Reardons To Hold Ceramics Classes For Cub Scouts

BY MARY FOWLER
DE BARY — To one who confidently stands in awe of all art, the lovely ceramics of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Reardon present invitations to learning. The Reardons are so genuinely enthusiastic about the modeling, tinting and glazing of their designs, that callers remark wistfully, "I wish I could make something half as pretty" and the hosts ask them to stay and watch the process.

In Pittsburg, the Reardons taught this work, themselves first having taken it up as a hobby, being instructed in schools of the East and the West, with some of their best inspirations coming from a visit to California. In De Bary, to the utter delight of the Cub Scouts, they are going to hold classes once more, for these young men, "it will be as rewarding for us as for them," smiled Mrs. Reardon. "We were surprised in Pittsburg when we taught the Brownies, by their innate sense of proportion and their inventiveness in characterization. For instance, one made a Santa Claus that was so lifelike I always think of him as the real Santa. Children can teach us all."

We wondered about, amazed and openly curious when our hosts gently parted molds and from each matrix brought out artistic bits that were just being "born." "Some of the larger and more intricate figures," explained Mr. Reardon, "are poured into separate molds and reassembled when they are baked. One must learn to handle them gently, too. If the pupil doesn't want to stain them one of the 77 colors and dyes available, they will come out bluish. Otherwise they go back into 1850° heat. (We have a huge 230 volt kiln coming in from Texas any day now). If gold touches are desired or delicate features are to be modeled, this is done and then they go in to mature, at 1800°."

"We can see that the Cub Scouts are going to delight their parents with charming gifts from this series of lessons learned at the Reardon home during the autumn."

One White, 2 Negro Pupils Attend Class

CLAY, Ky., (AP) — Only one white and two Negro pupils and seven of a teaching staff of 17 showed up for class today in the face of this community's passive resistance against integration.

The mayor said whites would boycott the school. In sharp contrast to past days, a crowd showed up at the school where the enrollment is 500. The two Negro pupils, James Gordon, 10, and his sister, Teresa, 8, arrived an hour and a half before class was to start. They played in the school yard and talked to newspapermen and National Guardsmen posted in the area. Several students came to school but quickly left after they had picked up books and personal belongings. Seven appeared ready to stay but six left before the assembly bell. One unidentified white student was still in the school.

Mayor Herman Z. Clark outspoken integration foe, said: "I'll not rest until James and Teresa Gordon return to a school where they belong. We will follow a policy of passive resistance by keeping our children out of school until the Gordons leave."

Only the school principal, Mrs. Irene Powell, and six teachers were present.

Police Find Boy Reared Like Chick

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Police discovered today a boy—apparently about 7—who they said has never bathed, cannot eat human food, who grunts like an animal and roosts like a chicken.

Sgt. Hugh Ross said the "pitiful little boy" was found in a hen house at Down Patrick, County Down, 15 miles from Belfast. He has been taken to a home in Belfast and turned over to a team of physicians for examination. Sgt. Ross said a group of children playing "hide and seek" ran into the hen house, which adjoins a cottage occupied by a widow and her two grown daughters. The children found the boy perched on a roost with the hens and roosters. "He cannot talk. He cannot walk and he cannot eat human food." (Continued on Page Seven)

SES Office May Open In Sanford

A survey that will be started next week will determine whether or not a State Employment Service office will be re-opened in Sanford, according to Tom Lawton Jr., manager of the Florida State Employment Service office in Orlando.

Two representatives of the agency will spend three or more weeks calling on business firms and farmers employing 10 or more people and investigating other phases of employment possibilities in this section. Lawton pointed out that should the office be established, it is probable that it would serve the fringe area of Volusia county that borders Seminole county. The program is designed to provide the service for economic areas rather than limit the functions of the office to a political subdivision, the Orlando executive said.

Today letters are being sent from Tallahassee in which William Norwood Jr., Director of the Florida State Employment Service is asking persons employing 10 or more people to cooperate fully with the team of surveyors in supplying accurate information. It is pointed out that the data are confidential.

Should any business or farm not get one of these letters, they should phone the local Chamber of Commerce office, Lawton said.

It is estimated that the field work for the report will take at least three weeks, after which action must be taken both in Tallahassee and Washington. The growth of the number of workers in this area was called to Lawton's attention by the Chamber of Commerce here. Since the area was served to a large extent by the Orlando office and the facts were known to him, Lawton quickly made a preliminary review of conditions and was pleased to make the recommendation for the survey which it is hoped will lead to an office in Sanford, he said.

George Tomby and Clifford McKibbin, Chamber of Commerce officers urged the enthusiastic support of this effort. Business houses with a minimum of 10 on the payroll — and farmers who work 10 or more people should make sure that statistics from their operations are included. If the survey team fails to call in the next two weeks, the local Chamber of Commerce should be told of it. It means much to the county and to employers to have the office in Sanford, the trade body officials said.

Executive Board Maps Club's Plans For Coming Year

BY MARY FOWLER
The executive board of the Plantation Estates Women's Club met yesterday at the mansion house of De Bary to map plans for the forthcoming year. Their first occasion will be a gourmet luncheon in October, with the delightful and gifted the Rev. Willford Aldridge as guest, describing his adventures at home and abroad.

During the year attorney Catherine Howarth Carter of DeLand, Frederick Clevering, a General Harry P. Newton and Mrs. W. L. Robertson of Smyrna Beach will be club speakers. The annual open house and tea; a men's night and Valentine party will be winter and spring attractions. One of their welfare projects will be to provide assistance to various Volusia philanthropies; the aged, home in nursing homes and to the juvenile needy.

Schoolteacher Charged With Unfair Discipline

The parents of three Seminole County children walked out of the meeting this morning of the Seminole County Board of Education saying, "We will await your answer."

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Cammack, residents of the Geneva area, were told by the board that "The Seminole County Board of Trustees has recommended that your children be transferred to Sanford schools, provided that you furnish transportation for them."

The mother and father of the three children told the board that their children were not now attending school and needed an immediate answer.

The discussions this morning at the regular meeting of the School Board grew out of charges made by Mr. and Mrs. Cammack that one of their children had been "spanked frequently by one of the teachers in the Geneva School, had been punished for going to the rest room outside of regular periods, and had recreation periods withdrawn because of disciplinary measures."

Cammack told the board that "it has been an unhappy situation from the first because of the reported whippings and unusual punishment."

"My children said that they didn't want to go to the Geneva School because the teacher didn't like them," said Cammack.

Chairman of the Board of Education, John Brumley, told the board this morning that it is "the policy of the board not to furnish transportation for children" (Continued on Page Seven)

Vessels Would Go Around

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States has no intention of shooting its way through the Suez Canal if Egypt blocks the passage of ships.

Dulles told a news conference the United States would favor diverting its vessels around Africa under such conditions, regardless of the extra cost involved.

He said the U. S. government is ready to consider dollar loan to friendly countries who might be unable to withstand such a financial burden.

Dulles appealed to Egypt to reconsider its initial violent objection to a plan for setting up an association of Suez canal users.

British Prime Minister Eden disclosed Britain, France and the United States would organize such an authority in a speech yesterday.

While Dulles' meeting with reporters was still in progress, the Egyptian Embassy announced that Ambassador Ahmed Hussein had called on Dulles a few minutes earlier to give him "the urgent message that the scheme which Sir Anthony Eden wants to impose on Egypt is an open and flagrant aggression on Egyptian sovereignty and its implementation means war."

The embassy said the ambassador told Dulles: "If the United States desired war then she may support this scheme but if her desire is to work for a peaceful solution, the scheme has to be abandoned."

Dulles' statement today apparently had the personal backing of President Eisenhower.

James C. Hagerly, White House press secretary, told reporters at Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., farm that the President had conferred on the Suez crisis with Dulles by telephone before Dulles' news conference. The President was resting at his farm today.

Hagerly announced that Eisenhower will fly here tomorrow afternoon for a White House conference with Premier Robert Menzies of Australia. Menzies headed the commission which failed to reach agreement with Egypt's President Nasser in recent Suez discussions in Cairo.

Dulles made no reference at his news conference to Hussein's visit. In response to questions Dulles said he hopes other nations will join the users' association. But he said the United States would go it alone with Britain and France if necessary.

Dulles said repeatedly the United States is not seeking to provoke war by helping set up the new Suez association.

This in effect, was the reply to Cairo denunciations of the association plan.

Dulles also said he could not recall that Eden ever had said Britain intends to shoot its way through the canal, if Egypt tries to stop British vessels from going through.

If Egypt refuses to allow vessels through, Dulles said, it would be in clear violation of the 1888 convention which promised access by all ships to the canal in peace and war.

It would be up to each country to decide what to do in such a case, Dulles said.

If Egypt halted any ships, he said, members which signed this 1888 convention would be free to take steps through the United Nations or take what Dulles called other appropriate action under the circumstances.

Dulles declined to spell out what he meant by other action. He said that if the questioner told him what the circumstances were at that time he could then tell him what the appropriate action might be.

Drivers' Tests
To Be Given 3
Days Each Week

The Florida Highway Patrol has allotted another half day to Seminole County for drivers license examinations.

The FHP examiners will give examinations on Thursdays and Fridays from 1:30 to 5 p.m. and on Friday morning from 9 to 12.

These hours and days will be effective next week, according to information released today from Judge Ernest Housholder's office.

Here to fore, examinations for drivers licenses were given on two days a week.

Renewal of drivers licenses at the office of the Seminole County Judge is behind schedule, according to Mrs. Letha Fowler, Chief Clerk for Judge Housholder, through Sept. 10 only 3,384 licenses were renewed in contrast to 3,665 renewed up to the same date last year.

A total of 16,339 licenses were issued in Seminole County for 1955-56, said Mrs. Fowler.

Only 20 per cent of the licenses have been renewed and one-third of the month has gone by.

Mortorists are urged to have their drivers license renewed as quickly as possible in order that they might avoid long waiting lines during the last-minute-rush.

Arctic Angels

By VAL GREUEL
The Fairbanks Daily News-Miner BARROW, Alaska, Aug. 18—Around Alaska flying circles they call them the angels of the Arctic—the women who sit on top of the world and hold in their hands the safety of pilots and passengers, both military and civilian, in the vast expanse of U. S. territory north of the Arctic Circle.

And, vitally important to the defense of the nation, it is a primary task of the trio to check the identification of all aircraft heading toward the continent from the north.

The Wien Alaska Airlines Radio Room is manned entirely by women: A 40-year-old veteran telephone operator, a former auto supply office clerk and a young Eskimo high school graduate. Their job is to maintain constant flight in the Arctic and to the north. There are plenty of them. Small "beak" plane trips, cargo arrivals of supplies for the DEW-line (distant early warning) Wien's own tourist runs, the Air Force "Polaris" weather flights to polar regions, and Scandinavian Airlines system's transpolar—as all depend on the angels for directions.

The angels also ride herd on the safety of a nation. When radar warns that a plane is coming in from the north they wait for the pilot to call in his identification. If their radio remains silent, a jet fighter is soon streaking out of Ladd AFB in the interior to find out if the aircraft is friendly.

These three women eat, sleep and work in a single story, frame radio shack in the heart of Barrow village, and if their positions seem unusual to "outsiders," they seem normal in a region where incongruity is the rule rather than the exception.

Barrow is a conglomerate of contrasts. The largest Eskimo settlement in Alaska, there are an estimated 1,500 native residents living under a timeworn cloak of culture which scientists have dated back to the Stone Age.

There are no bars; only booting liquor brought in by the workers and bearing sharp penalties for sale to Eskimos, restaurant closures at midnight and a village dance which shuts at 1 a. m.

Throw in the smells of drying fish and freshly killed whale, add a handful of camera-toting tourists well known world travelers, the perpetual howl of husky dogs, constant drone of aircraft and the six-month nights and days of the Arctic and there is Barrow.

Ruby Fielding, the former telephone operator, has been on the job since November. Through seniority, she already is chief operator. She'll tell you she came to Barrow "for a change," but she has a different reason for staying: "It's a way of living that can't be duplicated and I love it."

So far, Alice Smith likes her job. She worked for an auto supply house in Vancouver, Wash., before making her first visit to Alaska last winter. After a few months as office clerk for a wholesale distributor she headed back to Washington, but missed the far north. Her second jaunt to the territory took her to Barrow in April.

The third member of the staff has lived in Barrow all her life except for the years she attended high school in Southeast Alaska. Molly Avakahn, whose father is a hunter, used her high school diploma to get a job at the native store before the chance to learn radio was offered. She has been at it ever since and is proud of the opportunity.

Each pulls an eight-hour shift, reporting for duty by walking through a door in the living room, from their quarters. There she sits with one of the other two stringing in coffee and joining her occasionally for a chat when business is slow in the airbase overhead.

Operators have come and gone since this unique operation got underway last August. Some have married construction workers from 400 million dollar DEW-line installations; others have returned to the states.

MRS. ANNA M. LACY of Evansville, Ind., has a full house up her sleeve as she arrives in California to compete for Mrs. U. S. Navy. 1956. She is shown with her husband, Chief Hospitalman Henry E. Lacy, and their seven children, ranging in age from two months to ten years old. Mrs. Lacy's family is largest of any of the 30 finalists from far-flung Naval districts. (International Soundphoto)

Radio-TV Highlights

NEW YORK (AP)—The departure of Sylvester L. Pat Weaver as board chairman of the National Broadcasting Co. is, significant of a trend in the television industry today.

Weaver, contemplating the past and the future in an interview, declined to spell out his reasons for resigning beyond his Friday statement: "My record couldn't be clearer. I leave it to the people in the industry to evaluate why I left."

They have. And this is what they see:

Weaver is the most creative intelligence yet to have wielded so much executive power in television. A man of bold imagination, he declined to confine his ideas to table talk. He committed millions of dollars to creative ideas and, more than any single individual, caused the infant industry to grow. Under his leadership NBC-TV programming increased in length of time and depth of content—and achieved its present prestige.

Then why, ask people in television, did he resign? Must it not be that he felt the network was unwilling to continue the expansion of his ideas? If that is true, it meant that NBC as well as CBS, (the other largest networks) are minding their financial meat and potatoes for a time. And that, in turn, means that the viewing public's home screen will not be greatly widened in the next year or two. This season's programming plans tend to support that theory.

NBC has had many executive purges in recent years, but it's generally agreed in the industry that Weaver is too big a figure to be purged. He must have resigned voluntarily over a matter of policy.

Weaver is not through with television, however. Stretched out comfortably in his Sands Point, Long Island, home, he said, "I'm trying to take the time to develop out how the medium should develop the interests of the public."

His important role and vital personality always have attracted rumormongers as a mountain of trucks clouds. Here are three relating currently on the Madison Avenue-Rockefeller Plaza axis:

1. That Weaver will take a post with British commercial television.

2. That Weaver will form an agency of his own.

3. That Weaver will move to CBS.

"I have not been approached by the British," he said. "I can't say I wouldn't take it up. But I'm an American and I went through the entire early days of radio and television. And I have an understanding of the needs of the agency as well as the network. It's sometimes overlooked that I've been successful with adver-

Nixon Will Begin Air Tour Sept. 18

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon will embark on Sept. 18 on "the most intensive air tour in U. S. political history" in his reelection campaign, the Republican National Committee announced Monday.

The committee said Nixon will cover more than 18,000 miles, and visit 32 states—during 14 "working days." The schedule announced will carry him to Oct. 3.

It will take him into every section of the country.

Nixon will be accompanied by his wife, a staff of approximately 12 and more than 30 reporters, the committee said.

"This unprecedented tour," the committee said, "has been scheduled with one stop in each state to be visited, to enable the vice president to gain a cross-section of U. S. sentiment—from political and civic leaders, farmers, workers, businessmen, economists—in the opening weeks of the Eisenhower re-election campaign."

The itinerary includes these stops in the south:

Sept. 28—Nashville, Tenn.
Sept. 29 & 30—St. Petersburg, Fla.

THE RECORD SPEAKS

My opponent, Mr. Herlong is doing his best to cloud one of the most important issues of this campaign, namely, HIS RECORD. His performance and achievements during his past 8 years in office have been a insult to the people of this District. HE HAS FAILED TO EXPLAIN WHY HE MISSED 97 IMPORTANT BOLL CALLS ON SIGNIFICANT LEGISLATION. HE HAS IGNORED THE CHARGE THAT HE WAS ABSENT ON 25 QUORUM ROLL CALLS. HE HAS MADE NO DEFENSE TO THE FACT THAT HE FAILED TO INTRODUCED AND HAVE PASSED ONE IMPORTANT PIECE OF LEGISLATION IN 8 YEARS.

Instead of explaining this record, he has tossed dignity to the wind and has adopted a TRUMAN brand of politics. Unless he was misinformed in certain newspapers (which I doubt), he has uttered deliberate misleading statements about a small ad I published in order to raise campaign funds. I admit I need financial help. I am the underdog, fighting to win in a district where the odds are overwhelming. I must cope with a one-party system as well as the unfriendliness of many traditional Democratic newspapers. Certainly the public has a right to contribute in order to balance these odds. Let's keep the campaign clean and dignified, Mr. Herlong. The people want it that way and so do I. I might also remind you that even your friend, Mr. Truman, appeared for public funds on a national TV hook-up at the Democratic convention.

TWICE A-DAY MAILS

The twice a day mail delivery ought to be restored. There should be no increase in any postal rates except those on the unwanted advertising mail (most of the 3rd class mail is just that). This class should be made to pay its fair share of the costs. Under the Eisenhower administration the postal deficit has decreased from $77 million in 1952 to $63 million dollars in 1955. With continued expense cutting and economy and a raise in 3rd class rates, not only shall the deficit be eliminated but taxpayers could once again have first-class service.

SCHOOL INTEGRATION

Florida is not ready for school integration. More time is necessary to obtain the fundamental necessities for such a move. Undoubtedly, the Whites will become more tolerant when they believe the Negro is ready. Organizations like the NAACP should devote their time seeking better living conditions for the Negro, bettering his sense of moral values, instilling his initiative toward work and his responsibility to the community, better playgrounds, recreational facilities and community centers might also be a help.

Based on a hypothesis that the segregated States would receive no Federal aid, even without the Powell amendment (which made it impossible for any State to receive Federal aid unless it agreed to desegregate) expressed himself publicly against the measure months before it was voted on in Congress. He was against the aid irrespective of the anti-segregation (Powell) amendment. His claim is the opinion of his colleagues, namely Rep. Bob Dill, a Democrat, who said "However, our own State is a classical example of one which is not going to raise the money to provide adequate classroom facilities for our children." Instead of making an active fight to get this much needed relief for the segregated schools of 7, he threw in the sponge before the battle had begun. More on House next week.

Smaller Grapefruit Crop Is In Prospect

LAKELAND (AP) — Florida's 1956-57 crop of oranges and tangerines should be larger than last season but smaller grapefruit crop is in prospect.

This was reported Tuesday by Frank Seymour, general manager of the Federal Citrus Marketing Committees which administer the federal citrus marketing regulations.

Seymour predicted a larger volume of frozen concentrate this season but said single strength juice production will be about the same as last year.

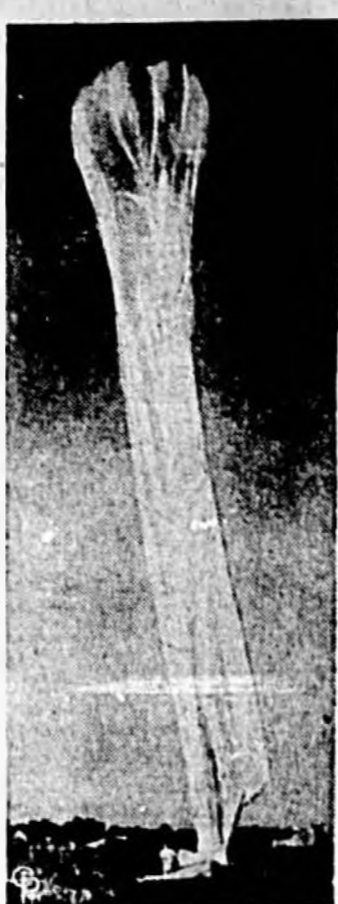

He estimated 24 per cent of early and midseason varieties of oranges, 75 per cent of temples and 23 per cent of valencias will be shipped in fresh fruit form. About 25 per cent of seeded grapefruit and 70 per cent of seedless varieties will go out as fresh fruit, he said.

About 45 per cent of tangerines will be shipped fresh and should be sold under more favorable marketing conditions than last season, Seymour added.

Secret Hearings Foreseen By State Investigators

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — Some secret hearings are foreseen by the Florida Legislative Investigating Committee.

Secrecy, however, will be used only when necessary to protect witnesses, committee members said at their organization meeting Tuesday.

"We will have to hear some of the complaints in private," said Sen. Dewey Johnson of Quincy. "Or we won't get the witnesses to testify."

Rep. Henry Land of Orange County, who was named chairman of the joint Senate House Committee over protest of the Senator members, said newsmen will be given all the information it is possible to release after any secret hearing.

The committee was created by the special session of the Legislature to investigate "all organizations whose principals or activities include a course of conduct on the part of any person or group which would constitute violence or a violation of the laws of the state, or would be inimical to the well being and

State's Woodlands Fire Record Bad

GAINESVILLE (AP) — A state seminar on arson detection was told Wednesday Florida has one of the worst woodlands fire records in the nation.

J. P. Schuck, chief investigator for the Florida Forest Service, added—however—that "the steady pressures of penalty" on possible violators has cut the arson rate from 85 per cent of the wild fires to 50.

Schuck said many Floridians "still believe it is good to burn the woods" and that such sentiment hinders enforcement of arson laws which carry a penalty of five years for malicious burning. Negligent burning is a misdemeanor.

J. H. Clark of the National Automobile Theft Bureau in Atlanta told the group that careful supervision had resulted in a sharp drop in auto arson.

Younger Set Goes For Adult Western

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Bowie ABC-TV, Friday evenings is advertised as an "adult Western," but doubtless it will find more fans in the younger set. Scott Forbes stars as the knife-slinging character of the old Southwest frontier.

For whatever it's worth, let's remember that the actual Bowie was born some time between 1790 and 1795, some say in Georgia, and others say in Kentucky. In his young manhood he was involved in smuggling slaves into Louisiana with the pirate Jean Lafitte. About 1828 he moved to Texas, where he was prominent in the revolt against Mexico. He died March 6, 1836, in the defense of the Alamo while lying ill with pneumonia. The long hunting knife he associated with his name, but he did not "invent" it.

As with Davy Crockett, our hero's character has been considerably cleaned up for the television audience. Howie represents "good," and "good" always triumphs over "evil." But the producers have set quite a task for themselves in selecting a protagonist who lived by the knife. No one was worked over with a knife in frontier style on last week's opening show. It's doubtful if anyone ever will be. Too many parents would put the program on the forbidden list. In any case, the program's preoccupation with the knife is something for parents to think about. One six-year-old boy, who was greatly excited by the program, still was talking about knives long after bedtime. In fairness to him and "Jim Bowie," however, one must add that he still has not struck his younger brother.

Elvis Presley Department: The appearance of the teen-agers' hero on Ed Sullivan's show Sunday night resulted in the highest viewer audience rating the program has received in its history. A 15-city Trendex survey of about 1,500 viewers indicated that the Sullivan show had 82.0 per cent share of audience. NBC-TV, which shelved Steve Allen for the night and went to film with Robert Donat in "The Magic Box," had an 8.3 per cent share. ABC-TV, which presented "In Which We Serve" for the third time in a year, had 6.8 per cent.

$1-A-Year Rent For 17-Room Mansion Ended

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Alexander J. Brady family has been paying the government $1-a-year rent for a 17-room mansion for seven years, but a federal judge says no more.

Judge Paul Jones ordered Brady to move out and pay the government $1,800 back rent—$100 a month for the last 18 months.

How did Brady ever get a deal like that? He sold the house to the government for $31,350 in 1949. The government planned to build a veteran's hospital on Brady's property and 13 adjacent lots.

The people who lived in the 13 other houses also sold to the government and moved out.

But Brady wanted to stay on. So he got a government man to sign an agreement, renting him the house at $1 a year "until such time as the premises are actually needed for his purpose for which purchased.

That day never came. Immediate plans for the hospital were canceled.

Eighteen months ago, the government ordered Brady to move. He refused and displayed his agreement.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Russell Ake argued in court that the agreement was invalid because the government officer who signed it had no such authority.

Judge Jones agreed. "I don't think there is any rhyme or reason to his position," he said. "What if the hospital were never built?"

Brady says he won't appeal, but he'd still like to stay in the house and is willing to pay $100 a month for the eight bedrooms, five baths, four fireplaces and car garage.

Sixth Better Breakfast Month Stresses Importance of Breakfast

Educators are alarmed about the lack of good nutrition habits among teen-age girls. Many studies have indicated that teen-agers do not receive enough food, as far as the necessary nutrients and the amount of food they eat. The Children's Bureau, in its recently revised pamphlet "The Adolescent in Your Family," recommends that breakfast should provide about one-third of the adolescent's daily requirements of protein. To take care of one third of an adolescent's needed protein for the day calls for a substantial breakfast—for example, a serving of fruit, a bowl of cereal, an egg, a glass of milk to drink in addition to what is on the cereal and 2 or more slices of buttered toast.

Research at the State University of Iowa demonstrated that teen-age boys who ate a good breakfast felt and performed better, especially in the late morning hours. It was the consensus of the school authorities that the omission of breakfast exerted a significant detrimental effect both on the attitude and scholastic attainment of the teen-agers who followed this practice during the time they were in school. This study further demonstrated that the good breakfast habit is a sound nutritional principle that applies to teen-age boys and girls and the young and old alike.

MOTHERS—Are you doing your part to improve the breakfast habits of your teen-agers? If not, start now! Take special care to serve an attractive, adequate breakfast each day. A breakfast pattern, recommended by doctors and dietitians, of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter, with eggs and breakfast meats for variety, will ensure that your teen-agers are being served a breakfast nutritionally adequate for them.

Major City Improvements Expensive, Painful To Install But Invaluable

When a throughway is planned to run through a city, announcing the route is like stirring up the well-known hornet's nest. That we have experienced.

The people whose homes are removed, moved back, or changed, just don't like it. The people a little farther away who can't sell their property to the city say they don't like it.

Practically everybody thinks it should have cut through a few blocks in one direction or another, or at a slightly different angle, and isn't it terrible that the engineers don't have any more sense than that?

But once the throughway is built, everybody loves it. It provides a pleasant, painless way to drive through the city. It eases traffic clogs in other parts of the town. It adds to the attractiveness and efficiency of the city, and visitors are generous with their praise. The few people who had to move get comfortably settled elsewhere, and nearby property values shake into their proper perspective.

The throughway experts also point out that accident rates on the scientifically planned throughways are not as high as on conventional highways; that death rates are less than one-fourth as high; that motorists save one-third on gas because of the steady, unobstructed movement of traffic, and that travel time is just about half that on city streets.

Government Payroll

Every now and then it occurs to someone that we really have a tremendous lot of workers on the federal government payroll. Figures are cited, and there is a general groan, and maybe the number of workers is even cut a little bit.

Probably there are too many on the federal payroll. If so, the number ought to be cut. But indiscriminate slashing is not the answer. Such a move would be disastrous when citizens begin to suffer from the lack of much wanted services. Whatever reduction is made must be made with one thought firmly in mind: The payroll must be big enough to maintain government services at a high level of efficiency and effectiveness—no bigger; and no smaller, either.

The nation's budget director, Percival F. Brundage, has just launched a new drive to trim the number of federal employees. He has asked all government agencies not to fill retirement vacancies unless it is absolutely necessary.

That is a sensible, moderate approach to the problem.

However, there is another problem. And that is the countless committees and agencies authorized by Congress mushrooming into gigantic government agencies, seemingly overnight, and without apparent consideration of the sweeping effect that the additions to the payroll make on federal expenditures.

Our congressmen and lawmakers must be constantly aware that the federal government payroll, if it grows out of proportion to the service rendered the people, can become a menace.

Hot Pepper Eating Contest

This morning's mail brought news of another contest to be held during the month of October.

It is the first world's championship Hot Pepper Eating Contest to be staged at New Iberia, La.

The contest is a bout with nature's hottest vegetable fire that will be conducted in six "heats" with contestants eating their way from one hot pepper to hotter pepper.

Points will be taken off for such signs of weakness as: sweating, agonized facial expression, and blowing of breath.

Losers will receive, as consolation, miniature fire extinguishers.

It's going to be the hottest race yet.

Social Security Changes

By PAUL K. WEAVER
Manager of the Orlando Social Security Office

Today I shall discuss disability in connection with old-age and survivors insurance. Disability first came into the social security insurance picture in 1954. Until now, however, it was just a provision to protect the insurance rights of a worker who became totally disabled after a record of employment or self-employment covered by the law. There was no provision to start paying benefits to him after he was determined to be disabled for any further gainful work.

The 1956 amendments to the social security law change this. Beginning with July 1957, a disabled person age 50 or over, may be eligible to start getting monthly social security insurance benefit payments. It is no longer necessary to wait until he reaches age 65 to have his retirement payments start nor is it necessary for an insured woman worker to wait until she becomes 61, if she is disabled and has reached her 50th birthday.

To meet the requirements of this new provision in the law, you must be so severely disabled that you are not able to engage in any substantial work. If your disability is just a temporary condition—one that will not keep you out of work permanently, or for a long and indefinite period of time—you are not eligible for benefit payments. Or if your disability is a kind which just makes it necessary for you to slow down in work part time, you cannot qualify for monthly benefit payments. However, if your disability—either physical or mental—is long-continued, has lasted for at least six months, and there is little chance of recovery in the future, you may be eligible for monthly benefit payments. These payments, which can start at age 50, are the same as the amount of the old-age insurance benefit you would be entitled to if you were 65.

Bear this in mind: The first month for which cash disability payments can be made is July 1957. However, there will be no benefit payments for your dependents until you become entitled to old-age benefit payments at age 65 (or in the case of a woman getting disability payments, at any time between age 62 and 65). Of course, receipt of disability benefits will not affect the payment of benefits to any of your eligible dependents in case you should die.

The work requirements for disability insurance payments at age 50, are: social security credit for five years of work in the 10 years before the established beginning date of your disability, and 1 1/2 years of work in the three years before that date. Active military service at any time after Sept. 16, 1940, and work in the railroad industry after 1936 can count toward the work requirements for disability insurance payments under certain conditions. However, if you are receiving another federal disability benefit or a State or Federal workmen's compensation benefit for any month, the amount of your disability insurance benefit will be reduced by the other benefit for that month.

If you apply for disability insurance benefits, you will be referred to a State vocational rehabilitation agency which will consider you for services which will help you return to gainful work. Disability insurance payments will be withheld from you if you refuse without good cause to accept rehabilitation services that may be offered to you by your State agency.

If you are now age 50 or over, have been in employment or self-employment covered by social security law enough to meet the above stated requirements, are now disabled but have never applied for the "disability freeze" of your earnings record, you should get in touch with your social security office right away. If you have already had your earnings record "frozen" there is no hurry about applying for the benefits payable at age 50. The earliest time that applications for disability cash payments can be accepted is after Oct. 1, 1956; the first month for which payments can be made is July 1957. You have until Dec. 31, 1957 to make your application without losing any of the payments.

From what I have said, it is apparent that disability insurance has now become a part of the old-age and survivors insurance program. Under the amended law, disability benefits are payable also to children who became disabled before their 18th birthday. In my next article, I shall explain this important amendment to the Social Security law.

People-To-People Contacts Urged

By BEN PRICE
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said, "We must widen every possible chink in the Iron Curtain."

He added that whenever the love of freedom becomes "greater than the fear of guns at their back, then dictatorships fall."

Eisenhower was speaking informally Tuesday to leaders from about 40 fields of American endeavor. He was urging a program of people-to-people contacts around the globe, a sort of "every American an ambassador of good will" idea.

Of course Eisenhower was not proposing that all the world be recast in the image of the United States, but suppose, in such a people-to-people program, Americans went around the world preaching this doctrine:

"Governments are instituted among men, deriving their powers from the just consent of governed... whenever any form of government becomes destructive of those ends, it is the right of the people to alter and abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundations on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

For suppressed peoples everywhere this would be a call to arms. Indeed, it once was. The words are from the Declaration of Independence.

It says: Throw off your yokes and work out your destinies; determine the type of government you feel will do the most for you as a free people.

But times change. If Americans went around so preaching would they, under the United Nations Charter, be interfering with the internal affairs of other nations?

Would Congress approve economic and military aid to a nation which decided upon a socialist form of government?

Two of the staunchest U. S. allies are Great Britain and France. How would they view their colonial peoples in Kenya, Nigeria, Algeria?

Suppose the Voice of America, Radio Free Europe and Radio Free Asia began broadcasting this message, like a steady drumbeat, across the Iron and Bamboo Curtains?

More than a third of the world's population lives under some form of dictatorship. This is the sort of message men subscribe to. Would they just sit still?

In his talk Eisenhower also said that some people around the world regard the United States as warlike and materialistic.

Suppose Americans soft-pedaled their talk about "massive retaliation," going to the "brink of war" and bigger and better nuclear weapons? Suppose Americans simply concluded that the sick, the hungry and the cold were to be helped out of a great and sometimes embarrassing plenty simply because they were sick, cold and hungry?

And suppose with this program, the United States couched these words: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness?"

Es sure that the shoes fit properly. Have the clerk measure both feet as the child stands barefoot, his feet bearing the full weight of his body.

Larger Foot The shoes should fit the larger foot. They should be snug at the heel, half to three-quarters of an inch longer than the longest toe of the biggest foot. They should be wide enough at the toe so you can pinch the leather with your fingers and get a fairly good grip on it.

Of course, shoes should not slip or pinch the feet.

It may seem as though you're buying shoes all the time for junior. Well, that may be just about right. A youngster's feet grow rapidly and sometimes you may have to buy new shoes at the rate of a pair a month. Don't forget, half a size is only one-eighth of an inch.

The National Food Health Council says a child 2 to 6 years old may change his foot size every 4 to 8 weeks; 6 to 10 years, every 12 to 16 weeks; 10 to 15 years, every 18 to 20 weeks; and 15 years and over, every 6 months until 20.

QUESTION AND ANSWER M. C. Do electric shock treatments for mental illness injure the memory?

Answer: The memory is somewhat altered by shock treatments. However, if they are used easily at the ball of his foot, this should be no bar against taking them.

Prison Inmates Have Rights

Ever prison inmates have rights, a point that some of us sometimes overlook.

Some of these rights were enumerated recently by Myrl Alexander of Washington, in his presidential address to the American Correctional Institution.

His "bill of rights" includes the right to decent surroundings, the right to maintain family and community ties, the right to remain a productive worker, the right to impartial and intelligent treatment without special privileges, and the right to positive guidance and counsel from qualified personnel.

"Thousands of men in prison," said Alexander, "never see a psychiatrist or trained counselor. Many prison libraries are pitiful collections of discarded from public libraries."

No one, we are sure, other than possibly some dotting wife or mother, asks that prisoners be pampered. What is generally forgotten is that they do not go to penitentiary for life. Their sentences expire or they are pardoned.

How they will act when they regain freedom will depend largely on their treatment behind bars.

Music Is Valuable U. S. Export

By MILTON BENNER
NEW YORK (AP)—Jazz provides the United States with its greatest opportunity to win friends and spread good will in Latin America.

This is the firm opinion of Jeanman John La Porta, 36-year-old columnist for Metrozone, the musical magazine. He spent nine days in Caracas the past summer as a guest of the Caracas Jazz Club and its president, Jacques Braunstein.

Cotton Bales Are Estimated Less Than Last Month
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has forecast this year's government-restricted cotton crop at 13,115,000 bales of 50 pounds gross weight on the basis of conditions Sept. 1.

The estimate is 437,000 bales less than the 13,552,000 bales forecast a month ago. It compares with last year's production of 14,721,000 bales and the two-year 1945-55 average of 13,098,000 bales.

Because of the accumulation of a record surplus, the department had restricted plantings to 17,400,000 acres, or 4 per cent below a similar allotment last year, and imposed rigid marketing quotas.

The department said condition of the crop on Sept. 1 averaged 75 per cent of normal compared with 81 per cent a year ago and 72 per cent for the ten-year Sept. 1 average.

Circle No. Four
The last meeting of Circle Number Four for the 1956 church year was held in the chapel of the Educational Building of the First Baptist Church, with Mrs. M. N. Cleveland, chairman, presiding.

A letter of appreciation was read by Mrs. E. C. Cowan Jr. from the Children's Home in Lakeland, thanking the circle for the donation sent to help with furniture there. Also letters of thanks were read from Mrs. H. Marshall and Mrs. M. M. Marshall for gifts and cards sent to them.

Junior High P-TA Holds First Meet Of 1956-57 Season

The Junior High School P-TA opened its 1956-57 season with Mrs. George Pittard's introduction of Mrs. John Lee, who offered the "Parents' Prayer". President Thomas gave a short speech of welcome to parents and then presented Mrs. Hugh Carlton, who spoke strongly of his enthusiasm for the Junior High School and his many pupils. He stressed strongly that the family must be behind the child and show interest in his school affairs, and further stated that this might well be brought about by actively in P-TA organization. He emphasized that parents must always feel that they have a responsibility to their children and listen to their problems and consider each as important. In conclusion, he averred that boys and girls need the parents' every thought and guidance in order to become a whole and happy person.

After announcing that there are 315 pupils in Junior High this year, Mr. Carlton introduced the faculty, who are: seventh grade; Miss B. Barton, science; Mrs. Lee Samuel, geography; Mrs. F. Fisher, English; Mrs. H. Bibebe, mathematics; Mrs. G. Gordy, physical education. Eighth grade; Mrs. Floyd Richards, science; Ben Steele, mathematics; Mrs. Effie Durdin, history; Miss Mahoney, English; Mrs. Kricak, girls physical education; and Mrs. Fleming, music.

It was announced that the P-TA's project for the year would be the purchase of badly-needed curtains for the auditorium. Mr. Gordy's homeroom won the room count.

Those present were: Mrs. Gratham, Mrs. Bandy, Mrs. Ellett, Mrs. Landress, Mrs. W. P. Yesley, and Mrs. O. T. Pearson, also Circle 1, Mrs. Moya of the Methodist Church and the minister, Rev. Perry L. Stone.

between you 'n me

By PAT WOOD

Here's a sort of a reminder that all you parents, especially you mothers, might clip out and display in a prominent place in your home. It is called "The Parent's Prayer" and was written by Paul Talbott.

Oh God, make me a better parent, teach me to understand my children, to listen patiently to what they have to say and to answer all their questions kindly. Give me the courage to confess my sins against my children and to ask of them forgiveness when I know that I have done them wrong.

May I not vainly hurt the feelings of my children. Forbid that I should laugh at their mistakes, or resort to shame or ridicule as punishment.

Let me not tempt my child to lie or steal. So guide me hour by hour that I may say and do those things which produce happiness.

Reduce, I pray, the meanness in me. May I cease to nag and when I am out of sorts, help me, Oh God, to hold my tongue.

Blind me to the little errors of my children, teach me to treat them as do those of their own age, but let me not rob them of the opportunity to wait upon themselves - to think, to choose, and make decisions.

Forbid that I should ever punish them for my selfish satisfaction. May I grant them those of their wishes that are reasonable and have the courage to withhold the privilege which I know will do them harm.

Oh God, Make me a better parent.

Teachers and musicians for all the departments were also named, as well as many committees.

Mrs. Grantham Elected Chairman At Special Meet

Circle No. 3 of the Christian Women's Fellowship met at the church for the purpose of electing a new chairman on Aug. 13, since Mrs. Eugene Pattie, former chairman, has been transferred with her husband to another location. Mrs. V. H. Grantham was unanimously elected to this office.

On Sept. 10, Circle 3 met at the home of Mrs. Grantham, who presided over the business meeting and gave the devotional on "Prayer". Mrs. Lester Tharpe led the study period on various home mission centers. Mrs. Fredrick Ellett talked on Israel Green academy in the mountains of Kentucky, and Mrs. O. D. Landress on Mexican Christian Institute at San Antonio Texas.

Items of business were discussed regarding the circle's anniversary and Homecoming on Sept. 23. Mrs. A. P. Handy was requested to keep a circle scrap book and Mrs. O. T. Pearson was appointed as circle reporter.

Those present were: Mrs. Grantham, Mrs. Bandy, Mrs. Ellett, Mrs. Landress, Mrs. W. P. Yesley, and Mrs. O. T. Pearson, also Circle 1, Mrs. Moya of the Methodist Church and the minister, Rev. Perry L. Stone.

Mrs. Ralph Smith Hostess Of Regular Circle Meeting

Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith was hostess recently to the members of Circle Number Two of the Women of the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. R. C. Maxwell, chairman of the group, presided over the meeting and the opening prayer was given by Miss Zeta Davidson. Seventeen members answered the roll call.

It was reported that the nominating committee is working to select a strong slate of officers for the ensuing church year and will report at a later meeting.

Mrs. R. A. Smith mentioned that plans were underway to bring the Reverend Oswald Delgado, Presbyterian Minister from Winter Park; here as speaker on Sept. 18, 25 and 30. Mr. Delgado is an Italian born citizen, formerly of Ybor City, who was converted in the Presbyterian Mission there. He has risen to the place where he is considered to be one of the most dynamic Christian speakers in Presbyterian work in Florida.

Miss Zeta Davidson gave the Bible Lesson. The story of Mary, Martha and Lazarus, friends of our Lord, was presented in the form of a thrilling drama in three acts.

"Delightful" refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Meado and Mrs. W. D. Hofman.

HERE'S an architect's sketch of the Indian Lake Club for which ground was broken recently. It is 18 miles east of Lake Wales. Contractor Wade H. Herrin of Lakeland said he would start construction immediately. He estimated it would take about six months to complete the building.

AUTOGRAPHING the above used to break ground to start construction of the Indian Lake Club is Leon Ackerman, right, Washington, D. C., developer of the country club community. Watching is Rear Admiral James E. (Bennie) Arnold, president of the Indian Lake Club, who is now building a home there. Plans for 125 other homes are in the process of being approved.

Milwaukee Wins 'Pressure' Game Yesterday, 8-7

By JOE RESCHLER
BROOKLYN (AP).— In one ball game, probably the biggest one of the year for Milwaukee, the Braves showed the chutzpah down the throats of their critics who had maintained the league leaders would wilt with the mounting pressure.
 If ever it was yesterday's which game it was yesterday's which the Braves won from the Dodgers 8-7 after a string of misfortunes that would have discouraged another club.
 It was a game that could have been lost several times and in several ways, yet the Braves fought back after each disappointment. They squared the vital count at one victory speed and left Brooklyn exactly the way they came... with a one-game lead over the Dodgers.
 No wonder Joe Adcock, one of Milwaukee's stars, sighed in the clubhouse after the game: "It was the toughest game I ever played in my life; and the most important we ever won."
 No wonder Danny O'Connell, another star yesterday after it looked as if he might be the goat, looked around defiantly at the visiting newspapermen and shouted: "Who's choking up now?"
 It was a tense, nerve-wracking game from start to finish.
 In the first inning Brooklyn batters teed off on Braves pitching ace Lew Burdette for four hits and a 3-0 lead.
 With Don Newcombe, Brooklyn's 22-game winner, on the mound, Milwaukee's task of overhauling the Dodgers looked as slim. But the Braves stormed back with a rousing batting attack to route the league's leading hurler in the second inning and force a front 4-3.
 After Brooklyn came back to knot the score at 4-4 on Ray Campanella's 18th homer, the two top contenders battled on even terms until the sixth when Adcock put the Braves in front again 6-4 with his 27th homer. Milwaukee added another run in the seventh on Del Crandall's 19th homer.
 Gene Conley, who had pitched splendidly after relieving Burdette in the first, fell apart suddenly and was derailed after yielding three straight hits, good for one run, without getting a man out in the Dodgers' seventh. At this point, Crandall came through with a perfect pitchoff throw on a misread bunt attempt to ease the tension. But a walk, a hit batter and O'Connell's miff of Sandy Amoros' routine grounder produced two more runs and the score was tied at 7-7.
 Here was another time the Braves yielded to the pressure. Instead, they came back in the eighth to move in front again.
 Now it was the ninth. Ray Crone, the Braves' fifth pitcher, retired the first two batters but Jackie Robinson kept the Dodgers' hopes alive with a single. Amoros, with a 2-3 count, smashed a hard grounder to the right of second base. O'Connell started to his right and made a spectacular backhanded stop of the ball. He flipped to shortstop Felix Mantilla, while off balance, to slip Robinson at second for the game-ending out.

Louisiana's state capital at Baton Rouge has 48 steps, each inscribed with one of the names of the 48 states of the union.
 Europeans coming to the U. S. under the Refugee Relief Act are largely settling in California, Illinois and New York.
 Syracuse gross sale of $134,800 ($117,007) and the $15,000 redemptive pot was $27,000. Saxton, collecting 40 per cent to Basilio's 26, earned $75,524.

Johnny Longden, who once was told he would never make a race rider, has won more horse races than any jockey. He registered victory No. 4,871 on Sept. 2.

CHANGE HELPED By Alvin Mayer

THE U.S. Congress adjourned on Oct. 24, 1977 to watch a horse race at Falmouth where Parole, Eastern champion, beat Two Brocks, Western champion, and Tom Ochiltree.

Basilio Wears Welterweight Crown

SYRACUSE, N. Y., (AP)—Carman Basilio apparently as tough and destructive as ever wore the welterweight crown again today after annihilating Johnny Saxton "for the sweetest win of my life."
 "This was the one I wanted to win more than any other," said the craggy-faced, 26-year-old Basilio after his technical knockout in 1:31 of the ninth round over the speedy, 24-year-old defending champion in War Memorial Auditorium last night.
 "I beat him in Chicago and got robbed. This was my answer. If he wants to fight me again, I'm willing. I fight for money. I'll fight Ray Robinson too for the middleweight title if Saxton has had enough. I agreed to give Saxton a return fight and he can have it anywhere but in Chicago."
 Even with his lopsided triumph last night, Carman still is burning over the unanimous but controversial decision which Saxton scored over him in Chicago last March 14 for the title.
 "I want the fight and I'll beat him the next time," said Saxton through swollen lips. A white bandage covered the left side of his mouth where nine stitches were required to sew up a wide long gash that had spurting blood during the one-sided fray.
 "I fought his fight—not mine," the dejected New Yorker said bitterly. "The hooking of the crowd upset me. Instead of boxing him like I did the last time and like I planned to do again, I went out and slugged with him. I wanted to show those fans. Next time I'll fight for Johnny Saxton and win my way."
 Gaunt and with his ribs showing through his taut skin, the 166-pound local pride took charge in the third round with a slashing body and head attack that had the slow New Yorker bleeding, reeling and helpless in the ninth round when referee Al Beri halted the massacre. Saxton had not been down, but he was heading for the

from one district to another."
"We will be setting a precedent," said L. F. Jordan, another member of the board.
Mr. and Mrs. Cammack, in their request for transfer of their children, asked that transportation be furnished by school bus from Geneva to Sanford.
Cammack, according to his statement before the school board this morning, owns and operates a dairy in the Geneva area, was a World War II officer veteran, and a graduate of the University of Florida.
Their children are seven, nine, and 12 years of age with the oldest already attending a Sanford school and riding a bus from Geneva.

A report made by P.T.A. President Mrs. R. L. Fulford was read and cited the investigation by that organization at the Geneva School. However, several of the signers of the report had requested that their names be withdrawn.
Cammack stated to the board that he was in a position to ask a number of parents to appear before the board to report of the situation which existed. "If the teacher is removed from the school we will be glad to have our children return there," Cammack told the Board of Education this morning.

"There are a group of people influential in Geneva and who do not have children who want the school to remain in Geneva," Cammack said. "I'm not going to have my children exposed to that situation any more."
"If we are not provided transportation for our children," Cammack said, as he and his wife spoke to the board, "we will be penalized because of an error made by the Board of Trustees."

The trustees also attended this morning's session to hear the argument of the parents and to uphold their recommendation to the School Board.
"Pressure is being brought to bear by influential people in Geneva and I can be specific," said Cammack. "We've had our children in school for ten years," the mother and father said, "and this is the first time we've had any trouble."
When the parents stalked out of the meeting, the motion was made and passed unanimously that the children be transferred, according to the request of the parents, providing that transportation be furnished.

"We are sympathetic with you," Chairman Bramley said, "but we cannot provide transportation for the children from one district to another."

Vocational School Has 150 Students

The Seminole County Vocational School has completed its first two weeks of instruction with a total enrollment of approximately 150 students in all phases of courses offered by the school. Short-hand classes have closed. Registrations for beginning classes, however, will remain open for all other business subjects both day and evening classes. Day classes: 9-10 typing I and office practice; 10-11 business English and bookkeeping; 11-12 shorthand I and bookkeeping; 1-2 shorthand II; 2-3 typing II. Evening classes: 7-9 p.m., Monday through Thursday, bookkeeping and typing; 6:45-9:30 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday, shorthand I, business English, short-hand II.

Instruction in all classes, with the exception of shorthand, is on an individual basis. This enables a student to progress at his own rate of speed, and a learner may join a class at any time.
Business men in the community call on the school for office workers. The demand has been great, and the school has not been able to fill all the available positions. Anyone interested in preparing for office work is urged to enroll in a business course at the Seminole County Vocational School in either day or evening classes.

Lutheran World Day of Prayer Set Tomorrow

A World Day of Prayer service will be held at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer tomorrow night at 7:30.
Under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of the church, and of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League of the Florida-Georgia District, the service will offer prayers of consecration, for the nation, for the Christian church, for missionaries, for children, for God's blessing upon the LWML and its District Convention, and for an answer to prayer.
Primarily a service of prayers and hymns, the entire family is invited to attend the service which will be no more than an hour in length.
Mrs. Henry Thurston, president of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer's Ladies Aid, has extended an invitation to the public to attend the service.

Delegates To World Methodist Confab Want Fewer Talks

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N. C. (AP)—Fewer speeches. More time for discussion.
That was the sentiment of delegates to the World Methodist Conference, at the end of 18 days of meetings at which more than 40 speeches were delivered.
Bishop Fred P. Corson of Philadelphia, summing up the conclusions of "discussion groups" which met in the brief intervals between speeches, reported: "Del egates... to future assemblies want more time for discussion of current problems... and fewer addresses."

About 2,000 delegates from 44 nations attended the conference, called by Bishop Ivan Leo Holt of St. Louis, outgoing president of the church's World Council, as: "The most tremendous meeting Methodists have ever had anywhere, anytime."

Chemist Held As Witness In Death Of Schoolteacher

NEW YORK (AP)—A 34-year-old chemist is being held as a material witness in the mysterious death of a pretty schoolteacher who apparently died of cyanide poisoning.

A judge yesterday ordered Hugo Seinfeld held in $25,000 bail after the finding of the body of 25-year-old Avis Gray in a Riverside Drive hotel room.
The girl, fully clothed, lay sprawled on a bed. On the floor lay an empty champagne goblet. Champagne and other goblets lay a doctor of chemistry, told police on a table nearby.
Seinfeld, an Israeli citizen and of arranging a hotel rendezvous as a "farewell date" in their room.

Seinfeld met Miss Gray in Istanbul, Turkey, where she taught English for two years at the American College for Girls.
The couple became "engaged," then the girl broke it off when she learned Seinfeld had a wife and three children living in Israel—according to the young woman's mother, Dr. Sarah Gray, a divorced a divorcee and wanted to department of health.
Seinfeld said he recently obtained clinic supervisor for the city marry Miss Gray. For some undisclosed reason, he said, she turned him down.

States Rights Meet Opens With Action Taken In Secrecy

MEMPHIS, Tenn., (AP)—The National States Rights Conference opened here today but all of the action was behind closed doors.
Only official delegates were allowed before the committee on rules and resolutions and the committee on the declaration of principles.
Open sessions for the 200 or so delegates from about 20 states start tomorrow. The windup comes Saturday with the approval of principles—a sort of third party platform.

The conference was called in an effort to bind a dozen splinter parties with roughly similar aims into a single political force, with the long-shot strategy of throwing the presidential election into an electoral college deadlock.
States Rights leaders contend the race between Republicans and Democrats will be so close that the loss of a few electors to a third party would prevent either major party from gaining a majority.
In such a case, the election would be thrown into the House of Representatives, where each state would have one vote.

GOP Strategists Refuse Candidate Campaign Funds

ORLANDO (AP)—Arthur Barker of Pensacola, Republican candidate for Congress in the 3rd district, says GOP strategists have refused him campaign funds because he wouldn't endorse their entire program.
Barker attended a closed meeting here Monday of Republican leaders and six candidates for Congress at which campaign plans were made.
He said campaign funds were apportioned to the candidates and when he insisted on his share the state committee refused.
"They wanted me to endorse their program from top to bottom," he said, "and I'm too much of a Democrat for that."

County Savings Bonds Purchases Total $22,662

Figures announced today by W. A. Patrick, Chairman of the Seminole Savings Bonds Committee, show that Florida purchases of Series E and H Savings Bonds in August established one of the best monthly records, percentage-wise, this year. Series E purchases were up more than a million dollars to offset a $400,000 plus reduction in Series H and thereby set up an overall increase of $737,800 and more than 12 per cent above August 1955.
Seminole County purchases during the month were $22,662. This brings the year-to-date total for the county to $312,402, which is 76.0 per cent of its year's goal during the first eight months. A year ago there had been 72.5 per cent of Florida's 1955 objective accounted for at the same point. The first months of the year ordinarily produce about 60 1/2 per cent of the full year's purchases.

Kefauver Accuses Ike Of Cynicism
YORK, Pa. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver accused President Eisenhower today of cynicism about Democratic efforts to maintain a prosperous family-farm economy in rural America.
"In case you missed the newspapers in the past day or two, I bring you the information that Gen. Eisenhower has come out against 'get rich quick' programs for the American farmer," the Democratic vice presidential candidate declared in a prepared address at the York County Fair.
He said Eisenhower made the comment at a press conference Tuesday. Kefauver said:
"Get rich quick! Let Mr. Eisenhower tell his banker friends he's against their getting rich quick. Let him tell it to General Motors. Let him tell it to the well-heeled Gentlemen he invites to those stag dinners at the White House."
"But don't let him tell one of the lowest income groups in the nation that he is opposed to their getting rich quick."
"I believe the farmers of America are ready to turn back to their true friends the Democrats."

who has run for office several times as a Democrat said there are only 600 registered Republicans in the 16-county 3rd district covering the Florida Panhandle.
"If I didn't get some Democratic votes, I wouldn't have a chance of getting elected," he said.
His opponent is Democratic Bob Sims, a congressional veteran.

COUNCIL SEEKS MONEY
TAMPA (AP)—The Florida Council of Training and Research in mental health plans to seek $100,000 to be spent in the two-year budget to be approved in 1957.
The present spending item is $12,000.
Gov. Collins sponsored establishment of the council as an advisory group to the State Board of Health.
