Seminoles-Parkers Clash Tonight

Game Time

A revenge-minded band of Semincle High cagers journey to Winter Park tonight to meet The Parkers in what Seminole Coach Bud Layer calls "the game of the year."

The Seminoles will be taking the floor with an impressive 10-1 rec-ord while the Parkers display an 8-2 mark.

The only loss the Seminoles have suffered this season was at the hands of the Parkers when they defeated them earlier in the season, 68-54.

"This is the game we need," Layer said. 'If we take this one. we'll be on top of the world." Layer plans to start the same lineup he has been using all year with Terry Christensen and Jim Gracey at the forward posts, Charles Oravetz at center and Ray Lundquist and George Perides at the guards. The B squad game is slated to

It is not merely that he em-bráces President Eisenhower and sochs to share the clock of his personal popularity. That was all along obviously his principal play. But even as he points with pride to the record of the administration — and there is no pointer with pride whe puts more vehem-ence into his work than the vice-president — he promises more. The pledge to the critics and the doubters is that a new Republican edministration will "build even greater accomplishments in the future."

This is a shrewd appeal. In education, are classrooms inadequate, teachers underpaid and standards flabby? Very well, then we will strive to eliminate these bylis. There is too much chronic unamployment and, under "obsolete farm programs," the prices farm-ers receive castinue to ge down while taxes to subsidize them go up. Seminoles-Parkers Clash Tonight Game Time

At 8:30 A revenge-minded band of Seminole High cagers journey to Winter Park tonight to meet The Parkers in what Seminole Coach Bud Layer calls "the game of the year."

The Seminoles will be taking the floor with an impressive 10-1 record while the Parkers display an 8-2 mark. The only loss the Seminoles have suffered this season was at the hands of the Parkers when they defeated them earlier in the season, 68-54.

"This is the game we need," Layer said. 'If we take this one, we'll be on top of the world."

Layer plans to start the same lineup he has been using all year with Terry Christensen and Jim Gracey at the forward posts, Charles Oravetz at center and Ray Lundquist and George Perides at the guards.

The B squad game is slated to began at 7 p. m. with the varsity tilt at 8:30.
