

SANFORD ENTERTAINED BY
 HON. CHARLES D. HAINES
 ALTAMONTE, LAST NIGHT

About 200 Guests Enjoyed Theatre Jasmine and Fine Program

PRIVATE THEATRE
 BUILT, OWNED AND OPERATED
 BY COL. HAINES FOR HIS FRIENDS' PLEASURE AND HIS OWN

Responding to an invitation from Hon. Charles D. Haines, of Altamonte to be his guests at the Theatre Jasmine last night, about 150 Sanford people were present and enjoyed a most excellent program that would have done honor to a theatre in some of the larger cities. Col. Haines in his customary, hearty manner, for he is a natural born booster, had the following prelude on the printed program:

"All sorts of notions have those Sanford people, but they are real, not fanciful in any respect, and the 'Celery City' is fast becoming the 'City Peerless.' The Almighty made an especial choice section of country and a live, God-fearing, progressive people found and called it Sanford.

"My but those same people, with enterprising additions in the way of increased, advanced and intelligent new citizenship, are creating a marvelous sensation. (Read the Herald for real news). Fixed determination to become one of the greater cities of Florida is in the minds and hearts of all. The women folks being equally interested and determined to aid in every step taken to place Sanford in the first class of big, model cities.

"And why not? Every part, every portion in all respects ideal. A clean city with a clean, hospitable, generous people endowed with a keen preference. A climate that brings improved health and vigor and strength with every breath. A place where all is loveliness and peace, contentment, and where happiness reigns supreme.

"And the St. Johns' (The silvery waters of which the broad, magnificent Lake Monroe is an important factor) is the priceless pathway which will, in the nearby days to come, take the products of Florida to the ports of the world.

"And why not? It is coming as sure as blossoms bring forth our golden fruit—coming to make Sanford greater—in all ways—and our hearts swell with pride in being even infinitesimal parts of that which goes to make up the big, glorious, magnificent and all Florida ever greater and wonderful Peninsular State.

"And Sanford—Allah be praised!"

The program was given after a few remarks had been made by Col. Haines who made the crowd feel most welcome by his words of praise for Sanford and all her people and the assurance that he would join them in any movement for the upbuilding of the county and the city of Sanford. He also surprised them by the announcement that the Theatre Jasmine had been built by him as a club house and theatre for the pleasure of his family and his friends and no charges were ever made for any entertainments. The program that followed was one that was greatly enjoyed especially the old Sanford favorites, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lyman.

Emma Abbott Lyman has often delighted Sanford audiences with her wonderful singing and last night was no exception to the rule. Howard Lyman, in negro dialect and monologue, brought down the house. Mr. Bundy, of Cincinnati, story teller, was fine and greatly enjoyed. In fact the entire program was one that kept everyone on edge for what was to follow and the five reel moving picture was excellent and ended an evening of real enjoyment.

The following program was carried out:

FIFTY MILLIONS SLASHED

 FOR WAR DEPARTMENT

Enlisted Strength of Army Will Be Reduced to 115,000 Men

WASHINGTON, March 3.—At least $50,000,000 and possibly $60,000,000 will be slashed from the budget estimate for the war department by the house appropriations sub-committee, which is framing the army appropriation bill for the fiscal year, beginning July 1 next, members of the subcommittee predicted last night.

The measure, they added, not only will provide that the enlisted strength of the army be reduced from its present strength of 137,000 to 115,000 men on July 1, but that the number of officers be limited to 11,000, as compared with the present strength of 12,900 on the active list.

The war department estimates were revised and pared down by the budget bureau to approximately $363,000,000 for the coming fiscal year, of this amount $293,000,000 being requested for the army and the rest for non-military work, such as improvements to rivers and harbors.

NOVEL PLANT OPERATED BY SANFORD MEN

FIRST COMMERCIAL CELERY PRECOOLER IS INTRODUCED.

The first commercial plant for the precooling of vegetables, and the only one of its kind in the country is now successfully operating at Sanford according to W. F. Miller, manager of the Exchange supply company, who returned to Tampa Thursday after an inspection of its workings.

According to Mr. Miller, it cost the Sanford Farmer's Exchange the sum of $150,000 to build this plant, and it was open for business on the 87th day after the ground was broken.

"This plant and its system have revolutionized the shipping of vegetables to northern markets," said Mr. Miller, "and already the north, having received several cars of the 'Stag' brand put out by the Sanford people, is clamoring for more."

Under the old system the growers would prepare celery for shipment in the fields where it grew. It was washed and cleaned after a fashion, but the necessity of quick work made it impossible to give it the thorough treatment that the new plant affords. Now the stalks are gathered in the fields and taken immediately to the precooling plant. There they are cleaned and dipped and graded at once according to size, color and condition. They are then taken to the precooler, where ice water is run over them until they reach a temperature of 35 degrees when they are immediately carried to a refrigerator car and will reach their destination with only one icing.

The first shipments under this new process have brought prices averaging from 50 cents to $1 more per crate than ever before realized by the growers.

Method Pays.

This fact alone will more than pay for the plant this year. The capacity of the Sanford Farmers' Exchange crop for the season is estimated at 700 cars, or about 250,000 crates. And as the original cost was $150,000 for the plant, it requires no income tax expert or certified public accountant to figure out that it is a profitable investment.

At present the plant is being used for celery. It can be used for lettuce and other green vegetables as well and will doubtless be adopted universally by all the co-operative associations throughout the state of Florida, according to Mr. Miller. The Sanford plant has a capacity of precooling 12 carloads of celery a day. There are 336 crates to a car and each crate weighs 80 pounds.

The plant was built under the supervision of W. A. Andrews and Arthur B. Hale. The former is the precooling expert for the Florida Citrus Exchange and was obtained from Washington where he was employed in the Department of Agriculture, and the latter is a Tampa expert on the building of refrigerator plants. Representatives of the York Manufacturing company of York, Pa., and of the Fairbanks Morse company, which two companies furnish the material co-operated with these local experts.

"The new plant is an experimental one," said Mr. Miller, "but already it looks to be a wonderful success."

The plan of operation, so far as the growers are concerned, is the co-operative shipping and selling, the same as prevails in the Florida Citrus Exchange.

As each load of celery is presented at the precooling plant a receipt is given to the owner for the number of crates. After these are graded, a "graded" receipt is also given, so that the grower will know just what quality of celery he had. The receipts are based therefore upon the quality as well as quantity and it is a simple matter of bookkeeping to pool the sales receipts.

The progress of the precooling plant is being watched with interest, Mr. Miller states, and it is hoped that it will prove a real money maker for

Will Be Large Number of Representative Business Men Present
 FROM CEN. FLORIDA

PROMINENT WATERWAYS AUTHORITIES WILL SPEAK AND GREAT MEETING IS PROMISED

The Central Florida Water Traffic League will hold a meeting tonight in the court house at 8 o'clock, at which time a large number of representative business men of this and contiguous territory will be present. Advice from the secretary of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce indicates a number from Lake county who will be present this evening. The Orlando membership of the League have also advised that they will be present and it is anticipated that a large number from Sanford will also attend. Hon. C. D. Haines of Altamonte Springs has wired the local chamber of his intentions to be present this evening. Mr. Haines has been an active worker in behalf of the development of inland waterways. During his term in congress as a representative from New York he worked energetically in behalf of the waterways of that state and as a result of his efforts governmental appropriations were secured for New York state waterway projects. His great interest in Florida has resulted in his investigating the possibilities of water transportation in this state and as a result of his investigation his interest has been aroused in the great possibilities for the further development of the St. Johns river. His experience in this field makes him a valuable ally in promoting the objects of the Central Florida Water Traffic League.

William T. Donnelly, of New York, and one of the organizers of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association is also slated for an address at tonight's meeting. Mr. Donnelly has been "sold" on the great possibilities water transportation holds for Sanford, and is now working out the details of a practical solution for cheaper and quicker transportation.

S. J. Sligh, president of the Water Traffic League has prepared important data on the transportation situation in the state. This is one subject upon which very few individuals are better qualified to speak than Mr. Sligh. He has always been active in every movement which has had for its purpose more efficient and economical handling of Florida products. The membership of the League made a very wise choice in selecting Mr. Sligh as its executive accomplishing the objects for which it was organized. The meeting this evening should be well attended from all indications. Shippers and business men who attend the meeting will have the opportunity of convincing themselves that water transportation is their only relief from excessive rates. Those who have tested the practicability of this method of transportation are not only the staunchest supporters of the League who also better off financially than they would have been if they had not been progressive enough to take advantage of the cheapest method of transportation available in our inland waterways. Every additional pound of freight that can be routed to Sanford brings the time nearer when this city will be a real distributing and basic point for Central and South Florida. To secure these advantages, however, it is essential that the business men of this community bestir themselves to a greater activity to support the efforts of the League is expending to make this possibility a reality.

Sanford is getting the right kind of advertising—successful crops.

Lady Rhonda has been granted a seat in Parliament. Women are coming into their own in England as well as the United States.

That young l'y that eloped with his mother-in-law in Kentucky certainly overthrew all traditions about the mother-in-law. Times are changing.

Fellow in West Palm Beach wants his name changed because he never saw the man for whom he was named. There are whole families just like him.

Dr. Hubert Works succeeds Will Hays as Postmaster-General. Good name for man who takes Will's place. It takes work and then some to hold the job.

The government is planning the erection of nine monuments in France to mark where the A. E. F. fought. A monument in the shape of a bonus would not be out of place.

The wholesale closing of bucket shops and stock exchange people in New York may account in part for the exodus to Florida of so many stock sellers and others of like ilk.

The state of Alabama may call a special session of the legislature to help Henry Ford get Muscle Shoals. These Alabama people know what they want and what will do them the most good.

Oranges and lemons are essential foods as the authorities on this question now state. We rather lean to the oranges if anyone is about to hand us something. We have been handed enough lemons.

Headlines in papers say the "waters of Florida are carpeted with rum." If Frank Miller and Jack Davison could buy a few yards of the carpet they could sell it in Sanford without advertising in the Daily Herald.

Miss Pattye Lyles has done her part toward advertising Sanford and putting the city on the map. Her example could well be followed by other pupils of the Sanford High School. It also demonstrates that more pupils of the High School should read the daily papers and keep up with current events.

Five thousand snow shovellers are at work in New York while five thousand mocking birds are singing in the sunshine of Florida and five thousand ears of celery are going forward to the people of New York to eat when the snow shovellers dig them out of the snow. Of course we would rather live in Florida and in Sanford.

WATERWAYS TONIGHT

The Florida Central Water Traffic League will meet at the Court House tonight. The meeting will be at the court house because there will be a crowd too large for the Palm Room at the Valdez. The crowd will be large because the real business men of the county and every other county in Central Florida are getting interested—intensely interested—in this most important question that confronts them.

You will hear from real big men in the transportation world—men like S. J. Sligh, president of the League, Charles D. Haines, Ex-Congressman from New York, builder of railways and transportation lines, W. T. Donnelly, naval architect and floating dry dock builder of New York and Sanford, a man who has made waterways his life work, Secretary Tarpely of the League who knows as much about traffic rates as any man in the south and many others who will tell you something about the waterways of Florida and especially about the St. Johns river. If other men living in other cities are intensely interested in the St. Johns river and come from long distances to attend these meetings certainly Sanford people who expect to profit more by the undertaking should have hundreds of people at the meeting tonight. It is high time the business men of Sanford awoke to something outside of their own counting rooms. It is high time they quit counting the dollars and left their cozy firesides at night to attend some of these waterway meetings of the Chamber of Commerce. The water-traffic means more to them than anyone else. The improvement of the St. Johns river means more to them than anyone else. Cheaper rates means more to them, having their freight bills audited and checked means more to them, having the Inland Waterways go via Sanford to Miami means more to them, having hundreds of tourists here by virtues of the inland waterways means more to them than anyone else. Show your colors tonight. Attend this waterways meeting and learn something or stay at home and continue to be a dead one.

MORE WATERWAY ECONOMIES

A saving of 7 cents a bushel on the export transportation charges on wheat and corn, a half-cent a pound on lard and pork products and 65 cents a hundred pounds on cheese, canned milk and other principal exports of the corn belt would be some of the economies resulting from completion of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence project. This is the opinion of H. C. Garner, president of an association interested in the undertaking.

Mr. Gardner estimates that in an average year the total saving to mid-western farmers through the waterway would be not less than $3,000,000 on export charges, and that they would benefit also as buyers of eastern manufactured products. These could be transferred to ships at points further east than is possible now, and so be affected more speedily by the lower rates which are an inevitable feature of water transportation. This is an effective contribution to the steadily mounting evidence in favor of the project.—Tampa Tribune.

IT WAS WELL WORTH IT

New Smyrna, one of the liveliest of the old cities on the Florida east coast, has just ended a literary contest extending over a year, and has given to the winner a handsome $7,000 bungalow, furnished and fitted out, even to the linen and silver. It was called the "Bungalow beautiful contest." No strings were attached to the offer save only that no one a resident of Florida could be a contestant, and the winning essay must give the best reasons "Why I should own my home in New Smyrna, Florida."

Over ten thousand essays were received; as one man described it: "It took a big worm-drive truck to haul them!" Almost every state in the union was among the contestants, and several of the foreign countries, notably Canada, wrote interestingly. When the nearly ten thousand essays had been eliminated and the best ten had been reached, the real work of elimination began. It is to the credit of the winning essay that it was named as a winner by each of the three judges, in turn, they having had no knowledge of a decision by the others; and the second best was also a unanimous vote. The judges were "Mr. Duss"—that is the only way he is named in both the New Smyrna papers' accounts of the presentation—Col. Bob Holly of the Sanford Herald, and Major Herbert Felkel of the St. Augustine Record. The winner was a young unmarried woman of Decatur, Ind., who having been notified of her success was on hand, and sprung as a surprise to the people on presentation day.

This bungalow was the gift of the city of New Smyrna, represented by its board of trade and its business men generally. It was purely an advertising and publicity stunt; and as such has been most successful. The second—if not the oldest—town in Florida has reaped the biggest harvest from a small sowing of money that could be reaped. It has become a household word in some part of every state in the union because of this contest; and it has brought to itself the friendly feeling and good will of thousands who would have been at least neutral when speaking of it, even if they knew to speak of it.

No publicity plan which brings pleasing thoughts of a town, which causes men and women to study up on a town, which causes reading the papers of that town, is a failure, or can be. The immediate results may not be evident to the ordinary observer, but they are sure to develop as seed sown in the proper soil and under germinating conditions are bound to grow.

We congratulate New Smyrna on the success of its contest. Such might well be tried on the west coast of Florida by many a small town or city with a live board of trade and ambition to become known.—Tampa Tribune.

"PLEASE PRINT THIS"

Once every year—perhaps oftener—The Times has occasion to return to a subject that is more or less "shop talk."

But newspapers are misunderstood many, many times simply because they do not take the public into the "inside" of their own workings.

"Please print this," says a man or woman who enters the newsroom of a newspaper. And then comes the admonition: "But I don't want it changed. Print it just as it is."

Newspapers sometimes do print contributed news items "as is," but the newspaper editors are the sole judges of whether this shall be done or not.

It's one of the rules and a reasonable one, that newspapers shall exercise control over their columns and do with them as they see fit. How well they make decisions of what to print and what not to print is reflected in their success and the growth of their circulation figures.

Newspapers are printed essentially for their readers (all of them in the bulk and averaged up) and not for their news sources, although news sources are sometimes favored if that favor can be given without breaking faith with the readers.

Newspapers are glad to have the assistance of volunteer reporters—they encourage them, in fact—but the newspapers must retain the right to pass judgment upon the merits of submitted news items.

Remember this, and be just as fair with your newspaper as you are with the other agencies with which you come in contact in your daily life.—St. Petersburg Times.

WILL FOLLOW OLD PLAN ON THE BONUS.

The Herald outlined a plan some time ago on the bonus question in which we stated that the boys who fought in the World War were not beggars and were not asking for anything except what was rightfully coming to them. As far as cash bonus is concerned there are very few that want it. Some need it in cash no doubt for the world has not dealt kindly with the boys who almost lost their identity "over there" in that deadly atmosphere that was enough to kill the hopes and aspirations of anyone. We said that the government should arrange in some manner for ex-soldiers to get a loan where they wished to start in business or where they needed money for the many things that are essential at this time. It was a plan whereby the government could finance the boys and never feel the loss. It was in other words a recognition of the service of the boys by the government in which the government said to the banks of the country: "Here is a soldier that wants help. Let him have the money and we will stand good for it until he pays it back." A small favor, indeed for a big government to grant but a big favor for the boy who needs five hundred dollars or more to start in business. We know a lot of boys here in the Sanford section who could have started farming this spring if they had five hundred dollars and they could have paid it back with interest if necessary in 12 months time. At it stands now they have a hard time trying to get money when in truth they should have a preference over others who did not go to war yet have the financial backing that makes it possible for them to get along while the many of the soldiers never well 'off in the world's goods are unable to float a loan of any kind. Something of this sort is certainly coming to the boys and something of this sort should certainly be arranged by the government to tide them over the rough spots of reconstruction. We who are in business know how difficult has been the going and we should realize the troubles of young men who have to adjust their whole lives to the war period and then the peace period and a little help from the government and the banks just now would make a big change in the lives of these boys. They want to work, they want to succeed, they want to become good citizens and remain as good Americans but they have not been recognized up to date by the government as they should have been and they have not been recognized by the community in which they live as they should have been.

"To him that hath shall be given" and the fellow who hath so much at present is usually the fellow who did not go to war and lose his chances at the big money and the war profits.

There is nothing the government and the people can do for the ex-soldiers that will be too much—remember that. The government is getting round to our plan each day and we hope that in a few days they will see it as we see it and the plan is to finance the boys with a long time loan backed by the government in order that they can get started. They will pay it off and be "sitting on the top of the world" in the next three years if Uncle Sam will give them a lift.

CHARLIE HAINES, THE PRINCE CHARMING OF ALTAMONTE

Hon Charles D. Haines can well be called the Prince Charming of Altamonte. We pride ourselves on our southern hospitality and we can well feel that way about some of our actions but it remained for Charles Haines to show us the way in the entertainment line when he invited 200 Sanford people to be his guests last night at his own theatre Jessamine at Altamonte, where he gave a three hour program of first class vaudeville stunts, excellent music and vocal selections and a five reel moving picture that compared favorably with the big shows in the big cities. All of these for absolutely nothing and all done at the theatre owned by Col. Haines and operated solely for the pleasure of his friends. In this latter day of mad rushing to and fro to grab off the trusty nickel before your neighbor gets up to see it the actions of Col. Haines in building and equipping a beautiful club house and theatre for the benefit of the public is to say the least not only refreshing but is extraordinary. He has earned and should have a niche in the Hall of Fame as one of the few men in the United States that applies the Golden Rule to everyday life in the fullest measure and for an evening of unalloyed pleasure the Herald upon the behalf of the Sanford people hereby thanks him for his splendid effort at entertainment. This is the sort of spirit that builds up the waste spaces in this life and makes us feel like there is something in this life beside the constant chasing after the coin of the realm and the sordid desire of getting rick quick for the sole object of displaying that wealth and with never a thought for the good that money can do.

We want to see Col. Haines and the Theatre Jessamine and the wonderful Haines Estate again. It makes me feel more like taking up the burdens of life when you know that there are some people in this world that take a pleasure in giving you pleasure not because they want something in return but just from the real pleasure they derive from it.

Sanford could use a few men of the Colonel Haines type.

EXCESSIVE FREIGHT RATES

Word comes from Moore Haven that the cabbage crop of which much was expected is a failure on account of the excessive freight rates prevailing from that town to points north. The crop itself was a big one and there were several hundred acres planted which averaged 10,000 plants to the acre and fine big heads on every stalk but when the returns were only $530 for a car load of cabbage and the freight is above the $600 mark there is a distinct loss on every car load, to say nothing about the expense of setting, harvesting, crate material, as well as the hauling of the crop.

The Moore Haven growers have tried it for three years with cabbages and each year the freight rate came to more than the grower received for the crop and now we think it is time they got down to brass tacks and put in a crop like sugar cane or corn or something that can be sold right at home. Stuff raised there in the fall and harvested around Christmas is a paying crop, but after that the freight rates knock everything that looks like a profit on any kind of truck grown.

From Bartow another howl comes from the cabbage growers who shipped their product to Boston and other points north. One of the growers received $543.50 for a car load of cabbage and the freight was $430.40 after counting up the cost of planting, harvesting and hauling finds that has but $48 left for his labor. The Bartow grower fared better than Moore Haven brother.

Rather funny, too, the Texas cabbage grower can ship his product to Jacksonville and make a profit, while the Florida grower can't even get enough to pay the freight. Even Texas onions are being sold in Orlando and Tampa stores today as it does not pay any Florida trucker to ship them by freight to Florida points.

Some day there will be less talk and more action on reduction of freight rates in Florida. A concerted effort and cash to finance a movement could do a lot in bringing relief to the potato growers of Hastings as the Florida East Coast railway to lower the rate on potatoes, and the railroad considered it an insult to be even asked. Did the potato grower sit down and cuss? They did not. They started at once to dredge a canal to the St. Johns river and declare they would ship all potatoes by water to Jacksonville. It did not take long for a reduction on potatoes, and since then the East Coast road has quit bluffing.—Florida Post.

Having fozzled its independence shot, Porto Rico would now go a-free stating—at least, some of its mouth politicians would.

LAKE MARY

Some people from Eustis stopped at the church to inquire if there were any Lunquist here and if they were relatives of them?

Mr. and Mrs. Fry and Mrs. Bingham of Winderville and Mrs. Mabel Krell and children spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Tyner bringing up with them some fine trout or Black Bass, one weighing 7 1/4 pounds from Lake Butler. Mr. Magnuson came up with them. Happy Jack was also a visitor there, he and his wife spending the week there. Miss Eunice Tyner returned to Winderville with her aunt. Mrs. Krell and children are leaving for Arcadia where her husband has work.

Quite a party: Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Peterson and daughters, Idaline and Edwina of Holly Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Sjblom and baby of Grapeville. As Miss Sophie was a very popular girl a lot of the folks here called to see her and them. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lunquist, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Lunquist and children, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ericson and children, Emil Magnuson, George Vihlen, Carl Peterson and Mrs. Ballinger.

WHOLESALE KILLING OF DOGS RAISES CAIN IN KEY WEST

Key West, March 2.—Dogs by the wholesale were killed here last Wednesday night by someone who fed them poisoned meat, and the owners of the animals are exerting every effort to establish the identity of the killer. The dogs killed included many pets and playmates of children among them, "Snookums," a canine aristocrat owned by Frank Cates.

"Snookums is no more," said Mr. Cates. He died while trying to drag his paralyzed limbs to his home where he knew that loving hearts would be to meet him and relieve his distress, if possible.

"Some good Christian person gave Snookums a piece of meat, with strychnine on the inside, the same as he or she did to several other good and friendly dogs in the community. 'I owned Snookums, but the truth is he belonged to the entire citizenship. 'He was belated by grown people as well as by little children, and he delighted to furnish amusement for hundreds of them. If he ever harmed a living soul, I have never heard of it. 'He was a true friend and companion; a much truer friend than many two-legged brutes who are walking the streets today. 'I trust that the person that poisoned this dog is satisfied with his work, but I know this, that before he comes to die, the remorse of conscience will be his. 'If I knew who he was, I might wreak vengeance upon him, and if necessary go to jail for the satisfaction of hammering his face into a jelly, but of course this would not bring back poor old Snookums. 'It is wrong to kill a good dog; it was wrong to kill Snookums. 'This dog has served his country. He worked for the Red Cross, in its drives in Miami and in other parts of the state and in one day he collected thirty-nine dollars. At a banquet given by the Y. M. C. A., in Miami, the Honorable Fred W. Pine, placed Snookums on a high stool in the banquet hall, and made an address extolling the virtues and accomplishments of this dog. 'So I say again, to the man that poisoned this dog: I hope you are satisfied. Have you phoned 325, Bower & Roumillat, for your free appointment with Miss Welch? 287-77c

LAKE MARY Mrs. Harriet Phillips returned last week from St. Petersburg. Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Clifford and daughter Helen, of South Hamilton Mass., left for their home Tuesday morning. The most of the winter they spent here and the remainder they spent touring the entire southern part of the state. It is very much to the regret of this community to hear of the accident of Dr. G. C. Fellows, going through a window of the Jones Store of First Street in Sanford. The doctor has many friends here who are sorry of such an accident taking place. George Phillips is planting ten acres in tomatoes and peppers this week. H. D. Durant is erecting a store building here for Mr. Charles E. Merrill, formerly of Massachusetts, but a citizen of Lake Alfred at present. Mr. Merrill will put in a full line of groceries, to start with and dry goods later on. Dr. G. C. Fellows and daughter, Mrs. Charles McMahan motored to Daytona Beach last Sunday. Mrs. T. A. Greenleaf has as her guest this week a niece, Miss Ardelle Hines of Three Rivers, Mass. Miss Hines has been spending the winter with a brother in Auburn, Alabama. The dance in the hall Monday evening was well attended and every one reported a good time. A Surprise Party A delightful event of Tuesday afternoon was a surprise party given by the ladies of this place in honor of Mrs. A. E. Sjblom's birthday. Those attending the affair were: Mrs. Fellows, Mrs. Earl Mellons, Mrs. Harild Hays, Mrs. Jim Sweeney, Mrs. Ellsworth Brown, Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. Jersey, Mrs. Alice Norwood, Mrs. T. A. Greenleaf, Mrs. George Wilson, Mrs. M. V. Evans, Mrs. H. D. Durant, Mrs. Sherman Sewell, Mrs. Harriett Phillips, Mrs. John Reeves, Misses Marion Norwood, Virginia Swigg, Corintha Durant. Cake and ice cream was served for refreshments. Mrs. Sjblom was given a number of nice presents and after spending a very pleasant afternoon every one departed for their homes wishing Mrs. Sjblom many more happy returns of the day.

UPSALA AND GRAPEVILLE The little Henderson baby has been named John Muriel. It was born on the 26th of February, 1922. Mrs. Carrie Caves left Saturday by boat for Jacksonville, but "Happy Jack" remained over until the 28th, leaving there with his wheelbarrow for DeLand.

The convicts began work last week to connect up our good road with one to Palm Springs, so we hear. A number have been out to Crystal and say the water is fine. Charley Cramer and wife and Forrest West and wife and daughter, Miss Lila and son Leonard spent Sunday picnicking and boating there. Mrs. George Benton and daughter Miss Alice Benton of Winter Park, spent a day last week at the home of her niece, Mrs. Barney Beck and the week-end with her brother and wife in Grapeville. Hurry to hear one of the Karr girls of DeLand, a niece of Mrs. Alfred Erickson of this place has been ill with pneumonia. Thursday evening a bolt of lightning at the beginning of the rain struck a large pine tree in the tennis court opposite Mrs. DeForest's house, then glanced to another and tore up things generally following a wire to the house, putting phone out of commission, but luckily doing no great damage or injuring anyone, for which we are thankful. They could smell the sulphur fumes all through the house. Rev. Clark walked over Tuesday after a hard days work ditching his garden, taking supper at the Ballinger home, but the rain prevented the service and Bernard Hirscho and mother took him home. They with Mrs. Ballinger recently called to see Mrs. Clark and daughter. Remember Sunday School at Paola with preaching at 11 and at Upsala the school at 2 and preaching at 3, next Sunday. For those who care for the fundamental preaching, the faith of our fathers as Luther, Calvin, Wesley, Moody and Sunday of our day the services we are now having led by Rev. J. S. Clark are a great treat and all are welcome. Emil Magnuson was a welcome visitor to Sunday school, coming up from Windermere.

DELAND AND FORT PIERCE GAME ENDS WITH SCORE TIED

DELAND, March 2.—(Special)—The fastest game ever played on the high school gymnasium was played last night resulting in a tie between the DeLand girls and the Fort Pierce girls, sixteen to sixteen. The Fort Pierce girls have not been defeated in four years and they thought the game would be cinched but the DeLand girls upset the dope. The DeLand girls made the first basket and kept in the lead throughout the first half ending 6 to 4.

In the second half the Fort Pierce girls came back strong changing their line-up and doubled the score before the DeLand girls made a point. With few minutes to play left, a line-up for the home girls was changed and as they made this shift it was like a new team. They made twelve points and tied the score as the whistle blew.

It was decided to play the tie off in the tournament which is to be held March 16-17 at the Stetson gymnasium.

The outstanding star for the visitors was F. Hanson making all the points while for the Deland girls the whole team played good and showed good team-work.

TALLAHASSEE POWER AND LIGHT RATES ARE SLICED

TALLAHASSEE, March 3.—An ordinance was introduced at a meeting of the city commission reducing the power and light rate. The proposed rate is a flat reduction of about 20 per cent. from the present one. The scale downward, according to the amount of power used, brings the rate to 3 cents, which is said to be the cheapest power rate in any city of the state.

The city, which has recently built and equipped a new power plant, is in position to furnish any amount of power which may be needed for manufacturing purposes.

"The Tide of Business Has Turned"

So says W. P. G. Harding, Governor of Federal Reserve. And he adds: "Optimism has its uses and so has pessimism; the trouble is they are mostly employed at the wrong times. A few pessimists would have been useful during the closing months of 1919, now they are in the nature of a nuisance. We need, instead, constructive optimists for the tide of business has turned." And the prosperity that is coming makes all the more necessary the need for a permanent connection with a strong, friendly bank.

WONDERS OF ELECTRICITY

Mr. Starnes carries with him an elaborate equipment of dynamos, generators, motors and electrical and chemical apparatus which have cost thousands of dollars. He has had many years experience as a scientific demonstrator for many of the most important Chautauqua Systems, at present being associated with the Ellison-White System of Portland, Oregon.

A few of these demonstrations are as follows:

CHEMICAL ACTION—As a source of electricity, with a number of beautiful chemical experiments in illustration.

MAGNETISM—As a source of electricity. Experiments with powerful electro magnets.

THE STATIC MACHINE—Some curious experiments.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY—Besides sending messages across the hall a number of applications will be made, such as the firing of a mine and blowing up a miniature battleship at a distance.

TESLA'S WONDERFUL APPARATUS—Experiments with currents of high potential and high frequency.

X-ray, Ultraviolet Ray. Miniature Lightning. Spectacular discharges from terminals. A ladder of fire. "Horn" lightning arrester illustrated. Taking a discharge of hundreds of thousands of volts through the body. Lighting a 16 c. p. 110 volt lamp with current passing through the body.

THE RADCLIFFE CHAUTAUQUA AT MONROE

COMMENCES SATURDAY AND LASTS FOR THREE DAYS

The Radcliffe Chautauqua with its splendid program of joy and inspiration will open Saturday at Lake Monroe and continue four days. The junior worker, a trained play director and recreational expert arrived Thursday and will remain three days. She is giving inspirational talks to our boys and girls, telling them beautiful, fitting stories and teaching them something of modern, well organized play. The big tent will be pitched near the yard or within the back yard of the graded school. Fourteen big attractions will fill our program, each one of them an inspiration in itself. The men and women putting on these numbers are endeavoring to work out through the Chautauqua program the great purpose of helping others to build a useful and successful life and to fill out a great career of service to mankind, to be a hundred per cent American.

The program is as follows:
First Day
The Eugene Page Trio, headed by W. Eugene Page, for fifteen years recognized as the foremost mandolinist and banjoist. His two supporting artists combine in making their program delightful in quality, originality and versatility.
The xylophone, marimbaphone, saxophone and mando-viola are some of the instruments used by the trio with rare artistry.
J. William Terry, widely known lecturer, writer and traveler.
Afternoon—"Making the Dream Come True."
Evening—"The Spirit of the Colonist."
The Junior Worker in stories for young and old, and demonstration of organized play.
Second Day
Pietsch's Swiss Alpine Yodlers, in the picturesque costumes of Swiss mountaineers. They appeared on the same program for one whole season with William Jennings Bryan. All are highly gifted musicians, and besides their unique vocal selections, they render instrumental trios, duos and solos.

The Chautauqua Director Afternoon—"The Storm." Evening—"The Spirit of the Patriot."
Third Day
The Hendrys. Mr. Hendry excels not only as an impersonator, but as a musician of marked ability. As an impersonator, his work is so masterly that what the audience sees and hears is not a single artist, but seemingly an entire group in conversation and action—a whole company rolled into one.

ROSEMARY THEBY PLAYS TWO ROLES AT SAME TIME

Rosemary Theby, who enacts the role of "The Weaver of Dreams" in the William Fox all-star production, "Shame," which will be the feature attraction at the Star Theatre tonight and tomorrow, was a busy person just before she took over the part in this picture.
She was engaged by Fox to play the Queen in Mark Twain's story, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," another big William Fox success, when she was asked if she would also take a part with Louise Lovely, then a Fox star, in "The Little Grey Mouse."
"But I can't play two different parts at the same time," she protested.
"The Queen in the 'Yankee' is something of a vamp part," she was told, "and the part in 'The Little Grey Mouse' is also a vampirish part. The moods are similar. Only the clothes and the make-up are different."
So Rosemary glided from one set on the Fox lot to the other. Anyone visiting the studio would go away with the idea that Rosemary, Rose and Mary were popular persons. For while Rosemary was acting for one director and his assistants would be looking for her, some calling "Rosemary," some "Rose," and others just "Mary." She is splendid in "Shame."

MARK TWAIN AND WATTERSON

Lifelong Friendship Between Two of the Brainiest Men the United States Has Produced.
The late Henry Watterson was a long-time friend of Mark Twain, as of nearly every other prominent American literary worker of his day, and related many anecdotes that resulted from this friendship. Mark Twain's mind turned ever to the droll.
"Once in London I was living with my family at 103 Mount street. Between 103 and 102 there was the parochial workhouse, quite a long and imposing edifice," Mr. Watterson relates in his autobiography. "One evening, upon coming in from an outing, I found a letter he had written on the sitting room table. He had left it with his card. He spoke of the shock he had received upon finding that next to 102—presumably 103—was the workhouse. He had loved me, but had always feared I would end by disgracing the family—being hanged or something—but the 'work'us, that was beyond him; he had not thought it would come to that. And so on through pages of horseplay; his relief on ascertaining the truth and learning his mistake, his regret at not finding me at home, closing with a dinner invitation.
"It was at Geneva, Switzerland, that I received a long, overflowing letter, full of flunkeyish adjectives, written from London. Two or three hours later came a telegram. 'Burn letter. Blot it from your memory. Susie is dead.'"

How Host Made Pretty Sure That Unwelcome Guest Would Not Attend Engagement Party.
The problem was how to invite a certain young woman to the engagement party and still be certain that she would decline to attend. She was known to be a killjoy, but if she were not invited she would talk of it.
About two weeks prior to the party the couple managed to bring together the young woman and a unseasonable acquaintance of theirs. After the proper introduction the innocent young man and the young woman were left alone.
The following week the young man received two theater tickets from his acquaintance who was to be engaged, who said he would not be able to use them himself. Three days later the young woman received an invitation to the party.
"He's a nice fellow," ran part of the letter in answer to the engagement party invitation, "and he has asked me to accompany him to the theater on the very evening of your party. I would like to come to your party, but I gave him my promise before I received your invitation, so you see how it is: I do hope you will excuse me."—New York Sun.

SCHEME WORKED OUT WELL

From Nature we learn of a recent meeting of the British association, wherein it was brought out that the popular conception is untrue regarding the power of giants and the magnificent types of masculinity which they are supposed to be. Statistics were presented to show that giants were relatively feeble, usually short lived, and, in the majority of cases, devoid of those features peculiar to masculinity. Gigantism was said to be identified with abnormal conditions of two small organs located at the base of the brain—the thyroid gland and the pituitary body. The overactivity of these, preceding or near the period of birth, is the primary cause. Sometimes, however, their overactivity comes into play after the individual has attained his full growth, and, as a result, an overgrowth of the extremities takes place.

A collection of the vanity pots of an Egyptian lady of quality, rescued from the tomb which held her mummified corpse, has just been brought to London. In it, wonderfully blown, glass took the place of the silver toilet necessary of the present time.
Some of the glass pots are beautifully iridescent—due to the inroads made on the pots by the acid in the stibium with which they were filled, and with which the Egyptian beauty painted her eyelids, and eyebrows.
The collection included a henna pot still containing traces of the dye with which feminine Egypt of the period hemmed her finger nails—as London's smart set is doing this season.

SANFORD BOY RE-ENLISTS IN MARINES LIKES TO BE IN FRANCE

SAVANNAH, March 3.—The Marines are on the go at all times, today they may be in Cuba, the next bound for China or France, or goodness knows where, they are storing up pleasant memories that will last to the end of their lives, which is one of the reasons why Henry William Keeler, son of Mr. E. W. Keeler, of Sanford, Fla., re-enlisted in that branch of Uncle Sam's fighting forces for three years a few days ago, at the local recruiting station 204 West Broughton Street. Young Keeler was one of many to be examined, and one of few, successful in passing. This was not his first experience as a marine, as he had served two years in the Devil Dogs during the World War, and returned to his home, the proud possessor of an honorable discharge.

The Marines now offer education, travel, adventure and many other opportunities to the American youth who is at least 19 years of age—and it takes a man, to play the man's game.

SANFORD'S TEMPERATURE

Well, it looks like we might get that little touch of cooler weather today or tonight or tomorrow or Sunday or some time next winter. If that nice gentle rain comes to cool the heated surface of the earth it will get colder—we get this by algebra calculations—and while we want no frosts we do want cooler weather for a few days. But we are willing to take our chances knowing that we are living in the modern paradise and we have the finest brand of weather in the world. Read it and be convinced:
