

More Work, More Pay--May Be New Federal Policy

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Pay increases if you turn out more finished work each hour—that's shaping up as the government's new wage policy.

Industry's and labor's reaction may be getting its first test right now in the labor-management wage negotiations in the steel industry. Some businessmen fear the test may end in industry-paralyzing strike.

The policy that "wage increases commensurate for more or better production" if it doesn't mean price increases too is set forth by the Chairman of Wage Stabilization Board, Nathan P. Feinsinger. The emphasis on no price increases is what worries businessmen, who doubt if it can work that way.

Increased productivity isn't to be confused with the "speed-up" system which labor opposes—the sweating of more work out of a laborer in an hour.

Productivity increases usually spring from better machinery, more efficient use of machines, better training of employees, elimination of waste in both products and labor. If any or all of these things result in a factory producing more finished goods in an hour's time than it formerly did, it is called increased productivity.

Since the first World War, productivity of American industry has been figured as rising between two and three per cent a year, due to better machines, better management.

The wage board's productivity policy, however, will not be easy to reduce to a rule of thumb, businessmen point out. Many of them contend that the increase in the cost of living since the last contract, Dec. 1, 1930, which the unions say equals 12 to 13 cents an hour in pay.

Industrialists attending the meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers here have heard the 15-cent-an-hour wage increase report that the government

Rural Common Sense By BRUCE JOHNSON

Frequent inspection is fundamental in efficient livestock management, and the farmer who keeps a sharp eye on his animals usually succeeds with them.

When a farmer looks over his cattle or hogs every day, he is familiar with their condition, is able to feed and manage them efficiently, and he can take prompt measures if he finds anything wrong with them.

Inspection is particularly important in winter when much pasture grass has been killed back and thousands of pounds of valuable meat may be lost if cattle are not given supplementary feeds.

Some poisonous plants will kill animals within a few hours, so, it is important to inspect herds frequently and to take quick measures to save healthy animals when plant poisoning is discovered.

When disease breaks out, it is still tending with the idea that price increases shouldn't be granted.

is still tending with the idea that price increases shouldn't be granted.

Using this earnings formula as a base, government officials are reported to have figured that the steel industry could grant up to 30 cents an hour and still make 85 per cent as much as it did in 1934 through 1935.

The steel industry can be depended upon to fight such an attitude vigorously. One of management's chief contentions in the wage and price debate is that the steel industry has been using its earnings in a large extent in expanding its plant to provide more steel for the rearmament program.

Many industrialists contend that productively wage increases can't be based, during the rearmament program, on the old standards for judging whether output per man hour is rising.

Factory and mill owners may have a chance soon to put their views before the Wage Stabilization Board. Reininger says the subject of productivity, in all its aspects, is on his board's agenda for early action.

At the NAM meeting, many members are speculating as to whether the nation may not be in for a steel strike—if the government won't grant a price increase to offset a wage hike.

What Washington will do about such a threat, a lot of businessmen wish they knew. Most of them still believe the government won't permit a steel strike to cripple the defense program.

Highest Court Finds Lorain Paper Guilty

Refusal To Do Business With Radio Station Clients Cited As Cause

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—(AP)—The Supreme Court today decided the Lorain Ohio Journal violated the Sherman Anti-Trust Act by refusing to accept advertising from merchants who patronized a competing radio station.

The high tribunal by 7-0 vote upheld a decision by U. S. District Judge Emerich B. Freed of Cleveland. Judge Freed said the Journal could not deny space to advertisers who used radio station WEOL of Lorain and Elyria, Ohio. He found the Journal was trying to "destroy" WEOL as a competitor.

Justice Burton delivered the high court's opinion. Justices Clark and Minton took no part in the case.

The Journal appealed to the Supreme Court to overturn Judge Freed's ruling on the ground that it violated the Freedom of the Press and the Search and Seizure provisions of the Constitution.

Lawyers for the Journal agreed that the paper's refusal to accept advertisements was "a legitimate competitive weapon" and its actions were taken "solely for its own economic protection."

Solicitor General Perlman in defending Freed's decision told the Supreme Court that owners of the Journal had sought a Federal Communications Commission permit to operate a station in the Lorain-Elyria area. FCC denied them a permit and instead gave one to WEOL.

The Journal then set out to destroy the new station. Perlman said, "one of the reasons being that they themselves didn't get it."

Perlman said the same situation existed, with the same newspaper owners, in Mansfield, Ohio. He reported FCC had found the same owners were engaged in "monopolistic practices" in both cities.

Since 1933 the Journal has been the only paper of general daily circulation published in Lorain.

The Supreme Court also rejected a complicating factor into the government's plan, for relying upon William Hamilton, one-time high federal official accused of Red connections.

In effect, the high tribunal told the Justice Department it would have to stand by its original antitrust judgment against Hamilton, even though an appellate court overturned Hamilton's conviction on that indictment.

The department sought to discontinue on page 11a.

McKibbin Resigns As Manager Of City Of Sanford

Amendment Is Passed Governing Outlets For Wash Machines

CLIFFORD McKibbin last night resigned as city manager in order to accept private employment. The Commission accepted the resignation with regret, and Commissioner Randall Chase expressed appreciation for the work performed here by Mr. McKibbin. Mayor Fred Dwyer wished him the best of success in his new endeavor.

At the request of Mr. McKibbin, Mr. N. Sawyer, city clerk, received following letter of resignation to the Commission. "Please accept this as my resignation as city manager of Sanford, effective, Dec. 31, 1951. I have accepted private employment. I should like to express my appreciation of the privilege of having served the people of Sanford and wish for them a continuing progress."

Mr. McKibbin began work here as city manager on Feb. 1, 1940, coming to Sanford from Winter Park where he had been city manager for two and a half years. He came to Florida following naval service during World War II as a lieutenant, junior grade, of public health, passed on second grade and was assigned to accept plumbling ordinance of 1939, relating to outlet of washing machines. This requires that such machines be vented directly into sewer or vent into live roof from the machine to prevent sewer gas from entering.

Mr. McKibbin's resignation was accepted on Dec. 11, 1951.

He is currently employed as a consultant to the city of Sanford, Florida, in connection with the proposed water treatment plant.

Mr. McKibbin's resignation was accepted by the Commission on Dec. 11, 1951.

Senator Stennis Supports Russell For Presidency

Stennis, back from a 55-speech tour of Michigan, said broadly that President Truman remains in the South.

"Senator Russell is my choice for president and there may be circumstances under which the election could be thrown into the House," Stennis said. "If that happens, Russell will be a very formidable competitor."

Stennis obviously was referring to the possibility that some Southern state Democratic Party organizations might individually back another candidate if Mr. Truman again is the nominee.

If a Southern revolt prevented either major party's candidate from winning a majority of electoral votes, the final decision would be thrown into the House.

On the Republican side there was crowding today from the camp of former Gov. Harold H. Bessmer of Minnesota about the appointment of Fred A. Boston to succeed the late Senator Wheeler, Nebraska Republican.

Sanford Is Losing Tourists For Lack Of Accommodation

A family seeking a permanent residence in Sanford last night explained the need for accommodations to satisfy the some half dozen daily letters to the C of C asking for information on places to live.

Tourists are going to Mt. Dora, Deland and, he said, because they can't find a place to live in Sanford.

Mrs. Onella Bruce said that Mr. William from Lockport had called offering $100 a month for an unfurnished three bedroom home and the Chamber had been unable to find a place for him and his family. The lack of unfurnished places is particularly acute, she said, and Navy families even with furniture of their own are having a hard time getting lodgings.

Inquiries come in from tourists seeking one, two and three bedroom accommodations and we are unable to satisfy them, she said, in emphasizing the need for rent all available places for rent with the Chamber of Commerce.

Seatrain Files Anti-Trust Suits Against 12 Lines

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—(AP)—A suit against 12 railroads, accusing them of "systematic and concerted" boycott of Seatrain Lines, Inc., has been filed in U. S. District Court in Trenton, N. J., a Seatrain official says.

In the suit, which the spokesman says Seatrain filed under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act last week, the firm asks $1,000,000 in damages from 12 of the railroads. They are the Pennsylvania Railroad, Atlantic Coast Line, Louisville and Nashville, and Southern Railroad.

Seatrain operates four dock ships which carry loaded freight cars to ports along the southern coast.

In addition to the 12 railroads, the suit names seven railroad associations as defendants, the spokesman said.

All the defendants conducted "systematic and concerted boycott of Seatrain," the suit claims, accusing them of "obstructing, hampering and discouraging the shipment of goods via Seatrain."

The suit, especially constructed to carry about 100 loaded freight cars on each trip. Some 20,000 freight cars are carried each week aboard the line's seven ships.

The other railroads named in the suit are:

The Lehigh Valley, Baltimore and Ohio, Seaboard Air Line, St. Louis-St. Francisco, New York Central, Erie, Delaware and Lackawanna and West ern.

The associations named are:

Sanford Bids For Key Club's 1952 Convention Site

Sanford was offered as the 1952 convention site for the Key Club convention by Seminole High School delegates Joe McClung and Jack Schirrad during last Friday and Saturday's session of the 14th annual convocation held at Orlando.

While Sanford's bid was only one presented at the convention an action was taken to designate Sanford as the 1952 Key Club convention site for the Florida Key Club.

The local Chamber of Commerce provided Mr. McClung and Mr. Schirrad with enough aliburning for their meeting. Sanford is one of the 400-odd Key Club representatives at the Orlando convention. There are Key Clubs in 92 high schools throughout the state.

The four-session convocation in Sanford was held at the Florida Key Club. The convention concluded with the governor's banquet and ball Saturday night.

Gov. Warren Does Lobbying In North

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—(AP)—Gov. Fuller Warren who is in Washington seeking more steel and defense contracts for his state, found time to do a little chamber of commerce work.

He met with the governors of numerous states at a meeting called by defense officials yesterday to discuss the steel situation.

Afterwards he told a reporter "Well, you probably won't print this, but I've talked three of these governors into coming to Florida this winter."

He named them as John Lodge of Connecticut, Frederick Payne of Maine and Okey L. Patteson of West Virginia.

Warren said also that Sanford J. Abbot, New Jersey State Highway Commissioner, told him that "the great turnpike we've just completed in New Jersey will mean more thousands of tourists for Florida this winter."

Warren planned to return to Florida either today or tomorrow. Meanwhile, he said he wanted to shop around for some defense contracts for the state.

Poll Shows Sanford Backs Odham And Sees McCarty-Odham Runoff

By Kent Chetlain
Favorite son J. Bradley Odham is the present day Florida gubernatorial choice of Sanford voters, while attorney Dan McCarty, Fort Pierce, is their overwhelming selection to oppose Mr. Odham in the run-off primary next spring, according to a survey of public opinion conducted by the Herald on the streets of Sanford last Saturday.

This Herald reporter asked the opinions of 43 people selected at random in downtown Sanford. In the overall questioning as to whom they favored for governor, 44 per cent said Mr. Odham and thirty-five per cent registered no opinion. Answering the query as to who they thought would reach the run-off primary, 41 per cent gave no answer while 30 per cent saw Mr. McCarty making it with 23 percent favoring Odham as his opponent.

Most of the people who took part in the Herald's sampling of public opinion expressed uncertainty as to their choices giving these reasons:

Not all the candidates are known.

Too early to tell what the candidates stand for.

European Politicians Especially British Rapped For Blocking Unity Program

STRASBOURG, France, Dec. 11—(AP)—Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak, leading advocate of European unity, resigned today as president of the European Consultative Assembly. He denounced European politicians—especially British representatives—for blocking special interest and blocking unity plans.

The former Belgian premier and foreign minister then took the floor and challenged the assembly to elect Europe's unofficial parliament with real executive authority.

He spoke as both the assembly and its upper house, the Council of Europe, appeared hopelessly deadlocked over moves towards European unity. Neither the assembly nor the council has power to enforce decisions. The former pleaded special interest and blocking unity plans. The latter pleaded general interest and blocking unity plans.

The Revenue Bureau had no comparative figures immediately available, except to say there were only 10 "separations for cause" in the fiscal year which ended in June, 1950.

Earlier, the bureau reported nearly a million taxpayers were

Income Tax Fraud Cases Increase Two And A Half Times In 3 Months

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—(AP)—The number of tax fraud cases turned over to the Justice Department for prosecution increased two and a half times in July, August and September, compared with last year.

This picture of a lengthening in the government's drive against tax fraud was outlined today by Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap in a report to Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, who has general supervision over the Revenue Bureau.

Dunlap also reported that 41 revenue employees were fired and 22 quit while under investigation, from January through September.

He gave no immediate indication as to his plans for the future. It had been expected that the fielder, who collected $704,233 in 1950, would take his post as commissioner of the Yankers' home baseball games that will be vacant and reportedly will bring $50,000 a season.

DiMaggio handed the following memorandum to the newspapermen:

"I told you fellows last spring I thought this would be my last year. I only wish I could have had a better year, but even if I had hit 350 this would have been the last year for me.

"You all know I have had more than my share of physio-therapies and setbacks during my career. In recent years these have been much too frequent to laugh off. When baseball no longer is fun, it is no longer a game. And so, I've played my last game of ball.

"Since coming to New York I have made a lot of friends and picked up a lot of admirers but I would like to make one point clear—no one has influenced me in making this decision. It has been my own choice."

MUNSAN, Korea, Wednesday, Dec. 12—(AP)—Communist truce negotiators Tuesday withdrew tentative offer to allow Allied rotation of troops in Korea and pressed for a flat release of all war prisoners after an armistist is signed.

The Red attitude toward prisoner exchange came out during the first formal discussion with the Allies on this subject. It clashed with the United Nations proposal of a regulated exchange of prisoners on a "fair and equitable basis."

The prisoner question was taken up by a two-man subcommittee (one from each side) a few minutes after the Communists added in making this decision it has

McGrath told House tax investigators he had not recommended dismissal of Caudle as an assistant attorney general. He said he felt he could not question a presidential appointment at any time. McGrath said he did not suspect the integrity or honesty of the official.

Two Mothers And Seven Children Perish In Fire

SUMMERVILLE, S. C., Dec. 11—(AP)—Two mothers and seven children perished by death before dawn today in a fire that destroyed their five-room frame home one mile south of here.

"The whole house was afire and we couldn't get up to it," said Florence T. Linnecorse, who arrived on the Summerville fire truck at 5 A. M. in a light rain.

"An old couple grandparents of all the kids were the only ones who got out," Linnecorse added.

Husbands of the two women had left home shortly before work at a such a large amount of clothing, furniture and personal belongings were lost.

The dead, Mrs. Lester Cook, 25, her three daughters, Ruby Ann, 10, Linda, 3, and Mary E. and son John T. Mrs. Evelyn Still, 34, and her two daughters Susan, 7, and Oretta, 5, and Barbara Ann Still, 4, a cousin of the children, who was visiting at the home for the night.

The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Still, were brought to Dorchester Hospital here but their burns were thought to be not serious.

"There was no way to tell how it started," Linnecorse asserted. "Everything burned up. There probably was fire in the house, all right, because the two men had had breakfast."

C OF C MEETING
Discussion of the proposed location of a Florida defense tax audit in Sanford will be held at the monthly meeting of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce's Board of Directors, Fort St. Breckenridge, manager, announced today.

A report on the feasibility of the exhibit will be given by Chairman Volle Williams, Sr. The tour list problem is also expected to come under discussion, Mr. Breckenridge said.

Charles Roland Is Serving On Destroyer

Charles Roland, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Roland, 401 West Eighteenth Street, is now serving with the Navy aboard the destroyer Jenkins, which on Friday, Nov. 30 was placed in commission at Mare Island Naval Shipyard.

Now classed as a super-destroyer, the Jenkins was been in the Atlantic for more than a year. The ship is reported to be more heavily armed than her fellows and is capable of higher speeds.

The ship participated in actions in the Pacific during World War II from January, 1943, until the Japanese surrender in 1945. It also participated in campaigns in the Solomon and Philippine areas.

Following the commissioning address by Rear Adm. Leon S. Pikes, USN, the Jenkins was placed in commission by Capt. W. T. Singer, Comdr. Charles F. McGovern then took over as commanding officer of the ship.

Post Office To Open Xmas Sub Station

The Christmas mailing sub station of the Sanford Post Office will be located at 201 N. Palmbluffs Avenue and will open on Friday, Dec. 14 in order to relieve the congestion in the lobby of the post office. This station will accept parcels for mailing and cards or letters may also be deposited there, Joel S. Field, Postmaster, announced today.

The public was invited to use these facilities and leave the windows at the main office clear for distribution of incoming parcels post and COAs. Christmas cards with no writing enclosed and unsealed may still be mailed for two cents, he said, but if first class postage of three cents is paid cards will be forwarded, if necessary, or returned, if undeliverable. Post cards remain at one cent each until Jan. 1, 1952 after which time they will be two cents.
