Town Adequate For About 5,000 Has Everything But Occupants

PICKSTOWN, S. D. 495 — Is the housing shortage bothering you? If so, there's a whole town going begging for occupants here shortly.

It's a town adequate for 5,000 to 5,500 population. It was built to accommodate workers and U. S. Army Corps of Engineers personnel who constructed huge Ft. Randall Dam here, and cost about nine million dollars. It will be abandoned unless some suitable use can be found.

All the government wishes to retain is about 50 houses to accommodate some 100 employees who operate the dam's powerhouse and other facilities.

The layout includes a church, a 500-capacity school, a theater and a 20-bed hospital.

The complete with a half-million-dollar hotel with 122 rooms and three apartments. There's a garage, fire and police station, large recreation hall, a huge warehouse and a modern shopping center. The railroad tracks run to the door.

But don't start packing, because you can't move in yet. The Army hasn't decided what disposition will be made of the facilities.

Disposition will be governed by congressional action directing the corps to recover at least a part of the government's investment.

Gov. Sigurd Anderson and Executive Secretary Hug Carlson of the State Natural Resources Commission are leading efforts to keep Pickstown alive. They believe some industry must be looking for just such a location and would be willing to buy the town back, stock and barrel.

Beauty Contestants Busy At Pageant

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — Some are fidgety, nervous and worried. Others are calm, cool and collected. But all 51 are beautiful. That's why they're here.

They've come to be judged in the nation's oldest beauty contest—the Miss America Pageant.

Just ahead is a frenzied week of preliminary contests, rehearsals, picture-taking and a parade.

But the climax—the naming of Miss America, 1955—will have a "new look" this year. It's all part of a campaign on the part of pageant authorities to put some zip into the affair when the girls battle it out for the title and the $50,000 in awards that go with it.

The successor to last year's winner Evelyn Ay, of Ephrata, Pa., will be named at a nationally televised show Saturday night in Convention Hall. For the first time the annual pageant parade down this resort's famed boardwalk will be held at night.

Pageant officials figure a night parade will be cooler for both spectators and marchers. It will also give more people a chance to view the many floats, bands and girls.

Instead of performing on the vast stage as in years past, the girls will show off their curves and talents on a Y-shaped runway jutting out toward the center of the hall.

When the pageant started back in 1921—beauty in a bathing suit was all that mattered.

Later, officials decided beauty was not just skin deep. So the "ideal American girl" had to show a beautiful, beautiful personality and beautiful poise in an evening gown.

What do the past winners think of the beauty-plus-talent idea? Now, as they look back at it, did their victories really mean anything in their lives? Would they, if they could, enter again? The answers, received in a sampling of past winners, say yes.

"I'd certainly do it again," says Mrs. Jacques Mercer Curran, 1949 winner. "I'm praying for a baby girl so she can enter the contest some day. It's an experience a girl can find nowhere else."

Mrs. Curran is the wife of Dick Curran, who plays pro football with the Green Bay Packers. They met at the University of Arizona which she attended one year as a law and drama student after winning the title.

Marilyn Robert's triumph in 1936 indirectly led to her marriage and the marriage recently ended in divorce. Still, she's all in favor of the beauty contest.

With her $100 scholarship, she studied with a Hollywood drama coach, was briefly employed by

Two Back Combos Planned At Tampa

TAMPA, Fla. — The University of Tampa doesn't have the manpower to handle an "S" and a "T" backfield out. Instead, it plans two combinations of its backs.

Coach Marcelino Hurta is going to have an "S" and a "T" backfield out. Reason for this, he explains, is so all his best backs can get in lots of play in every game.

On his "T" backfield combination he plans to use veterans Bill Minahan at quarterback, Tom Spack at halfback and Al Leathers at fullback.

The "S" backfield will have freshman Don Herndon at one half, freshman Bob Gambrell at fullback and two veterans from the 1953 squad at quarter—Ed Peck and Mike Skaravals.

Censures Rare In Senate History

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congress has been called on in past years to decide what to do about members who spat in the face of opponents, clubbed them with fireplace tongs and, in one case, even shot a colleague dead in a duel.

The lawmakers unquestionably took a dim view of such goings-on. But records indicate that Congress was inclined to forgive and forget in return for an apology.

These turbulent episodes in congressional history were turned up in a search of precedents for hearings a special Senate committee has started on resolutions in censure.

These turbulent episodes in congressional history were turned up in a search of precedents for hearings a special Senate committee has started on resolutions in censure.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) for his conduct.

Censures have been extremely rare in the Senate, somewhat more frequent in the House. No recorded instance closely parallels the McCarthy case, which involves allegations concerning a wide variety of his activities said by advocates to be tending to bring the Senate into disrepute.

Three Senate cases are cited as precedents, although the first of these, occurring in 1850, did not actually get to the point of censure.

1. According to the records, Sen. Henry S. Foote of Mississippi impeached Sen. Thomas H. Benton of Missouri with a pistol during an 1850 debate and the matter was referred to a special committee.

The committee, in its report, condemned carrying arms in the Senate and regretted what it called a "flagrant breach of order." It, however, recommended no action and none was taken.

2. The first instance in which the Senate voted censure was a two-way affair in 1902 in which both of South Carolina's senators, John L. McLaurin and Benjamin R. Tillman, were censured.

The records give this account:

In a debate on a revenue bill for the Philippine Islands, McLaurin called a statement of Tillman "a willful, malicious and deliberate lie." Tillman strode over to McLaurin and the two "met in a personal encounter" before they were pulled apart by other senators.

The Senate immediately went into executive session, adopted a resolution declaring McLaurin and Tillman in contempt of the Senate, and referred the matter to the Privileges and Elections Committee with instructions "to report what action shall be taken."

The Senate also voted to let the two senators to be heard "so they might purge themselves of contempt." Both McLaurin and Tillman then apologized to the Senate.

Six days later the Privileges and Elections Committee submitted a report saying that no investigation it could make could possibly throw any additional light on the altercation since it had taken place in full view of all the senators.

It recommended adoption of a resolution censuring both senators but vacating the previous order judging them in contempt. The Senate approved the resolution 64-12.

3. No violence, of word or deed, was involved in the Senate's only other censure case, occurring in 1928. Nor was the matter referred to a committee.

In that year a Senate committee said in a report on an investigation of lobbying activities that Sen. Hiram Bingham of Connecticut had employed a lobbyist and admitted him to a closed meeting of a committee considering tariff law changes.

On the basis of the report, Sen. George W. Norris of Nebraska proposed that Bingham be censured. The facts were not disputed and, although Bingham said he had intended no wrong, the censure resolution was adopted.

In contrast with these rare censure cases in the Senate, the House has a history of censure cases dating back to 1788 when Rep. Roger Griswold of Connecticut taunted Rep. Asa Lyon of Vermont about his Army record and Lyon spat in his face.

A resolution to expel Lyon for "disorderly behavior" was introduced, but before this was settled (Griswold, according to the records, set upon Lyon with a cane a few days later in the House and Lyon grabbed some things from the fireplace and hit back).

The next day a resolution was introduced to expel both House members. This was referred to the committee on privileges and, after taking evidence, it recommended against the expulsion resolution. The House approved its recommendation and also rejected a censure motion.

How even the action of the Senate when the Philippines were ceded in 1902 is recorded in history. Bingham of Conn. and Tillman of S. C. are shown. A speech written by Marie Therese, editor of SERVICE Magazine, for the July issue. Frank — The Eagle in the Gallery.

Gen. Bradley Says UDF Services Are Important To Tomorrow's Leaders of Democracy

Through the services of United Defense Fund agencies we, here at home, keep in touch with our young people in uniform. We make them aware that we appreciate and have respect for the job they're doing and we let them know that, meanwhile, we are doing everything we can to strengthen democracy here.

By providing adequate health and recreation services through our own united efforts, we are helping to avert that feeling on the part of service people that they are cut off, that they are an isolated group. We can make it possible for them to continue, in some measure at least, to enjoy our standards and to take part in the life of the community where they are stationed.

This, in my judgment, is tremendously important. We are engaged in a fight to preserve our way of life. We are defeating our own purpose if we allow our young people, tomorrow's leaders of our democracy, to be shut off from that way of life during those years that are vitally important in their development.

Red Artillery Blasted Again

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) - Chinese Communist artillery batteries and military bases on the mainland coast opposite Formosa were bombed and shelled three days straight yesterday by Nationalist planes and warships today. A Defense Ministry communiqué said that the results of the latest attacks were being assessed. The "best pocket war" over the Nationalist offshore island of Quemoy, 120 miles west of here, and that covers miles off the Chinese coast, began a week ago today with a five-hour Red bombardment from shore batteries. Although the fight showed no sign of cooling, Nationalist officials today flew a group of newswomen to Quemoy for an on-the-spot inspection. Cards Answer To Dog Problem In Tallahassee

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - Is your dog a neighborhood nuisance? If he is, and you live in Tallahassee, you'll probably get an unsigned postcard from one, or more, of your irritated neighbors calling it to your attention. This is the most approach being taken by a Tallahassee organization, the Tallahassee K-9 Obedience Training Club, to the dog problem. Club President Harry Watts, a retired real estate broker, who came up with the postcard idea, said it had the twofold purpose of taking the heat off city officials and to forestall restrictive legislation against dogs. The postcards, also, show the dog owner how to keep it from being a public nuisance.

Storm Threatening To Strike Coastline

The northeast braced itself today for four hurricanes Edna might rake the coast anywhere from Cape Hatteras north to Miami. Storm warnings were out the entire length of the coast and coastal dwellers were moving inland. As far north as Montauk Point at the tip of Long Island the sky was reported "grey and eerie" by storm-weary residents. The wind was ominously warm, the Atlantic dark and swelling. The Boston Weather Bureau reported near noon that the hurricane is expected to be near southeastern New England by early Saturday, with winds reaching 50 to 70 miles an hour by late tonight. On the Long Island and New Jersey coasts some late vacationers were leaving their summer homes, recalling the fury of Hurricane Carol which struck with little warning on Aug. 30 and took a toll of 60 lives and wrought damage approaching one-half billion dollars.

Charles W. Pace, Commission Head, Gets Axed Today

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - The Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission today fired Director Charles W. Pace and Commission Chairman Miller V. Jones of Jacksonville to plan the action was dictated by Acting Gov. John F. B. (Shorty) Jones of Madison, a lawyer in John's unsuccessful gubernatorial campaign to replace Pace in the $100 a year job. The commission met in special session to fire Pace after a closed meeting with Jones and his executive assistant, Leonard Pepper, in the governor's office. Commission regulations require a week's notice for commission meetings, but an opinion from the attorney general was obtained to sanction the special session of all commissioners without the notice. Jones opened the meeting by saying it had been called primarily to dispose with "corruption" of the director and he would enter into a motion to that effect. "I asked Mr. Pace if he was willing to resign. He said no. If he will resign I move we discharge him," Commissioner M. G. Hoadley of Wildwood said.

Change Expected To Pass Judge Blocks Opposition

Parents are picketing unsegregated schools in two West Virginia counties and there have been moves to set so-called "councils" to enforce segregation in Mississippi. The white people in certain counties are organizing to protest themselves. A Mississippi legislator said Thursday, "Practically every county in the state has organized or is organizing." Mississippians soon will be voting on a constitutional amendment which could lead to abolition of the public school system. One legislator said the "citizens' council" might aid passage of the amendment. A member of one of the councils refusing to be quoted by name, declared, "We want the courts assured that there is responsible leadership which will and can handle local segregation problems. If that is recognized, there will be no cause for any hot-headed bunk to start a Ku Klux Klan. If we fail, though, the name of the public may produce something like the Klan."

Probationer Shoots Cop Two Firemen

MILWAUKEE (AP) - A youth on probation for a narcotics offense and two firemen last night with a shotgun barrage from his apartment Wauwatosa home. The officer, shot in the abdomen, was seriously wounded, but expected to live. After an exchange of gunfire that lasted several minutes, William C. Hake, 22, threw the 12-gauge shotgun from a bedroom window and was seized by two Wauwatosa officers who accepted his date to "come in and get me." "Here come the heroes," he said as they burst into the bedroom with drawn guns. Police said Hake went berserk after an argument with his father. He fired Hake over the son's insistence on drinking. The firemen were not in serious condition. They were surrounded as they pulled up in a fire truck in response to a call for reinforcements. Mr. Hake and his wife left the house after William threw a butcher knife at a bathroom door during the argument. Hake was put on probation two years ago, at the plea of his father, on charges of possessing marijuana and giving heroin to a girl.

U. S. Loaded For B'ar

WASHINGTON (AP) - Chairman Lewis G. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission says the United States has many more atomic weapons in its arsenal than it did a year ago. Strauss was tight-lipped yesterday when reporters sought to find out about U.S. and Russian progress in the atomic arms race. "The AEC chief told a news conference this country has more weapons by a wide margin than we had a year ago," he said and the production rate is mounting rapidly. But when asked whether the United States has any new weapons, Strauss would only recall that he had said a spring series of weapons tests in the mid-Pacific "were very fruitful." A spokesman asked if there had been any new Soviet atomic blasts since the United States announced detection of a Russian test about a year ago. After some thought, Strauss replied, "That is a field where I ought not to answer." He cautioned newsmen not to "draw any inferences" from his reply. The AEC chairman said that "in all likelihood there will be continuing tests of new weapons at the Marshall Islands proving grounds. Other sources have reported a new test series is in the works for next spring. Strauss also said he knows of no plan to move the testing area from where a mighty hydrogen bomb was detonated last March, setting loose a radioactive cloud which drifted beyond the war-torn area. Some Japanese fishermen 80 miles from the blast were stricken by radiation sickness and some Marshall Islands natives also suffered, but less severely. This led to demands from some Japanese that the tests be halted or the test location moved. Strauss' news conference ranged into the field of peaceful atomic energy uses and the AEC chairman said he expects conferences to open soon on creation of an international agency along lines suggested by President Eisenhower. Strauss said, too, he hopes for an international conference of scientists on nonmilitary use of atomic energy "not long after the first of the year." On other matters, Strauss said: "A controversial contract with a private combine, the Dixon Yates group, to furnish power to the Tennessee Valley Authority area probably will be signed within two weeks. Eisenhower's directive to the AEC to negotiate that contact with the Dixon Yates group kicked up a furor in the closing days of the congressional session. Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell has kept the issue alive by claiming the Dixon Yates group profited from the deal. 2. Despite reports that atomic scientists were aroused over the AEC's decision to bar Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer from access to government atomic secrets, Strauss found the turnover of personnel at big AEC laboratories to be normal and the recruiting of new scientific talent satisfactory.

Government Researcher Says Older Heavy Smokers Run 5 To 15 Times Greater Risk Of Getting Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) - A government researcher said today heavy cigarette smokers now 50 years old have from 5 to 15 times greater chance than nonsmokers of developing lung cancer before they are 80. It is Sidney J. Cutler, staff statistician at the National Cancer Institute at nearby Bethesda, Md., who emphasized that nobody has proved cigarettes cause lung cancer but added: "It is fairly clear that whatever the causal mechanism may be, smokers are more likely to develop lung cancer than nonsmokers." Cutler's paper was one of several dealing with relationships between cigarette smoking and cancer cases, prepared for the International Congress of Pathology, a conference which is being attended by specialists from many parts of the world. The American Cancer Society announced last June that one of its studies showed that cigarette smokers 50 to 70 years old died earlier than those who were nonsmokers. But many scientists have said there is no conclusive evidence that cigarettes themselves bring on cancer. The tobacco industry has said more study is needed to determine causes of cancer and heart disease, and has set up an industry study committee, headed by Dr. Clarence Cook Little. Little has said he subscribed to a statement that "one cannot at this time exclude the possibility that heavy cigarette smoking and the tendency to cancer are both expressions of a more fundamental cause of a constitutional or hormonal nature." Dr. Johannes Clemmensen of the Danish Cancer Registry, Copenhagen, in a statement prepared for today's meeting, said: "In spite of many factors which may be expected to obscure the results it appears that there is a distinct correlation between the number of cigarettes consumed in the various countries... and the height of the national mortality from lung cancer." Dr. Nils Ringertz of Sabbabergh Hospital, Stockholm, said it is doubtful if such things as air pollution or smog and similar sub-stances are important factors, on a worldwide basis, in the rise in lung cancer deaths. He added "there is strong but so far not quite complete evidence that tobacco smoking, especially cigarette smoking, is the most important exogenous (external) factor causing the main part of the lung cancer cases."

Ex-Prof, 4 Others Before Grand Jury

MIAMI (AP) - Five persons, including a former associate professor in the University of Miami drama department, were called before the Dade County Grand Jury yesterday to tell what they know of Communist activities in this area. They were identified as Sam Hirsch, the former professor; Emanuel D. (Manny) Graft, of the A.F.I. Painters Local 365; Helen Lee Barclay, a sculptress; Abe Sorkin and Leonard Schiff. Hirsch, who denied to reporters that he is or ever was a Communist, is on a year's leave from the university to manage the Bill-dred Theatre.
