LaFollette Has No Chance, Says Davis

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—If the fifth statement of a series being issued by John W. Davis for the purpose of summarizing the campaign issues, it was claimed today that "the country will elect a congress pledged to progress and remedial liberal legislation." The statement further declares that Senator LaFollette has no chance of election and adds that "it is evident that President Coolidge has been and will not be in accord with purposes of such a congress as it is said will be elected."

GREATEST WORK OF BIG CONTEST IS YET TO COME

Campaign to end Three Weeks From Tonight; Miss Velma Shipp Again Leads With Miss Nell Williams Second

Three weeks from tonight The Herald's contest will be over.

At 10 o'clock on Saturday night, Nov. 22, the ballot box will be opened and after the votes are counted the winners of the prizes offered by this newspaper, will be announced. And then the lucky young lady who succeeds in getting the greatest number of votes will jump in the back, step on the starter, and drive proudly home to show her friends and relatives her new car.

The greatest work of the campaign will be done in the three short weeks which remain before the closing time. As the end draws near the activity of contestants will increase until the last few days of the contest will see great excitement among the various workers.

Special Votes Offered

Beginning on Monday 5,000 extra votes will be awarded each day to the contestant who turns in the greatest number of subscriptions, old or new. No subscription to the daily will be accepted for less than three months and none for the weekly for less than six months.

Workers are urged to check in regularly each day and to make every possible effort to qualify for these extra votes. Only one batch of 5,000 votes will be awarded each day and only to the contestants who turns in the greatest number of subscriptions, not the greatest amount of cash.

Miss Shipp Again Leads.
Again today Miss Velma Shipp takes the lead in the campaign, voting 600,110 votes as compared with 591,198 for Miss Nell Williams and 576,110 for Miss Versa Woodcock. Other contestants have made gains as will be noticed on the standing as published on this page today.

A few certificates cut from The Herald, were voted today and it is thought that when these little coupons are all placed in the ballot box there is likely to be many changes among the leading contestants.

As the contest draws to an end the voting of the various ladies seem to be getting more spirited and there is no telling just when some sensational gain may be made by an ambitious worker.

"Who Will Win", the great question.

On the tips of many people in Sanford and Seminole county are the words "Who will win?" This question has been heard time and time again and it is creating much comment among people in all walks of life, and especially those who have friends in the race.

There is still plenty of time for great things to be accomplished. The fifth period of the campaign will end a week from tonight and after that time the voting count of subscriptions will once again be for the last time to be reduced. It will be easier to pile up votes during the coming week than it will be during the last two weeks of the contest. And some contestants are realizing this fact and intend to make the coming week one of great activity.

Fine Prizes Are Offered

Young ladies of Seminole county should not forget the fine list of prizes to be awarded. Besides the general grand prize there is a 10 per cent commission to be paid all to those who remain active to the end, but who are not fortunate enough to win a prize. There is no chance to lose. The contest is open and above board. Every worker wins. There is no work for nothing. It's a safe bet.

The fight is drawing to a close each day and as the time gets nearer, the battle gets more intense. Mr. Haines explained further, declaring:

"My gifts are gifts. If the press organization requests my consent that the home be located in another section of Florida I shall not hesitate to accede to such request, although the change would naturally be very disappointing to me, but the project is greater than my personal preference."

"The press may have my consent to sell the properties donated and to use the cash as they desire for the best interest of the home. It is true that the land necessary for the project is unavailable here and I now consider its location elsewhere necessary."

CALLES TALKS ON RELATIONS WITH ENGLAND

Commercial Interests These Nations and Mexico Discussed; States Affair With England Is Closed for Good

Relations With U. S. "Frank and Cordial"

Future Mexican Policy Is to Strive for Greater Education of All Classes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The relations of Mexico with both Great Britain and the United States were discussed by Plutarco Elias Calles, president-elect of Mexico, at a conference with newspaper correspondents late last night after he had come to Washington from New York for a visit of several days.

Received at the union station upon his arrival by representatives of the state department and the Mexican embassy, the president-elect called upon Secretary Hughes and then President Coolidge at the White House. He was the guest at an official dinner tendered by Secretary Hughes at the pan-American Union tonight and will be the guest of President Coolidge at luncheon tomorrow.

Discussing conditions in reply to questions by newspaper correspondents General Calles declared that there exists no enmity between the people of Great Britain and Mexico and asserted that what unpleasantness has occurred is due to the dishonesty, falsehood and misrepresentation of one of Great Britain's representatives in Mexico. The president added that by this he did not refer to H. C. Cummins, the British chargé des affaires, whose expulsion from Mexico caused the interruption of domestic relations between the two countries.

Cummins Case.
The Cummins case, he said, was a closed one, as Mexico would never yield to Great Britain on it. The interruption of commercial relations with England, in his opinion, he declared, was a question of greater interest to Great Britain than to Mexico. General Calles and he had not come to any conclusion as to whether a conservative government in England would be more or less favorable to resuming relations with his country than a liberal one.

Relations of Mexico with the United States the president-elect said, "were excellent, most frank and cordial." The interchange of activities between the two countries, he added, was ever increasing, due to "a growing cordiality, understanding and friendship." Asked whether application of the Monroe doctrine might affect the Mexican British tangle, he replied that "Mexico is a sovereign country and will discuss its own questions." At the same time he declared himself in favor of a non-American policy as of great advantage to the countries concerned.

Future Policy.
Outlining his future policy, General Calles said he would strive above all for greater education among all classes of Mexicans as well as the general economic betterment of the people of Mexico. The young men arriving and insuring their river boats along the old session. After reports of that even more of coming a Japanese de-

HOME OF LOCAL LEGION POST TO BE FINISHED SOON

Will Be Ready for Reception and Big Ball on Armistice Day; Special Legion Edition Of Herald Is Under Way

The American Legion Clubhouse that was started without sufficient funds to complete it a year ago, is now about to be completed. This construction will be far enough along that the present plans of the committee in charge are carried out, to permit a reception to be given by the judges of the American Legion Auxiliary to the public on Armistice Day. The clubhouse is to be given to the legion by Mayor Frank Lake for the city and county officials in the name of the good people of Seminole county.

This was learned from the report of the Building Committee, composed of M. W. Hutton and Frank L. Loring, which was submitted to Post Commander Elect A. P. Haggard and approved this morning.

The clubhouse will be accepted from the people and in the same spirit of generosity shown by the people, the American Legion will extend the privilege of the American Legion clubhouse to the Spanish-American War veterans, the Daughters of the American Revolution and the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

WILD GEESE

How oft against the sunset sky or moon
I watched that moving zigzag of spread wings.

In forgotten Autumn's gone too soon.

In forgotten Springs!
Creatures of desolation, far they fly

curling foam;
In misty fens, wild moors and trackless sky

These wild things have their home.

They know the tundra of Siberian coasts,

And tropic marshes by the Indian seas;

They know the clouds and night and starry hosts

From Crux to Pleiades

Dark flying rime against the western glow—

It tells the sweep and loneliness of things,

Symbol of Autumn vanished long ago,

Symbol of coming Springs!

There Is No Free Gate to Happiness

"It seems strange that some of the most incorrigible 'tax dodgers' in the world are doing their cheating in the one place where the worst penalties for it are inflicted—in their own homes! They crave happiness there more than anywhere else. A man wants his wife's love; a woman wants her husband's. Parents long for their children's devoted affection; and children hunger for the tender care and companionship of their parents. Yet, so often, they want their income, of love and happiness to be given them without cost to themselves."

We have found that bit of wisdom in an American Magazine article by Edgar A. Guest, entitled "An Income Tax We All Must Pay Every Day in the Year"—the tax on our income of happiness. If Sanford Herald readers do not happen to have already applied the article to their own lives, they will find that excerpt something to turn over in their minds and profit by.

Our "income of happiness" cannot be computed in dollars. We cannot put a selling price on the love of dear ones, or on the friendships and the little services that make the days more pleasant. We sometimes can place our "buying" price, however, on such things. We sometimes can determine just what we are ready to give to obtain the income of happiness that will fill our lives with content. And once we have determined what we are ready to pay for happiness, it is a simple matter to arrive at the "figure" we will offer in a voluntary "income tax."

The man who wants his wife's love must know his wife—there must be mutual acquaintanceship; and this often is only made possible by each putting aside selfishness in an almost renunciatory manner. As Mr. Guest says, most men and women crave happiness in their own homes more than in any other place in the world. And to obtain it there they often take the niggardly course of "tax dodging"! They endeavor, each to live for himself or for herself—putting the "tax-money" into their own pockets, when it should be paid out generously as interest on the loan of earthly happiness.

"The sum of the friendship you receive," says Mr. Guest in the same article, "will be measured by the friendliness you have bestowed." And he concludes within this paragraph that The Herald would like to leave with you:

"I said to myself last night that there is no free gate to happiness. Now that I have thought things over as I have, I realize that there is no free gate to ANYTHING that is worth while. Not to skill, or to health, or to success, or to friendship, or even to the lasting love and respect of those who are nearest and dearest to us. These are the items that make up the best income that any human being can have. And the sum of that income will be measured by the sum of what we are willing to pay for it."

Are You Clever?

Rummaging among some old files the other day, we ran across a little poem which has been called the world's most famous anagram. In the belief that some of The Herald's readers have not seen it and would be interested in trying to solve the puzzle, we reproduce it here.

A sat in an gray
Watching the moonbeams play
On a leg that in the bushes lay;
And thus to himself did sing:

Thou the weak, thou the strong
To thee the of great battles belong
The trees with a took up the song;
John Barleycorn, my king!"

The problem is to fill in the blanks with words of six letters, each word containing the same letters. That is to say, only six letters of the alphabet can be used in supplying words for the above blanks and in each case the entire six, and the same six, letters must be used. Thus the above blanks must be filled anagrammatically, that is, a change of one word into another by the transposition of its letters.

This is perhaps the most difficult anagram ever invented, and the correct solution of which one should be justly proud. The Herald will give a one year's subscription to the first person turning in the poem with the blanks properly filled in. Of course this applies only to persons as yet unfamiliar with the key word. The Herald office will not be open to answers until Monday morning.

THE 20TH AMENDMENT

MIAMI TRIBUNE

In 1916 and again in 1919 Congress, in obedience to a nation-wide demand, enacted federal laws basic, what even the opponents of the measure agree must be done that is, to regulate child labor.

These acts were passed in recognition of the fact that the眈und for the eradication of this evil was being met too slowly by individual states, and because there was no national uniformity.

Both of these measures were held to be an interference with the rights of the individual states and were declared unconstitutional.

The present proposal is not less divisive in character. It merely gives to Congress the constitutional right to make legislative record of the opinion of the American people.

Speaking psychologically, we know a certain female moron in this town with a social secretary complex who thinks that the convolutions in man's brain are invariably directly proportional to the wrinkles in his pants.

When you vote for the president in Florida, place a cross mark before the first six names as they appear on the ballot. They are the Democratic electors. Usually the names of the electors are arranged in alphabetical order on the ballot. This year they are not, and the Democratic electors come first.

We were walking into town last night and came to a big vacant lot with a lot of trees on it when a weird, lumpy thing looking like a low-lying cloud on a mountain side jumped out at us and said, "Boo!" and then we saw a head with deep, red, glowing eyes, and horns and a long green nose that looked like a cucumber, and Gee Whiz, we were scared!

There is on the highway to Tampa just beyond Plant City a more incident in the road, a house perhaps and a jail populated exclusively by a mayor and his speed cop. It is called Forest Park. Be aware of the Forest Park. They don't use motorcycle policemen there, but time you on a certain stretch of country road, and arrest you if you exceed twenty miles an hour. We recommend that all tourists desirous of reaching Tampa unscathed, carefully avoid Forest Park and go by way of Pensacola.

On this question. It empowers Congress to do on a nationally uniform basis, what even the opponents of the measure agree must be done that is, to regulate child labor.

State action on this question, particularly in those states where child labor is most prevalent, has gone forward very slowly. In fact there has been an increase in child labor during the past four years.

In a few instances it may develop temporary hardships, just as the reduction of working hours and in the steel mills, but there is no reasonable excuse in this great Christ ian nation for any condition that compels the employment of children in factories, mills or mines.

Seminole county celery growers have taken an advanced step. In doing so they have not only displayed a large measure of wisdom but have set a splendid example for the growers of many others of Florida's soil products.

These growers have voted to contribute a tax of three cents on each box of celery which they ship, to provide an advertising fund with which to spread information throughout the country of the merits of their product. It is claimed that they are the first in the country to adopt the scheme of taxing themselves for advertising their product. This is quite a distinction, if the claim is well founded.

However, it makes no difference whether the Seminole celery raisers are pioneers or followers. The big thing is that they have decided to engage in this campaign of advertising. Seminole county is noted as a celery field, as are other sections in Florida, yet there are thousands of persons in the United States who know Kalamazoo, Mich., in connection with celery to the exclusion of Seminole.

The French are intelligent. Instead of worrying about water that has run over the mill, they reach out to get Russian business for French workers and business men. Our American "statesmen" might become less provincial if they would study the methods of France and England.

As Brisbane Sees It

Gov. Smith's Daughter.
Only 3 More Days.
Title: Sins of the Children.
What is the Issue?
BY ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright 1924)

CAN WOMEN be of use in politics? Ask Governor Smith, of New York. He has a daughter named Emily, twenty-one years old, working in his campaign. She doesn't make fancy speeches, or long speeches. In fact she makes the same speech every time, and it's only eight words long. This is it: "I hope you will all vote for father."

That speech has probably made more votes for her father than many of the speeches five hundred times as long.

THREE DAYS MORE, and then the voting.

Candidates are trying hard to make the election see exciting, but not succeeding. Gamblers whose judgment is said to be sound usually on national elections are letting six and one-half to one on Coolidge.

And President Coolidge, to the annoyance of other candidates, persists in keeping his mouth shut.

POOR JOB in the midst of his bouts, exclaimed, "Oh, that mine adversary had written a book."

John W. Davis, exclaims, "Oh, that mine adversary (Coolidge) would make a speech." Mr. Davis even suggests topics for Coolidge speeches, but President Coolidge doesn't make the speeches.

There is a power of silence. And the American people notice it. They don't notice speeches, there are so many of them.

MODERN CRIME turns an ancient test upside down. In Exodus, 20th chapter, 5th verse, you are told that the iniquity of the fathers is visited upon the children unto the third and fourth generation."

Now the crime of the child is visited upon the father. Albert Lubch, whose son killed the Franks boy, is dead, killed by sorrow and disgrace. That should satisfy the bloodthirsty that demanded "Somebody hanged."

That unfortunate father died in thousand deaths to atone for his son's hideous crime.

WHITE MR. COOLIDGE persists in giving his little imitation of Uncle Remus' "Tar Baby." John W. Davis, admirably energetic, is telling the people of America all about it. He says the idea in this Chapman is "The moral leadership of mankind by the United States."

Many Americans do not understand it, so, and believe that one issue of the campaign is molding its own business by the United States in the future as in the past, to attend to the "moral leadership of mankind."

THE VOTERS will be quite satisfied if the voter a president to mind the business of America, in condition successfully to resist other the interests of the United States, while allowing Divine Providence to work, keep this country in condition successfully to resist attack, and postpone for as many years as possible the evil day when we shall have to pay for that war debauch.

Strange that man, said to descend from the "higher apes" of some animal like them, should treat his own children with a brutality of which no gorilla, orang-outang or chimpanzee was ever guilty.

A man that would not allow any body to beat his young horse or dog for fear of "breaking its spirit" will break the sensitive spirit of his own child.

NEW YORK STATE legalizes prize fighting. It amuses and delights the low-browed mob, enriches politicians and promoters. Therefore, in favor of prize fighting, laws against assault and battery, are set aside. Ralph Thomas, professional prize fighter, was knocked down in the second round sent him to the floor killed him last Sunday night. The blow that was a nice Sunday night entertainment. But it's profitable, and therefore it is being fought.

Well, the stuff is off. Henry Ford has endorsed Coolidge for President and every Ford owner will have to support Coolidge in a roundabout or roundabout way. If your Ford car cuts up on election day it will be on account of Henry calling all of them in to vote the Republican ticket.

The "Gummi" season is at hand. You will be called upon to give for the and give for that until you will have to take to the woods to get away from the folks who have their hands out asking for contributions. With the "Gummi" folks and the holidays coming on what chance has an honest working man, I ask you.

HARRY NEED says that when the merchants of Kissimmee give him the support he will give them a lady. Don't put off cutting your whiskers until that time. Harry old scoundrel or the barbers will go on a strike.

IT behoves every business man of Sanford to get behind the movement to cut that canal from the St. Johns to the Indian river and also to get twelve feet of water from Sanford to Palatka. Both of these projects will be put over and will make Sanford a city of 25,000 people in two years time. Aside from this the merchant will get better rates and all the fruits and vegetables of this part of the state will be shipped via Sanford.

EVERY man and woman in Sanford should go to the polls Tuesday and vote the ticket of your choice. You should either vote or keep still after the result is announced. And this rule holds good in city and county and state elections. If you take no part in politics don't blame the other fellow if he is not the kind of office holder you like.

As I watch the gentle drizzling
Of the rain before the door,

Who said, "It ain't going to rain any more?"

SAYS Senator Fletcher: "The only reason that Florida has not been overpopulated long ago, at least the only reason which appears good to me, may be found in the fact that the people of the country at large have not known of what the state has to offer in the way of comforts and pleasures. We have been derelict in our duty as advertisers of opportunities and our advertising has publicity will work wonders. The right kind of advertising has made Los Angeles the great city it is, and what was done in the case of the metropolis of southern California can be done with similar effect for any city of Florida." Very good, senator. Dig that canal and we will have the people.

At the request of the President of the Sons of Biscay, I have called a special meeting of this organization for Monday afternoon and night providing the weather is clear. We cannot and will not stand for any foolishness such as happened this week when Judge Stringfellow announced John Morrison for City Commissioner and John repudiated the whole business as soon as he saw the magnitude of his offer.

Mrs. L. I. Frazier Is Hostess to Sunday School Class

The Sunday School Class of Mrs. L. I. Frazier, enjoyed a delightful Hallowe'en party at her home Thursday evening.

As the guests entered the dark living room, a cold, damp hand was extended and not until they properly greeted it, were they admitted.

The living room was decorated with the Hallowe'en colors—gold crepe paper covered the lights casting a weird light over the room.

Black cats, witches and ghosts were seen everywhere.

Games suitable for the occasion were played. Pinning the tail on the black cat proved amusing and the prize, a black cat with a red ribbon around his neck, was won by Miss Martha Wallace.

At the conclusion of the games chocolate cake and candies were served.

The guests included Misses Rebeca Stevens, Camilla Puleston, Elizabeth Turnbull, Elizabeth Knight, Virginia Barber, Elizabeth Mary and Mary and Virginia Earl, Pauline and Martha Wallace, Ruth McLain, Sarah Zachary, Elizabeth Shumaker, and Pauline Eckels.

Osborne Herndon, Jr. Invites Many Friends To Hallowe'en Party

Young Osborne Herndon, imbued with the Hallowe'en spirit, invited a large number of friends to his home on Sanford Heights to help him celebrate the occasion.

Black cats, witches, owls and skeletons were placed in just the right position to give the youngsters a scare. In one room the guests found an illuminated ghost that caused each youthful guest a thrill. Lanterns in the shape of witches and pumpkins with lighted candles in them were placed so that their mystic light was thrown over the enchanted room.

The guests presented a gay picture. The costume of each one represented his idea of how a Hallowe'en "spook" should dress.

Games that each one loved were played. The doughnut contest was won by Jack Gillon and he was given a Hallowe'en pencil. The bobbing for the apples was a fun providing game. The clown game proved the most popular of the evening.

The young host's mother served doughnuts, apples and candies at a late hour. Mr. Herndon was assisted in caring for the guests by Mr. James Kounellis, Mrs. George Bradburn, Mrs. C. M. Price, Mr. C. O. Bradburn and Mac Bradburn.

The guests included:

David Latte, Helen Christopher,

Martha McDonald, Mary Wong,

Ella Rivers, Versie Rivers, Carolyn Adams, Frances Mahoney, Dorothy Hart, Sadie Driscoll, Mary Dunn,

Maxine Brookhahn, Marion Estridge, Eugene Estridge, Wynon Harvard, Herbert Douglas, Max Lambly, John Talbot, Al J. Kell,

In Teddy Moore, Claude Herende,

J. B. Coleman Jr., Buddy Fellows,

Frances Bonnifield, Robbie Horndon, Marion Smith, Edith Shubert, and Ade Singleton.

Next week is set apart for the service as Garden Week for Florida as planting conditions here are so different from those in other sections that the National Garden Week in April is impossible.

The idea is to emphasize in every way possible the making and improving of home gardens, the beautification of streets and parks and the planting of trees, especially of the palms so distinctly appropriate to this climate.

The Woman's Club of Sanford has planned to be very active along these lines and further announcements will follow.

After the dinner the youngsters played games until a late hour. At the conclusion of the game "Going to Jerusalem," it was found that every lady had enjoyed the trip. Each guest was given a pencil as a memento of the occasion.

Those invited to help Miss Lulu celebrate Hallowe'en were:

Misses Helen Douglass, Catherine Meisch, Bettie Hintermister, Pauline Maines, Alice Hodges, and Julia Higgins.

4 UNDEFEATED DIXIE ELEVENS BATTLE TODAY

Tulane Battles Mississippi A. and M., While Washington and Lee Plays U. of Va.; "Gators" Meet Southern

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 1.—Although all the 22 members of the southern conference are playing this week only seven of the games will have an effect on the standing of the conference at the moment. Among the seven games scheduled between conference teams four undefeated elevens will meet. Four teams which have yet to suffer a conference defeat will play less fortunate brethren, one without a defeat or victory is playing outside.

Games at Charlottesville where Washington and Lee are playing Virginia and at New Orleans with Mississippi A. & M. going against Tulane are followed with intense interest. None of this quartet has suffered defeat although the Generals bumped into a scoreless tie with V. P. I.

Alabama plays "Ole Miss" at Montgomery with the Crimson Tide an odds on favorite and Georgia meets Tennessee at Athens.

The form sheet would give the Bulldogs an edge over the Volun-teers.

Auburn, coming slow but coming fast, plays Vanderbilt, the Commodores having encountered a series of hard blows since the season opened. Anything seems likely to happen in this contest.

The two Carolinas are in fight to the finish at Chapel Hill. The Gamecocks and Tar Heels have each suffered one defeat, the South Carolinians winning two conference games to one for North Carolina. For years these sister universities have played exceedingly close games with North Carolina usually in the position of the favorite.

Georgia Tech goes to South Bend, Ind., to play the wonder team of Notre Dame, the South erners apparently doomed to defeat but conceded an excellent chance to make an interesting afternoon for Rockne's powerful outfit.

Florida will play Southern, the Alligators being regarded as in the winning column. Florida has a record of one conference game played to a draw and has only two other conference title tilts booked, Mississippi A. & M. and Washington and Lee.

Louisiana State plays the Arkansas Razorbacks and will not find the going easy. Sewanee in meeting Oglethorpe will also have a battle.

Hampden Sydney gave the University of Virginia an early season score and the Flying Cadets of V. M. I. will not be able to hold Butler's lads lightly. The Kentucky Wildcats are tied up with the Centre Colonels in an age-old and historic contest and Maryland meets Catholic University in Washington, a neighborly clash of strong conviction.

Clemson College will celebrate a homecoming of old and young grads by playing a morning game with V. P. I. on the Tiger Hill, the contest being staged before luncheon to enable the great crowd expected to participate later in the day at the game between Furman and the Georgetown Hill Toppers at Greenville, less than ten paras away as a punt travels.

Service teams go to the mat in a game at Washington certain to prove interesting when Fort Benning charges the Quantico Marines. The Marines have a grueling tie with Vanderbilt to their credit while the Army team played an exciting scoreless tie with the Third Army Corps at Baltimore last Saturday. This should be one of the most bitterly contested struggles of the day.

University Of Iowa Line Will Outweigh Illinois Opponents

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Illinois, Western Conference leader, encounters a team whose line is 16 pounds heavier to a man in its meeting with Iowa Saturday in the premier Big Ten contest of the week.

Both squads finish heavy scrimage today.

Elsewhere in the conference stiff practice is finished. Michigan entrains today for Minneapolis, where the final preparation of Minnesota is being developed to punting.

Indiana completes its grooming today for Northwestern at Evanston for which it entrains tonight.

New plays, calling for intricate shifts and double passes from Chicago's drills for Purdue this week, and for Illinois here November 8. The Purdue Boller Makers are tapering off their generalities and leave tomorrow for Chicago.

Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame is developing a powerful running attack, combined with an overhead offense and line plunging into a reception to Georgia Tech en route to South Bend.

Plant City Team bows Before The Purple And White

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 1.—The biggest upset of football this season came suddenly here Friday afternoon when the Purple Hurricanes of Gainesville High school outgrew, outplayed and outgamed the strong Plant City High eleven, defeating them 19 to 0 in one of the most spectacular and finest exhibitions of football ever seen here.

Doped to lose heavily against Plant City, groomed for the state title, Gainesville showed wonderful form, and produced three fine possibilities for all-state in Van Sickle, captain and end; Green, huge tackle, and McKinstry, glittering halfback.

The Hurricane counted all three touchdowns in the final quarter, though they outplayed the visitors two to one throughout. Dell raced 68 yards from punt formation, and Green scooped up a fumble for a 10 yard run for the feature of the scoring. Van Sickle recovered an other Plant City fumble and raced eight yards for a touchdown.

Strongest men. He weighs 190 pounds, reaches six feet three inches above the ground, and is 21 years of age.

LAMAR SARRA, of Pensacola, who is pushing Sam Cornwall hard for first string center on the University of Florida Varsity football team, has helped to make champion high teams before.

First he played with the Pensacola Athletic Club, whom held the championship of West Florida. But it was his two years in Gainesville High School's team that brought him to the front in the public view. Both years he made the All-State eleven, of which he was captain in 1922.

Always playing the position of center, he was made captain of the 1922 All-Southern "rat" team. Besides being a football artist, he holds the state record for the two-mile run, and a quarter-mile talk.

EDWARD LEWIS STANLEY, WILLIAMS, is a solid left tackle on the University of San Diego's Varsity team. Although he weighed only 180 pounds when he joined the 1922 San Diego team, he has added much power and weight since. In 1922 Stanley was a member of the San Diego team, a 100-yard dash and weight 202 pounds. He is a technician and a solid left talk.

Williams, three years on Leon High School's team, has been a star of football ever since. As a high school senior he was a member of the Florida All-American football team, and a third stringer on the 1922 All-American football team.
