Committee Okays Gomulka's Whole Program

By United Press Staff Correspondent
Polish Communist Leader Gomulka has won a new victory over his "Stalinist" enemies.

A group of high-ranking men who oppose Gomulka's independent Communist policies opened a three-day meeting of the party's Central Committee.

They accused him of failing to follow Soviet leadership in party matters, of pursuing an economic program which was against the "workers' interests and with failing to deal harshly enough with Polish Communists who favor more liberal policies.

After a bitter debate, the Central Committee overwhelmingly approved Gomulka's whole program.

Wiktoria Kiosiewicz, deputy minister for Labor and Social Welfare and leader of the "Stalinist" group, was thrown out of the Central Committee.

Gomulka also continues to try to improve relations with the Roman Catholic Church, which has supported him ever since he rebelled against Moscow domination in 1956.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet.

Robert Murphy, United States deputy undersecretary of state, undertook this week to try to settle the dispute between France and Tunisia over the bombing of a Tunisian village by French planes.

France and Tunisia had accepted the offer by the United States and Great Britain of their help in avoiding a threatened complete break in relations. Murphy, a diplomatic trouble-shooter of note, was chosen as negotiator.

Murphy conferred first in Paris, then in Tunisia. His talks with French Premier Felix Gaillard and Foreign Minister Christian Pineau in Paris and with President Habib Bourguiba in Tunisia, served chiefly to show the difficulty of his task.

Bourguiba insisted that the Algerian rebellion, of which the village bombing was an offshoot, must be taken into consideration in the negotiations. Gaillard and Pineau refused. They insisted that Algeria is a French internal issue.

The North African situation was complicated by an outbreak of fierce Algerian rebel attacks on the French forces.

Dispatches indicated that French losses totaled about 12 killed and rebel losses about 400. Some of the clashes occurred close to the Tunisian border. Many rebels base themselves in friendly Tunisia, and cross the border to attack the French. The French said it was only after rebel guns had fired repeatedly on French planes from the rooftop of Sakiel-Sidi-Youssef that a local French commandant ordered the bombing.

It was made known that the United States, Canada, Great Britain and France are consulting on the possibility of breaking the deadlock with Soviet Russia on disarmament talks.

Disarmament negotiations had been conducted by the five countries named, acting as a subcommittee of the United Nations Disarmament Commission. Russia broke off negotiations, demanding that the whole 42 member U. N. conduct them.

An agreement to resume disarmament negotiations would constitute a big step toward the summit meeting of the big powers which the Soviet government long has sought.

Arturo Frontini, 49-year-old lawyer, representing the left-of-center Intransigent Radical Party, was elected president of Argentina in that country's first really free national election in 30 years.

National Guard Will Sponsor Wrestling Match

The National Guard, which will begin sponsoring and promoting wrestling at the National Guard Armory Saturday night, has lined up some top notch names for its first show here, it was announced today.

Among those who will wrestle here Saturday night are the World's heaviest wrestler, Happy Humphrey, who claims to be 750 pounds; the Fabulous Moolah, the world's girl champion wrestler; and Gorgeous George Grand, the perfumed one.

Gorgeous George Grand will come here accompanied by his valet, Jeff Jeff will spray the ring before the Gorgeous one enters it and also will have a supply of California air in case the Sanford air gets too heavy for him.

Moolah has been world's girl champion since winning the title in Baltimore in 1956.

The National Guard said it is lining up opponents for the wrestlers it named today.

Ministers Urged To Attend Assn. Meet Thursday

"Every member of the Seminole County Ministerial Association is urged," said Rev. David E. Carnell, "to attend the monthly meeting to be held Thursday morning at the First Presbyterian Church."

R. T. Milwee, Seminole County Superintendent of Public Instruction will bring two of the county school principals for a round table discussion of the matter of teaching moral and spiritual values in the school, he said.

Milwee is a member of the committee on moral and spiritual values for the Florida State Teachers Advisory Council. "At a meeting of that group in the near future some of the information gained by this discussion will be submitted for their consideration and action throughout the state," it was reported today.

"Ministers and school officials alike will benefit greatly from this program," Rev. Carnell said. Milwee will offer some positive suggestions as to how the ministers of the county may give more assistance to the schools in the teaching and maintaining of the highest moral and spiritual values.

The discussion will afford an opportunity to better understand some of the problems facing the schools, and also to know of the efforts that are now being made to teach these values in the schools.

The program has been planned by the program chairman, Rev. Joe Curson. It is designed to bring about a closer cooperation between the schools and the churches in establishing and maintaining the highest levels of moral and spiritual standards in the community.

The ministers will be served coffee at a time for informal fellowship beginning at 9:45. The program will begin at 10 o'clock.

Orange Marketers Stockholders Meet Slated Thursday

WINTER PARK—The first annual stockholders meeting of Florida Orange Marketers Inc. will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday at the Orlando Garden Club, it was announced today by Edwin M. Lightfoot, secretary.

Florida Orange Marketers is an association of citrus growers who have banded together in an effort to promote price stabilization within the Florida citrus industry. Formed in July, 1957, with only 23 grower-members, FOM membership has expanded to over 300 in only eight months.

All oranges of concentrate grade grown by FOM members are processed and marketed by Minute Maid Corp. under the contract awarded the Orlando-headquartered citrus processor last summer. During the current citrus season, the grower cooperative has furnished nearly 6,000,000 boxes of oranges to Minute Maid.

Lightfoot said John M. Fox, Minute Maid president, will report upon company marketing operations which affect monetary returns to growers. Election of FOM directors to serve during 1958 also will be held at the meeting, he said.

Randy Rock figured in one of the largest win purses of the season a couple of weeks back, bagging his Grade A debut at odds of 25 to 1. He paid $53 on the nose. The smooth-striding pup runs for W. F. Swafford who currently boasts the top money-winning kennel at the Sanford-Orlando track.

NO MONEY FOR SUPPORT

BONN, Germany (UP)—West Germany is unable to meet U. S. demands for a further $7,500,000 payment for American troop support costs in the 1957-58 fiscal year, the Finance Ministry said today. The United States asked for 153 million dollars originally to support U. S. troops in Germany. West Germany paid half the amount last spring, and in recent months has been trying to reach a settlement with U. S. officials on the other half. The Finance Ministry said there is no money in the budget to meet the demands.

Another Era In Circus History To Die Out Apr. 1

SARASOTA, FLA.—Another era in the colorful history of the Ringling Bros., Barnum and Bailey Circus apparently will die out April 1.

Once billed as "the biggest show on earth" by its master the late John Ringling, the circus folded its canvas "big top" for all time last year.

Circus officials announced Monday the show plans to close permanently in its winter headquarters here by April 1 and sell all surplus animals from the huge menagerie and equipment no longer needed for the road show.

However, Mrs. Easter Ringling Sanford, head of a minority group of stockholders, is expected to attempt to block the move. Her attorneys filed Monday when they asked Circuit Judge John D. Justice for a temporary injunction to give them time to study the announcement. The judge ruled that was not sufficient reason to issue a restraining order.

Management Charged

Mrs. Sanford also has a suit pending, charging operators of the show with alleged mismanagement. It was filed last year, apparently as a result of circus president John Ringling North's action in scrapping the tent show.

North, nephew of the late John Ringling, controls 51 per cent of the circus stock. Apparently pushed into financial difficulties by television and mounting costs that have caused a decline in circus popularity, North has streamlined the show.

Where the "big top," its menagerie and entertainers once roared two long railroad trains to give the modern-day show now is a compact unit playing in established auditoriums.

Comptroller Nick Chlavona said the decision to close the Sarasota winter quarters followed a meeting of circus board members in New York last week. Some 200 wild animals will be sold, he estimated.

Local Officials Sad

Local officials generally expressed sadness over the announcement. One commented that it was "the passing of an era."

The Ringling Bros. show has maintained its headquarters here for 30 years. John Ringling and pioneer showmen of this resort city and hundreds of circus people have retired here when they no longer were able to perform under the Big Top.

The circus winter quarters annually attracted an estimated 250,000 visitors to its gates.

"There was a day when the announcement would have been a major tragedy to Sarasota," commented Glenn E. Foster, vice chairman of the Sarasota county commission. "I think we are well past that point now. We've got too much else here."

"I think everybody kind of hates to see something like that goop," Foster added.

Chlavona said the circus will maintain its current road show. It is scheduled to open its spring and summer tour in Charlotte, N. C., March 27. The road show arrived here only last week for its customary mid-winter stopover.

The comptroller said no plans had been made yet for the road show's winter housing next season.

"That's something we won't have to worry about until next November or December," he said. "We're worried about the present now, not the future."

Uncle Sam Is Losing Money On 3c Letters

Uncle Sam is giving ordinary 3c letters "first class service at coach rates," and has been losing money on them for the first time in history, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said today.

This loss of the last few years, Summerfield pointed out, reverses a historical trend. Traditionally, letters and other first class mail paid 40% more than cost and contributed 50 per cent to the operating costs.

Today, it provides only about 27% of its own cost, and about 25 per cent of total operating costs, with more than 20 billion letters, twice as many non-local as local, carried annually a loss.

"First class mail," Summerfield added, "is the Post Office Department's prime service, and the principal reason for our multi-billion dollar postal plant. This service is usually taken for granted, without a real appreciation of what is involved. The ordinary letter gets preferential treatment from deposit to delivery."

The Postmaster General noted some illustrations of this special treatment.

1. The Postal Service is "open for business" around the clock on street corners all over America with more than 400,000 mail boxes. These boxes are maintained for first class mail.

2. About 30,000 trucks are used daily to collect letters from street collection boxes.

3. In thousands of cities, special additional collections are made in late afternoon and evening in business and key residential sections for first class mail.

4. Tens of thousands of letter "drops" inside post offices, branches and stations, speed first class letter handling. In Washington, D. C., for example, letter drops are manned by clerks who do nothing else but collect such mail and have it postmarked immediately. All of this is a service exclusively for first class letters.

5. Once collected, and brought to the post office, the first class mail is processed day or night so it can get next day delivery to most points within a radius of 500 miles. Tens of thousands of postal clerks work at night at premium pay rates—almost entirely for first class mail. Otherwise, they would work days only at regular rates.

6. As letters speed along in the post office, top priority treatment continues. Under postal regulations, about 85% of first class mail is sorted within 15 minutes after postmarking and the rest is sorted within the hour.

7. And as it speeds out of the post office by fast-truck schedules to trains, planes and other trans-

3 NAS Civilians Receive Awards

Captain L. A. Arthur, Commanding Officer, U. S. Naval Air Station, recently presented three civilian employees of the Public Works Department at NAS, with monetary awards for their accomplishments above and beyond their regular duties in their jobs.

Mrs. Katherine D. Helms of the Maintenance Control Section of the Public Works Department received a $100 check for the sustained superior performance of her duties which has brought about highly efficient clerical work in her section.

William J. Croyle, millman, in the Maintenance Section of the Public Works Department, received a $200 check for his sustained superior performance for his careful attention to detail work which has eliminated costly mistakes. Croyle's mechanical proficiency makes him one of the most valuable employees at the Naval Air Station.

James T. Rosenow, welder in the Maintenance Section of the Public Works Department, received a check in the amount of $25 for the beneficial suggestion he submitted which suggested the purchase of a piece of equipment that will save the Government approximately $400.75 annually.

Captain Arthur commended the Public Works employees on their fine cooperative spirit and willingness to perform their duties on a better than average scale.

Development Group Adopts Budget

TALLAHASSEE (UP)—An advertising budget of $1,200,000 was adopted by the development commission for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The new budget is identical to the current budget, with $800,000 earmarked to lure tourists to Florida and $400,000 to attract new industries.

In announcing the new budget, Burt Burris, director of advertising and promotion, stressed that Florida must be placed before the people's eyes if it hopes to compete against other areas for the tourist trade. He said the promotional work must be continued especially in the light of Florida's severe winter which brought a 20 per cent decrease in tourist business.

The commission also voted to continue advertising Miami Beach temperatures in 42 northern newspapers. The move was part of a $65,000 advertising campaign to offset adverse publicity in the North.

Butts Says South Has Suffered Less By Recession

GREENSBORO, N. C.—President Harry A. DeButts of the Southern Railway says he believes the South has suffered less by the current business recession than any other area of the nation.

However, DeButts said his own huge company has suffered a drop in business volume in line with the general business decline. Nevertheless, he said, "we all will agree that 1957 was a very satisfactory year when the final results are tabulated."

DeButts spoke Thursday at the 81st annual dinner meeting of the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce.

The railway leader said he confidently expects the business decline will halt and an upturn begin during the second quarter of this year.

Southern alone, he said, has programs planned that will provide new job opportunities for more than 16,000 workers. These plans represent an investment of nearly 600 million dollars, he said.

When a strange cow is introduced into a dairy herd, milk production may fall off as much as five per cent.

Jaycee's S.O.S. Program Gets Underway With Cards, Letters

The Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, to a man, has launched the "S.O.S." program in this area to combat some of the adverse criticism of Florida weather which has reached all points of the country.

"Spread Our Sunshine" is the slogan that was adopted statewide as one to be utilized by every Floridian helping to extend the tourist season further into Spring and Summer.

Jaycees will each write ten cards to their friends and relatives in other parts of the country expounding on the "wonderful Florida sunshine" the year 'round.

And they're calling on all of their friends in the community to duplicate their efforts.

In addition, Jaycees will be calling on business people who maintain mailing lists and carry out direct mail programs, asking them to include the "S.O.S." slogan along with their mailings and to "do a little bragging about Florida weather" in their letters to business associates and customers.

"There's much to be done," said M. L. Rayborn Jr., president of the local Jaycee organization, "and we're pitching it to do as much as possible to offset any damage adverse criticism might have caused."

Florida has weather anyone can brag about—plenty of sunshine, cool nights, wonderful lakes and countryside to enjoy. There's so much we can brag about in our letters and messages to potential visitors and tourists to the "Sunshine State."

When you write, be sure to use the statewide slogan "S.O.S." on the envelope, in the letter, or wherever you might place it to bring immediate attention to the mystical words.

If you're interested in helping out in a great campaign to benefit all of Florida and particularly the Central Florida area, then get in touch with the Jaycees and tell them you're lending a hand.

Medical Education Week Near

It is often said that this country has gone overboard on "weeks" and "days" designed to call public attention to some institution or cause.

But there are outstanding and honorable exceptions to this rule. Medical Education Week—to be observed this year during the April 20-26 period—is one of them. It concerns something which has a direct bearing on the welfare and happiness of everyone and it deserves everyone's interest.

There are eighty-three approved medical schools in this country, and they constitute the foundation of our entire health and medical structure. Their primary job is to train able new doctors in increasing numbers. But, in addition, these schools carry on a wide range of other activities in the fields of teaching, research, service and leadership. Our fund of medical knowledge constantly grows as does the complexity of our civilization. The work of the medical schools is all-important in pushing back the horizons of the medical sciences.

The financial phase of medical education is an important one. During the 1956-57 school year there were slightly more than 29,000 students enrolled in the 83 schools. The cost of operating the schools in the same year was more than $200 million. Only a small part of the schools' operating budgets come from the students tuition, which simply means they must look elsewhere for needed funds. Much support has come from two organizations—the American Medical Education Foundation, which is supported by physicians and medical organizations, and the National Fund for Medical Education, which draws its funds from industry and another foundation.

This is but a small part of the medical school story. We will have an opportunity to learn the whole story when April 20 rolls around, and Medical Education Week begins.

The Atom Is In Politics

Atomic power, as a source of electricity, has become a full-scale political issue.

That issue, basically, is simple. It is whether there shall be a government monopoly of atomic power development, at a huge and unknown cost to the taxpayers, or whether private enterprise, working in cooperation with the interested government agencies, will be invited and allowed to make its full contribution to ultimate success.

The layman has every reason to be confused. Various members of Congress have charged that we are woefully lagging in this field, and that only a government crash program can save us. A bill to authorize such a program is on the Congressional agenda.

The layman, however, does not have to take these charges at face value. A man whose knowledge of what is being done is second to none—Admiral Lewis Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission—tells a different story. In his words: "Today the United States leads the world in the scope of its program for the development of safe, efficient and competitive nuclear power."

Admiral Strauss went on to detail some facts. The partnership of AEC with private industry has so far created a half-billion dollar atomic power industry. To quote him again: "We have already built and operated 23 reactors in the U. S. for production of power, civilian and military. Another 44 are under construction and 21 are under development or in the planning stage."

This total of 88 power reactors represents a program which to our knowledge, is not approached by any other country either in performance or planning."

Why, in the light of this, should there be all the turmoil over atomic power? Here's one logical answer: those who seek a socialized federal power monopoly have seized eagerly on the atom in their search for new political controls over the people.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

By WILLIAM RITT, Central Press Writer

IT'S EASY to understand it may make you begin to think they're being double. First, Egypt and Syria merge and now Iraq and Jordan are planning to unite.

That latest proposed merger of Middle East nations would be, after all, a family affair. King Faisal of Iraq and King Hussein of Jordan are cousins.

On reading that Red China's Premier Chou En-lai has given up his second job, as foreign minister, P.E.P. has had a two-word comment: "Awww, Cheu!"

"You can plan on pay-TV before the end of the year," writes a newspaper television columnist. "Plan on it?" snorts Grandpappy Indian war bonnet.

Jenkins, "I'm sure as heck hoping to avoid lit."

Americans are better auto drivers than Britons, says a British government official. Well, for one thing, we don't drive on the wrong side of the street.

Among the lost stolen from a noted orchestra leader in Cincinnati were 12 pairs of shoes. That, declares Zedek Dumkopf, sounds like the work of a typical footpad.

A number of top Democrats are being boomed as candidates for that party's nomination for President in 1960. However, we won't take them seriously until a newspaper television columnist. "Plan on it?" snorts Grandpappy Indian war bonnet.

Look Ahead At Top World News

By UNITED PRESS
United Press correspondents around the world look ahead at the news that will make headlines.

Who Was Who
That brometer of influence in Moscow—the Kremlin reception—indicates a storm brewing for Premier Bulganin. He's been seen at recent receptions hovering outside the "circle" at Khrushchev's table, waiting vainly for an invitation from the pudgy party chief to join in talks with foreign envoys.

Americans Are World's Greatest Merchandisers

NEW YORK—Americans are the world's greatest merchandisers, and the constant struggle of industry to re-package and re-build its product into a new image of worth every 20 minutes is wondrous to behold.

A recent review in this column of push-button cans and squeeze bottles drew blithe comment from a big man in toothpaste about the joys and brain-storms of that valuable business.

The toothpaste industry is great fun," he said. "Somebody sold that leading medical journal, the Medical Digest, an article on ammonium iron as a great tooth-saver. So all of us in the manufacturing business had to rush out an ammonium iron toothpaste whether or not our research showed it did or did not help the teeth.

"Then another writer sold the Saturday Evening Post a piece revealing that chlorophyll really was the priceless ingredient. So we all had to come out with a chlorophyll paste, called 'the greens' in the trade.

"Then the press discovered a little town in Texas where nobody had any cavities. The answer: They had fluorides in the reservoir. So we all bought a little fluoride and stuck it in the public demanded it. This fad lasted a couple of months.

"Now you can't sell ammonium iron or chlorophyll or fluoride, just as we suspected. This makes it easier for the druggist too because he doesn't have to carry four variations of each brand. But lately there has been a dearth of fit articles on new ingredients to excite the public. Guess the writers have turned their attention to rackets.

"The result was, the consumer having returned to the white toothpaste, things got pretty dull. I can tell you. So we thought about packaging... some of the boys now are going in for bombe-aerol cans.

"These are great fun. Give a child a bomb and the little darling can have a great deal of innocent amusement. The best of them will squirt 10 feet. Then you whate the hell out of the brat.

"Confidentially—and don't tell the Blatnik committee about this—we're working on a 20-gallon tank filled with toothpaste. This fits on the outside of the house and a hose runs into the bathroom.

"You simply hold your brush under the hose, turn it on and there you are. Our service wagons deliver the tanks as they are needed. We are also setting up a home service so you can send your teeth in to us and we will clean and return them, painted in stripes or any design you may specify. One day service if you call before 8 a. m."

Inside Washington

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Writer
WASHINGTON—Diplomats here are impressed by the fact that the new Soviet ambassador to the United States, Mikhail Menshikov, obviously is under Khrushchev orders to give the "supersalesman" pitch to his new job in Washington.

Menshikov, who took on his new job less than a month ago, already has given evidence that he is willing to carry out the "soft soap" approach.

The affable, backslapping ambassador, a far cry from his dour predecessor, Georgi Zarubbin, has been described by President Eisenhower as a "pleasant person" and won similar encomiums from Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The new envoy even received warm compliments from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who seldom gets on friendly terms with Iron Curtain emissaries.

Menshikov's immediate assignment appears to be "sell" high U. S. officials on the desirability of and East West "summit" conference. Up to now, it appears that he is doing all right.

GAS BILL'S DEATH—Texas oil tycoons signed their death warrant for a new natural gas bill this year just when it looked like they might have enough support to get it through a wary Congress.

The measure (to ease federal controls on the gas producers squeezed through Congress last year and President Eisenhower

This year, there was almost a repeat performance. Texas oil owners, eyeing the estimated billion dollars a year more they could reap from the natural gas by-product, willingly contributed $100,000 to the GOP bankroll in what was advertised as a testimonial dinner for House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin for his help in getting GOP votes for the gas bill last year and for his continued help this year.

Although not blatantly a bribe, it had the same political conclusion. The GOP national committee, with the White House concurrence, dropped the $100,000 like a hot potato. However, the damage was done and even the most optimistic supporter conceded it spelled death for the gas bill for the second straight year.

Easy-Stage Method Of Converting GI Insurance Told

An easy-stage method of converting GI term insurance to permanent plans is available to any of the 3,200,000 World War II veterans who cannot afford to convert the full amount of their term policies.

The law and VA regulations permit these term policyholders to convert a little as $1,000 the first time and then any amount thereafter if they wish in multiples of $500. Benjamin S. Beach, Officer in Charge of the Central Florida VA Office announced today.

By converting $1,000 a year for 10 years, the full amount will be in permanent plan insurance within a decade, Beach pointed out. Annual dividends may be used in the process to reduce the cash outlay to the policyholder at the time of conversion, he added.

The decision to convert is for each policyholder to make based on his need for present and future life insurance, his ability to pay premiums and his family status, Beach said.

In some cases term insurance is preferable. In others, permanent plans are indicated.

Permanent plan policies available to World War II term policyholders who wish to convert under this easy-stage method are ordinary life, 20-pay life, 30-pay life, 20-year endowment, endowment at age 60, and endowment at age 65.

The premium rates for the permanent plans are higher than for the term policies at the same age of issue, but they remain static. Term policy premium rates, on the other hand, increase every five years until they become prohibitive at advanced ages, Beach said.

Beach added that permanent plans have certain values which term policies do not have. These include a loan value, a cash surrender value and an extended insurance value. The latter will keep a policy in force automatically for a stipulated period after a policyholder has failed to pay premiums.

Term policies, on the other hand, provide only insurance against death and then only as long as premiums are timely paid. They have no extended value as a cushion against lapse, or loan value for emergencies.

World War II term policyholders who wish to take advantage of easy-stage conversions may obtain full information at any VA office, Beach said.

SATELLITES—LOTS OF 'EM
Outer space seems certain to be well filled with earth satellites before the year ends. The U. S. Army is preparing to send up another small satellite to join the Explorer, and then to launch a larger device.

Meanwhile, the Navy is determined to orbit its jinxed Vanguard test sphere and to follow that up with a series of fully-instrumented satellites.

The Air Force, determined to get into the outer space act, seems likely to receive permission for a try at launching a 1,000-pound or larger satellite. The Air Force intermediate range ballistic missile Thor would be the delivery vehicle. Russia obviously is preparing to hurl new Sputniks skyward. Thus, there will be so much traffic in the faraway skies that a collision—though unlikely—might be possible.

Feminine Look Encouraged By Jean Desses

PARIS — Jean Desses today gave every man what he wanted: A woman who looks like a goddess.

And he did it by making her look like a woman. He was the first Paris designer of the 1936 season to put waists and hips and busts in the place nature meant them to be.

And in doing so, he was the first to pay his respects to the man who foists the dress bills. Desses said in introducing his collection he was discarding the sack because it is "despised by every man."

He stuck by his word. A handsome series of ensembles was first down the runway—the coats and dresses were made for each other. The low-slung "mid-dy" style hipline of a pink shantung dress was carried out by low belt of its navy blue coat.

Ballooned gracefully. When tapered coats were cinched at the waist, their dresses had gracefully draped waists.

When coats ballooned, they did so gracefully. When they fell straight from the shoulder, they had pockets or belts below the hips to give them form.

There was harmony of color throughout: A beige wool coat covered a coffee-colored print dress.

Fabrics were as light and airy as the colors; shantung was worn over silky looking wool and warm silk over crepe.

Colors ranged from impressionistic pastels to blacks of lemon, orange and cherry. Black and navy blue were preferred for cocktail and evening wear. Every color of the rainbow was used for ball gowns.

Desses, Greek-born designer who dresses Queen Frederika of Greece and whose house is rumored to have been bought by Greek shipping magnate Aristotele Onassis, combined easy elegance and youthfulness throughout the collection.

Profusion of Prints. Afternoon dresses had bloused backs, easy front belts and bold ascissor pleats in front.

Skirts were straight and at the mid-thigh where they should be. Some had inverted back pleats that gave a wrap around effect. All looked easy to walk in and wear.

Desses showed a profusion of exotic Oriental prints under band-darin-style hats.

Some of these dresses were paneled or darted to achieve a balloon-like effect. But whether they ballooned out in front or in back, the effect always was graceful.

Thus far in the first three days of the week-long spring fashion showings, the dresses have done little to make the average woman look like a Marilyn Monroe. They may have been soft, feminine and flattering, but apparently not to the masculine eye.

Some even showed the kneecap, and an American designer Hannah Troy asked after seeing some of the new styles, "What could be uglier than a kneecap?"

Filmtown's Giant Studios Heading For Extinction

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — Filmtown's giant studios seem to be headed for extinction and their own pictures—sold to television—are pushing them toward the exit.

Oddly, nobody in Hollywood seems to care about their passing. Republic and RKO already have perished, leaving only six major lots—MGM, 20th Century-Fox, Brothers, Paramount and Columbia. All six are producing TV films to keep the cameras rolling.

Independent producers have taken up some of the slack at the studios. At a recent Academy Award nominations, the five pictures named all were independent productions.

Movie executives admit TV is the principal cause of Hollywood's plight, but they point to other factors which have changed us from a nation of steady movie goers.

Dull, unimaginative pictures share the blame with outdated, uncomfortable popcorn palaces. One bigwig says the movie down-fall began in 1940 when the government forced divorcement of studios and theaters, ruling a company which made a picture could not own the theaters in which it was shown.

Holmes Star System. Some blame the passing of the "star system," saying too few youngsters have been built to the height occupied by the Gables, Garbos, Tracys and Harlows.

Rising costs of movie-making add to the havoc, says the head of a major studio. "We can't keep turning out five and six million dollar pictures that don't return the cost."

Twenty years ago a picture costing a million dollars was a super-colossal. Today "B" picture can't be made for less.

In 1936, the Klieg-lighted peak turned out a total 621 epics with an additional 142 released—all but a fraction of them produced by major studios. Last year, '78 pictures were made—only 118 by the studios. Subtract from that 89 movies filmed abroad.

The pinch is reflected in pink slips. Staff have been hacked drastically. Unemployment offices are turning up sound men, extras, featured players, electricians, grips and other movie specialists.

Much as they point to vague reasons for their woes, movie-makers can't duck responsibility for selling old films to television. And sell them they have—a grand total of 3,144 pre-1948 films.

Columbia Doesn't Talk. The total does not include Columbia which refuses to divulge its TV sales.

The big studios got something in the neighborhood of $150 million for the pictures. Here's a breakdown:

20th-Fox—Sold 390 pictures to Screen Gems for $20 million on a seven-year lease.

MGM—Leased 725 pictures to individual TV stations for an approximate $10 million.

Paramount—Sold 725 pictures to Music Corp. of America for $35 million.

Warners—Sold 782 pictures to P.M. Inc. for $21 million.

20th-Fox—Sold 390 pictures to National Television Assn. for $5 million, maintaining 40 per cent of the stock and 45 per cent of the gross income.

Columbia—No figures. Most of the pictures were made in the days when each studio produced 82 pictures a year—enough to provide their theaters with a new bill every week.

Many movie people believe the line between survival and demise of the major studios lies in the hefty backing of films made since 1948.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN, Society Editor

Sanford firemen were honored at the Episcopal Church with a special service at 9:15. The firemen came in uniform and were presented with chains bearing religious medals with the head of St. Christopher on one side and "The Lord Is My Shepherd" on the other. The feature was extended in appreciation of the twenty-four hour service given by the fire department. The weather conveniently supplied rain so there would be no fires during the service.

Dodie and John King had surprise visitors Sunday night. From California stopped in to see them. The Holmes are touring the country with a trailer, trying to decide where to settle down. Dodie and John did everything they could to convince them that this was the place. After all, Bill is a realtor, and if there is anything Seminole County needs, it is one more realtor. Especially one from California.

Too bad the JayCees couldn't have started their S.O.S. (spread out sunshine), campaign during good weather. But those are the breaks. But from now on, all cooperative citizens will include little paragraphs like: "Gise, Aunt Minnie, you should be down here in Sanford where spring has really come. Things are starting to turn green again, not that they were ever brown. Those naughty rumors about it being cold down here were highly exaggerated. Well, time for another stint under the heat lamp to keep up my Florida tan. This is the rainy season, you know."

Seriously, though, the boys are trying to do Florida a good deed, and I for one hope they are successful. There is no denying the fact that it is warm and the rain does make things grow. And we did see the sun today for a fact.

Bob and Ruth Bihlmer had as their houseguest this weekend, Betty Bradley, a teacher from West Palm Beach. The jolly Bihlmers gave a backyard barbecue in her honor Saturday night (and that was a beautiful night). Attending were Harold and Viola Kistner, Sally and Ralph Light, Sophie and Kay Shoemaker, Dr. J. C. Boyce, Cecil R. Otter, Sol Mannon and Betty Bihlmer.

Cecil Otter, who has been visiting here from Champaign, Ill., left Sunday for New Orleans, after a week in this sunny climate.

We are sorry that more people did not turn out to see Patsy Berg, Betsy Rawls, and Mickey Wright on Saturday when they held a golf clinic at the Mayfair Country Club. Understand that Patsy Berg was under a very fine show as she displayed her prowess with the club.

Jet-Age Influences Men's Fashions

MIAMI BEACH (UP)—The stylish American male will look taller and slimmer during the coming summer and fall, and he'll be sporting new colors with spacenames.

This latest information on men's fashions comes from Lawrence Pucci Jr. of Chicago, head of the Custom Tailors and Designers Assn. of America, holding its 78th annual convention here.

The new colors will include Mars brown, Saturn gray and Cobalt Mercury blue-black. And the "narrow" look will extend even to headwear.

Pucci said the slender look in clothing is a result of the tendency of American men to become taller and smaller-waisted. Trousers will be tapered and just long enough to brush the shoe-tops. Shoes will be more pointed and belts will be narrower.

As to coats—the trend is toward a double-breasted or two button style with a narrowing of the lap-over. Unpadded shoulders still will prevail and jacket waists will be nipped in to accent height.

Breast pockets, buttonholes with out matching buttons and the sleeve-vent buttons are on the way out, Pucci said.

The jet-age theme will be carried out in names for some of the new suit styles, too. There will be a "Jupiter-1973" line and others called "stren suits."

Other new style notes: Pin, chalk and pin-dot stripes; fabrics ranging from cashmere and wool blends to pure silk; and evening shirts with pleated bosoms, frills or embroidery — if they suit the occasion and the wearer.

Lares and Penates were named for household gods of ancient Romans.

The TEL Class of the First Baptist Church will meet in the chapel at 3:00 p. m. Mrs. J. A. Cunningham and her group will be hostesses.

HAIRDRESSER KILLS SELF
ST. PETERSBURG (UP)—The third suicide leap in four months from the Sunshine Skyway across Tampa Bay occurred Wednesday when Alexander MacKenzie, 55-year-old hairdresser, jumped 133 feet in his death. The spectacular leap is part of a 15-mile linkage of bridge and causeways across the water.

Stetson Physical Education Director To Speak Thursday

Mrs. Sarah Staff Jernigan, director of physical education at Stetson University, will be the speaker Thursday night at the Southside School P. T. A. meeting. The meeting will take place at 8:00 p. m. in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Jernigan will speak on physical education in Europe; the playgrounds, the exercises and the organized sports which have made European children excel in health and later in the Olympic games.

She will also offer constructive advice on how American schools might improve their playground facilities and their physical education programs.

Mrs. Jernigan comes well qualified to speak to the parents on this subject. She is a graduate of St. Petersburg Junior College and Stetson University, where she received her B. A. She graduated from the University of Wisconsin with a Master's Degree, and has studied with numerous university groups and workshops. She has been a faculty member of the New York University summer school.

Among her other activities, Mrs. Jernigan is head of the International Relations Association of America for Physical Education, Health and Recreation. She is also president of the Southern Association of Physical Education for College Women.

Mrs. Jernigan is on the faculty of the University of Florida Extension Division. The Physical Education Division is responsible for social and recreational workshops. An interesting workshop is presently being planned for the patients and staff of the new Florida State Mental Hospital.

This coming summer, Mrs. Jernigan will be director of the girl's division of the National Music Camp of Inter-Lochen, Mich. Her choice of European physical education is the result of a trip taken last summer, when Mrs. Jernigan visited numerous European playgrounds and sports centers, as well as schools and universities. She and her husband reside in Deland.

Senators Named In 'Influence' Inquiry To Offer To Testify

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senators named in a House "influence" investigation planned to offer formally today to testify before a House investigating subcommittee. At the same time some of the senators blasted a demand by National Airlines President G. T. Baker that they resign as "ridiculous"—"the statement of a desperate, reckless, irresponsible man."

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, told the United Press he planned to send a statement today to Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.), chairman of the investigating group, through Speaker Sam Rayburn.

He said the statement will declare that any senators mentioned in the inquiry into alleged influence and wrongdoing in the Federal Communications Commission are "perfectly willing to testify and give the committee the benefit of any information they have."

The statement will offer to turn over to the Harris group information gathered two years ago during a Senate Commerce Committee investigation of the FCC and other federal regulatory agencies, Magnuson said.

Agreed To Statement

He said Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) and George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) agreed in advance to the statement he will send Rayburn.

The investigating subcommittee planned to continue hearings today with further testimony from Alexander Hardy, senior vice president of National Airlines which won the badly contested TV Channel 16 in Miami, Fla., in a controversial FCC award last year.

The investigation has already led to the resignation of FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack, accused of taking money from a Florida attorney helping National Airlines in the TV case. Mack, who was scheduled to give further testimony today, was granted a week's postponement after his attorney said he was under a doctor's care for "nervous exhaustion."

Baker, who testified Tuesday, issued a statement later asserting that Holland, Smathers and Kefauver "ought to resign just as Commissioner Mack has, and for the same reason, because their usefulness in the high positions that they hold has been seriously impaired—their halos have slipped."

Baker said the three "either because of political gain they have derived or expert to derive from Katsenbun (A. Frank Katsenbun), a defeated applicant in the Channel 16 case, or because of political need all the power they could . . . coerce the FCC into voting for Katsenbun or vote against National Airlines."

"I cannot believe that in this great republic the Congress will have one standard of morality for the citizens and the federal employees and another standard of morality for senators or members of the House."

Kefauver labeled Baker's statement "ridiculous." He said he is "ready, willing and anxious" to testify before the House group "if they just ask me."

Smathers said he, Kefauver and Holland need some "forum" to explain their position and if it is not available elsewhere they will testify before the Harris subcommittee. He said three would decide as a group.

Holland said it appeared Baker "let anger run away with his judgement."

The senators' formal offer through Rayburn to testify would mark an apparent change in their position. One said he had not intended to testify but now would be glad to do so if requested.

Russia Suggests East West Meet At Capital

WASHINGTON (UP)—Russia has indicated it is willing to attend a "summit" meeting or foreign ministers conference here in Washington, informed sources here said today.

The Soviet suggestion was said to have been made through diplomatic channels.

The United States was reported wary of the offer. Informants said it could be another Russian "gimmick" aimed at showing Moscow's willingness to hold East-West talks without actually being ready to give up any basic Red policies.

Sen. Nat. Planned

It was pointed out the choice of Washington, Geneva or any other place for a heads-of-government meeting is a procedural matter and does not assure a successful conference.

However, it was thought the Soviet suggestion might be aimed at meeting a frequent U. S. argument that the American President cannot be away from his capital for long because of his duties.

The United States is preparing in any case to put Moscow's latest proposal for a pre-summit foreign ministers meeting to an acid test to see if the Reds are really willing to negotiate.

Proposal called Unacceptable

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Tuesday stamped as "unacceptable" Moscow's latest proposal to have a foreign ministers conference in April that would only set a date, place and agenda for a heads-of-government "summit" parley in June.

Dulles said available signs indicate the Russians are interested in a summit meeting that would be "merely a spectacle, a show . . . This country, he declared, would not be a party to a conference that would be a 'fraud or a hoax' and 'not actually deal with anything.'"

Commissioner Lawrence Swoford stated "I hope that the Advisory Committee realizes our problem is to give more service to the people and that without a reappraisal we will have to add additional millage."

County Attorney Cleveland explained that the committee has begun action by arranging to interview and talk with each of the court house officials. "Four years' budgets have been supplied for study and background," he said. "Time is essential to them and they want to move along as rapidly as possible. Cleveland told the board of commissioners.

"You think they want the county's problems in general?" Chairman Krider asked.

Krider was authorized to write the Advisory Board outlining the problems of the county, including the proposed new county court house and jail; the road repair problem; the addition of new subdivision roads to maintain; a 35 per cent increase in school enrollment; the providing of additional law enforcement to patrol and supply protection countywide; as well as the problem of revenue for the county to meet current needs.

"This committee has gotten down to brass tacks and are really beginning to work," the board of commissioners was told. When all of the members of the committee, with the exception of one, turn out to attend a meeting on one of our worst sights, they must be interested, he said.

"We feel that we have one of the best committees that could be appointed," one commissioner said. "They know the problems and they know what we are faced with and now they are attempting to come up with concrete recommendations," he said.

Homestead Claim Applications Must Be Filed By Apr. 1

"Applications for homestead exemption are coming in very slowly for the year 1958." Mrs. Mary Earle Walker, Seminole County Tax Assessor, said today. To date, she said, only 4,650 applications have been filed with a prospective total of 7,000 applications in all to be filed. "This means that before the end of this month approximately 2,400 people must make applications for the exemption in order to receive the benefit for 1958," Mrs. Walker said. Applicants are urged to file early, in order to avoid the lines which form the last week, she said.

On Jan. 1, 1958 applications were mailed to all who filed for homestead exemption the previous year, unless the property was sold during the year. Mrs. Walker explained, she said these applications need to be dated and signed, and either mailed or brought into the office along with the personal property returns which need to be filed in, completed and signed.

Mrs. Walker emphasized "If this is your first time to apply for exemption, or if you bought a different home and this is your first time to apply for exemption on this property, it will be necessary that you appear at the Tax Assessor's office in person, and bring your deed with you for the first application."

New residents are required to present proof of legal residence, either recorded Declaration of Domicile and Citizenship, signed by the head of the family (husband), or voting certificate showing you are registered for voting in Seminole County, said Mrs. Walker. She added, it is also necessary that you present the 1958 Florida Automobile registration certificate.

Tax laws provide, said the Seminole County Tax Assessor, that in order to receive the benefit of the homestead exemption, you must file each and every year between Jan. 1 and Apr. 1. Tax laws also provide severe penalties for failure to file returns on Tangible and Intangible Personal Property, Mrs. Walker revealed.

She said "My office will be glad to assist you with your tax returns and claims for exemption."

VAH-3 Reports Aboard SNAS Yesterday Morning

At 11:14 yesterday morning, the VAH-3 "Skywarrior" of Heavy Attack Squadron Three touched down at NAS Sanford, thus officially completing the change of the squadron's home port from NAS Jacksonville, to NAS Sanford.

On hand to welcome the squadron "home", was Captain J. R. Reedy, Commander, Heavy Attack Wing One and Commander Lewis Tammy, NAS Executive Officer. Who extended welcome wishes on behalf of Captain L. A. Arthur, NAS Commanding Officer.

The Commanding Officer of VAH-3 is Commander C. F. Frossard, who flew to Sanford yesterday directly from the carrier, "Franklin D. Roosevelt" (CVA-42). Leading the flight of five other aircraft from Mayport, Fla., was Commander Jack S. Hall, Executive Officer of the squadron.

VAH-3 is now a full-fledged member of the growing Navy "family" at Sanford, even though the carrier, "Roosevelt", was not expected to dock until about 1:30 today with the remainder of the squadron personnel. The squadron, comprising about 280 enlisted personnel and 40 officers, makes the fifth Heavy Attack Squadron of Heavy Attack Wing One, under command of Captain J. R. Reedy, to be assigned here at Sanford.

VAH-1, the remaining squadron in the Wing, is still based temporarily at NAS Jacksonville.

VAH-3 reports to NAS Sanford, from an extensive tour of duty with the Sixth Fleet in Mediterranean waters. The squadron departed NAS Jacksonville aboard the carrier, "Franklin D. Roosevelt" (CVA-42), in July of 1957.

Commission Surveys Local Road Damage

The Board of Seminole County Commissioners is surveying today roads damaged by the recent freeze and rain.

Estimated damage will run in excess than a quarter million dollars, Chairman John Krider said at yesterday's meeting of the board.

There are from 50 to 75 miles of roads damaged during the catastrophes, Krider said, and that, he added, is the bare minimum.

It is estimated that the cost per mile to repair the damage will be at least 5,000, if not more.

"All of the clay roads are simply ruined," he said, "and some of them have had to be closed because they are impassable."

Krider called attention to the fact that in one instance there is one 11 mile section where the macadam has peeled off the road entirely and the limerock is exposed.

Each commissioner complained of excessive damage in his district.

In most instances, commissioners said yesterday that to fix the roads properly they will have to be regraded, limerock stabilized, and additional limerock provided, and then repaved.

"Where are we going to get the equipment or the men?" commissioners asked yesterday.

The only primary roads in the county where damage will be repaired by the State Road Department are Highway 17-92, 436, 46 and 415, it was brought out.

"It's not a very bright picture," Chairman Krider said.

Commissioners stated that they were receiving from 25 to 75 telephone calls a day regarding roads and road damage.

Purpose of the survey today is to determine to what extent the county's road system has been damaged and at what point to start with possible repairs.

It will take from a quarter to a half million dollars to replace and repair all of the damaged roads in the county it was reported yesterday.

Abandoned Bicycle Found In Ditch On Celery Ave.

Apparently abandoned, Sheriff J. L. Hobby said the bicycle could be reclaimed by identifying it at the Sheriff's Office at the county jail.

Touchton's Buys Uniform For Band

Touchton Drug Co., of Sanford, contributed $5.10 for another complete outfit for the colorful marching unit of the local high school.

Along with a few candy and calendar sales amounting to $4.79, the donation makes the uniform fund total exactly $4.800.

This leaves the goal $300 short of paying for the uniforms when they arrive. This is the seventh uniform donated to the band. A label showing the band's appreciation to the donors will be sewn in the jackets of the seven uniforms.

Education Experiment Published In 'Time'

Time magazine, in its March 3 issue, gave a down-to-earth report on an experiment conducted in a Winter Park High School by Sanford's Hugh Ansley, social studies teacher of the school.

Ansley, a traditionalist by nature, reported the magazine article, agreed to try the "rigorous study habits of Soviet students."

However, the attempt to match Russian habits was made only with the support of the students who asked "Do you suppose we could do it?"

The experiment, covering seven weeks, was called "Traditional Education Experiment" with each student required to wear a paper badge lettered T.E.E.

Students were required to stand at attention when Teacher Ansley entered the room, snap to attention when addressed, girls curtsied and boys doffed their hat to the teacher when on the school grounds.

Classroom silence, said the Time Magazine article, incited paying attention and note-taking, a stern requirement, and constant review made exams "a snap."

At the end of the experiment grades had risen 25 per cent, reported Time, and without the bowing and doffing, students wanted the program made permanent.

The article in Time explained that the enthusiastic response to T.E.E. created a desire for Saturday classes for which no credit would be given for the 15-week class in philosophy, one class in the morning and another in the afternoon. Cost of the Saturday classes: $15-Result: 17 for the a.m. course and 20 for the p.m.

"It's lots of fun," said one student. "It's a great success," said Ansley.

Teacher Hugh Ansley is a former sports editor of The Sanford Herald and a graduate of Stetson University.

It is a regular monthly meeting of the group.

Tourists Greeted With Sunglasses

Four Ohio tourists were greeted with sunglasses yesterday as they stopped for information at the Jaycee Information booth here in Sanford. The sunglasses were a gift of the Jaycees as part of the "Spread Our Sunshine" campaign taking place all over Florida this week.

The S.O.S. project in Seminole County is headed by Jaycee Everett Harper. "Spread Our Sunshine" is not limited to Seminole County. Every town, city, and county in Florida is part of the tremendous effort to combat unfavorable publicity about the weather. S.O.S. is a joint project of Florida Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Handbills have been printed advertising the sunshine and warm weather. Through the co-operation of farmers, truckers and fruit packers, the bills will be included in each crate or sack of fruit and vegetables to be sent out of the state.

Merchants and business firms have been requested to add a paragraph in their correspondence telling of the warm weather now prevalent in Florida. All Seminole County residents are asked to tell their out-of-state relatives and friends about our pleasant climate, and to include the symbol S.O.S. on every envelope.

Through S.O.S. saturation, the Jaycees hope to reassure northern residents that Florida is a "wonderful vacationland" at any time of the year. Through cards, letters, handbills and ads such as the one running in the Wall Street Journal by the Florida Power and Light Company, the Jaycees and
