

Hedges Asks For Prompt Passage Of Budget Bill

parted text of his address, accepting the Senate presidency.

"If you pass the appropriations bill so that length of time, then the legislature, by examining the total of its general appropriations and adding to those figures the total of all special appropriations, claims and other money necessary to be paid out of the treasury, can during the remaining part of the session know each day exactly how much revenue it must provide to put the amount of money in the treasury necessary to pay the expenses of government caused by the general and special appropriations."

"It can never be done by hunting revenue first and appropriating money late in the session, and then, after session is over, find it has not provided enough money to meet the appropriated expense of government. In other words I now ask this senate to do its part in putting the horse in front of the cart where it belongs in ahead of behind the cart."

Hedges, becoming president is succeeded to Truman G. Futch of Los Angeles who served in 1931, is beginning his fourth term of four years as a member of the senate.

He was nominated for president at the hold over caucus two years ago, and was formally elected to day without opposition.

St. Augustine made the nomination of Hedges, and it was seconded by R. S. Adams of Jasper and James F. Biles of St. Petersburg.

Accepting the presidency, Hedges mentioned no specific matters of legislation in his address. "That," he said, "is a prerogative which belongs to the chief executive of this state."

Revision of senate rules to require unanimous consent to consider measure out of its regular order on the calendar of business was proposed by Hedges. This went to the rules committee for consideration.

Hedges also recommended employment of lawyers by the judiciary committee which examine into the constitutionality of proposed laws. This, he said, "would eliminate much of the very just criticism aimed at the legislature in recent years for passing laws which were promptly and properly declared unconstitutional" by the courts.

The expense of such counsel, Hedges said, "would not materially add to the expense of the legislative session because the legislature can eliminate just that many female attractives who would be unwilling to do this class of work and who would be valuable only as scenery."

English Still Leads In Economy Contest

Apparently Henry English, gas station operator, is safe ahead by a good margin for at least today no one had come and nearer record of 26,000 miles per gallon in gasoline in the contest being staged all over by the National Gasoline Company.

It was still early enough for a challenge of 24,000 miles. H. B. Gilliam, local gas station operator, had placed 13,000 miles prior to the arrival of Mrs. Mary Strong, a young woman, who was in town yesterday. She eliminated that record by driving 26,000 miles in the contest.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THE ROAD TO WANT He
that oppresses the poor to increase his riches, and he that giveth to the rich, shall surely come to want. Proverbs 22:16

Herb Hoover would have a lot of chance of being elected president next year if he hadn't already been.

By the way what ever became of "Alfalfa Bill" Murray who was going to fix everything up just as well for Oklahoma?

When the next war comes the United States is going to remain neutral— even more so than
it did in the last one.

We don't imagine the German people need no encouragement
over Hitler's gun for gun demands.
If they knew it also means coffin
for coffin.

We suppose these legislative sessions would not be such a tax on our nervous system if they weren't such a tax on our pocket books.

Go far as we know, there is no single politician in Europe where war is most likely to break out, who has proposed taking the profits out of war. That's what they fight their wars for you there.

Word from Washington indicates that this country may really do something toward releasing
the Florida farmers and grocers who suffered losses during the government's campaign against the fruit fly.

Russia thinks the United States should enter into a pact guaranteeing to keep the peace in Eastern Europe. What funds would those Russians get? Make the slogan for the next war, or the "Help make the world safe
for communism."

A good many Sanford farmers are going to have to pay income tax on their extra salary profits who haven't had a good luck in getting income tax blank for the past five years but the ones we've talked to about it seem to be getting quite a kick out of it.

Down here in Florida we have maintained for a long time that anyone who ever got the vent in his shoes would never leave here.
But out in Colorado we understand there are a great many people who are thinking of leaving that state because of the dust in their eyes.

George Alagna, former assistant radio operator on the ill-fated Ward Line Morris Castle which burst at sea last fall with the loss of 132 lives, tried to commit suicide the other day by inhaling gas. Quick work by doctors and hospital attendants saved his life.
But his woes were what was prevailing on his mind. Alagna, it will be recalled, was the witness who told the most amazing stories about the conduct and loyalty of the crew.

"Pine-tops" of Sanford who were intelligently in the Tampa Tribune, would care the depress-tion by barring all women from work, giving their jobs to men.
However, he would permit all the women who had no man to support them. There have been worse plans than this advanced as a cure for hard times, but we wonder if the women who might take the position land after all, would
have the right to vote that
men cannot compete with women,
they should stay home and let
the women do the work.

Women to mention their name (or men) who might take the
position land after all, would
have the right to vote that
men cannot compete with women,
they should stay home and let
the women do the work.

The Governor's Message

The most significant feature of Gov. Shultz' speech to the Legislature yesterday, it seems to us, was his complete abandonment of his previously entrenched position against the levy of a sales tax, or any new forms of taxation. Gov. Shultz did not come out openly for a sales tax, but he suggested a three percent "general commodity emergency tax," which we presume might be colloquially abbreviated into a sales tax.

Further, Gov. Shultz says he will not make an issue over the method by which the Legislature chooses to raise sufficient funds for the schools. He says it can be done either by taking three cents of the gasoline tax money which now goes to the individual counties and, one that for the schools, or it can be done by levying this three percent "general commodity emergency tax." Apparently there is no other way.

We are glad to see the Governor taking a strong position in favor of greater state aid to the schools. Florida should be second to no state in the Union in what it does for its children by way of education. Crippled through loss of revenue from homestead exemption, the schools must have this additional revenue from the state to maintain them in their present condition. We would like to see them improved if it were within the financial power of the state.

So we are not disposed to criticize the Governor for abandoning his previous position against the sales tax. We do not like the idea of levying a sales tax at a time when so many are unemployed; we still hope that some other way may be found; or that such sales tax as may be levied will exempt the necessities of food and clothing. But if this cannot be done, we would favor a sales tax in order to assure the schools of sufficient revenue for proper operation.

We were somewhat disappointed that the Governor's message did not indicate his position more fully with regard to relief appropriations, and the question of "social security" legislation, unemployment insurance, old age pensions, and so forth. These, in general, he reserved for a later time except that he suggested a million dollar appropriation for a special building program on state institutions.

This, he seems to think, will be sufficient to guarantee the continuance of federal aid, although Relief Administrator Hopkins has demanded a minimum of $250,000 a month, or three times the amount which Gov. Shultz has suggested. Until this question is settled and until it is known what the Governor has in mind with regard to pensions and insurance, it is impossible to pass judgment on his program as a whole.

In the meantime we can approve heartily of his proposal for school legislation and his willingness to accept a sales tax if no other means can be found.

Most Dangerous Age

What is the most dangerous age for men? For women? According to the Federal Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, nineteen-year-old boys are the worst criminal offenders, and twenty-three-year-old young women are the worst among women.

Surprisingly more than half the arrests reported last year, says the United States News, were of offenders under 30, and 15 percent of them were boys under 20, though a large proportion of the nearly 600,000 offenses investigated by the Bureau were major crimes. More than 90 percent of the women arrested were less than 30 years old but the number of 19-year-old youths exceeded that of any other age group.

Fingerprint cards at the Department of Justice Identification Unit showed that more than 120,000 of last year's offenders had previously been fingerprinted for one reason or another while nearly 2,000 of them had been arrested before. The crimes of which a large proportion were committed last year include homicide, assault, robbery, burglary, larceny, theft, forgery and counterfeiting.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Bureau of Investigation, has said that a recent estimate shows 12,000 Americans murdered every year, 10,000 assaulted, 50,000 injured and 40,000 despoiled by burglars. Another statistic puts the murder rate in the United States at 7.2 for each hundred thousand inhabitants. In England and Wales the rate is 10. More than 3,200 bank robbers in the United States since 1930 have caused a loss of $15,347,000.

County Commissioners E. P. Hague, T. A. Brumley, W. H. Bunting, J. T. Melton and A. Clark, Engineer Fred Williams and Auditor Holly of that Board spent Thursday in Black Hawk inspecting the district drain- age system that now traverses every part of the body of land.

Another hole paves open in the side of the ship. As the cut- ter puts along side, a rope is passed from the cutter to sailors in the hole. Then four others run out a small gangplank. But the cutter is bobbing and swaying like a cork, and the plank, from the Nighthole in the liner to the long cutter, is almost vertical. It's a dizzy and exciting experience managing up. Dickson To Lecture On Bible Prophecy

"The Mystic Number 666 of Bible Prophecy, the Number of a Man—Who Is It? What Does It Mean?", will be the subject of a special address by Louis K. Dickson, Bible Lecturer, in the Sanford Woman's Club Hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Dickson's lecture given in the city some months ago, brought new interest in the study of the Bible to many homes.

Many have thought this number to be Anti-Christ, while others during the war thought it pointed to the Kaiser, said Mr. Dickson, in commenting on his coming topic for tonight.

Circle of the Garden Club will meet at 9:30 A. M. at the Mrs. H. S. Stevens Park.

FRANCE SENT STIFF WARNING ON TARIFFS

all reciprocal trade agreement conditions.

The secretary of state explained yesterday that while France discriminated against American imports it had been tentatively placed on the preferred list pending the outcome of the discussions now in progress with Andre de Laboulaye, the French ambassador.

Within the next few days, Hull added, the discussions should be concluded and France will then have its choice of opening active negotiations for a new agreement which will eliminate many of the the lower duties on its exports to this country giving the United States "equality of treatment."

The United States has no commercial treaty with France and American products entering that country have been accorded widely varying treatment at the hands of customs.

Reports from Berlin yesterday said the Wilhelmstrasse received with satisfaction word from President Roosevelt's proposed cancellation of the German-American trade treaty. The reaction at Bel-lin was that's a new trade pact would mean "better possibilities" for both countries.

He was too young to have fought in the big war, but he was in London when the Zeppes were on the prowl.

Just returned from a visit to Germany, one is impressed by the difference in the attitude of young men of military age. In Hamburg the storm troopers looked scarcely older than Boy Scouts, but carried themselves with a military swagger.

The Englishman of the same age wants no part of anything military. Of course, if war comes, he would go out, as his father did in '14, but he would much rather be left to his ale and his Sunday outings on the Common.

The Commissioners agreed to a $15 per month donation for three months for the rent of canning kitchens at Sanford and Orlando. They also agreed to pay electric light bills at these canning kitchens.

Upon advice of Attorney Housholder, who stated that the Board has no account up to which to draw for such a purpose, the commissioners took action on a request from Harry M. Parworth, president of the Sanford Baseball Club, that a donation be made toward the cost of the ball field.

Engrossing duty of the commissioners is to instruct or purchase 1000 cases of two by six lumber to be used for farm boards.

No action was taken on a request by F. J. Moulton, attorney to be put in charge of the work on the plans of the proposed new school at the corner of Main and Home.

The commissioners ratified a resolution of previous action to have the commissioners' office a place of refuge in times of emergency.

Anti-War Act Defeated By Vote In House

Representatives Put Okey On Milder McSwain Measure Limiting Profits

WASHINGTON, Apr. 4.—(AP)—The Senate munitions committee's bill to remove all incentive for America going to war again was defeated yesterday by the House, which voted to cling to the milder McSwain measure.

The chief difference between the two bills is that the Senate draft would impose an excess profit tax which would take away the surplus earnings of corporations and individuals in war time as fast as they accumulated.

The McSwain bill carries no such provision.

Representative Maverick, Democrat, Texas, had a parliamentary maneuver which had as its goal the substitution of the N.Y. bill for the McSwain measure. He was defeated 238 to 71.

The House is expected to pass the McSwain bill either late today or early Friday. It empowers the President to fix prices in time of war and authorizes him to commandeer factories, material resources and man power needed for the prosecution of any conflict in which America becomes involved.

The Senate bill, prepared by Chairman Nye of the munitions committee, is much more detailed as to what will happen when and if the United States declares war. Under his measure anybody or everybody, including heads of corporations, could be drafted and limited to the salary of a major general—$8000 a year. It even would be possible to transfer industrial magnates from their factories to the trenches if they fail to co-operate with the government.

Two resolutions were passed relative to the telephone rate inquiry based on the report of John N. Brown, St. Petersburg, president. They were brief and endorsed action of the executive committee several weeks ago in making that Jerry Carter disqualify himself in further handling of telephone rate inquiry; request that the Legislature not accede to the request of the League of Municipalities for $100,000 to make further probe of telephone rates, owing to the belief that the present hearing had assembled sufficient data for action.

MURKIN KILLED

GALIUP, New Mexico, Apr. 4.—(AP)—M. R. Carmichael, sheriff of McKinley County, was killed and three unemployed men were wounded during a street riot today after a court hearing of an eviction case. Attorney-General Frank Patten with an escort of state patrolmen started here from Santa Fe on receiving a report of a disorder.

House got up to complain that the McSwain bill carried no provision under which the government could seize excess profits in case of war.

Corporation profits would be limited to 3 percent of invested capital under the Nye bill and the government could seize all profits in excess of that. Income taxes would be raised and exemptions lowered in an attempt to put the nation on a basis where it would "pay-as-you-fight" rather than pile up debt burdens for incoming generations.

The Tervin bill would set up a pension board of four members, with one appointed for each of the four Congressional districts by the governor. They would serve without salary.

Persons 65 years old or more, who had resided in the state for 15 years, would be allowed pensions up to $25 monthly and provided with authority for counties to pay an additional license of $200, and cities $250 annually.

Tervin proposed to finance the pension requirements with funds

now raised by taxes on race track wagering and admissions, which exceed $1,000,000 annually. Race track revenue now is divided equally among all the counties of the state for general purposes.

The petition bore the names of scores of Longwood residents who are protesting against the disturbances said to be commonplace on Longwood's main street when a dance was held at the Club.

The petition was referred to County Board Attorney H. F. Newholder for reply.

Mr. Newholder also was instructed to prepare a resolution in which the Board calls upon the State Road Department to pay

the cost of installing a drainage

pipe under State Road No. 1

near the County Home, and a resolution in which the Board calls upon

New growth may be expected

generally in all fields where plants

now are set out, including cotton fields which have been parched

for days under the heat of an unusually hot sun, most growers stated this morning.
