrett review the best U.S. intelligence available on Ethiopia — a series of secret and top-secret CIA and Pentagon reports. The documents are full of caveats, with words like "probably" and "most likely" betraying how speculative the information is. Three top-secret reports referred to particularly hot "intercepted messages," but they gave precious little hard data on what's really going on in Ethiopia.

The intelligence agencies know, in general, that Mengistu, like Josef Stalin 50 years earlier, has waged a disastrous. Ideologically inflamed campaign against the productive farming techniques that might have reduced. If not prevented, the human cost of the current famine.

And the CIA has reported that many peasants" have joined the Eritrean separatist rebellion, led at first by "landlords and former aristocrats," because they believe Mengistu's land-reform policies have jeopardized their livelihoods and their food supply

The intelligence reports agree that the rebellions in Eritrea and in Tigre provinces are costing the Mengistu government at least $420 million a year.

The agencies also agree that the Eritreans are currently winning or holding their own, but that Mengistu, wary of a nationalist coup by fellow officers, has shown no sign of being open to negotiations.

Reagan administration officials used the most extravagant intelligence estimates available and put the cost at $150 million. An administration critic - using the same intelligence data - put the cost at $25 million, much of which was paid for by the Soviet bloc.

As for possible Soviet involvement in Mengistu's alleged use of chemical weapons, a CIA report is characteristically wishy-washy: "There are numerous allegations of Soviet participation in the planning and supervision of chemical operations. but confirmatory evidence is fragmentary."

scored on an offensive rebound and dropped in a layup and a free throw for 11 first half points as the Raiders took a 53-34 lead over the outmanned visitors.

SCC, which placed eight players in double figures, opened with a flurry as Kenny Edwards, who led all scorers with 24 points, ignited a 13-2 opening blitz.

The lead ballooned to 30-14 before PARB regrouped behind Michael "No Relation" Jordan and James Hamilton to run off 10 points and pare the advantage to 30-24. The Raiders, however, turned it on the remainder of the half, outscoring Patrick, 23-10, to turn the game into a shambles and post their 10th victory in 16 games.

"After a two-week holiday it's good to come back with a game like this," said freshman Rob Brantley who scored 12 points and had two crowd-pleasing dunks. "We still have to work on our fouling shooting (12 of 24) and develop some killer instinct but we have the capability of being real good."

Thursday's debacle also introduced 6-5 Brent Baird as a point guard. "I'd never played the point before," said the former Pine Hills Christian All America. "I really enjoyed it. We wanted to get the second half off to a good start and we did."

Baird took over leading the attack when the Raiders lost Mike Landell to a knee intuly and Mike Tolbert to grades.

Tayne enjoyed Baird's production, too. The Sanford sophomore scored 10 points on a variety of Jump shots, handed out eight assists and grabbed eight rebounds. He also looked comfortable running SCC's transition game which continually created three-on-one or four-on-two opportunities against the slower and older servicemen.

Greg "Skywalker" Bates, who also had two spectacular dunks and eight boards, added 16 points and was impressed with Bryant's passing and scoring. "Kiki made a real good pass on the out of bounds dunk," said Bates, who led SCC with three steals. "On the second one, I wasn't trying to dunk but then I ended up over the rim, so I did.

Gordon Is Too Good For Tribe

Bridgette's 28 Points, Crucial Turnover Propel Lady Bulldogs

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Seminole's defense did everything it could in an attempt to Impede All America center Bridgette Gordon. But the Irrepressible DeLand senior came through with a fine all-around performance that included 28 points, 11 rebounds, four assists and five steals.

While Gordon's greatness kept the Lady Bulldogs in the game 33-31, going into the fourth all the way, it was a pair of free quarter. throws by senior guard Robyn Swartz that provided the winn- jumper to open the final period ing margin as second-ranked and tie the score at 33-33. (4A) DeLand edged the fourthranked Lady Seminoles, 44-43. Thursday night in Five Star Conference action at Seminole High before 300 fans.

'She had a super game." Seminole coach Ron Merthie said of Gordon. "We did everything we could defensively. She's just a great player."

The loss, Seminole's second in a row, dropped the Lady Tribe to 10-3 overall and 3-1 in the Five Star. DeLand improved to 8.2 overall and 3-1 in the conference. That leaves Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots all alone in first place with a 5-0 conference mark.

"It's still early," Merthie said. "We still have two conference games with Brantley and one more with DeLand and Lake Mary.

DeLand got off to a quick start Thursday night as it took a 6-2 lead in the early going of the first quarter. Seminole senior Mona Benton didn't start because of a slight hamstring pull, but she came in with 2:50 left in the first quarter and hit a bank shot that tled the score at 10-10. Shawn Lane's layup, on an assist from Swartz, gave DeLand a 12-10 lead at the end of the quarter.

Gordon opened the second quarter with a three-point play that gave DeLand a 15-10 lead. Seminole battled back behind the outside shooting of Temika Alexander and the inside play of Catherine "Kitty" Anderson to take a 20-19 lead with 1:10 left in the half. The Tribe reeled off three more points to take a 23-19 lead but DeLand pulled within 23-21 at the half on Gordon's jumper.

The third quarter was back and forth for the entire eight minutes. But Seminole managed to maintain its two point lead, Gordon knocked in another Anderson then hit a layup and Benton slithered in for a layup that gave the Lady Seminole's a 37-33 lead. DeLand came back to tie it at 39-39 with 2:30 left and the Lady Bulldogs took back the lead, 42-41, on Gordon's three point play with 2:18 remaining.

Benton then made a nice move and banked in two points to give Seminole a 43-42 lead with 2:01 left to play. Seminole kept up the defensive pressure but Alexander was whistled for a foul, sending Swartz to the line for a one and one with 1:54 remain-

The senior point guard swished both shots for a 44-43 lead. DeLand, which made just 1 of 7 free throws in the first three quarters, made 5 of 5 from the line in the fourth period.

Seminole then turned the ball over with 1:45 left and DeLand went into the stall. The Lady Bulldogs ran the clock down to 29 seconds before turning the ball over to the Tribe.

Seminole called time with 21 seconds left to set up the last shot. Seminole worked the ball around the perimeter until Benton drove to the hoop with 10 seconds left. But DeLand's defense closed off Benton's lane to the basket and Benton threw the ball away trying to get it out of trouble. The Bulldogs then took over with two seconds left and ran out the clock before Seminole could foul them.

Marlette Turns To Raines For Boost

DeLand's highly regarded Bulldogs come to town tonight and Seminole coach Chris Marlette is pulling out all the stops for this crucial Five Star Conference encounter. You may have noticed several Marlette has been getting most of his team's scoring from Kenny Gordon (14.3), James Rouse (13.30 and Rod Henderson was blown out by Apopka Wednesday, gets back into action tonight against Seabreeze. Coach Willie Richardson's Ram have had trouble getting Daryl Merthie into the offense.

Merthic is joined by Donald Grayson and Jeff Reynolds along with Matt Newby and Ray Hartsfield in the starting five. Grayson had a good first quarter against the Blue Darters and Reynolds was the most consistent Ram with 14 points and seven boards. Hartsfield tossed In 18 but most came during "garbage time."

Double Hat Tricks Drill Kings

There was a time when hat tricks were commonplace for the Minnesota North Stars. But this year, the team that used to boast one of the NHL's most potent offenses has had trouble scoring goals, let alone hat tricks. Until Thursday night.

Keith Acton and Tom McCarthy each fired in three goals Thursday night to power the North Stars to an 8-3 victory over the Los Angeles Kings 'We've had a terrible time scoring goals," said Minnesota Coach Glen Sonmor. "I kept saying we would start scoring because that's this team's history. We had hoped Tommy Mac (McCarthy) would be the tonic we needed and it looks like he will be. The hat tricks were the first of the season for Minnesota.

It was also the third career hat trick for both Acton and McCarthy, who each also had an assist in the game. Neal Broten and Mark Napier each collected three assists as the North Stars erased an early 2-0 Kings lead.

MIAMI (UPI) - The Pittsburgh Steelers' young defense reminds Don Shula of the old Steel Curtain. He just hopes history isn't ready to repeat itself yet.

"(Steelers Coach) Chuck Noll had great defenses in all those Super Bowl years," Shula said Thursday. "He's got a young group now going in that same direction. I just hope they're not ready for us yet."

The Steelers will have to grow up in a hurry to shackle Dan Marino and Shula's Miami Dolphins offense Sunday in the AFC Championship game. Marino broke passing records for touchdowns and yardage, acrobatic receivers Mark Clayton and Mark Duper combined for 144 regular-season catches worth 2,695 yards and 26 touchdowns and the offensive line has allowed just 14 sacks. The Pittsburgh defense gave Denver's

Merriweather led the Steelers with 98 regular-season tackles and 11th-year strong safety Donnie Shell had seven interceptions A blitzing defense isn't the only different look the Steelers will show from their last meeting with Miami. They have a new quarterback in Mark Malone, wide receiver Louis Lipps is healthy and running backs Pollard and Walter Abercrombie have prospered over the last five games.

The Steelers, who won the AFC Central with a 9-7 record, have won three straight for the first time this year.

'(David) Woodley started against us, but he got hurt and Malone came on." Shula said. "He's established himself as a quarterback since then. Lipps didn't play and Abercrombic wasn't playing much then.' Marino completed 16 of 24 passes for 226 yards, two touchdowns and one interception in the last game against the Steelers. That was a homecoming for Marino, who grew up in Pittsburgh and starred for the University of Pittsburgh before the Dolphins drafted him in 1983.

"It's the AFC Championship game and of racing Tom Bowersox, Emerson and Fraher went to work and currently have 68 greyhounds ready to compete for top honors.

Emerson and Zodiac Kennel's proudest moment thus far came on SOKC's opening night last Wednesday when "Crime Pays" did just that in coming from off the pace to win the 50th Inaugural Feature after going off at 15-1.

Without a doubt, that was my proudest moment so said Emerson in reflecting upon the 50th Inaugural Feature triumph. "Suddenly I'm realizing I've enjoyed myself for 20 years betting the dogs and now I'm in the position I ve always wanted to be in.

"Now, we hope to keep running good and getting better. We've got a lot of 'hounds running now and we're getting some more ready to go to post."

For now, however, Emerson's Zodiac Kennel has been the talk of SOKC's opening day performances.

"They sure are running right now," Bowersox said. 'In fact, they're flying. Zodiac has good people involved with the greyhounds and we're wishing them to rather than catering.

PICK BIX AND BIG 9 - The return of the exciting and high-paying "Pick Six" with a couple of modifications and introduction of the "Big Q" have gone over rather well during SOKC's first few

McEnroe, Connors Face Off

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — It'll be a rematch of the world's two best tennis players tonight in the $1.3 million Challenge of Cham-

John McEnroe faces Jimmy Connors with the victor advancing to Saturday's championship against Ivan Lendl. Yannick Noah, Guillermo Vilas or Vitas Gerulaitis. ESPN will carry the McEnroe-Connors' match on a tape-delayed basis at 10 p.m.

'This isn't a Master's or a Wimbledon but I'm going out there to do the best I can." McEnroe said Thursday night after beating Jimmy Arias, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, and setting up the match with Connors.

Connors, who downed Johann Krick, 6-1, 6-3, commented, "I think every time we play we go out to try to beat each other to McEnroe found himself down one set and 0.2 in the second set against Arias but he broke Arias' serve three out of the next five games to take the second set and establish a momentum that Arias was never able to reverse.

"I played better at the start tonight than I did yesterday (when he beat Krick), but Arias played well in the beginning," McEnroe said. "He surprised

Noah defeated Lendl, 7-6, 6-7, 6-1, and put him into a threeway tie in the battle for one of two spots in the championship match of the eight-man round robin tournament.

With one point awarded for each set win and a point for each match victory, Noah, Lendl and Gullermo Vilas each have four points and Vitas Gerulaitis has three points.

The leader after today's round advances to the final against the winner of the other group that includes McEnroe, Connors, Arias and Krick.

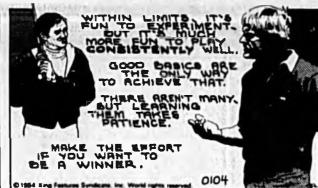

Going into late Thursday night matches against Arias and Krick respectively, McEnroe their group at 3 points each.

Enjoy Gift Poinsettias For Seasons To Come

If you received a potted poinsetta for Christmas. your enjoyment of this attractive plant needn't end with the holidays. Don't throw it away! With a little extra care (and a bit of luck) a gift poinsettia's life can be extended for many seasons

All too often, we give up on potted poinsettias once they've lost their colorful bracts. It's relatively easy to save poinsettias from one Christmas to the next by planting them outdoors in you landscape.

Poinsettias are especially sensitive to extremes of heat and cold, as well as sudden temperature changes. While you are enjoying your potted specimen in your home, keep your plant away from hot air vents, cold windows, and doorways where temperatures fluctuate rapidly. Avoid overwatering. A thorough soaking about once a week should be sufficient. And, keep the poinsettia in a brightly lighted area - never in direct sun.

Once your poinsettia starts to fade after the holidays, you can prepare it for the big move outdoors. You'll have to hold the plant in a protected area until the danger of frost has passed. During this period, the poinsettia should be allowed to dry and become dormant. Water it only occasionally - just enough to keep it from completely drying out.

When you're ready to plant it outdoors, you should carefully consider its placement relative to the amount of light it will receive in the area where you want to set it. Poinsettlas are "short day" plants. This menas they will set flower buds in the fall only if the daily period of light they receive is relatively short. If you plant it where it's exposed to extra light from a porch, window, or street lights, it may never bloom. In tate winter or early spring, after the blooming period is over and the danger of frost has passed, all poinsettias should be pruned back to within 12 to 18 inches off the ground. If by chance they've frozen, you may have to cut even lower to get into live wood. To avoid legginess and insure compact plants at flowering time.

you'll need to prune several times during the growing season. Each time new growth reaches a length of 12 inches, cut or pinch it back, leaving four leaves on each shoot. This should be' continued until about Sept. 10, but no later. Poinsettias begin to set buds as the days become shorter, pruning after September 10th may reduce flower production.

Friday, Jan. 4, 1985-9A

Poinsettias grow in a wide range of soils sand, muck or clay. But, they do need fertilizer. Apply a complete, balanced mix, such as a 6-6-6. three times a year. Begin when growth starts in the spring, again in June, and finally in late fall after the bracts begin to show color. This last application will help promote large, showy, colorful bracts. Apply about one-and-a-half pounds of 6-6-6 per 100 square feet of garden area each time you feed them.

Other gift plants you may have received, such as azalea, begonia, or chevsanthemum can last well into the New Year, if given a little tender care, too. The three most important things to pay attention to are temperature, water, and light.

Most flowering house plants need a fairly cool. but not chilling, temperature. Keep these plants away from any heat source. However, be careful not to expose the plants to cold drafts. A prolonged chill or sudden change in temperature will cause some plants to lose their leaves.

Be careful with the watering. Your enthusiasm to take good care of your gift plant can easily lead to overwatering. This cause more damage to plants . an just about anything else. Remember. roots need air, as well as water. Too much water can literally drown plant roots. Apply just enough to thoroughly soak the soil. Then, don't water again until the soil is almost dry. If the soil feels damp, don't add water.

Be sure your plant gets enough light. Some plants do well in artificial light, but most do well with as much natural light as possible. An east window is best so the plants catch the early morning sun. With insufficient light, the blossoms won't last long and the plant will begin

After the danger of frost has passed, any of these gift plants, just like the poinsettia, may be planted outdoors in the garden to give you many seasons of blooming delight.

Keep in mind these basic facts about how temperature, water and light can affect your holiday gift plant's health, and you should be able to keep them looking attractive for some time to come. Happy New Year and Happy Gardening!

Paraguay Rejects U.S. Charges Military Involved In Drug Trade

ASUNCION, Paraguey (UPI) - Paraguay has angrily denied allegations that its military is involved in cocaine trafficking and said a massive shipment of cocaine-refining chemicals seized by customs will be destroyed.

The chemicals have become a diplomatic sore spot for

Washington and Asuncion.

The New York Times Thursday quoted unidentified U.S. officials as saying there were suspicions that the Paraguayan military may be involved in drug trafficking. Paraguayan Interior Minister Sabino Montanaro rejected the charges as "irresponsible."

Paraguayan customs agents seized more than 49,000 gallons of ether, acetone and hydrochloric acid - enough to refine 8 tons of cocaine from coca leaves, roughly 10 percent of all the cocaine that enters the United States in a year, The Times said.

Pope Asked To Visit S. Africa

ROME (UPI) - The Rev. Jesse Jackson is urging Pope John Paul II to visit South Africa to inspire anti-apartheid forces and "help bring about a more just society."

Jackson, a Baptist minister, made the appeal during a 25-minute private audience with the pontilf Thursday at which they spoke mainly about racial segregation in South

John Paul is expected to make a pastoral visit to southern Africa this summer, but Vatican sources have said he probably will not go to South Africa because of the racial tension.

Jackson, who was granted a visa to visit South Africa this month but changed his plans, is applying for a new visa to attend the enthronement Feb. 4 of Desmond Tutu, winner of the 1984 Nobel Peace Prize, as the first black Anglican bishop of Johannesburg.

The civil rights leader also talked to the pope about famine in Africa, fighting in Central America, nuclear disarmament and the U.S. Catholic bishops' draft letter on NATIONAL REPORT: The second of two storms blamed for 27 deaths blanketed the Tennessee Valley with a foot of snow today, triggering "countless" accidents, trapping students in snowbound schools and filling shelters with stranded motorists. At least 18 deaths have been attributed to the snowstorm that spread from Texas Into Tennessee Thursday. Icy Midwest weather this week has killed nine people. More than 100,000 Michigan homes and offices were without power for a fifth day and some could stay in the dark until snow blasted western Tennessee a.m., sunset 5:42 p.m. Thursday and up to 9 inches fell in northeast Arkansas, southeast Missouri and southern Illinois. Forecasters called for snow today from Arkansas to Illinois and south to Alabama. Freezing rain, mixed with some snow, was expected from West Virginia to New England. In Memphis, 10 inches of snow fell in seven the Memphis International Airport, most businesses closed and police officials said they were overwhelmed by the number of traffic accidents. Memphia schools closed early Thursday. But Johnnie B. Watson, assistant school superintendant, said buses were unable to reach 89 children at four schools. Police said some of the students remained stranded Thursday night.

WEATHER

AREA FORECAST: Today cloudy, breezy and turning cooler. Scattered showers ending by afternoon. Afternoon high in the 60s. Wind northwest 15 to 20 mph. Tonight variable cloudiness breezy and cold. Finnish Troops Hunt For Wayward Cruise Missile HELSINKI, Finland (UPI) - Border troops are searching in almost perpetual darkness and frigid weather for signs of a Soviet cruise missile believed to have crashed near an ice-covered Finnish lake a week ago.

So far the troops, using helicopters, snow scooters and planes, have found nothing. They are hunting for an object that disappeared from radar last Friday near Lake Inari, across the border from Soviet nuclear bases at Kola

We have not found anything to show what it is," said Maj. Kari Saksela, spokesman for the Finnish border guards.

The search was to continue today for the missile reportedly launched from a Soviet submarine in the Barents Sea off Kola Peninsula that flew over Norway before crashing near the ice-capped Lake Inari in Finnish Lapland.

In Oslo Thursday, Norwegian Prime Minister Kaare Willoch said the missile accidently strayed off course, but Foreign Minister Svenn Stray said the government was delivering a protest note in Moscow against the violation.

"I assume it was an accident, but it is nevertheless serious when an exercise takes place in such a way that Norwegian territory is violated," Willoch said. "What has happened demonstrates how vulnerable this area is and how important it is that our defense are

Cruise missiles - fitted with nuclear or conventional warheads - skim close to the ground to avoid detection.

According to some military experts, the missile could have been a Shaddock, a 1963 model capable of carrying a nuclear warhead of 350 kilotons, or 27 times the strength of the bomb dropped on Hiroshima.

Radar operators in northern Finland say the missile entered Finnish airspace from Norway at a point where the two countries border the Soviet Union. The missile disappeared from radar screens as it passed over Lake Inari.

"After it had disappeared from Norwegian territory, a bang was heard from Lake lnart and it is believed that the missile crashed there," a Norwegian Defense staff spokesman said.

The sea-launched missile was flying at 3,000 to 4,500 feet and is 32 feet long with a range of 125 to 250 miles, the Norwegian defense ministry

In Stockholm, Swedish Foreign Minister Lennart Bodstrom said cruise missile "overflights are a violation of territorial rights and against neutrality. It is our duty to attack it.

"Many countries, not the least of which Sweden, have warned about about the dangers of mobile cruise missiles." he said.

Weather Stalls Search

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) - A search team today spent a third day waiting for weather to clear in the Bolivian Andes so it could climp to where an Eastern Airlines plane crashed with 29 people aboard.

Eight Americans - Including Marianne Davis, the wife of the U.S. ambassador to Paragua, Arthur Davis Jr. were among the 29 on the Tuesday night flight.

U.S. Embassy Charges d'Affaires William Walker said officials remained hopeful there were survivors but that the possibility diminished each day snow and rain delayed the search.

Bolivian Air Force pilots who have flown over the crash site - a snow-covered slope on Bolivia's Illimani Mountain about 50 miles southeast of La Paz - said they saw no signs of life.

Housing Sales Down 10.6%, Worst In 3 Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) - New house sales dropped 10.8 percent in November, the most severe setback in nearly three years, as the average price jumped $6,300 to $101,000, the Commerce Department says.

The decline brought the annual rate of new house sales to 591,000 based on November results, the second slowest pace of 1984 after August.

The figures were adjusted to compensate for the seasonal variations in sales. Before such adjustment the drop was an even greater 25.5 percent.

The sales slowdown occurred despite lower mortgage rates. Analysts had been expecting the dropoff in sales to occur even sooner, however, and had been surprised at September's enormous 16.5 percent increase in sales, followed by a revised 0.9 percent advance in October.

Pent-up demand for new houses, which sustained sales through most of 1984, has been waning and even improvements in the mortgage rates of more than 2 percentage points since summer have not been enough to rekindle the interest of potential buyers.

The average price had shown a rare drop In October, going from $100,900 to $94,700. But it rebounded in November to $101,000. That compared to the average for all of last year of $89,800.

"It doesn't really make much sense. It is a surprise because we expected a fairly strong November, at least even," economist Michael Sumichrast said, speaking for the National Association of Home Builders. "1 think the number doesn't quite represent what is happening in the field.

The association's own monthly surveys Indicate some increase in sales activity.

"In the last two months the traffic Improved, sales improved and builders' plans improved" in the surveys. Sumichrast said. The surveys indicated builders were no longer "totally preoccupied" with interest

Sumichrast said his group feels the sales will bounce back again in December and January because mortgage rates are still catching up to the improvements elsewhere in the money markets.

An estimated 41,000 new houses were actually sold in November, bringing sales for 11 months of the year to 601,000, a 4.3 percent improvement over the same period

The deterioration in sales brought the closely watched figure on unsold houses to a 7.3 month supply, 349,000, the most since August and above the 7 percent level considered by the housing industry to represent overbuilding.

The sales decline was steepest in the Northeast, at 20.4 percent. Sales in the South were down 10.4 percent and in the West dropped 6.8 percent. The least decline was in the Midwest, at 5.5 percent.

NEW YORK (UPI) - "Berrenger's" is a nighttime soap opera about a powerful family of rich, handsome and not very nice people who go about in devious ways doing dastardly things for fun and profit.

Wood Etching

This Is Nothing Like What You Created As A Kid With Your Woodburning Set

'Berrenger's' Is A Department Store 'Dallas', page 8

Woodburning Attains Status As Fine Art

By Susan Loden Herald Staff Writer

Viewing Jan Fleck's wood etchings of street scenes, animals, and cultural symbols might send you scurrying for the woodburning set you dabbled with as a child.

But the apples and Indians you burned into plywood panels have little in common with Ms. Fleck's creations - an art form she claims to have developed on her own, inspired by European wood works fashioned by artisans working with a somewhat different, centuries-old technique.

"The Europeans would create a street scene by taking a metal plate and what looked like a pen, but is actually filled with acid, and they'd draw a scene on the metal.

The acid eats into the metal and forms a design into the plate. They wipe that acid off and put another kind of acid on and then they place a block of wood on the plate. The acid cuts into the wood, giving a kind of woodburning effect," she said.

But that effect is a bit more subtle than what Ms. Fleck envisioned.

"I liked the feeling of that. I wanted to have something like it, to create something in wood on my own that would look like that, but would have more dimension. I wanted to go a step farther.

That was 10 years ago when she went back to pick up her childhood toy, a woodburner.

'But I didn't really like the feeling. The image was just kind of blah with two tones and it had no texture," Ms. Fleck said. "So, I eventually took carving tools and combined carving with the burning."

With a background as a graphic artist and having studied architectural design, Ms. Fleck possessed the skills to pursue her goal.

And having developed her unique art form, she is reluctant to share her secrets, but will pass on the basic procedure:

"I draw on the wood free hand in pencil. Then I take carving tools and I follow each line I've drawn, carve into it. Then I take an electronic burning tool (she long ago abandoned the conventional woodburning tool, experimented with soldering guns, but now relies on custom-made electronic burners ordered from California, Arizona and New York), and I follow the carving with the burning. This process is repeted several times.

"The burning process will lift the carving out, so I need to recarve and reburn several times. The deepest I carve is about one-half inch into the wood.

"I haven't tried the acid method, but I would like to for a less expensive line that could be mass produced," Ms. Fleck said.

As it is, each piece she creates is individual and the prices reflect that originality. A small seagull is a modest $10 but a large street scene in which Ms. Fleck invested 700 hours of her artistry will set you back $3,500.

The streetscapes are her favorites.

"I specialize in them because I like working with perspective. I never put people in my street scenes. I can draw figures, but to put people in my scenes ... would spoil it for me.' Ms. Fleck said.

Her current plans call for a series of Victorian houses ... sans people, of course.

It will be a time-consuming task. Her craft takes patient persistence. Ms. Fleck. 31, spends 16 to 18 hours a day in her Altamonte Springs studio home. Her most tedious work involves animals.

She spent three hours each day for 11/2 years working on a large portrait of a lion.

Each hair is carved in three different directions and then burned in three different directions, so it's like there's hair behind hair. You can feel it. It feels like hair.

'When I first started out I just tried to simulate hair and it didn't work. For art that I like I want it to look good from a distance and when I go up close, too. I try to put that into my own work. I want the hair to look like hair up close and for it to look like the animal from a distance. I haven't found any other way to do that besides puting in every hair. I'm not a patient person, except when it comes to my work," she said.

For example, when she produces a design based on ancient symbols, such as Egyptian hieroglyphics, she spends several weeks researching the culture represented. "I like accuracy in my work. I don't want to make a mistake. I don't like the feeling of mal.ing something look like it represents a culture. I like to actually use the characters and the story behind them," she said.

Unlike most artists, Ms. Fleck has to create a surface to work on before she can start to create the actual art work. She scours lumber yards in search of the perfect piece of clear Eastern cedar.

"I get real excited looking at a piece of raw wood, and it's very exciting after its all ready to work with," Ms. Fleck said.

Getting the wood ready to take her design means hours of planing and sanding. And once the piece is complete after many hours of sketching, scribing, carving and burning, Ms. Fleck seals her work with a Danish oil.

'It hardens the wood from the inside out. It still keeps the pores open, so the wood won't warp, but it doesn't close it off to make it a dead piece. It seems to me like it's living.

"I strive for the end product to look exactly like the sketch, only with the texture. It's been difficult to work with the wood, going against the grain. It's a long process and to get to this point I've done a lot of research," she said.

It's all beginning to pay off. Ms. Fleck's work has risen above the status of a craft and is considered to be fine art, although initially and still for some uninitiated, serious acceptance of her work has been slow in coming.

She said that's probably because of those woodburning kits tucked away in attics which make everybody recall trying their hand at woodburning.

On The Cover

This wood-etched street scene is a far cry from the woodburning you may have done as a child, but the Altamonte Springs artist who created it and the technique behind it may inspire you to once again make your mark in wood.

Ricky Ricardo's Nightclub Was Balmy

DEAR DICK - My husband and I are having a disagreement about the name of Ricky Ricardo's nightclub in "I Love Lucy." I say it is the Tropicana, but my husband says it is the Copacabana. Please respond, as we have a bet on this. B. and P.B., Houston, Texas.

The Tropicana wins.

DEAR DICK — If Emmanuel Lewis, the star of "Webster," is 13 years old, as his mother says, is he a dwarf or a midget? Seems to me that only a year ago he was acting without his front teeth, making his age about 6. B.N., Stuart, Fla.

As a matter of fact, he's closer to 14 than 13 - he'll hit 14 March 9. He is small, but normal. As one of his producers says, "Nothing wrong with Emmanuel except that he just hasn't grown that much.'

DEAR DICK - I recently watched "Kate and Allie" and I could have sworn that that show originally was about identical twins living with their father. But, to my surprise, now it is Jane Curtin and Susan Saint James living as roommates. What happened? L.M., Houston, Texas.

Nothing, except you probably got your shows mixed up. It is "Double Trouble" that concerns itself with identical twins. "Kate and Allie" has always been just what you saw.

DEAR DICK - On "Hardcastle and Mc-Cormick," please tell me if Daniel Hugh-Kelly's hair is naturally curly or if it's a perm. D.J., Kalamazoo, Mich.

At last, we're getting to the important questions. According to a usually reliable informant on the H&McC set, it is naturally curly "but they do kink it up a little, too.'

DEAR DICK - At the end of the new NBC series, "Hot Pursuit," the credits say that the show is dedicated to a certain woman. Please tell me who the woman is and why the show is dedicated to her. J.R.O., Gatlinburg, Tenn.

That dedication only ran on one show, and it wasn't a woman, it was a man, although I can understand your mistake. That episode, called "Home is the Heart, Part 2," was dedicated to Shelley Mann, the percussionist. He had worked on that show and died during the time it was being made. Since "Hot been put back in for TV.

Pursuit" has been axed by NBC, maybe they should have dedicated the show to its own memory.

DEAR DICK - Could you tell me if Jennifer Runyon of "Charles In Charge" is any relation to Frank Runyon of "As the World Turns"? A.E.R., South Haven, Mich.

DEAR DICK - I would like to know if Ted Koppell, the newscaster, and Bernie Koppell of 'The Love Boat" are brothers, I see a strong resemblance. D.L., Warsaw, Ind.

You have to watch the way people spell their names, which would give you the answer. Jennifer is a RUNYON, Frank is a RUNYEON; not related. Ted is a KOPPEL, Bernie is a KOPELL; again, not related.

DEAR DICK - I recently watched "The Best Little Whorehouse In Texas" on TV, and saw Burt Reynolds sing a song by himself in a pasture with some mustangs. I say that scene was not in the motion picture in the theater. My roommate says it was. What do you say? S.G., Canyon, Tex.

I say you're right. And I say it because Reynolds' manager, David Gershenson, says you're right. That scene was cut out of the movie, for release in theaters. because they wanted to shorten it at the time, but has

Def Leppard Drummer May Never Play Again

SHEFFIELD, England (UPI) — Drummer Rick Allen of the rock group Def Leppard was improving today but still in serious condition after Tuesday's surgery to reattach his severed arm and doctors say he may never drum again.

Fans inundated his hospital with telephone calls after the New Year's Eve car crash in which the 21-year-old pop star's left arm was severed.

An ambulance man picked up the arm and surgeons sewed it back on in two operations.

'Rick's condition is improving. But he is still on the critical list and is still unconcious," said a spokeswoman at the Royal Hallamshire Hospital in Sheffield some 150 miles north of London.

She said doctors expected to be able to tell in a few days whether surgery had been successful.

Allen's brother, Robert, who was at his bedside, said there was "some warmth" in Rick's left hand - indicating blood was flowing through.

Surgeons warned, however, that it was not yet clear if Allen would be able to play again with Def Leppard, the heavy metal British band which stormed America with Its 8-million-selling album "Pyromania."

torn off at the shoulder when his Corvette Stingray left the road and overturned near Sheffleld around noon Monday as he was driving home to see his parents.

After the initial operation, however, severe bleeding continued and doctors stopped it with further surgery His Dutch girlfriend, Mirium Barendsen, 22, suffered head injuries in the crash, but was discharged from the hospital Wednesday, the spokeswoman said. "We have been inundated with phone calls here from his fans around the world and especially from the United States, and we are expecting a big batch of get-well cards in the mail," she said.

Allen had interrupted a busy recording schedule in the United States to spend Christmas with his parents and relatives in his hometown of Sheffield.

Def Leppard gained fame after touring the United States in 1980. Their 1983 album "Pyromania" was voted best rock album last year in the Grammy awards and the group was picked as America's most popular in the Gallup youth poll.

The band, formed in 1978 in Sheffleld, is still comparatively unknown in Britain. They have never had a hit record in their home country but hope to change that with their next album, recorded with Jim 'Meatloaf' Steinman in the Netherlands this fall
