LAKE WINS IN ELECTION YESTERDAY

BIG VOTE POLLED AND GREAT INTEREST TAKEN IN CAMPAIGN

The election for City Commissioner yesterday demonstrated among other things that Sanford is becoming a big city. There were more people voted yesterday than have ever voted before in any city election in Sanford—almost a thousand of them—and while the big vote was due in a measure to the fact that many of the women voted it was also due to the fact that Sanford is growing in population.

It was a very quiet day with the exception that many of the cars were busy all day bringing in the suburban voters and those who were too busy to get down to the polls to walk and the many interested ones who stood at the polls all day and kept up the excitement by their surmises of how it was going.

Promptly at sun down the polls were closed and the counting of the ballots began and in about one and one-half hours the result was made known as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Name, Votes. Forest Lake 551, H. R. Stevens 381, Lake's majority 170.

Total votes cast 932

It means something to a city when the presidents of banks offer themselves for the office of city commissioner. It also means something when people take such an interest in the city election as was taken yesterday.

Forest Lake is president of the Seminole County Bank, was mayor of Sanford two terms many years ago, was member of the legislature for two terms and is prominent throughout the state.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Dr. Adolph Lorenz, famous Austrian Surgeon, announced today in view of opposition to his professional activities in this city and country from medical profession, he would discontinue further free clinics and return to Vienna as soon as possible.

FIRST MOVE MADE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The first move to carry into effect the recommendations of the president for greater flexibility in the permanent tariff law was made today by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, who introduced a bill subject to senate in detail the suggestions outlined by Mr. Harding.

A clever chap has figured it out that a family can live on $230 a year, and you won't be surprised to learn that his income is $25,000.

Turning to the international field, the president said of the armament limitation conference that a "most gratifying world accomplishment is not improbable." He also urged enactment of the measure for funding the allied debt, proposed food relief for starving Russia, expressed satisfaction over the nation's being at peace and held out promise of aid to the world in war restoration.

A hearty reception was given the president by what was said to be one of the largest audiences ever jammed into the house chamber. Demonstrations of a full minute each occurred when he entered at 12:30 o'clock, and again when he concluded at 1:20, the entire audience standing and applauding. Applause also broke into his address frequently, especially from house members when he discussed topics of administration policy and with especial volume when he advanced his plan for a tribunal to weigh disputes between capital and labor, and declared that labor organizations should not be permitted to "exact unfair terms of employment or subject the public to actual distress."

The audience, which included the cabinet, diplomatic corps and many high officials, besides the foreign delegates, also responded warmly when, with manifest feelings, the president urged aid for the starving people of Russia and proposed a gift of 10,000,000 bushels of corn and 1,000,000 bushels of seed grains.

Presentation later of more detailed views on the shipping situation was promised by the executive in declaring that he opposed abrogation of commercial treaties provided by the Jones act. Such abrogation, he said, would cause "chaos." A suggestion for a plan of "reimbursement" to ship operators was accepted as an advance statement of his previously announced views as to ship subsidies.

The president's recommendations were received by Republican leaders with widespread expressions of approval, although some declared that one or more of the executive's proposals would be difficult, if not impossible, of early enactment.

STATE-WIDE STRIKE

SENATOR UNDERWOOD'S MOTHER DIES AT BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CAN W. J. BRYAN QUALIFY AS A SENATORIAL CANDIDATE BY THE STATE CONSTITUTION

Lawyers Raise Question About Our New Florida Resident

Oscar M. Johnson, in the Florida Metropolis, raises the following question about Bryan:

In William Jennings Bryan eligible to become a candidate for the United States senate in the approaching primary election?

This is a question which is going the rounds in political circles, now that Mr. Bryan has returned to Florida, and it may well be asked according to certain legal lights whose opinions on constitutional law are usually exceedingly good.

It is a fact that many of the legal profession who have not perhaps run the scale over Article 16, section 20, of the state constitution, at first blush have answered that there is not the remotest chance for Mr. Bryan to qualify as a candidate, even if he wanted to. Others who have scanned the section, however, are of the belief that there is a question, with the chances in Mr. Bryan's favor.

Article 16, section 20, of the constitution, reads as follows:

The Governor and every state officer are hereby prohibited from giving certificates of election or other credentials to any person having been elected to the House of Representatives of the United States Congress, or the United States Senate, who has not been five years a citizen of the state and ten years a citizen of the United States, and a qualified voter.

The point is made by those who are disposed to believe that Mr. Bryan can qualify, that if the framers of the constitution intended that the section should have applied to the "political" citizenship of a candidate, the last four words in the section would not have been included. Residence is largely a state of mind with the individual. He may maintain a residence in one state and still be a political citizen of another. In Mr. Bryan's case, it is asserted that he might well have maintained "political citizenship" in Nebraska and at the same time been a "citizen" of Florida within the requirements of our constitution and being "a qualified voter" of this state at the time of entering the race as a candidate in the primary next year, should he desire to aspire for the United States senate, there would be no constitutional bar.

It is admitted that there is some question as to the interpretation of the article of the constitution quoting the above. That being the case, there would be no doubt, in the opinion of certain legal lights, that if Mr. Bryan should win the nomination and be subsequently elected at the November election, he would sit in the United States senate.

Under the federal constitution, the senate is the supreme judge of its members. If Mr. Bryan went to Washington with credentials certifying his election, or if he went without them and set up a case on the face of returns, should they be in his favor, he could be accepted as a member, it is claimed.

While it is true, that Mr. Bryan has at no time indicated that he will be a candidate for the senate from Florida in opposition to Park Trammell, who is now completing his first term, still he has never closed the gate to such an eventuality. He has always said that he "is not considering the matter." However, he has left himself the prerogative of considering the question should sentiment so develop that his candidacy could be looked upon with reasonable chances of success.

Mr. Bryan has long considered himself a resident of Miami. He has owned a home there for years, and he has often boasted of the fact that the time he has spent in Florida in recent years compares at "16 to 1" with his residence at Lincoln, Neb.

Mr. Bryan served as a delegate at large from Nebraska in the last Democratic convention, but those who have "scaled" the constitutional provision on the question of eligibility of candidates for state and federal office, declare that this cannot bar him from participation in the Florida primary a son aspirant to the senate, because the word "citizen" used in the constitution means "residence" and not qualified voter.

MURDERED MAN WAS SECRET SERVICE

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 6.—Roxie Casoletto, better known as Roxie Brown, of this city, mysteriously shot to death in a hotel in Orlando last week, for fourteen years was an attache of the Italian Secret Service, according to his father in law, W. M. Winters, of Syracuse, N. Y., who declared that Casoletto was robbed after the murder.

Casoletto realized that his life was in danger, Mr. Winters said, and told his wife three months ago that he might be killed at any time as the business in which he was engaged was dangerous. Winters declared Casoletto had his wife made a free agent and decided to her valuable property in this city so there would be no complications and no claims upon his estate in the event of his death.

Winters said Casoletto went to Orlando to purchase poultry and had $660 and a gold watch in his pockets and that the money and watch were missing after he was killed.

BABE RUTH LOSES SHARE IN PROFITS; GETS SUSPENSION

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—"Babe" Ruth's share of the world's series profits in 1921 were declared forfeited and Ruth himself suspended until May 20, 1922, by Judge K. M. Landis, in a decision today fixing punishment for participating in a post-season barnstorming tour.

Ruth may apply for reinstatement May 20 or within 10 days after that date. Judge Landis said. The 1922 baseball season starts about the middle of April, so that Ruth will be prevented from participating in baseball for at least one month next season.

Bill Piercy, New York American pitcher, and Bob Meusel the Yankee right fielder was given the same punishment by Commissioner Landis. They participated in the trip with Ruth.

The trio started out from New York City playing several dates in New York state, but the trip was called off after they had been warned that they were violating the rules of organized baseball.

Ruth's share of the 1921 world's series amounted to $3,362, which he will lose by the Landis decision. Meusel's share was the same while Piercy received $100 less than his teammates.

DAYTONA WILL STAY IN THE LEAGUE

(By The Associated Press)
DAYTONA, Dec. 6.—Daytona will retain its berth in the Florida State League and have professional baseball next summer it was announced at a meeting here last week, attended by President Titus of the local club, and representative business men. Mr. Titus said the club ended the 1921 season about $3,500 in debt, of which $1,500 was due the Merchants Bank and the balance to himself. It was decided to launch a campaign for the sale of at least 500 season tickets at $30 each, the tickets to be transferable, and to hold two carnivals, one in February and the other in March, for the benefit of the club. Mr. Titus said the cost of running the club last season was $22,000.

"The Daytona Club is now in better shape than any other team in the league," Judge Titus said. "We still have all our equipment and we need two players to replace Pitcher Manners and Third Baseman Stapleton, both of whom were sold. One other pitcher also is needed. We expect the team will not cost us over $18,000 or $20,000 ext season and if we can go through that season all right we will have several good players for the big league market and their sale will bring in enough money to carry us through the next season."

CONTROLLING EARLY CELERY BLIGHT

Disease Destructive to Plants in the Field and Shipments in Transit

The spraying of celery for control of early blight is an immediate problem with Florida growers. Dr. O. F. Burger, plant pathologist at the Florida Experiment Station, urges growers to protect their celery by systematic spraying with 3-4-50 Bordeaux mixture. Whenever possible power sprayers should be used.

Spraying in the seedbed should begin when the plants are well through the ground and be repeated weekly. The first spraying in the field as soon as the plants begin their new growth and repeat at intervals of one to two weeks. Frequency of spraying depends on weather conditions and the amount of the disease present in the field. Spray more often if the weather is wet and much of the disease is present.

This trouble is caused by fungi. It is very probable that the disease is introduced to fields through rubbish and manures containing remnants of celery plants affected with the disease. It has been observed that plants grown in a seedbed previously affected were all diseased. When transplanted to the field, plants most often carry the disease with them. Once the disease begins its work, if the weather is moist and warm, it will spread rapidly over the field by rain and wind; the wind easily carries the minute light spores of the fungus from one plant to another.

The disease can be identified by the spreading ash-gray spots it causes on the leaf blades and petioles. The affected parts soon dry and shrink slightly. When weather conditions are favorable to the disease, nearly all the somewhat mature leaves become involved and are killed in a short time. Plants of an entire field are often affected in this way.

Growers are cautioned to watch closely for the disease and to spray immediately. County agents are in a position to help those having troubles of this nature. Call upon them.

of Atlanta, presiding. The roll will be called by the secretary of the last conference, Rev. I. C. Jenkins, of Gainesville, and he will doubtless be chosen as secretary of this session, with several assistants.

After organization, the conference will get down to routine business. The characters of the ministers will be passed, in answering questions 17, and they will report their work for the year. The presiding elders of the nine districts will report this morning concerning their work this year.

The preachers are practically all here and a number of the lay delegates. The examining committees were in session yesterday examining the undergraduates, and the men coming up for admission on trial.

From eight districts, not counting the Latin district still to be heard from, here are eleven young men appearing for admission on trial.

Dr. H. C. Morrison, of Kentucky, who is conducting evangelistic services each afternoon, was expected to preach last night, but failed to arrive in time. Dr. W. J. Carpenter, of St. Petersburg, a former popular pastor of the Orlando church, delivered a strong sermon.

At the opening session this morning Mayor E. G. Duckworth will deliver an address of welcome on behalf of the city, and Mrs. John T. Fuller will speak for the entertainment committee, and the pastor of the church, Dr. W. A. Cooper, will welcome the visitors on behalf of the church.

The anniversary of the Sunday school board is announced for tonight, at which time reports will be made by the field secretaries, and the work of the year will be outlined. Dr. S. W. Lawlor is president of the Sunday school board.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Resignation of George McBride as manager of the Washington Baseball club was announced today by Clark Griffith, club president, in a message from Buffalo, N. Member of The Associated Press

The day after election.
 Is the day to start building Sanford.
 And for all factions to get together just as if nothing had happened.

We have not heard of anyone who followed the Ku Klux Klan the other night.

That sign of the Klan that said
 "Don't Talk Too Much" was a good one. Of course it did not apply to the men folks.

Politics might be all right for a little diversion but should not be taken seriously enough to leave any stings afterward.

The difference between politics and non-politics, as we observe it, is the difference between harmony and discord, and the world knows that's a wide gap.—Orlando Sentinel.

There are so many big things to be done here in Sanford this winter that we have no time to fall out with our neighbors over trifles. This is the time to get together on the big things.

We should all get the Christmas spirit and regardless of the stringency of the money market and other little annoyances remember that it is more blessed to give than receive and prepare to give all we can.

The Christmas editions of the Daily and Weekly Herald will be the best that have been issued in many years.
 Before and after the war there were no special editions and this is the year we should have a big one.

The big men of this world are those who can face defeat and still smile and go ahead with the every day tasks. They are big enough to rise above petty politics and other small annoyances and go in for the big things in life.

There is more or less a feeling in the public mind that times are hard and everybody should economize. This is all right. The world could stand a little slowing up. But here in the Sanford section we have everything that makes life worth living and while we may feel to a certain extent the hard times that are prevalent in other parts of the country we should not economize to the extent that the Christmas spirit is crushed. This is the time of the year when we should be gay and light-hearted and filled with the spirit of giving. We can all give something and we should not cut down on the Christmas giving. Our stores have stocked up for the occasion and everybody should buy and make this Christmas one of the biggest and best in our history.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE

The Sanford Rotary Club is making preparations for a Community Christmas tree and this year of all years is the time to put on the community tree.
 There are not as many children in this county perhaps as some other section that are needing things but there are many at that and then the community tree is not wholly for the needy ones but for all the kiddies and to make the hearts of all the youngsters glad.
 It also gives us the chance to make some good donations for the homes for friendless children and other institutions of that kind. It warms the real big heart that beats for all mankind and makes all of us realize our duty to the children everywhere. The Community Christmas Tree should be started this year and made a permanent institution—something for the children and the older folks to look forward to each Christmas. Let us all get together on this big idea of service and join in the movement that means so much to our community and to all of us.

The Okeechobee News, under the able management of Editor Dunham, is coming to the front and is boosting the great Okeechobee section as never before. There is so much to talk about in that part of Florida that the truth seems stranger than fiction. However, it is all there and the Okeechobee country is the coming country of the South for cattle raising and general farming.

THE SNOW BIRDS ARE HERE

A few days ago a quartette of young women, under direction of a man, arrived in Palatka selling chances on a decrepit old automobile for the benefit, it was announced, of some orphans' home. The young women engaged expensive suites at a local hotel, dined lavishly and otherwise disported themselves as opulent tourists from the coal regions. They took a considerable sum out of Palatka and left behind them small green tickets that are worth just about as much as the dried ink on their smooth surfaces.

Yesterday an automatic talker was parading up and down the streets selling some of our supposedly hard boiled business men a map. It was a map that is given away free by many business firms and can be bought in local stationery stores for twenty-five cents, still some of our local business men paid several dollars for one. It was the same old gag as that of last year. It will be again next year unless the council at its session tonight passes an ordinance taxing itinerant snow birds who come here under protection of an interstate law, a thousand dollars a day to do business. We hope the council will take this step.—Palatka News.

POLITICS MENACE OR BLESSING

Good government, it has been said, is only possible where all citizens take part in elections and political campaigns.

Newspapers, included in the number the Times, have urged that every person should qualify and vote on all public questions.

When the politicians run things to suit themselves because the people do not take part in politics, the people are blamed for allowing the politicians full sway.

In theory this is correct and in practice it should be correct, but it is not always certain that a community gains when it drops everything in the heat of political campaigns and devotes itself entirely to public affairs.

If the people could settle their political problems merely by walking to the polls and casting their ballots, perhaps the theory would be carried out in practice, but when a people must divide themselves into hostile camps and every other thing is relegated to the background while politics takes the whole stage, there is some question as to the benefits being worth the cost.

Is politics, as it is known today, a menace or a blessing?

Do the people gain what they seek,
 or do they lose more than they gain?

There are probably those in St.
 Petersburg today who would say that no great good can come from the political campaign into which St. Petersburg has been swept for the past several months and which will continue practically unabated throughout the present month with another election no farther away than April and a primary to be held before that. They find basis for this viewpoint in the fact that the turmoil has upset business and has given to the visitors and those in other cities about us and even in the farther away north an impression of the city which is anything but commendable.

There is some merit in such a viewpoint, but that merit comes not from the fact that the theory of general participation in politics is wrong but from conditions which have resulted from the lack of it. If all citizens had always shown an interest in their affairs to the degree that they are now showing it, the conditions which make it so necessary now would not obtain.

Once let the people take full charge of their public affairs and conduct them with the same care that they manage their own private business affairs and the deluge and turmoil that attaches to politics will disappear.— St. Petersburg Times.

TRUCK
 By a Sanford Celery-Fed
 Man

Only three "accidental killings" have been reported from West Florida. This is a fine record. Of course there were some that were not marked "accidental" no doubt.

We have a list of "our friends" who we would like to have aboard all those battleships when they are sunk.

Election is over and all the casuals have been picked up and no traces of the conflict are visible this morning.
 This is as it should be. City elections ought to be only friendly contests among friends. People who get all heated up over an election are foolish.

This Sounds Unreal to Sanford People

The new hot water heating system in the Dreka Theatre was used for the first time last night and the patrons to the special show at the theatre were warm and comfortable. Other improvements have been made at the theatre in the past few days including a number of potted palms in the lobby and the hanging of beautiful brocade silk curtains over the railing that cuts off the lobby from the theatre itself. The heating system in the Princess Theatre is also being operated during this cool weather.—De-Land News.

Rev. Dan Swent, of the Methodist Conference, is writing up memoirs of Orlando and says he can remember when there were frozen fish in Lake Lucerne in 1882. Yes, that's right.
 You can still smell them at times even now.

The Volstead act ought to begin working today and keep down the drunks until after Christmas, at least.

NEED MORE POLLING PLACES.

The election yesterday demonstrated more than anything else the remarkable growth of Sanford. A few years ago a city election only mustered a few hundred votes. Now it will run close to a thousand and yesterday the voters had to stand in line to vote —something that has never happened here before in any election. It means that before another city election is pulled off that two polling places should be provided—one for the West Side and one for the East Side of the city since we have no ward precincts.
 It looks good for the best interests of the city to see the people taking such a great interest in city elections. It shows that they are keeping up with the times and want to exercise their rights and privileges in city elections, county elections and national elections.
 If such an interest is taken in the next city election the commissioners should provide two polling places.

WHY NOT WRITE "US UP"

Said a well-known business man to us the other day: "It would not hurt you to occasionally mention our business in the paper. It would help to fill up, you know." Yes, we might do it. We haven't the least idea on earth that it would hurt us, and it would, as he suggests, help to fill up.

We might do all this, but at the same time, thank God, we do not have to do it unless we feel like it. It would not hurt him, neither, to come around and say: "Give me a column or a half column of space for an advertisement, and here is the money for it."—Williston Progress.

PULVER IS NOMINATED
 ST. PETERSBURG MAYOR; WILL OPPOSE MITCHELL.

(By The Associated Press)
 ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 7.— Frank P. Pulver, hotel owner, was nominated for mayor in the white primary Monday, by a majority of 102 votes over S. D. Harris, former member of the state legislature.
 Pulver will oppose Mayor Noel A.
 Mitchell in the general election to be held December 20.

Mitchell was recalled in a recent election, but announced his candidacy for re-election. He refused to enter the primary.

Pulver's total vote, first and second choice was 1,202 against 1,042 for Harris. George W. Fitch, E. C.
 Beach and C. W. Blanc, the other candidates finished in the order named.

The outstanding characteristic of the typical American is the faculty of being hustled again Monday morning.

THE WEATHER

For Florida: Fair and somewhat warmer tonight; Thursday cloudy, probably rain in extreme north portion.

Great weather, great weather.

Whether you acknowledge it or not it is great weather.

Frank Miller is spending the day in Jacksonville on business.

Clarence Mahoney left last night for Tampa where he will be absent several days on business.

Everybody smile, everybody boost, everybody get busy on making this the best Christmas that Sanford has ever seen.

The cold weather is making fancy lettuce and fancy lettuce will bring fancy prices in the markets and then we will all have more money.

A northern visitor to the city today said that the engraved Christmas cards at the Herald office were the prettiest line she had seen anywhere.

The Sanford Band will give a concert Thursday night in Central Park. The merchants should keep their stores open Thursday nights until Christmas and have the band play down town.

M. W. Lovell has returned to his orange grove near Leesburg after spending a few days here with home folks. Capt. Lovell retains his residence in Sanford and came over to vote in the city election.

J. E. V. Jervoy of Charleston has arrived in the city and will be here for some time. Ned is almost a Sanford citizen as he spends all of his winters here being engaged in buying and selling Sanford vegetables.

J. H. Wendler editor of the Winter Park Post was a visitor to the city today having some work done in the Herald plant. Mr. Wendler will have the Florida Post ready about the first of the year at which time it will be issued as a daily state paper.

Mrs. T. E. King has returned from a months visit to her daughter, Mrs. Dr. Winners of Atlanta, Ga. Mrs.

SANFORD'S TEMPERATURE

And the next day it—well, it did not snow—but it is nice and crisp and fine and everybody full of pep. Lettuce is going forward in fine shape and bringing better prices and everybody feels like "whooping 'er up" and making a big Christmas season. Everything looks good for a fine season and Sanford is growing and growing and now to bring in the new people and let them have a chance at our wonderful climate and everything. Keep up your spirits—non-alcoholic, of course.

ALL SOULS BAZAAR

The All Souls Bazaar, held in the Parish House last night, was an overwhelming success, and promises a bigger crowd tonight. Upwards of twenty five chickens were consumed at the dinner, and the air of satisfied contentment, showing in the faces of the diners, carried its own indorsement. The bill of fare came up to last year's and that speaks for itself.

Tonight will witness a spread like you enjoy on your summer travels in quaint New England town. To put in differently: A big New England dinner is planned. It will be an old fashioned family affair, where nobody gets up from the table hungry. Luscious mince pie will be the crowning feature as a desert. The Ladies of All Souls are staking their reputation on tonight's dinner. No one denies that the season might be more prosperous, but people know value when they see it. Sanford Ladies can sense bargains. This was exemplified last night at the Fancy Goods Table where articles of rare design and delicate hand work are exhibited.

They carried home kitchen made cakes from the cake table, at prices ridiculous in comparison with their value.

After the other excitements tonight the festivities will give way to the dance.

Lawrence Haynes, High School Auditorium, December 9th. 220-3tc

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Senior Class has received their class rings and are proudly displaying them. These rings have been selected by the whole school as the official rings of the Sanford High School and can be worn by all graduates of the institution. The design is a seal with the figure of an Indian in the center and four stars one for each year of High School around this is enclosed the name of the school and the year of graduation.

The Athletics Association will soon put on a clever play "Caught Out" or "Duke David's Deceit".

This will probably be given next week. They expect to also play in Leesburg also at a later date.

The Seniors are glad to welcome Professor Shonard back again. He went to Wofford College in Spartanburg, S. C. but decided to come back to Sanford and graduate with his class.
