John F. Dulles Is Seen As Factor In American Policies

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was defeated by the late President Roosevelt, has emerged as a powerful new figure in the determination of American foreign policy. Although Secretary of State James F. Byrnes had almost a score of advisers during the critical five-power conference of foreign ministers here, reliable sources said he leaned most heavily on Dulles, whom he later described as his "partner."

These sources reported that Byrnes almost ignored some of his other aides, so greatly did he depend upon the tall, slightly stooped international lawyer who advised Governor Dewey on foreign affairs during the 1944 presidential campaign.

Held Firm
 It was Dulles, according to authoritative sources, who was responsible to a considerable degree for the American delegation's firm stand against Russian insistence that France and China is excluded from discussions on Balkan peace treaties. While he had a weighty record of international experience as a lawyer, Dulles really was brought to his present position of influence by Dewey. In pre-election talks conducted by former Secretary of State Cordell Hull last year and bi-partisan foreign policy, Dulles participated as the Republican representative.

When the late President Roosevelt chose the American delegation to the United Nations conference in San Francisco, the gray-haired, bespectacled Dulles was asked to go along as an advisor. At first he refused, contending he could be more helpful from the outside. Later however, he accepted under urging by the White House and the State Department.

Actually, the London peace discussions were no new experience for Dulles. He accompanied the American delegation to Paris in 1919. This fact, coupled with his Republican connections, probably was an important reason why Byrnes listened attentively to his views.

On the other hand, Byrnes obviously was not forgetting that he would have to have the approval of two-thirds of his former Senate colleagues for any peace treaty. Aside from politics, Dulles speaks for a large group of Americans on his own as chairman of the committee for a just and durable peace of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ, representing about 6,000,000 persons.

Although he has been described as firmly international and opposed to power politics in his views, the mild-mannered churchman likes to stand fast and firm when he feels sound democratic principles are being ignored.

As an example, he strongly opposed the big power veto rights in the United Nations' security council.

Despite his emergence abroad as an influence upon American policy, if offered a diplomatic post Dulles probably would refuse it. That would be in keeping with his blunt and frequent avowals that he wants to remain free to criticize.

Trial Begun Of Yamashita In Philippines

Four Jap Sailors Are Accused Of Killing Or Wounding 100 Women & Children

(By Associated Press)
Four Jap sailors in Lieut. Gen. Tomoyok Yamashita's Philippine command killed or wounded 100 unresisting women and children in a bloody orgy in the Red Cross aid station, some few survivors testified today at the opening of the trial of Yamashita as a war criminal in the heavily guarded commissioner's residence in Manila today.

In Batavia, Java it was reported that President Soekarno of the Indonesian republic is speeding toward Soerabaja in an BAF plane today in an attempt to halt the increasingly bitter battle between the Indonesian nationalists and the British Indian troops at the big naval base, where a state siege was reported declared.

Fighting began late yesterday and was reported growing heavier at a time when informal peace talks this morning. The trouble arose between the Dutch and Indonesian leaders was expected to begin within 48 hours, after the Dutch government ordered officials to open negotiations.

In England most of Great Britain's 48,000 dock workers remained on strike today. Despite a grave warning bread may be rationed this winter unless they return to work immediately. It was one of the few items not rationed during the war.

In Berlin, Clyde E. Palmer, Arkansas and Texas publisher, expressed the opinion today that the United States is pulling occupation troops out of Germany so swiftly we might "lose the peace." He said replacements are all green men non-combat, who are not to be sent to Germany as a peace guard, susceptible to propaganda.

Cpl. Clay Williams Is Out Of The Army

Cpl. Clay Williams formerly stationed in Puerto Rico with the 1048 Signal Service Squadron which serviced and supplied the Caribbean area, was discharged today. He was also a member of the champion tennis team of Puerto Rico.

His work consisted of leasing and dispatching radio, telephone, and teletype parts surrounding bases. If a part received a high priority it was flown to the part was shipped by boat.

The recreational facilities at his base were excellent, he said, and consequently morale was very high. The 1048 Signal Company organized a baseball team and also a tennis team, the champion of the island.

Cpl. Williams entered the Army on Oct. 13, 1941 at Camp Blanding, and was later sent to Ft. Monmouth, N. J. and Ft. Belvoir, Colo. He was discharged from the Army on March 19, 1942 for Puerto Rico. After serving there over two years, he was returned to the states to the Army Base at Lakeland, where he recently received his discharge.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Williams of Sioux Avenue, and brother of Arthur Williams, co-owner of Haynes-Williams Furniture Co.

Pfc. Joe Stewart Is Back From Pacific

Pfc. Joe Stewart, son of J. R. Stewart, 814 Myrtle Avenue, arrived home Sunday evening from the Pacific theater to greet his wife, the former Mary Jane Burke, and daughter, Angie, age two and a half, whom he had not seen since she was a baby.

Pfc. Stewart has two combat stars for action in the Solomon Islands and the Philippines and an arrowhead for the beachhead landing of the "American Division" at Okinawa. He has also the bronze star medal ribbon for meritorious action and the medical valor badge of the 123 Infantry good conduct ribbon.

During the past month he had many interesting experiences in helping the "Reds" in Japan, he said. He has now received his honorable discharge. He entered the service in April, 1943. He attended local schools and Seminole High School, and prior to leaving the "Reds" in Japan, he was employed by the Western Union Telegraph Company.

His discharge during the past week was a check-up ceremony with a formal reception of P. F. Whitner, Jr., veterinarian.

President Cancels Out Of Town Trips

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28, (AP)—President Truman cancelled today all his scheduled out-of-town trips. Eban Ayers, White House press secretary, attributed the decision to the heavy pressure of business confronting the President in Washington. In Atlanta Governor Ellis Arnall announced the White House had advised him President Truman would not visit the Carolinas and Georgia this weekend. Arnall said he just had a phone call from the White House, advising him Truman was not coming but would try to visit there early in the Spring. The President had planned to spend Friday in North Carolina, and attend the Georgia Tech-Duke football game Saturday, and then have luncheon with the patients of the Warm Springs (Ga.) Foundation.

41 New Members Are Inducted At Legion Meeting

A sharp increase in American Legion membership, marked by what State Adjutant A. Reid Mann has termed the greatest enthusiasm expressed in the organization during the past 25 years in Florida, was reported following the annual State membership roundup at the Valdez Hotel, state legion headquarters, Saturday. The roundup was split into two sessions at the Seminole High School field by an impressive Legion induction of 41 veterans, most of them of World War II.

The membership roundup was conducted under supervision of Lee Welner of Jacksonville, Grand Chief De Gars of the 40 and 8, honor society of the Legion. The induction of new members Sunday was under the leadership of L. J. Lambie, and his DeKalb County Guard of Honor of the Department of Florida.

More than 8,000 new state membership cards, as compared with 6,500 a year, were reported in the roundup, the first held in the state since 1941. About 150 Legion Post and 40 and 8 leaders from all parts of the state reported membership totals. Together with their wives they were guests of Campbell-Losing Post 53 at a very successful dance at the Armory Saturday night. Music was by the Banana Boys.

Two hundred or more persons attended the induction of new Legionnaires Sunday afternoon, and roundly applauded the Seminole High School Celeryettes led by Miss Jean M. Burdick, and the High School Band, led by Majorite Sophie McDougall and directed by Miss Ollie Reiss Whittle. The Celeryettes, each carrying a small flag, converged from the four corners of the field into a rotating X formation, then formed a Legion L, and ended up with a V for Victory formation while all stood at attention, and sang the national anthem. They were highly commended for their performance by J. J. Field, 7th District Commander.

Greetings to the visiting Legionnaires and Guard of Honor were extended by J. J. Rocco, commander of Campbell-Losing Post 53 of Sanford. Taps were sounded by the Guard of Honor in memory of the dead of World War I and II.

The Guard of Honor, composed of J. J. Field, 7th District Commander.

Boxing Is Planned At Lions' Meeting

Promotion of some big boxing events on the evening of Nov. 7 at the City Diamond Ball Park, was the subject of planning at the meeting Friday afternoon of the Sanford Lion's Club.

Lion Joe Moss, head of the committee on boxing arrangements, which includes E. L. Ghiner and J. N. Robson, Jr., promised that among the matches scheduled would be a clash of two of the negro champions of Florida. In addition there will be bouts of Army and Navy contenders.

There was some discussion as to whether it would be advisable to hold a boxing ring on to bring a heavy time collecting 10 cent fines (Lion Will Fund) for infraction of parliamentary rules such as failure to address members as Lion and so on, or to stand while addressing King, Lion, and so on. Dick Ebbert violated a rule and was fined 10 cents. The Lions got a lot of fun voting for this fine. Among others fined were Lion Robson, head of the Finance committee and Lion Ed McColl, secretary of the club.

Price Of Peace Is Explained By Matherly

Tributes Are Paid To Navy At Chamber Of Commerce Navy Day Dinner At Mayfair

Dr. Walter J. Matherly, dean of the School of Business Administration at the University of Florida, spoke on "The Price of Permanent Peace" at a Navy Day Dinner given at the Mayfair Hotel Saturday night by the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. Capt. W. T. Easton, commanding officer at the Sanford Naval Air Station, and his staff, were guests of honor.

Senator L. F. Boyle, who was introduced by H. H. Coleman, president of the Chamber of Commerce, served as toastmaster, and introduced Dr. Matherly as an officer in the first World War and at present one of the most influential speakers in Florida. Mr. Coleman explained that the dinner was a tribute to the Navy in general and in particular to the Sanford Station which had trained thousands of young fliers with a low rate of casualties.

Dr. Matherly outlined the price of permanent peace as 1. The price of permanent victory; 2. The price of physical reconstruction in Japan and Germany; 3. The price of military preparedness in this country; 4. The price of active and vigorous participation in the organization of the United Nations.

Declaring that Japan and Germany must be totally destroyed, Dr. Matherly added that even so the United States must remain militarily strong and that the mistakes following the last war when most of the Army and Navy were demobilized must not be incomparably greater than those before Pearl Harbor will be needed to preserve the peace in the future.

The program also included a banjo solo by Willard Connolly with Harry Kudell at the piano, baritone solos by Dick Aiken, with H. H. McCaslin at the piano, and a vocal solo by Larry Collins. Charles Morrison led the guests in singing a number of popular and patriotic numbers.

San Jaying tributes to the Navy, San Jaying pointed out that this was the 170th anniversary of the Navy which was created by Act of Congress in 1775 and at that time consisted of a ship and 100 guns. Today, he declared, it consists of 1,200 combat ships and 1,700 auxiliaries with over 80,000 landing craft.

"It is entirely fitting for us to commemorate the day the U. S. Navy and those sons of ours who man the ships."

Members of Capt. Easton's staff introduced by him were: Lieut. Comdr. R. E. Brown, Lieut. Comdr. J. F. Usery, Lieut. Comdr. J. T. Barker, Lieut. Comdr. C. F. Avery, Lieut. Comdr. G. Thresh, Lieut. Comdr. J. Barkman, Lieut. Comdr. H. H. Kelso, and Lieut. Comdr. W. H. Kelso.

CITY BRIEFS

Sanford Lodge No. 27, IOOF, will meet at eight o'clock tonight in regular session. All members and visiting brothers are invited to attend.

C. A. Anderson III and Mrs. Anderson announce the birth of a nine pound son, James Arthur, at Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital Thursday afternoon. Mr. Anderson, one of the younger members of the Sanford Fire Department, was busy passing out cigars during the weekend and was warmly congratulated by his fellow firemen.

AP2c Pat Johnson Released By Navy

C.W. (Pat) Johnson has returned to Sanford after being honorably discharged by the Navy following three years of service. He is now in charge of the paint shop at the Holler Motor Sales.

After entering service in October, 1943, Mr. Johnson was assigned to naval stations at Jacksonville, Lake City, Ft. Lauderdale and Norfolk. He then went aboard the USS Albatross and served 18 months at sea.

In addition to the time he spent in the country where the Navy ran him a rating of Aviation Painter second class and assigned him in aircraft work. His duties took him into both the European and Pacific theaters of operations.

Mr. Johnson is living at 111 West Fourteenth Street with his wife and daughter.

Cpl. R. Muirhead Describes Havoc Done In Manila

Natives Have Plenty Of Money And Find Nothing To Buy

Cpl. Robert Bruce Muirhead, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Muirhead of Brisbane Avenue, has written his parents from an Army camp approximately 20 miles north of Manila that Manila and vicinity have been bombed so terrifically that the majority of buildings were completely destroyed and the docks which were supposedly superior to the New York docks were badly burned.

After traveling the northern route via the Aleutians, Cpl. Muirhead arrived in Manila on Oct. 11, 1945. He also wrote that he was amazed to see several hundred ships of all types docked in Manila Bay, and some Japanese ships that were still partially sunk.

The natives seem to have plenty of money to spend but nothing to buy he added. Some natives were peddling fruits up and down the road and upon inquiry found that one coconut or one banana cost one peso each or one dollar in American money.

Clyde W. Harvey Re-enlists In U. S. Regular Infantry

With six years of army life already to his credit, Clyde W. Harvey, of Sanford, has re-enlisted in the Regular Army, with the permanent grade of 1st Sergeant, according to an announcement from Army Recruiting Headquarters. He was sworn in at Camp Blending last week. In accordance with present Army provisions he has been given a 90-day furlough, with full pay.

Harvey, who attended Sanford High School and St. Lucie High School at Fort Pierce, has an impressive record of service. He was first inducted into the service with the Florida National Guard, Co. B-14th Infantry, at Sanford in 1940. He served with the 800th Infantry Regiment at Ft. Benning and was later assigned to the 310th Infantry, 80th Division, with the Third Army, in France.

Cpl. Albert Kinard In Okinawa Typhoon

OKINAWA, Oct. 29, (Special)—Cpl. Albert R. "Doc" Kinard has been highly praised by Col. Thomas J. DuBois, Commanding Officer of a B-29 (Super Fortress) unit attached to the Eighth Air Force, for his work during and after the severely destructive typhoon which struck Okinawa Oct. 10.

"It was due to the extreme efforts of Cpl. Kinard and others of this Wing that property losses were held to a minimum," Col. DuBois said. "His work, and that of his fellows, during and after the typhoon undoubtedly saved our men from serious injury or worse and saved thousands of dollars of government money. I cannot commend them too highly."

More Activity Reported On Farm Markets As Crops Begin To Move

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 29, (Special)—Squash, cucumbers, beans and peppers are moving in increasing volume from the Southern part of the State; some tomatoes will be shipped during the coming week and increasing activity is expected as Fall crops throughout the producing areas come to maturity," said William L. Wilson, Director of Florida State Farmers Markets in a week-end review of current market activity. "State Farmers Markets from Titusville south are either in active operation, or plan to start the movement of Fall crops within the next few weeks according to information reaching our office."

"We are getting under way pretty well this week," says a report received from R. L. Schaefer, manager of the Sanford Cucumbers have been leading in volume of offerings on the Wauchope Market, with quality reported as "very good." Peppers, eggplant and squash shipments are also being handled. Volume is expected to increase for the next two or three weeks.

"Jack Taylor, manager of our Palmetto Market, has reported that there will be a small amount of supplies moving from that point during the coming week. Squash and tomatoes are expected to start about Nov. 5.

"Growing conditions continue very good in the Sanford area. Manager H. J. Lehman states that beans, yellow squash and a few cucumbers have been coming in to the Sanford Market. Cabbage, cauliflower, pepper and celery are being set, and the Oklawaha area is expected to have some celery ready to cut in December."

"Some beans and tomatoes are expected to be ready for picking this coming week in the territory served by the Fort Pierce Market, according to M. E. Williams, market manager. Eggplant should be moving from that section next week."

Lieut. L. E. Tew Jr. Joins Faculty At Local High School

Lieut. L. E. Tew Jr., USNR, former flight instructor at Pensacola, dive bomber pilot in the Atlantic area, and bomb pilot in the Pacific theater, has received his honorable discharge from the service and has joined the faculty of Seminole High School of which he is a graduate, as a teacher of mathematics. He replaces Mrs. Mary Chapman Green, who recently resigned from the faculty, according to Principal Herman E. Morris.

Born and raised in Sanford, Lieut. Tew attended local schools. He is the son of the late L. E. Tew, engineer of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad. With his wife and two children, Lieut. Tew is living at present at his mother's home on Avocado Avenue.

"We are fortunate to have Lieut. Tew as a member of our faculty and welcome him," said Principal Morris. Lieut. Tew left the University of Florida to join the Navy prior to the Pearl Harbor attack.

CORRECTION

Due to an error the name of Strickland-Morrison, Sanford, Ford, Mercury and Lincoln dealer, was omitted from beneath the Ford Motor Company's advertisement Friday announcing the initial showing of the new 1946 Ford at the local company's display rooms on West First Street. The Herald regrets this omission.

Victory Loan Drive Begun For Big Sum

Treasury Asks Eleven Billion Dollar Loan Before December 8; Vinson Tells Need

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29, (AP)—The last major drive of World War II—the Victory loan—was launched last night. It was dedicated to help "keep the faith with those who fought for a better world."

The campaign to sell $11,000,000,000 in bonds before Dec. 8 was opened by Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson in a nation-wide broadcast.

A successful Victory Loan will help us on the long road ahead, Vinson said.

"It will help you in planning for your own future. And it helps to keep the faith with those who fought for a better world."

Private citizens will be asked to buy $4,000,000,000 in bonds—$2,000,000,000 in the small denomination E-bonds.

The money, Vinson said, "will pay the costs of bringing home our boys; it will be used for financing our war effort; it will help to keep the faith with our boys; it will help our veterans to pick up their interrupted education of work."

To Combat Inflation

Further, he said, in helping combat inflation, investment in bonds "will build a sound economy for the nation that will afford you a prosperous future."

Elsewhere in the nation, states and cities signaled the opening of the drive—which starts formally tomorrow—with ceremonies honoring the living and dead heroes of the armed forces.

At Hyde Park, N. Y., Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt took part in a ceremony launching the sale of the new $200 series E bond commemorating the late war president. Others participating included Lieut. Col. James P. S. DeSerauz, defender of Wake Island, and Sgt. Alvin M. O'Connell.

Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch and Maj. Gen. Anthony D. McAuliffe appeared at a bond rally in Pittsburgh.

High Glee Club Sings For Rotary Club At Meeting

Dick Aikin Welcomed As Newest Member Pool Is Postponed

The High School Glee club under the direction of Miss Ollie Whittle entertained the Rotary Club at its regular weekly luncheon at the Mayfair Hotel today with a number of selections which were roundly applauded. The girls were introduced by Miss Nancy Williams. One of their number, Miss Phyllis Allen sang a solo, "This of Mine."

The numbers sung in chorus were "Night and Day," "I'll See You Again" and "My Hero." The members of the group were: The Misses June Rose Dutton, Evelyn Matthews, Ollie Belle Fortson, Dorothy Crumley, Gertrude Hincheliffe, Myra Southward, Mona Ruth Allen, Helen the King and Miss Williams and Miss Allen. They were accompanied at the piano by Miss Rose Mary Burdick, and Miss Gene Manning.

Dick Aikin was welcomed into the club as a new member by President Len Leisher and presented with a booklet, "Welcome to Rotary" and the Rotary pin by Secretary Walter Haynes. Visitors introduced by F. E. Hollis were Frank Williams of Ft. Ord, and J. Howard of Orlando.

Mr. Leisher announced that plans were proceeding satisfactorily on the swimming pool project and that the engineering firm which had been contacted for the work had suggested that the project be postponed until after the first of the year when supplies would be more plentiful.

George Touhy, program chairman outlined the programs for the month of November as talk by J. J. Ingley, a talk by Dr. Hamilton Holt, a Ladies Night barbecue on Nov. 11, and an OWI film "The Fleet That Came to Stay," on the battle of Okinawa.

Progress Is Made
 By Agriculture
 During The War

By JACK STINNETT
 (First of a Series)
 WASHINGTON — Long ago some philosopher remarked that out of all evil some good is born. It isn't news that as a result of this war, the United States in particular and the world in general is going to live more comfortably, healthfully and happily than ever before.

Yet often overlooked are the tremendous strides which have been made by agriculture.

Directly or indirectly as a result of our entrance into the war and a few years that preceded it, when we were worrying about shipping and food needs of our soon-to-be allies, the department of Agriculture and cooperating state and private agencies produced miracles that are comparable in some degree to radar, jet propulsion planes, bazookas, and even atomic bombs.

We didn't have "wheatless days" in World War II as we did 25 years ago because agricultural scientists had produced disease-resistant seeds that got spread around fast enough in this war so that crop disasters of the last weren't repeated.

We have millions and millions of acres of new hybrid corn; peanuts that can be harvested and processed by methods unknown a few years ago; new hybrid onions and more important potatoes.

The story of soybeans will be told here in some detail. Abaca, sometimes known as Cascade fiber flax, has become an important crop. So has Russian wild-rye. Milkweed can be made to substitute for imported kapok.

Deprived of tapioca and other starch crops used in such things as soap, adhesives, and foods, the scientists and farmers concentrated on wax sorghums.

Another war-born crop which deserves a story in itself is the

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Keeping 'em Down on the farm

Rode out to the Jenkins farm the other day—and there was young Charlie Jenkins—two months out of uniform—driving a tractor as pretty as could be with his one good arm.

"I expect you find that pretty dull after piloting a bomber," I suggested.

Charlie gives me a wide, contented grin. "Dull?" he says. "All the time I was over Germany I dreamt of this—the smell of hay, and the hot sun on my back... and comin' home to women's voices in the farm house, and home cookin', and a friendly glass of beer. No," he says dreamily, "not dull!"

From where I sit, that's how lots of returning veterans must feel. Yearning for excitement? No, just mighty glad to be back with the old familiar things, the day's work, the rewards of home, companionship, and simple pleasures like a friendly glass of beer. No... not dull.

AS NEGOTIATORS VAINLY ARGUED over the union's demand for a 50% wage increase, 325,000 General Motors employees in 97 plants cast their ballots in what was called the biggest strike referendum ever conducted by the Government. Mung bean, in some sections known as Chichanaaw or Jerusalem or Oregon peas, also as chop suey beans.

The new rubber-producing plants, ranging from the Russian dandelion up, got a lot of attention during the war, some of it deserved, some of it either fictional or merely wishful thinking.

However, tomorrow's consumer may become much better acquainted with the "miniatures" that came out of the Victory gardens.

The city sundown farmers had nothing to do with developing the tiny tomatoes, corn, water-melons and such, but their enthusiasm for growing edible oddities in the smallest possible space spread them all over the country. Table uses were found for them that will give many of them a permanent place on the menus of a postwar world.

The department of agriculture scientists, certainly modest fellows for the most part, insist that it be made clear that experimentation in these new American crops have been going on for years. That's true. But if it hadn't been for the war, it would have been years, maybe generations before you would have his 250,000 Godfathers no longer can!

Yes, he's a war baby, born after December 7, 1941, the date that will live in infamy. Since then some 250,000 American men have died that he might live and grow in a world of peace—that he may never have to take up arms to defend his country and his loved ones.

Our heroic dead have left us a legacy—and a trust. To us they have given the knowledge that free men will fight, and die, to preserve that freedom, not only for themselves but also for those who come after them.

To us, too, they leave the solemn duty of making certain that America will remain spiritually, economically and financially sound... truly a land of freedom and opportunity for little children, rich and poor, in a world at peace.

Think of those who fought and died—and then join with a generous heart and an open pocket-book in this last great Victory Loan.* The money we lend will help to lay the groundwork of a finer, better America. It's our last great fight. Let's stand shoulder to shoulder till it's won.

*Following the Victory Loan, the sale of U. S. Savings Bonds will continue through regular authorized agencies and through the Payroll Savings Plan.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

OTHERS CANNOT DESTROY US, WE ONLY CAN DESTROY OURSELVES! When they cast thee down, thou shalt say there is lifting up, and the humble person he shall save.—Job. 22:29.

Tropic Burial (From Poetry)

The day is passing in splendor, enormous clouds, color of hibiscus, wreath the sky:
The hours of the sea spill the last bright minutes—
Nature, at least, knows how to die.

Along the road toward the sunset,
They carry the wooden box, a group
Of the insistent. All wear the eternal blue
Of dejection, and the eternal stoop.

They hide the withered tube of the body in the ground,
Huddling together in a blue smolder
Under the brilliant haze;
And the earth, falling like night,
Buries forever
The sunset lingering in the eyes
Hard glaze.

CHARLES EDWARD EATON
The Cocoa Rotary Club recently conducted a straw poll and decided that the atomic bomb secret should be kept.

If the government really wanted to help little business, it could quit paying unemployment insurance and thus relieve the manpower shortage.

In the proposed "right to work" legislation, it seems to us an amendment should be inserted requiring that, in the event the right is not exercised, it is lost.

Sanford business men may be overlooking a good bet in not having their firms or plants certified as qualified for occupational training for veterans. Under the GI Bill of Rights, the government helps bear the expense of this program.

An 18 per cent luxury tax on haircuts has been imposed in France. Perhaps the fashion of long hair for men—and women too—may return over there.

St. Augustine Record. Judging from the recent election returns, we gather there are a lot of long-haired artists over there anyway.

The people of Ocala should join in extending their congratulations to Ray & Davidson, "Shorty" and "Carl" and Peter Schaal, their director of public relations, on the compliment paid them and Silver Springs by the Florida Publicity Association, Inc. which awarded them a citation in recognition of the resort's publicity and public relations program.

Ocala Star-Banner. Mr. Schaal was former city editor of the Sanford Herald.

As the situation stands, the strike vote gives Reuther authority to call the union out, surround General Motors plants with mass picket lines, throw stones through the windows, tip over the cars of clerks and stenographers trying to get to their jobs and beat up anybody using a public thoroughfare or private property to gain access to the plant. The Wagner act makes all that legal; all that and an much more of what the U. S. supreme court calls "effervescence on the picket line" as the union may care to indulge in.—Fort Myers New Press. Just good old New Deal legislation.

Foreign Policy

Americans generally will applaud President Truman's recent explanation of this country's post-war foreign policy. Reduced to its simplest terms, it is merely that the United States proposes to use its great wealth, power and influence throughout the world in preserving peace among the nations. It is merely that this country proposes to do throughout the world what it has tried to do for more than one hundred years in the Western Hemisphere.

Specifically, we seek no territorial aggrandizement for ourselves. We will recognize none attempted by any other power. We shall refuse to recognize any government imposed upon another country by force. We shall strive to return self government to all peoples deprived of it by force. We believe that all peoples who are not in a state of self-government should have self-government. Even in those countries of our defeated enemies we shall try to help them establish peaceful, democratic governments of their own choice.

We believe in full economic collaboration among all the nations of the world, will all enjoying freedom of the seas and having access on equal terms to the trade and raw materials of the world. We will try to establish freedom of expression and religion throughout the world. We shall adhere to the Monroe Doctrine in maintaining the good neighbor policy in the Western Hemisphere. And we will support a United Nations organization for the preservation of peace throughout the world.

There can be no objection to that program for dealing with the rest of the world. We may not be able to accomplish all these objectives. But if we continue to make the effort along these lines, who can doubt but that this will be a better world in which to live?

The Small Town

Small towns and villages are the foundation and the buttress of the nation, the medium for the fullest life of its citizens. The future of the United States depends on them. Arthur E. Morgan, former Tennessee Valley Authority chairman, expresses these views in his recent book, "The Small Community."

In the present era with its myriad opportunities for fresh starts and new aims, the small town offers a wide range of economic callings as well as cultural advantages for the entire family. A large part of American industry can thrive best in small communities. The trend of manufacturing already is away from cities. A little place can realize individual growth along artistic lines and the development of hobbies, skills, civic-mindedness and leadership. In other words a small town permits wide sharing of mutual interests which would be stifled in a city.

Once the drift of clever young people to the cities skimmed the cream from villages. Now youth can be kept in the home town by local planning that will afford attractive openings for work, education and recreation. The town, its citizens and the nation will benefit.

Food For Chinese

It's a small world, but still a hungry one in many places, especially in China—whose people multiplied until they have almost outgrown their capacity for sustaining themselves. But there are remedies in sight, and a slogan has been raised which demands "Square meals for the Chinese within a decade."

That is quite an undertaking, but not impossible, experts say. Food is mostly rather easy to produce when you go about it right, with the proper equipment, well-kept soil and good seed. In much of China the soil, once fertile, has been allowed to deteriorate. It will take a long time to restore it.

Also is needed the avoidance of war. That point is the most important of all.

Time For A Decision

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

The deadlock persisting in President Truman's Cabinet over wage-price policy, as reported in this newspaper's recent day morning, is unhappily symptomatic of the present period of economic fears of deflation, hopes for speedy reconversion—all these factors and many more are playing their part to create a situation in which industrial unrest is inevitable. But at the same time these emotions may be brought under control by rational analysis and a scientific approach. The United States, with its tremendous productive capacity, need not be subjected to those tracking strains and conflicts of class and group which arise from want and misery.

The danger is that prolonged want of direction from Washington and the failure to crystallize a national economic policy—whether through existing government controls or through bargaining—may cause such disruption of production and lack of confidence in the immediate future of the country as to bring on major clashes. It may also aggravate the complexity of the labor problem and hamper its solution.

The government, of course, cannot solve the economic difficulties of labor and management out of hand. Its controls

But despite the labor strife that has marred the industrial picture in recent weeks, and the virtual certainty that this strife will continue until some point of relative stability is reached, there is still ample evidence of a willingness by labor and management alike to avoid fights to a finish to seek adjustments. Hence, a sound government wage-price policy, based on demonstrable facts and not involving sanctions which cannot be successfully imposed, would be invaluable in mobilizing public sentiment for peaceful solutions of the wage questions involved in the present transitional phase.

This would have the additional advantage of disentangling economic demands from the other matters which have caused so much labor strife and would demonstrate that the "labor problem" will not yield to legislative panaceas. Industrial peace is threatened from many directions. The longshoremen's strike involved, initially, questions of wages and working conditions. It spread to include a revolt against the union's leadership; an issue of union rivalry was injected into it, and the political question of Communist influence was also raised. The coal strike was connected with the classes of employees who may legitimately be organized. The maritime strike in Hollywood began as a jurisdictional

Doubtless there is much that can be done by legislative action to eliminate such sources of friction or to improve the machinery of conciliation when conflict breaks out. But these complexities cannot be tackled if their causes are over-simplified in the public mind and confused with such fast problems as that of national economic policy. The long delay in arriving at such a policy of the government officials, they have important elements in stimulating unrest. It is time for a decision.

Good News from General Electric

DESPITE the sudden stopping of war work, employment at General Electric has declined less than 10 per cent overall. Rehiring is already under way, and it is expected that more people will be employed within six to eight months than were employed during the biggest prewar years.

What G-E people are making is shown, in part, by the list below. This list of things you and your family have wanted for many months shows the progress General Electric has made in swinging back to its regular job of making "More Goods for More People at Less Cost." General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York.

Alarm Clocks. In January, 1944, WPB okayed making some electric alarm clocks. Within seven weeks, G. E. was in production.

Turbines. Full schedule peacetime production of steam turbines, source of two-thirds of the nation's electric power and the driving power for most of our fighting and merchant fleets, is expected to be reached by December.

Irons. In June, 1944, came authorization to make electric irons. In three months, G. E. was shipping irons. Today's rate is higher than 1941.

Motors. Ten million were built for war—many of special types and sizes. Now G-E lines are being quickly converted to production of standard types for washing machines, refrigerators, etc.

Refrigerators. After getting green light from WPB in June, 1945, G. E. was in production in eight weeks.

Transformers. Upwards of 70 small transformers were required for a single B-29 Superfortress. Now G-E facilities are turning them out again to help make electricity more useful to you.

Washers. Ten weeks from WPB go-ahead, G-E washer line started rolling in Bridgeport on August 24, 1945. Already they're being turned out at 47 per cent of G. E.'s prewar rate.

Street Lights and Flood Lights. Facilities that turned out mobile anti-aircraft searchlights for the Army, and thousands of signaling searchlights for the Navy, are now producing flood lights for sports and industry, and street lights to reduce the nation's night traffic toll.

Radios. G-E radios will be back on the market for Christmas. Table models will be in dealers' stores in November. By Christmas, 12 models should be in stores, including AC-DC battery portables, radio phonograph consoles. Television and FM will go into production after the first of the year.

Home Construction Materials. Wire, cable, fluorescent lampholders, etc., formerly for Army and Navy use, are now in production for your new home.

Ranges. Manufacture began on the first G-E electric ranges September 9, 1945. Three days later the first shipment was made.

Plastics Production. The plastics facilities of General Electric, largest manufacturer of finished plastic products in the country, have been turned to molding camera, clock and refrigerator parts, toaster and coffee-maker handles, castor wheels and wiring devices, radio cabinets, fluorescent bases, cosmetic jars and covers, industrial and decorative laminated materials, lighting reflectors and shades.

Water Coolers. Production at G. E. will equal prewar rate in November.

Automatic Heating. G. E. in January will have oil-fired boilers, conversion oil burners, gas-fired boilers, gas-fired warm air conditioners, all coming off the lines where radar, gunfire and aviation equipment was produced.

Form Freezers. Will be ready in 1947.

Air Conditioners. One model of room air conditioner will be ready in limited numbers for your next summer's needs. First "store cooler" was shipped the day after V-J Day. More daily.

Radar. The G-E Electronic Navigator, to make ship navigation safer in fog and dark, and to speed shipping schedules, has been tested by many months of actual operation and will soon be available.

Exposure Meters. The new G-E exposure meter for amateur and professional photographers is in production. Present rate is several thousand a week.

Lamps. During the war, the Lamp Department did the double task of supplying both military and civilian needs. Now available once more, but in limited quantities, are such war-discontinued types as: 80- and 75-watt inside frost lamps, 50-100-150-watt medium base lamps, flame-shaped lamps, round decorative lamps, fluorescent lamps, luminescent lamps, Christmas tree lamps—use in production but will be quite limited this holiday season.

MRS. JACK MORRISON is having trouble these days with her kitchen curtains. She has been anxiously waiting for red and white checks to arrive from Baltimore - but lo! green and whites arrived instead. The war you know wait a minute but the war's over?

HIGH SCHOOL is the place where each dress, sweater, and skirt should look well with the company it keeps. Where a bright plaid wool with white collar and cuffs is the neatest thing in class, the next striped jersey blouse with a blue wool skirt is the newest thing in school! A double-breasted, wool coat trimmed with velvet goes to a party over an afternoon dress, a town over a two-piece belted suit, or to school over your cashmere. Select your wardrobe so that each outfit can change partners, can mix company, can go together.

THE LEEY-WORTH-LIVING by Henry Van Dyke. There is a life that is worth living now as it was worth living in the former days, and that is the honest life, the useful life, the unselfish life, cleansed by devotion to an ideal. There is a battle that is worth fighting now as it was worth fighting then, and that is the battle for justice and equality: to make our city and our State free in fact as well as in name; to break the rings that strangle real liberty and to keep them broken; to cleanse, so far as in our power lies, the fountains of our commercial and social life; to teach our sons and daughters, by precept and example, the honor of serving such a country as America - that is worth work of the finest manhood and womanhood. The wellborn are those who are born to do that work; the wellbred are those who are bred to be proud of that work; the well-educated are set in names to break the rings that strangle real liberty and to keep them broken; to cleanse, so far as in our power lies, the fountains of our commercial and social life; to teach our sons and daughters, by precept and example, the honor of serving such a country as America - that is worth work of the finest manhood and womanhood. The wellborn are those who are born to do that work; the wellbred are those who are bred to be proud of that work; the well-educated are set in names to break the rings that strangle real liberty and to keep them broken; to cleanse, so far as in our power lies, the fountains of our commercial and social life; to teach our sons and daughters, by precept and example, the honor of serving such a country as America - that is worth work of the finest manhood and womanhood. ing men from Harry W. Seeds Post of Miami and Post 98 of Coral Gables, included: Capt. A. Lambert, Lieut. F. Crosson, Lieut. W. Almonds, Sgt. H. Kruse, Sgt. W. Hanzo, Capt. A. O'Neill and guardsmen, E. Deering, C. D. Hatter, Dr. R. Driscoll, William Foster, Robert Wickard, Edward Humer and Arthur Brigham.

Capt. Adjutant A. Reid Mann introduced the following Legion leaders: E. Mande Wilson, department commander of Mulberry; Frank Caton of Port Orange, commander of the 4th district; Tom Field of Sanford; H. Frost Bailey, past 6th District commander and Department chairman of World War II liaison in the state; Lewis Revere, of Jacksonville, past laureate of Florida; Lee J. Welner, Jacksonville; Maynard Burrell of Jacksonville, general chairman of the roundup committee of the 40 and 8.

Also introduced were, George Dabny of Clearwater, past Chief De Gare of the 40 and 8; William F. Thorne, past commander of Campbell-Lossain Post, national scrap collecting champion; Godric Benz, of Orlando, 7th District committeeman and past grand Chief De Gare of the 40 and 8; Post 53 Commander Rocco, and Dr. Lewis Glitzau of Daytona Beach, "grand chemist" of the 40 and 8.

Legion Auxiliary leaders introduced were: Mrs. J. B. Kirkpatrick of Eustis, state president; Mrs. Edith Montgomery, state secretary; Mrs. B. Altamot, department chairman of membership; Mrs. Sybil South, president of Campbell-Lossain Post 53 Auxiliary and Mrs. Reid Mann.

The inducted men were lined up and marched on the field where alternately facing four Legion leaders in four directions, they were told of the Legion deals of loyalty, democracy, freedom of speech and opportunity and child welfare practices of the American Legion. The Legion problem was explained.

the driving rain to watch Navy scrimmage against the Bainbridge, Md., Naval Training Center. The downpour held no terrors for this air-minded admiral who spent 17 months on sea duty in the Pacific.

"Where's number 17?" asked the admiral.

That would be Bob Kelly, the 20-year-old plebe back who scored both Notre Dame's touchdowns in Navy's 32-13 victory over the Irish last season. Kelly was the toast of Notre Dame. Now he's on the other side of the deck and already his habits fit well into Navy's way of doing things both on and off the field.

"Just look at those legs on Kelly," said Adm. Fitch rather awesomely. "Why they're built like the legs of the old piano back home."

Kelly handled the ball deftly and it took two Bainbridge secondaries to pull him down. Adm. Fitch must have felt as though the sun was shining.

"Now where's Huphey?" queried the Academy's head man as though he envisioned a play coming up that would demand the expert passing hand of the old numerals worn by Bob Hoernschmeyer, the ex-what kid from Indiana who led the Big Ten in yards gained by farward passing the last two seasons.

Here he is too new in Navy football—Kelly and Hoernschmeyer. They come from the mid-west with colorful football backgrounds. They may not offend Army's Doc Blanchard, the charging bull, and Glenn Davis, the speed boy, but Navy is "willing to accept them" until something else comes along, which is very doubtful.

Two Heralded Plebes Kelly and Hoernschmeyer probably are the two most her-aided plebe backs ever to enroll on the banks of the Severn. There's no reason to believe that Navy's new goat will look upon them with envy.

While on the subject of the goat, Fredericksburg, Tex., sent this 18-month-old angora to Navy as a tribute to Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

Adm. Fitch greeted the goat with:

"High ya, Chester?"

Capt. Charles G. Humphreys, Navy's director of athletics, turned around and whispered:

"I'd be banged if I'd want a goat named after me."

Thus, hard as Fredericksburg, Tex., tried to have the goat named after its favorite son, "Chester" has been accepted as Billy the Tomb.

Naval Academy Is Football Minded All The Way Up

By FRANK PECK

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — The U. S. Naval Academy is football minded all the way from the top down. And that goes from Vice Adm. Aubrey W. Fitch, new superintendent at the Academy, to Bill the Tenth, the new Navy great from Texas.

The admiral very seldom misses a practice scrimmage which is a good thing for the midshipmen who carry those pliskins, say the Navy coaches. If there's anything a football player likes it's the fact that the top man will be on hand at most of the games.

This could be Navy's season because the gridmen appreciate having "the new boss" on board as an interested spectator.

Adm. Fitch is getting to know the leather loggers almost as well as the coaches.

3. Large amounts will be needed to cancel and liquidate war contracts.

4. Maintain forces of occupation in Germany and Japan. As late as July, 1946, the Army will need 1,315,000 men overseas, and the Navy will maintain an active force of 550,000 men.

5. Thrift will be necessary in order to keep down inflation.

"Let's put Seminole County over the top and be one of the first counties in the state to make our quota," urged Mr. Lane.

WHEN YOU GET THROUGH FIGURIN' WHAT YOUR VACATION TRIP IS GOIN' TO COST YOU--YOU'D BETTER MULTIPLY IT BY TWO AN' IT USUALLY COMES OUT ABOUT RIGHT.

No matter how you "figure it" neglecting your tires will definitely cost you money. Keep your tires in good repair with the help of the SEMINOLE TIRE SHOP.

ETA KET HELLO, ETTA. HI, GUESS I KNOW WHY YOU'RE HERE. SORRY TUCK MADE THAT GOONY CRACK ABOUT THAT OLD GIRL FRIEND OF YOURS. I ACTUALLY AM. HOW DO YOU FIND OUT ABOUT PAMELA? WE SNIFFED AROUND, SAW YOUR INITIALS ON THE TREE FIRST, THEN CHECKED THE YEAR BOOKS! IT REALLY WASN'T ANY SECRET! YOU MIGHT AS WELL KNOW THE STORY STRAIGHT-- PAM AND I WERE UP TO OUR EARS IN LOVE!

ETA KET COURSE YOU DONT HAVE TO TELL ME ABOUT YOUR OLD GIRL FRIEND IF YOU DONT WANT TO. WE WERE IN THE SAME CLASS AND UP TO OUR EYES IN LOVE! HOW PERFECTLY ROMANTIC! --WHEN THE WAR BROKE I ENLISTED. PAM WANTED TO GET MARRIED RIGHT AWAY I WANTED TO WAIT-- IT ENDED IN A QUARREL. THAT WAS FOUR YEARS AGO AND I HAVEN'T HEARD FROM HER SINCE. "WHAT A MESS WE MADE OF OUR LIVES!" IT SAYS IN THE CLASS YEAR BOOK SHE JOINED THE WACS.

HI, GENIUS! HOWS PLANS? TO DATE BUTCH, I MEAN? I'M COOKIN' UP SOMETHING, GIVE IT TIME TO JELL! THE OLD SYMPATHY ANGLE ALWAYS CLICKS. THIS "SISTERLY LOVE" ROUTINE IS KINDA COBBY TOO! BUT MAYBE IT'LL GIVE ME TIME TO GET THE NOOSE OVER HIS HEAD. HEY! WHO IS THE DROOLY JOB THE WOLF PACK HAS CORNERED? LOOKS LIKE COMPETITION! WAIT TILL BUTCH SEES HER!

LONE RANGER YOU UNDERSTAND WHAT WE'RE GOING TO DO AND SAY, DON'T YOU, POOLE? SURE, DOC, LET'S HEAD FOR THE TAVERN. YES, SAM, IT'S A REAL TRAGEDY. I DID EVERYTHING I COULD FOR "DUKE" MORGAN! TOO BAD-- TOO BAD! HE HAD A BAD CASE OF MIS-ANTHROPY, SO I SENT HIM TO AN INDIAN MEDICINE MAN. THAT TREATMENT IS USUALLY SUCCESSFUL, BUT IN THIS CASE-- HEY, "SKY" DID YUH HEAR WHAT THE PILL-ROLLER'S SAYIN'? SOMETHIN'S HAPPENED TO "DUKE"!

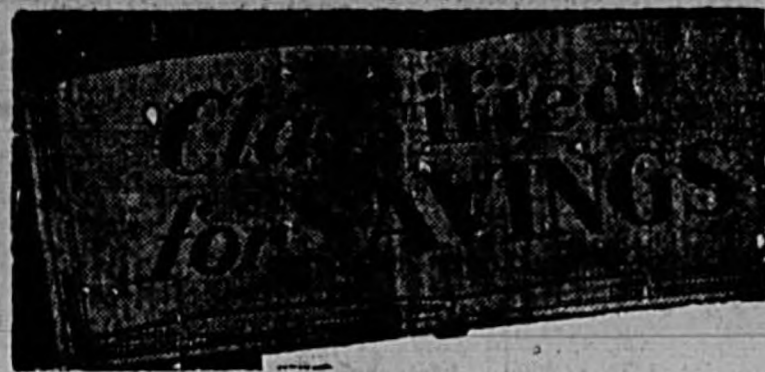

WHAT'S THAT? WHO SAYS SOMETHIN'S HAPPENED TO "DUKE"? DOC LANE, HE'S STANDIN' RIGHT OVER THERE. THEY'VE HEARD US, SAM, HERE COMES "SKY" WEBSTER. YEAH. HEY, SAWBONES! IS SOMETHIN' WRONG WITH "DUKE" MORGAN? IT DEPENDS ON WHAT YOU MEAN BY "WRONG." ACCORDING TO A REPORT I'VE JUST RECEIVED, THERE'S A GRAVE ABOUT TEN MILES SOUTH OF HERE WITH "DUKE'S" NAME ON IT.

YUH MEAN "DUKE" MORGAN'S DEAD? I DIDN'T SAY SO, I JUST HEARD THERE'S A GRAVE WITH HIS NAME ON IT. I-- I DON'T BELIEVE IT! CAN'T TELL IT MIGHT BE TRUE, THAT'S THE WAY "DUKE" HEADED TO FIND A CURE FOR HIS MIS- MIS- MISANTHROPY, A VERY SERIOUS DISEASE! THEN WHY DIDN'T YOU CURE HIM --STEAD 'O SENDIN' HIM TO A MEDICINE MAN? SUCH A DISEASE CAN'T BE CURED BY ORDINARY METHODS.

IF "DUKE" MORGAN'S REALLY DEAD, IT MEANS THAT I WON'T -- I DON'T BELIEVE IT! SUIT YOURSELF, "SKY." AND I'M RIDIN' DOWN THE SOUTH TRAIL RIGHT NOW TO FIND OUT. WE'LL GO WITH YUH, "SKY." SO FAR, THE SCHEME IS WORKING, SAM. IT SURE IS. RIDE BACK TO TOWN, DAN, YOU AND SAM POOLE, CAN SPREAD WORD AMONG THE RANCHERS ABOUT TOMORROW'S ELECTION. GOOD.

I DON'T SEE ANY SIGN OF -- WAIT, "SKY" LOOK OVER THERE! IT'S A GRAVE, ALL RIGHT, AND THE NAME ON THE HEADBOARD IS -- "DUKE" MORGAN. THIS IS AWFUL, WITH "DUKE" GONE, WE'VE LOST OUR PROTECTION AND -- YEAH, WHAT'LL HAPPEN IN THE ELECTION TOMORROW? WHAT'S THAT -- AN HONEST ELECTION WITHOUT "DUKE" MORGAN AND HIS GUNNIES? IT'S TRUE RIDE INTO BUFFALO POINT TO-MORROW AND SEE!

Time To Be Needed For Argentina To Return To Normal

By PAUL SANDERS
NEW YORK—If anyone can tell Argentina—richest and most literate of South American nations—how long it will take to clean up her confused mess, she'd like to know it.

Democratic President Juan Antonio Rios of Chile—Argentina's western neighbor—says that the Rio de la Plata republic is suffering from a serious illness which she, and she alone, can cure.

The basic illness of the country is nationalistic military dictatorship, complicated in recent years by Nazi-Fascist trimmings.

But whether Argentina would get back to normal quickly if the army were to hand power to civilians is conjectural.

For many years the country has had a notable lack of outstanding leaders or cohesion in the civilian political parties. Many Argentines fear that they don't have a man who could command nationwide respect.

incident with the military dictatorship alarmed many people inside and outside Argentina, but the country's troubles are basically home grown.

These troubles have come in spite of the democratic sentiments of a great majority of the Argentine people, who are mostly of Spanish and Italian stock, with a mixture of German, Polish, Irish, English, Swiss, Dutch, Hungarian, Belgian and French.

They are among the best fed people in the world, and most of them live comfortably — which may explain in part why, unless things get very bad, Argentines are inclined to yawn at politicians. They want democracy but they usually don't do much about it.

Typical of the confusion currently is the labor movement, which has been split wide open by Col. Juan Domingo Peron, the off-again, on-again strong man behind the military dictatorship.

By decreasing compulsory wage increases, by lowering rents and working hours by decree, by selecting and building up friends in the labor movement, Peron won considerable support in the unions. He has been telling labor that he is giving it a New Deal.

Many Argentines say that a majority of labor is opposed to Peron, but that he is able to engineer a demonstration or strike in his favor at any time.

Army Trouble
Argentina's difficulties find their roots in many local factors: Political activity by German officers, for years tried by army officers. Many Argentine officers studied in Germany, absorbed the psychology of the German general staff. Few Argentine army officers knew American or British democracy, or American industrial strength.

A preponderance of the nation's wealth, population and production is concentrated in Buenos Aires and its immediate territory, which means that whoever controls the city controls the nation. This factor plays into the hands of Army politicians. The only important military force is concentrated at Campo de Mayo, 25 miles from the capital.

If army officers decide to change government policy, or take power, they need merely threaten to march on the city. There is no other military strength within hundreds of miles, and the distant garrisons are weak and ineffective.

Argentine remember, too, the nation's early record of repeated civil wars, and the delay of continuing factions in accepting the principle of majority rule. Many years after independence was won from Spain in 1810.

They recall the long-standing struggle for control between rich and progressive Buenos Aires and the more conservative provinces, and the long struggle over what form of federal union was to be established before a constitution finally was drawn up and ratified in 1853.

That constitution — modeled after that of the United States — was adopted at a time when the country was contrite and exhausted after more than 20 years of the most brutal dictatorship the country ever experienced.

The dictator Juan Manuel Rosas, suppressed civil liberties, jailed, executed or exiled oppositionists, sent root squads prowling — Buenos Aires to hunt out enemies.

Road To Progress
After Rosas, the trend was more and more to stability and progress. In the 50 years up to 1930, the country had established a reputation as a modern, progressive, cultured country — an enlightened, democratic nation.

But Argentina slipped backward in 1930 and has floundered ever since. The Rosas influence had not died.

The country's dominant political party, the Radical Civic Union (centrist) had split wide open on charges of graft and personal rather than party rule, by aged President Hipolito Yrigoyen. Depression unemployment intensified general dissatisfaction and prompted an army march from Campo de Mayo which ousted Yrigoyen and installed Gen. Jose Francisco Uriburu as provisional president.

The military revolution, and its promises of reform, was greeted by cheering crowds unaware of what the army men really intended.

Uriburu allowed a local Fascist organization to get a foothold, but opinion against army rule was strong enough to force him to call elections in 1931. A moderate Gen. Agustin Justo was the army candidate.

Nazi Admirers
Justo had a stormy term, but moved toward normality by making Roberto Ortiz, a liberal businessman, his candidate in the 1937 presidential elections. To satisfy extreme conservatives, Justo put Ramon S. Castillo — a narrow provincial nationalist — for vice president.

Ortiz-Castillo won amid Radical Union and Socialist charges of a frame up, but things went smoothly for a time. Then the President fell ill, and Castillo became acting president.

Prodded by army officers who admired Nazi "efficiency" and who believed that Germany would win the war, Castillo set a neutrality policy the day after Pearl Harbor, and allowed Nazi espionage and influences to continue unchecked. Ortiz favored the United Nations, but was too ill to count, and died several months later.

Castillo suspended civil liberties and used force to keep dissatisfaction with his policies from getting out of hand. Democratic Argentines found Castillo unsatisfactory on all counts.

After he handpicked a candidate for the scheduled 1943 elections, the army timed a march from Campo de Mayo with a period of bitter anti-government feeling.

Peron in June 1943, ousted Castillo, and put a general in charge. The 1943 march — like that 13 years earlier — was greeted with applause. Thousands of Argentines again had confused the meaning of events.

The army leaders promised to clean things up and hold elections. But it became clear that the real ruler was Peron, leader of a group of ardent nationalists whose Jap Labor Is Reactivated Under U. S.

Black Market Flourishes On $500,000 Worth Of Stolen U.S. Army Rations

(By Associated Press)
The Jap labor movement has been reactivated under American occupation, is currently united and plans to use politics as its vehicle of advancement. An agreement has been reached at a meeting of Jap labor leaders who will convene again Friday to create a Socialist party.

Occupation authorities have jailed a dozen Nazis and impounded more than half a million dollars' worth of "bullion" and "securities." The black market is said to involve at least $500,000 worth of stolen army rations and clothing, has been smashed with the arrest of four American soldiers, two Italian middle men and three Jap distributors.

At Neustadt, Schleswig-Holstein it was revealed some 9,000 Nazi concentration camp victims are believed to have died when the Germans crammed them into four ships sent out deliberately into the Baltic Sea to be sunk by Allied warplanes five days before V-E Day. A ruthless search is now underway for the German naval commander responsible. The bodies of thousands who perished in blazing ships or drowned are still being washed up on the beaches. A few survivors told the story today. The full details will come before the war crimes trial of the Nazi Gamme Concentration Camp commander and his staff.

In Washington, President Truman disclosed he hopes the administration of conquered Germany now in military hands will be turned over to Allied civil authorities by next June. He also told his news conference he looks for Russia soon to join the Commission on Japanese Administration.

The Commission met yesterday but Russia was not represented. He said Great Britain and Canada which share the secrets of the atomic bomb have known how to produce the bomb. The three will soon have control on the future disposition of atomic energy. He said he hasn't yet given any thought to running for the presidency in 1948.

Supply Reported Light At Market By H. J. Lehman

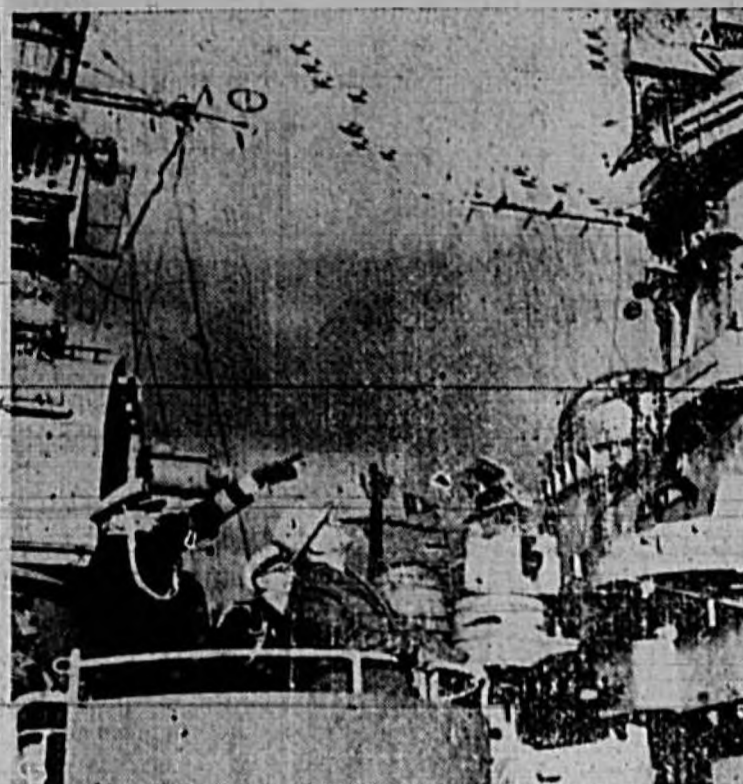

The Sanford State Market may be compared to mother Hubbard's famed cupboard; there is a big demand for vegetables but no supply, other than a few beans which earn their title of "snap beans" because they are snapped up so rapidly by produce buyers. Cabbage is in good supply, moving rapidly and in good supply. Manager H. J. Lehman, however, holds out hope for the vegetable buyers, and stated today that in another week cabbage will be cut. Plantings of these vegetables are about normal in this section and they seem to be maturing in fine fashion, he said. Celery plantings also seem to be about the same as last year, he added.

The Florida Vegetable Committee in its recent report, stated that due to anticipated heavy supply and to the fact that the OPA is allowing the calling to remain suspended. It is also reported that there are several promising new cabbage varieties in the making, resistant to disease and cold. There is also reported to be a difference of opinion on cabbage containers; whether to continue to use the cheaper bags, or to ship in wooden containers. Labor is the biggest problem facing the Florida vegetable industry at present the report stated. Despite the end of the war and release of men from war in industry and service, indications are that less agricultural labor will be available in 1946-48 than last year.

Growers and shippers have been warned that wartime exemptions from the child labor laws have been cancelled, and that the penalties for employing minors "oppressively" are heavy. All are urged to secure age certificates from school authorities before employing anyone under 16. The regulations are very strict, declared the FVO bulletin.

More headaches are in store for the vegetable growers, who have been advised that they might be subjected to heavier taxes in the future if they failed to abide by agreed wage scales for packing houses. The state further advised that the state thing to do is to stick to the wage scales or last resort in the vegetable areas.

Navy Sky Fleet Delights Truman

Ed Whitner To Take Over Golf Club Tomorrow

Ed Whitner is expected to arrive Thursday to take over the Seminole Country Club, Inc. He was announced today by G. W. Spencer, first vice president of the new corporation. Also due to arrive is Al Bryant who will again take over his former position as putting instructor. The golf club is in excellent condition and coming for the greens.

Ed Whitner spent six years of professional baseball playing on many teams before getting on the New York Yankees baseball team as a left fielder in the Spring of 1944. This was after he had been medically discharged from the U. S. Coast Guard, following three months of service. He was then advised that due to an injury in his back, he had better return to baseball.

He had gone from Kansas City to the Yankees for the first time in 1942 and hit fine during Spring training, but failed to connect with the ball often enough in 13 regular games, hitting .122 and was sent back to Kansas City where he hit for .309. Next he was sent to Newark, where he played in 1939 and 1940, hit for .322 including 12 home runs, nine triples, 36 doubles and 86 runs batted in, and was voted the third most valuable player in the International League.

With his second opportunity with the Yankees facing him, he purchased the best back brace available and reported for left field duty. His midseason performance in runs batted in, at 15 fewer games than any other player. His running, however, due to his back injury, caused him pain, and in midseason he was sold to Milwaukee where, playing irregularly, he batted .290.

Following this season on Oct. 23, 1944, he had a spinal operation, after which he spent the winter at Dubuque in Orlando playing golf to get in shape. Every club in the big circuits tried to draft him, and he was sold to the Philadelphia Athletics for $15,000, but was unable to play baseball again as he could no longer run.

A native of Alabama, he first shone on the baseball team of Asheville, N. C. High School, and as an outfielder on the football team of the same school. He was a member of the North Carolina Military Institute, he evaded the offers of North Carolina colleges, and at the request of Tom Powell, entered Rollins College at Winter Park on New Year's day in 1935, and after two years of baseball and one year of football, turned professional.

Coach Jack McDowell tried to get him to join Clark Griffith's Washington Senators, but instead, signed with the Philadelphia Athletics, formed out for seasoning to the Norfolk team of the Piedmont League.

He then played in turn with Birmingham of the Eastern League, New York of the Pacific Coast League, then to the Philadelphia Phillies, but returned to Newark after being on the injured list. After breaking his arm he was out of play until July, then went to Kansas City.

In 1940 he married a "Rollins girl," Katherine Forcher, of Coconos. They have an 11 months old son who was born in Orlando.

Capt. J. Morrison Injured In Battle Of Belgian Bulge

Capt. Jack K. Morrison, home on terminal leave, has purchased from H. F. Neiswander the controlling interest in the Seminole Tire Shop, Inc., which he is now managing.

Capt. Morrison, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Morrison, 300 S. Washington Ave., returned early this month to Sanford after five and a half years of active duty as a reserve officer, during which time he participated in the Third Army offensive in Europe.

He entered the service at Ft. Benning, Ga., in September, 1940, and was sent to the Panama Canal Zone for two and a half years during which time he was promoted from second lieutenant to first lieutenant and to captain. He then returned to the United States for a year during which he was engaged in activating a new unit, the 274th Field Artillery Battalion at Camp Philip, Kansas.

In July, 1944, he was assigned for overseas duty with the Third Army in England, and his battalion received new combat equipment. During middle August the group had its first combat experience in France, and was caught up with Patton's "Ghost Corps" which was making a wheeling movement encircling Paris. Later the unit was the first to approach Metz, and part of the unit had to wait for gasoline and underwent its first bombardment.

Following the attack of the Belgian bulge, the Battalion, included in the 4th Armored Division, deployed north to the relief of the 101 Airborne division whom they freed at Bastogne after the historic breakthrough. During this action, Capt. Morrison was wounded in the right hand by mortar shrapnel.

After the battle of the Bulge, the Battalion picked up with the 90th Infantry and pierced the Siegfried Line in the vicinity of Prum, Germany, in early January. They then returned with the 10th Armored Division to the front, which they liberated after a breakthrough. At Kaiserlautern they tried to contact the Seventh Army. With the 6th Armored spearhead they then went to Kassel and Muhlhausen, and on April 15, stopped 80 miles due west of Dresden.

The next move was to deploy south 150 miles in the drive to Regensburg with the 3rd Cavalry Group, and they were the first unit to direct artillery fire over the Danube River. They continued to Austria with the 12th Division, going parallel to the Danube River, until they halted on VE Day.

Capt. Morrison returned to Virginia on July 10, and was redeployed to Camp Bowie, Texas. He expects to receive his honorable discharge in December. His decorations include the ETO ribbon with four battle stars, the Purple Heart, a citation for meritorious service in the Luxembourg and Belgian campaigns and a ribbon for Liberation of Verdun. He is married to the former Mary Nell Smith of Sanford.

Judge M. B. Smith of the Circuit Court will be in his chambers Friday, according to County Clerk, O. P. Herndon.

British To Use All Weapons To End Revolt

General Slain While Arranging Details Of Cease Fire Order With Leaders

BATAVIA, Oct. 31. (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Sir Philip Christison, Allied commander in the Netherlands East Indies, issued an ultimatum today, threatening to crush with all the force of his command any Indonesian forces which attacked British troops.

He acted shortly after announcing the murder of a British Brigadier last night while arranging details of a cease fire order in the company of Indonesian leaders. The murder climaxed a three day battle which apparently had ended when a new attack broke out.

A renewed battle at Soerabaya ended last night after the outnumbered British agreed to a truce which reportedly excludes Dutch troops from the naval base and gives the Indonesian Nationalists a large measure of control.

British Maj. Gen. Hawthorne was understood to have agreed to permit Indonesian organized groups to maintain their arms and to share patrolling of the Soerabaya dock area with the British.

Hawthorne, who entered Indonesian forces' lines with President Soekarno of the Indonesian Republic, reportedly gave verbal assurance that no Dutch troops would be permitted to land at Soerabaya. The British frigate Waveley hastily put to sea this morning to intercept two Dutch ships en route to the naval base.

Hawthorne also was said to have agreed that areas outside the city were to be policed entirely by Indonesian forces, such as the peace preservation corps—T. K. K.

The truce was regarded by some observers here as a victory for the Indonesians, since it was a British order to surrender their arms which provoked the three-day battle in which 20 British Indian troops were killed and 50 were wounded. Casualties were not announced.

At the request of Mrs. H. W. Ricker, president of the Sanford Women's Club, Mayor Edw. Higgins today requested that every citizen in Sanford participate in an intensive clean-up campaign beginning Thursday, Nov. 1 and continuing through the month of November.

Top of additional moving machinery and men to carry out as rapidly as possible the City's parkways, streets and alleys, has been authorized by the City Commission. Mayor Higgins declared.

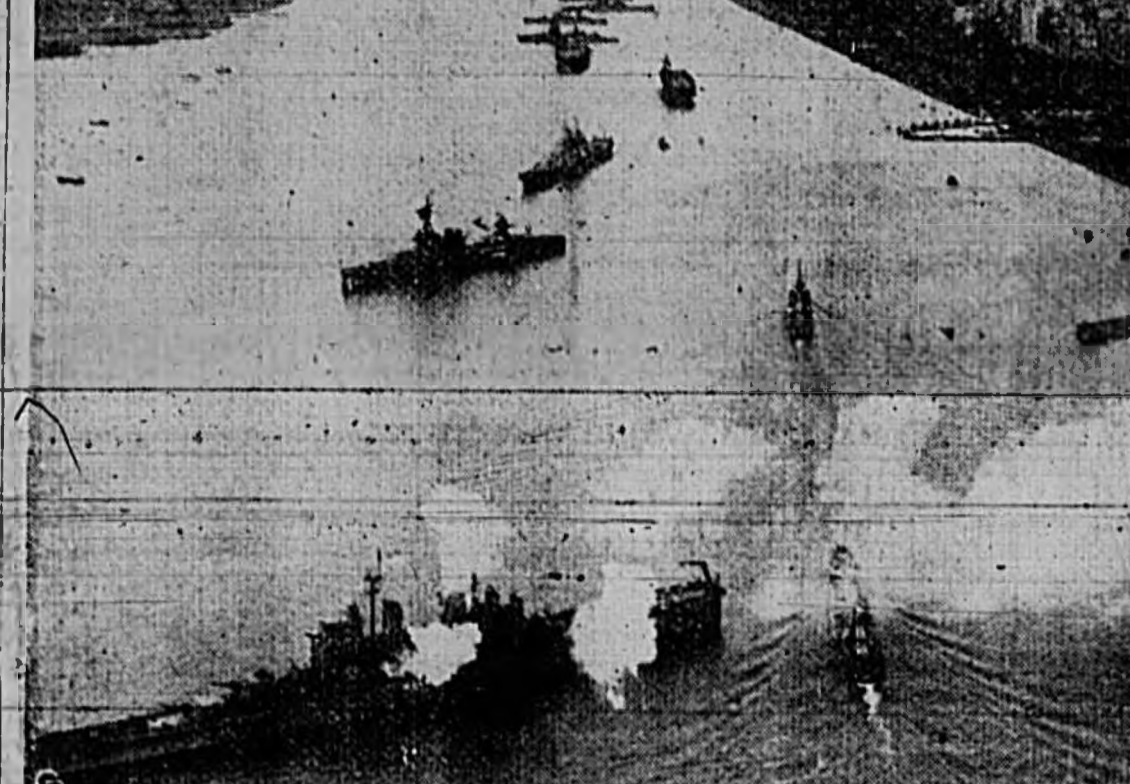

James Moughton, park superintendent, will cooperate in this work by using every facility at his command, it was stated. Members of the Seminole Chapter of Future Farmers of America have offered their services and equipment to Mr. Moughton for this purpose, and plans are being worked out to use these services.

"If all of us work together on this project," said Mayor Higgins, "we can make a considerable showing in the next 30 days, providing everyone does his share."

On Monday the City received some much needed equipment in the form of a rotary pump, a soil mixer and a sewer pump, according to City Clerk, H. N. Sayer.

Mr. Sayer recently spent two days estimating the probable cost of labor and materials for the swimming pool project in Ft. Mellon Park. These figures have been forwarded to Wesley Hints, construction engineer of Lansing, Mich. The latter was recently yielded out to call for bids on the project before Feb. 1, as he believed that conditions would be better for building at that time.

Cruiser Booms Salute For Truman

Application Filed For Radio Station To Be In Sanford

Application has been made with the Federal Communication Commission in Washington for a radio station to be located in Sanford.

The application was filed several weeks ago by a former business associate of J. L. Ingles, who revealed that the man is now in the radio business in a number of other cities.

The Chamber of Commerce made a survey of Sanford for the applicant and the City of Sanford designated a plot of ground to be used for the aerial tower and studio building, which was acceptable to the applicant.

Arrangements have been made for a national hookup and the application is now pending in Washington with a decision expected in the near future.

Rev. Carpenter Is Speaker At Kiwanis Meet

The part that religion has to play in the avoidance of future wars and maintenance of peace was today stressed by the Rev. Mark Carpenter, pastor of Holy Cross Episcopal Church, in an inspiring talk to Kiwanis at the Hotel Mayfield. He was introduced by Ralph A. Smith.

"Religion is a subject that has profound meaning for us and today which is in our hands, and is a matter of clear thinking and is seeking a purpose for its troubles," he said.

He then told of those "little men" who look hopefully to San Francisco, Potsdam and London conferences for the securing of a peace that will endure but soon the only peace is peace in every human heart.

"Peace is an elusive thing in life," he declared, "and there can be no real peace in the world unless there is peace in every human heart."

He noted that with enduring peace in the world would no longer be caused by another war, that our minds could not take of the horror that might be wrought by us if there were war with the United States.

"The purpose of religion is to bind us together and to displace distrust and suspicion among men and nations," he declared, "and that all churches of the country were seeking to raise $17,000,000 to rebuild churches, hospitals and schools in bombed areas and added that a battleship cost $120,000,000 and he pointed out that both outlays were essential to insure peace."

He pointed out that the distance apart of wars had been telescoping together in the last century, and even now there are tensions in the air. Hence loyalty to "The Lord" and the binding of people together by their religion, he said, constituted the only hope of building a new world.

Dr. L. T. Doss, Kiwanis president, received an affirmative vote, when he requested Kiwanis to meet jointly on Nov. 12 with Rotary, and the Lions Club to hear Rev. Carpenter's address. He also announced that the San Francisco conference, Fred H. Wilson said that Kiwanis had a goal in this area of $100,000 sales in the Victory loan drive. Ed L. L. collected French Harveys, manager of the Ritz Theater, as a Kiwanian.

In nearly two years and nine months of rationing, each civilian has been entitled to six pairs of rationed shoes — slightly more than an average of two pairs yearly. Generally, this was enough for the men, but not sufficient to satisfy women or children with growing feet.

OPA Chief Bowles warned in issuing the directive that consumers will not always be able to buy the shoe styles they want in the immediate future. But he said that 25,000,000 pairs were produced this month and that output in November and December probably will reach 30,000,000 pairs monthly—a rate equal to normal pre-war demand.

Truman Asks Wage Increase For Workers

President Approves Boosts In Pay; Movie Employees Return To Work

(By Associated Press)
The National Labor Dispute idle totals 261,000 today as President Truman appealed for industrial peace and prosperity approved reasonable wage boosts with price increases only where necessary.

Movie picture workers, 7,000 strong, have returned to work after a 34 week walkout following an AFL jurisdiction dispute. The strike leaders claim victory. This four day strike of AFL workers which closed the port of Galveston, Tex. ended after a settlement of the wage dispute.

All over bus transportation east of the Mississippi River was threatened with a tie-up by a strike of 4,000 AFL employees of the central and Pennsylvania Greyhound and affiliate lines. A strike, to about 350,000 mechanics in the San Francisco area is keeping more than 40,000 other workers off the jobs.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—President Truman last night urged higher wages for labor generally—without increase in prices—but authorized pay boosts in industries essential to reconstruction even if their prices go up.

Declaring that pentecite cuts in earnings are a "stare road to wide unemployment" if not corrected, he named three classes of workers entitled to wage boosts although they may mean rise in prices of the goods they produce.

"I wonder how many of you know that many war workers have already had to take, or will soon have to take, a cut in their wartime pay by one-quarter or more," he said in his long-awaited wage-price broadcast.

"If nothing is done to help the workers in this situation, millions of families will have to tighten their belts by several (Continued on Page Four)

Celeryfeds Being Groomed For Game With Daytona "B"

By "Duke" MacNeill
The Seminole High School "B" team will travel to Daytona Beach to play the Matanzas High School "B" team Thursday evening. This will be the opening game of the season for the "B" squad.

The Febs, sparked by Lossing and Grantham, star "B" team backs, will be out to avenge last year's losses to Daytona. In Donald Deal, freshman tall back, the Febs have a hard runner. Aided by Lossing and Grantham who are outstanding downfield blockers, he should be able to break away for numerous gains.

The local boys, aided by personnel from the Sanford Naval Air Station, have been at work during the past week on their passing attack which is rumored to be good. The probable starting lineup will be: LE Jennings; LT Wetherington; LE Shoemaker; C Heel; RG Hardin; RT Jenkins; RE, Wheelch; LH Lansing; BH Alexander; QB, Latham and FB Deal.

The regular season will play St. Augustine Friday evening in that city.

Pfc. Ralph L. Peters Enjoys Riviera Area

With the United States Forces on the Riviera, Nice, France—(Oct. 31, Special)—Pfc. Ralph L. Peters, 317 Park Avenue, Sanford, with Company A, 160th Engineer Construction Battalion, recently spent seven day furlough in the U.S. Riviera Recreational Area at Nice.

During his stay on the famous Blue Coast, the "Coast of Azur" frequented by millions of vacationists before the war, Pfc. Peters enjoyed the many vacation pleasures organized by the U.S. Army to give its soldiers a chance to rest and relax.

Overseas for 16 months, Pfc. Peters earned five battle participation stars on his European Theater Ribbon for campaigns through France, Luxembourg, Germany and Austria. His battalion built the longest cable bridge across the Rhine at Malmedy. His wife, Mrs. Mildred Peters, Peters at present lives at 317 Park Avenue, Sanford, Fla. Pfc. Peters lives in Jacksonville.
