DIVE INTO BAY ENDS PLANS TO SPAN PACIFIC

Parachutes Save Flier And Helper Who Was Aiding In Re- fueling Of Craft

SEATTLE, May 31.—(A.P.)—A spectacular dive into Elliot Bay here yesterday ended the trans-Pacific flight attempt of Nathan C. Brown, New York aviator, at the starting point.

Brown and his volunteer assistant in refueling operations, Frank Brooks, were fished out of the water by a party in a sea sled. Brown had a dislocated shoulder. Brooks was unharmed although he complained he "hadn't intended to take a bath until Saturday."

"We both left the plane at the same time," Brooks said. "We couldn't help it. When the wing tore off, we were left sitting almost in the open air."

"It rained plane all around us as we settled in our parachutes to the water. We left the plane at an altitude of 500 feet and the chutes opened about 100 feet below us."

Brooks said the wing was torn off in a steep dive caused when the weighted nose of the gasoline hose dangling from the refueling plant above caught in the stabilizer of Brown's plane and lifted the tail and smashed the rudder assembly.

"I was flying just above them," Frank Wheeler, pilot of the refueling ship said, "and we were trying to make contact with the Lone Star with our refueling hose. The Lone Star dipped down several times to avoid a collision with my plane and was jacking for a letter permit."

Poppy Day Sale Is Big Success With $202.50 Collected

Stories of the depression in Sanford may have to take a back seat, for a few days at least, if the amount of money so collected on downtown streets Saturday during a Poppy Day sale is any indication.

According to Mrs. J. C. Benson, general chairman of the sale, a total of $202.50 was collected during the day, an amount nearly $50 in excess of the 1930 collection, and nearly $30 in excess of last year's total.

In expressing her appreciation to the numerous persons and agencies who helped make the day a success, Mrs. Benson first thanked the residents of Sanford whose generous contribution to the Rehabilitation and Child Welfare work of the American Legion "is an indication that they are interested in the plight of the men who sacrificed their lives and bodies during the World War."

She expressed appreciation to the Sanford Herald for the publicity attending the sale, and to the following women who assisted during the sale: Mrs. Daisy M. Lewis, Mrs. J. H. Hintersmister, Mrs. B. E. Stevens, Mrs. W. T. Langley, Mrs. L. M. Leinhardt, Mrs. Harold Washburn, Mrs. C. A. Byrd, Mrs. W. R. Dyson, Mrs. Brown Miller, Mrs. C. J. Park, Mrs. George A. DeFoster, Miss Rebecca Stevens, Miss Margaret Wright, and Miss Jeannette Laing.

VETERAN REGAINS RING

CHICAGO, May 31.—(A.P.)—Robert N. Winslow lost a ring on a French battlefield in 1918. A sergeant in a dressing station, where Winslow had gone 16 years ago for treatment, recently returned it to him through a veteran's organization.

MRS. CYRUS CURTIS DIES

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—(A.P.)—Mrs. Cyrus Curtis, wife of the Philadelphia publisher, died in a hospital today. She has been suffering from heart trouble for several years. Curtis, who suffered an attack of indigestion recently, is also in the hospital and is reported recovering.

PALMETTO—S, 18 and 25 cent store of L. P. Pover and Co. opened for business in Manatee County State Bank building.

Court Will Review Cases Of Negroes

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(A.P.)—The Supreme Court decided to review the sentence of seven negroes convicted of assaulting two white girls near Scottsboro, Alabama. The negroes were to have been executed June 24. The action of the highest court today postpones the executions as the court set the cases for argument Oct. 10. Counsel will be heard in oral arguments and the court will decide whether the facts require setting aside the convictions.

JAPAN CHARGED WITH SEEKING TO INVADE SIBERIA

Activity Is Seen As Preparations For War Against U. S.

MOSCOW, May 31.—(A.P.)—The government organ Ivestia yesterday charged certain Japanese elements with seeking an invasion of eastern Siberia to facilitate Japan's preparations for war against the United States by making available for the Japanese military machine the rich natural resources of Asiatic Russia.

In a sharp warning to Japan not to try to lay her hands on Siberia, the vigorous editorial pronounced the Japanese "recent demands in certain sections of the Japanese press for war against Soviet Russia."

Declaring that the resources of Manchuria first were sought, Ivestia said that intelligent Japanese public opinion could not be relieved of responsibility for the alliance in the face of such a campaign, "which might lead to the sending of millions of people to a bloody slaughter."

"The Soviet Union does not demand anything of Japan," the editorial went on.

"The extent of our strength is recognized even by some Japanese politicians, because the measure of that strength is shrouded by the Japanese press. This won't frighten us. Siberia is not a street on which imperialist robbers may walk in safety."

"Not only the imperialists but the masses of both countries would suffer from any such intervention. That is why Soviet public opinion is calling on the serious elements of Japan to put an end to unprovoked bloody propaganda."

Kataji Dehuchi, Japanese ambassador at Washington, said recently that "Japan has no thought of invading Russian territory" and declared that "neither Soviet Russia nor Japan wants war."

"There is no denying that Soviet Russia has been used by about the unsettled conditions in Manchuria," he said. But he added that he thought there have been "considerable exaggerations of the number of troops the Russians have in Siberia along the Manchurian border."

Gen. Sadao Araki, Japanese minister of war, said at Tokyo, however, that there was a menacing situation in north Manchuria resulting from Russian massing of troops on the frontier.

"We are unable to understand what these war-like preparations mean," he said.

The charge that Japan is preparing for war against the United States apparently is a fresh one in the controversy between Japan and Russia, who have neighboring interests in the Far East.

Curiosity In Oranges Displayed To Herald

A curiosity in oranges taken from a single tree on the J. W. Plynt properties at Geneva was brought into The Herald office today by Mr. Plynt who declared that, although he has had wide experience in the growing of citrus fruit he has been unable to find any person who will name the orange.

The orange resembles any other orange in size, taste, and general appearance, but it is seedless. It was taken from a tree which bears fruit the year around and upon which fruit has been known to hang for two years after it has ripened. The tree blooms several times yearly, and Mr. Plynt says that it is possible to pick mature fruit, half-grown oranges, they show some, and blossoms from the tree at the same time.

STOCK MART IS MADE TARGET OF DENOUNCER

Emphasizes Necessity For Federal Legis- lation To Regulate Market Activities

NEW YORK, May 31.—(A.P.)—In an attack on the New York Stock Exchange, Samuel Untermyer yesterday stated that the Krueger & Toll debacle "once again emphasizes the necessity for federal legislation regulating the supervising and curbing the uncontrolled power" of the Exchange. The attack is contained in a letter which the veteran lawyer has addressed to the Exchange as counsel for the independent protective committee for Krueger & Toll debenture holders.

It is in reply to a recent communication from the Exchange in which it refused to use its power in helping the independent protective committee gain access to a list of Krueger & Toll bond holders.

"The only parties who have access to the lists of debenture holders," are Lee Higginson & Co., and their allied banking houses, underwriters, and members of the selling syndicate by and through whom these debentures were issued and distributed to the public," Untermyer's letter states.

"All of these sales were based upon a prospectus signed by Lee Higginson & Co., and their co-syndicate members, that was a mass of grossly false and fraudulent statements. I do not for a moment suggest these gentlemen know or had reason to believe, that the representatives were false."

Although I have no evidence on the subject, I am satisfied that the contrary is the case, but insist that there was unduly able negligence on their part amounting to constructive fraud, which renders them liable to the tens of thousands of investors who have been defrauded."

"It is hardly likely that these victimized investors, if they had any alternative, would knowingly place their debentures in the hands of a committee organized by and representing the agencies through which they were deceived."

Untermyer notes that the Exchange is constantly listing new bonds.

"In none of these cases so far as I know, where there has been a default in the payment of principal or interest, or in any other case of which I know, does the mortgage or agreement contain any provision whereby the bond holders can get into communication with one another for self-preservation, although it is vitally so, careful in excluding the inclusion of many other elements in the public interest and protection."

"It would be a simple matter to require, as a condition of listing, that it be provided in these documents and that the trustee should stipulate that the trustee through whom the coupons are paid must secure and keep a list of the names and addresses of the owners of the bonds to whom the coupons are paid."

"If the Exchange were under governmental supervision, do anyone imagine that it would be permitted to place upon its market list securities that are marketed by such methods without evidence of the measures that had been taken to verify the representations made to the public? The government authorities would doubtless demand that the Exchange require from all selling or distributing syndicates a copy of all literature on which investors are induced to rely."

TO GIVE ANTI-TOXIN

Dr. C. W. Pease, of the State Board of Health, will be at the South Side Primary School on Thursday, June 2, at 9:00 A. M. to give anti-toxin for the prevention of diphtheria, and vaccinations for the prevention of smallpox, to children whose parents wish them to be treated. No charge will be made.

FLORIDIAN ROBBED

NEW YORK, May 31.—(A.P.)—Paul Gaylord of St. Petersburg, Fla., was robbed and robbed $22 here early yesterday. He suffered a fractured jaw and minor injuries.

Last Of Jap Forces Evacuate Shanghai

SHANGHAI, May 31.—(A.P.)—The curtain descended today on the most violent chapter in Shanghai's history when three army transports sailed for Japan carrying the last of the Japanese expeditionary force of 100,000 that fought the bloody battles here last January. The only Japanese troops now remaining are the force of blue-jackets numbering about 2,000. They will carry on the regular garrison duties in the International Settlement.

READERS INVITED TO JOIN CONTEST TO PICK WINNERS

Prizes Will Be Given Best Prognosticators Of Election

Readers of The Sanford Herald today are invited to join in a political PICK THE WINNER contest in which, if they are fortunate in good judgment of the opinions of voters in Florida and Seminole County, they may share in six prize awards.

In another page of today's Herald is a coupon on which are printed the names of candidates in the races for governor, state attorney and circuit judge of the 23rd judicial circuit, state senate of the 33rd senatorial district, Seminole County representatives, and sheriff.

Readers are invited to place check marks opposite the names of the persons they believe will win the various races mentioned. These marked ballots, signed and addressed to the winners' names may be announced on Thursday, June 2, may be brought or mailed to The Herald office as late as 6:00 a. m. next Tuesday afternoon, election day.

To the first three women guessing the most winners in all of the races, who get three valuable prizes, while a like number of prizes will be awarded the first three men to guess the greatest number of winners.

As fast as the coupons are filed at The Herald office, the PICK THE WINNER editor will number them in the order in which they arrive. Therefore, while it is hardly possible that more than half persons will pick the winners, actually it is important that as many ballots be sent in as early as possible for the awards go to the first six correct lists.

Persons contemplating such an entry should consider that they have cast a ballot for or against any of the persons named on the coupon. These will be no publicity attending the total number of votes received by any candidate. There will be no attempt to use the result of the balloting toward any end whatever, other than to create a general interest in the election itself. It is entirely reasonable to believe that many persons will vote for a person they feel may be elected and cast a ballot in this contest for the man they think will be the ultimate winner, regardless of how they themselves intend to vote.

Here are the prizes which will be awarded to the winners of the contest.

A first prize, a tube donated by the Seminole Tire Shop operated by W. A. Patrick and A. J. Peterson, at First Street and Elm Avenue.

Two 11 chickens, steak or frog leg dinners, donated by the Club, Club, popular lake front restaurant.

A lady's all-wool bathing suit donated by Calhoun's Sanford Avenue Department Store.

The choice of any minor in the new stock of the Sanford Sporting Goods Store operated by Ernest Hutherson on Magnolia Avenue.

A lady's dress and a man's suit, cleaned and pressed by Janey's Dry Cleaning establishment on East Second Street.

A Swan fountain pen of the latest type, donated by Higgs, the Jeweler, of Magnolia Avenue.

The coupon contained in today's Herald will appear every day until next Tuesday. Persons may vote but one time, and all are invited to participate.

CAPONE FAILS AGAIN

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(A.P.)—Scarface Al Capone was again unsuccessful today in getting his case before the Supreme Court.

HURLEY FLAYS GARNER PUBLIC WORKS PLAN

Delivers Vigorous De- nouncement Of Bill To Aid Employment With Construction

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(A.P.)—Secretary Hurley last night aligned himself alongside his chief in a slashing denunciation of Speaker Garner's public works bill as a "wasteful extravagance."

Striking out vigorously at the unemployment measure, which President Hoover has described as a "poor barrel," the secretary of war said it would substitute "wasteful extravagance for intelligent, well-balanced, productive and recovery building."

Hurley's formal statement came as Speaker Garner whipped his bill into final shape and prepared to go before the Ways and Means Committee today in support of it.

With both Majority Leader Rainey and Republican Leader Snell forecasting favorable action on the bill, the bill calling for $2,000,000,000 will be sent to the Senate next week. Its fate there is in doubt.

Secretary Hurley, as active director of army engineers projects, would be charged under the bill with expenditures of $47,526,257 in addition to moneys to be appropriated under the regular rivers and harbors program for the coming fiscal year.

Hurley said the President in sponsoring the reconstruction of public works to aid employment had confined these works to a "reasonable amount" of the federal government to handle.

"To create unproductive jobs beyond the capacity of the government to pay," he added, "is to construct public works without legitimate returns to the American people who foot the bill is wasteful extravagance."

He said projects sponsored by the President's program were necessary and "without any fair" of the pork barrel.

Under the Garner bill the secretary said the War Department would be directed to spend during the coming year more than $500,000,000 on many of the same projects that the House recently rejected.

Speaker Garner will take an annual course in going before the committee in support of the bill providing another $1,000,000,000 for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, $100,000,000 for direct relief and a $1,200,000,000 public housing and waterway construction program.

Not in many years has the presiding officer appeared before a committee to advocate legislation. The Texas said that in order to obtain House action, he might take the floor to debate it.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, or his representative, and Charles Gray of the American farm bureau federation are to follow the speaker in advocating the legislation.

Acting Chairman Clegg had designated Wednesday for the amendment and Thursday for administration representatives, including secretary Mills and Charles G. Dawes, president of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The bill would be reported not later than Saturday.

7732 Paid Admission To See Indian Village

Figures released from the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce today reveal that exactly 7732 persons paid admission into the Seminole Indian Village during its month's stay recently concluded. Of this number 1000 were adults, and 2936 were children.

The visitors were from more than a dozen different states, and from all parts of Florida. The largest parties consisted of school children and teachers from Orlando and Deland.

Trade boys who brought the Indians to Sanford for a month to visit with their white friends, report that the small admission fee taken in covered all the expenses connected with bringing the Indians to Sanford, and that there was a small profit accruing to be used in the improvement and enlargement of the Sanford Municipal Zoo.

Limited Sales Tax Urged By Hoover In Person But Committee Votes It Down

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(A.P.)—A limited sales tax, twice rejected by the House, was advocated before the Senate today by President Hoover and within a half hour afterward was voted down by the Senate Finance Committee.

Adopting the unusual course of addressing senators in person, the President said he didn't favor a "general sales tax," but had come around to considering a "more general" application of proposed manufacturers' levies in order to balance the budget and meet present emergency.

He outlined also a project of federal aid to broaden greatly the lending powers of the Reconstruction Corporation so it could advance funds to states, municipalities, and private industry to start the ball of unemployment and recovery rolling.

He also asked the legislation to cut millions from the roll of government expenditures.

Although the limited sales tax proposal was promptly rejected 12 to 8 by the finance committee, senators were impressed by the President's appeal. It appeared likely the tax bill will be passed by tomorrow with the gaps filled by increased income taxes.

The Senate boosted income taxes in the 1921 level this morning after Secretary Mills said that $25,000,000 more are needed for protection of credit. Mills offered a federal gasoline tax as an alternative to the sales tax.

In his address Hoover said foreign countries didn't realize that the processes of balancing the budget are slow in the United States and that the hesitancy in doing so was giving rise to anxiety in those countries.

Hoover emphasized that the sales tax wouldn't affect food or clothing and also emphasized that he is opposed to a "general sales tax" which would provide a levy on every sale from wholesaler in retailer to consumer.

Citizens Advised As To Method Of Absentee Voting

Persons who contemplate being absent from Sanford on election day, yet wish to cast a ballot for the man of their choice, today were reminded by County Judge James G. Sharon that they have until midnight Friday in which to appear before him with registration certificate, poll tax receipts, or exemption certificate, indicating that they are eligible to vote.

This morning 21 persons had cast absentee ballots, considered a large number this early in the campaign. Most of the persons who have already cast ballots have left Sanford for the summer months, while several are men whose business will require their absence from Sanford on election day.

Under the law, eligible voters may cast absentee ballots any time within the 15 days ending at midnight three days before election day. Presentation of registration certificate, poll tax receipts, or exemption certificate to all that is required by the law, Judge Sharon said.

A person who finds that he will be absent from his home precinct on election day but who fails to appear before Judge Sharon with the time allotted by law, may vote in any other precinct in Florida if he presents the certificate mentioned above and signs an affidavit declaring that he has not voted previously in the same election, nor does he contemplate voting later.

All election clerks are authorized to accept this vote, which must be placed in a sealed envelope and given to the County Judge in the county in which it was cast. The Judge must immediately mail it to the Judge of the county in which the voter resides, who in turn hands it to the election clerk of the proper precinct.

TELLER'S BODY FOUND

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 31.—(A.P.)—The boy of Christian Hahn, a bank teller, a bullet wound in his head, was found in a parked automobile in a park here late Saturday night. No motive for the suicide was advanced by the police.

TOP IS TULIP EXPERT

KEARNEY, N. J., May 31.—(A.P.)—When Gustave Gelson isn't hunting criminals as a member of the Kearney police force, he grows tulips—perfect tulips, no less in his back yard. His specimens of tulips, roses and chrysanthemums have won the praise of horticultural experts.

GARNER URGES HOUSE TO PASS HIS RELIEF BILL

Appears As Witness Before Committee In Making Plea For Legislative Help

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(A.P.)—Appearing in the unusual role of a witness, Speaker Garner today urged the House Ways and Means Committee to report legislation for direct relief "of starving and suffering people of this country."

He was the first witness on his two billion-dollar relief measure but explained he preferred to leave to others the discussion of the merits of his bill. Garner said reports from all over the country indicated a large number of persons are faced by starvation unless relief is afforded. He demanded that the committee report favorably his bill providing for direct relief.

President Hoover summoned Speaker Democratic Finance and Economy Committee members to the White House last night to disclose new estimates calling for an additional $200,000,000 in taxes.

A move for a supplemental revenue measure providing possibly for a general sales tax addition to the pending billion dollar bill about to go through the Senate is contemplated.

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, after a late day White House conference which also included Secretary Mills and Charles G. Dawes, president of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, informed the Senate of the revised estimates.

His declaration was given to the Senate just as a petition was laid down pleading 45 members—a substantial majority in opposition to the sales tax.

Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, told the Senate sales tax advocates that a "fight is futile," and moved to make up the $50,000,000 needed in the pending revenue measure to meet the budget estimates originally presented by Secretary Mills by restoration of higher income taxes.

Secretary Mills, Charles G. Dawes and George J. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve Board of New York, met with the President and the Democratic Caucus members of the House and the White House meeting last night with the Republicans.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, and Harrison, of Mississippi, ranking party member of the finance committee, headed the Senate group.

Others who entered the White House at the 9 o'clock meeting hour included Senators George, Georgia, and Holt, Tennessee, members of the finance committee, and Byrnes, South Carolina, member of the economy committee.

In a carefully planned maneuver, focus of the sales tax, 15 members pledged against the levy and called upon the Senate last night to pass the revenue bill without further delay.

The move caught the sales tax proponents almost totally unprepared. Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, leader of the fight for the levy, threw away the original estimates of Secretary Mills and said the measure was

Minister Refuses To Apologize For Stand

MONTREAL, North Carolina, May 31.—(A.P.)—Dr. William Crowe, St. Louis, new moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, today refused to apologize for parts of last week's opening sermon which were objected to by the Atlanta Presbyterian Ministers Association, Crowe said he reaffirmed men and women "who will enter every phase of the nation's life and battle for righteousness and truth."

Atlanta Presbyterian ministers wired the moderator that the word "prophet" was "making an excellent use of your reported reference to church and politics" and called on him to issue a "ringing" statement of right duty of the church in all matters of moral importance.

Sanford Swamps Daytona 9 To 5 Under Powerful 16-Hit Batting Attack

BY PETER SCHAAL.

Tearing into the offerings of Olin Hutto, Daytona's once baffling hurler, to drive him from the mound early in the game, and, continuing their assault on Tige Stone a veteran Southeastern league hurler, the Sanford Celery-feds yesterday firmly established themselves as the most powerful and smoothest working club in the Central Florida League by winning a decisive 9 to 5 victory before some 1200 fans, at Daytona Beach. Fully 300 Sanford persons were in the stands, a record away-from-home turnout.

It was the Fed's fifth straight victory, a string in which every club in the loop has been met and conquered, and it was accompanied by a batting attack, led by the inimitable and sensational Red Martin, that produced 16 hits, all but two of them genuine blows. It saw the pounding from the hill of Hutto, a feat accomplished by only one club since the league began, and it saw the Feds combine batting attack, fielding defense, base-running finesse, and exceptional judgment in the pitcher's box into an all-conquering element that struck a decisive blow to Lalander first-half home.

Red Martin was without a doubt the hero of the day's play, for, aside from securing three solid hits in five tries, and stealing two bases, including home plate, Martin played a brilliant game in the field, making seven putouts, four of them after long runs, and all of them to the accompaniment of the cheers of almost every fan on the field. Martin's play was so good that even Daytona fans applauded his work.

But Red had to share the glory of the victory with the rest of his mates, for they, too, fielded brilliantly and batted like champions. Every man on the club, with the exception of Phillips got one or more hits, with Moore, Barnes, Pittman, Harrison, and Chapman getting two hits each. The infield combination worked like a charm with Moore and Barn sharing honors with Pittman as ball-scratchers.

The Feds spotted the Islanders a run in the very first inning on a peculiar combination of plays, but after that, and until the seventh, when the Islanders filled the bases twice only to be gully of some of the wildest base-running you ever saw, the Islanders were never a serious threat, although Buddy Lake, who was wild from the start, had to be taken from the hill in that seventh. The Feds were one top all the way, and won their third most satisfactory victory.

After scoring two runs on three hits in the second, the Feds got to Hutto in the third for three runs on four hits to send him to the showers. Moore opened with a single to center. Barnes singled past first, and Moore went to third. Pittman hit a high fly to center that Spake caught only to drop it, allowing Moore to score. Martin was safe when he hit to third base, and the bases were full. Reed singled to centerfield, scoring Barnes and Pittman. Hoisch yanked Hutto and Stone into the game. Harrison was safe at first on his hit to third, but Martin was thrown out at the plate. Chapman and Lake were easy outs to the infield.

It took four innings for the Feds to get on to Stone's fine cross fire, but they did, and scored two runs with three hits in each the eighth and ninth innings.

Here's what happened during that almost fatal seventh inning: Lake, who had shown signs of being down in the sixth, was pitched for straight hits by Hutto and Shannon. Barnes took Lake out and sent in Tom Phillips. Graham, first to face Phillips, singled to right after fouling about six balls, scoring Hutto. Harris dumped a ball in front of the plate, and Shannon scored when Chapman threw the ball past first base, putting Graham on third and Harris on second. Here's where strategy entered the scene, to good effect, although dumb-base-running helped out. Phillips walking Allan Mobley, dangerous slugger who had already poked out two hits in three tries.

With the bases full, Hoisch, thinking that Graham had scored on Chapman's error, tried to steal third, only to be put out, Chapman to Pittman to Moore. Manager Bolch turned red. Chapman, knowing Stone to be a dangerous batter, suggested that he be given a walk, too, so once again the bases were full. Spake filed out to Martin, and Graham should have scored, but he stood on third as though bewitched. Manager Bolch, almost fainted. O'Brien took two vicious cuts, and then struck out on a curve ball that he chopped at helplessly, and that was the last of the Islander's threats.

The Feds are now half a game out of first place, and will meet the fast slipping New Smyrna team on Wednesday. Tomorrow they go to Winter Park, and then they go to DeLand on the following Thursday. Looks like the pennant is right in our hands already.

Seminole Win Third In Row In Ball Loop

The Lion's Club Junior Boys Baseball League came to an end Friday afternoon when the Seminoles won their third straight pennant by defeating the Cubs for the fourth straight game in the series. Final score was 16 to 2. Other championship games went to the Seminoles by scores of 11-3, 13-3, and 11-2. Yesterday's game was featured by the hurling of Robert Rumbley and Lefty Adams.

The lineup: Seminoles, Rumbley, p; Newman, cf; Adams, ss; Ferguson, 1b; Tilla, lf; Gans, 2b; Terwilliger, cf; Stone, 3b; Cooper, Wilburn, and May, cf; Lamson and Kikby, cf; Cabell, Powell, cf; Echols, 1st; Williams, p; Ferguson, 2b; Hanstrom, 2b; Hodgin, cf; Pearson, lf; Hanstrom, 1b; and Baresban, rf.

Lion officials will entertain the boys at a picnic at Palm Springs next Tuesday, with silver baseballs to be awarded the Seminoles players.

Sample Ballot Has Extensive List Of Primary Hopefuls

A sample ballot which Seminole County voters in Precinct Three will be handed when they go to the polls at the Court House on election day, Tuesday, June 7, is published in adjoining columns on this page.

It is the same ballot, with the exception of the races for justice of the peace, constable, and county commissioners, that will be placed before the voters of every precinct.

In the races for justice of the peace and constable, voters in Sanford, Altamonte Springs, Longwood, Lake Mary, Forest City, Paola and Lake Monroe will be asked to cast ballots for the candidates in those races.

Police Quarters In Lindy Garage Are Taken Away

Police quarters in Lindy garage were taken away. The quarters were found to be in a state of disrepair and were removed. The garage is now being used for other purposes.

At Englewood, it was said the plans of the Lindberghs still are indefinite. Friends said there seemed little likelihood they would leave New Jersey for some time, for Colonel Lindbergh has assured police he will "stay by" to give all co-operation in the search for the kidnapers.

The Morrow family has a summer place at North Haven, Maine. The caretaker there was getting the house ready for the season, but didn't expect the family probably until July.

No new developments were reported in the kidnaping case. The new "set-up" in the search involved no reduction of personnel. Schwarzkopf said. The headquarters and files will be at Wilburtha, and press announcements will be made at Trenton, as before. The Alpine sub-station, which will be in close touch with Colonel Lindbergh at Englewood, will be connected to the Wilburtha training school by telegraph typewriters as well as by phone.

John Hughes Curtis, confessed hoax negotiator, spent a quiet Sunday in jail at Flemington.

TUESDAY, MAY 31, 1932

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY: THE ONLY SAFE TRUST—Some trust in chariots, and some in horses; but we will remember the name of the Lord our God.

Henry Ford is doing his bit to relieve the depression by advertising.

It seems that the ministers do not now endorse Bob Holly as enthusiastically as they did ten years ago.

George DeCotte says it will cost this county $13,200 if Mildard Smith is elected judge. Well, it may be worth it.

If Governor Roosevelt is the type of man we think he is, Mayor Walker is as good as removed from office already.

Cary Hardee is having his campaign on a pledge of promising no jobs to anyone. Wonder if the other candidates can say that?

Politics hasn't been so wonderful in late years, but if that Mark Wilcox gets the nomination for Congress, it will be ruthless.

The Palm Beach has considerable with Mayor Walker. Poor fellows, only got one morama and one puppa, and not enough relatives to fill all the jobs in New York.

The principle cry in favor of John Martin for governor is that we need a strong man at Tallahassee. Why not get Primo Carnera, and do the thing right?

Nick Zernovian is putting all the candidates on the spot, as far as law regulation and farm relief are concerned, and was to be the politician who goes back on his word.

Paul Hock says he gave $248,000 to Jimmy Walker because the mayor of New York's salary was so small he couldn't live on it. Wonder how Paul would feel about making a similar contribution to some of the rest of us?

The Tampa Tribune admits that Garner's public works program may be a "pork barrel" but insists it is relief. Maybe so, but we are inclined to agree with the President that the country cannot squander itself out of the depression.

The London preacher says that "because I go into a woman's room five minutes to twelve at night, my presence there does not become immoral at five minutes past twelve." Well, maybe not, but we'd hate to have to bet on it by twelve thirty.

Republicans, we understand, are going to vote for John Martin in the Democratic primary because they hope to elect Howey in the general election. It will be much easier for Howey to criticize the record of John Martin during his campaign than the record of Cary Hardee.

Some federal bonds are already down to ninety, have reached new lows of 82.3 this year. A new issue of two billions or more would further depress the market, turning investments from ordinary business channels and increasing, rather than diminishing unemployment. There is as much danger in what Congress may do for the country, as in what it may not do.

What Florida needs today as a governor, it needs in the near future, is an honest, upright and conscientious man. In these times of such confusion and uncertainty, we need a man who will stand for the principles of justice and equity, and who will not be swayed by the passions of the moment.

Hardee's Salary Cut

Newspapers and civic leaders, interested in taxation, have been showering Cary Hardee with praise since his public statement that if he is elected governor one of his first acts will be to recommend a reduction in his own salary. Down at Lake Worth the other day, he told his audience that he could get along very nicely on $6,000 a year, and then added:

When you elected me as governor before at a salary of $6,000, I was content, and when they came to me and told me they were going to raise my salary to $7,500, I told them if they introduced such a bill, I would veto it. It is not that I consider $7,500 a large salary for the chief executive of the state, but that I intend to start cutting at the top and bring all governmental expenses down within the ability of the people to pay.

"Press dispatches reported that Governor Hardee's declaration upon this subject was punctuated by great applause," comments the Tampa Times. "That such was the case is not to be wondered at. Hardee's declaration was decidedly out of the ordinary run. Generally, candidates orate long, loud and eloquently about 'economy.' It is not often that one of them gets down to the brass tacks of promising to make efforts for a reduction in the salary he himself expects to receive. Governor Hardee has set a new and shining example in that respect, and there is that in his public and private record which makes it certain that he will perform on his promise.

"In taking this position Governor Hardee has put into this campaign the most encouraging thing which has yet entered it. When a man is willing to have his own pay cut he can be credited with a genuine desire to see the government's expenses cut. In addition, in expressing himself as he has Governor Hardee has outlined the right place to start in reducing state expenses.

"It is as true as it is that relief plans must start at the bottom and work up if the people of this state and nation are to have relief from their present conditions that economy plans must start at the top and work down, if they are to get anywhere. Starting with a cut of the governor's salary means a genuine start toward economy, so far as Florida is concerned. Cary A. Hardee's announcement that he will start there ought to serve to guarantee his election as governor—if it is not already guaranteed.

"What other governor of Florida than Hardee has ever spiked a movement to increase his own salary with a veto threat?"

Tastes Of Movie Fans

The question of what kinds of films please the public most is always a problem confronting theater managers. Does it like newsreels, juvenile comedies, traveltogs, comedies, or tragedies? In regard to the preferences of motion picture fans, the Christian Science Monitor has this to say:

"A close observer of cinema taste on both sides of the Atlantic has come to the conclusion that the demand for films with a happy ending is much stronger in Britain than in America. It is certainly stronger in Britain than in Manchuria, where the complaint was recently made that the supply of talkies that finish gloriously is insufficient. The liking for the happy ending is often derided by intellectuals; but there is a great deal to be said for it, quite apart from the consideration that happy endings are frequently true to the facts of ordinary existence. The desire for happy endings is indeed only a somewhat crude expression of the conviction that entertainments in the cinema and the theater have no business, to be depressing, a thoroughly sound theory which the history of drama abundantly supports.

"Tragedy has always been accounted the supreme dramatic achievement. If Shakespeare took any pride at all in his work—and there is little evidence that he did—he was doubtless better pleased to have written 'Hamlet' than 'As You Like It.' An age whose taste in entertainment is so utterly frivolous that it cannot appreciate tragedy in the theater or cinema is therefore, dramatically speaking, in an unsound condition. But before one decides that an age cannot appreciate tragedy, one has to discover that it has any tragedy to appreciate. A distinction has to be made between the truly tragic and the merely sordid. That an age rejects the latter—and this is what the desire for happy endings comes to—is a cause, not for regret, but for rejoicing.

"One fact common to nearly all the tragic masterpieces of the drama of every period and country is that, despite their superficially disastrous themes, they are not depressing. On the contrary, it has been frequently remarked that the effect of many great tragic works is exhilarating and encouraging. So far, therefore, as the wish for happy endings is a desire that entertainment shall not be disquieting, distressing, disgusting, morbid and repellent, it is not incompatible with appreciation for the highest forms of tragedy. The theater and the cinema need more genuine tragedy; what they can do without is sordid, depressing and often gruesome melodrama."

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. Ada Alley, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. D. G. Wagner, for the last several months, has gone to Kissimmee to visit the Donegans after which she will be the guest of friends in Daytona for a short time and then go to Tennessee for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. David Speer have moved to the city from Geneva and are comfortably located in the Stevens home, corner Park and Third Street.

D. L. Thrasher will occupy a front office in The Herald building for his life insurance business.

A party of Sanford people attended the graduating exercises of the Orlando High School last night, complimentary to Miss Ethel Sharpe, one of the graduates who had been a member of the 1912 class of the Sanford High School before going to Orlando last November. The party was composed of the Misses Lillian Higgins, Mary and Mildred Macklin, Elizabeth Musson, Bertha Packard, Jessie Simmons, Lucy Whitner, Helen Peck, Mel Whitner, Annie Lee Caldwell, Essie Purdon, Margaret Davis, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pack, Mr. and Mrs. Switzer, and Mrs. J. W. Switzer.

What Florida needs today as a governor, it needs in the near future, is an honest, upright and conscientious man. In these times of such confusion and uncertainty, we need a man who will stand for the principles of justice and equity, and who will not be swayed by the passions of the moment.

Construction of the grammar school building to start soon.

MRS. OWEN MERITS RETURN

It always is a mistake to allow a single viewpoint largely to obscure a many-sided picture. This is particularly true of politics and the moral has its certain application to the Fourth district congressional contest which presents, not one, but several issues.

Congressman Ruth Bryan Owen seeks reelection on a record—a record which we believe is without parallel in point of service to a district by a newcomer in Congress; a record that moves Chairman Mansfield of the House Rivers and Harbors Committee to observe:

"I can truthfully say that no more capable and successful advocate of rivers and harbors legislation has appeared before our committee in the last 30 years and that during that period there has not been one precedent where the rules of the committee were broken in three different items recommended by a single member."

Yet, in spite of a record that fairly bristles with achievement, Congressman Owen finds herself beset with an opponent who has but one cause to recommend him. The Daily News agrees with Candidate Wilcox that the 18th Amendment should be repealed.

But it also feels Mrs. Owen meets the issue fairly. A referendum on the wet-dry subject is all that any fair-minded wet will insist upon and something no fair-minded dry will withhold.

Mrs. Owen has pledged she will vote for a referendum. What of the many other phases of Mrs. Owen's record?

The Rivers and Harbors Act approved July 3, 1930, carried

B. J. Overstreet

To The Voters of Seminole Co. And Especially the Ladies.

On June the seventh, the voters of this county are going to elect the officers that are to serve them for the next four years. As a candidate for the Sheriff's Office, I have summed up some of the principal things that I think the people expect and should require of a man holding this important office.

First of all, he should by all means be a law-abiding citizen, sober and morally fit to execute his duties in a kind and upright manner, taking the Golden Rule as his motto. I find it a very practical one to live by, having always enjoyed the good fellowship and high esteem of neighbors and friends wherever I have lived.

Now there is one point I wish to bring before the Public and that is, if elected I expect to act as a peace-making rather than a persecuting officer. There are lots of people that only need a warning and a heart to heart talk to mend their ways, and in instances of this kind, it is possible to save the County hundreds of dollars and at the same time make our county more cooperative and a better place in which to live.

However, I do believe in rigid law enforcement and would endeavor at all times to properly enforce them to the very best of my ability.

In regard to the young people, having two boys and two girls, ranging in ages from nine to twenty, I am naturally very much interested in the welfare of young folk and expect if elected to place, to visit the different offices of amusement and see that they are conducted in a clean, wholesome manner, and to give boys and girls a word of advice whenever I see fit.

I have spent most of my life working large crews of men in turpentine, crate mills, and road construction work, which has given me a wide experience in dealing with all kinds of people and a broad slant on human nature and I have at no time had any serious trouble with anyone.

I honorably solicit your vote and support on June the seventh.

B. J. OVERSTREET, Candidate for Sheriff of Seminole County. (Paid Political Advertisement)

CONTRASTING GUBERNATORIAL TYPES

Tampans have had the opportunity, on consecutive nights, of hearing Cary A. Hardee and John W. Martin, who are generally recognized as leaders in the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

The two men are distinct and contrasting types. Aside from their political and official records, their appearance on the platform, the character and quality of their speeches, emphasize the differences in the two men. Hardee, calm, conservative, yet positive and unequivocal in assertion, tolerant of criticism, forthright in declarations of public policies, modest in references to his record, courteous and unembittered in references to that of his opponent, neither boastful nor vainglorious, revealing a mind and heart worthy of public trust in high office. Martin, politically alert, mentally acrobatic and verbally severe when not seductive, a hustler on the hustings, not without personal attractiveness, and the capacity of making friends, but apt in that office-seeking faculty of interpreting facts to his own advantage, his claims to statesmanship and executive ability negatively by an evidently uncontrollable tendency to bluster, bravado and braggadocio, vindictive toward those who have incurred his displeasure by opposing his ambitions, loyal to some friends and forgetful of others, a man who will always and in any circumstances make himself felt, seen and heard, demonstrative rather than deliberative, destroyer or builder as it suits his purpose, capable of great public service if he could subdue his unfortunate petty and personal political complex—who would have made and could make a good governor, if he could, for four years, elevate the welfare of the state above that of John Martin and his political allies.

One of the amazing, if not humorous, features of this campaign is John W. Martin preaching and promising economy—the head of an administration that reaped with unexampled extravagance. Expenditures $44,000,000 more than its predecessor, $954,722 entertaining a personal guest on a tour of the state, $85,000 in special counsel fees to one Jacksonville lawyer in a few months, big real and commission expenses swollen beyond precedent, lavish expense accounts, a proposed $20,000,000 bond issue stopped only by the refusal of Commissioner Mayo to sign. Instances innumerable of extreme liberality if not outright profligacy—and so far as has been shown, not one outstanding instance of substantial economy.

We are inclined to the belief of Cary Hardee that John Martin should have yielded four years before attempting to return to the Executive Mansion. Hardee again got things in shape so that he (Martin) could have another four-year "good time."

Simply there can be no doubt that in this crisis in the political life of the State, the type of governor as vitally as it needs to avoid the Martin type of governor.

A new type of life preserver, made for the navy, which Browne wore on his shoulders, kept him afloat. He was placed under an anesthetic while physicians tended his shoulder.

Browne said he didn't jump from the plane, but stayed with her, said the plane threw him out and hoping to bring her nose up. He grabbed a piece of the wing to hold him up.

He was in tears when he was picked up by the rescue party, not from pain, he said, but from "disappointment."

Browne was clinging to wreckage when he was picked up some distance from where the fuselage of the plane dropped into the deep water.

A total of 654 gallons of gasoline made Browne's plane wright about four tons. He had planned to load 300 more gallons from the refueling plane and then make a dash for Tokyo. It was Browne's second narrow escape from death in two days. Sunday an oil leak in his motor developed after he had flown several hundred miles toward his goal.

Blinded by hot oil, Browne managed to maneuver to a higher altitude until he could recover his vision. When he saw how much oil he was losing he dumped most of his gasoline and returned here.

It was only upon his return here that he discovered that he had broken a stabilizer wire in grasping a tree on the takeoff. He noticed the ship vibrating slightly but had decided to take a chance and proceed.

Fliers here expressed the opinion the tall assembly would have been shaken off before Browne could possibly have reached Tokyo, making his plane unmanageable.

The perilous takeoff Sunday depicted Browne in favor of mid-air fueling and a cabin piece was hurriedly fitted up with extra tanks for the attempt yesterday. Due to Browne's failure to complete the flight, the $20,000 prize fund raised by Seattle aviation enthusiasts five years ago, will be returned to its donors.

One condition of the prize fund stipulates that the flight must be completed by midnight of June 15, Browne had only a few hours to spare in his quest for the goal. Unfavorable winds had held him on the ground here for the past week.

Musical Composition Of Wilson Published

First copies of "Spanish Roses," a musical composition, the words and music of which were written by Frank N. Wilson, Sanford manager of the Postal Telegraph Co. office, arrived here today from the Chicago office of the Harold Dixon Music Co., which will handle the national sale of the song.

Mr. Wilson has long been dabbling in the composing of melodies and he holds a number of copyrighted songs which he expects to be contracted for in the near future.

"Spanish Roses" will soon be on sale in music stores throughout America, with Mr. Dixon, its publisher, predicting that it will be a nation wide success because it is of an unusual type, with words that are said to be appealing and the type best suited to the melody which accompanies the words.

Hoover And Borah Discuss Topic Of Prohibition Plank

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(A.P.)—President Hoover discussed with Senator Borah, of Idaho, dry leader, again yesterday the kind of prohibition plank that should be incorporated in the Republican platform. The conference was held at the breakfast table and no word came from either. There was a definite understanding yesterday that no change in his plan to stay away from the national convention. It had been hoped he could be prevailed upon to go to Chicago and lead a fight for his plank. Borah had drafted a prohibition plank outlining his own view on the situation. Since that he is said to have taken the stand that any real referendum must be through the election of the House and Senate to carry out the will of the people.

Borah and Hoover have been at odds on almost every major issue since the Hoosier in 1925 led a cross-country campaign for the Republican nominee.

The President is feeling the persistence of demands by the anti-prohibitionists and the middle of the road group in the party on the prohibition issue.

BIG AUDIENCE PRESENT AT RECITAL GIVEN BY MRS. MUNSON'S PUPILS

An audience of almost seating capacity attended the piano recital given Monday evening at the Seminole High School auditorium by pupils of Mrs. Fannie Stenbridge Munson in honor of the members of the graduating class of Seminole High School. Much interest is shown in these recitals which have been an event of Commencement Week for more than 20 years.

Assistant organist of the program was by Clara Johnson, baritone of Seminole High School, and his accompanist, Mr. Louis Jean Hon, also of the high school. In addition to his program, Mr. Johnson gave in encore, "Night" and "Sweet Little Woman of Mine."

Plumage and other notable pedestal statues, an entangled classical simplicity of the stage arrangement, while two tall fern baskets of deep pink plaid and fern added color to the general effect.

As the members of the graduating class were gathered in by Richard Deas and John Cameron, a long list of names followed: "Fannin-March" by Richard Wagner, was rendered by Miss Mary Elizabeth Tolson and Miss Doris Hopkins. Following the graduates were Professor J. E. M. Kay, principal of the school, and members of the faculty, including in receiving and singing the large audience were: Mrs. John D. Albin, Mrs. David M. Kay, Miss Lillian Caldwell, Miss Lillian Smith, Lucia Mahoney, James John Munson, Frances Galloway, Betty McKinnon, Margaret D. Rose, Catherine Tomlinson, John Tomlinson, and Marion Tomlinson. Miss Mary Helen Cook directed the program.

The entire recital was presented as follows: Moments, Pompano, Carl Meyer, Katherine Morrison.

Two Shots Fired At Operator Of Filling Station

(Continued from Page One) flashlight, and that his first thought, until he heard two reports, was that an automobile tire had blown out nearby, or that an automobile had back fired.

He telephoned one of Police Roy C. Williams almost immediately at within a few minutes. Chief Williams and some of his officers were on the scene. Other than the bullets, there were apparently no clues, although police searched the motor section in the vicinity of North Street and Capitol Avenue, the direction from which the shots were fired, for several hours.

Mr. Rines said he is unable to account for the attack unless it was made by an unknown person who pulled out after he had loaded the filling station early yesterday morning. It is not the first time that the place has been approached by would-be robbers, although it is the first time that the robbers attempted to take a life.

Shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning police, who had been watching the filling stations and business houses along Sanford Avenue for the past few weeks, being in the darkness near the filling station saw a man approach the station in a stealthy manner. He disappeared in the darkness at the north end of the station to reappear about two minutes later with a five gallon can, later found to be full of gasoline.

Police decided, when they first saw the man, that he must be a robber, as they allowed him to go about his work until they saw him reappear. When he started away from the station, he was ordered to halt, but instead he fled toward the station, dropping the gasoline can and striking the man in the back of the head with a bullet. Whistles of a police car whistled a path for the man to locate the other man, they fled, but in the act where the robber had turned a five gallon can containing about 20 lbs. of gasoline which fell upon the back of the man, and the gasoline and the bomb was contained in a glass jar at the station.

While police were trying to locate the man, they saw a man who had been about the station for some time, and who was seen to be carrying a five gallon can, later found to be full of gasoline.

adopted by North Carolina. "Relief of heavy burdens of real estate taxes through special assessments, such as water and excise taxes, and...

"Encouragement of prompt payment of taxes when due, through authority to prepay taxes at a discount or to pay current taxes by installment."

"A feasible plan for safeguarding public deposits in the light of the present banking situation, such as the proposal of setting up a guarantee fund out of interest earnings on public deposits."

"Reasonable refunding privileges under proper supervision where heavy maturities are apt to be burdensome in the next few years."

"Adequate methods of limiting overlapping indebtedness and simplifying obsolete forms of local government."

Among measures considered to be sound are any which would increase tax delinquency, lower requirements of security for public deposits, or add to the present debt by authorization of public improvements for unemployment relief.

affidavit. One of the affidavits was sworn to by W. W. Thornton, the other by W. A. Whigham, acting sheriff during Lehman's suspension pending trial. The affidavits charged that Judge Davis had frequently interfered with the proceedings of the state's attorney, and, among other things, had recently questioned a grand jury after requesting the deputy sheriff to advise the state's attorney...

A parade of 500 persons, including testimony of Thornton, sought to show why Lehman should not be released from the commitments brought against him into the court on the hearing opened yesterday morning. Many of them were heard during the day.

MONTEAL, Que., May 31.—(A.P.)—Walter E. J. Lether, who retired this month as chairman of the Montreal Stock Exchange, was found dead early yesterday at his summer home at Hudson Heights, Que. Death was believed due to carbon monoxide poisoning.
